On motion a grant of $50 was made towards the Kingston General Hospital.

Rev. A. Jarvis appeared before the council urging the advisability of the Mayor calling a public meeting in aid of the Indian Famine Relief Fund. The matter was left to be dealt with at a later stage in the evening.

A petition signed by A. W. Grange and about 40 others urging that Geo Hinch be re-appointed as special policeman was read.

On motion of Couns. Aylsworth and Carson, George Hinch was re-appointed as special policeman until the next regular meeting of council.

The Finance Committee reported recommending the remission of The Gibbard Furniture Co. taxes as they had complied with the by-law governing the exemptions.

The Street Committee recommended that the account of the Rathbun Co. $31,73 and T. H. Waller, 60c. be paid. Adopted.

The Town Property Committee reported recommending that accounts of John Conger, $6, T. H. Waller, $18.36 be paid. They also recommended that the request of the Band Boys, to have the use of the old council chamber for practising in, be granted. On motion the report was adopted.

The Police Committee recommended that Chief Storms and Nightwatchman Perry be appointed Truant officers. The committee asked for further time to report in the matter of the Curfew Bell. Adopted.

The Poor & Sanitary Committee reported and expenditure of $28 since last meeting.

Mr. Fred Hooper appeared before the council as to the advisability of the Poor and Sanitary Committee uniting with the various charitable societies in town in the distribution of charity. Mr. Hooper informed the council that at a representative meeting held in the council chamber recently a resolution was passed to the effect that the distribution and management of all charity be vested in a board of managers composed of the clergymen of the town, the Mayor and Chairman of the Poor and Sanitary Committee and a committee of six ladies from each of the churches in town. It was proposed that the town conncil pay into this fund the money set aside for charity. After considerable discussion the matter was referred to the Poor and Sanitary Committee to investigate and report.

It was moved and carried that all reports of committees must be made in writing and signed by at least two members of the committee in future.

On motion $30 was placed at the disposal of the Poor and Sanitary Committee.

On motion $25 was placed in the hands of the chief of police for snow shovelling.

On motion the Mayor was requested to call a public meeting of citizens to discuss the Indian Relief Fund.

On motion the collector was instructed to collect the balance of uncollected taxes.

On motion the treasurer was instructed to sell all lands three years in arrears for taxes.

ACCOUNTS.

Ben Johnson, work on streets, $$11.56; J. Storms, ticket for poor person, 75c; Gas Co., $16 08; Geo. S. Hinch, special constable, $7.50; Wilson Bros., rubber boots, $36; Leonard McCabe, drawing fire hose, $1; Sam Kelly, drawing fire hose, 50c; G. L. Mair & Bros., supplies, $11.59, referred to Fire, Water and Light Committee; S. W. Pringle, work on town hall.

The treasurer was granted a voucher for

Easy to Take
Easy to Operate

Are features peculiar to Hood's Pills. Small in size, tasteless, efficient, thorough. As one man said: "You never know you have taken a pill till it is all over." 25c. C. I. Hood & Co., Proprietors, Lowell, Mass.

Hood's Pills

The only pills to take with Hood's Sarsaparilla

SANDHURST AND CONWAY.

Missionary meetings were held in St. Paul's church Sandhurst on Friday the 22nd, January but the night being unfavorable only a few were present to listen to the able discourses of the Revs. Woodcock and Swaine of Selby.

With much regret we announce that Mrs. Richard Phippen is very ill with dropsy. We wish for her speedy recovery.

Mrs. John Young spent Sunday visiting her parents at Adolphustown.

Mrs. Wright of Cressy is at present the guest of her aunt Mrs. E. N. Wright of this place.

Miss Minnie Hill, who has been ill with the Quinsy, has about recovered.

Mr. E. H. Phippen returned home on Wednesday from a two weeks visit with his sister at Detroit.

Miss Anna Wright returned home on Saturday after spending a couple of weeks with friends at Kingston.

Quite a number from here attended church at Adolphustown Sunday evening.

The wind last Sunday broke the ice up in some parts of the bay and the fishermen have lost part of their nets.

Mrs. E H. Wright was at home to a number of her friends on Tuesday evening.

Miss Susie Shorey and her brother Sydney were the guests of Miss Anna Wright on Friday night.

A large crowd from here attended the Fax concert at Bath on Wednesday night and report a grand time but a very poor night for wheels to come home with.

Rumor has it that one of our young men is about to be married to a Napanee lady

Miss Eliza Hill was the guest of her sister Mrs. D Morrow on Thursday.

Mr. W. H. McDonald of this place has been appointed commissioner.

Mr. James A. Hill, jr. has been appointed assessor for the township of S. Fredericksburgh for the year 1897.

Mr. George Chambers of Big Creek spent last Monday the guest of Mr. Pruyn Ward.

Mrs. A. Neilson and son John passed through here on Saturday for Conway to spend Sunday with friends at that place.

The remains of the late Mrs. Morrow of Stella were placed in the vault at Sandhurst on Tuesday.

Mr. and Mrs. A. Downey spent Friday evening at Mr. R. Brisco's, Hawley.

A number from Sandhurst, Conway, Adolphustown and Amherst Island attended the assembly held at Sillsville Hall, Jan. 29th, and report excellent music and a good time.

Messrs. G. and L. H. Wright spent Saturday in Kingston attending market.

Mr. T. Gurren jr. was the guest of Miss Bata Lasher, Sillsville on Sunday last.

Mr. Simmons and Miss Slush of Hawley were the guests of Mr. William Hill on Sunday.

A sleigh load of young people from here attended the ball at Sillsville on Friday evening and report a grand time, but on their return as the driver was paying more attention to his companions than his team, drove over some logs in the road and the the occupants were thrown out. Fortunately no one was hurt. The roll being called they went on their way rejoicing.

Mr. G. Wright and son Robt. were in Kingston on Thursday and report market good.

Mr. Harry Phippen and Mr. Henry Shearing were in Kingston on Saturday attending market and report prices low.

The Jockey Club met on Thursday the 28th of January to reorganize and elect their officers for the year 1897. W. H. Wright, president; W. McKliver, 1st. vice president; T. Clark, 2nd. vice president; A. E. Phippen secretary and treasurer; Hugh Hill veterinary surgeon. After the election of officers they decided to hold their first race on February the 24th, entries to be in by February the 20th, open to all horses owned in this county and the two adjoining.

Mr. John Horner was the guest of Miss Prudence Furrs on Sunday last.

Mr. S. C. Shorey spent last Thursday in

Pain-Killer

(PERRY DAVIS')

Used Internally and Externally.

Two Sizes, 25c. and 50c. bottles.

VERY LARGE BOTTLES 50 CENTS.

Relief for Lung Troubles

The D. & L. EMULSION

In CONSUMPTION and all LUNG DISEASES, SPITTING OF BLOOD, COUGH, LOSS OF APPETITE, DEBILITY, the benefits of this article are most manifest.

By the aid of The D. & L. Emulsion I have got rid of a hacking cough which had troubled me for over a year, and have gained considerably in weight. I liked this Emulsion so well I was glad when the time came around to take it.

T. H. WINCHAM, C.E., Montreal

50c. and $1 per Bottle

DAVIS & LAWRENCE CO., LTD., MONTREAL

The Napanee Express

NAPANEE, FRIDAY, FEB. 5th, 1897.

THE Dominion Parliament will meet on March 11th.

It is a custom of the Salvation Army to burn the devil in effigy annually. Isn't this, to say the least, superfluous.

IT is reported that the Government intends to reform the superannuation system. It can't be done; better abolish it altogether.

AN exchange says that after all, the killing of a few prize-fighters may be an argument in behalf of the noble art. By all means let them kill each other.

A GENEROUS Frenchman made, through the Ottawa Government, a contribution of $9.65 to the poor of Canada. It took $9 worth of book keeping and $6 worth of corresponding to dispose of the amount. If he contemplates making any further contributions he can save the Government a lot of worry and expense by forwarding it to this office, direct.

TARTE says Cartier was treated as is Laurier to day by the same people. He advises moderation and asks his fellow co-patriots to have patience and things will adjust themselves, as history teaches us that true liberty is an invincible power.

"MILK for two cats, 179 quarts at 6 cents per quart, $10.75." This item appears in the Auditor General's report for 1894-95 amongst other charges in connection with the Toronto Post Office.

THREE months of attention, three months of reflection, three months of adoration and three months of preparation is what the New York Herald prescribes for matrimonial engagements. It is just as well to observe that hard and fast rules will not apply in matters matrimonial.

The Tweed News worked itself into a fine frenzy over railway matters last week. If we were to judge from the fervor and fiery urgency of the News' veins."

We can't see where the advantage would come in for Napanee, but nevertheless we would like to see the back country develop and prosper.

A RADICAL CHANGE.

A Hamilton Lady Undergoes an Experience and Relates the History of a Severe Trial.

Mrs. James Graham, 280 James street north, Hamilton, wife of the well-known grocer at that address, relates the following circumstances. Mr. and Mrs. Graham have resided in Hamilton for the past fourteen years, and are very well and favorably known:

Mrs. Graham says: "During the six months prior to taking Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills I had a serious trouble arising from wrong action of the heart and nerves. One of the symptoms was that I could not lie on my left side, for if I did so my heart throbbed so violently as to give me great pain. The smallest noise or the slightest exertion would start my heart palpitating terribly. It was impossible for me to go up a short flight of stairs without stopping to rest and regain my breath. I was excessively nervous, and my limbs would tremble as if with ague. My hands and feet were unnaturally cold, and I suffered sharp pains in the back of my head. The slamming of a door would nearly set me wild. Frequently I would wake up frightened, and then was unable to get to sleep again. I lost flesh, and became very weak and despondent. I felt miserable in mind and body.

"For six months I have been constantly taking medicine, trusting that it would help me, and for a time was under the care of a physician, but all the efforts I made towards a cure were of no avail. My physician finally told my husband: 'You know there is no cure for heart disease,' which made me more despondent than ever.

"Six weeks ago I was induced to try Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills, and from that time my restoration to health dates. I have taken four boxes, which I bought at John A. Barr's drug store, corner James and Merrick-streets. These pills are the only medicine that has done me any good or given me relief. I am happy to say that they proved that the doctor was mistaken in saying that heart disease could not be cured. Since I commenced taking Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills I have been daily getting better. I can now go upstairs without trouble and attend my daily duties without the slightest distress. I have gained in flesh, in health and in strength. My blood is healthy and circulates freely. Lying on my left side causes me no inconvience or pain, and I enjoy health and restful sleep. My nerves are strong and vigorous, and there has been such a radical change for the better in my condition that I can say these wonderful pills have practically made a complete cure.

"I can recommend them without the slightest hesitation to all sufferers from similar complaints. (Signed) Mrs. Jas. Graham, Hamilton, Ont."

The Only Way.

Watts—Does your wife believe the stories you tell her to account for your being out so late?

Lushforth—She does.

"How in thunder do you work it?"

"I tell her I was busy getting drunk."—Indianapolis Journal.

A Bad Sign.

"I guess something must be preying upon Johnson's mind."

"Why so?"

"He hasn't told me a cute thing that his boy has said for three days now."—Cleveland Leader.

He Protests.

Judge—You have been systematically robbing hen roosts.

Prisoner—'Deed, Judge, I'se not so bad as dat. I neibbah eben heard ob dat way ob doin' it, Judge.

Constipation Cured. GENTS,—I was in very poor health for over four years; the doctor said it was constipation. Not wanting to spend too much cash I got three bottles of B. B. B. and took it regularly. I can certify that I am now in the very best of health and feel very grateful to B.B.B.

ALFRED TEROUX, Montreal, Que.

Wanted—An Idea Who can think of some simple thing to patent? Protect your ideas; they may bring you wealth. Write JOHN WEDDERBURN & CO., Patent Attorneys, Washington, D. C., for their $1,500 prize offer and list of two hundred inventions wanted.

Council adjourned.

HAD PROVED ITS VALUE.

Shrewd Old Moneymaker Found He Had Met a Dangerous Rival.

Here is a millionaire story, which am I assured is absolutely correct, says a writer in Pick-Me-Up. A well-known Jew financier was walking down Regent-street the other day when he was accosted by a beggar, who is a more or less familiar feature to that thoroughfare. Instead of turning a deaf ear to the man's supplications and getting off as quick as he could, as some people might have done, the millionaire at once stopped and proceeded to ply the man with questions as to why he didn't try to get work instead of begging, whether he had a wife and children to support, and so on.

The beggar, who was aware of the identity of the man talking to him, and thought he might be in for a really good thing, poured out the usual story of his woes into the millionaire's ears—whether true or no is not, for the moment, of consequence.

The millionaire continued to listen attentively, and the beggar's hopes of bringing off a "scoop" rose higher and higher. Then the millionaire put his final question, "How long have you been begging?" he said, suavely.

"Over twenty years, kind gentleman," was the reply.

"Ah," said the millionaire, reflectively, "it's not at all a bad trade!" Then he walked on, and a nonconformist journalist, who happened to come by just then, went home and wrote an impassioned article on "The Increase of Bad Language in the West End Streets."

Up in the Air.

"It's curious," said the man who was relating his experience to a Detroit Free Press writer, "how luck will go back on you when you least expect it. Last year I bought a fruit farm in the central part of the state, and expected to have a splendid crop. Well, about April along came a frost, and I sat up nights with that orchard."

"What became of the fruit?"

"Blasted."

He ruminated a spell, then broke out again:

"This year that orchard hangs full of fruit, but I'm not in it. I sold it to buy my girl a diamond ring. Oh, the hopes I had that I would be able to settle down and make a home. Where are those hopes now?"

"What happened to them?"

"Blasted."

He wiped some dust out of his eyes and ruminated again. Presently he asked:

"Any of you gentlemen ever own a stone quarry?"

We told him that a stone quarry was among the few things we had never owned.

"I bought one six months ago, and it was a heavy investment. I do assure you. Again I hoped to make some money to recoup, as it were, after my losses. But fate was certainly against me."

"Why, what happened? Was the quarry—"

"Blasted," he whined, and we let him escape with his life.

Unsigned.

The long-haired contributor knocked timidly at the door of the editor's room, says U-to-Date, and chuckled to himself when he heard a pleasant "Come in!"

Hardly had he entered the office when the editor jumped up from his seat and grasping him warmly by the hands escorted him to a chair and begged to be shown a manuscript.

The visitor produced a greasy roll, and the editor read it eagerly. "It is sublime," he said, "simply sublime."

The contributor had expected to hear it was slime, because it was a poem on spring mud, but he retained his presence of mind sufficiently to ask, "Will you accept it?"

"Will we except it?" said the editor. "Well, I should say we would!" and he laid the manuscript on the desk, and putting his arm around the contributor's waist waltzed him around the desk three times to the tune of "City Life Has Changed Her."

At last they stopped puffing for breath, and the editor, sitting down, reached for his check book and said, "Will $50 do?"

"Yes," said the caller, "that will do."

The editor wrote out a check and just as he was about to sign it the contributor woke up.

We won't say it was a dream. It was a nightmare.

Miss Samantha Williams is convalescent.

Miss Lulu Charters is the guest of Miss Susie Shorey this week.

Misses Martha Phippen and Bertha Sills were the guests of Mrs. F. G. Young on Monday last.

Mr. Hugh Hill attended the sale on Amherst Island on Wednesday last.

Mr. Kerr of Wapoose is the guest of his daughter Mrs. C. V. Wright.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Allison of Adolphustown spent Saturday visiting friends at Conway.

Our barber shop on Oak Avenue is in a most flourishing condition.

Mr. G. H. Switzer intends visiting his cousin in the near future.

Mr. Luke Trumpour spent Sunday 24th, at Mr. T. Gurren's.

Mr. W. H. Wright and Mr. H. P. Clangold went to Picton on Monday on a business trip.

Miss Gracey Downey of Napanee spent Sunday at home with her parents.

Miss Floe Wright of Cressy was called home suddenly on Sunday owing to the illness of her grandmother.

Mr. Editor, if you should know of a young doctor who wants practice it would be advisable for him to start up at Conway as there are quite a few on the sick list at present, they are as follows:—Tommy Gurren, S. Shorey, G. H. Switzer, J. Hill, G. Ham, E. Phippen and A. Peterson.

WORTH RECALLING.

The noblest motive is the public good. —Virgil.

Opinion, a sovereign mistress of effects.—Shakespeare.

Let them obey that know not how to rule.—Shakespeare.

Yon gray lines, that fret the clouds, are messengers of day.—Shakespeare.

He surely is in want of another patience who has none of his own.—Lavater.

If a man is endued with a generous mind, this is the best kind of nobility. —Plato.

Nature, through all her works, in great degree, borrows a blessing from variety.—Churchill.

Patioence—of whise soft grace I have her sovereign aid, and rest myself content.—Shakespeare.

There are but three classes of men; the retrograde, the stationary and the progressive.—Lavater.

Pedantry crams our heads with learned lumber, and takes out our brains to make room for it.—Colton.

Thus grief still treads upon the heels of pleasure, marry'd in haste, we may repent at leisure.—Congreve.

As the mind must govern the hands, so in every society the man of intelligence must direct the man of labor.—Johnson.

This melancholy flatters, but menaces you, what is it else but penury of soul, a lazy frost, a numbness of the mind.—Dryden.

The passions, like heavy bodies down steep hills, once in motion, move themselves, and know no ground but the bottom.—Fuller.

Man hath his daily work of body or mind appointed, which declares his dignity and the regard of heaven on all his ways.—Milton.

The honest heart that's free frae a' intended fraud or guile, however fortune kick the ba' has aye some cause to smile.—Burns.

There is always and everywhere some restraint upon a great man. He is guarded with crowds and shackled with formalities.—Cowley.

Among the pitfalls in our way, the best of us walk blindly; so, man, be wary, watch and pray, and judge your brother kindly.—Alice Cary.

The heathen mythology not only was not true, but was not even supported as true; it not deserved no faith, but it demanded none.—Whately.

They that marry ancient people merely in expectation to bury them, hang themselves in hope that one will come and cut the halter.—Fuller.

Those that are good manners at the court are as ridiculous in the country, as the behavior of the country is most mockable at the court.—Shakespeare.

Money and time are the heaviest burdens of life, and the uphappiest of all mortals are those who have more of either than they know how to use. —Johnson.

Where a man has a passion for meditating without the capacity of thinking, a particular idea fixes itself fast, and soon creates a mental disease.—Goethe.

CASTORIA.

The fac-simile signature of Chas. H. Fletcher is on every wrapper.

This Cold Weather

MAKES ONE THINK OF

WARM OVERSHOES

—OR—

LINED RUBBERS.

You can't buy them cheaper than you can from us. If the prices don't suit you, don't buy. Call on us any way.

HAINES & LOCKETT,

4 BIG SHOE STORES.

NO CREDIT. ONE PRICE.

Old Gold CIGARETTES

W. S. Kimball & Co,

ROCHESTER, N. Y.

Retail everywhere . . .

5 CENTS PER PACKAGE.

17 First Prize Medals.

New Fall and Winter Goods. New stock just received.

Overcoatings, Scotch and English and Canadian Suitings, English and Canadian Serges, West of England Pants, all of which will be made up on the shortest possible notice. Satisfaction guaranteed. The best of Trimmings used in making up ordered work. We are not selling at cost, but our prices give but small profit and they are lower than our competitors. Please call and inspect before purchasing.

R. FORD. T. G. DAVIS.

A Legacy of Disease.

FROM "THE EARTHLY PARADISE."

EGGS FOR HATCHING.

A Remedy Suggested For the Annoyance of "No Hatch"

How many times do the readers of agricultural and poultry papers read the above words, and yet how many times have such readers been disappointed when they came to purchase some of the eggs so advertised? Eggs for hatching! The words imply that the primary purpose of the seller of such is to furnish eggs that, if properly incubated by an incubator, or better still, some good old hen, will produce a fair hatch for the purchaser in return for the money he has expended. But how many times have the words turned out to be a snare and a delusion? Nearly every person has an opinion of his or her own as to what is a fair hatch; some are satisfied with five, others with six or seven, while still another is not satisfied unless 10 or 12 are brought forth.

It is not the purpose of this article to suggest what is or what is not a fair hatch, but rather to suggest a remedy whereby at least one-half of a sitting of eggs ought to bring forth good healthy chicks. And in so doing let us start with the assumption that as far as the shipper, or seller, of the eggs is concerned, everything is perfectly square. As far as he is concerned the eggs are carefully collected, they are not chilled, are properly packed and arrive in good condition at their destination, so that, if other things were equal, the purchaser would be satisfied. But in spite of all the pains of the breeder who furnishes and in spite of all the care of the party who buys them, no chicks appear at the end of 21 days; or if, by chance, one or two do appear, they soon die, being weakly and unable to stand any bad weather. What is the cause? Some will tell you the weather is not favorable—there is something in the atmosphere that prevents fertility; the breeding stock by constant laying has become weakened and unable to impart any strength to their offspring; and so on. Now, all of these reasons have more or less weight, but the great and primary trouble lies in two facts, first, a want of exercise and, second, an inability to reach food naturally required. The purpose of this article is to suggest a remedy.

No one will dispute the fact that a small, or even a large, flock of fowls that have a free, unobstructed range at all times of the day, during the months of April and May, will produce eggs nearly every one of which will bring forth a good, strong chicken that will live and come to maturity.

T. W. SIMPSON, B.A., M.D., C.A.

Licentiate of the Royal College of Physicians Edinburgh,
Office—Dr. Grants' late residence, Bridge St

MARGARET P. SYMINGTON, M.D. C.M., Licentiate of Royal College of Physicians, Edinburgh.

Diseases of Women and Children.

Residence north side Market Square, 4th door west John street.

Consulting hours 11 a.m. to 3 p.m., and 6 to 8 p.m. Telephone 87.

R. A. LEONARD, M.D., C.P.S.

Physician, Surgeon, etc.

Late House Surgeon of the Kingston General Hospital.

Office—North side of Dundas Street, between West and Robert Streets, Napanee. 5.1y

HERRINGTON & WARNER

Barristers, etc.

MONEY TO LOAN AT LOW RATES

Office—Warner Block, East-st, Napanee. 5y

DEROCHE & MADDEN,

Barristers,

Attorneys-at-Law, Solicitors in Chancery, Conveyancers, Notaries Public, etc.

Office—Grange block

Money to Loan at "lower than the lowest" rates

H. M. DEROCHE, Q.C. 5.1y J. H. MADDEN

MORDEN & RUTTAN,

VETERANS OF THE WAR REPAID IN SUFFERING AND DISEASE.

For Over Twenty Years Mr. John Sherman Sought Release from the Tortures of Inflamatory Rheumatism.

From the Prescott Journal.

There is no man in the township of Edwardsburg who is better known than Mr. John Sherman. He is one of the many Canadians who at the outbreak of the American rebellion, joined the army of the North, and to the exposures and hardships which he endured during that trying and perilous time, does he owe long years of suffering which he has since undergone. The writer remembers seeing Mr. Sherman a few years ago when he was so crippled with rheumatism that it was impossible for him to walk, and having heard that a cure had been effected, determined to investigate the matter for himself. When the reporter called at Mr. Sherman's home he found him in the yard handling an axe and chopping wood like a young man, and he found him also quite willing to relate his trying experience. "I have suffered with rheumatism for twenty years," said Mr. Sherman, "and I have doctored with four different doctors and yet I kept getting worse and worse. I was bent double with the pain in my back and both legs were so drawn up that I was unable to straighten them, and for four months when I wanted to move about I had to do so on my hands and knees. I tried many medicines but got no benefit and I had given up all hope of being able to walk again. One of my sons tried to persuade me to use Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, but I refused to take any more medicine. At last one day my son brought home three boxes of the pills, and after they had been in the house for over two weeks, I at last consented to take them, but not because I thought they would do me any good. Before they were gone, however, I could feel that my back was getting stronger and I could straighten up. It required no further persuasion to get me to take the pills, and from that time on I began to get better, until now with the aid of a light cane, I can walk all over the farm, get in and out of a buggy, and do most of the chores round the house and barns. I feel twenty years younger, and I consider Dr. Williams' Pink Pills the most wonderful medicine for rheumatism in the whole world. I began them only to please my son and it was a most agreeable surprise to me when I found my legs limber, and my back gaining new strength. I can cheerfully recommend Dr. Williams' Pink Pills to the suffering rheumatics of the world.

An analysis shows that Dr. Williams' Pink Pills contain in a condensed form all the elements necessary to give new life and richness to the blood, and restore shattered nerves. They are an unfailing specific for such diseases as locomotor ataxia, partial paralysis, St. Vitus' dance, sciatica, neuralgia, rheumatism, nervous headache, the after effects of la grippe, palpitation of the heart, nervous prostration, all diseases depending upon vitiated humors in the blood, such as scrofula, chronic erysipelas, etc. They are also a specific for troubles peculiar to females, such as suppressions, irregularities, and all forms of weakness. They build up the blood, and restore the glow of health to pale and sallow cheeks. In men they effect a radical cure in all cases arising from mental worry, overwork, or excesses of whatever nature.

Madden's Enamel is the only stove pipe varnish that does not smell or smoke when applied to stove pipes, ranges, grates, etc. Ask your dealer for it. 45tf

One every night. One Laxa-Liver Pill taken each night during 30 days will cure Constipation, oft-returning Headache and irregular action of the bowels. Laxa-Liver Pills leave no

Of Heaven or Hell I have no power to sing.
I cannot ease the burden of your fears,
Or make quick-coming death a little thing,
Or bring again the pleasure of past years,
Nor for my words shall ye forget your tears,
Or hop again for aught that I can say,
The idle singer of an empty day.

But rather, when aweary of your mirth,
From full heart still unsatisfied ye sigh,
And, feeling kindly unto all the earth,
Grudge every minute as it passes by;
Made the more mindful that the sweet days die—
Remember me a little then, I pray,
The idle singer of an empty day.

The heavy trouble, the bewildering care
That weighs us down who live and earn our bread,
These idle verses have no power to bear;
So, let me sing of names remembered,
Because they, living not, can ne'er be dead,
Or long time take their memory quite away
From us poor singers of an empty day.

Dreamer of dreams, born out of my due time,
Why should I strive to set the crooked straight?
Let it suffice me that my murmuring rhyme
Beats with light wing against the ivory gate,
Telling a tale not too importunate
To those who in the sleepy region stay,
Lulled by the singer of an empty day.

—William Morris.

Rescue by an Equine Hero.

A graphic story is told of Surgeon-Captain Grey, one of the officers who served in Rhodesia. In the attack on Mashangombi's, the horses began to drop, and soon thirteen lay on the ground, and it looked as if the men would all be killed. Evidently Capt. Turner thought so, for he virtually gave the order, "Suave qui peut," telling every man to fight the best he could for his own hand. But, though the horses continued to fall, the men escaped. Dr. Grey, to use his own words, "led toward the way out under a raking fire at a gallop, and was closely followed by the troop," according to the St. James Budget. "Very soon, however, I fell from the saddle, struck with a bullet from an elephant gun, about 500 yards off. The bullet struck me on the top of the thigh, smashing the socket of the thigh bone, breaking a vein and otherwise wounding me. My horse was carried on at full speed with the rear guard, which rushed at desperate speed to clear the pocket-like entrance to the drift, where the natives were rallying in the hope of killing us. As I lay on the grass, bleeding profusely, I looked up and saw two natives aiming at me at a distance of about forty feet. At the same moment I saw my horse come thundering back from the drift. It suddenly stopped, and stood over my prostrate body, covering me from the firing, and at the same time making a peculiar noise through its nostrils. I thought it had been wounded, and that with pain, noise and confusion it had gone mad. This notion, however, was soon dispelled, for it continued to stand over me in a kneeling posture, and I could see that the faithful animal had come back to protect me. I may remark here that this horse, which I myself selected, I made a pet of. The assegais from the approaching natives were now beginning to fly around me, and, thinking if I could reach my horse's back I would be shot, which was preferable to being assegaied, I seized the reins, put my right foot in the stirrup, and made a supreme effort to mount. And I was successful, but how I did it I do not know, for my left side was entirely paralyzed. On finding myself in my saddle, I called "Go!", to my horse, which darted like an arrow toward the exit from the drift."

A Boon For Painters.

An association has opened some rooms in Lower Phillimore place, Kensington, for the exhibition of costumes, which can be hired by artists who wish to paint any historical characters. The dresses seem to be made with great care, some of them being exact copies of dresses from old portraits. There is one pale yellow silk gown, a reproduction of the one worn by Anne of Cleves in her portrait by Holbein; another is the copy of a gown worn by Henrietta Maria. There are also many costumes not copied from pictures, but which are good specimens of the dress worn at different periods, with their hats, collars, hose and other garments all complete; indeed, we think an artist turned loose among so much brocade and embroidery, Greek drapery, Japanese satins, Georgian coats, mediaeval garments, etc., would be pretty sure to find something with which he could apropriately clothe his figures; and, as the charge for hiring is very moderate, the association may be very useful to young painters who cannot afford to go to much expense for costumes.—English Builder.

To-day and until 1st of Feby. special reductions in stoves tinware and lamp goods, Boyle & Son.

Tobacco Heart. Much heart and nerve weakness is caused by undue use of tea, coffee, or tobacco; palpitation, nervousness, irritability, excitability, lack of confidence, etc., are sure symptoms. Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills bring ready relief, by steadying the nerve and regulating the heart. They are a true heart and that will live and come to maturity. Why is this? Because they have plenty of exercise and procure green food and other things which they crave. As an instance, showing the benefits of a free range, take the case of the wild turkey or grouse. It is rare indeed when every egg in their nests is not hatched. These birds in their habits are without doubt closely allied to the barn yard hen when in her natural state. The facts being thus, it would seem that an intelligent breeder must at all times, but more especially in the winter and spring months, continually seek to keep his birds supplied with things which by nature they are accustomed to and crave. As the hen is more and more bred, she becomes domesticated, until at the present, day it is almost as natural for her, if properly managed, to lay in winter as it is for her to lay in April or May, or, in other words, to lay in warm weather.

You can't expect, if you first begin to attend to these things the week before you set your hens, to have much better success than you would have if you had let them alone. But there must be a beginning some time, and at least a month before the incubating season is none too soon.

If the weather is still cold, and the ground covered with snow, so that the hens cannot have free range, do the next best thing. In each pen from which eggs for sitting are to be taken put in a lot of chaff, or, better still, dry leaves, or both. Put in a quantity so that they will cover the floor to a depth of at least a foot. This makes a good dry footing. In feeding with dry grain, scatter it broadcast among the leaves, and then let biddy do the rest. From the time she is fed until dark, and from daylight until she gets her morning meal, all her time will be taken up in scratching for the kernels of grain hidden among the leaves. In this way exercise is plenty and good health will be secured. If possible an open shed connected with the pens facing south is a most excellent adjunct, where the hens in pleasant weather may scratch and sun themselves. Having fed plenty of good food and pure water, or better still skimmed milk, you have done what the writer believes to be the best thing to procure fertile eggs.

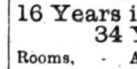
Later in the season other schemes may be adopted, whereby the fowls may be furnished with all these things, in a different way. For instance, a small, water-tight coop large enough to hold a small flock at night, may be lightly constructed, so that it may be portable. Take the coop away from the buildings, and have it placed in some orchard or field, at a sufficient distance from the old quarters, so that they will not come back when liberated. Keep the flock confined for a few days, until they become accustomed to the new home, and then let the "biddies" out. They will forage for themselves and will pick up a good share of their living during the day, and return to their quarters to lay and roost. Several of these flocks may be put in different parts of the farm, at a sufficient distance to prevent fighting between the males. If this scheme is followed and breeder can, as far as the eggs are concerned, safely guarantee a good hatch; his hens will be healthy and strong and produce more eggs at a time when he most wants them. Of course, there are many who have not the room to carry out such a plan; they might be able to put out one flock, but could not put out several. To these I suggest enclosing a fair size grass plot with threefeet nine netting, and I believe the result will be very satisfactory.

A man who purchases a sitting of eggs of a breeder and fails to get any chicks, especially if he is a stranger, will rarely give such a one another order, provided, of course, he is satisfied that the fault is in the eggs. And the purchaser is only too ready to put all the blame on the seller; he is confident the latter has either permitted the eggs to become chilled or has dipped them in hot water or something of that kind, forgetting that perhaps his own hen hasn't done her duty; or that the expressman has unnecessarily shaken the eggs or left them exposed to chilling winds, etc. I could not successfully contend that there are no frauds in the poultry business, just as there are in every walk of life, but, happily, they really are very few, indeed.—C. F. A. Smith, in Farm and Home.

Barristers, Solicitors, etc.

Solicitors for the Merchant's Bank of Canada etc., etc.
Dundas Street, Napanee.
G. F. BUTTAN.
Private funds to loan at five per cent.

A. S. ASHLEY,
DENTIST
16 Years in Napanee.
34 Years Experience.
Rooms, - Albert Block, - Napanee



DENTISTS
C. D. WARTMAN, L.D.S.
C. H. WARTMAN, D.D.S.,
Graduates of the Royal College of Dental Surgeons of Ontario, and graduate of Toronto University.
OFFICE—LEONARD BLOCK,
Visits made to Tamworth the first Monday in each month, remaining over Tuesday. Rooms at Wheeler's Hotel.
All other Mondays C. D. Wartman will be in Yarker.
Napanee office open every day.

THE ROYAL HOTEL
Dundas Street, Napanee.
H. HUNTER, Prop.
This commodious hotel is centrally situated having every convenience for the travelling and business public. Large yard and sheds for farmers.
Good table, best of wines liquors, and cigars
The comfort of guests is made a first consideration.

REAL ESTATE AND INSURANCE.
I have several good farms of 50, 100 and 200 acres, at most moderate prices, and very easy terms of payment.
Several dwellings in the Town of Napanee.
Farm lands and city lots in Manitoba.
Insurance in Stock and Mutual Companies.
Money to loan at 5 per cent. on good Real Estate property. Apply to
M. C. BOGART,
4 tf Napanee.

New Grocery and Provision Store.
S. C. DENISON has refitted his shop, Centre st., (formerly occupied by Robt. Denison and Lewis Vanblaricom) and has opened up a fresh stock, including everything in the line of choice Groceries, Flour, Feed, Wood, etc. Goods promptly delivered to any part of the town. Satisfaction guaranteed.

JAS. AYLESWORTH,
General Business Agent.
POLICE MAGISTRATE for the Provincial Electoral District of Addington.
Conveyancer,
Issuer of Marriage Licenses,
Commissioner, etc., in H.C.J.
Clerk, 7th Division Court, of the County of Lennox & Addington
TAMWORTH.

Pleasant Exercise.

Stern Father—"What were those peculiar noises I heard down here last night? Did you and young Comeback uncork any of my beer bottles?"

Demure Daughter—"No, papa, we were just going through some labial exercises."

Stern Father—"Oh! I suppose these new educational fads must have their run."

All the Characteristics.

Tommy—"Mother, what is an angel?"

Mother—"An angel is a being that flies."

Tommy—"But, mamma, papa calls my governess an angel."

Mother—"Then, my dear, she is going to fly immediately."—Chattanooga Times.

As well as ever. DEAR SIRS,—After suffering for two years from acute indigestion I tried B. B. B. I took only three bottles, which made me as well as ever I was. I highly recommend B. B. B. to all dyspeptics.
MRS. JOHN WHITE, Austin, Man.

Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry cures Diarrhœa, Dysentery, Colic, Cramps, Cholera, Cholera Infantum, Cholera Morbus and all summer complaints and flux s of the towels in children or adults.

Not that kind. Scott's Emulsion does not debilitate the stomach as other cough medicines do; but on the contrary, it improves digestion and strengthens the stomach. Its effects are immediate and pronounced.

CASTORIA.
The fac-simile signature of Chas. H. Fletcher is on every

Cheapside.

Monday, February 1st

we commence our annual stock-taking, and rather than pack away any winter goods they will be sold at the lowest possible price.

WE HAVE NO SHELF WORN GOODS TO OFFER.

We would draw your special attention to our Ordered Clothing department. We can give you the best of goods to select from and at prices which will suit the closest buyers.

A FIT GUARANTEED.

GIVE US A TRAIL.

W. MOWAT, Proprietor.

Provincial Building and Loan Association, Toronto.

Local Advisory Board at Napanee.

President, M. S. Madole Esq; Vice Pres., G. W. Gibbard Esq., F. W. Morris, T. D. Pruyn, J. J. Taylor, Chas. Frizzell, Dr. G. W Edwards, W. P. Deroche. Solicitors Messrs. Deroche and Madden. Valuator, W. Embury; Sect. Treasurer and Agent, Irvine Parks.

from whom all information can be obtained. Money received on investment at good interest, and money loaned on easy terms of repayment.

Apply to I. Parks. Agent.

FARMERS ATTENTION.

Insure your property in the Lennox and Addington Mutual Fire Insurance Company.
Because it is a Home Company.
Because it is a Safe Company.
Because it is the cheapest and best.
Because it affords the most liberal policies to patrons.
Because it insures only (isolated) non-hazardous risks, as farm property, county churches halls and school houses.
Because it is the Farmer's Company managed by Farmers in the interest of farmers of the Counties of Lennox and Addington, Hastings Frontenac, Lanark and Leeds.
Officers—J. B. Aylsworth President; B. C. Lloyd, Vice-President. Directors—A. C. Parks, U. C. Sills, W. R. Gordanier, L. F. Aylesworth. Honarary Directors—Jas. Ried, M.P.P., A. V. Price, Camden. C. R. Allison, Wm. Chesters, Fredericksburgh. D. W. Allison ex-M.P. Adolphustown; F. B. Guess, Col. Geo. Hunter Kingston; Allan Pringle, Ira. B. Hudgins, Richmond. The board meets at the Secretarie's office in the first Saturday of every month at one p.m.

J. N. McKim, Napanee, N. A. Caton, Napanee, Thos. B. Wilson, Newburgh } Agents
M. C. BOGART Sec'y.-Treas.

Wanted.

A MAN To sell Canadian and U. S. grown trees, berry plants, roses, shrubs, hedges, ornamental trees, and seed potatoes, for the only nursery having testing orchards in Canada. We give you the benefit of our experience, so your success is guaranteed. If you are not earning $50 per

B B B

Unlocks all the clogged avenues of the Bowels, Kidneys and Liver, carrying off gradually, without weakening the system, all the impurities and foul humors of the secretions; at the same time Correcting Acidity of the Stomach, curing Biliousness, Dyspepsia, Headaches, Dizziness, Heartburn, Constipation, Dryness of the Skin, Dropsy, Dimness of Vision, Jaundice, Salt Rheum, Erysipelas, Scrofula, Fluttering of the Heart, Nervousness and General Debility; all these and many other similar complaints yield to the happy influence of BURDOCK BLOOD BITTERS.

For Sale by all Druggists.

T. MILBURN & Co. TORONTO.

To Cure RHEUMATISM TAKE

Bristol's

SARSAPARILLA

IT IS PROMPT RELIABLE AND NEVER FAILS.

IT WILL MAKE YOU WELL

Whence?

I do not know, I seem a child at play
Before the viewless mystery of life,
And know not it is there; except at times
There comes to me a sense unnamable;
The veil seems just a little drawn; I see
An awful glimpse that shakes my inmost soul.

It may be but a look, a word, a face,
A strain of music, or a laugh, a song,
And all the world goes fading into dream,
I seem to feel all this has been before,
A something of unutterable age,
As old as life, aye, as old as death,
That gazes through my eyes upon the world.

And brings a sense of loneliness, a gleam
Of fearful knowledge, then it fades away.
It was more frequent in my early years,
Before I clogged my soul with flesh and sin;
But even yet it comes to me at times;

And once—I know not what the cause—it came,
And in the frenzy burst from out my lips
The one involuntary cry, "I know."
And then it left me, helpless as a child;
The dream died from me; and I went my way
Into the world of toil and commonplace.

—J. Arthur Edgerton, in Open Court.

HE HAD PITY.

Jabez Wilson, whose 52 years of life had been passed in single blessedness, had little in common with the rest of the world.

His faults were many and his virtues few. His two redeeming points—call them virtues if you will—were generosity verging on weakness in individual cases and a love for music.

Late one light he came out of St. James' Hall, buttoned his coat up round his neck, dived his hands into his pockets and made for home. On his way he entered a cafe and took a cup of coffee.

Which would you rather trust? An old, true friend of twenty years, or a stranger? You may have little health left. Will you risk it with a stranger? If you have a cough, are losing flesh, if weak and pale, if consumption stares you in the face, lean on Scott's Emulsion. It has been a friend to thousands for more than twenty years. They trust it and you can trust it.

Let us send you a book telling you all about it. Free for the asking.

SCOTT & BOWNE, Belleville, Ont.

I cannot by any possible means express my gratitude. But the suggestion you have made, although entirely for my good, fills me with pain. I cannot leave England, because—because I am going to get married."

"The dickens you are!" roared the infuriated bachelor, mad with rage. "This, sir, is the way in which you show your gratitude. You Italian dog you scoundrel—you——"

He stopped short. What an idiot he was. Luigi was only flesh and blood and young blood at that.

"Luigi," he began, after the silence of the moment, "is this girl of your a suitable partner to acompany you on your upward career through life? You will stand at the head of your art, and you will move in the highest circles of European society."

"She, whatever her post in life now, may be ill-suited to grace the drawing-room of the aristocracy, or to sit by your side in the carriage that draws you to your mansion."

"You love her now—She is everything to you. Time may be, however, when you may be led to make odious particulars. Liberal commissions paid part time men. Farmers' sons should look into this! It pays better than working on the farm and offers a chance for promotion. Apply now and get choice of territory.

STONE & WELLINGTON,
Toronto, Canada.

SALESMEN WANTED.

Pushing, trustworthy men to represent us in the sale of our Choice Nursery Stock. Specialties controlled by us. Highest Salary or Commission paid weekly. Steady employment the year round. Outfit free; exclusive territory; experience not necessary; big pay assured workers; special inducements to beginners. Write at once for particulars to

ALLEN NURSERY CO.,
ROCHESTER, N. Y.

FOR SALE!

Large tract of good garden land in South Eastern Florida. AGENTS WANTED to sell options. Apply quick.

FLORIDA GARDEN LAND CO.
Rochester, N. Y.

WANTED SALESMEN.

We want one or two men in each County to take orders for Nursery Stock, and are willing to pay well for good work. We agree to REPLACE FREE anything that dies from natural causes. We also have a choice line of SEED POTATOES GIVE US A TRIAL.

THE HAWKS NURSERY, CO.
ROCHESTER, N. Y.

BRISTOL'S SARSAPARILLA.

M. STORMS,

MOSCOW

has been over fifty years in the undertaking business in the county, and can turn out work equal to any in the Dominion.

A large stock of Coffins, Caskets, Robes, Crape Gloves and Badges, constantly on hand, and sold at reasonable prices.

Embalming a Specialty. Every facility on hand for doing the work.

25 per cent cheaper than any in the trade. Give me a call at Moscow.

M. STORMS, Prop.

Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry cures Diarrhœa, Dysentery, Cramps, Colic, Cholera Morbus, Cholera Infantum, and all looseness of the bowels. Never travel without it. Price 35c.

Pails AND Tubs

Made of E. B. EDDY'S INDURATED FIBREWARE.

The only ware that is hoopless and unleakable—that is seamless and jointless, including bottom.

THERE IS NOTHING TO TAKE ITS PLACE.

Bay of Quinte Railway and Navigation Company

GENERAL PASSENGER TIME TABLE,

Eastern Standard Time. No. 13 Taking effect Dec. 2nd, 1895

Tweed and Tamworth to Napanee and Deseronto.

	Stations	Miles	No.2 A.M.	No.4 P.M.	No.6 P.M.
Lve	Tweed		6 50	....	3 00
	Stoco	3	6 58	....	3 10
	Larkins	7	7 10	....	3 25
	Marlbank	13	7 25	....	3 40
	Erinsville	17	7 40	....	3 55
	Tamworth	20	7 50	2 00	4 10
	Wilson*	24	....	....	....
	Enterprise	26	8 10	2 20	4 30
	Mudlake Bridge*	28	....	....	....
	Moscow	31	8 22	2 35	4 43
	Galbraith*	33	....	....	....
Arr	Yarker	35	8 35	....	4 55
Lve	Yarker	35	9 00	2 50	5 10
	Camden East	39	9 13	3 02	5 23
	Thomson's Mills	40	9 18	....	....
	Newburgh	41	9 23	3 15	5 30
	Napanee Mills	42	9 33	3 25	5 40
Arr	Napanee	49	9 50	3 40	5 55
Lve	Napanee	49	....	....	6 15
	Deseronto Junction	54	....	....	6 30
Arr	Deseronto	58	....	....	6 45

Deseronto and Napanee to Tamworth and Tweed.

	Stations.	Miles	No.1. A.M.	No.3. P.M.	No.5 P.M.
Lve	Deseronto	0	6 50	....	....
	Deseronto Junction	4	7 10	....	....
Arr	Napanee	9	7 25	....	....
Lve	Napanee	9	7 45	12 00	4 20
	Napanee Mills	15	8 00	12 15	4 35
	Newburgh	17	8 10	12 23	4 42
	Thomson's Mills*	18	8 20	....	....
	Camden East	19	8 33	12 30	4 50
Arr	Yarker	23	8 43	....	5 00
Lve	Yarker	23	9 00	12 45	5 15
	Galbraith*	25	....	....	....
	Moscow	27	9 15	1 00	5 27
	Mudlake Bridge*	30	....	....	....
	Enterprise	32	9 30	1 15	5 40
	Wilson*	34	....	....	....
	Tamworth	38	9 50	1 35	5 58
	Erinsville	41	10 03	....	6 10
	Marlbank	45	10 15	....	6 23
	Larkins	51	10 30	....	6 49
	Stoco	55	10 50	....	6 59
Arr	Tweed	58	11 00	....	7 03

Kingston and Sydenham to Napanee and Deseronto.

	Stations.	Miles	No.2. A. M.	No.4. P.M.	No.6. P.M.
Lve	Kingston	0	....	....	3 30
	G. T. R. Junction	2	....	....	3 40
	Glenvale*	10	....	....	4 00
	Murvale*		....	....	4 15
Arr	Harrowsmith	19	....	....	4 30
Lve	Sydenham	23	8 00	....	....
	Harrowsmith	19	8 20	....	4 40
	Frontenac*	26	8 32	....	4 40
Arr	Yarker	26	8 40	....	4 50
Lve	Yarker	26	9 00	2 50	5 10
	Camden East	30	9 13	3 02	5 23
	Thomson's Mills*	31	9 18	....	....
	Newburgh	32	9 23	3 15	5 30
	Napanee Mills	34	9 33	3 25	5 40
Arr	Napanee	40	9 50	3 40	5 55
Lve	Napanee, West End	40	....	....	6 15
	Deseronto Junction	45	....	....	6 30
Arr	Deseronto	49	....	....	6 45

Deseronto and Napanee to Sydenham and Kingston.

	Stations	Miles.	No.1 A.M.	No.3, P.M.	No.5 P.M
Lve	Deseronto	0	6 50	....	....
	Deseronto Junction	4	7 10	....	....
Arr	Napanee	9	7 25	....	....
Lve	Napanee	9	7 45	12 00	4 20
	Napanee Mills	15	8 00	12 15	4 35
	Newburg	17	8 10	12 23	4 42
	Thomson's Mills*	18	8 15	....	....
	Camden East	19	8 20	12 30	4 50
Arr	Yarker	23	8 33	12 45	5 00
Lve	Yarker	23	8 50	....	5 20
	Frontenac*	27	9 00	....	5 27
Arr	Harrowsmith	30	9 05	....	5 40
	Sydenham	34	....	....	5 55
Lve	Harrowsmith	30	9 05	....	....
	Murvale*	35	9 20	....	....
	Glenvale*	39	9 30	....	....
	G. T. R. Junction	47	9 55	....	....
Arr	Kingston	49	10 00	....	....

R. G. CARTER, Gen. Manager. G. A. BROWNE, Gen. Pass. Agent. H. B. SHERWOOD Superintendent ever on the alert for music, caught the sounds of a voice that was at once rich and melodious.

Jabez listened attentively for five minutes, during which time the song continued with short intervals of silence. At length it stopped altogether. Jabez asking the waiter attending to fetch in the person singing.

The waiter returned in less than a minute, ushering in a young man of a distinctly Italian cast of countenance, whom he introduced as Luigi the bottle washer.

"Well, my man, you have an extremely fine voice. Did you know that? With due care and rigid training there ought to be both fame and fortune in it. You would like to be something better than a bottle washer all your life, eh, my man?"

Luigi, in a wondering sort of way, nodded.

"That's right, that's right, my man. Here is my card. Come and see me at my house to-morrow at 6.30. I want to have a serious talk with you. Can you come?"

"Yes, sir—that is, no, sir. Not to-morrow. I work till 11 every night during the week."

"Oh, oh! such is the irony of fate," muttered Jabez. "Can you come on Sunday?"

"Yes, sir, I will come."

True to his word, Luigi, clothed in his Sunday garments, found himself in Mr. Wilson's drawing-room the following Sunday evening.

"Luigi, you have a most charming voice. It is, at present, in what I may term an embryo form. The foundation is there, in all its strength, and a couple of years' careful training will place you without a doubt as one of the topmost branches of the vocal tree.

"You must make a point of cultivating your voice on every possible occasion, Luigi. Avoid those articles of food which I shall give you a list of, that your vocal chords may retain the sweetness, strength and fullness that now mark them.

"Your clothes, too, are unsuited to the pupil of a vocal professor. You must fit yourself out like a gentleman, Luigi. You must exercise care, and take a pride in your personal appearance—in short, be in every respect worthy of your profession."

As Luigi's profession was that of bottle washer at an Italian restaurant, he naturally failed to see how he could well give further evidence of his occupation than by the suit in which he appeared before this strange gentleman. And he said so.

"Dear me; of course I must explain to you, Luigi, what I propose to do. I am too hasty. First and foremost, do you like music?"

"I am an Italian," was the modest reply.

"Grand. A most fitting answer. Now we will come to business. Would you like to give up your present menial occupation and become, first, the pupil of a musician, and then a master of the art you excel in?"

"That is beyond my hopes, sir. I have no money."

Jabez Wilson threw up his hands.

"That's all right. I will see to that little matter. Give me the assurance that you will put your whole heart into the work I have cut out for you, and will do your best. I ask for nothing more."

A few days later Luigi left his situation and became the protege of Mr. Wilson. To say that Luigi was grateful would be to put the feeling he evinced toward his benefactor in very mild terms. He could find no way of expressing his gratitude beyond making himself as perfect in his art as it became possible for him to do.

"Luigi," said Mr. Wilson one day, "I am delighted to tell you that it is now beyond the capabilities of English masters to teach you further. It remains for the masters of your native land to instil into you that little required to take you to Naples, where we will spend the next year or two."

For the first time since their odd acquaintance Luigi failed to hail an announcement for his benefit with any sign of pleasure or satisfaction. He looked gloomy and hesitated to speak.

"You have always been extremely kind and good to me, Mr. Wilson. comparisons between her simplicity and the winning faces of beautiful women."

"My kind benefactor, that is impossible. I shall always love Maggie as much as I do now."

Jabez Wilson sighed. It was a sad blow to his vanity and to his peace of mind.

"Think it over, lad," he began. "When the first pangs of grief at parting are passed, you will forget about your lowly girl in the whirlwind of your fame, and she will soon put you from her. Come to me to-morrow and let me know what you intend doing."

The next day Mr. Wilson received a visit from Maggie. She came in tears to beg his consent, his heart was touched at the sight of a woman in sorrow, and, reviling himself for a cold-blooded monster, he told her, in an outburst of generosity, to go and marry Luigi as many times as she liked.

After a twelvemonth spent in Italy Luigi became perfect. His first appearance in public was made as Gerardo, and, as he retreated behind the curtain that night, old Jabez Wilson waited to press his hands and tell him that his dream was at last realized.

Jabez Wilson walked out of his solicitor's office penniless. The bank of which he was principal shareholder had failed, and this, in conjunction with a few minor disasters, had robbed him of every penny he possessed.

He had never in his life done a stroke of work, and was not even capable of a clerical position.

The apartments he had occupied were given up; the club was never again to see him or hear what had become of him; the fine old wines in his cellar fetched sufficient to pay his long standing rent, with a surplus for a few weeks—that was all.

From his scanty store he drew a penny every day to search the papers for news of Luigi's success. He could not bring himself to write to him and to tell him everything. It was pleasant enough to know that the man whom he had dragged from obscurity should at that moment be making Europe vibrate with the splendor of his voice.

One night, as he crouched over the fire in the doss house he frequented, reading the paper, a short paragraph at the foot of a column caught his eye.

"Early yesterday morning the body of a woman was found in the Grand canal at Venice. She is said to be the wife of Sig. Luigi, the well-known singer, with whom she is supposed to have led a wretched life. There are no marks of violence on the body, and the authorities have passed a verdict of suicide while temporarily insane."

Jabez Wilson's forecast had been realized only too fully, and the broken-hearted man cried like a child.

A week later he stood outside the doss house with exactly a penny in his pocket.

He stood wondering what he should do, when his musical instincts, which had been crushed and lain dormant for so long, arose within him. He hurried along the street, entered a shop and purchased a tin whistle with his one remaining copper.

An hour later as he walked slowly along the middle of the road, his threadbare coat buttoned up around his neck, an old battered hat pressed tightly down over the straggling gray hair that blew in the cold wind, and his dry lips pressed against the whistle, he was playing "Home, Sweet Home"—that was all he knew.

In front of a resplendent hotel he stood and played, with one foot on

Back-Ache, Face-Ache, Sciatic Pains, Neuralgic Pains, Pain in the Side, etc.

Promptly Relieved and Cured by

The "D. & L." Menthol Plaster

Having used your D. & L. Menthol Plaster for severe pain in the back and lumbago, I unhesitatingly recommend same as a safe, sure and rapid remedy; in fact, they act like magic.—A. LAPOINTE, Elizabethtown, Ont.

Price 25c.

DAVIS & LAWRENCE CO., LTD.
Proprietors, MONTREAL.

the pavement. A tall, black-bearded gentleman, evidently a foreigner, wrapped in a priceless fur coat, came down the steps of the hotel, in company with a beautiful woman, in the full glare of the lamp.

Instinctively the instrument fell from the lips of the player, as he muttered, half aloud:

"Luigi!"

The Italian peered into the pale, pinched, upturned face.

"So you have come to this, eh?" he asked in a whisper, lest his companion should hear, at the same time drawing half a crown from his pocket, "my unfortunate friend."

He turned abruptly, half ashamed, when the woman by his side told him to come away from the beggar.

"I come, Mirand." Then as she took his arm and he handed her in a brougham, "I have pity for these poor musicians."—Pearson's Weekly.

COLONIAL FAD IN DRESS.

Last Century Decorations Are Now Much in Vogue.

Concerning the many features of last century dress decoration now in vogue a New York Mail and Express writer says:

A pretty hat is in outline a fairy copy of the fashionable gentleman's hat of the period just preceding the Revolution.

It has a flaring roll, more accentuated than the D'Orsay, a very wide brim and a small crown, slightly conical in character. The gentlemen of the olden time trimmed this with an edging to the brim, a band to the crown and a large rosette or bow upon the side.

The modern woman trims hers in the same style, but increases it by having one or two rosettes upon one side, two large bows on the other and a spray of plumes rising up behind the bows and falling in graceful curves upon the top of the crown.

One of the newest jackets is almost a duplicate of a coat worn by Beau Brummel. Like the skirt to which it belongs, it is made of handsome old-fashioned broadcloth. Instead of buttoning down the middle of the body the side is prolonged and buttons far over on the left, almost beneath the arm.

Here it is caught and fastened by two or three buttons, large, ornate and dazzling.

The lapel is so wide that it runs over to the shoulder. It is not separated by the customary slit from the rever and continues in graceful lines, curving first upward and then downward from the right shoulder to a point on the left side nearly below the arm.

It is still further edged, as are the cuffs, with a row of dark-colored and substantial decoration, this being velvet plush astrachan, lambs' wool, mink, sable, monkey, chinchilla, marten or otter.

The sleeves are moderately tight from the shoulder to the wrist, fitting very snugly the forearm. The ends are turned back into gauntlet cuffs. On the shoulder the material is puffed so as to give the breadth created by the balloon sleeve without the heavy and cumbrous effect to the upper arm.

Instead of a belt there is a girdle of black velvet or of fur. The space under the chin is filled with an immense bow of chiffon, lace and ribbons caught in the centre by a brilliant old-fashioned Dutch or Flemish clasp.

Even more patriotic are a number of designs in blue and buff. The numerous new shades in these two colors enable an artistic modiste to make at least ten combinations which are satisfactory so far as contrast is concerned.

In making these combinations grayish or brownish tints are avoided and clear tints are preferred. Of the buffs those which run toward the reddish yellow are preferred to the brownish yellow series, and of the blues the ultramarine, sapphire and persian blues are the favorites.

By the combining of bright sapphire with a clear reddish buff a very satisfactory and artistic combination is produced.

The colonial idea is followed by using blue for the material and buff for the lining, trimming and decoration. The combination looks very well upon a waist like the one described, upon a gentlewoman's riding habit of the last century, of which the waists worn to-day for street costumes and upon many of the coat waists and jacket waists which are now so much in evidence.

One charm of these colonial coats and jackets is their warmth and com-

Making the baby happy is a womanly woman's best pleasure. It is easy to make a healthy baby happy. Such a baby is born happy. Smiles and dimples are as natural to it as fretfulness is to a puny, sickly child. It rests with every woman whether her baby shall be healthy and happy, or puny and miserable. If during the period preceding maternity a woman takes proper care of the organs upon which the perpetuation of the race depends, she insures the health of herself and child. It is easy to do this. The proper medicine is at hand. Over 90,000 women have testified in writing to the value of it.

The organs that make womanhood and motherhood possible are directly acted upon by Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. It makes them strong and healthy. It cures all weakness and disease. It prepares for maternity. It does away with the discomforts of the expectant period. It insures baby's health and makes labor easy and almost painless. Druggists sell more of the "Favorite Prescription" than of all other similar medicines combined.

"I am anxious to add my testimonial to your 'Favorite Prescription,'" writes Mrs. C. G. Brandon, of Fort Grant, Graham Co., Ariz. "I had been using the 'Prescription' for several months previous to my confinement, and I am sure I have been benefited greatly from the time I commenced to use it. I feel fully as well as ever I did in my life. Up to the very day when the baby was born I did all my own housework; and during confinement I had not the least symptoms of fever. The 'ordeal' was nothing to what I expected."

The woman who owns a copy of Dr. Pierce's Common Sense Medical Adviser probably does not realize at once all that she gave in exchange for it. There was the price of $1.50. That paid for the large volume of 1,008 pages. Then, as day by day she looked into these pages, one by one she gave away her anxieties for her family's health. She learned how to make her children well. In the chapters especially treating of her own weaknesses, she learned the causes and the cures. 680,000 copies have been sold at $1.50 each. Now an edition in paper covers, will be distributed FREE. Send 21 one-cent stamps to World's Dispensary Medical Association, Buffalo, N. Y., to cover the cost of customs and mailing only. Send 50 stamps for cloth binding.

LIFE IS TOO SHORT.

I don't want a sweetheart whose up in the 'ologies,
Rather a maid with the kindliest heart,
I won't have a prude whose demanding apologies,
Give me a girl who can take her own part;
I'll be her grammar and teach her love's alphabet—
That's all the learning my pupil will crave,
Yes, a fig for the 'ologies, tears and apologies!
Life is too short to pretend to be grave.

HOW HE LOST HER.

Mr. Hanford's Unpardonable Solecism at His Fiancee's Home.

"No, George," said Miss Melton, after the old folks had withdrawn from the parlor and left the lovers alone, "I am sorry that I cannot be yours. It breaks my heart, but something has occurred to-day that I can never forgive, and even if I could do so I know that mother would be unwilling to overlook it."

Mr. Hanford, says the Cleveland Leader, had but recently become engaged to the beautiful Agnes Melton, and her parents had invited him to dinner that day for the purpose of introducing him to some of their near relatives. Glad indeed he had been to accept their hospitality, for the fare at the boarding-house was not of the best, and he had within a few months dwindled down into the welter-weight class, though he had begun at 160 pounds, stripped.

For a moment after his sweetheart ceased speaking the young man sat as if dazed and gazed at her in helpless amazement. When he could command his voice he asked:

"Is this some cruel trick? Dearest, do not keep me in suspense. In my present debilitated condition it might be fatal."

"Alas!" she replied, "I never was more in earnest. We must henceforth pursue diverging ways."

She had recently graduated from the Women's College and could hurl solid chunks of English with a force that was indeed hard on the teeth of an opponent.

"And you say, he asked, "that this sudden determination upon your part is due to something that has occurred to-day?"

"Yes—something that you did at the table."

The perturbed lover permitted his thoughts to revolve backward. What

FOOTPRINTS OF PROGRESS.

The Cream of the News of Discovery and Research.

Aluminium is found to withstand the influence of organic secretions better than silver, and is being largely employed for dental plates and surgical instruments, and in places where subjected to [illegible] aluminium is little acted upon by mineral waters, and withstands the action of sea water better than iron, steel or copper.

The experimental minor coins of aluminium alloy have been struck at the Philadelphia Mint, and have been sent to the Department at Washington for the use of the Committee on Coinage, Weights and Measures.

Aluminium violins are said to have a richer tone than those made of wood, and the inventor says that he has found in aluminium a latent property, consisting of a tendency of the fundamental to outweigh the upper partial tones. The manufacturer states that for this reason means are employed to introduce and regulate the partial tones to suit the taste of the individual player. Notwithstanding the strong popular feeling for wooden instruments, aliminium instruments are steadily gaining their way in musical circles, and even Ysaye, the eminent viloinist, has spoken highly of the aluminium violin.

Aluminium yacht blocks have been tried in service for over a year, and have given very satisfactory results. These blocks stand the strain very well, and save considerable weight in blocks used aloft, where lightness is a great desideratum. In actual tests aluminium blocks have shown remarkable strength, a block weighing about three ounces has stood a test of 700 pounds, and one weighing eight ounces a test of 1000 pounds; while an 18-ounce block has stood a strain of 1600 pounds.

Aluminium combs being so light make excellent pocket combs and are very durable. Moreover, their non-corrosive properties allow of their being carried for a long time without apparent signs of wear.

The Arctic explorer Nansen used aluminium utensils in his last expedition in quest of the North pole, and he even carried aluminium ware where he journeyed afoot, thousands of miles over the frozen sea.

Still another use of aluminium is in the manufacture of megaphones, for long-distance speaking, where its lightness is of great value.

PHOTOGRAPHIC SNAP SHOTS.

Brief News of Interest to Both Amateur and Professional.

A French photographer has invented an instrument called a sensito colorimeter, for testing the color sensitiveness of dry plates.

To Remove Silver Stains.

Sulphate of sodium ½.....1-2 ounce
Chloride of lime .....1-4 ounce
Water .....1 ounce

Mix thoroughly and apply with an old tooth brush.

No Ruby Light Required.

Those who are away from home and who have not a ruby lamp and yet wish to develop plates may do so with very little trouble. The best way is to place a candle under a table or washhand stand and develop the plates on top of this. The darker in color the walls of the room are the better. The plate to be developed should be quickly placed in a dish and covered with the developer; the dish should then be immediately covered with another of the same size. This may be raised for a second or two at intervals, and the plate can in this way be very satisfactorily developed. Special rapid plates developed in this way showed no tendency to fog.

Glass Photographs in Corner-Stones.

Herr A. Fuhrmann believes that collodion glass plates are more durable than the documents ordinarily deposited in memorial stones. He therefore suggests that they should be inserted in such stones, and that the documents it is desired to preserve there should be photographed and put in together with the originals with a view

X-Rays

Of severest trial and test prove in regard to Hood's Sarsaparilla

1st, Greatest Merit

Secured by a peculiar Combination, Proportion and Process unknown to others—which naturally and actually produces

2d, Greatest Cures

Shown by thousands of honest, voluntary testimonials—which naturally and actually produce

3d, Greatest Sales

According to the statements of druggists all over the country. In these three points Hood's Sarsaparilla is peculiar to itself.

Hood's Sarsaparilla

Is the best—It is the One True Blood Purifier.

Hood's Pills are the only pills to take with Hood's Sarsaparilla.

HALF-BREED FELINE.

AN ANIMAL WONDER FOR NEW YORK CENTRAL PARK ZOO.

An Experiment That Will Be Interesting to All Naturalists—Historical Data Appertaining to the Past. Hybrids of This Class.

Half lion, half tiger. There is a royal beast for you; a doubled and quadrupled embodiment of all the strength, agility, craft and bloodthirstiness that ever walked upon four feet.

That is the sort of quadruped that Superintendent Smith of the Central Park Zoological Gardens, is being urged now to secure and keep on exhibition for the amazement and delight of the thousands who visit his interesting bailiwick, says the Journal.

In all the animal kingdom there is not, nor could there be produced, a beast about the gratings of whose cage men, women and children would linger with deeper interest or greater awe. Such an animal does not, so far as zoological experts have knowledge, exist at the present time. There certainly is none in captivity, and so closely have these heads of the cat tribe followed the law governing the selection of species, that no knowledge can be had by explorers, in either Asia, or Africa, of any wild animal which seems to have been the offspring of such cross-breeding.

FATHER-MOTHER.

Superintendent Smith hesitates. He says that experimentalism is not included in the Central Park garden's code. There has been little or no effect there at producing new varieties of animals.

The history of the crossing of the lion and tiger breeds bears out what is found by the production of hybrids in other branches of the cat family; to wit, that half-breed felines, unlike hybrids of many other orders, show no sign of degeneration. In strength and in beauty of form and color, the half-bred lion-tiger has been found an improvement upon both his progenitors, but, strange to say, the savgae and bloodthirsty instincts of the parents seem to have vanished in the cross.

Since this matter of securing a lion-tiger for the New York Zoo has been under discussion, the historical data appertaining to it have been brought

The Old-Fashioned High Tea.

The table for a "high tea" is usually arranged without a tablecloth, particularly if the hostess happens to possess a handsome table. At each place should be a plate doily and a tumbler doily; in the centre of the table an embroidered centrepiece in colors in harmony with the table decorations and the flowers it is intended to use. At the head of the table upon an embroidered square are laid the tea service, the urn, the cups and saucers, the cream-pitcher, sugar-bowl, etc. At the other end upon another embroidered square may be placed the piece de resistance of the "high tea." Scattered about on circular doilies are the dishes of jelly, preserves, pickles sweet and sour, olives, butter balls, cakes, etc. At each place, resting upon the plate doily, should be a pretty plate and the necessary silver, a goblet, a bread-and-butter-plate and a salt-cellar. All the cold dishes are placed upon the table before the meal is announced, and the hot ones served immediately upon the guests being seated. Broiled chicken and waffles, fried oysters and hot biscuit, scalloped oysters, creamed oysters, broiled oysters and creamed chicken are always in order. Hot buttered and hot dry toast belong properly to the "high tea," as do chicken and lobster salad. The tea and coffee are served with the meal. Generally the sweet portion consists merely of cake, jelly and preserves. Ice cream is sometimes served, and whipped cream or charlotte russe. Thin slices of white and brown bread carefully buttered make a welcome addition to the menu.—January Ladies' Home Journal.

The Baby's Christening Robe.

"The christening robe is usually of the finest mull and trimmed with real Valenciennes lace edging, but one of fine nainsook with hemstitched hem, front of machine-made Valenciennes insertion and nainsook embroidery, yoke to correspond, makes a very dainty and serviceable affair," writes Emma M. Hooper in a practical article on "The Baby's Layette," in the January Ladies' Home Journal. "It may be made as follows: Take two lengths of fine lawn, thirty-six inches wide, costing about fifty cents a yard; have a three inch hem hemstitched and a ruffle of three-inch Valenciennes lace; whip this to the lower edge. Gather to a short, square yoke, opening it in the back. The yoke should be made of stripes of lace insertion and nainsook embroidery and edged with a ruffle of lace, the neck being finished with a ruffle of narrower lace. Cover the front with alternate crosswise rows of lace and embroidery insertion, commencing them at the hem twenty inches wide and tapering toward the top to a width of six inches; a ruffle of lace down each side. One seam sleeves gathered in to the armholes and at the wrists, where there is a band of insertion and ruffle lace. Of three-inch lace eight yards, of narrow edging half a yard, and of lace and nainsook insertion six yards of each. One yard from the neck to the lower edge is amply long for a dress, many being only thirty-three inches, as it has been decided unhealthy for the baby to be burdened with any extra weight."

He Takes the Prize.

"You're mistaken in saying that Tightly is the meanest man in the state."

"No, I'm not. He hired me for a year as a conductor on that electric railroad of his at starvation wages, and then made me pay full fare every trip."

Wouldn't Work Both Ways.

What is good for one is not always good for another, says Harper's Round Table. This is illustrated in a short tale told some time ago about a French medical student. While in London on a visit, the student lodged in the house with a man very sick with fever, who was continually besieged by his nurse to drink very nauseating liquids which were lukewarm. The sick man found this almost impossible to do, until one day he whispered to his nurse:

"Bring me a salt herring, and I will drink as much as you please."

The woman indulged in his request; he ate the herring, drank the liquids, underwent the required perspiration and recovered.

The French student, thinking this very clever, inserted in his journal: "Salt herring cures an Englishman of fever."

On his return to France he prescribed the same remedy to his first patient with a fever. The patient died. On which he inserted in his journal: "N. B.—A salt herring cures an Engmitted, or what fearful blunder of speech had he made? He had called for only three different supplies of turkey, so that could not, of course, have queered him. He remembered distinctly that he had eaten his soup out of the side of the spoon, and that he had used his napkin after every mouthful. But, stay! How about the olives? No, they were not at fault, for he had the stones in his vest pocket. What, then, was the dreadful thing that had happened? He thought of everything he had said, and could remember no word that he would care to have unspoken. The mystery was beyond his ken, and at length, in trembling, eager tones, he again asked the lovely girl to relieve him of his dreadful suspense."

Slowly and deliberately she replied: "The first thing you did when you sat down was to take your plate and wipe it off with a corner of the tablecloth! This is not a boarding house or a hotel, sir! The insult can never be atoned for. Please be sure that you get the right hat and overcoat as you pass out."

"Curses upon me absent mindness!" he muttered and a moment later the lower lights in the Melton mansion were extinguished.

The Best Make.

"What are you talking about?" said Sprocket, contemptuously. "In the first place, mine is at least half an ounce lighter than yours, and yet is better fitted for heavy roads."

"Rubbish!" retorted Toeclip, "Geared to the same pitch as yours, I can get twice the speed out of mine with less than half the work."

"That is not true. But even if it were, with one tire busted, where would you be? I can repair both of mine in 1 minute, 37 seconds."

"So could I. But I never had to. Mine wont bust, any way."

"You never took yours where you are liable to. You don't dare to. The slightest jolting would throw yours right out of balance."

"Balance! What do you know about balance? Why, I can take mine, turn it upside down, and—"

"Excuse me," said the stranger, who had been looking on, "but might I ask you gentlemen what the trouble is?"

"Well," said Sprocket, "I am trying to show this idiot the superiority of my wheel over his."

"Which the blamed fool cannot do," returned Toeclip, "for the reason that—"

"Gentlemen, gentlemen," interrupted the stranger, raising his hand; "in order to settle this little difficulty what would you say if I were to show you a wheel that beats both of yours into fits?"

"You can't do it," said both the combatants at once.

"Wait a minute; yes I can. I can produce before you a wheel that is absolutely perfect in every way; one that never requires cleaning, yet is always bright; one that you can travel further on, if you know how, than anything else in the world; one that everybody recognizes as the best as soon as they see it; one that you know how to use as soon as you get it; one that, when it gets old and worn, can always be changed for a new one without any discount."

"What make?" yelled Sprocket and Toeclip in a breath.

"Well, they make them in Philadelphia, Washington and San Francisco."

"The name of it," roared both bicyclists, trembling with agitation.

"There is no particular name to it," replied the stranger, "unless you call it—but, here, gentlemen, I'll show it to you. The greatest wheel in the world. Known as the cartwheel!"

And he took from his pocket a brand new silver dollar.—New York Journal.

He Looked It Any Way.

Gran'pop Fullip—Whaffor yo' fool pickanninies pullin' yo' gran'fadder's leg dat tar way? Mebbe yo' fink I'se

To Prevent Frilling.

Dr. E. Vogel, writing in the Mitteilungen, says that formalin is a perfectly satisfactory preventive of such frilling as occurs during the washing of negatives. Immediately the plate is taken from the fixing bath, and before even rinsing, it is immersed in a mixture of one volume of Schering's formalin and twenty volumes of water and allowed to remain for five or ten minutes. After this it has no tendency to frill. The formalin bath should be kept in the dark, as light tends to change the formic aldehyde into insoluble para-aldehyde, and the bath becomes inoperative.

Municipal Control of Electric and Water Energy.

The Baltimore Electrical Commission has submitted its report to the Mayor favoring the construction of a system of electrical subways to be owned by the city and rented to the various electrical companies. The report is a most elaborate one and reflects great credit upon the commission and its engineer, Nicholas S. Hill, jr. Coincident with the appearance of this report is the decision of the Maryland Court of Appeals denying the suit of the Baltimore Edison Company, which claimed that it had a right to build electrical subways without a franchise from the city. As the people at the last election voted in favor of the construction of an electrical subway system by the city, says the Engineering News, the decision is an important one.

Municipal ownership of electrical subways in Erie, a., has been recommended by a committee of the Select Council, and the recommendation has been adopted. The system is yet to be constructed.

Municipal ownership of water works at Des Moines, Iowa, has been in contemplation for some time. The city recently offered the Des Moines Water Works Company $800,000 for its plant. The offer not having been accepted the City Council has instructed the City Engineer and the Board of Public Works to submit plans and specifications for a new plant.

Municipal ownership of street railways is in force at Dover, England, and that city is now advertising for bids for the material and construction of three miles of line. The work will be under the supervision of the Borough Engineer.

Any Woman

No. 3

If she is content to endure her pains and weakness without attempting to get relief, can get along without MILES' (Can.) VEGETABLE COMPOUND. But if she WANTS to be well, WANTS to be strong, WANTS to walk and work with ease and comfort, she will use

COMPOUND

MILES' (Can.) VEGETABLE COMPOUND

If she can't get it at her Druggist's, she will enclose 75c. to

The "A.M.C." MEDICINE CO., Ltd.

578 St. Paul S., Montreal, and get a large bottle.

If wise she will lose no time in doing it.

Explanatory pamphlet, "Woman's Triumph," mailed free on application.

PYNY-PECTORAL

Positively Cures

COUGHS and COLDS

in a surprisingly short time. It's a scientific certainty, tried and true, soothing and healing in its effects.

W. C. McCOMBER & SON, Bouchette, Que., report in a letter that Pyny-Pectoral cured Mrs. O. Garceau of chronic cold in chest and bronchial tubes, and also cured W. G. McComber of a long-standing cold.

MR. J. H. HUTTY, Chemist, 528 Yonge St., Toronto, writes: "As a general cough and lung syrup Pyny-Pectoral is a most invaluable preparation. It has given the utmost satisfaction to all who have tried it, many having spoken to me of the benefits derived from its use in their families. It is suitable for old or young, being pleasant to the taste. Its sale with me has been wonderful, and I can always recommend it as a safe and reliable cough medicine."

Large Bottle, 25 Cts.

DAVIS & LAWRENCE CO., L'd. Sole Proprietors MONTREAL back in 1823 a successful experiment—or rather a number of them was made by one Atkins, the proprietor of a menagerie then very well known in Great Britain. The sire, in the first instance, was a lion bred in the menagerie, the mother a tigress imported from India.

HALF LION, HALF TIGER.

For a period of nearly two years the animals were kept in proximity, but there was no issue until October 17, 1824, when the tigress bore her first litter of six cubs. The menagerie was in London, and the new arrivals became the talk of the town, though there were not so many newspapers then to herald their advent and publish their pictures.

The next litter, of two cubs, Sir William Jardine, an eminent zoological authority, says, were born in December—Christmas Day—1827. They only lived ten months, and Mr. Atkins had their skins stuffed and mounted and presented them to the British Museum, where to this day, it is said, they may be seen.

There was, it was asserted by Atkins, no domestic infelicity between lion fathers and tiger mothers, and, in hope of establishing the cross as a distinct animal, he continued his experiments. Dr. Gunther of the British Museum, purchased two of the next litter of cubs, when they were only a few days old. They were, he wrote in his records, of a peculiarly yellow color, with indistinct markings. There were slight waves of darker color on the back, and the limbs and tail were banded with black. Sir William Jardine says of them: "The general color was not so bright as that of the tiger, and the transverse bands were more obscure."

Professor Griffiths, another well grounded authority connected with the London Zoo, wrote: "Our cubs, in common with ordinary lions, were born without traces of a mane, or of a tuft at the end of the tail. Their fur in general was rather inclined to be woolly. The exterior ear was pendant at the extremity. The nails were constantly out and not eased in the sheath, and in these particulars they agreed with the common cubs of lions.

"Their color was a tawny yellow, but from the nose over the head along the back and the upper side of the tail, the color was much darker, and on these parts the transverse stripes were stronger, and the forehead was covered with obscure spots, slighter indications of which also appeared on other parts of the body. The shape of the head is assimilated to that of the lion; its superfineness, on the other hand, to that of the tigress.

In 1832 another travelling showman named Austin, secured a number of cubs from a Barbary lion and a Bengal tigress. They attracted so much attention that the Queen, then Princess Victoria, and George IV., went to see them.

All these cubs, save one male and one female, died on account of overfeeding. The male lived to be ten years of age and grew to be an immense beast, the pride of the Liverpool gardens. His hide was stuffed and is now on exhibition in the Cambridge Museum.

A Motor For High Speed.

At least one large firm manufacturing dynamos and motors is, says the American Engineer, at work upon a motor that will run at a speed of 10,000 revolutions per minute. This motor, if it can be successfully constructed, will be used by the United States Government on men-of-war to start the propelling machinery of Howell torpedoes just before they are fired from their tubes. This torpedo is propelled by the energy stored in a small flywheel inside of it, made to revolve at a speed of 10,000 revolutions, and at present a steam turbine is the only motor of simple form that is available to rotate the fly-wheel at that speed.

Men's Department

For the next two weeks we make the following prices :

MEN'S SUITS.

Men's Grey Halifax Suits were $4.85, will be 3.88

Men's Dark Tweed Suits, Silk Mixture were $8.00, now 6.40

Men's Scotch Cheviot suits, best goods we've got, were $12 now 9.60

Men's Blue Serge Suits, single breasted sack, were $3.40 now 2.72

Men's Light Tweed Suit, single breast, were $7.25, now 5.80

Men's Light Tweed Suits, single breast were $9.00, now 7.20

Men's Blue Serge Suits, extra heavy, were $3.90, now 3.12

Men's Blue Cheviot Suits, double breast and extra heavy, were $7.00, now 5.60

Grey Tweed pin check, heavy weight and an extra good suit, was $8.75, now 7.00

Brown Tweed, small check, a grand wearing suit, with good style, was $9.00, now 7.20

Dark English Tweed Sack Suit, stylish check equal to custom work, $11.50, now 9.20

Black Irish Serge Suits Sack elegant linings and finish, was $10.00, now 8.00

Double Breasted Blue Serge, extra heavy, was $4.15, will be 3.32

Best Canadian Tweed dark brown, a small pattern, was $6.75, will be 5.40

Light Canadian Tweed stylish and neat, a well made suit, was $6.90 now 5.52

Light Tweed, large check single breasted, a very neat suit at $7.50, now 6.00

About twenty suits, five or six patterns, what are left of our $5 line, clearing at 4.00

Youth's Suits,

Sizes 31 to 35 Breast

Canadian Tweed neat check, single breasted sack, was $3.75, now 3.00

Dark Grey Halifax, single breast, was $4.25 now 3.40

Blue Serge, single breast sack, was $3.40 now 2.72

Brown pin check, Canadian Tweed, single breast, was $5.00, now 4.00

THE BIG ST

Sixth V

OF O

Winte

On Saturay

February 6th, d

We will place on tables in the centre before, ten yards only to each cu

180 Yds. Wool Delaines, in best qualities and 35c., ten yards only at 220 Yds. Cotton Crinkles, light and dark, 25c. ten yards only at 250 Yds. Striped Cotton Crinkles, light a and 17c., ten yards only at 310 Yds. Crinkle Muslin, white, new patt yards only at 320 Yds. Lace Stripe Lawns, in white, b only at Lahey &

COAL !

The Celebrated

SCRANTON COAL

That has no Equal.

I wish to announce to the public

Stole a Couple of Robes.

Saturday night some party or parties broke into the Royal Hotel stables and tole a couple of valuable robes.

Call at Lawson's.

Meat market for prime western beef bought at Toronto market last week, also choice spring Lamb, Mutton, Veal and Pork. Beefsteak 3 lbs. for 25c. 3 lbs. of Pork Chop 25c. Stewing Beef 4c. Roast from 6c. up.

Gentlemen

who have lost part or all of their hair should not miss seeing Prof. Dorenwend's latest styles in wigs and toupees. They are true to nature, and no one could tell

Dry Mill Wood.

Over 1000 cords. $1.00 per cord.
THE RATHBUN CO.,
Napanee.

This is For You.

For a good pair of ordered boots or shoes call on J. W. Schryver, John St. Boots, shoes and rubbers repaired on the shortest notice. 51tf

First Class File.

Mr. W. G. Baughan has the sale of the Acme File, a first class arrangement for putting away valuable papers, deeds, and so on. The price is moderate, and the file will be a boon to many.

Napanee Wood Yard.

Corner Mill and Robinson street, hard, soft, cut, or in cordwood, Trenton dry edgings and blocks. Reasonable rates. A call solicited. Wood delivered free to all parts of the town. S. J. HOWARD. tf

Eyes Right.

You can eat with false teeth, you can walk with a wooden leg, but a glass eye is useless. Do not run the risk of loseing your precious eyesight. If you are in doubt about your eyes, be on the safe side and have them examined at once by Smith the expert Optician, satisfaction positively guaranteed to all. Remember no charge for testing. Smith's Jewelry Store.

I wish to announce to the public that I have put in a thoroughly assorted stock of this celebrated Coal, and am prepared to supply my customers on as good terms as any other dealers.

I am the sole agent in Napanee for this celebrated Coal and it can not be had from any other dealers. Your Patronage Solicited.

C. E. BARTLETT.

CARLETON WOODS,
ISSUER OF MARRIAGE LICENSES.
1y Roblin, Ont.

JOHN POLLARD,
ISSUER OF MARRIAGE LICENSES.
Express Office, Napanee.
Strictly Private and Confidential.

R. J. WRIGHT,
ISSUER OF MARRIAGE LICENSES.
At Residence, Bridge Street, Napanee, Opposite West Ward School.
Entirely Private.

The Napanee Express

NAPANEE, FRIDAY, FEB. 5, 1897.

All local reading notices or notices announcing entertainments at which a fee is charged for admission, will be charged 5c per line for each insertion, if in ordinary type. In black type the price will be 10c per line each insertion.

Bath may hold an ice yacht regatta this year.

There are thirty cheese factories and two creameries in Lennox & Addington.

The Rathburn company is erecting a new kiln at the chemical works, Deseronto.

Dr. Ackland Oronhyatekha is in Philadelphia suffering from an attack of influenza.

The number of ratepayers in Lennox and Addington in 1886 was 7,637 in and 1895, 8,076.

Miss Florence Young and Mr. Walter Reid, of Picton, were married last week.

Mr. Archelaus Southard, one of the oldest residents of Picton, died last week.

Miss Theresa Breen, East Trenton, was married to Charles Godwin, of Pictor, recently.

Have you a watch that others have failed to make run satisfactorily. Bring it to F. Chinneck's jewelry store and have it carefully overhauled and guaranteed to give satisfaction by F. Chinneck himself, who personally oversees the watch repairing department.

A man named Daniel Mustard is now holding a government job, and there are those who hint that he must have a pull.

The pedigree of McKinley has been traced back to Duncan McDuff, Shakespear's Thawl of Life, who slew Macbeth. This is another fling at Democracy.

Close's Mills.—Grinding every day up to Saturday noon. Those wishing grists same day are requested to be in before noon while slack water lasts.

JAS. A. CLOSE.

The annual meeting of the East Hastings Reform Association was held at Canifton on Tuesday. The following officers were elected: President, Dennis Hanley; Vice Presidents, Thurlow, W. C. Farley; Hungerford, P. Murphy; Tweed, Thos. McCann; Tyendinaga, B. Osborne; Deseronto, L. Hoppens. Sec.-Treas., N. Vermilyea.

PILL-AGE

Dr. Agnew's Liver Pills, 20c. a vial, are planned after the most modern in medical science.

They are as great an Improvement over the 50 years old strong dose pill formulas as a bicycle is over an ox cart in travel.

Cinnamon Drop Coated makes them pleasant to take—being purely vegetable makes them absolutely safe—they never gripe and they never fail—40 doses, 20 cents at all druggists.

Those who have lost part or all of their hair should not miss seeing Prof. Dorenwend's latest styles in wigs and toupees. They are true to nature and no one could tell you had one on. Call at Paisley House, on Saturday, Feb. 13th.

Bad Weather For Tramps.

About 3 o'clock Monday morning Night-watchman Perry discovered a tramp on John Street with both feet frozen. He gave his name as McKengie and was shipped to the General Hospital on Monday afternoon by the chairman of the Poor and Sanitary Committee.

A Public Meeting.

The Mayor has called a public meeting to be held at the town hall on Tuesday evening next to discuss plans for sending assistance to the famine and plague stricken natives of India. As India is a part of the British possessions we hope our citizens will show their loyalty and charity by contributing handsomely towards alleviating the sufferings of her majesty's subjects in that far distant land. When it is stated that $1 will suffice to keep one of the sufferers alive for a month, any contribution however small will be acceptable and valuable.

Honor Roll.

Pine Grove S. S. No. 19, Richmond. Senior 4th—George Allen 321, John Kimmett 200, (missed one exam) Junior 4th—Myrtle Lasher 298, Katie Asselstine 294. 3rd class—Nelles Allen 309, Laura Martin 238, Janet Kimmett 232, Willie Asselstine 145, Thomas Kimmett 83 (missed two exam. 2nd class—Harry Milburn 202, Janet Hartin 188, Rob. Asselstine 188 Willie Lloyd 91, Lillie Lloyd 68 (missed two exams), Frank Pringle 19. Junior 2nd—May Asselstine 54, Tressa Lasher 50. Part 2nd—Edna Burley 33, Rosa Lloyd 31, Willie Asselstine 27, Pearl Pringle 15, Bert Allen 15, Annie Kimmett 9.

For Sweet Charity's Sake.

The agitation set on foot over a year ago to have the dispensation of charity placed in the hands of a central committee selected from the town council and the various churches has again been revived. Under the present system, it is said, the various charitable organizations are working to a disadvantage and many people are receiving help twice over. If the various charitable organizations and the Poor and Sanitary Committee would exchange lists we believe it would lead to a more equitable distribution of their funds. The plan proposed by Mr. Hooper at the town council on Monday evening is a good one providing it can be proved practicable. Its worthy of a fair trial at any rate.

N. H. S. Literary Society.

The N. H. S. Literary entertainment which is held every two weeks met last Friday. We must show how the reputation of our school holds its own with any around. Our diplomatic career has given abundant opportunity to observe the qualities that are possessed by the pupils. Our school possesses the art of elegance in dress among the fair sex. The first business was the reading of minutes of last meeting by the secretary. Then comes the debate. "Resolved that Walpole was a greater statesman than Pitt. Affirmative. Mr. H. McKim, Miss T. Husband, Mr. H. Ryan. Negative. Mr W. Gibson. Miss M. O'Mara, Mr. H. Nesbit. The President call upon the leader of affirmative. Mr. H. McKim, who after a short but expressive speech retired to his seat. Then the leader of Negative, Mr. Gibson, took the floor. By this young gentleman's address, one can see that talent is behind it all. Mr. Gibson after a few remarks retired to his seat. The remaining speakers showed that in future years they will come to the front as public speakers.

The leaders then spoke expressing themselves and showing where one another were wrong and right. The committee on the debate retired for a short time. Speech by Rev. White. The decision given by committee resulted in favor of negative by a slight figure. The school was filled with fair sex of town. We would like all who have the time to come and enjoy an afternoon with us. All welcome next literary Friday 12th, Feb. Entertainment closed with God save the Queen.

The people in this district have been falling over one another in their eagerness to buy ten cent shares in British Columbia gold mines, while right at their doors is a district fully as rich in the yellow metal. Out at Actinite there is to be found vast deposits of ore which shows $21.06 worth of gold to the ton.

putting away valuable papers, deeds, and so on. The price is moderate, and the file will be a boon to many.

Song Sermon.

The regular monthly Song Sermon will be given in the Western Church on Sunday evening next, subject "From Guilt to Glory." Mr. Crossley will sing at least one number with guitar accompaniment.

Will Extend the Road.

The village council of Tweed, on Tuesday last very sensibly granted the Bay of Quinte Railway the right of Mary Street in that village for the extension of their road. The B. of Q. may extend the road as far as Bridgewater this year. The outlook for the back country is bright.

Parisian Steam Laundry

Agency at E. Vanalstine's Barber Shop, John st. Laundry will be called for and delivered to any part of the town at usual prices, strictly C. O. D. This is one of the largest and best equipped Steam Laundries in Canada. Laundry shipped once a week, on Wednesday, 3:20 p.m. and delivered Saturday morning. No chemicals used in the Laundry. All work guaranteed first-class. Lists on application. tf.

Lennox and Addington is Good Enough.

The dropping of the name Lennox from the county and the proposal to have the Legislature change it to Addington alone advocated by Mr. Reid, M.P.P., at the last session of the County Council was not very well received. The members would not consent to part with the good old name, "Lennox." Mr. Symington said we might drop part of each name and call it Addox for instance. If this wouldn't do they might call it Lennington and he wouldn't have any objection to calling it Symington. Our County Council gave the local member a gentle intimation not to monkey with the name.

A Sudden Death.

It is with feelings of deep regret we are called upon to chronicle the sudden death of an old and highly esteemed resident of this district in the person of Mr. Lewis F Doller, who passed away at his residence in North Fredericksburg on Sunday morning. Deceased, who had been ailing for some time, was in Napanee on Saturday and felt in much better health than usual. He passed a quiet night on Saturday and rested well. He awoke about 6 o'clock on Sunday morning and conversed with his wife for about an hour and a half. Mrs. Doller had just arisen, when her husband turned on his side folded his arms and was gone instantly. He died without a struggle his death being due to heart disease. Deceased was the second son of the late Charles Doller who was one of the pioneers of this country. Mr. Doller's father was a native of Germany and one of the levies in the army of Napoleon Bonaparte. He was engaged in many of the important battles of that time and was finally taken prisoner by the British army in the peninsula, but rather than remain in prison he volunteered to fight the King's battles. He was enrolled as a member of De Watville's famous regiment and was at Lundy's Lane, Queenston Heights, Fort Erie and the capture of Oswego. He was honorably discharged in 1816. Although he was allowed a grant for his services he never drew it. He died in 1856 at the age of 73 years. His wife, Sarah Tyndale Doller, died in 1879 at the ripe old age of 82 years. Lewis F. Doller was born in Ernestown on the 28th of Dec. 1820, and was therefore 76 years and 1 month of age. He married Catherine daughter of the late Andrew Dunbar, on the 14th of November 1866. The union was a happy one and the bereaved wife will have the sympathy of all in her hour of deep affliction. Besides his widow he leaves three daughters, Mrs. Geo. McKim, of Watertown, Mrs. Garrison and Mrs. Wellington Loyst and one son, Albert. His eldest son, Edwin, preceded him to the grave thirteen years ago, 4th, Feb, 1884 and two daughters died in infancy. He leaves three brothers, Charles, Nelson, all residents of town, and one sister, Mrs. Samuel Bell. He was a kind father, an indulgent husband and respected and esteemed by all who knew him as was evidenced by the large concourse of people who assembled at his funeral on Tuesday, the White church morven, being crowded to its utmost capacity. In politics Mr. Doller was a staunch reformer. He was a well read intelligent man and one with whom it was a pleasure to converse. He was a steadfast member of the Methodist church and a consistent christian.

guarantees to all. Remember no charge for testing. Smith's Jewelry Store.

Missionary Services.

The missionary services in the Eastern Methodist church on Sunday last were well attended and about $400 was subscribed towards mission work. The Rev. James Henderson, D. D. of Toronto, delivered eloquent and instructic addresses at both the morning and evening services, and his remarks were listened to with deep interest and attention.

The First of the Series.

The first of a series of free lectures to be given in the Collegiate Institute will be held in the assembly hall of the Institute on Friday evening, Feb. 12th. The Rev. G. M. Milligan, D. D. Toronto, will deliver his bright, entertaining and instructive lecture. "How to Brighten Life." Admission free! silver collection at the door. Come out and encourage the committee.

We Can Give Positions

To persons of all grades of ability. Agents, book-keepers, clerks, farmers' sons, lawyers, mechanics, physicians, preachers, students, married and single women, widow. Positions are worth from $400.00 to $2,500.00 per annum. We have paid several canvassers $50.00 weekly for years. Many have started poor and become rich with us. Particulars upon application. State salary expected.

THE BRADLEY GARRETSON CO., LTD.,
Toronto, Ont.

The Great Mystery.

In consequence of large business at Powers' opera house, Belleville, the visit of Signor Bletz and his company to Brisco's opera house will not take place till Monday and Tuesday next the 8th, and 9th, inst. Every place visited this season has been captured by storm and the work of Evelyn Fay has completely mystified every attendant. Signor Bletz is a veritble prince of wizards and the whole of the supporting company are stars. Manager Brisco is to be complimented at securing this company at so small an admission charge. The advance sale has started, and intending visitors should avail themselves of this privilege.

Organ Recital.

The organ recital to be given under the auspices of the Presbyterian church on Monday evening, Feb. 8th, promises to be one of the best entertainments held in Napanee in some time. It will mark the introduction of the new pipe organ placed in the Presbyterian church last week, which both in finish, volume and tone is said to be one of the best of its kind in the Province Prof. Edgar R. Doward, of Toronto, formerly of Kingston and well-known to the people of Napanee has been secured at great expense to give the recital and he will be assisted by the best local talent. Mr. Doward takes rank as one of the fore most musicians in Canada and the press and the critics are lound in praise of his fine work. Don't miss this rare treat. Admission 25 cents.

Death of Thomas Flynn.

Thomas Flynn died of senile debility, at the residence of his daughter, Mrs. J. Granger, near Napanee Mills, on Feb. 2nd 1897, aged 92 years. Deceased came to Canada from Dublin, Ireland, about 1844, settling in Kingston city where he remained until 1865 when he moved to Napanee, residing here until eight or ten years ago. Through failing eyesight he was forced to give up business. He retired to the home of his daughter, where he has resided ever since. Mr. Flynn held many prominent positions being crown land inspector at one time. He was for years provincial lecturer of the Grand Lodge of I. O. of G. T. with a powerful retentive mind and great intelligence, he filled the latter office with great credit to the order. Of a genial and hospitable nature he won many friends. Mr. Flynn leaves four sons and two daughters, Robt. and Gill. of Olden, Wm. of Detroit, Henry, of Toronto, Mrs. A. Irish of Kingston, Mrs. Granger, of Camden. An adherent of the Methodist church, he was regular in attendance at the house of the Lord while his health permitted. The funeral was held on Thursday 4th, inst, after which the remains were conveyed to Cataraqui for interment.

Levi Kelly will spend the balance of the cold weather in that warm and commodious castle presided over by governor VanLuven. Levi took a little recreation in the pugilistic line recently and the magistrate gave him two months in gaol.

TORE, Feb'y 5, 1897.

Week

OUR

er Sale

y Next,

at 1.30 p.m.

tre of the Dry Goods Store, and sell as customer, the following goods :

ties, prices 25c. at 12½c

ırk, price 20c. and 10c

ıt and dark, prices 15c. at 8c

patterns, price 12½c., ten 5c

, beautiful goods, ten yards 7c

& McKenty.

Youth's Suits Continued.

Dark Grey Homespun double breasted sack gives wonderful wear, was $6.25, now 4.80

Heavy Black Serge, double breast, an extra good winter suit, was $5.00, now 4.00

English Tweed Sack Suit, double breasted and extra heavy, a splendid suit, price $8.00, now 6.40

Extra heavy dark Canadian Tweed, single breast sack, price $5.75 now 4.60

Black Venetian Worsted Coats and Vests, bound finish, sack coats, price $8 now 6.40

Overcoats and Ulsters

Men's Short Overcoats Tweed, odd sizes, and prices, were $5 to $7, now 3.50

Men's Grey Frieze Ulster long, price $4.50, now 3.60

Men's Tan Frieze Ulsters Tweed lining, price $4.75, now 3.80

Men's Grey Frieze Ulsters heavy, price $ 500, now 4.00

Men's Brown Frieze Ulsters, extra heavy, price $6.00, now 4.80

Men's Grey Frieze Ulsters extra heavy, price $6.00 now 4.80

Men' black Frieze Ulsters great value at $6.40, now 5.12

Men's black Frieze Ulsters the best ready-made coat in the trade, elegantly finished, price $8.90, now 7.12

Youth's Tan Frieze Ulsters, a No. 1 coat, price $5.85, now 4.68

Youth's brown Frieze Ulsters heavy weight, $5 now 4.00

Youth's black Frieze Ulster slash pockets, pure wool frieze, extra value at $6.00 now 4.80

Youth's check Frieze Ulsters, a very stylish and well made coat, price $8.00 now 6.40

Boy's brown Frieze Ulsters, price $3.40, now 2.72

Boy's Scotch Tweed Ulsters, the neatest boy's coat in Napanee, price $5 now 4.00

Boy's Grey Frieze Ulsters with braided cape, an excellent coat for $5, now 3.00

Boy's Tweed Overcoats with cape, a few odd sizes, to be sold at 1.00

A good Grey Cotton, 34 inches wide, 3c

A good heavy unbleached Sheeting, 2 yds wide 15c

Cotton Crash Towelling, 15 inches wide 3½c

Men's Grey Flannel Shirts, well made and heavy 52c

Bleached Cotton Towels 13 x 26 inches, per pair 5c

Oil Painted Window Shades, plain or decorated, full size, different colors. 35c

Children's Dongola Buttoned Boots, small sizes, worth 50c. for 25c

Children's Felt Slippers, assorted kinds and sizes, clearing out at 25c

PERSONALS.

Mr. and Mrs. Dr. Nelson Wagar were at home to a number of their friends last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Miles Storms of Moscow were in town on Wednesday.

Misses Ethel and Edith Allen, Deseronto, have been visiting in Napanee.

Fred Mabee, of Toronto, arrived in town on Monday and will spend a couple of weeks at home to recuperate his health.

Miss Rose Duckworth, Belleville, is the guest of her sister, Mrs. Dr. Ming, John street.

The Rev. A. McDonald has been suffering for the past few days with quinsy.

D. W. Allison, Esq., of Adolphustown, was in Napanee on Wednesday and favored us with a call.

Byron Derbyshire, Odessa, was in town on Wednesday.

Their First Defeat.

The Printers Hockey Club met with their first defeat on Tuesday evening. It was their first game and this may, or may not, account for its being their first defeat. A number of good and unanswerable reasons might be given why the Typos didn't win, but their failure to score sufficient goals, or their inability to prevent the opposing side from scoring too many may be mentioned as the chief reasons leading up to their Waterloo. The aggregation they ran up against on Tuesday was selected from the Boarders of the Paisley House and they succeeded in trimming the redoubtable heros of the diamond to the tune of 5 goals to 1. The team lined up as follows:

Goal	Hall
Point	Lawson
Cover point	Ham
Forwards	Karr, Clarke, Amey

The printers and clerks have gone into training for their match which will take place shortly.

The Rockwood's speak in high tones of the hospitable treatment they received at the hands of John Ham, Manager of the Napanee team.

Dick Lawson and Alex. Karr would make a great pair of goal keepers for the Paisley House and Printers, respectively.

Archie Clarke has gone into training and will figure in the next match.

commissioner for Ernestown, received a crack on the shin with the puck during the progress of the game. Mr. Amey is of the opinion that the puck is made of iron not rubber.

Church of England Notes.

S. Mary Magdalene—Church of S. Mary Magdalene, Napanee. Services at 11 a. m., and 7 p. m., each Sunday. Holy Communion at 11 a. m., on I and III Sundays of the month, and at 8 a. m. on all other Sundays. Strangers supplied with leaflets having service printed in full at evening services.

Parish of Adolphustown.—The Rev. Rural Dean Baker will, D. V., preach in St. Paul's church Sandhurst, on Sunday next, 7th inst., at 3 o'clock. Subject, "The Missionary cause of the Diocese."

Wednesday.

Jacob J. Woodcock is ill this week.

Mrs. Robert Fleming, of Stella, is seriously ill at Kingston, and but slight hopes are entertained of her recovery.

Inspector Smith of Tamworth, was in town on Saturday and favored us with a call.

Rev. Mr. Woodcock, Camden East, was a caller on The Express on Saturday.

Mrs. Dewdney is visiting her parents.

Rev. Stearne Tighe has been spending a few days in this vicinity in the interests of the Kingston General Hospital.

W. H. Moutray of Amherst Island, was in town on Tuesday calling on friends and favored us with a call.

Dr. Northmore, of Bath, was in town on Tuesday.

Mr. E. O. Clarke, Odessa, favored us with a call on Tuesday.

Dr. Burrows, Marlbank, was in town on Saturday visiting his parents. The doctor looks as if life in Marlbank agreed with him.

Messrs Jno. Ham and Wm. Smith attended the hockey match at Belleville last evening.

Geo. Cliff sr. is suffering with partial paralysis of the lower extremities.

Mr. Fred Blewitt was in Toronto this week.

Mrs. A. M. McNeil, of Napanee, Mr. and Mrs. P. O. Brien, of Toronto, Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Hanley and Miss Hogan of Napanee, attended mass in St. Vincent de Paul church on Sunday. They were delighted with the Church and the altar.—Deseronto Tribune.

Miss Flo Whitten, who has been attending the private hospital Samaritan for some time, is now taking an eighteen months course in the orthopedic ward of the Post Graduate in New York.

Rev. Rural Dean Baker, of Bath, celebrates his seventieth birthday to day.

BIRTHS

HARSHAW—At Napanee on Jan. 21st the wife of A. T. Harshaw of a daughter.

HERRING—At Napanee on Monday Feb. 1st 1897, the wife of Mr. J. E. Herring, of a daughter.

MORGAN—At Deseronto, on Wednesday the 27th inst., the wife of Alex. Morgan, of Napanee Mills, of a son.

MARRIAGES.

PERRY—McBRIDE—On Feb. 3rd at the Western Parsonage by the Rev. D. O. Crossley, Mr. Frank Perry to Miss Jennie McBride, both of Richmond.

DEATHS.

FLYNN—At Napanee Mills on Saturday, Thos Flynn, aged 92 years.

DOLLER—At North Fredericksburgh on Sunday Lewis F. Dollar, aged 76 years and one month.

MADDEN—At West Plain on Feb. 2th Minnie only child of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Madden aged 11 months.

John Wallace, of Sterling, died from exposure last week. He was 78 years of age.

Samuel Irish, Verona, while working in the woods recently was struck on the head with a falling limb and badly injured.

The sequel to the collision in front of the Campbell House on Thursday of last week. Mr. O'Hara was allowed to go, but Mr. Todd was fined $4 and costs.

A. S. Kimmerly is selling Keewatin flour $2.50 per 100, 30 lbs. sugar, $1, Windsor salt $1 10 per per bbl. Our 25 cent tea beats the world. Pickles per quart 15c, 3 lbs. pickled pigs feet 25c, can salmon 10c., can corn 5c. dried raspberries 20c. per lb., 7 lbs. sulphur 25c., bird seeds 8c. per lb., bran 60c. per 100. All kinds of fish in stock.

BEAR IN MIND

That we are selling Ready-Made Ulsters, Boy's and Men's sizes, Fur Caps and Winter Underwear at Cost.

Reductions in Ordered Clothing and Furnishings.

Examine our stock before purchasing. No trouble to show goods or replace stocks.

D. J. Hogan

& SON.

Sole Agent for the Wilkinson Hat.

reputable Bells of the diamond to the tune of 5 goals to 2. The teams lined up as follows.

PRINTERS,		PAISLEY HOUSE.
M. B. McDonald,	goal	J. Molson,
F. Vanalstine,	point	Ed. Douglas,
C. Sheffiel,	cover point	W. Sharpe
R. S. Ham	forwards	W. B. Haines,
E. J. Pollard,	"	C. Londesbourgh,
A. Root,	"	Chas. Dewey
F. Stevens,	"	W. Durand,
S. McCoy,	umpires	G. Bastin,

Referee—Geo. Harrison.

In the first half the Printers had all the best of it and when the whistle blew the score stood 2 to 1 in their favor. If they had stopped at that they would have been all right but unfortunately they played the second half and were beaten 5 to 2, the superior training and wind of the boarders standing them in good stead. Although almost every player bore some memento of the match in the way of a cut or bruise it was, nevertheless, one of the most pleasant and harmonious games of the season. Durand and Londesborough did the scoring for the boarders while Ham and Root did the needful for the printers. The return match will be played shortly.

In the Realms of Sport.

One of the swiftest and cleanest games of hockey played here this winter took place at the curling and skating rink last Friday evening between the Rockwoods, of Kingston, and the Napanee team. In response to referee Vanalstine's whistle the teams lined up at 8 p.m. as follows:

NAPANEE.		ROCKWOOD.
M. Normile	goal	J. O'Shea.
W. Ponton,	point	W. Hamilton.
F. S. Rockwell	cover point	C. Clarke.
W. Rockwell,	Forwards	Coxworthy
Geo. Harrison		Gilmore,
W. Carson,		Tandy,
Thos. Bald		Wilson,
Jno. Ham,	goal umpire	W. Waller.

Referee: E. Vanalstine, Napanee.

The game from start to finish was close and exciting and both in weight and combination play the teams were very evenly matched. Rockwoods scored the first goal a few minutes after play commenced and Napanee followed suit shortly afterwards. From this time out the crowd was kept in continual suspense as the forwards of both sides had a peculiar penchant for rushing the puck down upon each others goals. Napanee's defence had lots of work mapped out for them but they acquitted themselves creditably. Mike Normile in goal proved a tower of strength and stopped several red hot ones. Shortly before half time Napanee scored again, leaving matters 2 to 1 in their favor at half time. On the resume of play a lively pace was struck and maintained throughout the game. The puck went dancing up and down the ice at a great rate and it was anybody's game until time was call. In the second half each side scored 3 goals, the game resulting in a victory for Napanee by 5 goals to 4. The game throughout was clean and brilliant although at times some heavy checking was indulged in. Thos. Bald who started in at cover point and was eventually moved up forward proved a decided acquisition and will strengthen the team materially in their future matches. Harrison and W. Rockwell put up a star game on the forward line and Ferd Rockwell played his old reliable game at cover. This game leaves the Rockwoods and Napanee a tie, each having a game to their credit. An effort is being made to arrange another match between the teams.

NOTES OF SPORT.

The Sons of Rest, Napanee, have challenged the Neversweats, of Picton, to a game of hockey. This will be one of the best matches of the season and will be looked forward to with great interest. It is freely asserted that either team can furnish pointers to any club in Ontario on how not to play the game.

The tinsmiths have extended a challenge to the victorious boarders of the Paisley House. The match will be played on Tuesday.

The Executive Committee of the Bay of Quinte Hockey Club met at Belleville on Tuesday night. Mr. William Ponton attended as a delegate from Napanee. The protest of the Belleville team against the Trenton match was considered and when the manager of that team saw the feeling of the committee he withdrew it before it went to a vote. It was the feeling of the committee that Belleville had no grounds on which to base a protest and Belleville owes Mr. F. S. Rockwell an apology for their contemptible treatment towards him. Napanee's protest was not entertained as they did not enter it within twenty-four hours after the game.

The members of the County Council attended the Napanee-Rockwood match on Friday night. They were all greatly taken with the game. Mr. Jas. Amey will figure in the next match.

The Napanee hockey team that defeated Rockwoodites last evening will play a return match here on an evening between February 8th and 18th.—Kingston Whig.

Belleville defeated Picton at Picton by 8 goals to 3. Two of Picton's best men were unabre to play.

Napanee plays Deseronto at Deseronto this evening.

The game of hockey last evening between the Napanee Collegiate Institute and a team from Queen's University, Kingston, resulted in a tie, each side scoring 3 goals. Three members of the international team which beat Yale were pitted against the Collegiate boys last evening, viz: Curtis, Hiscock and Merrill. The following composed the Collegiates: Pringle, Lafferty, Hall, Rockwell, Preston, Harrison, Nixon.

In the game at Belleville last evening Belleville defeated Trenton by 5 goals to 0. The struggle for the Corby Cup now lies between Belleville and Napanee.

Prof. Dorenwend.

will be in Napanee, at the Paisley House, on Saturday, February 13th, with a complete line of 1897 styles in Art Hair Goods consisting of ladies wigs, bangs, front pieces, switches, etc., gentlemen's wigs, toupees, etc. As the Prof. always has his hands full when here intending callers should call early as he cannot stay over the time stated.

The Bicycle Again.

Haines & Lockett have placed a large order for the Stearn bicycle known as the "Yellow Fellow." Acting on the principle that what's worth doing at all is worth doing well they will make the bicycle department a very attractive one the coming season. Columbia bicycles, Hartford bicycles, Stearns bicycles, and a line of handsome cheap wheels will prove an attraction to all lovers of the wheel.

R. A. Martin is the new assistant at the Deseronto Post Office. E. R. Chapman, assistant, has taken a position at the Bay of Quinte railway office,

The Ben Hur entertainment billed to appear at the Opera House on Tuesday night was cancelled, as the lecturer was injured in a railway accident.

And then they both began to sing.
The key was, I think, B flat.
Sue took the alto, May the air,
And I—well, I took—my hat.

Quartely Services will (D. V.) be held in the Methodist Church, Selby, on Sunday next, Feb. 7th, commencing at 10,30 a.m. The official meetings will be held on Tuesday 9th, at 2 o'clock.

CASTORIA.

The fac-simile signature of Chas. H. Fletcher is on every wrapper.

Is there any person in town wishing to have their eyes properly tested but cannot come to my office? If so let me know by post card or otherwise and I will be pleased to call at their house and test them free of charge, A. F. Chinneck, graduate and scientific optician at F. Chinneck's jewelry store.

Counterfeit half-dollars bearing the date "1870" are in circulation. They are considerably lighter than the genuine piece and if the edge is rubbed across the palm of the hand a heavy black line is left, showing that lead enters largely into the composition of the counterfeits.

G. T. R. detective Day arrested Jacob Barnhart, a Tyendinaga Indian, at Deseronto on Tuesday for placing obstacles on the railway track. On the 13th of December last two ties were placed on the rails just west of Marysville. A freight train struck them causing damage to the engine. The detective was placed on the case and Barnhart's arrest followed. He is now in Belleville gaol awaiting trial.

Providence, like the devil, gets more than its proper share of credit for the evils that are in the world. Laziness, folly, bad management and incapacity are the sins for whose results Providence is too often held respensible. A man neglects his business for the race-track and his home for a gaming table or saloon, and when the red flag is hoisted over his door we hear a lot of twaddle about his being "unfortunate" in business. He trusts to others to run his store and neglects to give his business proper personal attention, and when the sheriff is in possession he sighs about the "mysteries of Providence." This wretched, contemptible lie that makes the Creator responsible for chumpheadedness and boozing needs to be nailed to the counter.—Ex.

MISSION OF ERNESTOWN—The annual Missionary Meetings will be held, D. V., on Sunday, 7th Feb., as follows: Hawley 11 a. m., Thorpe 3.30 p.m, Odessa 7 p. m. Addresses will be given by G. F. Ruttan and Rev. F. T. Dibb.

PARISH OF SELBY.

Services for 5th Sunday in Epiphany, St. Jude's Kingsford, 10.30 a.m; St. John's Selby, 3 p.m; St. Jude's, Napanee Mills, 7.00

Reunion. A reunion in connection with the Anglican church at Selby will be held next Tuesday evening at Mr. A. McGuinness, Roblin.

TAMWORTH MISSION—Services for the fifth Sunday after Epiphany. Marlbank, 10:30 a.m; Tamworth, 3 p.m; Enterprise, 7 p.m. Annual Missionary Meetings: Enterprise, Monday, Feb. 8th, 7 p.m; Tamworth, Tuesday, Feb. 9th, 7 p.m.; Clareview, Wednesday, Feb. 10th, 3 p.m. Deputation, The Very Rev. Dean Smith, Kingston.

PARISH OF CAMDEN—Services Sunday next, being 1st day of the mission to be conducted during the week in St. Luke, Camden East. Morning Prayer Sermon Holy Communion, 11 o'clock; Evening Prayer Sermon, 7 o'clock; Monday and each evening 7.30; Wednesday and each afternoon address to women, 2.15; Wednesday and each afternoon for children, 4.15; Rev. G. S. Anderson, rector of Morrisburg, mission preacher at all services. St. John, Newburgh missionary meeting addresses by Rev. G. S. Anderson, M.A. and it is hoped Mr. G. F. Ruttan. St. Anthony, Yarker, 3 o'clock; St. Jude, Napanee Mills, 7 o'clock.

The infant child of James Babcock died on Saturday

Taxation per head in this county in 1895 was $5.17.

The Smith's Falls school board has employed a young lady to teach music at a salary of $300.

Mr. Prouty, who, with his family used to to spend the summer at Bath, died at his home in Newark, N. J.

Patrick Mohan, of Murvale, and Honorah Annie Mooney, of South Napanee, were married on the 18th ult.

If your pocketbook is depleted and you wish to do any driving borrow a hammer and nails from a carpenter.

Andrew Nugent, barrister, died at Ottawa last week aged 46 years. He was a son of Samuel Nugent, Newburgh.

The number of cattle in this county decreased from 37,200 in 1895, and to 36,582 in 1896, and horses from 20,726 to 10,183.

The cadets of the Royal Military college, Kingston, have signed a temperance pledge to meet the desire of the new commandant.

The bakers of Napanee have reduced bread to 11 cents per loaf. Customers who buy tickets will receive it at 10 cents per loaf.

A man is like a postage stamp; when he is badly stuck on himself, as it were he is not worth three cents for any practical use.

All the old rags of Dominion bills are to be called in and cremated and a fresh supply of new, crisp paper will take their place.

Last year an Oshawa councillor received 38 plumpers from the lady voters. Since then he has been married and this year his plumpers fell to 6.

That Wonderful Ten Cent Combination.

Having a desire to please and entertain the young, the manufacturers of Diamond Dyes will send the following valuable combination for ten cents to any address in Canada:

One "Excelsior Rhyming A B C Book, Illustrated," a gem of lithographic art.

One full size Cabinet Photo of the "Three Future Kings of England." Every loyal Canadian should have one.

One package of "Diamond Dye Ink Powder." for making sixteen ounces of best black writing ink.

This novel and valuable combination, worth 65 cents, to any address for ten cents.

Send small silver coins, or the proper amount in one, two or three cent stamps. Stamps of larger denomination will not be received.

Seal your letter securely, and before mailing be sure you put on full postage, THREE CENTS in stamps. If full postage is not prepaid, letters will not be accepted.

Address Wells & Richardson Co., Montreal, P. Q.

THE NAPANI

Vol. XXXVI] No 11.—JNO. POLLARD, Editor and Publisher. NAPANEE, ONT., CANA

DRINK KELONA CEYLON TEA.

The best package Tea on the market put up in ¼, ½ to 1 lb. lead package to be sold at 10c, 20c. and 40c. each. If you once try it you will be sure to want more. I also sell 5 lbs. of the best Japan Tea sold at 25c. per lb. or 5 lbs. for $1, and 28 lbs. of pure yellow Sugar for $1. I have also on hand all the new Fruits etc. for the holiday season and one of the best assorted stocks of Crockery, China and Glassware and fancy goods ever put on the market all of which will be sold as cheap as No. 1 goods can be sold.

W. COXALL.

ONLY A FEW MORE DAYS LEFT

Of our removal sale and then you will find us in our new quarters that is the store now occupied by I. J. Lockwood. In the meantime we are selling they will not last long at that price. We are selling Overcoats and all other Winter Clothing and Men's Furnishings equally as cheap. Now is your time to buy.

FUR CAPS AT $2.00 Worth $3.50 and $4.50

A. M. VINEBERG,

The Wonderful Cheap Clothier, Dundas st., Henry Block, Napanee

TIMOTHY

—AND—

CLOVER SEED

Bran and Shorts

Flour and Feed.

TAYLOR & MORRIS,

(Blewett's Old Stand.)

NEW PLAINING MILL AND LUMBER YARD.

Now in full operation. All kinds Lumber, Sash, Doors and Blinds. Custom work done on shortest notice. Get our prices before buying. Mr. Embury is prepared to draw plans for parties wanting them.

Embury, Greer & Co.

In the Estate of John Laughlin, IN THE HIGH COURT OF JUSTICE WATERS ET AL. vs. KLEK ET AL.

This Week W Emphasize

OUR N DRES

We are the first this season to sho reason of this is that we placed our orders early also that we intend to lead the Dress Goods tra Dress Goods, first, because we know if you see th range that is exclusive in style and exclusive in va time return our customers their money if they c it to say that we commence a beautiful doublefol We will be pleased to show you through the rang

HAVE YOU SEEN "FLASH SKIN.

If not you should see it at once. Its The price is only 25c. It is sold only a

DON'T FORGET OUR SALE OF SHEETINGS, TICKINGS AND PILL

It will pay you to buy them now if you will be higher after next week. Save y

CORSETS.

We want to keep you posted regarding any store in Napanee. You ask why our assortment larger than other store's

MEN'S TROUSERS.

This week we show a Man's ready-to-we values at $1.00, $1.25 and on up. W garments.

GREY COTTONS.

We are well known leaders in good valu 3c., 4c., 4⅞c., 5c., 6c., 7c. and 8c. per y

LADIES' CASHMERE HOSE.

We sell an extra special value in Ladies per pair. It beats the world.

VALUABLE FARM FOR SALE.

consisting of 130 acres of choice farm land, in the seventh concession of the Township of Richmond, being the old homestead of the late George Laughlin.

TERMS—EASY.

For further particulars apply to
HERRINGTON & WARNER,
Solicitors for Executors. or to Napanee, Ont.
JAMES BLUTE,
Executor,
Kingsford, Ont.

Napanee, February 2nd, 1897. 9c

NOTICE TO CREDITORS.

In Her Majesty's Surrogate Court of the County of Lennox and Addington.

In the estate of Michael Pringle, deceased.

Notice is hereby given pursuant to R. S. O. Chap. 110, Section 36 and amendments thereto, that all persons having any claim or demand against or any lien on the estate or any portion of the estate of Michael Pringle, late of the Township of Richmond, County of Lennox and Addington, farmer, deceased, are required on or before the

1st day of May, A. D. 1897

to send by post prepaid or delivered to the undersigned executor or their solicitors a statement in writing containing their names, addresses and occupations and full particulars of their claims with vouchers (if any) held by them duly verified by statutory declarations.

And further notice is hereby given that after such last mentioned date the said executor will proceed to distribute the assets of the said deceased among the parties entitled thereto, having regard only to the claims of which they shall then have notice and the said executor shall not be liable for the said assets or any part thereof to any person or persons of whose claim no ice shall not have been received by him as aforesaid at the time of such distribution.

URIAH SILLS, Executor,
Napanee, Ont.
HERRINGTON & WARNER
Napanee, Ont.,
Solicitors for Executors. 9c

NOTICE TO CREDITORS.

In Her Majesty's Surrogate Court of the County of Lennox and Addington.

In the estate of John Laughlin, deceased.

Notice is hereby given pursuant to R. S. O. Chap. 110, Section 36 and amendments thereto, that all persons having any claim or demand against or any lien on the estate or any portion of the estate of John Laughlin, late of the Town of Napanee, County of Lennox and Addington, Farmer deceased, are required on or before the

15th Day of March, 1897

to send by post prepaid or delivered to the undersigned executors or their solicitor a statement in writing containing their names, addresses and occupations and full particulars of their claims with vouchers (if any) held by them duly verified by statutory declarations.

And further notice is hereby given that after such last mentioned date the said executors will proceed to distribut the assets of the said deceased among the parties entitled thereto, having regard only to the claims of which they shall then have notice and the said executors shall not be liable for the said assets or any part thereof to any person or persons of whose claim notice shall not have been received by them as aforesaid at the time of such distribution.

W. S. HERRINGTON, Napanee.
JAMES BLUTE, Kingsford.
Executors.
S. C. WARNER, Napanee,
Solicitor for Executors. 8c

Advertisement for Creditors.

Pursuant to a judgment in the High Court of Justice, made in a certain action of Waters et al vs. Kirk et al, the creditors of George Waters, late of the Township of Sheffield, in the County of Lennox and Addington, Farmer, who died in or about the month of October, 1896, and all parties holding general or special liens upon the said estate, or on the shares of the parties entitled to share therein, are on or before the

FIRST DAY OF MARCH NEXT to send by post, prepaid, to William George Wilson, of the Town of Napanee, Solicitor for Robert Kirk and Frank Carscallen, Administrators ad litem, their christian and surnames, addresses and descriptions, the full particulars of their claims, a statement of their accounts and the nature of their security (if any) held by them; or in default thereof they will be peremptorily excluded from the benefit of the said judgment.

Every creditor holding any security is to produce the same before me at my chambers, at the Court House, in the Town of Napanee, on the

5th DAY OF MARCH, 1897,

at 2 p.m.,

being the time appointed for adjudication on the claims.

S. S. LAZIER,
Local Master at Napanee.

Dated this 30th day of January, 1897.

Constipation Cured GENTS,—I was in very poor health for over four years; the doctor said it was constipation. Not wanting to spend too much cash I got three bottles of B. B. B. and took it regularly. I can certify that I am now in the very best of health and feel very grateful to B.B.B. [illegible] Montreal, Que.

Pursuant to a judgment made in this action on the 17th day of December, A. D. 1896, there will be sold by Public Auction, with the approbation of the Local Master at Napanee, at the premises firstly hereinafter mentioned, on at the hour of 10 a.m. the following real estate,

Wednesday, March, 3rd,

PARCEL No. 1—The north east quarter of Lot number ten, in the eighth concession, of the Township of Sheffield, in the County of Lennox and Addington.

PARCEL No. 2—The North half of Lot number eleven, in the eighth concession, of the Township of Sheffield, in the County of Lennox and Addington.

PARCEL No. 3—The east half of Lot number twelve in the eighth concession of the Township of Sheffield, in the County of Lennox and Addington.

PARCEL No. 4—The south east quarter of Lot number 13 in the eighth concession of the Township of Sheffield in the County of Lennox and Addington.

PARCEL No. 5—The east half of Lot number fourteen, in the eighth concession of the Township of Sheffield, in the County of Lennox and Addington.

PARCEL No. 6—The south east quarter of lot number fifteen, in the eighth concession of the Township of Sheffield, in the County of Lennox and Addington.

PARCEL No. 7—The west half of lot number thirteen in the ninth concession of the Township of Sheffield, in the County of Lennox and Addington.

The property will be sold subject to a reserve bid fixed by the Master, and in parcels or en bloc, at the option of the said Master.

TERMS OF SALE:

A deposit of ten dollars for every one hundred dollars of the purchase money at the time of sale; balance within one month, without interest. In all other respects the terms and conditions of sale will be the standing conditions of sale of this court.

At the same time and place there will be sold the personal property belonging to the late George Waters, consisting of: 1 bay gelding (old), 1 yearling colt (stud), 1 brown mare (old), 19 sheep, 8 two-year-old Steers, 6 two-year-old heifers, 7 yearlings, 6 spring calves, 12 cows, 1 long sleigh, 1 set bob-sleighs, 1 lumber wagon, 1 spring wagon, a small quantity of hay, straw, wheat, rye oats, barley and peas, 1 cutter (old), 1 seeder (old), 1 reaper (old), 1 mower (old), 1 set double harness (light), 1 fanning mill (Chatham), 2 robes (cow and goat), 2 wheel barrows, 2 sets double harness, (old), 1 set single harness (old), 1 truck wagon, 1 harrow, 2 plows (old), 5 small pigs, 5 hogs, 2 buggies (old), 2 horse rakes (old), 1 harrow (old), 1 cooler, one stone boat, about 25 hens, a small quantity of cordwood, 3 milk cans, about half a thousand shingles, about 800 feet lumber, scythes, snaths, forks, etc.

TERMS CASH.

For further particulars apply at the law offices of W. G. WILSON, ESQ., Messrs. HERRINGTON & WARNER, and Messrs. DEROCHE & MADDEN, Napanee.

S. S. LAZIER, Local Master.

W. G. WILSON, solicitor for Administrators ad litem Robert Kirk and Frank Carscallen.

Dated 5th February, A. D., 1897. 10c

The band intend holding a carnival on Pollard and Wilson's rink on Friday evening, Feb. 26th.

Michael Brennan arrived at the Kingston penitentiary on Saturday to serve a life sentence for killing Strathy.

Is there any person in town wishing to have their eyes properly tested but cannot come to my office? If so let me know by post card or otherwise and I will be pleased to call at their house and test them free of charge, A. F. Chinneck, graduate and scientific optician at F. Chinneck's jewelry store.

Tea is certainly a poison and is perhaps the most potent destroyer of digestive power as well as the most powerful inducer to habitual constipation. The constipated must avoid tea as they would poison. Drink Madden Cereal instead of tea and coffee and you will have no use for pills or dyspeptic cures.

ONE OF A THOUSAND

"I was a martyr to Sick and Nervous Headaches, cause by Constipation, unfit for business on an average 2 days a week.

"Some pills helped me, but Dr. Agnew's Liver Pills at 20cts. a vial cured me.

"This is my own testimony and it's a fact. Now I never lose an hour or miss a meal."

This is the written testimony of a well known Toronto journalist— you can have his name if you want it. Dr. Agnew's Liver Pills, at all druggists, 40 in a vial, 20 cents.

CASTORIA

For Infants and Children.

The fac-simile signature [illegible] is on every wrapper

THE ROB

PERSONALS.

Mr. Edward Graham and Mark Husband and Misses Effie Vanalstine and Lizzie Pratt spent Sunday at Gretna the guest of Mrs. J. Gates.

Mr. A. M. Vineberg returned this week from Montreal where he was making his spring purchases.

Mr. Hilt Finkle, Newburgh, was in town on Saturday and favored us with a call.

Mr. David Dafoe, of Selby, one of the clear grits, favored us with a call on Saturday.

The Rev. Mr. White of Newburgh, preached in the Western church on Sunday last.

R. A. Fowler, Amherst Island, was in town on Wednesday.

Mr. James Meredith, of Deseronto, was in town on Saturday. He is a son of Judge Meredith.

While the benediction was being said in the church of the Good Thief, Portsmouth, Monday evening a solo, "Ave Sanctissima," was sung in fine voice by Neil B. Mathewson, of Napanee.—Whig.

Mr. Thos Naylor, Deseronto, spent a few days in town this week.

Mrs. Blight, who has been visiting in town for the past few weeks returned to her home in Toronto last week.

Mrs. Lolonde returned from St. Catharines this week.

Prof. Craig, of Ottawa, was the guest of the of the Horticultural Society during his stay in town.

Miss Mooney, of Napanee, is visiting at Odessa.

Rev. R. McCullough, has been invited to remain in Newburgh for a fourth year.

Mr. E. J. Edwards, of the Deseronto Tribune was in town on Monday last.

Mrs. J. Lee, Napanee, has been visiting at Marysville.

Mr. and Mrs. J. V. Ketcheson, Roslin, have been visiting friends in town.

Mr. James M. Lapum, of the Buffalo Fish Co., formerly of Napanee, is spending a few weeks in Boston.

Mr. and Mrs. Rudd Perry and Mrs. W. A. Rockwell, spent Sunday with friends in Violet.

Miss Alice Neilson returned on Saturday from visiting friends in Wilton.

Mr. and Mrs. Birdsall, of Wilton, were calling on friends in Napanee on Monday last.

Mr. Alfred Knight and family spent Sunday with friends in Moscow.

Mr. Norman Leslie, of Godfrey, was in Napanee on Wednesday.

Miss M. E. Phalan, of Montreal, spent Wednesday in Napanee.

Mrs. O. Herring, Bridge st, gave an "At Home" on Wednesday afternoon.

Mr. Zina Ham, and B. Warner, left for Lindsay on Tuesday to attend the funeral of the late J. B. Warner. They returned last evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Dr. Vrooman returned last week from visiting friends in Chicago and Kansas city.

Miss Kate Lafferty was at home to a number of her friends on Wednesday.

Mr. and Mrs. J. N. Lucas were at home to a number of their friends on Wednesday night.

Mr. T. E. Merritt, of the Merchant's Bank, Mitchell branch, was in Kingston last week on a visit to his parents, prior to his removing to New York, where he has been appointed agent of the bank in that city.

R. S. Richardson, soliciting freight agent of the B. of Q. railway, was in town on Wednesday and favored us with a call.

E. B. Hemstreet still continues in a low state of health.

Miss Barrett is visiting friends at Belleville.

John A. Russell, Toronto, spent Sunday in town.

Mr. John Sharpe, of Bath, was in town on Monday.

Rev. Dr. Stewart, London, occupied the pulpit of the Presbyterian church last Sunday.

Mr. Thos. Hill, of Sheffield, England is expected in town this week on a visit to Mr. Geo. Lloyd.

Rev. G. W. Swayne, of Selby, left on Monday for Flinton to attend a missionary meeting. He will visit Smith's Falls and Toronto before he returns and will be absent about two weeks.

Messrs. R. L. Henry, T. D. Pruyn, and Wm. Day have been in Toronto as delegates to the meeting of the Grand Lodge, A.O.U.W.

Dr. Grant and the Misses Grant left for British Columbia on Thursday. The doctor is taking the trip for the benefit of his health and will return to Napanee in the course of a few months.

Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Davis have returned to Napanee.

MARRIAGES.

WINTER—MCCORMICK—On Feb. 18th, at St. John's church, Selby, by Rev. W. G. Swayne Mr. Samuel D. G. Winter to Miss Nettie M. McCormick both of Richmond.

Noble Woman.

Mrs. Ferry—Mr. and Mrs. Wallace assured me with all positiveness that they had not had a quarrel in all the ten years of their married life.

Mr. Ferry—Ah, there is a noble woman.

"I wonder you did not give the credit to him."

"No, she is the one who deserves the credit. It is not every woman who will back up her husband in a lie. —Cincinnati Inquirer.

CASTORIA.

The fac-simile signature [illegible] is on every wrapper

A LOST ITEM.

A Piece For the Paper That the Editor Forgot to Insert.

When I was running the Geeville Beacon Light of Liberty, one of my patrons from a way back district came into the office one day late in the fall. Joy was beaming from his face like a candle shining through the holes in a jack-lantern.

"Tol de rol, de rol, de raddidy! Tol de rol, de rol, de ray!" was his first remark, as he cut a series of backwoods pigeon wings around the room. It was court week, during which event the Geeville taverns were wont to set forth to their eager patrons a tipple that had won much fame for the promptness with which it took dull care by the neck and tossed it out of the window, and I at first thought that my friend from way back had been in fond and too protracted dalliance with this insinuating bowl; but such was not the fact. After he had warbled and pirouetted off his first burst of glee, he plunked down in a chair and said:

"I'm goin' ter give yer a piece fer yer paper better'n stealin', or running off with somebody else's wife, or burning your neighbor's barn! Ye know the Widder Buggles, an' ye know the Widder Buggles' place, don't ye?"

I told him I did.

"How old d'ye s'pose the widder is?" he asked, and I told him I had no idea.

"Why, dod turn it! She's sixty-eight! Sixty-eight past. An' ain't she humly? She's so all-fired humly that she sot in her corn patch this season an' actu'ly skeered the crows away! That's pooty durn humly, ain't it? An' ain't she thin? An ash saplin's got more meat on it than the widder has! Fact! She's deefer'n a post, too, an her off eye is out. An' you couldn't raise white beans on that clearin' o' her'n! For agricultr'l purposes, that clearin' ain't wuth nine shill'n an acre. But, do ye know, she won't sell the durn place for any price. She says if any feller wants that clearin' he's got to take her with it. An' who d'ye think's been edgin' round the widder, anxious to git the clearin' on them diskerigin terms? Actually willin' to marry the Widder Buggles to git that clearin'? Why, Pete Sykes! An' why is he so durn willing to git the clearin' on them diskerigin terms? 'Cause he's found out that the clearin' has got this here on it, that's why."

My friend from 'way back took a handful of glittering, heavy bits of ore from his pocket and handed them to me. Then he danced joyously, shouting:

"Gold! Tol de rol, de rol, de raddidy! Gold on the Widder Buggles clearin'! She's old, an' rattly as a dried gourd; an' deef, an' short an off eye, an' her clearin' ain't wuth nine shill'n an acre for agricultur'; but there's gold on her clearin'. Tons an' tons of it! An' Pete Sykes, he's found it out, somehow, an' is willin' to marry the widder! He told me so! But he don't know that the widder's dead sot on me. Pete's going up to ask her to-night! Tol, de rol, de rol, de raddidy. An' the widder don't know she's got gold on her clearin'! She's dead sot on me, an' Pete can't tetch her! She's old enough to be my mammy, but she's got gold! Say! Ain't this goin' to be a piece fer your paper that 'll make things rattle?"

I took the specimens my 'way back friend handed me. They were iron pyrites. I put them on a shovel and held it in the fire. Presently they

INJURY AND NEGLECT.

He Failed in Health and Strength—His Kidney Ached and He Took Dodd's Kidney Pills.

Deseronto, Feb. 15 (Special) — Among business people here, and especially by his fellow workmen great interest has been taken in the case of Mr. James Stokes, who for the past fifteen years has been shipper for the Rathburn Company.

Lately he had run down in health and strength to the point of being compelled to quit work and his recovery now as the result of using Dodd's Kidney Pills, is the talk of the town. On seeing Mr. Stokes he said:—

"From over-lifting and strain I suffered greatly from kidney trouble, being advised, after all else had failed, to use Dodd's Kidney Pills, from the first dose I got relief, and hundreds of people here can vouch for my cure."

NEE EXPRESS.

ANADA—FRIDAY, FEBRUARY 19, 1897. $1 per Year in advance; $1.50 if not so paid.

We Want to

NEW SS GOODS!

o show a full range of new Dress Goods. The early, when prices were at the lowest point, and ds trade this season. We want you to see our ee them you are sure to buy here. We have a in value. We defy competition and will at any ney can buy cheaper in any other store. Suffice blefold Dress Goods this season at 14c. per yd. range at any time you may call.

IN."

Its a shiner. No home should be without it. nly at our stores.

ILLOW COTTONS.

you want them at all this season. The prices ave your money now.

ding Corsets because we sell more Corsets than why? Simply because our prices are lower and ore's o-wear Trousers at 79c. per pair. Other good We make a specialty of Men's ready-to-wear values in Grey Cottons. Prices this season are er yd.

dies' Ribbed Cashmere Hose. All sizes at 25c.

The Rathbun Co,

CENTRE STREET, NAPANEE.

Lumber, Wood and Coal.

Building Material of every description, Cement, Drain Tile, Pressed Brick, Apple Barrels, &c.

NEWS FROM THE COUNTRY.

CENTREVILLE.

Crows, the harbinger of spring, have made their appearance.

Since the recent thaw the roads have been almost impassable from ice.

Quite a number in this vicinity have been sick with colds, but are able to be around again.

The majority from here attended Phelan's complimentary ball on the evening of the 16th.

Wood drawing is about completed for this season.

E. H. Perry has been paying a visit to friends in the far north.

Sales are numerous.

Ice harvesting has commenced.

No more weddings till after the Lenten season. Then look out.

BATH.

A heavy snow storm passed over this village on Wednesday morning, but not enough snow fell to prevent the mail from making its lightning trips to and from the station.

A number of our young people attended the ball at Stella on Monday evening last and, judging from the time they arrived home, and the racket they made in the village, they must have enjoyed themselves.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Hogle have returned from a visit with their daughter, Mrs. R. J. Green, of Lansdowne.

Miss Mabel Aylsworth and Miss Ethel Hawley are suffering from heavy colds.

Miss Eva Wemp has returned from visiting friends in Kingston and Wolfe Island

Miss Julia Burley is visiting friends in Picton.

MOSCOW.

The cheese meeting passed off very quietly. All parties appeared satisfied and voted for the business to go on as usual.

Jade Foster has purchased his brother's interest in the homestead.

VanLuven Bros. have added to their list of business pianos, organs, and sewing machines, and appear to be rushing business.

Sleighing is fine and everybody is taking advantage of it.

James Kenny was here purchasing horses last week. He is a good man for the farmers.

Amos. Huffman's horse ran away with Charles Newman and George Bush. Bush got a bad cut on the head, and the cutter was badly smashed.

A number from here attended the tea meeting at Bellrock Thursday night.

KINGSFORD.

Mr. Editor, I have made up my mind once again to write for your valuable paper. This will be the last time for a month or maybe more. So I hope I may be executed for not sending news.

Adam Doyle, of Deseronto, and Mr. Vanblaricom, of Deseronto, passed through this vicinity on Wednesday to attend Ira Anderson's sale.

Mr. Samuel Winters and Miss Nettie McCormick, of this place, were quietly married on Wednesday last by the Rev. G. W. Swayne, of Selby. Congratulations.

NAPANEE MILLS.

Mr. and Mrs. Wier are home from Toronto.

The missionary meeting of St. Jude's Church will be held on Sunday at 2 p.m. Deputation, E. J. B. Pense, Kingston, and Prof. Worrell.

Mrs. Jas. Wagar was at home to a large number of friends on Tuesday evening. A most enjoyable time was spent by all present.

Mrs. McPherson is still in a poor state of health.

Mrs. Somerville, who has been ill, is improving.

Dr. and Mrs. Simpson, of Napanee, were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. J. Madden on Sunday.

The postponed social in connection with the Methodist church was held on Monday and proved an enjoyable and successful affair. About $14 was realized.

Robert Smeator left this week for Owen Sound.

A Practical Prima Donna.

"Do you think," asked the young man who was preparing some interviews with great people on trivial topics, "that a light opera singer should marry, if she is really and truly ambitious to succeed in her art?"

The queen of burlesque stopped reading what her press agent had written long enough to respond:

"Surely, sir, you cannot be serious. If we didn't marry how could the papers say anything about our divorce?"—Washington Star.

He Could Tell.

"See that young couple," said the doorkeeper at the theatre.

"Yes."

"They've been married a little over a month. I don't know their names, nor where they live, but I can tell that much about 'em."

"How?"

"They used to come every week and sit in the orchestra chairs. Now they come every other week and sit in the balcony."—Washington Star.

A Turn in the Conversation.

"I see," remarked Mr. Snaggs, as he laid down his newspaper, "that Melba's throat is very sore, and therefore her voice can't—"

"Her voice can't what?" asked Mrs. Snaggs.

"Soar."—Pittsburg Chronicle-Telegraph.

The Life of a Clam.

The clam's body is completely enshrouded in the mantle, except for two openings, through one of which the foot can be pushed out. The other is for the siphon, or what is commonly known as the "neck" of the clam. In some respects the clam may be a little better off than we are, for he has a little brain in his foot and also a gland for secreting strong fibres. With this he spins a byssus by which he can attach himself to whatever he likes. He does not even have to search for his food, but waits for it to come to him. He makes a furrow in the mud or sand, attaching himself to the bottom of the byssus. Then he thrusts his syphon up through the mud and water until it reaches the surface. The siphon is made up of two tubes, the water flowing in through one and out the other.

When the inflowing current, laden vanished as if they had never been. The look on my visitor's face was a sight to see.

BINSON CO.

"That's what they call 'fool's gold,' Jaggers," I said. It's entirely worthless. You couldn't get a dollar for a thousand tons of it. You've had a narrow escape. You might have married the decrepit Widow Buggles and her worthless clearin'. Let Pete Sykes have the widow if he wants her."

My friend at last awoke to the true situation. He stamped and thumped and knocked things around the office, and yelled and swore until things looked blue.

"Let Pete have the widder?" he yelled. "Why, great crackin' heels o' Julius Caesar's ghost! There ain't no widder! The Widder Buggles, old an' rattly an' deef an' without an off eye, ain't the Widder Buggles! She's Elnathan Jaggers, by thumps, fer I stole a march on Pete, an' married her this mornin'!"

And my friend from 'way back dashed out of the office and away.

I never put his piece in the paper.

"Corking Good Stuff."

TESLA'S NEW INTERRUPTER.

An Electrical Current Broken 80,000,000 Times a Second.

Nikola Tesla, the great electrician, has just taken out patents for a device for producing almost incalculable electrical vibrations, and the Electrical Review gives a full description of the invention and its uses. It was by the use of this device that Mr. Tesla has been able to demonstrate the scientific possibility of producing brilliant illumination by means of vacuum tubes that were not in mechanical contact with the electric source. Under the the influence of a current of electricity interrupted 60,000,000 or 80,000,000 times a second the tubes with which Mr. Tesla was experimenting burst into a brilliant white light, which was demonstrated by photography to be much more powerful than the arc electric light, although the tubes were entirely disconnected and stood so far away from the exciting coils that Mr. Tesla sat in a large armchair between the tubes and the coil while he was photographed by the light of the tubes.

No such effect has ever been produced by any other means, and this gives only a rough indication of the ways in which Mr. Tesla's latest patented device may be of use in the arts. For the production of Roentgen rays, the making of ozone and argon, and for electro-therapeutic treatment, the new device will find immediate use.

The interruption of electrical currents for the purpose of breaking these currents into electrical waves or vibrations has never before been a purely mechanical operation. In its simplest form this is done by the commutator or vibrating armature of the Rumfkoff induction coil. The vibrations of such an armature or even of the needle with which the armature has been replaced in some devices, must be confined within the narrow limit of a few hundred to the second. Rotating interrupters, connecting and breaking the electrical circuit, with a change in the position of their teeth as they revolved, added much to the number of interruptions which could be obtained, but even their best speed bore but a pitiful relationship to the 100,000,000 or more vibrations a second which Mr. Tesla calculates that he has obtained from his device.

The simplicity of the latter is one of the remarkable features.

The New Order of Things

Claude—The dividing line between the sexes is fast disappearing.
Maude—What line is that?
Claude—The clothes line.

On Skin.

"What is the general effect upon the system of your patent syringe process of injecting beneath the skin a fluid which marvelously restores the beauty of the complexion?" asked the reporter who had been sent to interview Mme. Epidermis, the great cuticle culturist, for the express purpose of exposing what was suspected to be a fake.

Mme. Epidermis regarded him with a cold eye and a disdainful mien.

"My invention concerns the skin, sir. I have nothing to do with the 'general effects upon the system.'"

"In fact you do not go beneath the skin?"

"No, sir."

"On the proverbial principle, I suppose, that beauty is only skin deep?"

Mme. Epidermis did not answer.

"I may conclude then, madame, that yours is exclusively a skin business, as it were?"

Mme. Epidermis spoke, but where, oh, where had vanished her cold, haughty, aristocratic reserve? Where was now that piquant Parisian accent with which she had previously spoken?

"Skin out o' here young feller!"

There was nothing ambiguous about the invitation. It was simple and direct.

The reporter withdrew gracefully.

"I have discovered a new wrinkle," he murmured as he descended the stairs.

A Popular German Citizen.

Well-Known in Hamilton for the Past 40 Years. What He Has to say About Kidney Trouble.

Mr. George Schumacher, 98 McNann-street north, Hamilton, Ont., well known in business circles in Hamilton during the past 40 years as a skilful cabinet maker, an adept at such delicate work as repairing billiard tables, etc., gave the following account of his rescue from the clutches of sciatica through the use of Doan's Kidney Pills.

Said Mr. Schumacher: "For a number of years prior to May last I have had sciatica in my left hip, at times so bad as to incapacitate me from working. The pain extended down my left leg and across my back just above the hips. I was so sore that I could not bear the weight of my body, and so stiff that it was only with a painful effort I managed to walk.

"I have doctored a great deal for my complaint, and derived but little benefit. Last May Mr. Macon, a friend of mine, advised me to try Doan's Kidney Pills as they had helped him wonderfully. I therefore got a box of the pills from Spackman's drug store, No. 1 Market Square. After taking them for four days I commenced to get better and thenceforward my improvement was rapid. I have had no pain or difficulty in getting around all summer and my health generally is better than it has been for a long time. I took just two boxes, and I assure you that they proved a great remedy for me. Should I ever become afflicted with the terrible pains of sciatica again, I shall very promptly resort to the use of this marvelous medicine. (Signed) George Schumacher, Hamilton, Ont."

trip to Manitoba about the 1st of March.

Mr. Jas. Doyle returned home on Tuesday after spending a week in Roslin with friends.

Nelson Hewitt spent Sunday in Napanee. There must be special attractions.

TAMWORTH.

The Village is again cast in gloom through the very sudden death of Mrs. D. Taylor an old and respected citizen, who has crossed the border to meet her husband, who died some seven years ago. Two sons, Clayton, merchant of Westport, and Jay, cabinet maker, etc., of this town, are left to mourn. We extend to them our sympathy in their loss. The funeral took place on Wednesday to the Methodist church, of which she was a member.

Miss Fannie Milligan entertained a few of her young friends on the evening of the 15th. They had a very pleasant time.

Some of our young people have received a few valentines this year as a reminder, I suppose, of their varied traits of character.

Our merchants decided to close their places of business through the winter months at 8 o'clock. The only penalty imposed was their honor, and it is to be regretted that some of them, after signing their names to the agreement, have not kept it, and try to make it very unpleasant for the rest. When a man agrees to anything he is expected to fulfil it, especially when he or they are looked up to. We do hope no more of this will happen.

Our revival services are yet carried on and a good attendance is still kept up. A great many are professing Christ and going forward. It is to be hoped they will live consistent thereto and show by their work their changed lives.

A special vestry meeting was called last Monday to arrange for the rebuilding of the sheds. Tenders are asked for. The tenders will be open until the 22nd inst. Plans and specifications can be seen at C. G. Coxall's, Tamworth. Length of shed 120 feet; width 22 feet.

Our weather is very fine, and our snow is fast disappearing. The roads are bare in some places.

Mrs. F. Cowan and grand-daughter left last Saturday for Colborne to visit her son, George. They intend to stay three weeks.

Miss A. Trigg, Miss E. Coxall, and Miss Kirk were the guests of Mrs. Robert Close Sunday evening.

CONWAY AND SANDHURST.

Trotting horses are are the rage around here at present.

Mr. Frank Wiskin is visiting friends in Kingston at present.

Messrs. M. Switzer, F. G. Young and S. Shorey were in Bath on Sunday last.

Archibald Wakeford is still very ill.

Miss Susie Shorey spent some time last week in Napanee.

Miss Marion Paterson of Stella is spending a few weeks as the guest of Mr. R. Wright.

Mr. E. H. Wright is training Sweepstake No. 2, in order that he may be ready for the March races.

Mr. James Hill jr. has the asthma.

Mrs. Rev. Shorey was surprised by a number of her friends on Thursday evening last and a most enjoyable time was spent by all present.

The Hill Bros. are busily engaged nowadays in cutting wood with their circular saw for their neighbors.

Mr David Brooks, our enterprising cobbler, intends leaving soon for a more desirable settlement. His future departure is greatly regretted.

George Switzer was in Kingston Thursday attending market.

Entries for the March races are coming in very fast. All the old and reliable trotters, it is claimed, will be in it this time.

Samantha Williams is sick.

Mrs. EJ. Wright is visiting friends at Napanee.

Miss Gertie Galloway is very sick at present.

Charlie Burley is becoming a skilled musician.

Mr. W. H. Wright, the popular president of the Jockey Club, reports that the club is in a flourishing condition as regards members and finances.

Messrs. E. V., E. H., and G. Wright spent Thursday in Picton.

Mr. J. Kepby and sisters, of Sydenham, are visiting at Mr. G. Phippen's this week.

Mrs. J. Armstrong, of Mill Haven, is visiting her aunt, Mrs. R. Phippen, at present.

Mrs. Griffith is the guest of Mr. D. Stratton, Conway's popular school teacher, this week.

Mr. Thomas Wiskin and Robert A. Cadman are convalescent.

with minute plants and animals, reaches the gill chamber, some of these are sifted out and retained for food while the water and waste matter flow through the other tube.

The clam's eggs are carried by the mother on her gills. When there are fish in the water with them the mother clams discharge the eggs, which soon hatch, but if there are no fish they carry the eggs until they decay. The reason of this strange behavior is this: When the eggs are set free in the water they soon hatch, and the little ones swim about until they find some fish to which to attach themselves. They live for a time on the mucus of the fish, and then drop off, sink to the bottom and form burrows for themselves. This curious semi-parasitic life is no doubt a reversion to the habit of some ancient ancestor.—Appleton's Monthly.

Puget Sound Flax.

Every fresh test of the quality of Puget Sound flax results in confirming the claim that it is the equal of any in the world and far superior to most. The progress in establishment of its production as a steady and permanent industry is nevertheless very slow. The Federal Government has given aid in securing experiments in culture, and it is not probable that further appropriations can be had except to maintain the station. An effort will be made to persuade the State Legislature to extend financial aid, but the outlook for it is not promising.

The success of flax production will depend chiefly upon the enterprise and perseverance of a few farmers who will pay attention to the requirements of good flax, and will unite to purchase the inexpensive machinery necessary to turn the farm product into mercantile flax. This they can ship abroad to the manufacturers and insure a fair profit on their investment.—Seattle Post-Intelligencer.

The Worst River on Earth.

"The scourge of China," is what they call the Yang-tse-Kiang River. During the last 200 years its floods have fourteen times forced the massive dams of the central provinces and each time covered its banks with thousands of human corpses. In 1383 its inundation ravaged the province of Hu-Pae to an extent which can be retrieved only by the labors of many successive generations. Another terrible flood occurred a few years since, which spread its havoc over an area of 350,000 square miles in the most densely popoulated districts of China. The loss of life on that occasion has been estimated at 750,000, even after deducting the hundreds of thousands that succumbed to the subsequent famine or those slain by marrauders and hunger-crazed cannibals.

Penological.

They broke the news to the convict as gently as possible, but he was nevertheless quite overcome.

"Pardon?" he shrieked, "surely you jest. You shock me. Pardon? For me? After I have been habituated to every luxury? It will kill me. Mercy! I implore you, mercy!"

But there was no mercy. The will of the law was inexorable.—Detroit Tribune.

The Cruel Truth Forced Home.

"Ah, Henry," she sighed, "it is very kind of you to tell me that I am still beautiful and that I look as youthful as I did ten years ago, but you are wrong. I have had proof of it."

"Why, my darling, what do you mean?" he asked.

"To-day when I got aboard the car," she bitterly replied, "not a solitary man offered to give me his seat."

A BOOM FOR EVERY HOME.

Every Wise Woman Should See that She gets the Best.

In special cotton colors the Diamond Dyes far excel all other dyes. These special cotton dyes are recent discoveries of the best dye chemists in the world, and are remarkable for fastness against exposure to strong light and for standing any amount of washing with soap suds.

Special attention is directed to Diamond Dye Fast Black for Cotton and Mixed Goods. This marvellous black has proven its title to first place as a dye for cotton and mixed goods. It excels all rivals in every good quality. One package of this dye will do as much as three of any other make of dye.

The Diamond Dyes are first, best and the cheapest to use.

Tell your merchant that you must have the "Diamond."

BINSON CO.

vanished as if they had never been. The look on my visitor's face was a sight to see.

"That's what they call fool's gold, Jaggers," I said. "It's entirely worthless. You couldn't get a dollar for a thousand tons of it. You've had a narrow escape. You might have married the decrepit Widow Buggles and her worthless clearin'. Let Pete Sykes have the widow if he wants her."

My friend at last awoke to the true situation. He stamped and thumped and knocked things around the office and yelled and swore until things looked blue.

"Let Pete have the widder!" he yelled. "Why, great crackin' heels o' Julius Caesar's ghost! There ain't no widder! The Widder Buggles is an rattly an' deef an' without an eye—ain't the Widder Buggles! She's Elnic than Jaggers by thumps for I stole a march on Pete, an' married her this mornin'!"

And my friend from 'way back dashed out of the office and away.

I never put his piece in the paper.

"Corking Good Stuff."

TESLA'S NEW INTERRUPTER.

An Electrical Current Broken 80,000,000 Times a Second.

Nikola Tesla, the great electrician, has just taken out patents for a device for producing almost incalculable electrical vibrations, and the Electrical Review gives a full description of the invention and its uses. It was by the use of this device that Mr. Tesla has been able to demonstrate the scientific possibility of producing brilliant illumination by means of vacuum tubes that were not in mechanical contact with the electric source. Under the the influence of a current of electricity interrupted 60,000,000 or 80,000,000 times a second the tubes with which Mr. Tesla was experimenting burst into a brilliant white light, which was demonstrated by photography to be much more powerful than the arc electric light, although the tubes were entirely disconnected and stood so far away from the exciting coils that Mr. Tesla sat in a large armchair between the tubes and the coil while he was photographed by the light of the tubes.

No such effect has ever been produced by any other means, and this gives only a rough indication of the ways in which Mr. Tesla's latest patented device may be of use in the arts. For the production of Roentgen rays, the making of ozone and argon, and for electro-therapeutic treatment, the new device will find immediate use.

The interruption of electrical currents for the purpose of breaking these currents into electrical waves or vibrations has never before been a purely mechanical operation. In its simplest form this is done by the commutator or vibrating armature of the Rumfkoff induction coil. The vibrations of such an armature or even of the needle with which the armature has been replaced in some devices, must be confined within the narrow limit of a few hundred to the second. Rotating interrupters, connecting and breaking the electrical circuit, with a change in the position of their teeth as they revolved, added much to the number of interruptions which could be obtained, but even their best speed bore but a pitiful relationship to the 100,000,000 or more vibrations a second which Mr. Tesla calculates that he has obtained from his device.

The simplicity of the latter is one of the remarkable features.

The New Order of Things

Claude—The dividing line between the sexes is fast disappearing.
Maude—What line is that?
Claude—The clothes line.

On Skin.

"What is the general effect upon the system of your patent syringe process of injecting beneath the skin a fluid which marvelously restores the beauty of the complexion?" asked the reporter who had been sent to interview Mme. Epidermis, the great cutis culturist, for the express purpose of exposing what was suspected to be a fake.

Mme. Epidermis regarded him with a cold eye and a disdainful mien.

"My invention concerns the skin, sir. I have nothing to do with the general effects upon the system."

"In fact you do not go beneath the skin?"

"No, sir."

"On the proverbial principle, I suppose, that beauty is only skin deep?"

Mme. Epidermis did not answer.

"I may conclude then, madame, that yours is exclusively a skin business, as it were?"

Mme. Epidermis spoke, but where, oh, where had vanished her cold, haughty, aristocratic reserve? Where was now that piquant Parisian accent with which she had previously spoken?

"Skin out o' here young feller!"

There was nothing ambiguous about the invitation. It was simple and direct.

The reporter withdrew gracefully.

"I have discovered a new wrinkle," he murmured as he descended the stairs.

A Popular German Citizen.

Well-Known in Hamilton for the Past 40 Years. What He Has to say About Kidney Trouble.

Mr. George Schumacher, 98 McNann-street north, Hamilton, Ont., well known in business circles in Hamilton during the past 40 years as a skilful cabinet maker, an adept at such delicate work as repairing billiard tables, etc., gave the following account of his rescue from the clutches of sciatica through the use of Doan's Kidney Pills.

Said Mr. Schumacher: "For a number of years prior to May last I have had sciatica in my left hip, at times so bad as to incapacitate me from working. The pain extended down my left leg and across my back just above the hips. I was so sore that I could not bear the weight of my body, and so stiff that it was only with a painful effort I managed to walk.

"I have doctored a great deal for my complaint, and derived but little benefit. Last May Mr. Macon, a friend of mine, advised me to try Doan's Kidney Pills as they had helped him wonderfully. I therefore got a box of the pills from Spackman's drug store, No. 1 Market Square. After taking them for four days I commenced to get better and thenceforward my improvement was rapid. I have had no pain or difficulty in getting around all summer and my health generally is better than it has been for a long time. I took just two boxes, and I assure you that they proved a great remedy for me. Should I ever become afflicted with the terrible pains of sciatica again, I shall very promptly resort to the use of this marvelous medicine. (Signed) George Schumacher, Hamilton, Ont."

trip to Manitoba about the 1st of March.

Mr. Jas. Doyle returned home on Tuesday after spending a week in Rorlin with friends.

Nelson Hewitt spent Sunday in Napanee. There must be special attractions.

TAMWORTH

The Village is again cast in gloom through the very sudden death of Mrs. D. Taylor an old and respected citizen, who has crossed the border to meet her husband, who died some seven years ago. Two sons, Clayton, merchant of Westport, and Jay, cabinet maker, etc., of this town, are left to mourn. We extend to them our sympathy in their loss. The funeral took place on Wednesday to the Methodist church, of which she was a member.

Miss Fannie Milligan entertained a few of her young friends on the evening of the 15th. They had a very pleasant time.

Some of our young people have received a few valentines this year as a reminder, I suppose, of their varied traits of character.

Our merchants decided to close their places of business through the winter months at 8 o'clock. The only penalty imposed was their honor, and it is to be regretted that some of them, after signing their names to the agreement, have not kept it, and try to make it very unpleasant for the rest. When a man agrees to anything he is expected to fulfil it, especially when he or they are looked up to. We do hope no more of this will happen.

Our revival services are yet carried on and a good attendance is still kept up. A great many are professing Christ and going forward. It is to be hoped they will live consistent thereto and show by their work their changed lives.

A special vestry meeting was called last Monday to arrange for the rebuilding of the sheds. Tenders are asked for. The tenders will be open until the 22nd inst. Plans and specifications can be seen at C. G. Coxall's, Tamworth. Length of shed 120 feet, width 22 feet.

Our weather is very fine, and our snow is fast disappearing. The roads are bare in some places.

Mrs. F. Cowan and grand daughter left last Saturday for Colborne to visit her son, George. They intend to stay three weeks.

Miss A. Trigg, Miss E. Coxall, and Miss Kirk were the guests of Mrs. Robert Close Sunday evening.

CONWAY AND SANDHURST.

Trotting horses are are the rage around here at present.

Mr. Frank Wiskin is visiting friends in Kingston at present.

Messrs. M. Switzer, F. G. Young and S. Shorey were in Bath on Saturday last.

Archibald Wakeford is still very ill.

Miss Susie Shorey spent some time last week in Napanee.

Miss Marion Paterson of Stella is spending a few weeks as the guest of Mr. R. Wright.

Mr. E. H. Wright is training Sweepstake No. 2, in order that he may be ready for the March races.

Mr. James Hill jr. has the asthma.

Mrs. Rev. Shorey was surprised by a number of her friends on Thursday evening last and a most enjoyable time was spent by all present.

The Hill Bros. are busily engaged nowadays in cutting wood with their circular saw for their neighbors.

Mr David Brooks, our enterprising cobbler, intends leaving soon for a more desirable settlement. His future departure is greatly regretted.

George Switzer was in Kingston Thursday attending market.

Entries for the March races are coming in very fast. All the old and reliable trotters, it is claimed, will be in it this time.

Samantha Williams is sick.

Mrs. Ed. Wright is visiting friends at Napanee.

Miss Gertie Galloway is very sick at present.

Charlie Burley is becoming a skilled musician.

Mr. W. H. Wright, the popular president of the Jockey Club, reports that the club is in a flourishing condition as regards members and finances.

Messrs. E. V., E. H., and G. Wright spent Thursday in Picton.

Mr. J. Kepby and sisters, of Sydenham, are visiting at Mr. G. Phippen's this week.

Mrs. J. Armstrong, of Mill Haven, is visiting her aunt, Mrs. R. Phippen, at present.

Mrs. Griffith is the guest of Mr. D. Stratton, Conway's popular school teacher, this week.

Mr. Thomas Wiskin and Robert A. Cadman are convalescent.

with minute plants and animals, reaches the gill chamber, some of these are sifted out and retained for food while the water and waste matter flow through the other tube.

The clam's eggs are carried by the motion of the gills. When there are fish in the water with them the mother clams discharge the eggs, which soon hatch, but if there are no fish they carry the eggs until they decay. The reason of this strange behavior is this: When the eggs are set free in the water they soon hatch and the little fellows swim about until they find some fish to which to attach themselves. They live for a time on the juices of the fish and then drop off, sink to the bottom and form burrows for themselves. This curious semi-parasitic life is no doubt a reversion to the habits of some ancient ancestors.—Appletons' Monthly.

Puget Sound Flax.

Every fresh test of the quality of Puget Sound flax results in confirming the claim that it is the equal of any in the world and far superior to most. The progress in establishment of its production is as steady and permanent as the nevertheless very slow. The Federal Government has given and is securing experiments in culture, and it is not probable that further appropriations can be had except to maintain the station. An effort will be made to persuade the State Legislature to extend financial aid, but the outlook for it is not promising.

The success of flax production will depend chiefly upon the enterprise and perseverance of a few farmers who will pay attention to the requirements of good flax and will unite to purchase the expensive machinery necessary to turn the farm product into mercantile flax. Thus they can ship abroad to the manufacturers and insure a fair profit on their investment.—Seattle Post-Intelligencer.

The Worst River on Earth.

"The scourge of China" is what they call the Yang-tse-Kiang River. During the last 200 years its floods have fourteen times forced the massive dams of the central provinces, and each time covered its banks with thousands of human corpses. In 1887 its inundation ravaged the province of Hupeh to an extent which can be retrieved only by the labors of many successive generations. Another terrible flood occurred a few years since, which spread its havoc over an area of 350,000 square miles in the most densely populated districts of China. The loss of life on that occasion has been estimated at 750,000, even after deducting the hundreds of thousands that succumbed to the subsequent famine or those slain by marauders and hunger-crazed cannibals.

Penological.

They broke the news to the convict as gently as possible, but he was nevertheless quite overcome.

"Pardon?" he shrieked. "surely you jest. You shock me. Pardon? For me? After I have been habituated to every luxury? It will kill me. Mercy! I implore you, mercy!"

But there was no mercy. The will of the law was inexorable.—Detroit Tribune.

The Cruel Truth Forced Home.

"Ah, Henry," she sighed, "it is very kind of you to tell me that I am still beautiful and that I look as youthful as I did ten years ago, but you are wrong. I have had proof of it."

"Why, my darling, what do you mean?" he asked.

"To-day when I got aboard the car," she bitterly replied, "not a solitary man offered to give me his seat."

A BOOM FOR EVERY HOME.

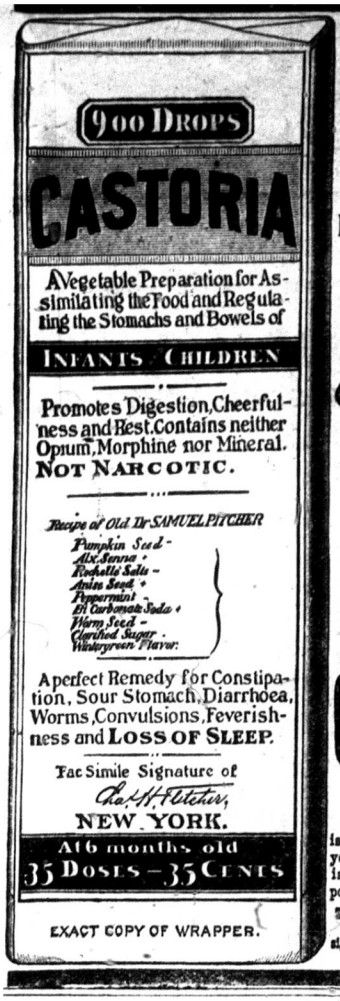
Every Wise Woman Should See that She gets the Best.

In special cotton colors the Diamond Dyes far excel all other dyes. These special cotton dyes are recent discoveries of the best dye chemists in the world, and are remarkable for fastness against exposure to strong light and for standing any amount of washing with soap suds.

Special attention is directed to Diamond Dye Fast Black for Cotton and Mixed Goods. This marvellous black has proven its title to first place as a dye for cotton and mixed goods. It excels all rivals in every good quality. One package of this dye will do as much as three of any other make of dye.

The Diamond Dyes are first, best and the cheapest to use.

Tell your merchant that you must have the "Diamond."



EXACT COPY OF WRAPPER.

SEE THAT THE FAC-SIMILE SIGNATURE —OF— Chas. H. Fletcher. IS ON THE WRAPPER OF EVERY BOTTLE OF CASTORIA

Castoria is put up in one-size bottles only. It is not sold in bulk. Don't allow anyone to sell you anything else on the plea or promise that it is "just as good" and "will answer every purpose." See that you get C-A-S-T-O-R-I-A.

The fac-simile signature of Chas. H. Fletcher. is on every wrapper.

The Dominion Bank

ESTABLISHED 1871.

CAPITAL — $1,500,000.00
RESERVE FUND — $1,450,000.00

Deposits received and interest allowed. Drafts on all parts of Great Britain and United States bought and sold.

E. H. BAINES, Agent.

THE - MERCHANTS - BANK

OF CANADA

Head Office, — Montreal

Capital paid up, $6,000,000
Surplus, $3,000,000

INTEREST AT CURRENT RATES PAID ON DEPOSITS.

A GENERAL BANKING BUSINESS TRANSACTED.

W. A. BELLHOUSE,
Manager, Napanee Branch

EPPS'S COCOA

ENGLISH BREAKFAST COCOA

Possesses the following Distinctive Merits:

DELICACY OF FLAVOR
SUPERIORITY IN QUALITY.

Grateful and Comforting to the Nervous or Dyspeptic.

NUTRITIVE QUALITIES UNRIVALLED.

In Quarter-Pound Tins Only.

Prepared by JAMES EPPS & Co., Ltd., Homœopathic Chemists, London, England.

WOOD'S PHOSPHODINE.

The Great English Remedy.

Six Packages Guaranteed to promptly and permanently cure all forms of Nervous Weakness, Emissions, Spermatorrhœa, Impotency and all effects of Abuse or Excesses, Mental Worry, excessive use of Tobacco, Opium or Stimu- will be meted out to the perpetrator of this dastardly outrage. It was held by a large number of people that the crime was the work of a resident of the town, but this was not borne out by the evidence and how it came to be entertained is hard to explain. The recent development in the case will do away with this idea and remove the unjust suspicion directed against several of our citizens.

To anyone at all conversant with the facts it cannot but be admitted that Mr. James Aylsworth was the victim of injustice when he was dismissed from his office as postmaster of the village of Tamworth in 1880. His reinstatement by the Liberal Government is but a simple act of justice to an efficient and painstaking public servant who was summarily dismissed without cause or reason being assigned. Through the kindness of Mr. Geo. E. Deroche, barrister, Deseronto, we are able to place before our readers in this issue the report of the Postmaster General on the dismissal and re-instatement of Mr. Aylsworth. As is pointed out by Mr. Deroche, the re-instatement casts no reflection on the late post master, Mr. Rose, who proved himself an efficient and careful officer. In his deposition, however, as can readily be perceived, there was not that element of injustice entering into it, as characterized the dismissal of Mr. Aylsworth. Mr. Rose leaves office without an aspersion being cast upon his character, and if his appointment had been made in the regular way we are safe in saying he would have been left in undisturbed possession of the postmaster ship. Mr. Aylesworth should never have been dismissed and we heartily congratulate him on having come into his rights, feeling assured that he will fill the position honorably, efficiently and impartially.

TAMWORTH POST OFFICE.

(Editor of NAPANEE EXPRESS.)

DEAR SIR:—Having heard various rumors regarding the action of the Government in dismissing Mr. Rose from the Tamworth post office and appointing Mr. Aylsworth, I made mention of the matter for my own satisfaction, to the Post Master General while in Ottawa a few days since and he very kindly read me his report on the same and gave me permission to give it to the press, and which I herewith enclose.

It will be seen from this very thorough report of the Honorable Mr. Mulock that it was through no fault of Mr. Rose that he was dismissed, as the department believes him to be a faithful officer and under ordinary circumstances he would have retained his position but as will be seen from the report, Mr. Aylsworth had in 1880 been wrongfully and unjustifiably dismissed and is now being merely reinstated in an office which he should always have held.

If you will kindly give me space for this report you will oblige.

Yours truly,

G. E. DEROCHE,

Deseronto, 15th February, 1897.

OTTAWA, NOVEMBER, 19TH, 1896.

In the matter of the Postmastership at Tamworth in the County of Addington.

An application has been made by James Aylsworth, former Postmaster in this village, for the cancellation of the order dismissing him and for his re-instatement and in support of such application, he files his statutory affidavit and various papers annexed thereto.

I have examined the file of papers on record, which I assume show whatever justification existed for Mr. Aylsworth's dismissal, and find that the Postmaster-General has not placed upon record the reasons for dismissing the Postmaster but has simply endorsed a memorandum on the back of the report of the the Inspector, bearing date the 16th February, 1880, and reporting on a charge of alleged abstraction of money from a registered letter to the address of one Mrs. John Knight.

The date of this order does not appear nor had it apparently been issued as late as the 29th April, 1880, for on that day the Inspector writes Mr. Aylsworth stating that at that date the Inspector was not aware of any change to be made in the Postmastership at Tamworth.

On the 1st May, 1880, the Inspector then notified Mr. Aylsworth that the post office was to be taken from him, so that if the action of the Postmaster General in dismissing Mr. Aylsworth was based upon any circumstances connected with the alleged abstraction of money, it would seem extraordinary that an interval extending from the 6th of February, the date of the Inspector's report, and the 1st of May should have been allowed to have elapsed before the removal from the service for any such reason of an officer in so responsible a position. Such delay would certainly indicate that the Postmaster General had not regarded seriously the charges against and the Postmaster.

The facts connected with this alleged abstraction appear amongst the papers and are as follows;—

Mr. Aylsworth had been Postmaster at Tamworth from the year 1867 until the month of May, 1880. During the last few years one John E. Knight had been in his service as assistant and whilst in his service, complaint was made of loss of money from one registered letter passing through the office and one posted at that office. The Post Office Inspector investigated both these cases and wholly exonerated Mr. Aylsworth.

One of these cases arose in the year 1874 and it was some two years after-

Biliousness

Is caused by torpid liver, which prevents digestion and permits food to ferment and putrify in the stomach. Then follow dizziness, headache,

Hood's Pills

insomina, nervousness, and, if not relieved, bilious fever or blood poisoning. Hood's Pills stimulate the stomach, rouse the liver, cure headache, dizziness, constipation, etc. 25 cents. Sold by all druggists. The only Pills to take with Hood's Sarsaparilla.

Knight herself, according to her statement, in the presence of her brother, her mother and two sisters.

Whatever shortage of corroboration existed at the initial stage of the scheme when the letter was posted, was supplied at the conclusion by the presence of these five people together at the same time. So unusual a circumstance as five witnesses being present at the opening of a letter, all watching to see that no contents might be abstracted by the person opening it, seems to me so unusual a circumstance as to give rise to the well founded belief that there was reason to believe before the letter was opened that no money would be found to be contained in it.

Then the Inspector in his report proceeded to state. "I have investigated this case very closely at Tamworth but I am unable to form a decided opinion as to whether the money was taken out or not, yet I have an impression that it might have been" and in concluding his report states, "I am suspicious that a dishonest person has access to the Tamworth post office but I have confidence in the Postmaster and believe him to be an honest man."

In the course of this report, Mr. Barker alludes to the two other cases above referred to and in a letter dated the 27th February, 1878, writes officially to Mr. Aylsworth as follows:—"One thing more is now quite clear to me. From what Knight has been guilty of in the marriage license, that he is not the good and honest young man we were led to believe him to be from his own protestations at the commencement and I do not think I am far astray when I say that he knows more about the $19.00 that was abstracted from the letter of Mrs. Mills in August, 1874 and $5.00 from Mr. Potter's letter in November, 1876 than what he told me and I believe I am quite justified in taking what steps I may think proper in order to bring the case home to him."

Thus it would seem that Inspector Barker after a thorough investigation into all the causes not only vindicated Mr. Aylsworth but also came to the conclusion that the two previous cases were the handiwork of Knight and that Mr. Aylsworth was personally an upright, honorable man.

In his affidavit Mr. Aylsworth states that on the defeat of the Mackenzie Government it became freely stated that he was to be dismissed because of his being a Liberal, but if this circumstance was the real cause of his dismissal, it was not the assigned one, no reason whatever being given for such action. Inasmuch, however, as the investigation fully exonerated Mr. Aylesworth in respect of the registered letter transaction it is quite clear that he was not dismissed on that account.

Nevertheless the then Government, without reason assigned dismissed Mr. Aylsworth in May, 1880, and although Mr. Aylsworth promptly asked for an explanation by letter dated the 24th, May, 1880, he only learned of the matters alleged against him on the 28th, October, 1896.

His dismissal under such circumstances was, I think, extremely cruel aud unjustifiable and I deem it my duty to restore him to an office from

Before and After. ...lants, which soon lead to Infirmity, Insanity, Consumption and an early grave. Has been prescribed over 35 years in thousands of cases; is the only Reliable and Honest Medicine known. Ask druggist for Wood's Phosphodine; if he offers some worthless medicine in place of this, inclose price in letter, and we will send by return mail. Price, one package, $1; six, $5. One will please, six will cure. Pamphlets free to any address.

The Wood Company,
Windsor, Ont., Canada.

Cramps, Colic, Colds,

Croup, Coughs, Tooth-ache,

DIARRHŒA, DYSENTERY, and all BOWEL COMPLAINTS.
A Sure, Safe, Quick Cure for these troubles is

Pain-Killer

(PERRY DAVIS').

Used Internally and Externally.

Two Sizes, 25c. and 50c. bottles.

VERY LARGE BOTTLES 50 CENTS.

Relief for Lung Troubles

The D. & L. EMULSION

In CONSUMPTION and all LUNG DISEASES, SPITTING OF BLOOD, COUGH, LOSS OF APPETITE, DEBILITY, the benefits of this article are most manifest.

By the aid of The "D. & L." Emulsion I have got rid of a hacking cough which had troubled me for over a year, and have increased considerably in weight. I liked the Emulsion so well I was glad when the time came for me to take more.

T. H. WINGHAM, C.E. Montreal

50c. and $1 per Bottle

DAVIS & LAWRENCE CO., LTD., MONTREAL

The Napanee Express

NAPANEE, FRIDAY, FEB. 19th, 1897.

A UNITED STATES politician thinks that country needs a war to settle its industrial and social troubles. We are of the opinion, however, that this authority doesn't intend to do any of the fighting.

ARCHBISHOP LANGEVIN states that no settlement of the school question has been arrived at that is satisfactory to him. It is a safe bet that no settlement made by the Liberals will be satisfactory to him. Nothing short of the return of the Conservatives will satisfy the Archbishop.

SIR RICHARD CARTWRIGHT says that he and his confrere, Hon. L. H. Davies, were well received at Washington. He found that the senators and representatives whom they interviewed had correct and intelligent ideas on the subject of reciprocity and believes that as soon as the McKinley Government get into working order, negotiations looking towards a reciprocity treaty between the two countries will be opened up.

IT is to be hoped the McLeod murder will be cleared up and the crime brought home to the guilty party. Suspicion has been directed against a number of innocent and respectable people and from time to time rumors having no foundation in fact have been circulated to their injury. The mystery surrounding the murder is now in a fair way to be unraveled, and we believe that justice

A Trio of Afflictions.

VARIED AGONIES FOR LONG LIFE.

A Man of Seventy-four Years Feels Young Again.

Paine's Celery Compound Gives Him New Blood, Activity and Strength.

The Great Medicine Removes His Troubles and Burdens.

His Cure Vouched For By a Justice of the Peace.

Mr. Thomas R. Baxter, of Karsdale, N.S., aged 74 years and fast nearing the grave from a terrible complication of diseases—erysipelas for 40 years, bleeding piles for 15 years, and sciatic rheumatism for over a year—was rescued from torture, agony and death by Paine's Celery Compound after all other means had failed.

After reading the following statement, vouched for by a Justice of the Peace, how can any sane man or woman entertain doubts as to the curing virtues of the earth's only honest life giving medicine?

Mr. Baxter writes as follows:

"I desire to let you know about my wonderful cure by your precious medicine, Paine's Celery Compound.

"I was afflicted by three complaints that made my life a misery and a burden. I had eysipelas for 40 years, bleeding piles for 15 years, and sciatic rheumatism for over a year.

"I tried the doctors and all kinds of medicines, but no help or relief was afforded me, and I could not eat or sleep. I was then advised to use Paine's Celery Compound, and, oh, what a mighty change! The use of the first bottle enabled me to eat and sleep, and after using seven bottles I was quite another man; was perfectly cured, and felt young again. All that I have written can be proven by merchants, doctors, magistrates, and by three ministers of the Gospel, and by scores of other people I shall always thank you and your wonderful medicine, Paine's Celery Compound."

"I hereby certify that Paine's Celery Compound has made a well man of Thomas R. Baxter."

JAMES H. THORNE, Justice of the Peace.

A Wholesale Contract.

Manchester—You know Spiffins?

Birmingham—Yes.

"He has high aims as a leg puller."

"Has he?"

"You know that old man Rockstoburn is worth over a million, don't you?"

"I do."

"Well, Spiffins told me that he was working him for all he's worth."—Pittsburg Chronicle-Telegraph.

Had to Keep It.

She was delighted with the furniture and could not help mentioning it.

"The old, old styles! How you must prize it! But—pardon me, how can you afford anything so priceless?"

"For the reason," was the cold reply, "that until this latest fad came in we haven't been able to sell the stuff."

Then they changed the subject.—Chicago Post.

Wanted—An Idea Who can think of some simple thing to patent? Protect your ideas; they may bring you wealth. Write JOHN WEDDERBURN & CO., Patent Attorneys, Washington, D. C., for their $1,800 prize offer and list of two hundred inventions wanted.

Madden's Enamel is the only stove pipe varnish that does not smell or smoke when applied to stove pipes, ranges, grates, etc. Ask your dealer for it. 45tf

One every night. One Laxa-Liver Pill taken each night during 30 days will cure Constipation, off-returning Headache and irregular action of the bowels. Laxa-Liver Pills leave no

...wards before it was brought to the attention of the inspector.

The second arose in a case of an alleged abstraction of $5.00 from a letter posted the 8th November, 1876. In neither case did the Inspector so much as suspect any improper action on the part of Mr. Aylsworth.

At the time each of these cases happened, Mr. Knight had the principal charge of the office and continued in Mr. Aylsworth's service until 1878. In February of that year it was discovered that Mr. Knight had stolen a blank marriage license from him and forged Mr. Aylsworth's name to it as the issuer and used it as a marriage license himself. On discovering the offence, Mr. Aylsworth caused him to be arrested and reported the matter to the Post Office Inspector. Knight was committed for trial and admitted to bail but absconded from Canada to the Western States and has ever since continued out of Canada and never returned to stand his trial.

About one year after he absconded, Knight sent a registered letter from Fish Creek, Wisconsin, where he was residing on 27th of August, 1879 addressed to Mrs. Knight at Tamworth Post Office although at this particular time Mrs. Knight was in Michigan, A sister of her's, named Mrs. Fuller, residing at or near Tamworth, applied for the letter which was refused her because of her having no order for it.

Some three weeks later by direction of Mrs. Knight, this letter was forwarded to her in Michigan under a new cover and registered on the 25th September, 1879.

Mr. Knight alleged that in the letter as sent by him from Wisconsin, were at the time 5 Dominion Bank Bills and that when the letter was opened in Michigan there was no money in the letter. Mr. Knight, from his place in Wisconsin, then reported the alleged fact of the abstraction of the money in question.

Inspector Barker, the same officer that had to do with the former two cases, investigated the matter and made his report thereon bearing date 16th February, 1880. In this report he states that the only evidence in support of the statement that any money was contained in this letter is Mr. Knight's assertion of that fact contained in his letter to the Inspector.

Considering that Mr. Knight had been arrested for robbery and forgery, had been committed for trial and absconded, and was at the time of making this charge an outlaw from Canada, no weight, whatever, I think, should be given to such a statement of his.

The circumstance that his wife was in Michigan, at the very same time that Knight sent the registered letter addressed to her at Tamworth, goes to show that the sending of this registered letter was not for the purpose of supplying Mrs. Knight with money and it is calculated to discredit the pretence that the letter ever contained money.

The Inspector further finds from Mr. Knight's own statement that no person was present when he is alleged to have enclosed the money in the letter and the Inspector goes on to say, "I have not received as full information from Mr. Knight as I desired as he has not replied to my two last letters." The Inspector then, without giving any reason for his opinion says: "But I am of opinion that he really did enclose the money as stated but I believe no money was in the letter when Mrs. Knight received it."

Now whatever the Inspector may have believed, his own report shows, that the only foundation for his belief was the uncorroborated statement of a refugee from justice.

Then it appears that a very solemn procedure accompanied the opening of the returned letter in Michigan. Mrs. Knight's brother obtained it at the post office and it was opened by Mrs.

which he had, without any apparent justification been moved, and especially should such restitution be made inasmuch as the circumstances connected with the investigation, and which resulted in Mr. Aylsworth's absolute vindication, might, were his dismissal not cancelled, injure him in the minds of his fellow men.

I have carefully perused all the papers on record and given the fullest consideration to all the circumstances as set forth in the Inspector's report and letters, agreeing with the Inspector that Mr. Aylsworth is a thoroughly upright, honest man, and being satisfied that it was the duty of the Government of the day to have stood by an honest officer, found to have honestly discharged his public duties, instead of dismissing him as was done, his reinstatement, which I now direct, is but a tardy measure of justice due by the Government to him.

Faithful public servants, filling responsible positions, in the discharge of their duties being constantly the custodians of money and property of other people passing through their hands, are entitled to the fullest protection from the Government whenever unjust charges or reflections are cast upon them in respect of the manner in which they discharge such duties and when, as in Mr. Aylsworth's case, their personal honor is fully vindicated by the officers of the Government, they are entitled to the loyal support and protection of the Government, otherwise any Postmaster is in danger of losing his reputation by the mere act of being dismissed from office without reason assigned under the cloud that remains behind, after an investigation of an official character into some supposed case of wrong-doing although the investigation itself may, as in Mr. Aylsworth's case, have absolutely established his innocence.

(Signed.) W. MULOCK,
Postmaster-General.

Ottawa, 27th, October, 1896.

As well as ever. DEAR SIRS,—After suffering for two years from acute indigestion I tried B. B. B. I took only three bottles, which made me as well as ever I was. I highly recommend B. B. B. to all dyspeptics.

MRS. JOHN WHITE, Austin, Man.

Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry cures Diarrhœa, Dysentery, Colic, Cramps, Cholera, Cholera Infantum, Cholero Morbus and all summer complaints and fluxes of the bowels in children or adults.

No Breath, No Sting.

Here is a way to rob a bechive of honey and avoid being stung. Just hold your breath. Simple and easy enough, and the only reason it hasn't been tried more often is that few people know of it. Even the bullet-like hornet cannot injure you if you just stop breathing for a moment. In fact, you can pick him up and watch his stricking apparatus vainly work, for he can't puncture your skin any more than he can sheet-iron.

SHATTERED NERVES AND PARALYSIS.

Shattered Nerves Developed Nervous Prostration—Nervous Prostration Developed Total Paralysis of One Side—Great South American Nervine in the Teeth of Most Adverse and Complicated Circumstances Overcomes All, and Restores Wife and Mother in Good Health to her Family—These are the Written Words of Edward Parr, Surry Centre, B.C.

"My wife was taken bad last August with nervous prostration, which later on developed into paralysis of one side. We tried many remedies, but all in vain, I thought I would try South American Nervine, having seen it advertised in the New Westminster, B.C., papers, and I am glad to be able to say the result after taking three bottles was an astonishment to myself and family. It worked wonders for her and we cannot speak too highly of this great remedy." No case too acute or of too long standing to defy its wonderful merits. Sold by A. W. Grange & Bro.

CASTORIA.

The fac-simile signature of Chas. H. Fletcher is on every wrapper.

This Cold Weather

MAKES ONE THINK OF

WARM OVERSHOES

—OR—

LINED RUBBERS.

You can't buy them cheaper than you can from us. If the prices don't suit you, don't buy. Call on us any way.

HAINES & LOCKETT,

4 BIG SHOE STORES.

NO CREDIT. ONE PRICE.

Sweet Caporal

CIGARETTES

10C. per Package

Standard of the World.

KINNEY BROS.,

NEW YORK.

New Fall and Winter Goods.
New stock just received.

Overcoatings, Scotch and English and Canadian Suitings, English and Canadian Serges, West of England Pants, all of which will be made up on the shortest possible notice. Satisfaction guaranteed. The best of Trimmings used in making up ordered work. We are not selling at cost, but our prices give but small profit and they are lower than our competitors. Please call and inspect before purchasing.

R. FORD. T. G. DAVIS.

THE VIOLIN'S FORM.

HISTORY SHOWS IT HAS REMAINED THE SAME THRO' CENTURIES.

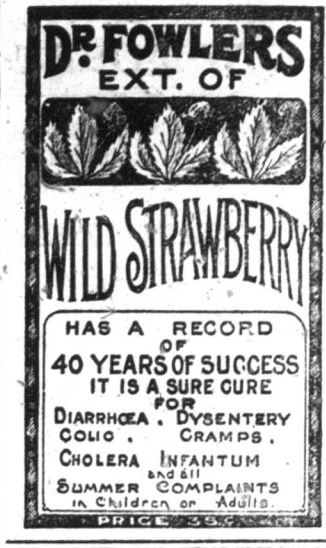
Modern Ingenuity Has Failed to Improve It—The Masters of Its Mechanical Shape—Paganini, Its Unequalled Master in Another Way.

And at the spot where they appear he hears,
Surprised at the unwonted sights of filling,
He hears, alas, no music of the spheres,
But an unhallowed, earthly sound of fiddling.

—Byron's Don Juan.

The violin consists of three parts, the neck, the table and the sounding board. The strings are tuned in fifths, the compass of the instrument exceeding three octaves. The violin assumed its present shape in the beginning of the seventeenth century. Many attempts have been made to improve upon the original idea, but it is significant that the oldest violins are ever regarded as the best. The instruments manufactured by the Amati, Stradivarius and Guarnerius families of Cremona are especially celebrated.

Stradivarius, or more properly, Antonio Stradivari, the great violinmaker, was born in 1649 and died in 1737. Almost the whole of his life was passed in Cremona, Italy, where, in his gloomy workshop, he spent his days and most of his nights. He was in early life a workman in the violin factory of Amati, also a famous violinmaker, and there learned his trade. Evidence of his workmanship is thought to appear in many of the Amati violins, which become the more valuable from that circumstance. The violins made by Stradivarius in his prime differ in many particulars from those of previous makers. Though the differences, in themselves, seem trifling, the sum was sufficient to bring the violins of this celebrated maker into the highest repute, even in his own time, and no subsequent maker has been able to effect any improvement in the manufacture of this delicate instrument. The secret of the superior excellence of a genuine Stradivarius violin is believed to be partly in the wood employed, partly in the outlines and partly in the finish, said to be a secret composition. The greatest improvements he effected were in the bridge, which, before his time, was made almost at haphazard, and in fixing the exact shape of the sound holes and their position in the instrument. His violins, in his own time, were sold for four louis d'or, in England for £4. Nearly a thousand violins from his factory are known to exist, and he made a great many kits, lyres, mandolins, theorbos, lutes and guitars. His instruments are very unequal, some being too weak to bear the pressure of the bow in playing, but a genuine Stradivarius of good



T. W. SIMPSON, B.A., M.D., C.A.

Licentiate of the Royal College of Physicians Edinburgh,
Office—Dr. Grants' late residence, Bridge St

MARGARET P. SYMINGTON, M. D. C. M., Licentiate of Royal College of Physicians, Edinburgh.

Diseases of Women and Children.

Residence north side Market Square, 4th door west John street.
Consulting hours 11 a.m. to 3 p.m., and 6 to 8 p.m. Telephone 87.

R. A. LEONARD, M.D., C.P.S.

Physician, Surgeon, etc.

Late House Surgeon of the Kingston General Hospital.

Office—North side of Dundas Street, between West and Robert Streets, Napanee. 5:1y

HERRINGTON & WARNER

Barristers, etc.

MONEY TO LOAN AT LOW RATES

Office—Warner Block, East-st. Napanee. 5y

DEROCHE & MADDEN,

Barristers,

Attorneys-at-Law, Solicitors in Chancery, Conveyancers, Notaries Public, etc.

Office—Grange block

Money to Loan at "lower than the lowest" rates
H. M. DEROCHE, Q. C. 5.1y J. H. MADDEN

MORDEN & RUTTAN,

A MINISTER'S STORY

THE RAINFALL EXPERIENCE OF

MYSTERY OF A MAIDEN'S GIFT.

I was wrought by a maiden with fraudful

THE PAINFUL EXPERIENCE OF REV. C. H. BACKHUS.

For Five Months he was Helpless and Endured Agonizing Pains—Could neither Rise Up Nor Sit Down Without Aid—He Tells How He Found a Cure.

From the Tilsonburg Observer.

The Rev. C. H. Backhus is a resident of Bayham township, Elgin county, Ont., and there is probably no person in the county who is better known or more highly esteemed. He is a minister of the United Brethren Church. He also farms quite extensively, superintending the work and doing quite a share of it himself despite his advanced age. But he was not always able to exert himself as he can to-day, as a few years ago he underwent an illness that many feared would terminate his life. To a reporter who recently had a conversation with him the rev. gentleman gave the particulars of his illness and cure, with permission to make the statement public. The story as told by Rev. Mr. Backhus is substantially as follows:—About three years ago he was taken ill and the doctor who was called in pronounced his trouble an attack of la grippe. He did not appear to get any better and a second doctor was called in, but with no more satisfactory results, so far as a renewal of health was concerned. Following the la grippe, pains of an excruciating nature located themselves in his body. He grew weaker and weaker until at last he was perfectly helpless. He could not sit down nor rise from a sitting posture without assistance and when with this assistance he gained his feet he could hobble but a few steps when he was obliged to be put in a chair again. For five months these agonizing pains were endured. But at last relief so long delayed came. A friend urged him to try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. He yielded to the advice and had not been taking them long when the longed for relief was noticed coming. He could move more easily, and the stiffness and pains began to leave his joints. He continued the use of the pills for some time longer and the cure was complete. Seeing Mr. Backhus now, it would be difficult to think of him as the crippled and helpless man of those painful days. Mr. Backhus is now past his 80th year, but as he said, "by the aid of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills I am as able as those ten years younger. You can readily judge of this when I tell you I laid forty rods of rail fence this year. I am glad to add my testimony in favor of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills."

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills strike at the root of the disease, driving it from the system and restoring the patient to health and strength. In cases of paralysis, spinal troubles, locomotor ataxia, sciatica, rheumatism, erysipelas, scrofulous troubles, etc. these pills are superior to all other treatment. They are also a specific for the troubles which make the lives of so many women a burden, and speedily restore the rich glow of health to pale and sallow cheeks. Men broken down by over-work, worry or excesses, will find in Pink Pills a certain cure. Sold by all dealers or sent by mail postpaid, at 50c. a box or six boxes for $2.50, by addressing the Dr. Williams' Medicine Company, Brockville, Ont., or Schenectady, N. Y. Beware of imitations and substitutes alleged to be "just as good."

WONDERFUL.

Piles Cured in 3 to 6 nights—Itching, Burning Skin Diseases Relieved in One Day.

Dr. Agnew's Ointment will cure all cases of itching piles in three to six nights. One application brings comfort. For blind and bleeding piles it is peerless. Also cures salt rheum, eczema, barbers' itch, and all eruptions of the skin. Relieves in a day. 35 cents. Sold By A. W. Grange & Bro.

white hands,
Who painted my sides in a day,
And stitched me with silk and bedecked me me with bands
And afterward sent me away.

I went through the mail with her card in my grasp,
To a bachelor who lived near,
And when he beheld me he gave quite a gasp
And sighed o'er the message of cheer.

Then she, with her dainty and feminine pen,
Had written above her fair name,
And he looked me all over again and again
With a look that was ever the same.

"Oh, tell me," he muttered; "for I must reply
To the one who has wrought with such grace,
Are you to hold photos? Are you a necktie?
Or are you a handkerchief case?

"Maybe you're a tool bag to tie on a wheel,
Or a mat for a swell jardiniere,
Your name and vocation now straightway reveal,"
And his voice was the voice of despair.

But how could I tell? For she didn't tell me,
So she wrote an acknowledgement fit
To express his surprise and his absolute glee,
And referred to me all through as "it."

YOUNG LOVE ON ICE.

A Swain's Ruse That Proved to Be Eminently Just the Thing.

Charles William Perkins and Margaret Hepzibah Kissam skated rapidly over the frozen surface of the river.

Charles William was in love with Margaret. Words of burning passion sprang to his lips, but instead of saying, "I love you," he merely said: "'Pears like as if it would snow."

She said she thought it would, but somehow this did not satisfy him. He longed to draw her to his heart, to hold her in his arms. Why should he not do it? He had the arms and the necessary strength. But how was he to go about it?

And idea caught him, and you may be sure it was a swift one, for Charles William was a rapid youth—on skates.

Throwing out his manly right foot, he deftly kicked Margaret's skates from under her.

Oh, joy! Oh, rapture! He catches her as she falls and holds her in his arms.

She lies in his embrace without a struggle. Has she fainted? Is she too overcome with embarrassment to speak? Will she turn upon and rebuke him for his perfidious conduct?

He almost wishes he had not done it. Yet he cannot drop his precious burden. Oh, no! Charles William knows a good thing when he has it, and in this case, at least, he will hold on until they have stopped sliding and have recovered their balance.

At last they bring up with a jar against a bank. He tremulously ventures to look into her face. Will she ever forgive him?

"I say, Charley," she murmurs, why didn't you do that half a mile back?"

As to the Police.

Artless One—Isn't it strange that they should choose for members of the police force men who are so heavy that they are unable to run with any approach of speed?

Sophisticated One—Not at all; if they were sprinters they would be able to get away from a disturbance much quicker than they now can.—Boston Transcript.

Her Selection.

"How did you happen to insure in that particular company?"

"I consulted the wishes of my wife."

"Of course; that's very praiseworthy. But—does she know anything about life insurance companies?"

"Yes. She investigated and found that this one always issues the prettiest calendars."—Washington Star.

Why It Didn't.

Mrs. Rumpus—You want a meal, a big, strong fellow like you? Does your conscience never trouble you, making such a request?

Casey De Bidder—Naw'm; me conscience is like meself, it's quit workin'.—Cleveland Leader.

Had No Chance to Observe.

"Do you believe there is anything in the saying that it is always darkest just before dawn?"

"I don't know anything about it. We've got a baby at our house, and have to keep the light burning all night."—Cleveland Leader.

quality has been known to change hands at from $2000 to $3000.

The name of Amati was borne by a large family of violinmakers at Cremona, in Italy, during the sixteenth and seventeenth centuries. Cremona was at that time the heart of a rich agricultural district and had many wealthy churches and monasteries. It was, therefore, a greate musical and artistic center, and for two centuries enjoyed almost a monopoly of the manufacture not only of violins but of violas, violoncellos, basses, mandolins, guitars and other stringed instruments. The Amatis were the founders of violinmaking in Cremona, and one of the most famous of the family was Nicola, or Nicolo. Cremona continued to be famous for its violins till about 1760, the names of Stradivari, Guarneri, Landolfi and Serafin being almost as famous as that of Amati. The value of the violin depends altogether on its qualities and in no degree on the name of the maker, nor on ornamentation. There is a common superstition that every violin bearing the name of one of the great Cremona makers is a treasure from that circumstance alone, but the fact is that the violins of Cremona are very unequal, and while some are practically priceless, others are worthless save as curios; not a few, even of those made by Amati and Stradivari, being too weak to bear the strain incident upon the high pitch of the present day.

Why, it may be asked, was the violin called a fiddle? The violin is said to be the modern form of the viola da braccio, a small viol supported on the arm. It differed from the true viol in having the back as well as the front arched, in the number of strings and in various technical points. Earlier than the viol were the troubadour's instruments known variously as gieges, crowds, rebecks and fidels. They were rested on the shoulder and played with deeply curved bows, and were much smaller than the modern violin. Originally they were so small that they produced only shrill notes, fit to accompany boys' voices; to get deeper tones for men's voices larger instruments were used, and from them came the viols, and from the viols the violin was refined. The name fiddle, though now used almost always contemptuously or humorously, is the proper English name for the violin. The word comes from the middle Latin vitula, a fiddle, and it is found also in the Teutonic languages in various forms.

Paganini was the most remarkable genius with the violin that the world ever knew. His technique was something wonderful, but mere technique would never have accomplished the results he obtained, nor would it have thrown the musical world into spasms of admiration as he did. The accounts of his playing seem almost incredible. With the first note the audience was spell-bound and remained so to the last. From the violin he drew tones which were unsuspected to exist, and invented and played passages believed to be impossible. Moore said: "Paganini can play divinely, and does so for a minute or so, then come his tricks and surprises, his bow in convulsions, his enharmonics like the mewing of an expiring cat." The main technical features of Paganini's playing were his unfailing intonations, his wonderful rapidity and a command never equalled of harmonics. He was wonderfully tricky, however, and often accomplished effects not understood even by experts, by tuning his violin in a different manner from that usually employed. A certain trick passage running up two octaves while holding B flat seems to be impossible to the ordinary violinist, but, it is said, by tuning a semi-tone higher the passage presents no unusual difficulty. He never allowed anyone to hear him tune his violin, and when professional people attempted to solve the problem of his playing by requesting him to play in private he invariably contrived, in some way or other, to disappoint their expectations. The secret of his execution died with him, and he has never been equalled as a violinist.

Undoubtedly.

Fred—"What do you think of this case where a man was fined $20 for kissing a girl?" Dolly—"I think he got the wrong girl."—Philadelphia North American.

To-day and until 1st of Feby. special reductions in stoves tinware and lamp goods, Boyle & Son.

Tobacco Heart. Much heart and nerve weakness is caused by undue use of tea, coffee, or tobacco; palpitation, nervousness, irritability, excitability, lack of confidence, etc., are sure symptoms. Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills bring ready relief, by steadying the nerve and regulating the heart. They are a true heart and nerve food.

Barristers, Solicitors, etc.

Solicitors for the Merchant's Bank of Canada etc., etc.
Dundas Street, Napanee.
G. F. RUTTAN.
Private funds to loan at five per cent.

A. S. ASHLEY,
DENTIST
16 Years in Napanee.
34 Years Experience.
Rooms, - Albert Block, - Napanee

DENTISTS
C. D. WARTMAN, L.D.S.
C. H. WARTMAN, D.D.S.
Graduates of the Royal College of Dental Surgeons of Ontario, and graduate of Toronto University.
OFFICE—LEONARD BLOCK,
Visits made to Tamworth the first Monday in each month, remaining over Tuesday. Rooms at Wheeler's Hotel.
All other Mondays C. D. Wartman will be in Yarker.
Napanee office open every day.

THE ROYAL HOTEL,
Dundas Street, Napanee.
H. HUNTER, Prop.
This commodious hotel is centrally situated having every convenience for the travelling and business public. Large yard and sheds for farmers.
Good table, best of wines liquors, and cigars
The comfort of guests is made a first consideration.

REAL ESTATE AND INSURANCE.
I have several good farms of 50, 100 and 200 acres, at most moderate prices, and very easy terms of payment.
Several dwellings in the Town of Napanee.
Farm lands and city lots in Manitoba.
Insurance in Stock and Mutual Companies.
Money to loan at 5 per cent. on good Real Estate property. Apply to
M. C. BOGART,
4:tf Napanee.

New Grocery and Provision Store.
S. C. DENISON has refitted his shop, Centre st. (formerly occupied by Robt. Denison and Lewis Vanblaricom) and has opened up a fresh stock, including everything in the line of choice Groceries, Flour, Feed, Wood, etc. Goods promptly delivered to any part of the town. Satisfaction guaranteed.

JAS. AYLESWORTH,
General Business Agent.
POLICE MAGISTRATE for the Provincial Electoral District of Addington.
Conveyancer,
Issuer of Marriage Licenses,
Commissioner, etc., in H.C.J.
Clerk, 7th Division Court, of the County of Lennox & Addington
TAMWORTH.

WANTED SALESMEN.
We want one or two men in each County to take orders for Nursery Stock, and are willing to pay well for good work. We agree to REPLACE FREE anything that dies from natural causes. We also have a choice line of SEED POTATOES GIVE US A TRIAL.
THE HAWKS NURSERY, CO.
ROCHESTER, N. Y.

ACCIDENTS WILL HAPPEN.

But this time it was a God-Send to Mr. John Brown, a G.A.R. Veteran, of 2446 Marshall St., Philadelphia—Dodged shot and shell in the interest of His Country, only to be attacked by that insidious disease, Catarrh—But Dr. Agnew's Catarrhal Powder Cured and Permanently, too—This is what he says;

"By a mere accident I came across Dr. Agnew's Catarrhal Powder. I was a great sufferer from that dread malady—catarrh. To-day it gives me unbounded pleasure to state for suffering humanity's sake that this wonderful remedy effected a speedy and permanent cure in my case, and I have been so thankful for it that I am willing to spend the remainder of my days in spreading the good news to my fellow sufferers." Sold by A. W. Grange & Bro.

CASTORIA.
The fac-simile signature of Chas. H. Fletcher is on every wrapper.

Cheapside.

Monday, February 1st

we commence our annual stock-taking, and rather than pack away any winter goods they will be sold at the lowest possible price.

WE HAVE NO SHELF WORN GOODS TO OFFER.

We would draw your special attention to our Ordered Clothing department. We can give you the best of goods to select from and at prices which will suit the closest buyers.

A FIT GUARANTEED.

GIVE US A TRIAL.

W. MOWAT, Proprietor.

Provincial Building and Loan Association, Toronto.

Local Advisory Board at Napanee.

President, M. S. Madole Esq; Vice Pres., G. W. Gibbard Esq., F. W. Morris, T. D. Pruyn, J. J. Taylor, Chas. Frizzell, Dr. G. W Edwards, W. P. Deroche. Solicitors Messrs. Deroche and Madden. Valuator, W. Embury; Sect. Treasurer and Agent, Irvine Parks.

from whom all information can be obtained. Money received on investment at good interest, and money loaned on easy terms of repayment.

Apply to I. Parks. Agent.

FARMERS ATTENTION.

Insure your property in the Lennox and Addington Mutual Fire Insurance Company.
Because it is a Home Company.
Because it is a Safe Company.
Because it is the cheapest and best.
Because it affords the most liberal policies to patrons.
Because it insures only (isolated) non-hazardous risks, as farm property, county churches halls and school houses.
Because it is the Farmer's Company managed by Farmers in the interest of farmers of the Counties of Lennox and Addington, Hastings Frontenac, Lanark and Leeds

Officers—J. B. Aylsworth President; B. C. Lloyd, Vice-President. Directors—A. C. Parks, U. C. Sills, W. R. Gordanier, I. F. Aylesworth. Honorary Directors—Jas. Reid, M.P.P., A. V. Price, Camden. C. R. Allison, Wm. Chesters, Fredericksburgh. D. W. Allison ex-M.P. Adolphustown; F. B. Guess, Col. Geo. Hunter Kingston; Allan Pringle, Ira. B. Hudgins, Richmond. The board meets at the Secretarie's office in the first Saturday of every month at one p.m.

J. N. McKim, Napanee.
N. A. Caton, Napanee
Thos. B. Wilson, Newburgh
} Agents

M. C. BOGART Sec'y.-Treas.

Wanted.

A MAN To sell Canadian and U. S. grown trees, berry plants, roses, shrubs, hedges, ornamental trees, and seed potatoes, for the only nursery having testing orchards in Canada. We give you the benefit of our experience, so your success is guaranteed. If you are not earning $50 per month and expenses, write us at once for

B B B

Unlocks all the clogged avenues of the Bowels, Kidneys and Liver, carrying off gradually, without weakening the system, all the impurities and foul humors of the secretions; at the same time Correcting Acidity of the Stomach, curing Biliousness, Dyspepsia, Headaches, Dizziness, Heartburn, Constipation, Dryness of the Skin, Dropsy, Dimness of Vision, Jaundice, Salt Rheum, Erysipelas, Scrofula, Fluttering of the Heart, Nervousness and General Debility; all these and many other similar complaints yield to the happy influence of BURDOCK BLOOD BITTERS.

For Sale by all Druggists.

T. MILBURN & Co., TORONTO.

BRISTOL'S
BRISTOL'S
BRISTOL'S
Sarsaparilla
and
SUGAR COATED BILLS

The Greatest of all Liver, Stomach and Blood Medicines.

A SPECIFIC FOR
Rheumatism, Gout and Chronic Complaints.

They Cleanse and Purify the Blood

"I DIDN'T THINK."

If all the troubles in the world,
Were traced back to their start,
We'd find not one in ten begun
From want of willing heart.
But there's a sly woe-working elf
Who lurks about youth's brink,
And sure dismay he brings always—
The elf "I didn't think."

He seems so sorry when he's caught,
His mien is all contrite,
He so regrets the woe he's wrought,
And wants to make things right,
But wishes do not heal a wound,
Or weld a broken link,
The heart aches on, the link is gone—
All through "I did't think."

I half believe that ugly sprite,
Bold, wicked "I don't care,"
In life's long run less harm has done
Because he is so rare,
And one can be so stern with him,
Can make the monster shrink;
But lack-a-day, what can we say,
To whining "Didn't think?"

This most unpleasant imp of strife
Pursues us everywhere,
There's scarcely one whole day of life
He does not cause us care;
Small woes and great he brings the world,
Strong ships are forced to sink,
And trains from iron tracks are hurled
By stupid "Didn't think."

When brain is comrade to the heart,
And heart from soul draws grace,
"I didn't think" will quick depart
For lack of resting place
If from that great unselfish stream,
The Golden Rule, we drink,
We'll keep God's laws and have no cause
To say: "I didn't think."

—ELLA WHEELER WILCOX.

We wish we could make everybody believe that promptness is prevention; that there should be no delay when you are losing flesh and when you are pale, especially if a cough be present. The continued use of Scott's Emulsion in the early stages of lung affections does prevent the development of Consumption. Your doctor will tell you this is true and we state it without wishing to make any false claims or false promises. Free book tells more on the subject.

SCOTT & BOWNE, Belleville, Ont.

A MERRY PURITAN.

The long Puritan service ended, four girls somewhat in advance of the congregation strolled homeward through the brilliant May sunshine.

"What a beautiful day!" cried Ruth Benning.

"Perfect," added Salome Endicott.

"It used to be like this in England," said little Peace Morley, wistfully.

"Why so silent, Dorothy?" asked Salome, addressing the fourth girl, who had not yet spoken.

Dorothy Penrhyn looked up quickly. She was charmingly pretty, with black glossy hair and large, dark, mischievous eyes.

"Let us keep May day," she exclaimed with sudden energy.

"How can we?" asked Salome. "You afraid of him. Poor fellow! I suppose he must obey orders."

She went boldly down and opened the door. Capt. Winthrop, tall, dignified, with blue eyes and fair hair and beard, bowed low on seeing her.

"Will you enter?" said Dorothy, bracing herself for the interview.

"I called, Mistress Penrhyn," began Capt. Winthrop, evidently in some confusion, "to see—"

"Yes," interrupted Dorothy; "I know. I was expecting you. What are you going to do?"

"I cannot tell yet," he answered. "I must first consult—"

"What an idiotic proceeding!" cried Dorothy, with spirit. "Where was the harm in it, after all?"

"Harm?" repeated Capt. Winthrop, in perplexity.

"Yes, harm!" insisted Dorothy. "We really must have some amusement, you know."

"I don't think I understand," said Winthrop, with a puzzled look.

"Why, didn't you come to—" She paused, crimson with sudden shame. "Then I should not have spoken," she time men. Farmers' sons should look into this! It pays better than working on the farm and offers a chance for promotion. Apply now and get choice of territory.

STONE & WELLINGTON,
Toronto, Canada.

SALESMEN WANTED.

Pushing, trustworthy men to represent us in the sale of our Choice Nursery Stock. Specialties controlled by us. Highest Salary or Commission paid weekly. Steady employment the year round. Outfit free; exclusive territory; experience not necessary; big pay assured workers; special inducements to beginners. Write at once for particulars to

ALLEN NURSERY CO.,
ROCHESTER, N. Y.

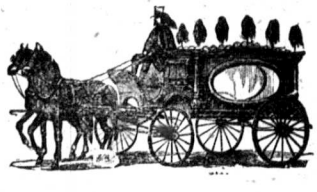
FOR SALE!

Large tract of good garden land in South Eastern Florida. AGENTS WANTED to sell options. Apply quick.

FLORIDA GARDEN LAND CO.
Rochester, N. Y.

Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry cure Diarrhœa, Dysentery, Cramps, Colic, Cholera Morbus, Cholera Infantum, and all looseness of the bowels. Never travel without it. Price 35c.

All Druggists and General Dealers.



M. STORMS,

MOSCOW

has been over fifty years in the undertaking business in the county, and can turn out work equal to any in the Dominion.

A large stock of Coffins, Caskets, Robes, Crape Gloves and Badges, constantly on hand, and sold at reasonable prices.

Embalming a Specialty. Every facility on hand for doing the work.

25 per cent cheaper than any in the trade. Give me a call at Moscow.

M. STORMS, Prop

THE ... E. B. EDDY CO.'S Matches

Every-thing that is Good in Matches is contained in

That's why so many people use them

HULL
MONTREAL
TORONTO
QUEBEC
ST. JOHN, N.B.
HAMILTON

HALIFAX
VANCOUVER
VICTORIA
KINGSTON
WINNIPEG
ST. JOHNS, N.F.

Bay of Quinte Railway and Navigation Company

GENERAL PASSENGER TIME TABLE,

Eastern Standard Time. No. 13 Taking effect Dec. 2nd, 1895

Tweed and Tamworth to Napanee and Deseronto.

	Stations	Miles	No.2 A.M.	No.4 P.M.	No.6 P.M.
Lve	Tweed		6 50	....	3 00
	Stoco	3	6 58	....	3 10
	Larkins	7	7 10	....	3 25
	Marlbank	13	7 25	....	3 40
	Erinsville	17	7 40	....	3 55
	Tamworth	20	7 50	2 00	4 10
	Wilson*	24	....	....	....
	Enterprise	26	8 10	2 20	4 30
	Mudlake Bridge*	28	....	....	....
	Moscow	31	8 22	2 35	4 43
	Galbraith*	33	....	....	....
Arr	Yarker	35	8 35	....	4 55
Lve	Yarker	35	9 00	2 50	5 10
	Camden East	39	9 13	3 02	5 23
	Thomson's Mills	40	9 18	....	....
	Newburgh	41	9 23	3 15	5 30
	Napanee Mills	42	9 33	3 25	5 40
Arr	Napanee	49	9 50	3 40	5 55
Lve	Napanee	49	....	....	6 15
	Deseronto Junction	54	....	....	6 30
Arr	Deseronto	58	....	....	6 45

Deseronto and Napanee to Tamworth and Tweed.

	Stations.	Miles	No.1. A.M.	No.3. P.M.	No.5 P.M.
Lve	Deseronto	0	6 50	....	....
	Deseronto Junction	4	7 10	....	....
Arr	Napanee	9	7 25	....	....
Lve	Napanee	9	7 45	12 00	4 20
	Napanee Mills	15	8 00	12 15	4 35
	Newburgh	17	8 10	12 23	4 42
	Thomson's Mills*	18	8 20	....	....
	Camden East	19	8 33	12 30	4 50
Arr	Yarker	23	8 43	....	5 00
Lve	Yarker	23	9 00	12 45	5 15
	Galbraith*	25	....	....	....
	Moscow	27	9 15	1 00	5 27
	Mudlake Bridge*	30	....	....	....
	Enterprise	31	9 30	1 15	5 40
	Wilson*	34	....	....	....
	Tamworth	38	9 50	1 35	5 58
	Erinsville	41	10 00	....	6 10
	Marlbank	45	10 15	....	6 23
	Larkins	51	10 30	....	6 40
	Stoco	55	10 50	....	6 50
Arr	Tweed	58	11 00	....	7 00

Kingston and Sydenham to Napanee and Deseronto.

	Stations.	Miles	No.2. A.M.	No.4. P.M.	No.6. P.M.
Lve	Kingston	0	....	....	3 30
	G. T. R. Junction	2	....	....	3 40
	Glenvale*	10	....	....	4 00
	Murvale*		....	....	4 10
Arr	Harrowsmith	19	....	....	4 30
Lve	Sydenham	23	8 00	....	....
	Harrowsmith	19	8 20	....	4 30
	Frontenac*	23	8 32	....	4 40
Arr	Yarker	26	8 40	....	4 50
Lve	Yarker	26	9 00	2 50	5 10
	Camden East	30	9 13	3 02	5 23
	Thomson's Mills*	31	9 18	....	....
	Newburgh	32	9 23	3 15	5 30
	Napanee Mills	34	9 33	3 25	5 40
Arr	Napanee	40	9 50	3 40	5 55
Lve	Napanee, West End	40	....	....	6 15
	Deseronto Junction	45	....	....	6 30
Arr	Deseronto	49	....	....	6 45

Deseronto and Napanee to Sydenham and Kingston.

	Stations	Miles.	No.1 A.M.	No.3. P.M.	No.5 P.M.
Lve	Deseronto	0	6 50	....	....
	Deseronto Junction	4	7 10	....	....
Arr	Napanee	9	7 25	....	....
Lve	Napanee	9	7 45	12 00	4 20
	Napanee Mills	15	8 00	12 15	4 35
	Newburg	17	8 10	12 23	4 42
	Thomson's Mills*	18	8 15	....	....
	Camden East	19	8 20	12 30	4 50
Arr	Yarker	23	8 33	12 45	5 00
Lve	Yarker	23	8 50	....	5 20
	Frontenac*	27	9 00	....	5 27
Arr	Harrowsmith	30	9 05	....	5 40
	Sydenham	34	....	....	5 55
Lve	Harrowsmith	30	9 05	....	....
	Murvale*	35	9 20	....	....
	Glenvale*	39	9 30	....	....
	G. T. R. Junction	47	9 55	....	....
Arr	Kingston	49	10 00	....	....

B. G. CARTER, Asst. Gen. Manager

G. A. BROWNE, Gen. Pass. Agent

H. B. SHERWOOD Superintendent

came here.

"But we didn't come here of our own free will," returned Dorothy. "What harm can there be in a dance around a maypole? Why is everyone so afraid of a little enjoyment?"

"Of course you are jesting," said Ruth, seizing on the idea. "So, to continue the joke, I will ask, when and where is this celebration to occur?"

"In the training field at sunrise tomorrow," Dorothy answered, promptly. "Indeed, Ruth, I am not jesting.

Ruth and Salome smiled. Peace looked troubled.

"You can invite your sister to join us, Peace," Dorothy went on quickly, "and you others must ask your friends. I am really in earnest. But you mustn't tell anyone except the girls. Bring just as many as you can. We shall have at least one thoroughly good time."

Dorothy's enthusiasm was contagious. Her companions caught it in spite of themselves. When they parted at Ruth's gate they all, even Peace, had promised Dorothy to be ready at the appointed time for the forbidden pleasure.

The dawning of the following day found the girls and their friends assembled upon the training field just outside the primitive Boston settlement. They brought long linen strips for ribbons, and the slender trunk of a dead sapling served as maypole.

It was so early that no one was stirring. The newly risen sun smiled unheeded upon their bit of stolen revelry; upon the dresses brushing dew from the grass in the graceful dance; upon Dorothy Penrhyn, merriest of the group, with her laughter, her sparkling eyes, her delightful color and quick, airy movements, the grim Puritans forgotten as she joined in the gay pastime.

Suddenly came the sound of voices and of approaching footsteps. The girls ceased their dance in consternation. Then Salome Endicott remembered that this was the day for the monthly muster of soldiers under Capt. Roger Winthrop.

The revelers fled precipitately. Dorothy lingered only to tear the linen strips from the improvised maypole, then, trailing them after her, hastened down the sloping field in pursuit of her companions. She was not afraid of the young captain. She had met him often; but she had no wish to meet him under present circumstances.

Behind an alder group they paused for breath and consultation.

"Do you think they saw us?" asked Ruth Benning. "Capt. Winthrop is very strict in his ideas, they say."

Salome Endicott was out of temper from running. Most of the others were terrified by Ruth's words. Dorothy alone showed vexation at being interrupted.

"They might have waited till we finished," she said, in disgust. "It was too bad to spoil our sport in that fashion."

When the girls had reduced to order the chaos of ribbons they went home in some anxiety.

"I am so sorry for it all," Peace confessed to Dorothy the next day. "If we are found out what do you think the magistrates will do?"

"I neither know nor care," answered Dorothy, defiantly. "Send us back to England, I hope. I am going, anyway, as soon as I can."

"Why, Dorothy!"

"I am," repeated Dorothy.

"A vessel leaves the day after tomorrow," suggested Peace. "You can go in that."

"I'll do it," said the girl.

She had suddenly become discontented with Boston and with Puritan ways. She longed for England, for her grandfather's house, where she had lived till her parents brought her to America.

Her plans for the journey were soon made. The captain of the vessel was a friend of her father. Under his care she would sail directly for Southampton. She went to her room, and began resolutely packing her box. While she was mentally composing a note to be left for her parents, who were away from home, she heard a knock at the front door. Peeping out, with an over-present fear of Indians, she saw Capt. Winthrop below.

"Perhaps he is coming to arrest me," she said to herself. "But I am not

"I came to see your father in regard to strengthening our defences," he said. "But you have raised my curiosity. What is it, Dorothy? Tell me."

"You won't betray me?" she asked, after a little hesitation.

"Certainly not."

"Well; then, we girls had a maypole dance in the training field just before muster."

"You danced! Oh, Dorothy!"

"Yes, You needn't attempt to punish me, for I am going to England, where there are no Puritans to spoil my pleasure. My box is packed. I shall leave at once."

"And what is to become of me?" asked Roger Winthrop, with a glance that made Dorothy look at him in a startled way, then cover her face with her hands.

Half an hour later, when everything had been satisfactorily arranged, Dorothy said, regretfully. "I suppose I must remain a Puritan after all, and never dance again, since you disapprove of it so. But," with an arch glance, "I have had one genuine celebration, and I shall never regret it, Roger, whatever you may think."

"I think I am the happiest man in the world," said the captain.

AQUARELLE.

A moorland margin of the sea
With gypsy roses overrun;
Above it all a blue sky free,
Where walks the golden sun.

Gray rocks, and dunes of silver sand,
Beyond—one sail of purple shows;
And drowsily across the land,
The pine's fresh fragrance blows.

Here is the paradise of rest,
Of peace the pinnacle supreme;
Lie down upon the earth's warm breast
And yield you to her dream!

—FRANK DEMPSTER SHERMAN.

REPORTING.

The Old Reporter sat at his desk at midnight, clipping his work out of a file of Sunday edition with a big pair of shears. The Young Reporter, who had just turned in his account of "The Day at the Beaches—Bath Beach," stopped and gazed with envious eyes at the pile of clippings as it grew under the Old Reporter's skilful scissoring.

"So that was your story, was it?" exclaimed the Young Reporter, as a half-column slip came fluttering down. "Well, that accounts for it. Nobody but a man with a pull like yours could have got that yarn past old Crofton."

"Which yarn?" queried the Old Reporter.

"Oh, that fake about the bicyclist who always carried a lot of spare ball-bearings around with him, and was going somewhere with a shot gun, and was attacked by a bear, and loaded the ball-bearings into his shot-gun and killed the bear. I don't wonder that people distrust the newspapers if men of your standing in the profession are willing to write stuff like that for the sake of the few paltry dollars it will bring in. Can't you see that it is just such things as this that are making journalism a byword and a reproach?"

The Young Reporter was very much in earnest, as from afar his eye followed the relentless course of the copy-reader's blue pencil through his carefully prepared copy—"manuscript," he called it.

"My young friend," said the Old Reporter, "I admire your enthusiasm, and I approve your sentiments. It is just such a spirit as yours among the best of the younger men that will always tend to raise higher and higher the already lofty standard of what you

Back-Ache, Face-Ache, Sciatic Pains, Neuralgic Pains, Pain in the Side, etc.

Promptly Relieved and Cured by

The "D. & L." Menthol Plaster

Having used your D. & L. Menthol Plaster for severe pain in the back and lumbago, I unhesitatingly recommend same as a safe, sure and rapid remedy; in fact, they act like magic.—A. LAPOINTE, Elizabethtown, Ont.

Price 25c.

DAVIS & LAWRENCE CO., LTD.
Proprietors, MONTREAL.

are, however, certain of your statements to which I take exception. In the first place, journalism is not a profession; it is a trade, or a business. In the second place, I am not a journalist; I'm a reporter. In the third place, as to the paltry dollars, I'm not in the business for my health, nor for any other consideration than that which actuates men in other kinds of business.

"As to the story of which you complain, it is a fake, as you say; I confess it. But perhaps when you hear the true version of it you will think I was justified in making the changes that I did, and you will learn that it is not so much the things which a man puts in as the things which he leaves out that make the successful reporter.

"This is what really happened:

"The man's name was O'Grady, and he lived in Troy. He had borrowed a bicycle to go on a hunting trip through New England. He had a shotgun. Th's he carried slung to the frame in the manner adopted by military cyclists. But he had no luck. He travelled as far as Claremont, New Hampshire, without bagging so much as a robin. This filled him with disappointment, which he did not like, so he proceeded to substitute for it whiskey, which he did not like.

"While he was in this frame of mind darkness overtook him, a few miles out of the little village of Newport. The road was rough, and lay through thick woods.

"Suddenly O'Grady was horrified to see a large animal come out from the bushes by the road-side. A moment's glance was sufficient to convince him that he was confronted by a bear of unusual dimensions. He was startled, but not surprised, as he had been informed by a number of the leading citizens of Newport, whom he had met at the tavern, that at least several bears had been committing depredations recently in the neighborhood.

"O'Grady was a quick thinker, and like a flash he thought he would stop. With O'Grady to think was to act and he applied the brake with such force that he was enabled to dismount without assistance over the handle-bars. While he was still in the air he remembered that he had left his shotgun strapped to his machine. So the instant he landed he ran back to get it.

"He rapidly undid the fastenings, though he realized too well that the bird-shot with which his fowling-piece was loaded would offer but an inadequate obstacle to the onslaught of bruin, which continued to approach him, uttering wierd cries.

"He wished that he had brought some rifle balls for just such an emergency. Then, like lightning, the association of the two ideas of 'balls' and 'bears' made him think of the ball-bearings of the bicycle. In a second he had his wrench out and the fork off, and was ramming sixteen finest tool steel balls down on the charge, with a bit of tire tape for a wad.

"Not an instant too soon. The bear was now close upon him, and throwing his piece to his shoulder, O'Grady took hasty aim and fired. To his unspeakable relief, the shots took effect, and with a plaintive 'Moo' the bear fell to the ground. At the same moment a light flashed out from a window to his right, and O'Grady saw that his adventure had taken place directly in front of a large farm-house sheltered by some noble elms. A second glance revealed the fact that what he had in the excitement of the moment mistaken for a bear, was a fine Holstein heifer, which was tethered to the hitching-post with a long rope.

"The sounds of men's voices, and the barking of a number of dogs, which followed closely upon the sound of the shot and the appearance of the light, caused O'Grady to think that he had better be getting along to some place from which he could send his explanations by mail.

"Only two methods of escape occurred to him—one way was on foot and the other by bicycle. But on foot he would be too nearly on even terms with possible pursuers, and it was obviously not possible to ride his bicycle without its ball-bearings. With rare presence of mind, O'Grady whipped out his knife, and rushing to the dead

A woman's looking glass does not lie to her. If she looks carefully and owns the truth to herself, she will acknowledge that it shows to her, as it shows to others, a face full of the ugliness of suffering and pain. If a woman wants her mirror to reflect a pain-free face she should take proper care of her womanly self. She should see that the organs that are distinctly feminine are kept free from weakness and disease. By this means only can a woman remain fresh-looking and attractive.

Women may erase from their faces the lines of suffering by using Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. Over 90,000 women have testified in writing to its marvelous merits. It acts directly on the womanly organs. It makes them strong and healthy. It cures all weakness and disease. It allays inflammation, soothes pain, and calms and steadies and invigorates the pain-racked nerves. It prepares for wifehood and motherhood, It does away with the discomforts of the expectant period. It insures baby's health and makes its advent easy and almost painless. All good druggists sell it.

"I am going to write and tell you the benefits I have received from taking your medicines," writes Mrs. J. B. Clough, Box 203, Lisbon, Grafton Co., N. Hampshire. "I am the mother of a nice baby four and a half months old. He is a perfect child and weighs about eighteen pounds. If you remember I wrote you about a year ago about my condition. I cannot give too much praise to your 'Favorite Prescription' as it saved me a great deal of suffering. I got along remarkably well, this being my first baby."

"Knowledge is power." In a thorough knowledge of the human body lies the power that will at last stamp out weakness of the body and mediocrity of mentality. Dr. Pierce has taken a long look into the future through his "Common Sense Medical Adviser." It is full of just such knowledge as will do the family the most good. This book of over 1000 pages and finely illustrated has had an unprecedented sale. About 700,000 copies have been sold at $1.50 per volume. Now it can be had in paper covers for 21 cents in one-cent stamps. In fine cloth for 50 stamps, customs and postage pre-paid. Address, World's Dispensary Medical Association, Buffalo, N. Y.

THE GOVERNMENT OF THE DOMINION.

THE CANADIAN CONSTITUTION AND HOW IT WORKS.

The Powers of the Dominion and of the Several Provinces—The Senate and the House of Commons—The Governor-General and His Powers.

The Canadian system of Government is a Federal Union, having a general or central government controlling all matters essential to the general development, the permanency and the unity of the whole Dominion and a number of local or provincial Governments, having the control and management of certain matters naturally and conveniently falling within the defined jurisdiction, while each Government is administered in accordance with the British system of parliamentary institutions.

Canada is consequently a semi-independent power. The powers vested in the Parliament of Canada are set forth in the Confederation Act, which provides that the Queen, with the advice and consent of the Senate and House of Commons, may make laws for the peace, order and good government of Canada in relation to all matters not coming within the class of subjects assigned by this Act exclusively to the Legislatures of the provinces, and for greater certainty it is declared that the exclusive legislative authority of the Parliament of Canada extends to all matters coming within the following classes of subjects: The public debt and property; the regulation of trade and commerce; the raising of money by any mode or system of taxation; the borrowing of money on public credit; postal service; the census and statistics; militia, military and naval service and defence; the fixing of and providing for the salaries and allowances of civil and other officers of the Government of Canada; beacons, buoys, lighthouses and Sable Island; navigation and shipping; quarantine and the establishment and maintenance of marine hospitals; sea coast and inland fisheries; ferries between a province and any British or foreign country or between two provinces; currency and coinage; banking, incorporation of banks, and the issue of paper money; savings banks; weights and measures; bills of Senators are appointed by the Governor-General under the Great Seal upon the recommendation of his Council. They hold office for life, and must be of the full age of 30 years, and have real and personal property worth $4,000 over and above all liabilities.

The Senators from Quebec must reside in the electoral divisions for which they are appointed or have their property qualifications therein; in the case of other provinces, Senators are only required to reside and have their property qualification within the province limits. They must be natural born subjects of Her Majesty or become naturalized. The Speaker of the Senate is appointed by the Governor-in-Council. Fifteen members of the Senate, including the Speaker, constitute a quorum. Questions are decided by a majority of votes, the Speaker always having a vote, and when the voices are equal the decision is deemed to be in the negative.

No Senator can hold a seat in the House of Commons, nor can he sit in any Legislature of the several provinces, excepting in the case of the Legislative Council of Quebec.

Bills can originate in the Senate, excepting money or revenue bills, in which cases the action of the Senate is confined by usage to their rejection, which is justified only by extraordinary circumstances. At present the Senate consists of eighty-one members, twenty four each from Ontario and Quebec, ten each from Nova Scotia and New Brunswick, four each from Prince Edward Island and Manitoba, three from British Columbia, and two from the Northwest Territories.

The House of Commons, which is elected for a term of five years, unless sooner dissolved, consists at present of 215 members. This number is fixed under the provisions of the Act of Confederation, and the representation is re-arranged after every decennial census by Act of Parliament, the basis being that Quebec is always to have 65 representatives, and each of the other provinces such a number as will give the same proportion of representatives to its population as the number 65 bears to the population of Quebec, as ascertained by the census. British Columbia, however, is never to have less than six members.

Members of both Houses are paid an indemnity at the rate of $10 a day, if the session is less than thirty days, and a maximum amount of $1000 if more than thirty days, $8 a day being deducted for each day of absence (beyond a certain number of days fixed at each session) if the House is sitting, unless the absence is caused by sickness after he has been in attendance. They also receive a mileage allowance of ten cents a mile going and coming.

The salary of each Speaker is $4000 a year.

When a member of the House of Commons is called to the Government as head of a department, he must at once resign his seat and seek re election.

NICKNAMES FOR MONEY.

Small Pieces Bear Odd Designations—Some of Them Wongfully So.

Few people realize that every piece of money has a nickname. It has, however, and some of the names are very odd. The $100 note has but one nickname, but it is exceedingly appropriate as well as dignified. It needs no more, for there are thousands of persons in this country who have never seen a note of this denomination, says The New York Journal.

Everybody has seen small change, though, and the commonness of this species of money has suggested scores of sobriquets, appropriate and the reverse, grave and gay, effusively funny and humorously pathetic. The "nickel" as a name, was suggested by the common idea that this metal entered largely into the composition of the coin. It is a misnomer, as the piece contains 75 per cent. of copper and only 25 per cent. of the metal which gave it a name.

"Car-fares," a slang name for the same piece, illustrates the universality of this method of transportation, while "chicken feed," as a name not only for 5-cent pieces, but also for other small change, undoubtedly came from the rural districts. "Flipper-up" suggests a frequent use to which the nickel is placed in certain circles. "Picnics" and "picayunes" indicate the contempt more pretended than real, into which our smallest coins have fallen. The latter name, like "bit," preserves a morsel of history not familiar to general readers. "Picayune," now used as a synonym for the smallest value expressed in money terms, was once the name of a special coin. It was worth about one half cent, and at one time, during our colonial days, when all sorts of coins passed current at all sorts of valuations, circulated all

Good Blood

Is essential to health. Every nook and corner of the system is reached by the blood, and on its quality the condition of every organ depends. Good blood means strong nerves, good digestion, robust health. Impure blood means scrofula, dyspepsia, rheumatism, catarrh or other diseases. The surest way to have good blood is to take Hood's Sarsaparilla. This medicine purifies, vitalizes, and enriches the blood, and sends the elements of health and strength to every nerve, organ and tissue. It creates a good appetite, gives refreshing sleep and cures that tired feeling. Remember,

Hood's Sarsaparilla

Is the best—in fact the One True Blood Purifier.

Hood's Pills cure Liver Ills; easy to take, easy to operate. 25c.

SIMPLE GREENHOUSE.

Plans and Specifications For a Three-Quarter Span Structure.

The plans as here given represent a 3-4-span house, and will assist anyone to make a handsome greenhouse.

The size of the greenhouse is 12 feet wide by 20 feet long, and the boiler house six feet square. The glass used in the roof is 14 inches wide.

The greenhouse can be made with either wood or iron rafters and purlins. Iron is the better, as it makes a lighter house and lasts much longer than the wood. The rafters are made fast to iron foot pieces that extend into the ground, and run up to the ridge, which is also of iron; these are capped with cypress, in which to bed the glass. The ridges also receive a cap of the same wood. The sash bars are made of cypress.

PLAN OF GREENHOUSE.

The inside of the house can be sealed with cypress, then builder's paper should be put on, and the outside covered with novelty siding.

The ventilation shown on the plan is continuous and 30 inches wide, and is placed next to the ridge. It should be operated by a ventilating apparatus, such as can be purchased from any maker of greenhouse material.

The house is arranged with three benches or beds—one extending from the door along the front and end being two feet six inches wide, one down the center of the same height and three feet wide, and one against the back wall two feet wide. The back bench should be elevated, which will require the walk to be elevated also, which should be about the height of the middle bench, the supports for which will answer for the walk, by extending them through to the back wall.

The sides should be made of cypress and the bottom either of cypress or hemlock. The supports can be made of iron or cypress. If made of iron they will last a long time, the only thing requiring to be renewed being the sides and bottoms from time to time.

A boiler six feet square is attached to the greenhouse at one end. The roof can be made to slope to the back. There should be provided also a pit of sufficient depth to allow the top of the boiler to be below the flow pipes in the greenhouse. If this is not convenient the heating can be done without it, but the circulation would not be as good as if the boiler be as suggested. The bottom of the pit should be cemented and be supplied with drainage.

The heating can be accomplished by hot water heating pipes 3 1-2 inches in heifer, found that all sixteen shots had taken effect in the animal's heart. With a few dexterous cuts he removed that organ entire, and hurried back to his wheel, extracting the balls as he ran. Quickly replacing them, he readjusted the fork, reslung his gun, mounted his machine, and was off, just as an excited group of farmers appeared upon the scene Fortunately an angry dispute between two of the men, as to whether the one who had just sold the heifer or the one who had just bought it should bear the loss and follow the bovicide, enabled O'Grady to get a start that soon placed him out of harm's reach."

The Old Reporter stopped talking.

The Young Reporter looked at him with respect. "I did you an injustice," he said, "I think you were perfectly right to tone the story down."—Walker Aken, in Harper's Weekly.

MASSAGE BY MACHINE.

An Ingenious Device by Which the Electric Current Is Applied.

That there are still some new things under the sun is proved, says the New York Tribune, by the appearance recently of an ingeniously devised instrument that makes possible for the first time in medical annals anything like a satisfactory massaging of the nose, throat and ear. It is only within the last few years that the value of massage as applied to the mucous membranes of these organs has been appreciated, and not until the French savants took the subject up as a matter of fact was much interest felt in it. Even when the excellence of the treatment was admitted, it was almost impracticable, since the massage had to be "manual" and skilled operators were rare. The new instrument, invented by an American and a part of the outcome of the recent delving into electricity for medical purposes, solves the problem by working almost automatically and requiring little else than simple guidance.

It is electrovibratory in its operation; that is, a button and a spring work so as to turn on and shut off an electric current with great rapidity. This mechanism causes a vibration of the slendor rod of metal, on the farther end of which is a button coming directly into contact with the mucous membranes. Different shaped probes can be attached as occasion requires. What the new instrument achieves is extreme rapidity in its vibrations, their coming at regular intervals and the uniform intensity of the strokes. Without electricity these three conditions cannot be realized.

The instrument is extremely simple in construction. It is so light that it is easily held in the hand. A short cylinder or box holds two magnets, a rod designed to move forward and backward running between them, ending in front of the detachable probe. At its rear end is a metal plate, which is movable. On the neck of the apparatus is an ivory button, which, upon the pressure of the forefinger of the physician, closes the circuit. The metal plate is at that instant drawn forward by the magnet and the rod likewise. A fraction of a second later the metal plate reaches its foremost point, and the contact being interrupted is thrown back by a spring. The button being still held down by the finger, the circuit is immediately made again, and vibration follows vibration in swift order.

The operator generally illumines the parts he is about to work on, though this is not absolutely necessary. For the most effective treatment the probe is placed not at right angles to the place to be treated, but at an acute angle. Placed in this way it does not tap, but rubs.

Nothing Lost to the Dealer.

"Goodness!" exclaimed Mrs. Grumpy, "I bought a number of little things down town and lost them on my way home."

"Never mind, dear," said Grumpy, with a cold blooded sneer, "I'll find them in the bill."—Detroit Free Press.

She Had Reason To.

"Did you hear that pretty woman just now, Rap? She said she believed in long engagements and short marriages."

"Rather a strange idea."

"Not at all, Rap; she's an actress."

exchange and promissory notes; interest; legal tender; bankruptcy and insolvency; patents of invention and discovery; copyright; Indians and lands reserved for Indians; naturalization of aliens; marriage and divorce; criminal law, except the constitution of courts of criminal jurisdiction, but including the procedure in criminal matters; the establishment, maintenance and management of penitentiaries.

The Local Legislatures are empowered to make laws with regard to matters coming within the following classes of subjects: The amendment of the constitution of the province, except as regards the office of Lieutenant-Governor; direct taxation within the province in order to raise revenue for provincial purposes; the borrowing of money on the sole credit of the province; the establishment of provincial offices and payment of officers; the management and sale of the public lands belonging to the province and of the timber and wood thereon; the establishment, maintenance and management of public and reformatory prisons in and for the province; also of hospitals, asylums, charities and eleemosynary institutions other than marine hospitals; municipal institutions in the province; shop, saloon, tavern, auctioneer and other licenses, in order to the raising of a revenue for provincial, local or municipal purposes; local works and undertakings, other than railways, lines of steam or other ships, canals or telegraph, or other work or undertaking connecting the province with any other or others of the provinces, or extending beyond the limits of the provinces; the incorporation of companies with provincial objects; the solemnization of marriage in the province; property and civil rights in the province; the administration of justice in the province, including the constitution, maintenance and organization of the provincial courts, both of civil and criminal jurisdiction, and including procedure in these courts; the imposition of punishment by fine, penalty or imprisonment for enforcing any law of the province made in relation to any matter coming within any of the classes of subjects enumerated in this section; generally all matters of a merely local or private nature in the province.

There are certain rights which the Dominion and Local Governments may exercise in common, among which are public health, agriculture and immigration, respecting which the general Parliament may make laws for any or all of the provinces, and each Legislature may do the same for the province over which it has jurisdiction, provided that no provincial act is repugnant to any Dominion Act.

Either the English or the French language may be used in the debates in Parliament and in the Legislatures of Quebec, Manitoba and the Northwest Territories. Either language may be used in pleadings or processes in the courts of Canada and in Quebec and Manitoba.

The seat of Government is fixed at Ottawa until the Queen otherwise directs.

The chief executive government and authority in Canada is vested in the Queen, in whom is also vested the chief command of the militia and of all naval and military forces in Canada. Her Majesty is represented by a Governor-General appointed by the Queen-in-Council, but paid by Canada, whose term of office lasts for five years. The term of Governor-General's salary is fixed at £10,000 sterling and forms the third charge upon the consolidated revenue of the country. The Governor-General is bound by the terms of his commission, and governs under the advice of a Council or Ministry, known as the Privy Council of Canada, which is responsible to Parliament. As the acting head of the Executive, he summons, prorogues and dissolves Parliament, and assents to or reserves bills in the name of Her Majesty, but in the discharge of these and other Executive duties acts entirely by and with the advice of his Council. Even in matters of imperial interest affecting Canada he consults with his Council and submits their views to the authorities in England. The royal prerogative of mercy in capital cases is administered pursuant to the advice of the Ministry.

As the members of the Council hold office only while they retain the confidence of the House of Commons the majority necessarily sit in that branch, though there is always a certain representation in the Senate. An Administration when defeated on an appeal to the country, usually retires without waiting for the assembling of Parliament.

The Parliament of Canada consists of, 1st, the Queen; 2nd, an Upper House, called the Senate; and 3rd, a Lower House, called the House of Commons. The privileges and immunities of the two Houses are defined by the Atlantic coast.

The "bit," now only a money of account and most familiar in the well known form, "two bits," a synonym for the 25-cent piece, was also at one time a coin, equal in value to one-half the Spanish pistareen, and worth a little more than 1 cent. When the English shilling and the Spanish pistareen were supplanted by our familiar "quarter," the names remained long after the coins had disappeared. "Shilling" has now finally disappeared from us, save along the Canadian border, where prices are frequently made in both kinds of money, but the "bit" we have still with us.

The Cooking-Tree of San Pablo.

The historic old laurel tree, known to the earliest Spanish settlers about San Pablo as the cooking-tree, marks the spot where many of the Indian and early Spanish festivities were celebrated. Under its great branches Spaniards danced the fandango after a tasty meal, of which many have been cooked in the hollow trunk of this famous tree.

The trunk at the base is about six feet through and about twenty feet high, tapering toward the top, at which there is a naturally formed hole as an outlet for the smoke arising from the fire built inside. The cavity inside is four feet across, giving plenty of room for a person to move about with the grace and skill of a French cook.

In the '50s this remarkable tree was in all its splendor, and was the admiration of the old Spaniards and others, who loved it for its beauty, grace and utility. Previous to this the Indians gathered under its spreading branches of thick foliage, which afforded them shelter on rainy days and an admirable natural kitchen.

The tree marks the place where many councils of the Bay tribe of Indians held conventions. Around its base are many heaps of clam shells, evidence of the big appetites of bygone days, when clam roasts were the pet dish of the Indians. Many skulls and other relics have also been unearthed here.—San Francisco Call.

Foreign Notes.

There are 567 telephonic connections between the French cities.

Trunks and traveling bags can be sent by mail in France. Last year 36,263,214 were thus forwarded.

At the recent exhibition in Berlin Italy was represented by 105 artists, who won five gold medals and sold twenty-eight pictures for £17,000.

Every Woman

No. 1

MILES' CANADIAN VEGETABLE

Should Enjoy Life.

How many do?

Many are miserable, weak and sickly, and suffer untold miseries through ailments peculiar to their sex.

IT IS WRONG. The cause of most all these ills is easily reached, and effectively removed by the great woman's medicines,

COMPOUND

MILES' (Can.) VEGETABLE COMPOUND and Miles' Sanative Wash.

Price 75c. and 25c. They impart vitality and energy, and make the life of the "Mother Sex" worth living. For sale by all Druggists.

Explanatory pamphlet, "Woman's Triumph," sent free on application.

"A. M. C." MEDICINE CO., 578 St. Paul St., Montreal

PYNY-PECTORAL

Positively Cures COUGHS and COLDS

in a surprisingly short time. It's a scientific certainty, tried and true, soothing and healing in its effects.

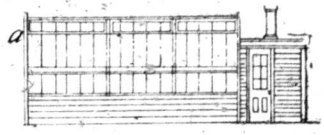
W. C. McCOMBER & SON, Bouchette, Que., report in a letter that Pyny-Pectoral cured Mrs. C. Garceau of a distressing cold in chest and bronchial tubes, and also cured W. G. McComber of a long-standing cold.

MR. J. H. HUTTY, Chemist, 528 Yonge St., Toronto, writes: "As a general cough and lung syrup Pyny-Pectoral is a most invaluable preparation. It has given the utmost satisfaction to all who have tried it, many having spoken to me of the benefits derived from its use in their families. It is suitable for old or young, being pleasant to the taste. Its sale with me has been wonderful, and I can always recommend it as a safe and reliable cough medicine."

Large Bottle, 25 Cts.

DAVIS & LAWRENCE CO., Ltd. Sole Proprietors MONTREAL

way, and all the space in the greenhouse can be utilized.—F. T. Oakes, in American Gardening.



SIDE ELEVATION.

THAYER FOR DECEMBER.

The Veteran Fruit Culturist on Who Should Grow Berries.

Who should grow berries? First of all, farmers everywhere, for family use. Farmers must grow berries or do without. No one can grow them so cheaply as he. They may be produced ready for picking at two cents per quart. The farmer saves cost of picking, packing, boxing, crating, freight, express and profits of growers. He gets them at first cost fresh from the vines and to the extent of his own family, has the best market in the world—a home market. He can select the best land and location on his own farm, and is sure of a profit with half a crop.

Farmers can never have ideal homes without the fruit garden. It teaches the lessons of intensified farming, and results in better tillage, large crops, better stock and improved methods in every way. Good gardens and poor farms never kept company long. The growing of berries for family use is easily done. The growing of berries largely, and selling them in good market, requires considerable skill and a special business tact. Only those who have good location, good market, and a taste for the business should attempt it. Many small farmers so situated are making a success by commencing moderately and increasing acreage from season to season, as experience warrants.

Berries should be grown by owners of all village homes, and acreage property in city and village may be profitably used for that purpose. The market gardener selling his own products can often make an acre or two of berries very profitable. They are suitable companions for their vegetable friends, and sell well together.

The business or professional man, almost broken with care, may recover health and strength in the pleasant walk of horticulture. It is restful to both mind and body. Many women dependent on their own efforts are securing substantial aid from their garden; berries and flowers thrive best under the gentle touch of woman. Many a bright boy may receive his first incentive to business and earn his first money by growing berries or vegetables. Give them a patch of ground and encourage them in this work. The amateur growing berries for pleasure, also gets close to the heart of nature and in common with every worker of the soil may receive her smile.—M. A. Thayer.

Terrific Heart Strain.

"How poor Mary Mazzleton has aged since the husband disappeared."

"Why shouldn't she age? She doesn't know whether he is dead or alive, and every time the poor thing buys a new dress she does not know but that she may have to discard it the next day for a suit of mourning."—Cincinnati Enquirer.

An Innovation.

"Oh, yes, the opposite church engaged a brass band and all that for their fair, but we beat them out by over $1000."

"How did you work it?"

"We hired a hypnotist at ten per cent. commission."—Cincinnati Enquirer.

Intense Concentration.

"Where did you learn that style of intense concentration in your drawings?" asked the would-be critic of a rising artist.

"From a mustard plaster," replied the flippant genius.—Cleveland Plain

GETTING READY

We are rapidly reducing our stock of winter goods to make ready for the spring trade and as a special inducement to you we offer such genuine bargains as these.

Men's $10.00 Ulsters for $8.00
" 9.00 " " 7.50
" 8.00 " " 6.50
" 7.00 " " 5.00
" 6.00 " " 4.50
" 5.00 " " 3.90

and

Boy's $6.00 Ulsters for $4.00
" 5.00 " " 3.15
" 4.00 " " 2.75
" 3.00 " " 2.35

—o—

J. L. Boyes.

Men's Furnisher.

COAL!

The Celebrated

SCRANTON COAL

That has no Equal.

I wish to announce to the public that I have put in a thoroughly assorted stock of this celebrated Coal, and am prepared to supply my customers on as good terms as any other dealers.

I am the sole agent in Napanee for this celebrated Coal and it can not be had from any other dealers. Your Patronage Solicited.

C. E. BARTLETT.

CARLETON WOODS.
ISSUER OF MARRIAGE LICENSES.
1y Roblin, Ont.

JOHN POLLARD,
ISSUER OF MARRIAGE LICENSES.
Express Office, Napanee.
Strictly Private and Confidential.

R. J. WRIGHT.
ISSUER OF MARRIAGE LICENSES.
At Residence, Bridge Street, Napanee, Opposite West Ward School.
Entirely Private.

The Napanee Express

NAPANEE, FRIDAY, FEB. 19, 1897.

All local reading notices or notices announcing entertainments at which a fee is charged for admission, if in ordinary type, 5c per line for each insertion. In black type the price will be 10c per line each insertion.

Colds are prevalent in town.

Trenton beat Picton at hockey on Monday by 4 to 0.

Herbageum for horses, cattle, pigs, fowls, etc. at BOYLE & SON.

Miss Annie Wilson, aged 35 years, of Thurlow, died last week.

Andrew Kimmerly, aged 78 years, died at Deseronto on Monday.

Miles Shorey, Roslin, had $40 stolen from his bedroom last week.

Remember

A large quantity of wood is being brought into town.

It is reported that P. A. Maybee has been appointed postmaster of the Odessa post office, rendered vacant by the death of Parker Timmerman.

A petition for the re-instatement of Jas. Richardson, recently discharged from the employ of the G. T. R., is being circulated and is receiving numerous signatures.

Napanee Wood Yard.

Corner Mill and Robinson street, hard, soft, cut, or in cordwood, Trenton dry edgings and blocks. Reasonable rates. A call solicited. Wood delivered free to all parts of the town. S. J. HOWARD. tf

"Tad" Gets a Free Trip.

One of the features of the late Presidential Elections in the United States was the guessing contest of the New York Evening Telegram. To the one making the nearest guess of the plurality of the successful candidate, a free trip around the world with all expense paid was offered. This was won by Wm. Taylor, who guessed McKinley's plurality would be 597,397 being only eight votes away from the actual plurality. To the 49 coming the nearest to the guess the Telegram offered a free trip with all expenses paid on a special Evening Telegram train with parlor cars to the inauguration at Washington on March 4th. Clarence M. Warner, Napanee, at that time residing in New York was one of the lucky forty nine, his guess being 597,626, only 237 votes away from the actual plurality. Tad will take the trip.

The Repeat of

Close's Mills.—Grinding every day up to Saturday noon. Those wishing grists same day are requested to be in before noon while slack water lasts.

JAS. A. CLOSE.

Have you a watch that others have failed to make run satisfactorily. Bring it to F. Chinneck's jewelry store and have it carefully overhauled and guaranteed to give satisfaction by F. Chinneck himself, who personally oversees the watch repairing department.

The remains of the late, Mrs. Miles Caton, who died at the residence of her son-in law, Mr. L. E. Percy, Mount Forest, on the 10th, inst, were brought to Napanee on the 12th, inst, and placed in the vault at Newburgh. Deceased was in her 78th, year and a very estimable lady. She was the mother of Mr. Geo. A. Caton of Napanee, and resided with him in Napanee up to a short time before her death.

Dry Mill Wood.

Over 1000 cords. $1.60 per cord.
THE RATHBUN Co.,
Napanee.

Eastern Methodist Church Anniversary Services.

Anniversary services in connection with the above church will be preached on the 28th inst., both morning and evening by the Rev. W. H. Emsley, of Montreal, a former highly esteemed pastor. On the Monday evening following an entertainment will be given in the church consisting of organ solos by Miss Lillian M. Hall, organist of Elm st. Methodist church, Toronto, vocal solos and choruses by the choir assisted by local talent of the town, and an address or lecture by the Rev. Mr. Emsley. For further particulars see next week's issue.

The Carnival

Call at Lawson's.

Meat market for prime western beef bought at Toronto market last week, also choice spring Lamb, Mutton, Veal and Pork. Beefsteak 3 lbs. for 25c. 3 lbs. of Pork Chop 25c. Stewing Beef 4c. Roast from 6c. up.

The Maple Leaf.

The Canadian Home Journal for February is of special interest to Canadians, containing among many other bright features a half tone portrait and sketch of Mr. Alexander Muir, as well as his popular patriotic song, "The Maple Leaf Forever" words and music complete. Sample copy 10 cents, yearly subscription $1.00, which will be received at this office.

Has he Given it Up.

The work in connection with boring the test well at Fredericksburgh has ceased. B. C. Steele, under whose direction the

THE MYSTERY SOLVED.

ANGUS McLEOD'S MURDERER MAKES A CONFESSION.

John Troy, a Convict in the Kingston Penitentiary, Did the Deed—He is Serving a Life Sentence for Attempted Murder—Roger's Clever Work—Troy will be Brought to Napanee for Trial. The News Causes Great Excitement in Napanee.

On Friday of last week the news was flashed across the wire that a convict in the Kingston penitentiary had confessed to the murder of Angus McLeod. This intelligence as might be expected created a turmoil of excitement in Napanee, and Kingston papers were eagerly awaited for in hopes that some additional particulars might be gleaned from them. At 4:16 the Whig and News arrived and everybody was anxious to secure a copy. The Whig made no reference to the matter, while a column and a half article in the News revealed nothing new, except the ability of the reporter of that paper to fill space. The morbid curiosity of the public when anything relating to murder is up for discussion soon exhausted the 100 extra copies of the News which were forwarded to town, and 500 copies could have as readily been disposed of.

The intelligence that the murderer of Angus McLeod had at last been run to earth was gratifying to the people of Napanee for more reasons than one. Apart from the natural wish of our citizens to have the mystery cleared and punishment meted out to the dastardly assassin, was the desire to have the unjust suspicion directed against several well-connected residents of the town removed and their innocense of having any part in the matter established beyond peradventure. Ever since the dark and fearful night of September 14th, 1893, when Angus McLeod was ushered into eternity by a bullet from a revolver in the hands of a midnight assassin the affair has remained shrouded in mystery and it stands as a tribute to Detective Roger's skill and perseverence that the mystery is now about to be cleared up and the guilt placed where it properly belongs. The confession made by Troy vindicates the position taken by THE EXPRESS at the time of the murder, and maintained throughout, that the crime was the work of an outsider and a cool, desperate and adept hand at the business. This theory was not received with much favor by a great many people in town, however. Quite a number believed it was the work of a resident of the town and one well acquainted with the house and its surroundings. The fact that the assassin shot to kill only strengthened the belief that it was a local man and was advanced as an evidence that he feared identification, and committed murder to hide a lesser crime. Some advanced the theory that the crime was committed from motives of revenge, with the view of robbery thrown around it to hide the real object and throw the police off the track. As all these conjectures have now received their quietus by the confession of the principal in the affair it is unnecessary to dwell upon them further here.

HOW MCLEOD WAS MURDERED.

A brief account of the circumstances surrounding the murder of Angus McLeod will perhaps prove interesting. On the evening of September 14th, 1893, three tough looking tramps arrived in Napanee and took up their quarters in a large barn the property of Mr. Gibson. The men were professional burglars and had been plying their avocations in the towns along the line. Troy, the leader, proposed an excursion down town, but the other two men complained of feeling fatigued and refused to accompany him. Nothing daunted he started out alone, and effected an entrance into McLeod's house by cutting out one of the bars at the bottom of the blind. This enabled him to put in his hand and open the shutter. The window sash was already raised, and propped up with a piece of wood so that ingress was easy. There being no one in the house at the time the burglar coolly lit the gas and proceeded to take an inventory of his surroundings. After having inspected things to his satisfaction he secreted himself and camly awaited the return of the inmates. Mr. and Mrs. McLeod and their little boy Charlie were in attendance at a missionary meeting in the Presbyterian church and returned home about 10.30 o'clock. Mrs. McLeod was treasurer of the missionary society and had received a trifle over $20 that evening, which was placed in a small hand satchel. Mrs. McLeod retired to bed about a quarter to eleven, but Mr. McLeod sat up for some emphatically that Troy was the murderer. He said that three of the gang were in Napanee on the night of the murder. Two of them remained in a barn just outside the town while Troy went down town and committed the deed. Armed with these facts Rogers went to Troy and accused him with the murder and after some hesitation the convict broke down and made a clean breast of the matter. The third man is in prison in Jacksonville and will be brought back for the trial which will take place at Napanee in the spring. Troy's confession duly signed and witnessed has been submitted to the Attorney-General's Department.

Detective Rogers was in Napanee on Thursday evening of last week and had an interview with Mrs. McLeod and S. C. Warner, County Crown Attorney. The detective is now quietly gathering up evidence to be used at the trial. He is endeavoring to locate an old tam o'shanter hat which was worn by the murderer in place of the one left at McLeod's house.

While some view Troy's confession in a skeptical manner, those acquainted with the facts believe it to be genuine. In his confession the convict described accurately the interior of the house and also referred to the loosing of his hat. One reason assigned for Troy's confession is that he is determined not to spend his full term in prison and would rather hang. The authorities are very reticent on the subject and no authentic information is forthcoming. Everything will come out at the trial, at the Spring Assizes, and things that now appear strange will be satisfactorily cleared up.

THE CROWN ATTORNEY INTERVIEWED.

On Thursday an EXPRESS representative had an interview with Mr. S. C. Warner, County Crown Attorney. Mr. Warner while regretting that he was not in a position to give the details in connection with the matter said he entertained no doubt whatever of the genuineness of the confession and that the murderer would ultimately be brought to justice. The authorities regretted that the matter had leaked out before they were in a position to go on with the trial.

In his confession Troy told things which can be corroborated, and which have never been made public. This was one of the reasons for keeping the matter a secret as it was thought if the confession became public property it might retard and hamper the authorities in their efforts to complete the chain of corroborative evidence which they were collecting. The fact that Troy in his confession disclosed circumstances surrounding the murder which had not been given to the public but which were known to the authorities alone entirely does away with the contention that the confession was the clever ruse of an ingenious criminal who had become acquainted with the facts of the McLeod murder through the newspapers and used the knowledge thus acquired in order to secure the novelty of a public trial.

Mr. Warner said he had some of the bullets which had been discharged by the murderer on the night in question, and the old felt hat he left behind, in his possession. For the past few weeks he had been acting in conjunction with Inspector Rogers in gathering evidence but the result of their labors he was not at liberty to disclose. In reply to the question: "If Troy was brought to Napanee and pleaded guilty would it be necessary for the crown to submit evidence and establish his guilt in in order to secure a conviction?" Mr. Warner believed the Crown would be obliged to put in corroborative evidence. He could not call to mind a precedent or parallel case just at the moment, but pointed out the necessity of the Crown having strong corroborative evidence in case the prisoner went back on his story. Mr. Warner said that Inspector Rogers was still at work and actively engaged in collecting evidence against Troy. The Crown Attorney had no doubt but that the man would be brought to justice and pay the penalty of his crime.

Wanted.

Intelligent men with good education to whom $600.00, and expenses for the first year would be an inducement. Write with full particulars. The Manager, 48 Richmond St. West., Toronto, Ont.

India Famine Relief Fund.

The Dominion Bank, Napanee, begs to acknowledge the following subscriptions to the Governor General's fund for relief of distress in India.

W. J. Doller, $2.
B. S. O'Laughlin, $5.
M. Johnston, $2.
Woman's Missionary Auxiliary, Switzerville, $25.

from his bedroom last week.

Crows have made their appearance. All signs indicate an early spring.

Second hand scale nearly new, 3000 lbs., for sale at a bargain at BOYLE & SON.

A lot of interesting local and district matter is unavoidably held over this week.

Baltis Rose, ex-M. P.P. died at his residence, 4th con. of Sidney on Monday.

Jno. Bongard, Picton, has been through this district buying horses for the Old Country.

A petition for the reduction of the number of tavern licenses in Deseronto is being circulated.

Thos. Hall, Deseronto, had part of his thumb taken off of in a rabbeting machine last week, Cantilever sap buckets lay closer to the trees, no waste, manufactured only by BOYLE & SON.

Hood's Pills are the best family cathartic and liver medicine. Gentle, reliable, sure.

Robert Wilson, of Belleville, and Miss Katie Meagher, of Springbrook, were married last week.

Geo. Burtch's drive house and shed in North Fredericksburg, was demolished by the storm last week.

The Rev. Arthur Jarvis forwarded $18 to the Montreal Star this week in aid of the India Famine Relief Fund.

Hood's Sarsaparilla is known to be an honest medicine, and it actually cures when all others fail. Take it now.

Canadian, English, and American wall-papers and borders, in profusion, at Pollard's bookstore. Prices lower than ever.

Tuesday night the brigade was called out for a small fire in Mitchell's shoe shop. A spark from the stove burnt a small hole in the floor.

Dr. Newton, Deseronto, took a dose of poison by mistake last week and had a narrow escape. The timely application of a stomach pump saved his life.

A young man named Burkley, was arrested at Kingston last week for robbing his benefactor, Rev. Father Gallagher, Pickering, of $50. The young man is in an advanced stage of consumption.

At the annual meeting the of Frontenac Reform Association the following officers were elected: Pres. T. McCallum, Sunbury; Vice President, H. J. Shibley, Harrowsmith; 2nd Vice Pres., E. Braddon, Pittsburgh; Sec. D. McRae, Wolfe Island.

In the case of Queen vs. Benn, an action growing out of a horse trade, and which was tried before Police Magistrate Daly recently and judgment found against Benn, it is reported that a commission of inquiry has been granted by the Attorney General's Department.

Among the prizes offered for the carnival on this Friday will be found a pair of ladies' skates, by Mr. Madole; a figure paper weight, by Mr. Coxall; a bottle of scent, by Mr. A. W. Grange; a glass ink-stand and a crokinole board by the proprietors, and a pair of skates by Mr. Jno. Fennell.

On Thursday of last week the Bay of Quinte train struck a deer, while going down grade a few miles from Tweed. The poor brute's neck and two of its legs were broken. The animal was brought to Napanee and skinned, but we were unable to learn who was lucky enough to secure the carcass killed out of season.

Mrs. W. J. Chapman, of Perth, formerly of Havelock, passed away from an attack of la grippe. Deceased was a daughter of Garret Walroth, of Yarker, and a sister of James Taylor of Napanee. She was a very estimable lady and her death is much regretted by her large circle of acquaintances. She was 31 years of age.

Kingston had a visit from a ghost last week. Not to be outdone by its rival, Belleville turns up this week with a real live article in the ghost line, also. The Kingston ghost confines its operations to the penitentiary and is supposed to be doing time for robbing graveyards. The Belleville article is an escaped lunatic, and was caught red-handed on its way to the Ontario office with a letter to the editor on What Must We do to be Saved.

The proprietors have been solicited to have a children's Carnival at the rink, and have agreed to do so. It will take place on Saturday afternoon, Feb. 27th, weather permitting. The reason for having it in the afternoon is the objection many parents have to their children being out in the evening, and on other days than Saturday the small folks are at school. There will be numerous prizes, and masquers will be admitted free.

B. C. Steele, under whose direction the work has been carried on, left on Monday for New York, accompanied by Mrs. Steele and daughter. Just why this course has been adopted is somewhat uncertain, but judging by appearances the matter will probably remain as at present for a time at least.

Truth in a Nutshell.

Impure blood is the natural result of close confinement in house, school room or shop.

Blood is purified by Hood's Sarsaparilla, and all the disagreeable results of impure blood disappear with the use of this medicine.

If you wish to feel well, keep your blood pure with Hood's Sarsaparilla.

Returns Thanks.

Dear Editor, will you kindly thank our many friends and customers who have so kindly helped us in the past, and we still intend to sell them good seed and plants and by so doing we hope to still have a share of their custom. Floral designs a speciality. Orders strictly attended to on all kinds of vines and fruit trees.

Yours truly,
G. LLOYD,

The West Ward green houses Napanee Ont.

at the Rink

Her Majesty's Diamond Jubilee.

Carries "Queen Victoria, Her Life and Reign" into every home. Persons who never sold books take orders fast. Preface the most eloquent of Lord Dufferin's achievements. No book so highly praised. We need more canvassers. Easy to make $15 00, to $30 00, a week. Books on time. Prospectus free to canvassers. A trial will cost nothing, and it may fill your empty pocket-book. The Bradley-Garretson Co. Ltd., Toronto, Ont.

Captured The Wrong Man.

Some time ago a horse belonging to Mr. Wagar was stolen from the Tichborne House by a Frenchman, commonly called Joe Beef. The horse was captured at Odessa next day but the thief made good his escape. This week the constable at Tamworth arrested a man named "Joe Beef" on the ground that he was the thief. The alleged horse thief was brought to Napanee on Wednesday and allowed to go, as it was clearly established the constable had got hold of the wrong man.

A Variety Concert.

The Lone Star Club of "A" Battery R. C. A. Kingston will give a variety concert at the opera house here on the 23rd inst. Every one who has seen the performances of this club have been not only pleased but delighted. Some time during the coming week they will give a concert in the Kingston opera house in aid of the Indian Famine Relief Fund which has lately been started in that city. The Lone Star Club has opened the eyes of the good people of Kingston lately who have always inclined to turn up their noses at their gallant artillerymen, but lately they are beginning to realize that they have in their midst some young men of very dramatic attainments who are always ready to assist the poor and needy. The club is rehearsing a new play entitled, "True Love" which will be put on the boards at Kingston shortly should it meet with the success it deserves it will be shown here shortly after. "True Love" was written by a member of the club. The program for the 23rd inst. consists of songs, recitations acrobatic feats, skirt dancing, a black-faced farce, "Trilby up to date, a scene from Richard III, and hypnotism.

To-Night.

HEART PAIN.

Dr. Agnew's Cure for the Heart Defies the Most Intense Pains—No Matter How Long Standing the Trouble, It Masters Disease In Half an Hour, and In the Case of John Crow five Bottles Cured Heart Disease of Ten Years' Standing—Here's His Testimony Unsolicited:—

John Crow, son of Mr. George Crow, farmer, near the village of Tara, Ont., writes: "I was alarmingly afflicted with palpitation and enlargement of the heart for nearly ten years. I doctored with the best physicians and tried numerous remedies with very little benefit. In our local papers I noticed Dr. Agnew's Cure for the Heart advertised, and I determined to give it a trial. Inside of half an hour I had relief. I have taken about five bottles, and feel to-day that I am as well as ever I was. I am completely cured."

eleven, but Mr. McLeod sat up for some time reading the papers and smoking. After he retired the burglar started in to secure the plunder. He rifled the satchel containing the missionary money, taking the silver and bills amounting to about $22, and disdaining the fifty cents in coppers which it contained. The robber then visited the sideboard and helped himself to some cake and a bottle of gin. He partook freely of the gin, and then proceeded to ransack the house. He visited every room in the house with the exception of the bedroom where Mr. and Mrs. McLeod slept. Mr. McLeod was awakened by the noise made by the burglar in rummaging through the drawers and got up. He grasped a water pitcher and ran out into the hall. He came back into the bedroom in a state of agitation and told his wife to cry out. McLeod lifted the pillows off the bed and walked backward and forward in the room crying, "What am I to do, What am I to do." Mrs. McLeod sprang out of bed and went to the centre of the bay window and raised the sash. In her excitement she let it fall. McLeod started to leave the room, when the burglar cried out "If you move another step I will shoot you." McLeod then closed with the burglar, who fired, the bullet passing through the upper part of the chest on the left side, in a downward direction, through the lung and striking the eight or nineth rib. The burglar fired again to keep back pursuit and when he reached the bottom of the stairs, he fired the third shot. In the scuffle with McLeod his hat had fallen off and he decamped without it. He made for Gibson's barn, where he acquainted his companions with what had happened. They jumped an east bound freight train and were many miles away from the scene when morning broke. The burglar did not visit the house with the intention of killing McLeod, but went prepared to shoot if necessary. There was no premeditation and therefore no trouble taken to throw the police off the scent. This accounts for the complete absence of clues. Many a murderer has placed the halter around his neck by the pains taken to cover up his tracks.

In the McLeod murder everything was shrouded in mystery and the police were completely thrown off the track. The old felt hat left by the robber was the only clue, and this was worked for all it was worth. A Kingston man, named Somerville, was dragged before the magistrate on the strength of it, and honorably acquitted. The opinion that the crime was the work of a local man gained ground. Detective Rogers deprecated this opinion however. He maintained that the deed had been committed by a professional and a non-resident. The words made use of by him in an interview in 1894, that the murderer of Angus McLeod would never be brought to justice except on his own confession seems now about to be verified.

Local detectives went to work on the resident theory and as a result Barney King was brought to trial and two we l-connected young men were placed in custody as his accomplices. The case against King fell through there being no evidence to substantiate it. After this the matter was allowed to rest and the McLeod case became regarded as one of the unfathomable murders which would not out.

There was one man however, who did not give up the chase. Rogers, the clever and indomitable sleuth hound, who never gives up a case has been quietly working up the evidence and as a result of his labors the innocent are raised from under a cloud and the guilt placed where it belongs.

All credit is due to Detective Rogers. The obstacles in his way appeared unsurmountable but by patience and perserverence he has ferreted out the guilty party and achieved a great triumph. The material at his disposal was of the most meagre and this but adds to his achievement.

John Troy, the self-confessed murderer of Angus McLeod, is a convict in the Kingston penitentiary undergoing a twenty years sentence for attempted murder. Troy was stealing a ride on a train, and the conductor attempted to put him off. Troy drew a revolver and fired three shots at the conductor wounding him, but not fatally. For this he was sentenced to twenty years in the penitentiary. He proved a very ugly prisoner and sometime ago it was found necessary to place him in the ward for solitary confinement. The manner in which Detective Rogers extorted the confession from Troy was remarkably clever. A confederate of Troy's named Hughes is now serving a term in the Kingston penitentiary, which expires in less than a year. Rogers received a clue that Troy or some of his chums were connected with the murder. He went to Hughes and acoused him of the murder, assumedly on the authority of Troy. Hughes got angry

B. S. H. $2.

Parisian Steam Laundry

Agency at E. Vanalstine's Barber Shop, John st. Laundry will be called for and delivered to any part of the town at usual prices, strictly C. O. D. This is one of the largest and best equipped Steam Laundries in Canada. Laundry shipped once a week, on Wednesday, 3:20 p.m. and delivered Saturday morning. No chemicals used in the Laundry. All work guaranteed first-class. Lists on application. tf.

Shut Your Eyes

For a few moments and think how you would like to spend the balance of your lives with a black veil before you. More ruined eyes are caused by improperly fitted spectacles than by natural causes. Eye decay comes sooner or later to all alike, and to be fitted properly means years of comfort ahead. Smith the Optician is daily gaining the confidence of the public, in consequence of which our optical business is constantly increasing. H. E. Smith may be consulted at his office.

Smith's Jewelry Store.

A Great Meeting.

On Monday evening last the Napanee Horticultural Society gave an entertainment in the town hall. The programme was excellent in every way, and the platform was decorated with a display of flowers in bloom, lent by George Lloyd of the Piety Hill green houses, and by members. We congragulate the lady president, Mrs. Wilkison, on the great success of the meeting. The musical part of the programme was excellent, and was rendered by Miss Bennett, Mrs. Dennis Daly, Miss Lineau, Mrs. Burrett, Mrs. Herrington, Miss Ward, Mrs. McNaughton, Mrs. Orr Herring. Prof. Craig, of the Dominion Expeimental farm, gave a very interesting and instructive address on the A. B. C. of window gardening, as a result of which we expect to see a large increase in the number of house plants, and a more successful culture of the same. All those in attendance, and the hall was packed to the doors, learned something about the proper treatment of house plants, and which window, east, west, north, or south, best suited particular kinds. The geranium was especially recommended for indoors as being the most satisfactory to blossom and thrive under varying conditions. There was a question drawer, but the most interesting query to many of the ladies, namely, "Are you a married man?" was left unanswered.

A. S. Kimmerly will sell for cash, 30 lbs. light sugar $1, 25lbs. best granulated sugar $1. I sell a tea at 25c., equal to any tea sold by other dealers at 40c. canned peas and corn 5cts, per can, Kewatin flour best in the world, $2 50 per 100. You better open your eyes to the fact that you can buy first class timothy seed here at $1.90 per bushel, 4 gals. coal oil 65c Tobacco 35c. per lb. Paine's Celery Compound 85c. per. bottle.

BEAR IN MIND

That we are selling Ready-Made Ulsters, Boy's and Men's sizes, Fur Caps and Winter Underwear at Cost.

Reductions in Ordered Clothing and Furnishings.

Examine our stock before purchasing. No trouble to show goods or replace stocks.

D. J. Hogan

& SON.

Sole Agent for the Wilkinson Hat

THE BIG STORE, Feb'y 19, 1897.

Eighth Week

OF OUR

Winter Sale

ALL DISCOUNTS CONTINUE

.....EXCEPT IN THE CASE OF.....

New Spring Goods.

WE SHOW

New Spring Prints, The prettiest wash goods in the Canadian Trade.

New Spring Carpets, In Tapestries, Brussels, much beauty and excellence for little money

New Lace Curtains, Very beautiful designs, prices begin at 23c.

New Art Muslins, The prettiest patterns ever offered at such low prices.

NEW LACES, The complete Spring Stock of New Designs and Colors They are worth seeing early in the season.

THESE ARE SPECIALS:

LADIES' VESTS, winter weights, long sleeves, reduced to 12c.
LADIES' VESTS, better quality, reduced to 14c.
LADIES' DRAWERS, good weight and quality, 20c.

Good Tailoring Cheap, There are exceptional chances to get a first-class Suit or Overcoat from us now at less than it is worth. Come in and get prices.

LAHEY & McKENTY.

THE FIRST CARNIVAL.

Charles Ross, as Louis XV, looked handsome and commanding and his dress was voted by long odds as one of the best

The Campbell House Victorious.

A hockey match which has been looked

Church of England Notes.

A GRAND SUCCESS. A FINE EXHIBITION OF PRETTY COSTUMES.

The first carnival of the season was held in the skating and curling rink on Friday evening last under circumstances the reverse of propitious. It took place during the progress of one of the worst storms that has visited us this winter and although this undoubtedly kept a large number of spectators and masquers, who would otherwise have been present, away, still there was a good crowd in attendance and despite the evident hostility of the clerk of the weather the carnival was a pronounced success. The skating was confined to the curling rink, which was a blaze of light and beauty. The costumes were of a high order and it was a difficult matter to discriminate amongst them. All the lady masquers merited a prize, for their costumes were really tasty and beautiful, and there was very little choice between them. The 47th, Batt. Band enlivened the proceedings with choice music. The prizes were awarded by ballot, all present being eligible to vote, and resulted as follows:

1—Best couple skaters, lady and gentleman, in costume, pair lady's skates and cardigan jacket.—Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Ross.

2—Best lady skater, in costume, pair satin slippers and bottle perfume.—Miss Carrie Williams.

3—Second best lady skater, in costume, lady's cameo belt clasp and bottle perfume.—Mrs. Chas. Ross.

4—Best lady masque, half dozen cabinet photos (winner in masque), silk handkerchief, and bottle perfume.—Miss Belle Pollard.

5—Second best lady masque, pair lady's overshoes and vase.—Miss Annie Lafferty.

6—Best gentleman skater, in costume, pair gold studs and silk necktie.—E. McLaughlin.

7—Second best gentleman skater, in costume, box of cigars.—Wm. Smith.

8—Best gentleman masque, half dozen cabinet photos (winner in masque), and pair winter gloves.—Chas. Ross.

9—Second best gentleman masque, cigarette holder and foot warmer.—Bruce Gordon.

Mrs. Judge Wilkison acted as directress in her usual efficient manner, assisted by Mr. Jas. E. Herring and Mr. Wm. Smith.

The following gentlemen contributed the prizes: Messrs. Lahey & McKenty, Boyle & Son, Haines & Lockett, Harry Hunter, J. L. Boyes, Wilson Bros., Smith & Bro., D. J. Hogan, W. A. Rose, J. S. Hulett, J. F. Smith, W. Mowat, W. S. Detlor, Herring & Sons., The Robinson Co'y. J. J. Perry, F. Chinneck, W. G. Wilson, Jno. Pollard.

THE MASQUERS.

Mrs. E. H. Baines, as a pop corn girl, was very prettily and becomingly attired.

Mrs. D. McNaughton and Miss B. Grange, as Mellin's Food Babies, were admired by all. Their placards announced that they were "Raised entirely on Mellin's Food—Nit."

Miss Maria Grange, was very appropriately attired as a Fortune Teller and her costume was much admired.

Mrs. Burritt, made an admirable Gipsy Minstrel and was the cynosure of all eyes.

Miss Dora Hulett, Good Luck, had a very pretty costume and looked charming.

Mrs. W. K. Pruyn, as a Sister of Mercy, was true to life and richly merited recognition.

Mrs. W. S. Herrington, as Mother Goose, created considerable amusement. The character was well gotten up.

Miss Annie Lafferty, made a very handsome Spanish Lady.

Miss Florence O'Neil, as Queen of Night, was very tastefully attired.

Alice Pruyn, was a very pretty Little Red Riding Hood.

Mrs. Dr. Ward, as Frost, was very becomingly attired.

Miss Carrie Williams and Miss L. McHenry, Two Little Girls in Blue, looked charming.

Miss Belle Pollard, Water Lilly, was handsomely attired and her costume was greatly admired. The character was well carried out.

Miss Mattie Pollard, Queen of Hearts, a very pretty costume.

Marion Leonard was well gotten up as a Nun.

Mrs. Chas. Ross, as Mary Queen of Scots, represented the character perfectly.

Mrs. E. McLaughlin, made a good appearance as Queen Elizabeth.

Geraldine McLaughlin, as June, looked fresh and blooming.

Miss Crossley made a very handsome Joan of Arc.

Mrs. John W. Robinson, a Lady of the Last Century, was quaintly attired.

Wm. Smith, when he starts out to do a thing always does it well and his representation of Mephistopheles, left nothing to be desired—not even the pitch fork.

Geo. Huffman, the Human Frog, was a very funny get up and richly merited a prize.

Frank Rikley was a very funny Clown.

D. L. Richardson created much amusement in his Clown attire, also.

Fred Perry, looked The Turk to perfection.

Herb Collier made a very commanding looking Major.

E. McLaughlin, as Louis XIV, was much admired and he is right at home on ice and captured the skating prize.

John Hill, as a Colored Girl, was much in evidence and his get up caused many a broad smile.

Bruce Gordon made a good looking Spanish Student.

Parker Crossley, was the Flour of the Family.

Ernest Hall, was a very accomplished and jaunty English Cavalier.

Samuel Hall, represented Uncle Sam very well.

James Ferguson, Evening Star, a very tasty masque.

Ed Huff, was gotten up to beat the band as an Old Woman.

Harold Pruyn, represented "The Lost Child."

D. C. McNaughton looked well as a St. George Snowshoer.

Arthur Cornell, as the Silver Dollar had a very ingenious costume.

Willie Leonard, was dressed as a Nun.

The carnival will be repeated this evening by special request.

She—Fred, why don't you ask father for my hand to-day?

Fred—I'm afraid to do it to-day. Wait until to-morrow and I'll buy a bicycle exactly like his.

The Reason.

"Tell me, Oscar," she said as she suddenly removed her weight from his aching shoulder, "why are you going to marry me?"

"Why—er—you see," he stammered in reply.

"Speak right up, Oscar," she continued. "It's not on account of my father's wealth, is it?"

"Why, certainly not."

"And you're not marrying me because no one else will have you?"

"Well, I rather—"

"Then why is it, Oscar? Give me a truthful answer upon your honor as a gentleman."

"Can you bear the plain truth?" he asked, looking at her seriously.

"I—I will try."

"You won't faint or cry out, I hope?"

"N—no. I will be brave."

"Then, I'm going to marry you, darling, because I want you to be my wife!"

And she actually refused to kiss him for over sixty seconds.

THREE WEEKS IN AGONY.

Inflammatory Rheumatism so Acute He Could Not Attend to His Daily Duties—Lived Three Weeks in Agonizing Pain when that "Good Samaritan" of all Cures, South American Rheumatic Cure, Passed His Way—It Helped in a Few Hours, and Speedily Cured—Cost 75 Cents.

Mr. E. A. Norton, a well-known citizen of Grimsby, Ont. was severely attacked with inflammatory rheumatism some 20 years ago—after a time he recovered, but five or six weeks ago the dread disease returned so violently that he had to give up work. For nearly three weeks he lay in bed suffering terrible agony. Another resident of the town who had been cured by South American Rheumatic Cure persuaded him to try it, and to his great surprise after using the medicine but one week he was so far recovered as to go about town. From the first dose taken he felt marked improvement, and to-day he is most enthusiastic in singing its praises. No case too severe for South American Rheumatic Cure to check in six hours, and cure permanently. Sold by A. W. Grange & Bro.

on Monday night between the boarders of the Campbell House and Paisley House. For two years in succession the Campbell House has succeeded in turning down the Paisley House, and again they have nipped the aspirations of that hostelry in the bud. Considerable improvement in the play of the teams over former years was noticable, and at times the work narrowly approached being brilliant. The teams lined up as follows:

CAMPBELL HOUSE.		PAISLEY HOUSE.
Geo. A. Thompson	goal	Ed. Douglas
Smith	point	W. B. Haines
G. A. Thompson	cover point	C. Dewey
M. Normile	forwards	W. Durand,
F. McL. Radford	"	W. Ponton,
Thos. Diamond	"	C. Londesbourgh.
Dr. Bradshaw	umpires	R. Lawson.

Referee—Geo. Harrison.

The play throughout was fast, and the players hot and desperate. Radford and Thompson, for the Campbell House, distinguished themselves and won the plaudits of the gods, who were perched on the out side of the fence. The Campbell House scored 3 goals, while the Paisley House only succeeded in placing the puck between the stakes twice. Two of the Campbell House goals were made from long lifts, the third being scored by a grand rush by Radford, who captured the puck, passed the forward line, eluded the defence men and taking the puck in front of the goal deliberately shot it through. Smith at point put up a great game and saved many a score. The members of both teams were made the recipients of several large and beautifully colored scars on their faces and other portions of their anatomy.

Our Boys Won

The West Ward hockey club, of Napanee, went up to Deseronto on Saturday and trimmed a team of that town by 4 goals to 2. These players composed the West Ward team: F. McCoy, P. Crossley, B. Briggs, Harry Finkle, Arthur Cornell, R. Embury, Tom Lafferty.

NOTES.

Picton hockey team has defaulted to Napanee. Comment is unnecessary.

Last week the Trenton-Napanee match was postponed indefinitely, and the Belleville-Napanee match was arranged to be played at Belleville last evening. On Tuesday the Napanee team received word from Belleville that they would not play until Napanee played its match with Trenton. Our boys wired back that they would be on hand Thursday, and if Belleville refused to play they would claim the match by default. Yesterday afternoon the Belleville team asked to have the match postponed as their ice was unfit to play on. The request was granted.

The genial proprietor of the Campbell House, Mr. Hugh Milling, has extended an invitation to the Paisley House hockey team, the Campbell House team, and the town hockey team, and a number of their friends, to dine with him at the Campbell House, on Monday evening. As Hugh never does anything by halves this will no doubt prove one of the most enjoyable gatherings of the season.

On Monday evening the proprietor of the Paisley House, Mr. Ed. Douglas, entertained the Paisley House hockey club and a few friends to an oyster supper. A most enjoyable time was spent.

The curling club had a match on Tuesday evening. The opposing sides were Messrs. D. Daly, Rev. McDonald, Thos. Symington, and W. Mowat, skip; against Wm. Templeton, E. H. Baines, W. T. Gibbard, and Dr. Bissonnette, skip. Skip Mowat's side won, the score being 11 to 15 in their favor. Mr. Dennis Daly has a penchant for making "pat lids" and always succeeds in getting in the noose.

This is For You.

For a good pair of ordered boots or shoes call on J. W. Schryver, John St. Boots, shoes and rubbers repaired on the shortest notice. 51tf

Not Crude Material. Scott's Emulsion is Cod Liver Oil perfected and is prepared upon the principle of its digestion and assimilation in the human system; hence it is given without disturbing the stomach.

The Bay of Quinte District Union of C. E. and E. L. C. E. which comprises all the societies in the counties of Hastings, Prince Edward, Frontenac, Lennox and Addington, will hold its third annual convention at Madoc on April 15th, 16th, (Easter week.)

Sim Badgely, of Roslin, while drawing wood across the Moira river near the Lost Channell broke through the ice and his team were drowned.

CHURCH OF S. MARY MAGDALENE—On Sunday evening next the annual missionary meeting will be held at 7 o'clock. After Choral Evensong the Deputation, Rev. Professor Worrell, B.M.C., Kingston, and E. J. B. Pense Esq., Editor of the Kingston Whig and treasurer of the Diocese, will deliver addresses upon the home mission work of the Diocese. At the morning service which will consist of Matins and Celebration the sermon will be preached by Professor Worrell.

PARISH OF CAMDEN.—Services Sunday next. St. Luke Camden East, morning prayer, holy communion, thanksgiving service for past mission 11 o'clock; St. Anthony Yarker, 3 o'clock; St. John's, Newburgh, 7 o'clock; St. Jude's Napanee Mills annual missiony meeting 3 o'clock; Deputation, Rev. Arthur Jarvis, Napanee, Rev. Prof. Worrel, R. M. C. Kingston, and Rector of Barriefield. E. J. B. Pense, Esq., Kingston.

PARISH OF SELBY—Services Sunday next: Kingsford, 10.30 a.m.; Selby 2 o'clock S. S., 3 o'clock evening service.

Lost a Thumb.

Mr. Cole McCoy, an employee of the Gibbard Furniture Co., met with a serious accident on Thursday. He was working at a rip saw when in some way his hand came in contact with the saw and the thumb was severed from his right hand.

Sudden Death.

On Friday last Mr. John Hearns, a respectable farmer of Richmond, while walking to his barn fell over and expired, his death being due to heart trouble. Deceased was 74 years of age and was related to Mr. John Hearns, of Napanee. The funeral took place on Sunday to the Vandebogart cemetery.

A Pretty Wedding.

A pretty wedding was solemnized at St. John's church, Selby, on the 10th inst., when the Rev. W. G. Swayne united in the holy bonds of wedlock Mr. S. D. G. Winters, son of Mr. Thos. Winters, a prosperous young farmer of Richmond, and Miss Nettie McCormick, youngest daughter of the late James McCormick. The groom was supported by Mr. Hugh McCormick while Miss Carrie Winters acted as bridesmaid. The bride was attired in a becoming dark grey travelling suit, trimmed with gimpan silk. The bridesmaid looked charming in a dark green dress. After the ceremony the wedding party repaired to the residence of the bride's brother, where an excellent repast was partaken of. The happy couple left on the evening train for Belleville and other western points. We extend congratulations.

Death of J. B. Warner.

Mr. John B. Warner, a son of the late Billings Warner, of Yarker, who was drowned in the Napanee river many years ago, died at his home in Lindsay on Sunday from diabetes, at the age of fifty-two years. Mr. Warner was well-known in Napanee, having carried on a large dry goods business here with Mr. Rudd Perry at one time. Mr. Warner was a very energetic business man and carried on a large and successful business in Lindsay. He was a step-son of the late Edmund Hooper, Ex-M. P., and his mother who was buried here just one year ago was a sister of Mr. Zina Ham. Deceased was a genial and whole-souled gentleman and his untimely demise will be regretted by a large circle of friends and acquaintances. He leaves a wife and seven children to mourn the loss of a good husband and a loving father.

KIDNEY PAIN.

John Snell, of Wingham, Ont., was in a Maelstrom of Pain and Agony from Diseased Kidneys—South American Kidney Cure was the Welcome "Life Preserver"—It Relieves Instantly and Cures Surely.

"Five years ago I had a severe attack of La Grippe which affected my kidneys and caused intense pains in my back and urinary organs. I suffered untold misery, at times I could not walk, and any standing position gave me intense pain. I became worse so rapidly that my family became alarmed. Just at this time I noticed South American Kidney Cure advertised. Although I had little faith left in any remedy—having tried so many worthless ones—but a drowning man will grasp at a straw, and I procured a bottle. In a few days it had worked wonders, and before half a bottle was taken I was totally relieved of pain and two bottles entirely cured me. Sold by A. W. Grange & Bro.

THE NAPANEE

Vol. XXXVI] No 14.—JNO. POLLARD, Editor and Publisher. NAPANEE, ONT., CANADA

5c. 5c.

I am still selling 3 lb. cans of Sugar Corn at the low prics of 5c. the best in the market. Try it

5c. 5c.

W. COXALL.

IT WILL PAY YOU TO DROP IN

And see our new spring stock of ready to wear clothing for men, boys and Children, Men's furnishings and everything else in

MEN'S WEAR UP-TO-DATE.

In Hats we show all the latest styles and shades of the best English and American manufacture.

You will find us at our old stand until further notice.

A. M. VINEBERG,

The Wonderful Cheap Clothier, Dundas st., Henry Block, Napanee

TIMOTHY

—AND—

CLOVER SEED

Bran and Shorts

Flour and Feed.

TAYLOR & MORRIS,

(Blewett's Old Stand.)

NEW PLAINING MILL AND LUMBER YARD.

Now in full operation. All kinds Lumber, Sash, Doors and Blinds. Custom work done on shortest notice. Get our prices before buying. Mr. Embury is prepared to draw plans for parties wanting them.

Embury, Greer & Co.

SPECIAL RETURN VISIT OF

MEN'S

HATS.

Our new stock of Spring Hats are just from the Manufacturers. We can therefore save every Hat you buy. The styles also are quite ex low in price as 50c. each.

Suits, Suits, Jas. Walter's Cutter.

Other seasons we have shown you some pretty Suitings but never anything to approach this season either in variety, style or value. They are simply charming if such a term may be applied to Men's Wear. We can make you good Suits at $10,00, $11,00 and $12.00. Better ones will cost you $15.00, $16.00. Mr. Walters will guarantee to fit you perfectly.

Towel Bargains.

A large sized Towel 24x36 usually sold at 40c. per pair. Our price 20c. per pair.

Table Linen Bargains.

We have just received a beautiful quality in bleached Table Linen 56 inches wide worth 75c anywhere but while it lasts we sell it at 48c. per yard. Also a half bleached Table Linen 54 inches wide worth 45c. and our price 32½c. We beat the world in Table Linens.

Children's Black Ribbed Cashmere Hose.

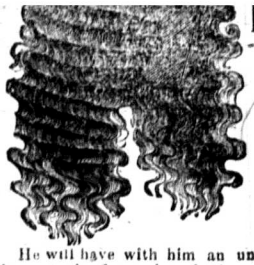
PATENT LOCK-STITCH, 8 FOLD KNEES, 6 FOLD ANKLES. This is a special line of high class Cashmere Hose for Children and is well worthy of the attention of Mothers who like to buy good Hosiery for their children.

New Dress Trimmings.

We have just received fifty pieces of the very latest styles in Dress Trimmings. We will be pleased to show them to you at any time.

Ladies' Shirt Waists.

We are sole agents in Napanee for the "Empress" Shirt Waists the best fitting Waist in the market. We are selling these goods like hot cakes. The styles and designs are all new this season.



PROF. DORENWEND.

During his last visit many were unable to call on him through the inclemency of the weather while others could not see him on account of his being so busy, so to accommodate the disappointed ones he has arranged to be in

NAPANEE at PAISLEY HOUSE

—ON—

THURSDAY, MARCH 18th,

He will have with him an unusually large stock of samples of his art Hair Goods. All who are bald or have thin hair should see his fine styles in Gent's Wigs -and Toupees, Ladies' Bangs, Switches, Wigs, and other articles in hair. Health Comfort and Youthful Appearance are enjoyed by all wearing them. Could you not profit by adopting them? Call and consult him, he will be pleased to give you practical demonstrations of the virtues. Remember at PAISLEY HOUSE, NAPANEE, on THURSDAY, MARCH 18th.

T. W. SIMPSON, B.A., M.D., C.A.

Licentiate of the Royal College of Physicians Edinburgh,
Office—Dr. Grants' late residence, Bridge St

MARGARET P. SYMINGTON, M. D. C. M., Licentiate of Royal College of Physicians, Edinburgh.

Diseases of Women and Children.

Residence north side Market Square, 4th door west John street
Consultin hours 11 a.m. to 3 p.m., and 6 to 8 p.m. Telephone 87.

R. A. LEONARD, M.D., C.P.S.

Physician, Surgeon, etc.

Late House Surgeon of the Kingston General Hospital.

Office—North side of Dundas Street, between West and Robert Streets, Napanee. 5:1y

---

HERRINGTON & WARNER

Barristers, etc.

MONEY TO LOAN AT LOW RATES

Office—Warner Block, East-st, Napanee. 5y

DEROCHE & MADDEN,

Barristers,

Attorneys-at-Law, Solicitors in Chancery, Conveyancers, Notaries Public, etc.

Office—Grange block.

Money to Loan at "lower than the lowest" rates
H. M. DEROCHE, Q. C. 5.1y J. H. MADDEN

MORDEN & RUTTAN,

Barristers, Solicitors, etc.

Solicitors for the Merchant's Bank of Canada etc., etc.
Dundas Street, Napanee.
G. F. RUTTAN.

Private funds to loan at five per cent.

A. S. ASHLEY,

DENTIST

16 Years in Napanee.
34 Years Experience.

Rooms, · Albert Block, · Napanee

DENTISTS

C. D. WARTMAN, L.D.S.
C. H. WARTMAN, D.D.S.

Graduates of the Royal College of Dental Surgeons of Ontario, and graduate of Toronto University.

OFFICE—LEONARD BLOCK,

Visits made to Tamworth the first Monday in each month, remaining over Tuesday. Rooms at Wheeler's Hotel.
All other Mondays C. D Wartman will be in Yarker.
Napanee office open every day.

THE ROYAL HOTEL
Dundas Street, Napanee.

H. HUNTER, Prop.

This commodious hotel is centrally situated having every convenience for the travelling and business public. Large yard and sheds for farmers.
Good table, best of wines liquors, and cigars The comfort of guests is made a first consideration.

JAS. AYLESWORTH,
General Business Agent.

POLICE MAGISTRATE for the Provincial Electoral District of Addington.

Conveyancer,
Issuer of Marriage Licenses,
Commissioner, etc., in H.C.J.

Clerk, 7th Division Court. of the County of Lennox & Addington

---

HOUSES TO LET.

Two commodious dwellings on Centre St. Plenty of good water, hard and soft. For particulars apply to S. CASEY DENISON,

---

PUBLIC NOTICE.

I hereby give notice that I will not be responsible for any debts incurred by any person whomsoever in my name.

DANIEL McTAGGART,
Amherst Island, March 1st., 1897. 15c.

REAL ESTATE AND INSURANCE

I have several good farms of 50, 100 and 200 acres, at most moderate prices, and very easy terms of payment.
Several dwellings in the Town of Napanee.
Farm lands and city lots in Marlotb.
Insurance in Stock and Mutual Companies.
Money to loan at 5 per cent. on good Real Estate property. Apply to
M. C. BOGART,
4 tf Napanee.

THE ANNUAL MEETING OF THE

LENNOX

REFORM ASSOCIATION

WILL BE HELD ON

SATURDAY, MARCH 13

—IN THE—

TOWN HALL, NAPANEE

at the hour of 1.30 p.m.

The meeting will be addressed by

G. W. DAWSON, Ex-M.P.

organizer for eastern Ontario. 13b

Thomas Symington,
President.

1000

CEDAR POSTS

For Sale Cheap

Apply to

Robert LIght,

Lumber Dealer.

Bicycle and bicycle accessors, largest stock most reliable up to date wheels on the market at Boyle & Son's.

Constipation Cured GENTS,—I was in very poor health for over four years; the doctor said it was constipation. Not wanting to spend too much cash I got three bottles of B. B. B. and took it regularly. I can certify that I am now in the very best of health and feel very grateful to B.B.B.

THE ROB

Schedule of Summ

Returned to the Clerk of the Peace for the County of Lennox and

Name of Prosecutor.	Name of Defendant.	Nature of Charge.	Date of Conviction.	Na Convict
Fred E. Miller	Alfred Rickey	Petty Trespass	Dec 9 1896	Anson Storr
do	do	Shooting Tame Pigeons	do	do
James H Stitt	Alex McConnell	Assault	Jan 8 1897	do
do	do	Insulting Language	do	do
Clement G Booth	John Storms	Petty Trespass	Feb 24	do
do	E. J Chadsey	do	do	do
do	John Storms	Drunk and Disorderly	do	do
do	E. J. Chadsey	do	do	do
Alfred Brown	A. B. Carscallen	Inf of Pharmacy Act	Feb 12	C E Clancy
Maserva Allair	Octave Allair	Assault	Jan 25	J A Carscall
Wesley Huff	Robert Smith	Inf of Game Law	Dec 12 1896	Jas. Daly
do	Robinson Brothers	Inf of Fisheries Act	Dec 18	do
do	Charles White	do	do	do
do	Donald Rikely	do	do	do
do	Thomas Lloyd	do	do	do
do	Ira Benn	do	do	do
do	Marshall Wagar	do	do	do
W A Rose	Henry Conger	Inf. Liq. License Act	Jan 19 1897	do do	John Carr jr	do	do	do
do	A. E. Douglas	do	do	do
Albert O Vanluven	Allen Lucas	Killing Dog	Jan 22	do
Jeremiah Storms	Levi Kelly	Drunk and Disorderly	Feb 2	do
E H Sills	Ann Phillips	Vagrant	Feb 11	do
Jeremiah Storms	John Morris	do	Feb 18	do
do	Geo. Henderson	do	Feb 19	do
do	John Lynn	do	Feb 27	do

I hereby certify that the above is a true schedule of all Summary Convic

Dated at Napanee this 9th, day of March, A.D. 1897

AN APPLICATION HAS BEEN PRESENTED TO THE LICENSE BOARD OF the District of Lennox for the transfer of license for the Grieve's Hotel on the north side of the market sqare in the Town of Napanee from

JOHN WOOD

—TO—

JOHN JENNINGS,

of the Town of Napanee,

A meeting of the Board of License Commissioners will be held in the office of J. C. Huffman Esq., in the Town of Napanee, on at the hour of 10 o'clock for the consideration of the above application.

Monday, March 22nd 1897,

W. A. ROSE,
License Inspector.
March 10th, 1897: 14b.

An Ant Fifteen Years Old.

Sir John Lubbock the naturalist, has been experimenting to find out how long the common ant would live if kept out of harm's way, says the Scientific American On August 8, 1882, an ant which had been thus kept and tenderly cared for died at the age of 15 years, which is the greatest age any species of insect has yet been known to attain. Another individual of the same species of ant lived to the advanced age of 13 years.

Animal Instinct at Fault.

Many persons still believe that the instinct of animals preserves them from certain accidents, and that they never eat anything that is injurious to them. Well-instructed persons have long known that in this regard animals are no better off than men. A chicken does not hesitate to drink paint; a cow partakes of water in which bags containing nitrate of soda have been washed; ducks strangle and choke in swallowing snails.

Causes Within Causes.

Ten thousand dollars is the sum Simon Applebaum of New York, wants Isaac Crabbage, a tailor, to pay him on account of the non-delivery of a pair of trousers. The trousers were sent to the tailor to be pressed for Applebaum's wedding, and as they were not returned in time, Applebaum claims he was unable to appear for the ceremony, and his bride-to-be sued him for breach of promise.

A Quick Deduction.

"This boat seems pretty cranky. Is she perfectly safe for two?"
"Married or single?"
"Married."
"Yep."

Sap buckets, sap pans, sap spouts, sap pan heaters, sap dippers, cantilever sap bucket is the best and cheapest, only at Boyle & Son's.

EXIT THE SILKWORM

MOST OF THE SILK TO BE MADE HEREAFTER FROM WOOD FIBER.

A New and Important Industry That Has Proved Successful in France—The Process Soon to be Put Into Operation in This Country.

Artificial silk making in this country during the year 1897 is, apparently, an assured fact. Already in France and England the process is being tried with success. For years, however, what is now an accomplished fact was looked upon as the modern inventors' philosopher's stone. Scientists by the hundred spent fruitless years in resultless efforts to the manufacture of wood silk. At last, where so many other and greater men had failed, Count Hilliare de Chardonnet discovered the secret. The story of M. de Chardonnet's invention is almost a romance. The worthy count, born in the silk-growing districts of the Rhone, became a graduate of the Parisian ecole polytecnique, and eventually a knight of the Legion of Honor. This accomplished, he retired on his laurels to his native Lyonnais, where he spent many days in philosophical meditations. On a certain sultry afternoon, while sitting in his park and carelessly munching a strip of bark from one of the trees he noticed the fibrous character of the scrap of white rind. From this a rapid train of thought brought him to the crude idea of the subsequent great invention. Thereafter the count shook off his habits of sloth, abandoned his woodland siestas, and devoted his life to the procuring of silk from wood. Obstacles in shoals barred his way, but the count was a man of courage and perseverance. After years of labor he succeeded in perfecting an invention which is really a mechanical and chemical marvel.

The product of M. de Chardonnet's machinery is pronounced by the experts to be "a beautiful silk, equaling in brilliancy, fineness and softness of texture that of the silkworm." In 1891 the count founded a company to work his scheme, and already the enterprise has proved a commercial success. Great opposition naturally came from the millions of silkworm cultivators in central France, who viewed the new invention much as the hand-loom spinners of England looked upon the spinning jenny. But the silk buyers were in Chardonnet's favor. For centuries they had been dependent upon the grub and its state of health, generally precarious, for their silk crop. Now, when one remembers that the silk-

EE EXPRESS.

ADA—FRIDAY, MARCH 12th 1897. $1 per Year in advance; $1.50 if not so paid.

WEAR!

HATS.

st in. These goods we bought this year direct ve from from 20 per cent. to 30 per cent. on exclusive. We commence a Man's Hat as

New Dress Goods.

Early buyers of Dress goods will remember that we can show them a full assortment of new patterns. We are proud of our Dress Goods Department and our Dress Goods trade is assuming enormous proportions you can't afford to pass it when you want a new Dress. We commence a double fold Dress goods this season at 10c, per yd.

Three specials in Men's Shirts.

We have three special prices and values in Men's Flannelette Shirts viz. 19c. 35c. and 50c. It will pay you to examine the values of these goods.

Grey Cotton Values.

We defy competition in Grey Cottons. How many people will tell you that they can buy Grey Cottons cheaper here than elsewhere. The reason is that we can buy them cheaper than our competitors.

Sheetings and Pillow Cottons.

We guarantee to save you from 10 to 20 per cent on every yard of these goods you buy from us. We make a specialty of Sheetings and Pillow Cottons.

Miss Burgoyne

Has returned from her holidays and will be pleased to execute your orders for Dress or Mantle making.

REMOVED.

After Feb. 28th, our office will be removed to the old stand at the

LUMBER YARD

Orders left with E. McLaughlin at the C.P.R. telegraph office will receceive prompt attention.

The Rathbun Co.

NEWS FROM THE COUNTRY.

PINE GROVE.

Owing to the rain of last week the roads are in a bad condition.

Farmers are busy drawing logs and cord-wood.

Miss Bertha Hicks, of McDonald, and Mr. Manson Huges, of Prince Edward, were visiting at Mr. Jas. Wagar's on Monday of last week.

Miss Estella and Miss Amelia Wagar spent Sunday at McDonald the guests of Mrs. Wm. R. Miller.

The school is progressing favorably under the management of Miss Ida Johnston.

Miss Ella Richardson spent Sunday at her sister's, Mrs. Geo. Burtch.

Mr. Archie Dunwoodie and wife are moving back on the farm again and Mr. John Dunwoodie has removed to Albert.

TAMWORTH.

Rev. J. J. Rae formerly of Napanee preaches in the Methodist church here next Sabbath morning and evening. He delivers his lecture on "Mind your own Business" on the Monday following in the town hall. This lecture has been given by Mr. Rae forty-six times within six months. Instead of the annual tea, the people are heartily supporting a direct contribution this year which is to be given next Sabbath. This is a commendable move and will no doubt meet with success.

A touching reference was made to Mrs. Alex. Rose's useful services in the Methodist S. S. Mr. and Mrs. Rose leave for Napanee this week. Their many friends here regret their departure and wish them every success.

BATH.

Among the many historical reminiscences that the public have been treated to lately, many amusing evidences have been brought forth, as for instance A writer thought it necessary to give the dimensions of the fishes throat to settle the fact as to whether Jonah was actually engulfed or not. Another writer lately has mixed two wars together to prove that Bath soldiers took refuge in Mr. Joseph Hawley's woods to escape Bill Johnston's Tail Boat in 1812 and 1837 the same witnesses would not do from MacKintires corners.

The ice houses are being filled preparitory to coming warm weather.

Mr. Max Robinson has imported a fine lot of carriages ready for spring sales.

Mr. M. C. Davy has commenced the erection of a new dwelling on the site devastated by fire a few years ago.

We are glad to note that Mr. John Chapman is still mending in health.

We regret to learn of the death of Mr. Bridon Fleming who was placed in the vault yesterday.

FREDERICKSBURGH.

This week's storms have spoiled our good roads George J. Perry is shipping hay and straw to supply a local demand. The business in this line is very much below that of years previous.

A. Ryder, late engineer at the oil well, has moved back to Verona again.

Miss Mina Schell is visiting friends at her former home, Syracuse, N. Y.

Mrs. J. J. Smith is spending a few days

NAPANEE MILLS.

Artemus Granger, of Dakota, is home visiting his sister, Mrs. Peter McPherson, who still remains quite ill.

Levi Williamson, who has been in charge of Mr. Madden's farm in Minnesota, arrived home with Mr. Granger. He is quite ill.

James Somerville is ill with pneumonia.

Rev. Mr. Limbert, Selby, preached in the Methodist church on Sunday

Irvin Gallenu, of Trenton, who has been visiting his sister, Mrs. McColl, returned home on Monday.

Nelson Shannon left for Manitoba on Monday with a load of horses.

PRINCE EDWARD COUNTY.

Dr. Karn, Picton, has been very ill with la grippe.

Master Frank Moore, son of Levi F. Moore, Napanee, is spending a few weeks with relatives in Sophiasburgh.

Quite a large number from Picton and vicinity, attended the races at Bath, last week.

Mr. and Mrs. David Benson, have removed to Napanee. We wish them success in their new home.

Mr. Elias Slater, Yerexville, was the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Max. Robinson, Bath, one day last week.

Surprise, and dancing parties are all the rage and the young people have no cause to complain of lack of entertainment this winter.

These are days when the men in the rural districts congregate at the blacksmith shop or village grocery to play checkers, tell stories and discuss the probability of war in Europe. Can a man talk on such occasions? If you doubt it just stop at the first grocery you come to, some rainy afternoon, and you will be filled with wonder that women have been credited with being the gossips par excellence.

Mr. Arch Harrison has rented his farm at Cressy and intends removing with his family to Toronto.

The farmers of this County intend sowing large quantities of spring wheat instead of peas of the different Seed Companies, as they have done heretofore. In fact it is rumored that one of the large companies will shortly remove their offices to Michigan.

Picton now a "Young Liberal Club" with a full staff of officers, and judging from the reports we have read of its enthusiastic meetings, it surely presages success for the Liberal party in this county—the home of so many staunch supporters of the good cause

The Wheel for the People.

The Massey-Harris Bicycle, only one grade and that the highest. Only one price and that to everybody. W. J. Normile, sole agent for the county Miller block, sign of the Golden Wheel.

Madame Gabriel Luizet.

The Dominion Experimental Farm at Ottawa has tested a large list of desirable roses during the past two or three years. Those which have been found hardy for the period of three winters are listed and among these is the beautiful rose illustrated, Madame Gabriel Luizet. The cut, of course, represents the rose on a reduced scale. Director Saunders, in his report, says mary Convictions.

BINSON CO.

id Addington for the Quarter ending the 9th day of March 1897

Name of victing Justice.	Amount of Penalty.	Time When paid or to be paid to said Justice.	To whom paid over by said Justice.	If not paid why not and general observations if any.
torms	$1 00	Jan 9 1897	Township Treasurer
	30	Forthwith	Complainant and Co treas
	1 00	Feb 15 1897		Not yet paid
	1 00	do		do
	1 00	Forthwith		do
	1 00	do		do
	1 00	do		do
	1 00	do		do
	20 00	Forthwith	Ontario College Pharmacy
ey	1 00	do	County Treasurer
callen	20 00	do	to complainant Prov Treas
	10 00	do	do
	5 00	do	do
	5 00	do	do
	5 00	do	do
	5 00	do	do
	5 00	do	do
	40 00	do	Inspector
	40 00	do	do
	40 00	do	do
	11 00			Appeal d
	4 00			Committed
	1 00			Committed
	1 00			Committed
	1 00			Committed
	1 00

victions returned to me for the quarter ending March 9th, 1897.

S. C. WARNER,

Clerk of the Peace, County of Lennox and Addington.

worm suffers from five principal and at least twenty minor diseases, any one or all of which may ravage it every season, the notorious Irish potato harvest would seem surety itself in comparison with the natural industry. Under M. de. Chardonnet's process there is no fear of attacks of muscardine, pebrine, flacherie, guttine or grasserie (the five leading ailments of the grub). The amount of the product depends solely upon the capacity of the machinery.

England followed France's lead and now Benjamin Folsom, formerly United States consul at Sheffield, has secured the letters patent for this country, and announces the approaching birth of a company to set the new industry going here. The works will probably be located at Niagara Falls.

It would seem as though, if there was one thing beyond another which it would be impossible to produce from wood, that thing would be the lustrous and shimmering fabric known as silk. And yet it is claimed that in this field man's art can surpass nature, and that he can produce silk which is brighter, cheaper and more enduring than that spun from the cocoon.

The process by which wood is converted into silk fiber is a very interesting one. A number of different kinds of wood may be used, white pine and spruce being best adapted to the propose, but it is also said that the cottonwood, so common in the middle west, will make excellent silk. The wood is first ground to a pulp in the usual manner, and the pulp is macerated in a solution of nitric and sulphuric acid. The acids are then squeezed out, and the pulp is immersed in vats of water, where it is left until thoroughly cleansed. After the water is drawn off and the mass has partially dried, it is put into a huge revolving cylinder containing alcohol and ether, and is left to the influence of these substances for some hours. From here it is passed through a filter, and comes out as a sort of heavy gum which closely resembles collodion.

It is from this gum-like substance that the silk is directly produced, and the spinning process which comes next is perhaps the most interesting of all, because in it the silk worm has been closely copied. The gum or collodion is forced into pipes which run along beside the spinning machines. From these pipes are suspended a number of small glass tubes, the apertures in which are not more than a half or a quarter as large as that in the tube of an ordinary house thermometer. The pneumatic pressure forces the semi-liquid substance into these glass tubes, which are the artificial substitute for the silk worm. The spinner touches her finger to the opening of the glass tubes, the substances adheres to it, and she draws out a filament as fine as that which is spun by the silk worm. Contact with the air hardens the filaments at once, and they are guided directly into the bobbin and spun off in the same manner as the natural product. It takes from six to ten of the small filaments, according to their fineness, to make a single strand of silk fibre. This is done by simply guiding the necessary number of filaments to the same bobbin, and then pressing them together at a point between the tubes and the bobbin. Not only do the strands adhere at that point, but they continue to join there as the reel moves on. The thread is kept of uniform thickness by the openings in the glass tubes, which are all of one size.

As the thread is reeled off from the glass tubes, it is of a light straw color and looks exactly as silk fiber does at this stage of its manufacture. But there are certain peculiarities about this wood-pulp silk which require still further processes before it is finished. In the first place, the fiber is rendered very inflammable by the chemical changes it has undergone and must be denitrified before it can be safely handled. Then comes the final and important process of imparting the luster, which is done by ironing. The thread is passed over revolving rollers, which stretch and iron it in much the same way that the big machines in a steam laundry iron your collars and cuffs. The artificial silk takes on the colors of the dye as easily and brilliantly as the natural kind, and if a bundle of the artificial fiber is placed beside the product of the silkworm it is impossible to distinguish one from the other. When woven into fabrics, it is, of course, equally impossible to tell the difference. Artificial silk imported from England has already been sold in this country, but whether it is equal to the natural product is a question on which silk dealers seem to be divided. The advocates of the new industry insist, however, that if there is any advantage in the matter of appearance and durability it rests with the artificial silk.

Mr. Folsom says that the new fabric will undoubtedly rob the silkworm of its importance as an industrial agent, because of the greater durability and brilliancy of the artificial silk, and especially because of its greater cheapness. The wood fiber silk, he avers, can be profitably produced at $1 per pound, which is about one-third the price of the other kind.

S. Pringle, Stella, was married to Miss Jennie S. Pollie, of Kingston, on Wednes-

CASTORIA.

The fac-simile signature of Chas. H. Fletcher is on every wrapper

Mrs. J. J. Smith is spending a few days visiting her daughter, Mrs. A. Lucas, College Hill, Belleville.

Mrs. B. B. Vanslike, Morven, is slowly sinking and recovery is now thought to be out of the question. Heart failure is said to be the trouble.

The oil well work is yet in a state of uncertainty, but we have great hopes that it will be resumed ere long, though it cannot be stated for a certainty. It is not at all likely the matter will drop at this stage: so far the prospects are said to be very encouraging, though the rock has been a very hard one from the beginning. Recent borings are said to be in a sandstone very fine grain. Gas still shows up as usual, which Mr. Steel claimed is nothing more or less than the vapor from an oil deposit, the location of which is the problem they are trying to solve.

The tea meeting in the Lutheran church last week was a highly successful and enjoyable affair.

MILL HAVEN.

Though the weather has been decidedly warm for a few days, our winter causeway to the island is all right yet, except for the cracks which must be avoided. The people from the Island are taking advantage of this to get their teaming done.

We hear that Mr. James Fairfield intends building a new grist mill in the spring.

Miss Henderson of Kingston spent a few days here with Mrs. Snider.

The horse races in Bath last Thursday afternoon were well attended from around here.

Mr. and Mrs. Hinch, of Camden, have moved into Mr. Stirling's new house.

Mrs. B. Wemp has returned home from Chatham where she spent the winter.

Mr. Joshua Franklin who has been quite ill is slowly recovering.

Death has entered our midst. Miss Frick of Parrott's Bay died after a few days sickness.

Mr. G. B. Fleming one of our oldest inhabitants passed quietly away on Sunday morning last. Deceased was about 86 years of age and belonged to the Presbyterian church. The funeral service which was held at the house on Tuesday morning was largely attended. Rev. Mr. Cumberland, of Amherst Island, conducted the services, assisted by Rev. W. B. Tucker, of Bath. The body was placed in the Mill Haven vault.

Miss Jennie Baker who has been quite ill with the whooping cough is recovering.

WILTON.

Secord Nedo received an ugly cut on the face, the result of a fall on the ice.

Miss Nora West, Yarker, is the guest of Miss Rose Shibley.

M F Parrott and Wm. Scott returned Monday evening from a business trip to Arden.

Robert Miller is suffering with a severe cold.

C. Walker is moving from Murvale into R. Miller's house. Mr. Walker and Wm. Cole will work Mr. Miller's farm this year.

L. L. Gallagher held a meeting in the interest of his new cheese factory last Wednesday evening. As was expected a large crowd turned out for everybody knew there would be a lively time. During the lull before the storm Geo. Walker was elected chairman and J. W. Edwards, Sec. of the meeting. Shortly after the business was begun the storm within began to rage. Between squalls the following officers were elected. Rec-treas., L. L. Gallagher, auditors, Clarke Walker and Ross Peters, salesman, L. L. Gallagher, milk inspector Charles Snider.

The wife of Lester Babcock of this place, died at Piccadilly last Thursday after a short illness. Deceased went to Piccadilly about two weeks ago to nurse her sister, Mrs. John Dier, who was suffering with pneumonia, but while there she contracted the same disease, and not being in the best of health she soon succumbed. Her husband, and two children, Charlie residing in this place, and Mrs. Amey, Rochester, survive her. Deceased was a member of the C.O.C.F. The funeral services held in the Methodist church Sunday morning were largely attended. Mrs. Dier has since died making the third sister within a few weeks.

CASTORIA

For Infants and Children.

The fac-simile signature of Chas. H. Fletcher is on every wrapper

MADAME GABRIEL LUIZET.

of this rose: "A very strong grower and an abundant bloomer. The flowers are very large, cup-shaped, compact, very handsome, of a creamy rose color, and slightly fragrant. One of the finest roses in the collection, and a fine bloomer during the autumn."

Close Root Pruning in Tree Planting.

Last spring I tried root pruning with peach trees in a limited way, the soil being a very sandy loam, and the result was so satisfactory that, in planting my new orchard I shall reduce all the peach tree roots to inch stubs. It is not necessary to say that possibly under other conditions than such as exist at the south, this system might not do so well; its advantages are so great when it will do that it is worth the while of those who have fruit trees to plant to try it in a small, experimental way. In pruning, the cut should be made with a sharp knife, the cut sloping from the under-side of the root toward its point. It is claimed that these new roots tend to grow at nearly right angles to the cut surface, or downward, while the tree planted with whole roots extends its roots more nearly in a horizontal line, where drouth can reach them. Besides the deeper roots given, it is further stated by those who have tried this plan that the trees make a vigorous and uniform growth, and that they are much more sure to grow. Where the roots are close pruned, the stem should also be cut down to about a foot in length. When the ground is prepared, the planting is done by simply thrusting in a spade, leaning it forward, dropping in the tree or vine behind it, removing the spade, and treading down the soil firmly.—Judd Price, in American Agriculturist.

An Early Potato Wrinkle.

Early Potatoes.

Early potatoes in the garden may be protected against potato bugs and flea beatles by a board at each side of the row covered with netting, says the American Agriculturist. This will also conserve moisture, and if the soil is rich will make the crop earlier. Of course it is not practicable on a large scale, but applies to small gardens where poisons are not used.

A. E. Molson, of the Merchant's Bank, and W. Ponton, of the Dominion Bank, W. F. G. Barron, of Dominion Bank, Toronto, have purchased Massey-Harris bicycles from W. J. Normile.

THE DOOR TO GOOD HEALTH.

Is Through the Kidneys—Like a Well Planned Sanitary System They Keep the Human Body Healthy—Interesting Story From Quebec.

The kidneys have very appropriately been described as the sanitary system of the human body. Let them become inoperative and disease will quickly follow, and unless the obstructions are removed death will be the result. Mr. D. J. Locke, of Sherbrooke, P. Q., suffered for years from complicated kidney trouble, and spent over $100 in efforts to secure relief; but no relief came until he used South American Kidney Cure. His statement is that four bottles completely cured him, and to-day he is in the enjoyment of sound health. In the most distressing cases this remedy gives relief in six hours. Sold by A. W. Grange & Bro.

900 DROPS

CASTORIA

A Vegetable Preparation for Assimilating the Food and Regulating the Stomachs and Bowels of

INFANTS CHILDREN

Promotes Digestion, Cheerfulness and Rest. Contains neither Opium, Morphine nor Mineral. NOT NARCOTIC.

Recipe of Old Dr SAMUEL PITCHER
Pumpkin Seed -
Alx. Senna +
Rochelle Salts -
Anise Seed +
Peppermint -
Bi Carbonate Soda +
Worm Seed +
Clarified Sugar -
Wintergreen Flavor.

A perfect Remedy for Constipation, Sour Stomach, Diarrhoea, Worms, Convulsions, Feverishness and LOSS OF SLEEP.

Fac Simile Signature of
Chas. H. Fletcher.
NEW YORK.

At 6 months old
35 DOSES - 35 CENTS

EXACT COPY OF WRAPPER.

SEE THAT THE FAC-SIMILE SIGNATURE —OF— Chas. H. Fletcher. IS ON THE WRAPPER OF EVERY BOTTLE OF CASTORIA

Castoria is put up in one-size bottles only. It is not sold in bulk. Don't allow anyone to sell you anything else on the plea or promise that it is "just as good" and "will answer every purpose." See that you get C-A-S-T-O-R-I-A.

The fac-simile signature of Chas. H. Fletcher is on every wrapper.

The Dominion Bank
ESTABLISHED 1871.

CAPITAL — $1,500,000.00
RESERVE FUND — $1,450,000.00

Deposits received and interest allowed. Drafts on all parts of Great Britain and United States bought and sold.

E. H. BAINES, Agent.

THE - MERCHANTS - BANK
OF CANADA
Head Office, — Montreal
Capital paid-up, $6,000,000
Surplus, $3,000,000
INTEREST AT CURRENT RATES PAID ON DEPOSITS.
A GENERAL BANKING BUSINESS TRANSACTED.
W. A. BELLHOUSE,
Manager, Napanee Branch

EPPS'S COCOA
ENGLISH
BREAKFAST COCOA
Possesses the following Distinctive Merits:
DELICACY OF FLAVOR
SUPERIORITY IN QUALITY.
Grateful and Comforting to the Nervous or Dyspeptic.
NUTRITIVE QUALITIES UNRIVALLED.
In Quarter-Pound Tins Only.
Prepared by JAMES EPPS & Co., Ltd., Homœopathic Chemists, London, England.

Cook's Cotton Root Compound

Is the only safe, reliable monthly medicine on which ladies can depend in the hour and time of need.
Is prepared in two degrees altogether too common in the past and a few lessons may have a salutary effect in guarding against their occurrence in the future.

THE mild Havana and the harmless little cigarette must go, so far as the Writers' Club, of London, England, is concerned. The Writers' Club is composed exclusively of women journalists or authors, and the members have been given the alternative of abandoning the weed or vacating the club. In view of this the horrible thought will obtrude itself that some of those scathing articles on the evils of tobacco may have been written by a lady with a bargain counter cigar between her teeth.

THE Ontario Government's proposed changes in the license laws seem to be displeasing to both the temperance and the liquor elements. The Government may have reached that happy medium however which will find favor with the great bulk of moderate and right thinking people, who, while they are not so loud in their protestations as the professional temperance advocate, have the cause fully as much at heart. The proposed amendments will reduce the number of licenses issued by 153 and will extend the age of a minor from eighteen to twenty-one years of age. The hours for closing bar rooms during every day of the week except Saturday nights and Sundays will be limited to 10 o'clock in townships, villages and unorganized territories, and in cities and towns to 11 o'clock. Any existing regulations of the Boards of License Commissioners that fix the hour of closing at a longer period than the above are to be null and void. Druggists are prohibited from selling liquor except upon a prescription signed by a registered medical practitioner, and such prescription shall not exceed six

A CONTRAST.

To the Editor of THE NAPANEE EXPRESS.

The Newburgh post office has had a great deal of local prominence through the district from the fact that it has only been kept open at hours to suit the convenience of the postmaster personally, without any regard to the business requirements of the public. It again comes forward this week and claims attention by another visit from the inspector, who, when he held an investigation a few months ago, left orders that it should be kept open all day from 7 a.m. to 8 p.m., which orders the postmaster took upon himself to totally disregard.

The inspector this time gives imperative orders that his former instructions be carried out or the office vacated. And as a result beginning the evening of March 3rd the office has been kept open up to 8 p.m., and the public miss the old familiar sign "gone to dinner," or "gone to tea." That used to stare the impatient visitor in the face, and in its place is found a new one "office hours 7 a. m. to 8 p.m." now decorates the office door, and it is safe to say that the pernicious habit of swearing, so much indulged in formerly, will in a short time be an unknown vice in the Village of Newburgh.

Note the action of the now celebrated Laurier guillotine represented to the rising generation of Tories as roaming about the country seeking officials whom it may devour, that their places may be made use of to pay faithful grits for their years of toil in the good of the cause. This official is not guillotined but is given a warning which he disregards; is given a second warning, not sent away even yet. Contrast this with conservative usage of Mr. Aylsworth, Tamworth. And yet The Beaver is not satisfied. By the way was it not the same "Beaver" that gave its readers, as a piece of news, that the result of the Newburgh investigation was that the postmaster was found so efficient that his salary had been raised. It is really a matter of wonder what the "Beaver" can make itself believe, whether it can its readers or not.

CORRESPONDENT.

HAMILTON.

Restoration.

A Hamilton lady undergoes an experience and relates the history of a severe trial.

Mrs. James Graham, 280 James street north, Hamilton, wife of the well-known grocer at that address, relates the following circumstances. Mr. and Mrs. Graham have resided in Hamilton for the past 14 years, and are very well and favorably known.

Mrs. Graham says: "During the six months prior to taking Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills I had a serious trouble arising from wrong action of the heart. One of the symptoms was that I could not lie on my left side, for it I did so my heart throbbed so violently as to give me great pain. The smallest noise or the slightest exertion would start my heart palpitating terribly. It was impossible for me to go up a short flight of stairs without stopping to rest and regain my breath. I was excessively nervous, and my limbs would tremble as if with ague. My hands and feet were unnaturally cold, and I suffered from sharp pains in the back of my head. The slamming of a door would nearly set me wild. Frequently I would wake up frightened, and then was unable to get to sleep again. I lost flesh and became very weak and despondent. I felt miserable in mind and body.

"For six months I have been constantly taking medicine, trusting that it would help me, and for a time was under the care of a physician, but all the efforts I made towards a cure was of no avail. My physician finally told my husband. "You know there is no cure for heart disease," which made me more despondent than ever.

"Six weeks ago I was induced to try Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills, and from that time my restoration to health dates. I have taken four boxes, which I bought at John A. Bart's drug store, corner James and Merrick streets. These pills are the only medicine that have done me any good, or given me relief. I am happy to say that

Liver Ills

Like biliousness, dyspepsia, headache, constipation, sour stomach, indigestion are promptly cured by Hood's Pills. They do their work easily and thoroughly. Best after dinner pills. 25 cents. All druggists. Prepared by C. I. Hood & Co., Lowell, Mass. The only Pill to take with Hood's Sarsaparilla.

Hood's Pills

CELERY BED SYSTEM.

EXPERIMENTS OF JOHN CRAIG, OTTAWA EXPERIMENTAL FARM.

Eight Varieties Tested—The Condition and Yield of These Varieties Tabulated—The Bed Method of Culture—What Is Claimed For It.

A good deal has been said and written recently regarding the advantages of "Bed culture" of celery over the ordinary single or double row system.

Fig 1.

PARIS GOLDEN YELLOW.

Celery has been grown both in beds and in rows for the past three years at the Central Farm. Some data regarding the condition and yield of 8 varieties grown in beds this year are given below. The "bed system" is undoubtedly to be recommended to those who have but a small area to be devoted to the cultivation of this vegetable—which I may venture to remark

VARIETY.	Seedsmen.	Date of Sowing.	Date or Pricking out.	When planted out.	Area occupied, squart feet.	No. of Plants.	When harvested.	Height when Harvested.
White Plume	Thorb	April 7	May 12	June 25	25	80	Oct 25	ft. in. 1 6
Heud New Pink Plume	Thorb	"	"	"	25	80	"	1 6
Great Garden Rose	Read	"	"	"	18	144	"	1 6
Giant Paschal	Thorb	"	"	"	33	60	"	1 6
Boston Market	Thorn	"	"	"	40	120	"	1 6
London Red	Steele	"	"	"	40	120	"	1 6
Paris Golden Yellow	Steele	"	"	"	33	60	"	1 6
Golden Self Blanching	Thorn	"	"	"	34	100	"	1 6

of strength.

No. 1 for ordinary cases is by far the best dollar medicine known—sold by druggists, one Dollar per box.

No. 2 for special cases—10 degrees stronger—sold by druggists. One box, Three Dollars; two boxes, Five Dollars.

No. 1, or No. 2, mailed on receipt of price and two 3-cent stamps.

The Cook Company,
Windsor, Ontario.

Sold in Napanee and everywhere in Canada by all responsible druggists.

Pain-Killer.

(PERRY DAVIS'.)

A Sure and Safe Remedy in every case and every kind of Bowel Complaint is

Pain-Killer.

This is a true statement and it can't be made too strong or too emphatic.

It is a simple, safe and quick cure for

Cramps, Cough, Rheumatism, Colic, Colds, Neuralgia, Diarrhœa, Croup, Toothache.

TWO SIZES, 25c. and 50c.

VERY LARGE BOTTLES 50 CENTS.

The D. & L. Emulsion

Is invaluable, if you are run down, as it is a food as well as a medicine.

The D. & L. Emulsion
Will build you up if your general health is impaired.

The D. & L. Emulsion
Is the best and most palatable preparation of Cod Liver Oil, agreeing with the most delicate stomachs.

The D. & L. Emulsion
Is prescribed by the leading physicians of Canada.

The D. & L. Emulsion
Is a marvellous flesh producer and will give you an appetite.

50c. & $1 per Bottle

Be sure you get the genuine | DAVIS & LAWRENCE CO., LTD. MONTREAL

The Napanee Express

NAPANEE, FRIDAY, MAR. 12th, 1897.

PATRONS and Prohibition don't assimilate.

AMERICA, the land of the free, and Nevada, the home of the prize fighter.

CHRISTIANS must take care of themselves, the Powers will look after the welfare of the Turkish assassins.

DR. NANSEN didn't discover the North Pole, but he is experiencing a profit from his lectures that knocks the pole many degrees in the shade.

Now that they have inaugurated McKinley the great American nation can turn its individual attention to the two great and distinguished men at Carson.

ONE of the most absurd pleas put up for the N. P. was that it protected the workmen and helped to keep up wages. Wages are regulated by the number of persons seeking employment. Competing labor has always been on the free list. All the N. P. ever did for the workmen was to increase the cost of living.

SAUNDERS, a deputy-returning officer in the Macdonald election, has been found guilty of ballot stuffing. He should be summarily dealt with. Offenses of this character have been ounces. There are other provisions and restrictions which militate against the license holders but still the temperance people are not happy. Nothing short of the closing up of every barroom in the country, the annhiliation of every brewery and the wholesale destruction of every drop of "O Be Joyful" in the Dominion will satisfy the leaders of the temperance cause. The action of the Ontario Government is characterized "an outrage," "A slap in the face," "A downright insult," "A perfect mockery," etc, by the heated members of Ontario Alliance. One warlike lady is in favor of showing the Government "their claws," or "the claw," we are not sure which. The officials of the Dominion and Ontario Alliance are no doubt wonderfully clever people. Still the country is not in the mood to give them carte blanche to run the government and regulate the diet of the nation. The amendments to the License Act may be inadequate, they may be an insult, a mockery and an outrage to the feelings of the Ontario Alliance, still there is another side to the question. Had the Government granted the demands of the Alliance the present tempest in a teapot wouldn't be a comparison to the hornet's nest they would have raised about their ears. Any prohibitory law which has not the moral support of the people at its back will prove futile. Until the rank and file are educated up to the pitch of the Ontario Alliance and view the indulgence in intoxicating liquors as a mortal sin, a prohibitory law will prove abortive. You can't make people sober by act of parliament and any legislation calculated to restrict the liberty of the subject is apt to be resented. The millennium for which temperance people hope can only be reached by degrees. Forge the chain link by link, as popular sentiment demands it, and it will prove effective. Anything of a revolutionary nature is more apt to retard than assist the suppression of the liquor evil for which all good citizens hope.

AS WELL AS EVER.

A Brickmaker Listens to Reason-Uses Six Boxes of Dodd's Kidney Pills and tells it.

Brockville, Mar. 8 (Special)—Mr. W. H. Odell perhaps one of the best known citizens of this town has lately recovered from a long continued and painful kidney ailment. He tells the story of his experience to the correspondent as follows:—

"I have suffered for over a year from kidney disease, the pain in my back being so severe that I was unable to stand to my work."

"Noticing the published cures of what Dodd's Kidney Pills were doing for others I concluded to use them."

"Having used only six boxes I can say that I am perfectly cured and well so that I can attend to business as well as ever I could."

Madden's Enamel is the only stove pipe varnish that does not smell or smoke when applied to stove pipes, ranges, grates, etc. Ask your dealer for it. 45tf

This Spring. Spring is at hand, winter is nearly over. Are you ready for summer? Is your blood pure? Burdock Blood Bitters purifies and enriches the blood, cures dyspepsia, bad blood, sick headache, etc. B. B. B. removes every trace of impurity from the Blood, from a common pimple to the worst scrofulous sore.

The farmers are preparing for the sugar season.

A LA CRAB.

Hamilton Herald.

We don't believe the statement of Rev. Mr. Hobbs, of London, that nearly all the London people are going straight to hell. Judging from their recent election trial, the ways of London people are so crooked that they couldn't take a straight course even to perdition.

Hagyard's Yellow Oil. This old reliable medicine, in use over a third of a century, cures rheumatism, stiff joints, sprains, bruises, swelling, frost bite, chilblains, chafing neuralgia and all pain or soreness in man or beast. 25c. at all druggists.

they proved that the doctor was mistaken in saying that heart disease could not be cured. Since I commenced taking Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills I have been daily getting better. I can now go upstairs without trouble and attend to my daily duties without the slightest distress. I have gained in flesh, in health and in strength. My blood circulates more freely. Lying on my left side causes me no inconvenience or pain, and I enjoy health and restful sleep. My nerves are strong and vigorous, and there has been such a radical change for the better in my condition that I can say these wonderful pills have practically made a complete cure.

"I recommend them without the slightest hesitation to all sufferers from similar complaints. (Signed) Mrs. Jas. Graham, Hamilton, Ont."

A Place of Love

A good Christian home with its love and prayer and all its gentle influence is almost heaven to a child. It is a place of shelter—the storms are not allowed to blow there too rudely. It is a place of holy teaching. There never come again such lessons as those which fall upon the ears of infancy and childhood from the lips of a Christian mother. It is a place of love—there is no other such love in the world as that which warms a true home. Those who live in such homes have immeasurable opportunities of good. Yet too often are the influences resisted. Then by and by the door is shut. The heart that made the home is still and cold in death. The gentle hand that wrought such beauty and good is folded on the breast. Many a man in mid-life would give all he has to creep back for one hour to the old sacred place; to hear again his mother's voice in counsel or prayer; to feel once more the gentle touch of her hand and to have her sweet comfort. But it is too late. The door is shut.

Looking Backward and Forward.

Absolute forgetfulness of the past is an impossibility to a man in the right use of his facilities. Nothing dies in the soul. A thought once struck out, an emotion once experienced, passes into the permanent furnishing of our inner and immortal being. The apostle Paul could not forget the past of his life. How it comes out again and again, like a minor refrain. Yet practically he did forget the past, he did leave it behind. It was but a fugitive look he gave to the sad and guilty days that were gone. The look intent was before. So we are to forget the past if it has been an inglorious one. There must be no useless moaning, no paralysis of the will. That past cannot be unmade or recalled. Give it a swift look of regret. Then, with the purpose of the Olympian runner—on to the future. The future is yours and mine—radiant, sublime, glorious.—Bishop Fallows.

Watchword of Christianity.

The great watchword of Christianity should no longer be, "What shall I do to be saved?" but rather, "What can I do to save others?" The world must be saved by you and by me, and by the spirit of Christ in us all. The non-church-going masses have nothing to do with us because of a feeling that we lack sympathy with what they hold to be the real things of life. These people, drifting to eternity without guidance and life, can only be reached by showing a fellow feeling for them. We must ourselves be ready to face facts as they exist. The person with a charitable texture of soul sheds a diviner luster on the throne of white than does that one who can label creeds.—Rev. Dr. Vrooman.

LITTLE BRAVES!

Old time a quarter-a-box "Purgers" are quitting the field in whole battalions.

Dr. Agnew's Liver Pills at 20c. a vial are driving them out at all points.

Because they act gently, more effectively, never pain, and are easy to take.

Sick Headache succumbs to one dose. Chronic Constipation dispelled with one vial, and Stomach Disorders of years standing absolutely cured. 40 doses, 20c., at all druggists. Sold by A. W. Grange & Bro.

Wanted—An Idea Who can think of some simple thing to patent? Protect your ideas; they may bring you wealth. Write JOHN WEDDERBURN & CO., Patent Attorneys, Washington, D. C., for their $1,800 prize offer

Total weight in lbs.	Average weight of Stalks, lbs. oz.	REMARKS. Condition when Harvested.
lbs. oz.	lbs. oz.
13 0	1 12	Well blanched and fit for table.
14 0	1 12	Not so solid as White Plume, well blanched.
12 0	1 9	Considerably rusted, unblanched.
12 0	1 9	Solid, slightly blanched.
15 0	1 14	Unblanched.
13 0	1 13	Numerous Side Shoots,; these slightly blanched.
12 0	1 9	Only slightly blanched. Large solid heads.
13 0	1 13	Handsome, well blanched, free from disease.
15 0	1 15	Healthy and solid, well blanched.

parenthetically is much neglected and generally unappreciated by farmers. There is less labor involved if grown in beds than if grown in single or double rows, banking up in order to secure perfect balancing being unnecessary. In order to secure satisfactory results an abundance of manure and water is needed. Without them the plants will be small, stringy and spindling.

GOLDEN SELF-BLANCHING.

The water question is the main drawback. It is unsafe to depend upon the average rainfall. The plants in this experiment were watered on an average twice a week by using the garden hose.

Management of the Bed System.

Sow the seed in a hot bed or cold frame about the middle of April. It will be ready for picking out into rows 2 inches apart each way about a month later. If it is not picked out the young plants should be cut back to give stockiness. In the experiment the plants were set out on June 27th. Hot bed frames were used, additional soil being added till a covering of 6 to 8 inches was laid over the row well settled manure. The plants were set approximately 7x7 inches apart. They grew somewhat slowly at first, but soon covered the ground and made a vigorous growth till arrested by autumn frost. The sides of the frames were 12 inches high; these furnished the requisite amount of shade. The early variety were well blanched when taken up, while the late kinds needed further blanching to make them suitable for market, though they were in good condition for cellar or pit storing. As stated before, it was found that

CASTORIA.

The fac-simile signature of Chas. H. Fletcher is on every wrapper.

This Cold Weather

MAKES ONE THINK OF

WARM OVERSHOES

—OR—

LINED RUBBERS.

You can't buy them cheaper than you can from us. If the prices don't suit you, don't buy. Call on us any way.

HAINES & LOCKETT,

4 BIG SHOE STORES

NO CREDIT. ONE PRICE.

LILLIAN NORDICA TO WOMEN.

Health-giving Paine's Celery Compound the Best Spring Remedy.

Mme. Nordica has the distinction of being the first prima donna born in the United States.

She testifies to the wonderful health-giving effects of the greatest product of medical science—Paine's Celery Compound.

Not since Christine Nilsoon has there been a Marguerite to be compared to Nordica's splendid impersonation.

All her achieved success had for a foundation the most unrelaxing study and effort. No one knows better than the applauded prima donna what such severe work means to the nerves and strength. The following letter from Lillian Nordica to Wells & Richardson Co., must be gratefully read by hosts of women:

"It certainly gives me great pleaure to testify to the health-giving effects of Paine's Celery Compound. I truly believe it to be the best of all spring remedies."

If the winter has left you weak and languid, Paine's Celery Compound will restore strength to your nerves, will purify the blood and make you well. Don't allow nervous debility to go on. Take warning from dyspepsia, nervous headache and sleeplessness. Guard against that tired, played-out feeling that so often appears as spring approaches. Neuralgia and rheumatism—awful enemies—must be conquered.

Paine's Celery Compound is the world's true disease banisher, renovater of the system, and a life giver at this time of the year. It quickly furnishes nutriment for the innumerable nerve fibres; it arouses the organs of digestion and assimilation to brisker action; it enables the wasted body to build up flesh and muscle, and dissipates every fearful and apprehensive feeling.

Paine's Celery Compound is truly the medicine for women when weakened and burdened by work and home cares. It gives them fresh new blood, vim, energy and activity, and a new lease of life. Try it, and when you go to your dealer for Paine's Celery Compound, see that you get it; no other medicine can take its place successfully.

such a large number of plants upon a comparatively small area sucked up the moisture so rapidly that it was necessary in order to preserve the plants in a healthy growing condition to water at least once a week and sometimes twice. "Celery leaf rust" was controlled by spraying with Bordeaux mixture.

Paris Golden Yellow, White Plume and Boston Market are three excellent varieties and mature in the order mentioned.

The accompanying table shows what a large quantity may be grown in this way upon a small area. For this reason the "bed method" of growing celery possesses many advantages over the

DEAR WOMAN'S DELIGHT.

Though tender-hearted all may be,
To-day there's scarce a daughter
Of mother Eve who ever shies
At signs of "wholesale slaughter."
Or counts a "sacrifice" as aught
But luck kind stars have brought her.

Does she but see a little mouse
Her screams are like to rend us;
Yet—wee bit body though she be
With courage that's tremendous,
She's ever glad to hie her where
The slaughter's most stupendous.

E'en she whose sensibilities,
So fine, have made her shut down
On tales of executions—whose Small foot is firmly put down
'Gainst legal murder—strikes out for
The spot where there's a cut down.

Though woman's eye diurnally
May scan the papers, one day
More avidly she doth devour
Their close packed contents. Sunday
'Twould break her precious heart to miss
The "ads" for "Bargain Monday!"
—Boston Globe.

Considerate.

"You say," remarked the debonaire debtor, "that I am owing more money than anybody else that your firm have on their books?"

"Yes, sir," replied the collector.

"And that I am about the only person with whom they have trouble in getting their money?"

"That's what they told me."

HOW TO APPLY MANURE.

A Practical Illustrated Lesson From a Nurseryman's Experience.

It is at once clear that a nursery affords some special advantage in the study of the manure question. Here trees and plants are dug up at their feeding stage, in a way that hardly obtains with another crop. One can see what an apple tree or strawberry plant likes to feed upon and in what shape, as is not likely to be the case with a cabbage or a tree in the orchard, which are not dug from the earth.

Many years ago I learned a lesson in the application of manure. It was A Circus Farm.

The "glorious climate of California" is being put to a new and interesting use. A man has purchased 500 acres in Merced County, and intends to add to it 500 more, not for the raising of fruit, but for an experiment in the breeding of elephants, hippopotami, lions, tigers, llamas, nilgaus, kangaroos and other tropical and exotic animals, such as are in common demand for purposes of exhibition. He already has a considerable stock of these creatures.

His design is to obtain the conditions suited to every sort of animal used for exhibition, and he thinks that he can come nearer to realizing these conditions in California than anywhere else. The elephants require a secluded jungle, and this properly fenced, so that they cannot get out, is to be provided for them.

Sections of the jungle will be fenced off with a wire barrier 16 feet high for the tigers, which, with their offspring, will be made at home here when the weather is warm, and cared for indoors when it is too cold for them in the woods. The kangaroos, nilgaus, zebras, camels, giraffes and llamas will find in properly sheltered portions of this California ranch conditions of life not greatly unlike those in the countries to which they are indigenous.

The proprietor is to make an experiment of raising camels on a large scale, and they and the llamas will be taught to bear burdens, as they do in their native countries.

A flock of kangaroos will be turned loose. It is regarded as likely that they will find themselves even more at home in California than in Aus-

Fig 8.

WHITE PLUME.

single row system to the amateur city or suburban gardener.

JOHN CRAIG.
Horticulturist, Central Experimental Farm, Ottawa.

Why the Trip Was Put Off

"Ah, Professor," greeted the student, "I hear that you are about to make a trip to San Francisco."

"You are misinformed, sir," the Professor answered. "From motives of economy I have decided to postpone the trip until winter."

"You see," the pedagogue explained, "taking advantage of one of the great laws I expound in the natural philosophy class every day, I find that the trip can be shortened in cold weather. The principle involved is that law which relates to the expansion and contraction of metals. I find that a steel rail thirty feet in length contracts one-quarter of an inch with the cold. At the rate of 176 rails to the mile in a distance of 3000 miles I make just about two miles and a quarter by traveling in winter."

"Quite a saving, Professor," said the student, and he walked on silently marvelling at the learned one's sagacity.

"That's what they told me."

"Young man, I like your looks, and I like your manners, and I'm going to be a friend to you. I hate to have that debt knocking around my accounts, but for your sake I'll put up with it. If I were to pay up, the chances are ten to one that your firm would find collections so easy that they would discharge you, and then I should never forgive myself."—Washington Star.

BEAUTY AND HEALTH TO FAIR WOMEN.

Miss Annie Patterson, of Sackville, N. B., Once the Victim of Nervousness and General Debility, Takes on the Health of Early Years.

Some remedies are nothing more than a temporary stimulant, and the reaction aggravates the disease. Where the system has become run down, and nervous debility in its worst forms have shown themselves, South American Nervine will cure. It strikes at the nerve centres and builds up the system by removing the real cause of trouble. Miss Annie Patterson of Sackville, N.B., a lady well-known in the Maritime Provinces, suffered terribly from indigestion and nervousness, and her case seemed incurable. She accepted South American Nervine without hope that it was any different to other remedies, but her words are, "I had taken only one bottle when my system began to take on the health of earlier years, and after taking three bottles I was completely cured." Sold by A. W. Grange & Bro.

A Radical Change. Mrs. Jas. Graham, Hamilton, Ont., says: "My doctor said that my heart trouble could not be cured, but I am happy to say he was mistaken, for Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills have made a complete cure in my case. I have now no heart pains, sleeplessness, flutt ring or breathlessness, and am entirely restored to health and vigor."

Sweet Caporal

CIGARETTES

10C. per Package

Standard of the World.

KINNEY BROS.,

NEW YORK.

New Fall and Winter Goods.
New stock just received.

Overcoatings, Scotch and English and Canadian Suitings, English and Canadian Serges, West of England Pants, all of which will be made up on the shortest possible notice. Satisfaction guaranteed. The best of Trimmings used in making up ordered work. We are not selling at cost, but our prices give but small profit and they are lower than our competitors. Please call and inspect before purchasing.

R. FORD. T. G. DAVIS.

A LESSON IN MANURING.

when, as a boy in my father's nursery, I began to take a hand in the operations. We purchased from a tannery a large pile of compost, hair, ashes, lime and other refuse, with enough bark in layers to make all pile up well. In the winter we drew this on land devoted to nursery and other crops, usually plowing it under in the spring. Sometimes on fall-plowed land we would incorporate the mixture with the soil, by the use of the cultivator or share harrow, in the spring.

One of the things that vividly impressed me as we dug trees and plants from soil thus manured was the way in which rootlets would lay hold of congenial bits of plant food; the tufts and felted knots of hair would be the attraction to a mass of small roots. This is illustrated in the accompanying sketch, in which A A A shows bunches of hair. This thing was seen not only in the case of seedling and tree roots, but also in those of strawberry plants, which lie much nearer the surface.

A lesson to be drawn from this is that the plowing in of manure as a method of applying it should not yield to surface applications in any marked degree. We meet with persons who say that the surface application of manure is the more rational method, because the strength of the manure can only go one way, namely, downwards to the roots. The avidity with which roots seek out and lay hold of particles of manure in the case stated showed to me that there can be no mistake in putting the plant food right where it will be needed.

With the surface application of manure in the fall and winter there is often great loss of fertility through escape by leaching and surface drainage during thaws in the winter. If it be drawn to the plat and be kept in piles until just before the spring plowing or cultivating, such loss is not appreciable.

In the frequent trips I make past some of the most successful market gardens of Buffalo I have often wished that the young men throughout the country who aspire to be successful market gardeners could be impressed by the two fundamental planks of success witnessed here, namely, the most liberal annual manuring and the most perfect tillage. These two things accomplish wonders for the produce garden.

ELIAS A. LONG.

Honest Horse Traders.

Swapping horses, it is said, is of all trades the most trying to men's honesty. Men who can deal squarely under ordinary circumstances yield to the temptation to get the best of a bargain when it is a question of horseflesh. Hence it is a pleasure to read the following anecdote, which proves the exception to the rule:

Two gentlemen of Marshalton, Va., whom for convenience we call Mr. A. and Mr. S., met one day and agreed to swap horses.

"I'll tell you what, John," said Mr. A., "if you get the best of the trade you shall bring me two bushels of wheat to bind the bargain, and if I come out best, I'll do the same by you, eh?"

"That's a go," said Mr. S., "and I 'low you'll bring me the wheat."

"That's as it may be," retorted Mr. A. "But let it be agreed, then, that a week from this afternoon the one's that's best suited, be it you or me, shall give t'other two bushels of wheat."

The week passed, the day came, and as luck would have it, Mr. A. and Mr. S. met on the road about midway between their respective homes.

"Where to, John?" cried Mr. A., as they stopped a moment to chat.

"To your house with the two bushels of wheat," replied Mr. S.

"Well, now, that's good," remarked Mr. A., "for I was on my way to your house on the same errand. This horse you let me have can't be beat."

"Just what I think of this nag," retorted Mr. S., and then they had a hearty laugh, and separated after exchanging wheat.

Aphorisms.

Diligence is the mother of good fortune.—Cervantes.

Flattery labors under the odious charge of servility.—Tacitus.

Nothing resembles pride so much as discouragement.—Arnfel.

Curiosity is one of the forms of feminine bravery.—Victor Hugo.

Censure is a tax man pays to the public for being eminent.—Swift.

I hold that gentlemen to be best dressed whose dress no one observes.—

they will find the most congenial home at home in California than in Australia, as the eucalyptus-tree has done, and that they will scatter themselves through the state.

The hippopotami are to have a lake of their own, where they will be entirely undisturbed for months at a time.

"To Such Base Uses," Etc.

The estate in England which was once the home of the ancestors of George Washington has been sold for the purpose of making a cemetery out of it. It is situated in the county of Durham and is called Washington Hall. The historic mansion is now divided up and used as a tenement house.

AN IMPORTANT LETTER

SHOWING HOW A SUFFERER FROM SCIATICA WAS CURED.

A Correspondent of the Orillia News-Letter With Permission From the Author Makes the Letter Public—It Will be Gladly Read by Other Sufferers From This Painful Malady.

From the Orillia News-Letter.

The following letter has been forwarded us by the Coldwater, Ont., correspondent of the News-Letter, which we have great pleasure in publishing:—

COLDWATER, Sept. 25th, 1896.

A few weeks ago I became very unwell from an attack of sciatica, and remembering that a while ago a well known friend of mine, Mr. C. T. Hopson, of Fesserton, a few miles from here, had been a great sufferer from this painful complaint, I thought it would be well to consult that gentleman as to the medicine he gives credit to for his relief and cure, as I was aware that he was now well and hearty and had ever since been in steady work among lumber—his regular business. He gave me the information required, and wrote out the following testimonial which he desires to have published in anyway I think proper, hoping that it will meet the eye of many sufferers like myself who are anxious to get relief. I therefore forward it to you to publish.—

FESSERTON, Sept. 18th, 1896.

"It is with the greatest pleasure that I testify to the marvellous benefit and cure that Dr. Williams' Pink Pills effected in my case. In the year 1892 I was taken very bad with sciatica. I was treated at different times by two doctors but dispensed with their services as I found I was not getting the hoped for relief. I then tried different remedies advertised as a cure for sciatica, but no better result. Then I tried strongly recommended electrical appliances, but still to no purpose. I did not improve any and the pain was excruciating, and I began to lose all hope of ever getting better. I could not sit down or move about without suffering intense pain, and the only relief I could get was when I lay down with my legs stretched straight out and then the pain was somewhat less. I was in this position one day when I picked up a newspaper lying by my side and there I read of a man cured of sciatica by taking Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. Always having but little faith in proprietary medicine, and in view of the experience I already had, I would not have tried them but for the fact that my wife insisted on going at once and procuring some. She got a box and persuaded me to take them. By the time I had finished the box I believe I felt better, so I kept on taking the pills and by the time I had taken six boxes I was entirely cured. I had been laid up for four months before taking the Pink Pills, and I shall continue to take them occasionally as I know them to be an excellent medicine. I shall never cease recommending them. Yours truly,

CHARLES T. HOPSON.

Our correspondent adds that this letter is from a much respected resident of Fesserton, whose word is generally considered as good as his bond.

CASTORIA.

The fac-simile signature of Chas. H. Fletcher is on every wrapper of the genuine Castoria.

Cheapside.

New Goods, New Goods, New Goods,

New Dress Goods, New Tweeds,
New Prints, New Cloths.

ORDERED CLOTHING a Specialty.

AND NOW IS THE TIME TO MAKE A SELECTION.

ONE PRICE ONLY, AND PRICES RIGHT.

TERMS, - CASH.

W. MOWAT, Proprietor.

Provincial Building and Loan Association, Toronto.

Local Advisory Board at Napanee.

President, M. S. Madole E-q ; Vice Pres., G. W. Gibbard Esq., F. W. Morris, T. D. Pruyn, J, J. Taylor, Chas. Frizzell, Dr. G. W. Edwards, W. P. Deroche. Solicitors Messrs. Deroche and Madden. Valuator, W. Embury ; Sect. Treasurer and Agent, Irvine Parks.

from whom all information can be obtained. Money received on investment at good interest, and money loaned on easy terms of repayment.

Apply to I. Parks. Agent.

FARMERS ATTENTION.

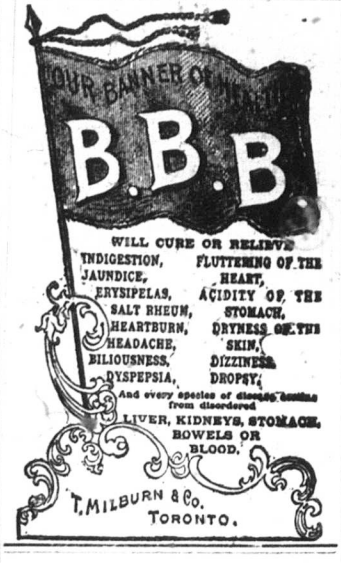
Insure your property in the Lennox and Addington Mutual Fire Insurance Company.
Because it is a Home Company.
Because it is a Safe Company.
Because it is the cheapest and best.
Because it affords the most liberal policies to patrons.
Because it insures only (isolated) non-hazardous risks, as farm property, county churches halls and school houses.
Because it is the Farmer's Company managed by Farmers in the interest of farmers of the Counties of Lennox and Addington, Hastings Frontenac, Lanark and Leeds

Officers—J. B. Aylesworth President; B. C. Lloyd, Vice-President. Directors—A. C. Parks, U. C. Sills, W. R. Gordanier, I. F. Aylesworth. Honorary Directors—Jas. Ried, M.P.P., A. V. Price, Camden. C. R. Allison, Wm. Chesters, Fredericksburgh. D. W. Allison ex-M.P. Adolphustown; F. H. Guess, Col. Geo. Hargaston; all in Prince, Ira. B. Hawkins, Richmond. The board meets at the Secretarie's office in the first Saturday of every month at one p.m.

J. N. McKim, Napanee.
N. A. Caton, Napanee } Agents
Thos. B. Wilson, Newburgh }
M. C. BOGART Sec'y.-Treas.

Wanted.

A MAN To sell Canadian and U. S. grown trees, berry plants, roses, shrubs, hedges, ornamental trees, and seed potatoes, for the only nursery having testing orchards in Canada. We give you the benefit of our experience, so your success is guaranteed. If you are not earning $50 per



MURRAY & LANMAN'S

FLORIDA WATER

THE SWEETEST MOST FRAGRANT MOST REFRESHING AND ENDURING OF ALL PERFUMES FOR THE HANDKERCHIEF, TOILET OR BATH.

THERE ARE NO DEAD.

There is no death! The stars go down,
To rise upon some fairer shore,
And bright in heaven's jeweled crown
They shine forevermore.

There is no death! The dust we tread
Shall change beneath the summer showers,
To golden grain or mellow fruit,
Or rainbow-tinted flowers.

There is no death! An angel form
Walks o'er the earth with silent tread;
He bears our best loved things away;
And—then we call them—dead.

Born into that undying life,
They leave us but tone again;
With joy we welcome them—the same,
Except in sin and pain.

And ever near us, though unseen,
The dear immortal spirits tread;
For all the boundless universe,
Is life! There are no dead.

—J. L. McCREERY.

A BOLD, BAD BURGLAR

BY EMILY R. SCHMIDT.

"Isn't it perfectly dreadful? It seems there is no place secure from them. The papers contain nothing but burglaries, robberies and hold-ups. I am almost afraid to look under the bed at night."

Blanche Warden turned the rings on her fingers nervously as she spoke. She was not a timid girl, but the final test of bravery had never come to her.

"What would you do in case a burglar entered your room, Mr. Dulano?" she asked, addressing one of her callers.

"Exactly what I did last night," the gentleman replied.

"You surely didn't have a burglar last night!" Blanche cried.

"And why not?" I'm keeping the affair quiet because I have a clew that is being followed up. Of course, it will be safe to mention it here," Dulano replied.

"To be sure. Do tell us about it," the girl said eagerly.

"It must have been about 2.30 o'clock this morning when I was aroused by some one turning a key in the door that communicates with the adjoining room. I'm pretty stupid when I first awaken; but I was soon aroused to full consciousness by something cold against my temple."

"Oh, how dreadful!" Blanche cried, shivering.

"That wasn't the dreadful part," Dulano laughed. "The part I object intended to put under her pillow. Alas, it was peacefully reposing on the dressing table in her father's room. The man was tall and wore a black mask. He must be the same one who had visited Mr. Dulano and Arthur the night before. Perhaps it was Arthur. At the thought of her lover the blood went coursing through her body and to her astonishment, she found that she was calm.

"Are you awake?" the burglar whispered, and his voice sounded strangely familiar.

"Yes," she said, faintly.

"Then get up. Don't be afraid. I am not going to harm you. I only want the family jewels. Take me to where they are kept," he whispered again.

At the sound of that voice the last vestige of fear left her. Indignation and outraged feeling smothered every other emotion in her heart. She would prove this lover of hers. Without a moment's hesitation she arose from her bed, glanced indifferently at the glittering barrel of the revolver in the burglar's hand, and walked over to the table, where she lit her little emergency lamp.

"Follow me; I am at your mercy, but I trust you as a gentleman even

There are thousands of sickly school-girls all over this broad land that are dragging their way through school-life who might enjoy that abundant life which belongs to youth by simple attention to hygienic laws and a proper course of treatment with Scott's Emulsion. This would make the blood rich, the heart-beat strong; check that tendency to exhaustion and quicken the appetite by strengthening the digestion. Our book tells more about it. Sent free.

SCOTT & BOWNE, Belleville, Ont.

particulars. Liberal commissions paid part time men. Farmers' sons should look into this! It pays better than working on the farm and offers a chance for promotion. Apply now and get choice of territory.

STONE & WELLINGTON,
Toronto, Canada.

SALESMEN WANTED.

Pushing, trustworthy men to represent us in the sale of our Choice Nursery Stock. Specialties controlled by us. Highest Salary or Commission paid weekly. Steady employment the year round. Outfit free; exclusive territory; experience not necessary; big pay assured workers; special inducements to beginners. Write at once for particulars to

ALLEN NURSERY CO.,
ROCHESTER, N. Y.

FOR SALE!

Large tract of good garden land in South Eastern Florida. AGENTS WANTED to sell options. Apply quick.

FLORIDA GARDEN LAND CO.
Rochester, N. Y.

WANTED SALESMEN.

We want one or two men in each County to take orders for Nursery Stock, and are willing to pay well for good work. We agree to REPLACE FREE anything that dies from natural causes. We also have a choice line of SEED POTATOES GIVE US A TRIAL.

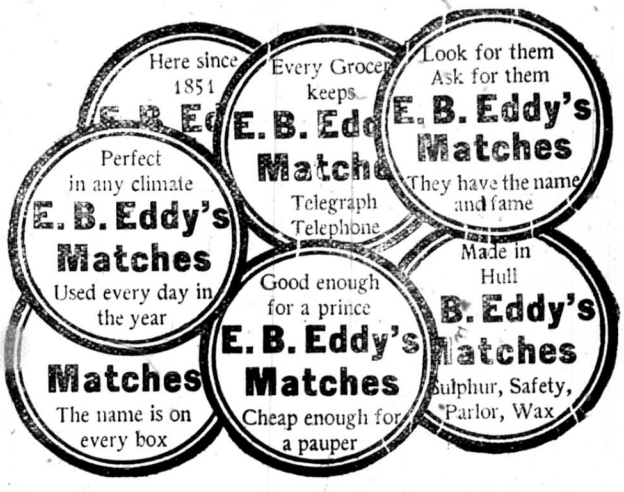
THE HAWKS NURSERY, CO.
ROCHESTER, N. Y.

GENERAL DEALERS.

Easy to Fix.

Patient—Doctor, my breath is troubling me a great deal.

Doctor—Oh, well, we'll soon stop that.



held his gun calmly with one hand while he went through my clothes and helped himself to my watch, my diamond scarf pin and all my ready money."

"At what time did you say that occurred?" Arthur Forrest asked.

"Well, I didn't have any watch to tell me the exact time; but after I had lain awake some three of four hours the chimes on Pilgrim Church sounded the three-quarter hour, and after an equally long time the clock struck three," Dulano replied, with a comical drawl.

"Guess it was watches he was after. He got mine at about the same time. Wonder if he visited any of the other fellows at our house?" Forrest said.

"What! the burglar was in your room too, Arth—Mr. Forrest?" Blanche cried.

"Yes,—but he had the kindness to let me sleep until he got what he wanted. He awakened me as he went through the window," the young man replied.

"Oh, please don't tell me any more," Blanche exclaimed. "You will have me so frightened. And I have to stay in this great house with no one but the servants. You know poor Leona is very ill and papa and mamma were called to Chicago to-day, so I am alone," Miss Warden said with some uneasiness.

"Really, Blanche, it isn't safe for you to stay here alone," Arthur said, seriously.

"Oh, I'm not afraid. I'll put the jewels and plate in the big chest in the wine cellar and sleep with a revolver under my pillow. It would be real fun to have a burglar come," Blanche replied, laughing.

Then they dismissed that terror-inspiring theme from their conversation; but Arthur continued restless and uneasy. He stod at the window and sang. As Dulano turned the music for her, he whispered softly:

"Slip into the library a moment. I have something important to say to you." Then he said, aloud: "I think I shall take a smoke in the library, if I may be excused."

When he had left the room Blanche walked over to the deep bay window and laid her hand gently on Arthur's arm. "What makes you so silent this evening, dear?" she asked, tenderly.

"Oh, Blanché, I hate that Dulano. I suppose I am jealous, but I wish you wouldn't have him hanging around here," he exclaimed, while his handsome face crimsoned.

"But, Arthur, you brought him here before you ever spoke of love to me. Surely you are not afraid of him now that you have my promise," the girl said, seriously.

"No, dearest, I do not doubt you. I felt sorry for him, a stranger there at the boarding house. And besides I wanted him to meet the sweetest woman in St. Louis," he whispered, as he pressed just to suggestion of a kiss on her cheek.

"By the way, I'll go and hunt up that Harper for you, dear," he said, with an effort at spontaneity that was not altogether a success. Then she left the drawing-room; walked half way up the stairs, descended softly and slipped into the library. Dulano was at her side in an instant.

"I'm sorry you spoke of the jewels and things," he said. "I have reason to think Forrest is the burglar. He has been losing heavily at cards lately and is in danger of losing his position at the bank," he whispered, hurriedly.

At the mention of Arthur's name Blanche would have cried out, but the man placed his fingers deftly over her lips. As soon as the speech was ended she fled to her room, hunted up the magazine and returned to the drawing-room. The two men were glaring at each other in angry silence when she entered.

"This call promises to be a game of freeze-out, so I guess I will leave and give you a chance to help Miss Warden put away the silver," Mr. Dulano said in a faintly sarcastic tone to Forrest.

"If Miss Warden desires my help I shall certainly remain," Arthur said, angrily.

"I shall require no assistance whatever," the girl said, haughtily, and the two men departed together. For some minutes she sat in the dressing-room, sad and sore. Arthur Forrest, a gambler, perhaps a burglar! No, it could not be. And yet, why had he been so moody of late? Her heart was sore and, with no thought of the valuables in the house, she dragged herself to bed. The night wore on and sleep came not. The clock was just striking the hour of three when the door opened slowly and she could see the shadowy outline of a man. For a moment she was paralyzed with terror. The scream that started from her heart lost itself somewhere in her throat. A thousand awful fancies chased each other through her mind, as the man advanced to the bed. Then she thought of the revolver that she had in frigid tones.

Then she led the way through the corridor and own the back stairway to the laundry and cellars. Blanche, in her indignation, knew not that the granitoid floor was cold beneath her little bare feet. When she had almost reached the wine cellar, she remembered that the key was on her father's keyring, and was probably at that time in Chicago. An idea struck her.

"Here; you hold the lamp while I climb up and get the key," she said, indicating a niche high in the wall. The man's eyes followed her glance, and he was lost. As quick as thought she blew out the lamp, hurled it in resounding fragments on the floor and sprang upon her burglar like a tiger. The revolver was hers without a struggle and the man was her prisoner.

"Are you Arthur Forest? Speak or I'll blow your brains out!" she cried.

"My oGd, spare me, Blanche! I'm Arthur," the man whispered.

She covered him with the revolver, while she backed across the laundry. When she had gained the stairs she bolted the door securely and fled trembling to the hall above. At the library door she halted, and a low cry escaped her lips as she caught sight of another man in the open window.

"Blanche, my darling, are you safe?" Arthur Forrest cried, as he beheld her white-robed figure.

"How did you escape? I thought the outer door was locked," she said, as she repelled his touch.

"Escape!" the young man cried in astonishment. "I have been following him since midnight. One of my men, who was left here to guard the house, tells me that he entered this window ten minutes ago. The fellow was afraid to follow him alone. I have tracked him from Broadway and twice he evaded me. Where is he, darling?"

"Who—who is it you are looking for?" the girl gasped.

"Wallace Dulano. The officers are here to arrest him. Is he still in the house?" Arthur asked, eagerly.

"There is no way of escape except up the pantry stairs," Blanche replied.

Then, while Arthur let the officers in, she slipped away to her room and donned her dressinggown and slippers. In a few minutes she joined her fiance in the reception hall. The gas was burning brightly now and she could hear the heavy tread of men as they took their prisoner from her impromptu jail.

"You are a brave little woman," Arthur said, fondly, as he led her to a divan.

"No, I am a miserable coward; but I am a proud woman, and when a woman thinks she has been wronged, fire and storm cannot stop her," Blanche said, humbly.

"What do you mean by that, darest?" the lover asked.

"Oh, Arthur, he lied to me and I believed him. He told me that you were the burglar and I thought you were using even my love to further your own wicked ends. That is why I had courage to walk downstairs at the end of a revolver. Can you ever forgive me for cherishing such an ignoble thought?" she cried as she buried her face on his breast.

"Yes, my darling," the young man said, tenderly. "But I have stolen something that is of infinitely more value than your plate and jewels. I have stolen this noble heart, and I am willing to admit that I am a bold, bad burglar."

Plan One Now.

The farmer's garden is the most profitable piece of ground on the farm, if it only produces all kinds of garden crops for the family.—Western Plowman.

Who Are Interested,

The people of a community are the ones vitally interested in the roads of that community.—Good Roads.

[Pigs in Winter.

Growing pigs need not only a richer ration but a larger one in winter than in summer. Remember this in feeding.

"D.&L." MENTHOL PLASTER

I have prescribed Menthol Plaster in a number of cases of neuralgic and rheumatic pains, and am very much pleased with the effects and pleasantness of its application.—W. H. CARPENTER, M.D., Hotel Oxford, Boston.

I have used Menthol Plasters in several cases of muscular rheumatism, and find in every case that it gave almost instant and permanent relief.—J. B. MOORE M.D., Washington, D.C.

It Cures Sciatica, Lumbago, Neuralgia, Pains in Back or Side, or any Muscular Pains.

Price 25c. | Davis & Lawrence Co., Ltd, Sole Proprietors, MONTREAL.

Bay of Quinte Railway and Navigation Company

GENERAL PASSENGER TIME TABLE,

Eastern Standard Time. No. 13 Taking effect Dec. 2nd, 1895

Tweed and Tamworth to Napanee and Deseronto.

	Stations	Miles	No.2 A.M.	No.4 P.M.	No.6 P.M.
Lve	Tweed		6 50	....	3 00
	Stoco	3	6 58	....	3 10
	Larkins	7	7 10	....	3 25
	Marlbank	13	7 25	....	3 40
	Erinsville	17	7 40	....	3 55
	Tamworth	20	7 50	2 00	4 10
	Wilson*	24	....	....	....
	Enterprise	26	8 10	2 20	4 30
	Mudlake Bridge*	28	....	....	....
	Moscow	31	8 22	2 35	4 43
	Galbraith*	33	....	....	....
Arr	Yarker	35	8 35	....	4 55
Lve	Yarker	35	9 00	2 50	5 10
	Camden East	39	9 13	3 02	5 23
	Thomson's Mills	40	9 18	....	....
	Newburgh	41	9 23	3 15	5 30
	Napanee Mills	42	9 33	3 25	5 40
Arr	Napanee	49	9 50	3 40	5-55
Lve	Napanee	49	.....	....	6 15
	Deseronto Junction	54	....	....	6 30
Arr	Deseronto	58	.....	....	6 45

Deseronto and Napanee to Tamworth and Tweed.

	Stations.	Miles	No.1. A.M.	No.3. P.M.	No.5 P.M.
Lve	Deseronto	0	6 50	....	....
	Deseronto Junction	4	7 10	....	....
Arr	Napanee	9	7 25	....	....
Lve	Napanee	9	7 45	12 00	4 20
	Napanee Mills	15	8 00	12 15	4 35
	Newburgh	17	8 10	12 23	4 42
	Thomson's Mills*	18	8 20	....	....
	Camden East	19	8 33	12 30	4 50
Arr	Yarker	23	8 43	....	5 00
Lve	Yarker	23	9 00	12 45	5 15
	Galbraith*	25	....	....	....
	Moscow	27	9 15	1 00	5 27
	Mudlake Bridge*	30	....	....	....
	Enterprise	32	9 30	1 15	5 40
	Wilson*	34	....	....	....
	Tamworth	38	9 50	1 35	5 58
	Erinsville	41	10 00	.....	6 10
	Marlbank	45	10 15	.....	6 23
	Larkins	51	10 30	....	6 40
	Stoco	55	10 50	....	6 59
Arr	Tweed	58	11 00	....	7 00

Kingston and Sydenham to Napanee and Deseronto.

	Stations.	Miles	No.2. A.M.	No.4. P.M.	No.6. P.M.
Lve	Kingston	0	....	.....	3 30
	G. T. R. Junction	2	....	.....	3 40
	Glenvale*	10	....	.....	4 00
	Murvale*		....	.....	4 15
Arr	Harrowsmith	19	....	.....	4 30
Lve	Sydenham	23	8 00	....	....
	Harrowsmith	19	8 20	....	4 30
	Frontenac*	22	8 32	....	4 40
Arr	Yarker	26	8 40	....	4 50
Lve	Yarker	26	9 00	2 50	5 10
	Camden East	30	9 13	3 02	5 23
	Thomson's Mills*	31	9 18	....	....
	Newburgh	32	9 23	3 15	5 30
	Napanee Mills	34	9 33	3 25	5 40
Arr	Napanee	40	9 50	3 40	5 55
Lve	Napanee, West End	40	.....	....	6 15
	Deseronto Junction	45	.....	....	6 30
Arr	Deseronto	49	.....	....	6 45

Deseronto and Napanee to Sydenham and Kingston.

	Stations	Miles.	No.1 A.M.	No.3. P.M.	No.5 P.M
Lve	Deseronto	0	6 50	.....	....
	Deseronto Junction	4	7 10	.....	....
Arr	Napanee	9	7 25	.....	....
Lve	Napanee	9	7 45	12 00	4 20
	Napanee Mills	15	8 00	12 15	4 35
	Newburg	17	8 10	12 23	4 42
	Thom-on's Mills*	18	8 15	.....	.....
	Camden East	19	8 20	12 30	4 50
Arr	Yarker	23	8 33	12 45	5 00
Lve	Yarker	23	8 50	....	5 20
	Frontenac*	27	9 00	....	5 27
Arr	Harrowsmith	30	9 05	.....	5 40
	Sydenham	34	.....	.....	5 55
Lve	Harrowsmith	30	9 05	.....	...
	Murvale*	35	9 20	.....	...
	Glenvale*	39	9 30	.....	...
	G. T. R. Junction	47	9 55	....	.....
Arr	Kingston	49	10 00	.....	....

R. C. CARTER, Superintendent.

G. A. BROWNE, Gen. Pass. Agent.

H. B. SHERWOOD, Superintendent.

IN MANY SECTIONS THIS SORT OF CONCRETE DISPLACES MASONRY.

Illustrations of the Idea of the Plan and the Appearance of Such Work — A Practical Description of How the Work Is Done.

In many sections cement concrete has largely displaced expensive masonry and revolutionized the construction of barn walls, floors and other farm structures during late years. With the use of Queenston and other good cements for the above purposes hundreds of farmers are now familiar and thoroughly satisfied. A little has also been done in cheapening the cost of building culverts and other road structures of the sort by municipalities instead of using the more expensive and often unsatisfactory sewer pipes or large tiles. It is a matter that municipal authorities and others would certainly do well to investigate.

CEMENT CONCRETE ARCH OVER STREAM, ESSEX CO., ONT.

The accompanying illustrations give an idea of the plan and appearance of such work. They represent a concrete arch over a small stream in the Township of Gosfield, near Kingsville, Ont. The work was laid out and superintended by Mr. Isaac Usher of Thorold, Ont., who, we understand, is giving his services freely in that respect. Queenston cement and course gravel were used in the proportions of one of the former to four of the latter. Mr. Usher has written us the following description of how the work was done, which will be of service to others:

The foundations for bench and wing walls were excavated about three feet below the bed of the stream to very hard, solid clay, so there is no danger of the scour of the stream undermining the foundations. The footings for bench and wing walls are four feet wide and about eighteen inches in thickness, made of coarse lake gravel, mixed four parts gravel and one part cement. This mixture was well mixed before putting in any water, then only enough water used to slightly moisten; then put in layers about six inches thick, and rammed solid with iron rammers. When footings foundations were finished then the walls were laid out three feet wide in the centre of footings and built about four and a half feet wide to the spring line of half circle arch, then wooden centres were placed in position and covered with two by four inch scantlings, dressed on both sides so as to be even in thickness, edges levelled to fit neatly the radius of circles, so when centres were removed the inside of arch was absolutely smooth, having a finish almost as smooth as a well-plastered wall. The arch and wing walls were all carried up together. The thickness of concrete wing over the arch is fifteen inches wide, on each side of arch; this was done by setting up a fifteen-inch plank on edge each side the whole length of the arch. The planks were firmly braced to the wooden centres so the concrete could be firmly rammed. When the planks were filled on each side, then the wing walls were built up to the same height, then planks were moved on the arch another fifteen inches and filled again as before, until the structure was completed, leaving the planks, in all cases, not less than half a day before moving them. When the arch was turned, the wing and parapet walls on the sides were built up about one foot above the arch to retain the earth and gravel over the arch. The earth and gravel was filled up in the centre about one foot above the wing and parapet walls and sloped neatly to the edge of all walls. All walls were built on the inside next to the earth with a frost batter; that is, sloping about one quarter of an inch to the foot, raised so that the earth rests on the walls. In no case should back of walls rest on the earth; if so, the frost will surely destroy them, and it is always important that wing walls should be made strong to protect them against the thrust of the earth when frozen; this is an important matter, and is often lost sight of. Bridges and culverts

The murderer who, at dead of night, creeps, stealthily out to bury the dead and mangled body of his victim inspires men with horror and dread. There is a murderer abroad who yearly slays one-sixth of all the human race who go down to untimely deaths. This dread monster is called consumption. The approach of consumption is slow and insidious. First there is a slight disorder of the digestion. The appetite is poor and the nourishing properties of the food are not properly assimilated. The blood becomes thin and impure. The body begins to starve. Old tissues of the body are not properly replaced by new. The lung tissues are not properly nourished and are inert and half dead. In this condition they offer a good soil for the germs of consumption which invade and attack them.

This operation is promptly reversed by Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. It invigorates the digestion and appetite and makes assimilation perfect. It builds up and purifies the blood. It makes new and healthy tissue to replace the old, inert matter which it causes to be carried off. It drives out all disease-germs. Thousands of cases given up as hopeless have been cured.

Miss Laura Piersel, of East Bethlehem, Washington Co., Pa., writes: "I must write you telling you of the great benefit derived from the use of your 'Golden Medical Discovery.' Last summer my friends thought I was surely going into consumption, and having tried doctors with no satisfactory results and hearing your medicine highly spoken of, I took one bottle. My cough left me together with all the distressing symptoms, and in fact the cure seemed almost miraculous to all who saw me."

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets are tiny sugar-coated granules that are an unfailing and permanent cure for constipation.

SLEEP, BALMY SLEEP.

IT IS NO WASTE OF TIME TO GET PLENTY OF IT.

Some Popular Misconceptions That Are Here Cleared Away — The Folly of Early Rising on the Farm — A Notable Instance of Sleep's Virtue.

"God bless the man who first invented sleep!"
So Sancho Panzo said, and so say I;
And bless him also that he didn't keep
His great discovery to himself or fly
To make it as the lucky fellow might
A close monopoly by patent right!

Yes, bless the man who first invented sleep,
(I really can't avoid the iteration;)
But blast the man, with curses loud and deep,
Whate'er the rascal's name, or age or station,
Who first invented and went round advising,
That artificial cut-off—Early Rising!

I like the lad who when his father thought
To chip his morning nap by hackneyed phrase,
Or aged worm by early songster caught,
Cried, Served him right—it's not at all surprising;
The worm was punished, Sir, for early rising!"

—John G. Saxe.

"I always calculate to get to bed at a reasonable hour every third night; in that way I manage not to waste so much time in sleep," writes a young teacher to one who remonstrated with her relative to her favorite vice, late hours. That young lad, with a head full of the wisdom of the books has failed to draw a most important inference from his knowledge of psychology—or perhaps more correctly to have deduced an erroneous one. She speaks of sleep as a waste of time. It is rather nature's regenerator and restorer. It is the period for the renewal of exhausted energies, the interval of recuperation and the effects of good sleep are a part of the household morality. A writer on psychology says that from the surpluskage of energy, such as is felt in the morning after a refreshing sleep, be built the progress of the world. No time spent in the accumulation of such energy can be regarded as wasted.

Dr. Hurd, superintendent of a Buffalo hospital, says that one of the first conditions that precede mental disturbance which lead to leads to insanity are dis-

A TYPICAL BULL OF THE WEST HIGHLAND BREED OF CATTLE.

Characteristics of These Shaggy, Wide-Horned Cattle With the Long Hair—Their Strong Constitution and General Qualities Subjects of Admiration.

The shaggy, wide-horned cattle, of which a typical example is represented in the accompanying illustration, have from time immemorial had their home in the mountains and glens of Scotland and the islands that cluster along its western shores, where they are supposed to be indigenous, says George A. Martin in Orange Judd Farmer. The cattle of the islands are black and somewhat smaller than many found on the mainland. There they have been greatly improved by selections and crosses, which have resulted in heavier and better cattle, while various shades of brown, red, dun and brindled are not unusual colors among them. They are the hardiest of all British cattle, and in their native home a most valuable race. The poor crofter depends largely on them for his subsistence, giving them shelter from wintry storms in his own humble "shilling" with the children. The more prosperous farmer obtains "muckle siller" from his sales at the cattle trysts, and many members of the titled peerage are spirited and successful breeders and feeders of these cattle. One of the most eminent of these, the Earl of Lanthesk, writes of them as follows: "I have always wondered at the slowness of American breeders in perceiving the merits of the Highland cattle and their adaptability for the conditions of soil and climate to be met with in the Rocky Mountains. People suppose that the Highland cattle are wild and savage animals, judging them by the appearance of their formidable horns. Wild they may be when allowed to run loose on the hills from calfhood, but when treated like other breeds and handled early they are mostly quiet and very tame. As a rule they are not savage either towards one another or toward man. We have long been in the practice of grazing seventy or eighty steers or heifers in the deer park—animals bought at Falkirk, Doune or other trysts in October and sold in the following year. Speaking from the experience of at least thirty years, there has been only a single case among all those mixed lots of serious injury received by one of the cattle from the horns of another. A common mistake is the notion that this breed is diminutive in size. Doubtless there are very small animals bred in certain poor and inclement districts or originally them derived. In fact, Highlanders of the best sort, such as prevail in the noted herds of the southwestern Highlands are of very commendable size and weight. But their length of hair, depth of rib, and to some extent their general symmetry and liveliness, tend to lessen their apparent size in the eyes of the casual observer. Undoubtedly they are of stronger constitution than most other breeds, illness and trouble in calving being extremely rare. Barrenness is uncommon, and the cows go on steadily breeding to comparatively old age. In the matter of keep their hardiness is well known; they will thrive where cattle of another breed will starve."

HIGHLAND BULL VALENTINE 11TH.

This is a favorable but not unduly flattering description of the breed by one eminently capable of judging them. It may be added that the beef is of the finest quality and commands the highest prices in the London market, and the skin, when slaughtered in winter, makes even a better robe than the nearly obsolete buffalo skins. Several men a few years ago made importations of Highland cattle, but "been made to this country mostly by way of Canada. But the breed has never become established here. Whether it can hold its own as against the black-polled kindred recently from the farther northernmost ranges of the breed remains to be tried. But if any of it can be made to thrive in the still more remote regions of Alaska this would seem to be the breed.

Cures Talk

"Cures talk" in favor of Hood's Sarsaparilla, as for no other medicine. Its great cures recorded in truthful, convincing language of grateful men and women, constitute its most effective advertising. Many of these cures are marvelous. They have won the confidence of the people; have given Hood's Sarsaparilla the largest sales in the world, and have made necessary for its manufacture the greatest laboratory on earth. Hood's Sarsaparilla is known by the cures it has made—cures of scrofula, salt rheum and eczema, cures of rheumatism, neuralgia and weak nerves, cures of dyspepsia, liver troubles, catarrh—cures which prove

Hood's Sarsaparilla

Is the best—in fact the One True Blood Purifier.

Hood's Pills cure liver ills; easy to take, easy to operate. 25c.

DICTIONARY SNYDER.

An Interesting Character Known to the Students of the Paris Latin Quarter.

Stories of the unique characters that America contributes to the Latin Quarter of Paris, the section in which is to be found the majority of the art students in the gay French capital, are entertainingly told by Mr. Clinton Peters. Charles Snyder, who has lived for the past thirty-one years in Paris, is well known to the students in the Latin Quarter as "Dictionary Snyder." This soubriquet is due to his fund of information. But he is not an artist, but has for years associated with them. Snyder speaks seven languages, has a superior education, which, however, he has seldom been able to turn to advantage, so far as his personal benefit is concerned.

"In everything he is a typical Bohemian," said Mr. Peters yesterday, "and indifferent to the future, so long as his wants are provided for in the present. He is a master of expediency.

"At the beginning of the siege of Paris Snyder had but 15 francs, yet he lived on them throughout that long period, when the necessities of life were sold for almost fabulous prices. I asked him once how he managed to survive on such a small sum, and he replied that at the time the siege was announced he resolved to buy a quantity of food that no one else would think of and which would sustain life for a considerable period. Prices were so high that there were very few articles of food that were left to the choice of a limited pocketbook, but he solved the problem accurately. He bought three bottles of olive oil on the first day when hardly any one of the Parisians thought of such an article of diet and from day to day purchased small quantities of bread. The oil and bread were mixed together with water and made into a sort of soup, and on this limited though nourishing menu Snyder lived until the siege was nearly ended.

"Toward the close of the siege he became extremely weary of his monotonous diet, and resolved on a bold stroke for a change in the bill of fare. So he left the city secretly and walked boldly up to a German picket. Of course he was brought to a halt by the soldier. Then he explained that he was not a Parisian, but an American citizen detained in Paris, and a very hungry one at that. He asked permission to enter the German camp, but the soldier told Snyder he had orders to allow no one to pass. Convinced that Snyder meant no mischief, but was clearly a man in need of provender, he finally consented to become a party to a ruse which at that fertile gentleman proposed. This was that Snyder was to take to his heels in the direction of the camp while the soldier, as if in the full performance of his vigilance, was to fire his gun in the air. It was carried out successfully.

"Inside he was regaled with cheese, beer and other good things to his heart's content by the Germans, and soon after started to return to Paris. But he first promised the guard who had first arrested his bold flight to return within an hour. Indulging the foaming beer offered him in the camp he had overstayed the allotted time, and on reaching the outpost found another picket. Explanations followed.

lost sight of. Bridges and culverts of all kinds and sizes can be built very cheaply where good coarse gravel can be had; and where such structures can be properly built, with good cement, they are the cheapest and best that can be built. They do not require skilled labor, consequently the outlay of money is small."—London Farmers' Advocate.

GROUND PLAN CEMENT CONCRETE ARCH.

Fertilizing With Electricity.

Mr. Nikola Tesla, the electrical expert and inventor, has recently suggested the possibility of using electricity as a fertilizing agent for the soil. The currents produced by perfected electric oscillators, he says, are capable of causing the chemical combination of the nitrogen with the oxygen of the atmosphere. If this combination were carried on upon an industrial scale, which he thinks is possible, then the product could be used as a fertilizer, and in his opinion the benefits to humanity would be incalculable.

Good Roads and Convict Labor.

It is in the interest of the men themselves as well as of the public that criminals undergoing sentence should be employed at manual labor, says The Toronto World. Such occupation tends to improve the prisoners both mentally and physically. At the same time men convicted of offences against the well-being of society are the very last individuals that the public should be obliged to support. Prisoners convicted of crime should be made to earn their own living. That would seem to be an economic axiom. An occupation that appears to be eminently suited for prison labor is that of road-making. The principal item in the construction of roads is labor, and nine-tenths of it is unskilled labor, which is about the only kind that can be utilized to advantage in the case of the short-term prisoners of the county jails. The question of utilizing the labor of the convicts of York County was brought up the other day in the York County Council on the motion of Councillor Norman that the Government be petitioned for legislation permitting the employmnt of prison labor on the public roads. While a goodly number of the councillors are in favor of the proposal some object to it on the ground that the employment of the prisoners in this way will interfere with free labor. Prison labor can be used in constructing and improving the roads without infringing in the least on free labor. There is enough work to do in the improvement of our highways to require the services of twice as many men as are now engaged on them. Let the prisoners be employed to supplement the work that is ordinarily done on the public roads. There are seven or eight months in the year during which prison labor could be utilized in this way. The experiment ought to be tried. Gangs of men under competent superintendents should be placed at work on all the principal roads radiating from the city. It seems to us that such a policy would give us the good roads that all classes of the community are so anxious to secure.

Not a Millionaire.

Jobson—So you've moved into your new house, Jepson?

Jepson—Yes; moved in last week.

Job.—Going to have a housewarming?

Jep.—Have a housewarming with coal at ten dollars a ton? Do you think I'm a millionaire.—Boston Courier.

Two Married Men.

"Why do you insist upon taking your wife out for such long walks in this rough weather?"

"The doctor has told her that she must be very careful not to talk when she is out in the cold air."

"Say, whose your doctor?"—Cleve-difficulties that precede mental disturbance which lead to leads to insanity are disorders of sleep. Not always mere insomnia, but other unnatural conditions, such as restless and uneasy sleep, carrying worries through the night, so that one rises unrefreshed and still weary. What will make a person grow old and haggard so fast as some mental trouble or physical pain that precludes sleep? One of the most cruel punishments of medieval times—one that was the very essence of refinement in cruelty—was to prevent a prisoner from sleeping, to keep him awake long hours at a time, allow a short period of repose then awaken him and compel him to remain awake. The strongest mind and body were alike broken under such treatment.

"Those who can sleep soundly and healthfully are almost invariably those who longest retain their vigor and health of body and mind, apparently defying the frosts of time. They have fewer wrinkles and brighter eyes, better complexions and greater youthfulness than those who limit themselves to few hours, or who sleep imperfectly. A person who does not feel the inclination to sleep at the proper time instead of being well is really not well, for a healthy person has the natural inclination to sleep and eat and drink developed in a strong degree. Eight hours is the average amount, but this varies according to the age, health, temperament and business of the individual. Nine hours is really better than eight. The time should be sufficient for complete rest, whether more or less is required. To rise, still weary with the previous day's toil, and summon a fictitious strength and energy by strong tea or coffee, which will interfere with the next night's restfulness, is to institute a process that wears out the vitality and makes the individual prematurely old.

In this connection one is naturally led to speak of the evils of early rising. One of my most emphatic objections to farm life is the abominably early hour at which it is considered necessary to begin the toil of the day. I know all about it, for many and many a time I've watched the cold, gray dawn of a winter's morn melt into daylight as I washed the breakfast dishes before the kitchen window in the "Little Brown House"—but I never did it without a mental, and very likely a verbal, protest. It is unseemly to thus surprise nature en deshabille, as it were, before her morning bath of dew is over and her complexion adjusted for the day; and not all the poets who have written (by lamplight) of the beauties of early morning and the glories of sunrise, nor all the stalwart farmers with whom I have argued the question, have convinced me that it is duty, or even an advantage in the performance of labor, to burn the candle at both ends of the day. The man who rises at a reasonable hour refreshed and revived, can do more work and better work than he who is dragged out of bed still tired and puts in mere hours of half-hearted semi-exhausted labor; and it is even more true indoors than out. And I am glad to see that the medical profession is discarding the maxims of Solomon and Benjamin Franklin, and inculcating more sensible views on this subject.

Growing children in particular suffer severely from a curtailment of their proper hours of rest. They require more hours of sleep than grown people, yet often, with a view to inculcating this reprehensible habit of early rising, they are roused out of sound slumber and set to work. An instance came under my observation in this city which illustrates what pernicious results may follow curtailing the hours of sleep of growing children. The son of a once extensive florist, a growing lad, in his early teens, was an exceptionally dull boy in school. Always at the foot of the class, he failed time after time to pass his examinations for the next grade till both he and his teachers were thoroughly discouraged. He invariably went to sleep in school hours, and finally one teacher, who was of an investigating turn of mind, set about discovering whether he was a semi-idiot by nature or by circumstances and environment. She found that he was compelled to get up at 4 o'clock every morning, and was kept up at night until 10 o'clock or after; he was growing fast and did not get the sleep he needed. The father, after a frank talk on the teacher's part, which he took very patiently, hired a man to attend to his furnace and let the boy sleep all he pleased. Within a month he was a new boy, both mentally and physically. Instead of being sluggish and dull, he seemed to have awakened to new life. But he had lost valuable time, and he had not formed the habit of mental concentration, so that he always remained a backward student. The instance simply shows how necessary plenty of sleep is to the well-seem to be the breed.

The Highland bull Valentine 11th, whose portrait is shown herewith, is red and a year and six months old. At the last show of the Highland and Agricultural Society he was awarded the first prize as a yearling, silver medal for the best bull bred by exhibitor and the Duke of York's medal as the best Highland animal in the show.

Weighing Device.

Many times one wishes to weigh a heavy article—a bag of grain or sack of potatoes—just clear of the floor, in order to weigh them. A handy device is shown herewith, the working of which can be seen at a glance. Two hooks in the long rope accommodate it for use with low or high articles, while a little hook well up on either rope gives a chance to hook the ends up out of the way when not in use. This device is so easily made that several can be constructed and hung in a number of the farm buildings where it is occasionally necessary to weigh articles.—New York Tribune.

HANDY WEIGHING DEVICE.

Sheep's Quarters

Sheep cannot be kept in large flocks and limited quarters without breeding disease, as foul air and dampness are nemies of health.—Farmers' Union.

Many Women DON'T BELIEVE

In quack medicines, YOU DO BELIEVE that you are weak and ill.

DO YOU KNOW that you can easily regain health, strength and vigor?

No. 1 MILES' CANADIAN VEGETABLE COMPOUND

MILES' (Can.) VEGETABLE COMPOUND and Miles' Senative Wash.

"A.M.C." MEDICINE CO., Ltd. 873 St. Paul St., Montreal

Break Up a Cold in Time BY USING PYNY-PECTORAL

The Quick Cure for COUGHS, COLDS, CROUP, BRONCHITIS, HOARSENESS, etc.

Mrs. Joseph Norwick, of 63 Sorauren Ave., Toronto, writes: "Pyny-Pectoral has never failed to cure my children of croup after a few doses. It cured myself of a long-standing cough after several other remedies had failed. It has also proved an excellent cough cure for my family. I prefer it to any other medicine for coughs, croup or hoarseness."

H. O. Barbour, of Little Rocher, N.B., writes: "As a cure for coughs Pyny-Pectoral is the best selling medicine I have; my customers will have no other."

Large Bottle, 25 Cts.

DAVIS & LAWRENCE CO., Ltd. Proprietors, Montreal

and Snyder proposed that he be allowed to run for the gate through which he originally came, while the guard pretended to chase and fire upon him. Again was his scheme agreed to and he re-entered Paris. Once inside the gate the Frenchmen regarded him as one who had achieved a marvelous escape and, as the Germans had done, set before him a bountiful repast.

"Although at many times in the greatest penury, Snyder would never accept regular employment. I know of one offer that was made to him by a New York newspaper to take charge of its cable business at a salary of $5000 per annum. This offer was promptly declined by Snyder, who said that it involved a certain amount of routine work which would kill him. He was then living on about four cents a day.

"At the time I was spending most of my earlier days in Paris there was an art student for whom Snyder had a particular fondness. He has since risen to prominence, but in those days the student was far from prosperous. There was to be a dinner given at a restaurant celebrated in the Quarter for the excellence of its menu, and, of course, this student I speak of was particularly anxious to go. But he lacked a most important essential. He had no white shirt! Snyder was called into the meeting of condolence that was held, and at once set his inventive genius to work. He pondered silently for a brief while, but his brow soon lightened and he cheerily asked, "Have you a collar?"

"The student responded in the affirmative, but announced that he had no tie to wear with it appropriate to the occasion.

"'I'll fix that easily,' answered Snyder, reassuringly, as he went through the very limited wardrobe of the art student. He fished up a vivid red stocking, and by means of sundry holes cut in the collar and artistic manipulation the flaming stocking was twisted into a very clever imitation of a becoming neckcloth. The effect was satisfactory to all concerned, and the student departed for the dinner in high feather.

"But unfortunately for appearances, and especially for the poor student, as the dinner progressed he forgot that in his shirtless condition it was important to keep his coat closely buttoned, and in an absent moment he loosened that garment and flung the lapels back against his shoulders. You may well conceive what a sensation the sight of the naked breast, culminating in a stocking-hung collar, produced on the company.

"Another instance of Snyder's ingenuity in a desperate strait, and also another instance of the indigence of the same art student, now the head of a great art institution in America, occurred at another social gathering. Such had been the improvement in the student's fortunes that he was able to afford a shirt, but had no studs to ornament the front. Snyder was once more consulted, and, as usual, repaid this tribute to his genius with a ready idea. He cut three black buttons from his shoes and strung them on a heavy thread. The buttons were hung upon the outside of the student's shirt and the thread from the inside held them deftly in place. They presented a respectable appearance, and the student went boldly to take his part in the festivities.

"Dancing was in order, and the student was one of the gayest of those who danced. But also the exertion of his movements caused the thread to loosen and the shoe buttons to dangle at the bottom holes an inch or more from their proper places. The attention of the student was called to the singular appearance of his improvised studs, but, nothing daunted by the derision such a plight occasioned, he paused in the midst of his dancing, grasped the truant thread, and brought the buttons back in place with a resounding slap against the starchy stiffness of his shirt. He then gravely grasped his partner and continued his gyrations."

True Business Insight.

The portly stranger having been admitted to the presence of the successful author, got down to business right away.

"What I want," said he, "is a takin' ad for bakin' powder. You git me up one that'll catch the public, an' you can name yer own price."

The distinguished litterateur was too fin de siecle to be astonished at a proposition of the kind, but thought it well to make some inquiries as to the peculiar qualities and special advantages of the article he was to praise.

"Oh, I don't know; we hain't invented it yet; what we want's an ad that'll knock all these other fellers silly, the powder'll take care of itself."—Chicago

Wise Buyers.

Should Take a Look

Into our store and inspect our nobby line of

Suitings, Overcoatings, and Trouserings

We can save you time and money. You will be satisfied with quality, style aud price.

—o—

J. L. Boyes.

Men's Furnisher.

COAL!

The Celebrated

SCRANTON COAL

That has no Equal.

I wish to announce to the public that I have put in a thoroughly assorted stock of this celebrated Coal, and am prepared to supply my customers on as good terms as any other dealers.

I am the sole agent in Napanee for this celebrated Coal and it can not be had from any other dealers. Your Patronage Solicited.

E. BARTLETT.

CARLETON WOODS.
ISSUER OF MARRIAGE LICENSES.
1y Roblin, Ont.

JOHN POLLARD,
ISSUER OF MARRIAGE LICENSES.
Express Office, Napanee.
Strictly Private and Confidential.

R. J. WRIGHT.
ISSUER OF MARRIAGE LICENSES.
At Residence, Bridge Street, Napanee, Opposite West Ward School.
Entirely Private.

The Napanee Express

NAPANEE, FRIDAY, MAR. 12, 1897.

All local reading notices or notices announcing entertainments at which a fee is charged for admission, will be charged 5c per line for each insertion, if in ordinary type. In black type the price will be 10c per line each insertion.

Cock robin has arrived.

The ice on the river is rotten.

We're having quite a variety of weather these days.

The Western man who has fifteen wives is merely forming a trust.

One of the finest winters we ever experienced is tapering to a fine point.

Muscovado sugar is in great demand. It was ever thus around about sap time.

The old inhabitant who prophesyed an

Dry Mill Wood.

Over 1000 cords. $1.60 per cord.
THE RATHBUN Co.,
Napanee.

Lost.

Between Rev. Jarvis' and the Covered Bridge a brown horse blanket covered on outside with canvas tied down with red and gray yarn. Finder will please leave same at office of this paper. 14b

Napanee Wood Yard.

Corner Mill and Robinson street, hard, soft, cut, or in cordwood, Trenton dry edgings and blocks. Reasonable rates. A call solicited. Wood delivered free to all parts of the town. S. J. HOWARD. tf

Her Majesty's Diamond Jubilee.

Carries "Queen Victoria, Her Life and Reign" into every home. Persons who never sold books take orders fast. Preface the most eloquent of Lord Dufferin's achievements. No book so highly praised. We need more canvassers. Easy to make $15.00, to $30.00, a week. Books on time. Prospectus free to canvassers. A trial will cost nothing, and it may fill your empty pocket-book. The Bradley-Garretson Co. Ltd., Toronto, Ont.

March, April, May.

Are the months in which to give especial attention to the condition of your physicial health. If you pass safely through these months and find yourself strong and vigorous, on the arrvial of warmer weather, you may reasonably expect that you will be well in summer. Now is the time to take Hood's Sarsaparilla, because now is the time when the blood must be purified, enriched and vitalized, and because Hood's Sarsaparilla, is the only true blood purifier prominently in the public eye today. Hood's Sarsaparilla has power to make you healthy and guard your system against disease.

Appeal Sustained.

We clip the following from the legal news in Saturday's Globe:

Duncan v. Hall.—Clute, Q.C., for defendant Grange, appealed from order of Mr. Cartwright, sitting for Master in Chambers, for summary judgment under rule 739. A. C. McMaster, for plaintiff, contra. Appeal allowed. Costs of motion and appeal in the action. This was an action brought against the Daly, Grange & Co. by Mr. Duncan, of Montreal, a creditor, after the final dividend had been declared by the assignee. Duncan secured judgment against W. F. Hall by default, but W. G. Wilson filed an appearance for John T. Grange and appealed from the order with the result indicated above.

The Bath Races.

The following is a summary of the events at the ice races at Bath on the 4th inst:

FREE FOR ALL—1. Demand, R. Hewitt, Brighton; 2. Cheltenham, G. Booth, Trenton; 3. Alice G., G. McPherson, Kemptville; Beethoven started but ran away, throwing the driver. 2.30 CLASS—1. Island Maid, J. Kenny, Stony Point; 2. Billy Mack, Z. Harrington, Picton; 3. Kitty Carver, M. Switzer, Kingston; 4. Waxford, McCammon; 5. Roy N., F. Miller, Bath. 3 MINUTE CLASS—1. Hebrew, a Brighton horse; 2. Fleety Frank, F. Merriman; 3. Palm Leaf, P. Fouler, Glenburnie; 4. Puzzler, M. Brannigan, Kingston; Frank M., J. Merriman, Inverary; Grey Harry, G. Booth, Bath. Hebrew is said to have a record of 2.29¼.

A Peculiar Accident.

Mr. Isaac Taylor, Belleville Road is, nursing a broken arm received under peculiar circumstances. About two weeks ago he met with an accident to his right arm, but as the pain soon left it he paid no attention to it. All last week, up till Thursday, 4th inst., he worked in his bush, sawing and chopping wood, and although his right arm felt somewhat weak, he experienced no pain from it. On Thursday he felt the bone grating in his right arm and decided to see a doctor. Thursday evening of last week he came to Napanee and interviewed a doctor and discovered that the large bone in his right arm was broken about four inches above the wrist. Mr. Taylor is now carrying his arm in splints, but we hope he will soon regain the use of it. Dr. Demorest, who set Mr. Taylor's arm pronounced it a clean break.

May Lose His Left Hand.

Andrew McIntyre, of Enterprise, aged about 18 years, is at present in the Kingston Hospital suffering from very severe

This is For You.

For a good pair of ordered boots or shoes call on J. W. Schryver, John St. Boots, shoes and rubbers repaired on the shortest notice. 41tf

Warning.

Don't "drip" Madden Cereal, boil 15 minutes and see that you have enough in it to make it black and rich. Then you are a friend for ever. At all grocers.

Wanted.

Intelligent men with good education to whom $600.00, and expenses for the first year would be an inducement. Write with full particulars. The Manager, 48 Richmond St. West., Toronto, Ont.

Is Life Worth Living.

The usual large crowd attended the Song Sermon in the Western Church on Sunday night last. At the close of the service Mr. Crossley stated that he would preach on Sunday night next on the question—Is life worth living.

Call at Lawson's.

Meat market for prime western beef bought at Toronto market last week, also choice spring Lamb, Mutton, Veal and Pork. Beefsteak 3 lbs. for 25c. 3 lbs. of Pork Chop 25c. Stewing Beef 4c. Roast from 6c. up.

Conducting Two Shops.

Mr. J. F. Smith has purchased Milligan's meat market on John street and will conduct it in future. This will not interfere with his meat market at the grocery store as it will be carried on as heretofore. A full line of the choicest meats, sausages, etc., will be found at both shops.

Many a Slip Twixt the Cup and Lip.

A thief stole two pieces of smoked ham from Shannon's grocery this week and secreted it in the Royal Hotel yard, intending, no doubt, to convey it home after dark and have a royal feed. A gentleman in moving a wagon box discovered the ham and it was returned to Mr. Shannon.

Prof. Dorenwend's Return.

In another column it will be seen that Prof. Dorenwend the great hair goods artist is making a return trip to accommodate those who were unable to see him during his last visit. The increased demand for his fine art wigs, toupees, switches, bangs, frontpieces is causing all the hands in his factory at Toronto to work overtime and he is daily increasing his staff of employees. Ladies and gentlemen who are bald or have their hair should call on him at the Paisley House, Napanee, on Thursday, March 18th.

West Ward Won.

The Deseronto juniors and the West Ward hockey club had a game on Diamond's rink on Saturday last which resulted in a victory for Napanee by 7 goals to 2. The following composed the teams:

WEST WARD.		DESERONTO.
McCoy	goal	Baird
Lafferty	point	Woodcock
Briggs	cover point	Cole
Crossley	forwards	McMaster
Russell	"	Carter
Burrows	"	Hynes
Embury	"	O'Rourke

Astonishing, Astounding, Confounding, But True.

That Smith the expert optician has several thousand patients, in this vicinity wearing spectacles that are scientifically fitted and guaranteed by him, and they are all shouting his praises, these are facts and not exaggerations, his qualifications and experience account for it all. If you have any suspicion that your eyes are not right, do not rest contented until you have consulted Smith, for in dealing with the eyes, the best advice is what you want. H. E. Smith may be consulted at his office Smith's Jewelry Store. Eyes tested free.

Parisian Steam Laundry

Agency at E. Vanalstine's Barber Shop, John st. Laundry will be called for and delivered to any part of the town at usual prices, strictly C. O. D. This is one of the largest and best equipped Steam Laundries in Canada. Laundry shipped once a week, on Wednesday, 3:20 p.m. and delivered Saturday morning. No chemicals used in the Laundry. All work guaranteed first-class. Lists on application. tf.

Local Legal.

We clip the following from the Globe of the 10th inst: "Perry v. Pennell—Clute, Q.C., for plaintiff, moved to continue

At 25c

45 inch Cashmeres in evening shades only, sky, pink and Cream, a 50c. width.

At 18c

Unbleached Table Linen dice pattern 48 inches wide, worth 25c.

At 5c

Special Line Art Muslins in coin spots, 30 inches wide, a 7c. line.

At 25c

Tasteful new patterns in Union Carpets which have just come in, usually sold at 35c.

At 25c

A special heavy unbleached Table Damask 60 inches wide and a good fair value at 37½c.

Bald Men.

The proper shades in wallpaper is engrossing the attention of the good housewife at present.

The Jesuits have decided to throw in their lot with the Bishops and will oppose the school settlement.

Have you a watch that others have failed to make run satisfactorily. Bring it to F. Chinneck's jewelry store and have it carefully overhauled and guaranteed to give satisfaction by F. Chinneck himself, who personally oversees the watch repairing department.

Geo. Stewart, of Deseronto has disposed of the Stewart House to a Toronto man who will take possession this week.

Wall paper in great variety at Pollard's bookstore. Canadian, English and American goods. Borders very cheap and to match.

Kingston & Pembroke Railway employees have been frightened by what they believe are the ghosts of men killed on the railway.

At Lent the lover feels his cup
Of joy o'erflow the brim
When she grows pious and gives up
Her other beaux for him.

Remember C. L. Shannon will sell all kinds of field and garden seeds, all new, and lower than any reliable competitor, timothy from $1.80 per bushel up. Alfalfa, very low this year. All the latest varieties of garden seeds just in from the most reliable growers. Canned goods 5c. per can, and all kinds of groceries as cheap as anyone can sell them. Flour $2.40 per hundred. Cash paid for raw furs. Baled hay for sale.

As a general rule we have noted
This state of affairs is quite plain,
If papa makes his money in sugar
His wealthy son raises Cain.

Mrs. Samuel Blakely, aged 71 years, died at her home near Belleville, last week. She was the youngest child of Orrin Ramsay, of Adolphustown, who had the first foundry in Canada.

Close's Mills.—Grinding every day up to Saturday noon. Those wishing grists same day are requested to be in before noon while slack water lasts.

JAS. A. CLOSE.

The Mount Pleasant Methodist church, Selby circuit, are having a tea meeting on Tuesday evening, March 16th. Tea served at 6 o'clock. Public meeting afterwards presided over by M. S. Madole, Esq., and addressed by Revs. F. Snowden and D. O. Crossley, and recitations by strangers from a distance. The Selby church choir will render choice selections of music.

"Not Exactly Right." Thousands of people are in this condition. They are not sick and yet they are by no means well. A single bottle of Hood's Sarsaparilla would do them a world of good. It would tone the stomach, create an appetite, purify and enrich the blood and give wonderful vigor and vitality. Now is the time to take it.

Monday the three Methodist congregations of Bath circuit enthusiastically adopted a resolution presented by the pastor, Rev. Dr. Tucker, protesting against the half-way measures of the license amendments now before the Ontario Legislature and calling upon the Government to fulfil to the full its pledges to the prohibition electors of the Province.

A. S. Kimmerly will sell for cash, 30 lbs. light sugar $1, 24lbs. best granulated sugar $1. I sell a tea at 25c., equal to any tea sold by other dealers at 40c. canned peas and corn 5cts, per can, Kewatin flour best in the world, $2.50 per 100. You better open your eyes to the fact that you can buy first class timothy seed here at $1.90 per bushel, 4 gals. coal oil 65c. Tobacco 35c. per lb. Paine's Celery Compound 85c. per. bottle.

A contemporary draws atttention to a statement made use of by the Rev. W. H. Emsley, of Montreal, during the course of a sermon in the Eastern Methodist church on Sunday of last week. The reverend gentleman said he did not want anyone to write glowing obituary notices of him after he is dead. As for ourselves we don't care a hang what people say about us after we're dead so long as they give us a good word while we're living.

BARGAINS, BARGAINS.

Bicknell Bros., Camden East, are conducting a great Fire Sale unheard-of-Bargains are being offered in Dry Goods, Boots and Shoes, Wall Paper, Ordered and Ready-Made Clothing &c. All kinds of farm produce taken in exchange at highest market prices.

muzzle-loading shot gun. Friday morning, 5th inst., McIntyre loaded the gun to shoot a dog, and it is supposed that the charge had not been rammed home, but had caught some distance from the breech of the piece, hence the explosion. The thumb of the unfortunate young man's left hand was blown almost entirely off, hanging to the hand by a piece of skin only. The bones of the wrist were terribly shattered also The thumb was removed immediately after the patient's arrival at the hospital. An endeavor will be made to save the hand, though whether or not it will be successful, cannot at present be determined, as the laceration is very great, and the wounds are burned and blackened by powder.

Death of Miss Pringle.

After a lingering illness of about two years' duration Ethel May, eldest daughter of Mr. S. W. Pringle, passed away on Friday morning of last week. Deceased was 22 years and 10 months old and much esteemed by her circle of acquaintances. She was a handsome young lady, and greatly beloved for her many endearing qualities. About two years ago she contracted consumption and all through her long illness exhibited great patience and fortitude. Besides the sorrowing parents, two brothers, Frank and James, and one sister, Nettie, are left to mourn her untimely taking off. The funeral took place on Sunday to the Napanee Cemetery, the large concourse which followed her remains to their last resting place testifying to the esteem in which she was held by all. The following young ladies acted as pall bearers: Libbie Edwards, Mary Briggs, Minnie Grieve, Blanche Grieve, M. Johnston, and Hypatia Fox. The Rev. Dr. McDiarmid conducted the services.

Took Her Husband by the Ear.

The following from the Tweed News is given for what it is worth. "A rather amusing scene took place in one of the bar-rooms at Napanee one evening last week. A young married man, who resides in the southern portion of the town, told his good wife that he was going down street to buy a pair of chickens for their dinner on the following day, and faithfully promised to return early and spend the evening at the fireside. But the good little woman was not to be fooled by the mere promise of chickens, and shortly after her husband left the house she donned her robes and followed in his footsteps. She visited several of the hotels and after awhile located him in the barroom of the Campbell House, where he and two of his chums were about to drink up the chicken money. The sound of his wife's footsteps startled him, and in the excitement he dropped the quarter, which he intend paying for the drinks, on the floor, and in an instant the spry little woman's fingers were upon it and deep down in her pocket she shoved it at the same time telling her husband that this was a pretty way to buy chickens. She then seized him by the ear and walked him to the door, to which ordeal he submitted like a little major, at the same time uttering these words: "I'm not drunk dearie, I—m j—u—s—t s—l—e—e—p—y. The plucky woman was in the chickens and the bar-tender was out the drinks.

A Lamentable State of Affairs.

The attention of the authorities should be directed to the number of children who make a practice of begging from door to door. In almost every case they tell a pitiful story of want and poverty and end up by giving a fictitious name. From early morning until a late hour at night these children can be found on the street and are growing up ignorant, untruthful and vicious. In several cases parents send their children out to beg and keep them thinly clad for no other purpose than to appeal to the pity of the people. These children are growing up past masters in the art of begging, lying and stealing and there seems nothing before them but a life of crime. Ignorance is the fostering mother of crime and these children are growing up crassly ignorant. Some steps should be taken to put a stop to this misuse of children. There are fathers and mothers in this town who are unfit to be entrusted with the bringing up of children. In the east end of the town there resides a dissolute woman who makes her children go out begging in order to contribute to the comfort of herself and cronies. The children are kept almost naked, although several charitable ladies have given the woman clothes time and again. To dress the children would spoil their utility for for begging and the old hag keeps them in a half-naked condition in consequence. She should be either made to change her ways or the children taken from her and placed where they will be properly provided for and educated.

of which... Injunction continued upon terms and undertakings. Costs to be disposed of at the trial." This is an action brought by Jacob Perry, of Michigan, son of the late S. Rombough, of Richmond, against Eliza Pennell to set aside a conveyance of a farm. Perry claims under his mother's will, and above motion was made to prevent Pennell cutting timber on land in dispute. W. G. Wilson is solicitor for plaintiff, Herrington & Warner, solicitors for defendants. The case will be tried at next Assizes here.

Bicycle and Repair Shop.

Fifteen years experience in the bicycle business has given William Normile a good insight into the best lines of wheels and when we learned that he was willing to bank his all on the Massey-Harris bicycle we made up our mind that it was a little above the ordinary. Mr. Normile has opened up a bicycle shop in the East End, one door below Smith's grocery, and has a fine line of bicycles on exhibition. The Massey-Harris, however, is the king bee of the lot, and in point of workmanship and general excellence is a credit to the skill of our Canadian workmen. It is strong, durable and finely finished and possesses all the latest wrinkles and up-to-dateness. The Massey Harris is well worthy of inspection. Mr. Normile is fully equipped to repair all kinds of wheels, and any one favoring him with a call will find his rates reasonable and his work "up-to-de limit."

Burnt Out Again.

Between three and four o'clock Wednesday morning fire broke out in the large wholesale and retail boot and shoe store of Haines & Lockett, Belleville, and the place is a perfect wreck. The cause of the fire is not known. It started in the second story and spread up and down, involving the wholesale and retail departments, with the exception of a small store-room in the rear. The firm had just placed in their stock of spring goods, the value of which is estimated to be $50,000. The loss on stock by fire, smoke and water will be $40,000; insured for $31,000. There is also an insurance on the building of $5,000, which will nearly cover the loss. The firm also had a large stock of bicycles, which, fortunately, were stored in an adjoining building, and thus escaped damage. The firm was burnt out three years ago, and much regret is expressed at this additional misfortune.

Famine Fund.

The Dominion Bank has received the following additional subscriptions to the Governor General's India Famine Fund.

Newburgh Church	$ 7 24
Wesley Church	8 02
Camden East Church	3 74
Alex Dickson, Camden East	5 00
Roblin Church	27 50
Roblin Circuit	1 80
Bath Methodist Church	5 50
Epworth League, Morven	15 80
	$75 60

The Merchants Bank of Canada, Napanee, has received the following subscriptions to the India Famine Relief Fund;

Previously acknowledged	$36.50
A christian	5.00
Hay Bay Methodist Sunday School	8.32
A. G. Burrows	2·00
	$51.82

A Successful Tea Meeting.

A highly successful and enjoyable tea meeting was held in the old Lutheran church, Fredericksburgh, on Thursday evening of last week. The edifice was packed to the doors, and all present voted it one of the best entertainments of the season. The edibles provided were of the best, and reflects credit on the cooking abilities of the ladies. There was enough and to spare for two such entertainments, and it is needless to say that ample justice was done to the spread. The literary part of the programme was also of a high order. Mr. M. S. Madole, of Napanee, occupied the chair to the satisfaction of all. Mr. Rockwell, Wm. Rockwell and Joseph Bennett, of Napanee, furnished the musical part of the programme and won high praise for their excellent singing. Excellent addresses were delivered by Rev. Mr. Mallet, of Bath, and the incumbent of the church, Rev. Mr. Pope. Mr. Irish brought down the house with two well rendered recitations, and a recitation by Mrs. Irish was much appreciated also. Miss Susie Latimer, of Napanee, delighted the audience with a well rendered recitation. The proceeds amounted to $50.

An effort is being made to establish a Rebekah Degree Lodge of Oddfellows here.

great hair artist who will be at the Paisley House, Napanee, on Thursday, March 18th, where he will show samples of his famous Whigs and Toupees. These articles are constructed to replace the lost hair in such a way as to be beyond detection. Call on him and try them on.

Timothy Seed and Fertilizer.

My car of Timothy Seed has arrived, part of it is still unsold. Those requiring good seed at right prices should call and get their supply before it is gone. Those who have ordered will please call and get their seed. My car of Bradley's Fertilizers the best in the world will arrive in March. There is nothing pays as large profits on money invested as Fertilizers. Farmers, gardeners and fruit growers should try at least enough to convince themselves. Call and get book of testimonials and directions for using. F. VANLUVEN. 12d

Honor Roll.

S. S. NO. 17 ERNESTOWN.

Class V. 920—George Lemmon 708. Class IV, 850—Miles Caron 579; Harold Caton, 517; Fred Scouten, 476. Sr. III, 695—Emma Harten, 531; Annie Silver, 482; Maggie Stevenson, 403. Jr. III, 695—Ethel Boice, 371; John Stevenson, 353; Roy Storms, 335; Charlie O'Neil, 324; Helen Caton 281; Harry Scouten, 176. Sr. II, 515—Teressa Boice, 349; Aggie Caton, 252; Lizzie Lowry, 213. Jr. II. 515—Delia Silver, 276; Nellie O'Neil, 233. Pt. II. 150—George Stevenson, 59. Pt. I, 120—Harold Rockwell, 80; Laura Rockwell, 80.

Bertha Neilson,
Teacher.

Sons of Temperance.

Messrs. J. Bushell and W. Seymour, two popular speakers and entertainers, have been sent to this country by the Grand Division Sons of Temperance, to address a series of popular temperance meetings, and organize divisions wherever desired. Arrangements have been made as follows. Everybody is invitated to attend these meetings and bring their friends. Collections will be taken—at each meeting to help defray expenses. Napanee, town hall, Sunday, at 4 o'clock. Selby. Saturday evening, 13th, Napanee Mills, Monday evening 15th, Newburgh, Tuesday evening 16th, Camden East, Wed. 18th, Yarker, Thursday 18th, Moscow, Fri., 19th, Colebrooke, Saturday, 17th, urday, 20th, Other available points will be visited throughout the county. Arrangements and announcements will be made as soon as practicable.

Fannie Redyeo, wife of Charles Redyeo, Deseronto Road, died on Wednesday and was buried on Thursday. She was 78 years of age.

Underwear at Cost.

We are selling all Winter Weight Underwear at cost for the month of March.

D. J. Hogan & SON.

Sole Agent for the Wilkinson Hat-

THE BIG STORE, March 12th, 1897.

A Time in Ties.

This is Tieing time for you, we'll tie you cheaper than you've ever been tied in this country.

NEARLY A HUNDRED DOZEN MEN'S SPRING TIES.

The samples of a wholesale manufacturer. Only one tie of a pattern and every new style of shape and pattern of Silk. The retail prices run from 25c to 75c each. Just to make it interesting our price will be

TWO FOR A QUARTER

Not less than two sold. If you don't buy a dozen the loss is yours. They came in yesterday, some are worth more, some less, the men who come first won't get the worst. See them in our window and realize that THERE'S SOMETHING IN THIS FOR YOU.

SOME TEN DOZEN NEW UMBRELLAS

For men. The new crooks and handles, the new "ungreenable" silks and silk mixtures, steel rods in some of them and right and tasty goods all round. Three or four dollars each? oh no, not now. Fifty cents for some, one dollar buys a nice article, a dollar and a half gets one good enough for anything.

A SNAP IN FLANNELETTES, 30 INCHES WIDE 5c. A YARD.

Twenty-two Pieces, an 8c. Quality, Good Patterns.

NEW CLOTHING.

MEN'S SUITS, Navy Serges, spring styles and weight, all sizes, just in, at $2.90.

MEN'S SUITS, a special line in Tweeds, quality and finish as good as any we have shown you at $6.40, price is $5.00.

NEW TWEED CAPS, some dozens, in new spring shapes and patterns, the nicest Caps you have ever seen sold at 25c.

Lahey & McKenty.

At 25

A new line of fancy broche dress goods in Dresden effects 38 inches wide, very stylish and a 40c. value.

At 3½c

Some hundred yards of Cotton Crash Towelling, a new lot just in.

At 19c

A heavy Navy-Blue Serge in Tweed width exactly the thing for spring suits for boys.

At 19c

Men's Flannelette Shirts full size and well made.

At 19c

Boy's Flannelette Shirts all sizes.

The Massey-Harris Bicycle.

When selecting your '97 mount see the

PERSONALS.

Mr. N. A. Asselstine, Wilton, favored us with a

Horse distemper is prevalent in this district.

Church of England Notes.

Silver Ribbon wheel, made by the world famous company, the Massey-Harris. Strictly high grade and at the people's popular prices. Positively the best equipped wheel in the world. EVERY WHEEL GUARANTEED. Sale rooms, in the Miller Block, Boyle & Son's old stand. W. J. Normile, sole agent for the county. Remember the place, Miller's block—Signof the Golden Wheel.

Napanee Victorious.

Two rinks of Belleville curlers arrived here last evening to play the return match with the Napanee curlers. The game resulted in a victory for Napanee by 30 to 16. The Belleville men seemed a jolly lot and took their defeat quite good naturedly. The following is a summary.

NO. 2 RINK. BELLEVILLE.		NO. 2 RINK. NAPANEE.
S. F. Armstrong		E. H. Baines
Dr. Ward		Geo. Bustin
T. W. R. McRae		Dr. Bissonnette
M. Wright skip.		W. A. Bellhouse sp.
	6	14
NO. 1 RINK.		NO. 1 RINK.
David Waters		S. C. Warner
Jno. Brazier		F. Chinneck
W. W. Pope		W. Mowat
D. B. Robinson skip		Jno. Livesly skip
	10	16.

The Napanee Club entertained the guests to a supper after the match.

20 cases of agate ware, largest stock of agate ware ever brought to town, low prices, good goods at Boyle & Son's.

Geo, R. Tomlinson, Kingston, was married to Miss Adda B. Clancy, of North Fredericksburgh, last week.

Mrs. Levi Thompson, aged 74 years, died at her home near Roblin on March 5th. She leaves a family of two sons and two daughters, all married. She was in her 74th year.

Mr. Wm. Kennedy, of Chatham, a prosperous farmer, and Miss Minnie A. Wright, saleslady for Lahey & McKenty, were married at Napanee on Thursday. The happy couple left on the 4.16 train yesterday for their home near Chatham.

The Kineoptiscope and Graphaphone entertainment in the opera house on Tuesday and Wednesday evenings drew out large crowds of pleased spectators. Messrs. S. Retallack and W. H. Davis are the proprietors of the show and are meeting with marked success.

The annual meeting of the Women's Foreign Missionary Society, of the Presbytery of Kingston, was held in the Presbyterian church here on Tuesday, at 10 a.m. and 3 p.m. In the evening a public meeting was held in the church when an address was delivered by the Rev. Murdock McKenzie, a returned missionary from China.

Milk pans our own make, cream pails, strainer pails, churns, butter bowls, ladles, at Boyle & Son's.

At the Kingston Presbytery Women's Foreign Missionary Society held in the Presbyterian church here on Tuesday last the following officers were elected; President Mrs. Byers, Gananoque. Vice presidents, Mrs. Ross, Kingston, Mrs. McKay, Belleville, and Mrs. Vanluk; Sec. Treas. Miss Fowler, Kingston.

Mr. and Mrs. A. Alexander were given a genuine surprise party on Thursday evening of last week. It was the anniversary of their wedding and a large number of their friends dropped in upon them. An amusing part of the proceedings was the dresses worn by the ladies which were of as antiquated a variety as the ladies possessed. One lady, it is alleged, had a dress worn nearly one hundred years ago.

With the "Diamond" Success Is Fully Assured.

The world renowned Diamond Dyes are put up for every color, with special dyes for cotton and all kinds of mixed goods, and are so simple and easy to use that even a child can dye a perfect color with them—colors that will not fade, crock or wash out—equal to the best colors made by professional dyers.

If women are induced to buy imitations of Diamond Dyes they must be prepared for failure and loss of goods.

Insist upon getting the Diamond Dyes rom your dealer; they cost no more than he poor imitation dyes sold for the sake of Miss Evelyn Neville, who was visiting her brother, Mr. John Neville, Ernsville, returned to town last week.

J. R. Allison has been appointed Postmaster of Parma, D. E. Griffith having resigned after holding the office for thirty years. The neighbors say that he deserves the merit of being superannuated.

Miss Edith Hunter, Royal Hotel, left for Bessemere, Michigan, to spend the summer with her aunt Mrs. John Hill. Her father accompanied her as far as Toronto.

Mr. and Mrs. David Benson, of Prince Edward County, have taken up their residence in Napanee.

Miss Maggie McGown, returned on Tuesday from a visit with friends in Belleville.

J. J. Minchinton, Napanee's hustling bill poster, has been under the weather for the past few days but is now on the mend.

Mr. James Dryden, of Deseronto, was in town on Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Shepard, of Napanee, have been visiting friends in Plainfield.

Mrs. Tobey acted as judge at the carnival at Tweed last week.

Mr. S. Asselstine, Hawley, was in town on Saturday and favored us with a call.

H. S. Grange returned from Toronto on Saturday.

Mrs. J. W. Pringle, Messrs. Wilbert and Herbert Pringle, of Toronto, Mr. and Mrs. Wesley Pringle, Miss Mattie Pringle, Mr. John Frost and Mr. and Mrs. Aleck Milne, of Belleville, attended the funeral of the late Miss May Pringle on Sunday last.

Mr. Frank L. Pringle, of Sackets Harbor, and Mr. James A. Pringle of Deseronto, spent a few days in town with their parents.

R. A. Fowler, Amherst Island, was in town on Wednesday.

Mrs. J. A Gardiner has recovered from her illness sufficiently to visit friends at Tamworth, Newburgh and Napanee for a fortnight.—Whig.

In about three weeks Miss Stella Moutray, visiting her uncle at Amherst Island, will return to her home in Ireland.

Clarence M. Warner left for New York on Monday where he has secured a situation.

Rev. Mr. White returned from Utica on Saturday. He was taken quite ill while there but is now about recovered.

Mr. C. D. Huffman, of Bath, favored us with a call on Wednesday.

Miss Kate Ross and Miss Peyton have returned to town.

Mr. James Smith, of Thorpe, was in town on Monday and favored us with a call.

The wife of Rev. Prof. Worrell, of Kingston, fell and broke her leg on Sunday.

Mr. Redford Dorland, of Adolphustown, was in town on Monday.

Mr. Rickerson Hawley, of Dorland, was in town on Saturday.

Mr. Joshua Bennett, of Watertown, is visiting friends in Napanee.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph E. Clark passed through Napanee on Tuesday for a months visit with friends in Cleveland and Chicago.

Mr. Rudd Perry returned on Saturday evening from Kingston Mining School, having received his diploma.

Mrs. Sproule, of Ottawa, is spending a few days in town visiting her son, Mr. I. W. Sproule.

Mr. Fred Thompson, Centreville, has rented his farm and left for Manitoba on Monday last.

Miss Nina McMurchy and Miss Maggie Bryce, of Gananoque, who were in attendance as delegates at the meeting of the Women's Foreign Missionary Society, of the Kingston Presbytery here returned home on Thursday. They were the guests of Mrs. McLaurin while in town.

Mr W. N. Doller is in a poor state of health.

Harry Wolfe has gone to work at Polyearp station on the Canada Pacific, 40 miles from Montreal.

Mr. Nelson Alysworth Marlbank, is recovering from a severe attack of pneumonia.

Miss Friese, Peterboro, has taken a position at cheapside.

Mr. Levitt, who has been working at the customs House here for the past few months, left town on Wednesday.

Mr. Harry B. McCabe, left on Sunday for Oshawa.

Mr. D. I. Woodward, of Pennsylvnia, is visiting friends and renewing old acquaintances in this vicinity. Mr. Woodcock is an enthusiastic Oddfellow having joined that society 59 years ago.

Mr. F. McL. Radford, left Napanee, enroute for Vancouver, British Columbia on Thursday, where he intends embarking in the gents' furnishing business. He will spend a few days at his home in Montreal before poceeding to the Coast. Mr. Radford's departure is a distinct loss to the business and social life of Napanee and he carries with him the best wishes of his host of friends in this vicinity for his future prosperity. Mr. Radford is a shrewd, energetic and enterprising business man and we feel sure that he will make his mark in British Columbia. He leaves many warm friends behind him in Napanee and takes with him the good will of all our citizens. A large number of the boys were at the station on Thursday noon to see Frank off and wish him a bon voyage.

BIRTHS

ROBERTS—At Napanee on March 7th 1897, the wife of F. W. Roberts of a daughter.

MARRIAGES.

KENNEDY—WRIGHT—At Napanee by the Rev. Dr. McDairmed on Thursday, 11th inst., Wm. Kennedy, of Chatham, to Minnie A. Wright of Napanee.

GOUDY—HUFFMAN—At Berlin, on March, 3rd, Thos. A. Huffman, druggist, Napanee, to Miss Emma Goudy, of Berlin.

DEATHS.

THOMPSON—In Roblin on March 5th, Sarah Ann Thompson wife of Levi Thompson, aged about 74.

PRINGLE—At Napanee on Friday, March 5th, Ethel May Pringle, daughter of Mr. S. W. Pringle aged 22 years, 10 months and one day.

MCGREER—At Richmond, on Feb. 25th. Elizabeth McGeer, aged 82 years.

Last year's bicycles are receiving much attention at present,

Deseronto defeated Bath at hockey last week by a score of 3 to 0.

Buggies and wagons were brought into requisition on Wednesday.

The question who sells the best bicycle cannot be settled by arbitration.

Whooping cough is prevalent in town. A number of children are afflicted with it.

James Aylesworth, Bath has the contract to supply Rockwood Asylum with hay.

Hood's Pills are the favorite family cathartic. Easy to take, gentle, mild. 25 cents.

A Massachusetts editor celebrated the arrival of triplets at his house by printing his paper in red.

People buy Hood's Sarsaprilla year after year because it does them good. It will do you good to take it now.

P. L. Claremont, late of the Albion Hotel, Tweed, has leased the Thousand Island House, Kingston.

Don't forget the annual meeting of the Lennox Reform Association at the town hall to morrow, at 1:30 p.m.

The Schr. Deleware which has lain submerged in the river near the Pines for the last year will be taken to Picton in the spring.

Maxwell Johnston. Medical men, Hospital treatment and a dozen different medicines failed to cure me of dropsy. I had been tapped seven times and was given only a few days to live when I began using Doan's Kidney Pills. They cured me completly, and I am now in the best of health.

(signed) MAXWELL JOHNSTON.
Toronto, Ont.

Swearing and abusive language is such a common and regular thing on the Kingston bay market that the people pay no notice to it.

Queen St. Methodist Church, Kingston, was slightly damaged by fire last week. The Limestone Business College was also badly burned.

A young man driving with a young lady through a toll gate near Brockville had his hat confiscated because he lacked two cents of the price of the toll.

A charge is common on the streets of Kingston that some of the aldermen of that city have not paid their taxes for 1894, and that others owe for 1895 and 1896.

An effort will shortly be made to organize a football league for this district. Picton, Napanee, Deseronto and Trenton will, in addition to the city, be invited to form clubs.—Belleville Sun.

The Very Best.

MESSRS. T. MILBURN & Co.

DEAR SIRS,—I can recommend Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup as the very best medicine for coughs and colds, sore throat and weak lungs, which I have ever used. Yours truly,

WM. FERAY,
Blenheim, Ont.

Dr. Vrooman, who has practised for the last nine years at Yarker, has moved to Napanee and may be consulted at the office of J. S. Ruttan which he will occupy in future. Telephone 90. 14bp.

Great preparations are being made in Picton for the meeting of the Orange Grand Lodge of Eastern Ontario which assembles in that town on the 17th inst. Over one hundred delegates will be in attendance.

Lloyd and Hill, florists, will open the store next to Robt. Thompson, Market Square, Napanee, on March 20th with all kinds of seeds, plants and flowers. Orders promptly executed on best terms. 14b

It is regretted that the decisions of the Indian Council, of Tyendinaga, with regard to trifling disputes among members of the band is not final, and necessitates the appointment of a commissioner which adds another item on the list of expenditures.

A Belleville girl had completed all preparations to be married to a Trenton man and last week the guests assembled and the wedding feast was laid out, but the groom failed to materialize. This incident has intensified the hard feeling existing between these two towns.

Mr. Sayers, Tamworth, operated on at the Kingston general hospital last week, a portion of six ribs being removed, recovering from the operation. Two years ago he was ploughing, when the plough struck a stone. A handle of the plough struck his ribs, causing an injury which troubled him until operated on last week.

Salt Rheum Cured.

GENTLEMEN,—Your Burdock Blood Bitters cured me of Salt Rheum three years ago. It was so bad that I lost my finger nails, and I can truly say that I know of no more valuable medicine in the world than B. B. B. I have had no return of Salt Rhuum since.

MRS. JAS. SANDERS.

ST. MARY MAGDALENE - Church of St. Mary Magdalene, Napanee. Services at 11 a. m., and 7 p. m., each Sunday. Holy Communion at 11 a. m, on I and III Sundays of the month, and at 8 a. m. on all other Sundays. Strangers supplied with leaflets having service printed in full at evening services.

PARISH OF ADOLPHUSTOWN—Services next Sunday. St. Paul's Sandhurst, at 11 o'clock; St. Alban's, Adolphustown, at 3 o'clock; St. Jude's, Gosport, at 7 o'clock.

PARISH OF CAMDEN—Services Sunday next and during week. St. Anthony, Yarker, Morning Prayer, Holy Com. 10:30; St. Luke, Camden East 3 o'clock; First service of weeks Lenten services to be conducted (D.V.) on Monday and each night until Friday (inclusive) at 7:30; St. John, Newburgh, 7 o'clock; St. Jude, Napanee Mills, 7 o'clock.

PARISH OF SELBY—Services for second Sunday in Lent: St. John's, Selby, 10.30—matins and celebration of holy communion; St. Jude's Kingsford, 3 p.m., annual missionary meeting; St. Jude's, Napanee Mills, 7 p.m., evensong. Rev. J. R. Serson, M. A., Tamworth, will officiate at all the above services Week day services: St. John's, Selby, Wednesday, March 17th, at 7.30, evensong and address. St. Jude's, Napanee Mills, Friday March 19th, at 7.30, evensong and address.

Hardware of every description, nails, fence wire, barb wire, steples, clearing sale of axes now going on at Boyle & Son's.

The Rose Importing Co. are about to close the retail department of their Japanese store in Napanee and in order to give the people of Napanee and surrounding towns a last opportunity to procure Japanese goods they will keep the store open for the next two weeks and sell all goods at wholesale prices and a great many odd pieces at much less price. A great many bargains can be had at this sale. Do not miss this last opportunity. A full line of new goods on hand. 14b

There was a man what had a clock, his name was Matthew Mears, he wound it reg'lar every night, for four and twenty years; and when his precious time—piece proved an eight—day clock to be, a madder man than Matthew Mears you wouldn't wish to see."

The widow of the late Samuel Weese, killed at the Collins Bay crossing on the 19th of December, has accepted the offer of $6,000 from the G. T. R. Company in settlement of the claim. Fifteen thousand dollars was the amount first asked by Mrs. Weese. The latter has not fully recovered from the injuries received.

Miss Adele Carlton Todd, noted actress, formerly with John McCullough and Lawrence Barrett, will receive pupils for voice culture, dramatic elocution, bible and miscellaneous readings, philosophy of expressions and Delsarte movements, stage appearance. Guaranteed when qualified. Shakespearian readings a specialty. Call at Mrs. Rose's, Dundas street. 14c

The following items gleaned from the Trade and Navigation returns for the year ended June 30th 1896, may be of interest. The exports from several parts in this district were as follows: Belleville $715, 703, Deseronto $513,829, Napanee $30,372, Picton and outports $188,766, Trenton $278,289. The imports were: Belleville $288.232, Deseronto $43,356, Napanee $65, 747, Picton and outports $84,189, Trenton 40,269. The duties collected were as follows: Belleville $56,382, Deseronto $8, 610, Napanee $7,496, Picton and outports $11,424, Trenton $6,623.

ONLY LASTED ONE ROUND.
Kincardine Review

Was the eternal fitness of things ever better illustrated than when the mill-hand was cut in two by a circular saw as he was singing, "Just Tell them That you Saw Me"?

FIRE SALE.

Bicknell Bros, Camden East, whose stock was recently damaged by fire and water, are offering bargains in Dry Goods, Boots and Shoes, Wall Paper, Ordered and Ready Made Clothing Etc., at their new store, unheard of before in this district. This is a genuine sale. Go early and save money on your spring purchases. All kinds of farm produce taken in exchange at highest mar-

THE NAPAN

Vol. XXXVI] No 16.—JNO. POLLARD, Editor and Publisher. NAPANEE, ONT., CANA

5c. 5c.

I am still selling 3 lb. cans of Sugar Corn at the low price of 5c. The best in the market. Try it.

5c. 5c.

W. COXALL.

Something New.

We have just received a fine stock of Men's and Boy's Boots and Shoes which we are prepared to sell away down in price as we will not have any extra expenses being only as a side line with our Clothing, Men's Furnishings, Hats and Caps.

You will do well to see our Boots and Shoes whether you buy or not.

A. M. VINEBERG,

The Wonderful Cheap Clothier, Dundas st., Henry Block, Napanee

TIMOTHY

—AND—

CLOVER SEED

Bran and Shorts

Flour and Feed.

TAYLOR & MORRIS,

(Blewett's Old Stand.)

NEW PLAINING MILL AND LUMBER YARD.

Now in full operation. All kinds Lumber, Sash, Doors and Blinds. Custom work done on shortest notice. Get our prices before buying. Mr. Embury is prepared to draw plans for parties wanting them.

Embury, Greer & Co.

HOUSES TO LET.

Two commodious dwellings on Centre st.

MORTGAGE SALE OF VALUABLE FARM PROPERTY.

MILLINE

ON SATURDA

And during the following week we wi Summer Millinery. We cordially invite you to interest you in our new and nobby styles, and p other stores.

Table Linens.

Another fresh stock of Table Linens which eclipse all others for values. We are selling most all if not all the Table Linens that are sold in Napanee. It's no wonder when we give such extraordinary values.

Beautiful quality Loom Damask Table Linens 54 inches wide worth 35c. Our price 25c.

Beautiful quality Loom damask Table Linens 56 inches wide worth 45c. Our price 32½c.

Extra quality Loom damask Table Linens 60 inches wide worth 50c. Our price 37½c.

Good quality Bleached damask Table Linens 56 inches wide, cheap at 45c. Our price 32½c.

Splendid quality Bleached damask Table Linens 60 inches wide, worth 70c. Our price 48 cents.

Extra quality Bleached damask Table Linens 72 inches wide never less than $1.00. Our price 79c.

☞ We will be pleased to show you through our stock.

Dress Goods.

On Saturday April 3rd, we will make an extra display of new Dress Patterns and Dress Goods of every description. We have a splendid stock this season, better than ever before. Buying so largely we buy cheaper than other stores and sell at lower prices. We commence a double-fold Dress Goods at 10c. per yd.

Two commodious dwellings on Centre-St. Plenty of good water, hard and soft. For particulars apply to S. CASEY DENISON.

PUBLIC NOTICE.

I hereby give notice that I will not be responsible for any debts incurred by any person whomsoever in my name.

DANIEL McTAGGART.

Amherst Island, March 1st., 1897. 15c.

REAL ESTATE AND INSURANCE

I have several good farms of 50, 100 and 200 acres, at most moderate prices, and very easy terms of payment.

Several dwellings in the Town of Napanee.

Farm lands and city lots in Manitoba.

Insurance in Stock and Mutual Companies.

Money to loan at 5 per cent. on good Real Estate property. Apply to

M. C. BOGART,

4tf Napanee.

T. W. SIMPSON, B.A., M.D., C.A.

Licentiate of the Royal College of Physicians Edinburgh.

Office—Dr. Grants' late residence, Bridge St.

MARGARET P. SYMINGTON, M. D. C. M., Licentiate of Royal College of Physicians, Edinburgh.

Diseases of Women and Children.

Residence north side Market Square, 4th door west John street

Consultation hours 11 a.m. to 3 p.m., and 6 to 8 p.m. Telephone 87.

R. A. LEONARD, M.D., C.P.S.

Physician, Surgeon, etc.

Late House Surgeon of the Kingston General Hospital.

Office—North side of Dundas Street, between West and Robert Streets, Napanee. 5:1y

HERRINGTON & WARNER

Barristers, etc.

MONEY TO LOAN AT LOW RATES

Office—Warner Block, East-st. Napanee. 5y

DEROCHE & MADDEN,

Barristers,

Attorneys-at-Law, Solicitors in Chancery, Conveyancers, Notaries Public, etc.

Office—Grange block

Money to Loan at "lower than the lowest" rates

H. M. DEROCHE, Q.C. 5:1y J. H. MADDEN

MORDEN & RUTTAN,

Barristers, Solicitors, etc.

Solicitors for the Merchant's Bank of Canada etc., etc.

Dundas Street, Napanee.

G. F. RUTTAN.

Private funds to loan at five per cent.

A. S. ASHLEY,

DENTIST

16 Years in Napanee.

34 Years Experience.

Rooms, - Albert Block, - Napanee

DENTISTS

C. D. WARTMAN, L.D.S.

C. H. WARTMAN, D.D.S.

Graduates of the Royal College of Dental Surgeons of Ontario, and graduate of Toronto University.

OFFICE—LEONARD BLOCK,

Visits made to Tamworth the first Monday in each month, remaining over Tuesday. Rooms at Wheeler's Hotel.

All other Mondays C. D Wartman will be in Yarker.

Napanee office open every day.

THE ROYAL HOTEL

Dundas Street, Napanee.

H. HUNTER, Prop.

This commodious hotel is centrally situated having every convenience for the travelling and business public. Large yard and sheds for farmers.

Good table, best of wines liquors, and cigars The comfort of guests is made a first consideration.

JAS. AYLESWORTH,

General Business Agent.

POLICE MAGISTRATE for the Provincial Electoral District of Addington.

Conveyancer,

Issuer of Marriage Licenses.

Commissioner, etc., in H.C.J

Clerk, 7th Division Court, of the County of Lennox & Addington

TAMWORTH.

Sap buckets, sap pans, sap spouts, sap pan heaters, sap dippers, cantilever sap bucket is the best and cheapest, only as

Under and by virtue of the power of sale contained in a certain mortgage, which will be produced at the time of the sale, there will be offered for sale by public auction, at the office of Herrington & Warner, in the Town of Napanee, on Saturday, the 17th day of April, 1897.

at the hour of 2 o'clock in the afternoon, the following valuable farm property:—

ALL AND SINGULAR that certain parcel or tract of land and premises situate, lying and being in the Township of Camden in the County of Lennox and Addington, Province of Ontario being the Westerley seventy-five acres of lot number eighteen in the third concession of the said Township. The property will be offered for sale subject to a reserve bid and subject to the interest in the said lands of one Mary Jane Clancy.

Terms: 10 per cent of purchase money at the time of the sale; balance within thirty days thereafter.

Further particulars and conditions of sale will be made known at the time of sale, or may be had on application to the undersigned.

HERRINGTON & WARNER,
Vendor's Solicitors.

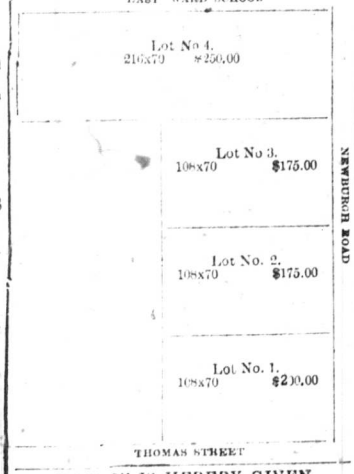
Dated at Napanee this 22nd day of March A. D 1897.

PROPERTY FOR SALE

Or to let for a term of years.

The Property on Newburgh Road known as the RECTORY HOUSE,—one acre of land attached. Apply to Rev. Arthur Jarvis, on the premises, or to J. G. Fennell and Jno. S. Ham, Churchwardens.

The same parties offer for sale the church property at corner of Thomas street and Newburgh road as per diagram below.



NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN THAT

The Board of Audit

FOR THE COUNTY OF

LENNOX AND ADDINGTON

will meet to audit the Public Accounts at

THE COURT HOUSE

—IN THE—

TOWN OF NAPANEE

—ON—

Monday, April 12th, A.D. 1897

at the hour of 10 o'clock a.m.

All accounts for audit must be delivered to the Clerk of the Peace on or before the 1st day of April, 1896. S. C. WARNER,
Clerk of the Peace.

Napanee, September 26th, 1896.

A HEALED HERALD.

Thinl s Rheumatism is Born of the I ower Regions, but Proclaims S outh American Rheumatic Cure a Heaven-Sent Healer.

Hen ry Humphreys, East London, sends his ur solicited testimony: "I was seized with j sinful rheumatism in my left foot. I coul d not rest with it day or night, the pain was so intense. I tried many reme dies, but they had no more effect on me t an water on a duck's back. I was perse aded to try South American Rheumatic Cure. I followed the directions closel y and in very short time this wonderful r medy effected a complete cure, and there has not been the slightest hint of a return of the disease. It is a sure remedy and I am delight to herald the goodness all over the land." Sold by A. W. Grange & Bro.

THE ROB

NEWS FROM THE COUNTRY.

GRETNA.

Chas. Moore has drawn the material for a new house.

Thos. Fields is going largely into the raising of hogs.

Byard Young has moved his boat house from Hay Bay shore to the shore on the back bay, getting ready for fishing and pleasure.

BELL ROCK.

Mrs. Geo. Reynolds (nee Miss Annie Asselstine) died on the 27th, ult. after a long illness. The funeral took place at the F. M. Church, Verona, on the 1st. inst. Deceased was highly respected. Her husband and two small children mourn her loss.

The family of George Mair, seriously ill with La Grippe are convalescent, and other cases are reported.

Herbert J. Lawson has secured a situation in Kingston.

James York has moved here from Tamworth.

A visitor has come to stay at William Reynolds. Its a boy.

Ben Revell is finishing his house.

G. M. Somborn has his grist and woollen mills running again.

MILL HAVEN.

The weather has been very mild for March and the snow has nearly disappeared. The ice is not now considered very safe. The roads are drying up fast

We are sorry to lose Mr. Ed. Milligan and family from our midst. They moved to the Island last week. Mrs. R. Finigan will soon move into the house they vacated.

Mr. John Bell, of Westbrook, spent a few days here last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Elias Hudgins, of Erinsville, spent a few days here last week.

Mrs Joshua Franklin who has been ill for some time is recovering.

Rumor says a wedding.

Miss Gertie Stover, of Deseronto, is the guest of her aunt Mrs. T. Miller.

Mrs. Ethel Fleming spent Sunday at Mr. Fred Amey's, Ernestown.

A few young people drove to Mr. Bell's, Westbrook, last Friday evening and all report a good time.

The whooping cough is quite prevalent around here now.

Quite a number from here attended the horse races at the Island last Wednesday.

Bartie Franklin has started to attend school at Bath.

Bicycle and bicycle accessors, largest stock most reliable up to date wheels on the market at Boyle & Son's.

KINGSFORD.

David Winters and wife called at Mr. Provins on Thursday.

Mrs. Fred McCullough and Mrs. Frizzel called on Mrs. O'Hara on Tuesday.

W. J. Matchett, of Kennebec, was in the neighborhood on Friday calling on friends.

Jas. McHenry and wife and Daniel O'Hara and wife attended the funeral of Mrs. McHenry, Deseronto, last week.

M. Jordan was visiting at Dan O'Hara's last week.

George Somers is in our midst again.

Jack Bradshaw of the 5th, con. was calling on friends here on Monday.

Jay Doyle spent Monday evening with his cousin Fred Doyle.

Asa Bowen, of Sharpe's Corner was the guest of G. W. Valleau last week.

Frank and Jay McHenry, of Deseronto, are visiting at their uncle's, Mr. James McHenry.

Sleiging is finished for this season and waggons may be seen again.

Milk routes to the Deseronto creamery were sold last week.

Our genial blacksmith Mr. Peter Doyle will be rushed to death for the farmers are taking their implements to have them overhauled.

Maxwell Johnston. Medical men, Hospital treatment and a dozen different medicines failed to cure me of dropsy. I had been tapped seven times and was given only a few days to live when I began using Doan's Kidney Pills. They cured me completely, and I am now in the best of health.

(Signed) MAXWELL JOHNSTON.

BATH.

Spring has arrived and once more the deep snow has taken wing and given place to muddy roads. The crossing between here and Amherst Island is finished to be continued next year if the weather is cold enough.

Green Bros. of Kingston, passed through the village on Monday last with a number of cattle for the city market.

The new carriage shop under the management of Mr. Maxwell Robinson is doing a rushing business, a full line of carriages etc, on exhibition at rear end of post office.

Mr. John Chapman is once more able to be out.

Miss Julia Burley is visiting friends in Picton

Miss Eva Wemp spent Sunday last visiting at Mill Haven.

Mr. F. W. Armstrong was suddenly called to Cleveland, Ohio, this week on business.

Mr. Charles Laird has erected an ice house on the sight of the old mill property.

Mr. Herbert Lewis' new horse, purchased on Amherst Island, when let out to drink on Monday crossed the bay to his old home. When in the centre he went through the ice but succeeded in getting out himself and continued his journey.

Mrs. Robt. Brethen was the first to bring maple syrup into the village. She had it on the market on Tuesday last.

The Very Best.

MESSRS. T. MILBURN & Co.

DEAR SIRS,—I can recommend Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup as the very best medicine for coughs and colds, sore throat and weak lungs, which I have ever used. Yours truly,

WM. FERRY,
Blenheim, Ont.

NAPANEE MILLS.

Though the weather is warm and spring like, there is very little maple syrup being made.

Mr. Wier our popular station agent, left on Monday last for Deseronto to enter upon his duties as soliciting agent for the B. of Q. R. R. Mr. Wier has been faithful and obliging in his work here. We rejoice over his promotion. Mr. D. Axford, of Tamworth, who learned station work here some years ago is to be his successor.

Miss Addie Rook has been at Madoc attending the wedding of Miss Jarvis. The bridegroom is Mr. Bird of the same place The happy couple accompanied Miss Rook home and are spending the honeymoon here.

Lillie McConnell, daughter of Mr. James McConnell is dangerously ill with typhoid fever. Her friends have little hope of her recovery.

There is very much sickness around and in this village at present.

Mr. J. Summerville is improving, he was very ill for a time.

Mrs. Clement is in very poor health.

Charles Wild is under the doctor's care.

Mrs. Lott is not getting any better.

Mrs. McPherson does not improve as her friends would like to see her.

Mr. James Kehoe and family are visiting at Tweed and Bridgewater.

Rev. F. D. Woodcock is conducting Lenten services in the church this week Holy Communion at 8 o'clock on Sabbath morning next.

A SUBTLE THIEF.

Kidney Troubles Steal on one Insidiously—A Slight Cold — Then Congestion—Then Inflammation—Then the Deadly Malady Bright's Disease South American Kidney Cure is a Kidney Specific—It Relieves in Six Hours and Cures—Never Fails.

Mr. James McBrine, of Jamestown, Ont., says: "I believe South American Kidney Cure saved my life. I was so severely afflicted that my friends had to attend me daily as take the urine from me."

Mr. A. Williamson, Customs Officer, Kincardine, Ont., writes: "I can highly recommend this specific as the greatest of boons to suffering humanity for all affections of the bladder and kidneys." Sold by A. W. Grange & Bro.

CASTORIA.

The fac-simile signature of Chas. H. Fletcher is on every

EE EXPRESS.

NADA—FRIDAY, MARCH 26th 1897. $1 per Year in advance; $1.50 if not so paid.

RY—

Y, APRIL 3rd.

will make our annual display of Spring and o visit us. We hope to interest and profit you; profit you by selling you at lower prices than Men's Suits to Order.

Jas. Walters, Cutter.

Another shipment of new Suitings and Pantings came to hand this week. These are all the very latest styles and no two Suits are alike in pattern. If you want a nobby stylish Suit at a low price come and see our stock.

Apron Ginghams from 36 to 42 inches wide price 10c. 12½c. and 15c. per yd.

Empress Shirt Waists at all prices.

Ladies' Collars and Cuffs the very latest styles just in this week.

Bolero Fronts the new thing in Dress Trimmings.

Bleached Towels a great bargain at 20c per pair.

Lace Curtains the best values from 25c. per pair up.

Cottonades A special bargain at 18½c. worth 25c

Men's Trousers ready-to-wear from 79c. per pair up.

Ladies' Belts the very newest styles just in.

Black Brilliantine Dress Goods at 25c. 35c. 44c. 48c. 68c. 74c. and $1.00 per yd.

Men's Hats all styles and shades from 50c. up.

Building Material of all Kinds.

FOR SALE AT REASONABLE PRICES.

Headquarters for Lumber of all kinds, Shingles, Lath, Doors, Sash, Mouldings, Portland Cement, Water Lime, Plaster Paris, Apple Barrels, Land Plaster, Porus Tile Windsor Salt, Coal, Wood and Charcoal.

Use our pressed Brick for your house and chimney, as cheap as any, and the best. Get our prices before purchasing.

THE RATHBUN CO'Y

Yard and office foot of Centre St R. SHIPMAN, Agent.

defence unless and until the accused elected to be tried by him—that the magistrate was legally obliged to hear the evidence for the defence (see Code 593), and that by the magistrate's arbitrary refusal to hear the evidence on behalf of the accused, unless he elected to be tried by him summarily, he illegally and improperly compelled the accused to elect to be tried summarily, the accused not having bail present. I am aware that Mr. Daly, through his counsel, attempts to put a different construction upon his refusal to hear the evidence of the defense, but I submit that that construction is not borne out by the whole evidence, nor even by Mr Daly's evidence.

5th.—I further submit that the magistrate in insisting upon a deposit of $7.00 being made with him by the prosecutor, to cover costs, before he would entertain the matter (magistrate according to his own evidence stating to the prosecutor that it was "a very doubtful case") acted illegally and improperly, and his reflection upon the conduct of the Board of Audit, in refusing payment of constable's fees, unless conviction is made, and which he offers as a reason for insisting upon a deposit does not excuse him. I say that the insisting upon a deposit in this case has occasioned the the whole trouble, and that if the deposit had not been asked for and made the case would not have been entertained, magistrate deeming it "a very doubtful case." The magistrate, after hearing the prosecutor's version of the case at the time the information was sworn to, which version presumably would be the strongest and most favorable to secure conviction, stated to the prosecutor that he had "a very doubtful case," but that if he would make the deposit he would issue his process. That I claim is an abuse of the Criminal Law, is not sanctioned by any authority. And gain, from the evidence of Mr. Daly and his own witness, Charles Wagar, it appears that of this deposit, Mr Daly still retains $2.00, and that retention arises under most peculiar circumstances I need only refer to their own evidence. The magistrate remarked to Wagar, when he went to him for his money "I have had a great deal of trouble over this matter and got nothing for it. Wagar, not being devoid of all reasoning powers, construed this statement naturally as an intimation that a douceur would not be unacceptable, but being a shrewd man, he fixed it at the moderate sum of $2.00, by saying, "Well I know you have, give me back $2.00." Mr Daly paid him $5.00, which Wagar was doubtless glad to receive, and now nearly three months after he (Daly) magnanimously offers in giving his evidence to pay the $2.00 back to Wagar whenever he asks for it. I am informed that under somewhat similar circumstances such conduct on the part of a magistrate of this county Mr. Jas. Cousins, was considered by the Ontario Government highly improper and Mr. Cousins was deprived of his commission. I do not ask or desire such the adoption of a similar course as my client is not interested in the dismissal or retention in office of Mr. Daly, but I say that by the arrogant assumption by the magistrate of powers not incident to his office my client has been damnified and put to considerable trouble and expense and he is resting under the stigma of having been convicted of a criminal offence, procured illegally and improperly, and I ask at least that the with Wagar, acted under compulsion, illegally and improperly exercised by the magistrate, as stated by Mr. Wilson in his third argument.

(4) In regard to the charges that the magistrate acted illegally and improperly in declining to hear the evidence for the defence unless and until the accused elected to be tried by him, Mr. Wilson is evidently again mistaken in his view of the law. Section 593 of the Code does not refer to this case at all. Section 593 refers to cases that come before a magistrate merely for preliminary inquiry and cases which he could not try at all, and which he would have no jurisdiction to try, such, for instance, as the case of murder, or where the person absolutely refuses to elect. The charge in this case comes under part L. V. of the Code, summary trial of indictable offences. It will be seen that Mr. Daly acted exactly in conformity with the Code in this case. This was a case, as stated before, where the value of the property exceeds $10, and would come under section 789 where the magistrate, after ascertaining the nature and extent of the charge and before calling on the person charged for any statement, shall state to the accused in accordance with section 786, the substance of the charge against him and shall then say to him these words or words to the like effect, "Do you consent that the charge against you shall be tried by me or do you desire that it shall be sent for trial by a jury?" This was exactly what Mr. Daly did. After making the accused aware of the nature of the charge against him he then asked him to elect and the accused then and there elected to be tried by him. The magistrate is not legally obliged to hear evidence for the defence as asserted by Mr. Wilson. Mr. Wilson's contention is that Mr. Daly would be obliged to hear all the witnesses for the prosecution and for the defence before he should ask the defendant to elect and this view of it would, in my opinion, be illegal, and would cause also, if done, the whole of the evidence to be taken over again, in case the accused after the evidence for the prosecution and the defence was all in, elected to be tried by the magistrate. The course pursued herein by Mr. Daly was the only one warranted by law practice, convenience or good common sense.

The charge made against Mr. Daly in reference to the deposit of $7, is of such a trivial and absurd character that it scarcely seems that it requires no answer. I might state however, by way of explanation, that the reason the magistrate is obliged to insist upon a deposit being made before taking the information, is that, although he himself may act without any pay, he cannot oblige the constable or other officers of the court. He may issue his process but unless the money is forthcoming the constable will not be bound to hire a team or borrow an assistant to go with him, will not collect the papers and in consequence nothing will come of the information. The Board of Audit refuses payment of constables fees unless conviction is made and the constable therefore where they have to go to expense, refuse to serve papers or act unless a deposit be made to cover their costs.

Mr Wilson refers to the case of Mr. James Cousins and attempts to draw a parallel between this case and that. The cases are in no way parallel and this case is mentioned for the sake of creating a

BINSON CO.

FELLOWS.

Among the victims of grippe in this locality; Mesdames M. and A Parrott, Miss Keither Parrott, John Hagerman, Mr., Mrs. and Miss Parks, Miss Maude Burleigh, and Miss E. Mabee. On account of Miss Mabee's illness the school was closed for three days.

Miss Annie Goodwin is recovering from the fever.

John Shea and James Pitman, jr., left on Monday for New York state, where they intend remaining for some time.

Miss M. Burleigh has been visiting her sister, Mrs. F. D. Miller, of Bath,

Miss B. Fretts, of Hawley, has been visiting friends in this vicinity.

Miss B. Shaw, teacher, spent Sunday with her parents, of Centreville.

Miss M. Burlegh, entertained a few friends on Friday, 12th. F. Snider and wife, and Mrs. S. Smith, of Ernestown Station, are visiting at N. Fellows'.

W. Jenkins, of Odessa, and Mrs. J. Snider, of Kingston, are visiting friends here.

J, Fellows is recovering from a very severe illness.

Miss K. Asselstine, Kingston, has been visiting at Mr. M. Parrott's.

"Would Willie miss his grandma,
If grandma were to die?"
He would. She always helps him to
A second piece of pie.

A young women in a neighboring county eloped recently and walked three miles in her stocking feet through the snow to join the young man in the case. Young women who elope should in all cases wear all the shoes they possess. They are likely to need them before they have been married long. Besides a bride with chiblains is at a great disadvantage.

Miss Sarah Belch, an eighteen-year-old Belleville girl, is sueing Samuel Smith, a well to do farmer of Sophiasburgh, for breach of promise of marriage. The fair Sarah claims $5,000 as a balm for her wounded affections. Smith, who is over fifty years of age, and the happy possessor of a grown-up family, not only broke the engagement with Miss Belch, but still worse, married another girl. Several Belleville girls are having a hard time of it in their efforts to land a man these times.

KIDNEY Troubles.

Any person residing in Napanee who may require a sure cure for Kidney Troubles, such as Lame, Weak or Painful Back, Dizziness, Headache, Dropsy, Bright's Disease, Diabetes, and all other symptoms of can procure a box of Doan's Kidney Pills, commencing this 27th day of March 1897, providing each applicant will cut this out, sign his or her name and address at foot of same and present it at J. J. Perry's Drug Store. First come first served until 36 full-sized boxes of Doan's Pills are disposed of.

Kidney Trouble

Name.....

No.....Street,

COMMISSION OF ENQUIRY.

ARGUMENT IN QUEEN AGAINST BENN. MR. DEROCHE AND MR. WILSON PRESENT THEIR CASE.

Last week we gave a report of the proceedings before Mr. Jas. Fleming, Inspector of Legal Offices, touching the enquiry into the conduct of Mr. Jas. Daly, Police Magistrate in the case of Queen vs. Benn. We present herewith the argument of counsel and leave our readers to draw their own inference:—

In the matter of the investigation into the conduct of Jas. Daly, Esq. P. M. in the case of Queen v Benn.

Argument on behalf of Martin Benn, complainant.

MR. W. G. WILSON, —1st.—I submit that the Judgment, as it appears on record, is not warranted by the evidence on record (a) that there is no sufficient evidence to convict on the charge of obtaining property by false pretences, having regard to the testimony given on behalf of the defence, which testimony the magistrate must have ignored in arriving at the conclusion which he did. All parties examined at trial on behalf of the defence were examined before the Commissioner and I confidently rely upon his estimate of their candour. (b) That the magistrate had no jurisdiction to adjudge payment of costs by the accused to the prosecutor Wagar — either as a penalty (See Criminal Code 787), or by way of restitution (See Code 803), and I charge that the magistrate, in awarding costs to the prosecutor, acted illegally.

2nd—I further submit that the evidence adduced before the commissioner abundantly establishes the fact that the decision or judgment of the magistrate was not as it appears on record, but was in effect that he found the accused guilty of the charge and that he (accused) should return the horse and pay all costs, or he would fine him $10 and costs and send him to gaol for thirty days, and that he (the magistrate) gave the accused his choice. Also that the decision was given on 24th December, and that the adjournment till 28th December was made at request of the accused in order that he might determine which alternative to accept, and further that he might cause the matter to be laid before the Attorney General, which was immediately done. This being the magistrate's decision, I assert that he exceeded his jurisdiction—that he had no authority to impose payment of costs (See paragraph b above)—and that there is no authority for imposition of a fine in such cases (See Criminal Code 787 as to punishment for offence charged) and that the fine and imprisonment was imposed, not as a punishment or a penalty for offence charged, but as a penalty, in case of non-compliance with order for restitution, which it is submitted was illegal.

3rd.—Accepting, for the sake of argument, Mr. Daly's version of what transpired on 24th December, (which in view of the other evidence it is very difficult to do) I contend that the magistrate's conduct was still more reprehensible. Mr. Daly asserts that he gave no judgment until 28th December, that on 24th December, he did not give his decision or judgment, but gave what he is pleased to term an intimation to the accused that unless he returned the horse and paid all costs he (Daly) would, might, or could (I really cannot remember in giving his evidence which word he finally decided to adopt) fine him $10, or send him to gaol for 30 days. According therefore to Mr. Daly there was on 24th December, no conviction, and yet he then ordered restitution, and intimated what would, might, or could happen in case of default in making restitution in manner directed. In this the magistrate acted illegally, as restitution cannot be ordered until and unless conviction made (see Criminal Code 803). Such an intimation coming from a magistrate on the bench is equivalent to an announcement of his decision, either that or a threat, and I say my client, in accepting the other alternative, acted under compulsion illegally and improperly exercised by the magistrate.

4th.—I further submit that the magistrate acted illegally and improperly in criminal offence, procured illegally and improperly, and I ask at least that the doctrine of restitution, as enunciated by Mr. Daly, be appied to him in this matter, and that it be insisted upon that he shall make restitution to Martin Benn, by making good to him all loss, costs and expense incurred by him by reason of the prosecution, and that it be declared that the conviction of Benn was not warranted under the circumstances.

In the matter of the investigation into the conduct of James Daly, Esq. P. M., in the case of the Queen v Benn, Argument on behalf of Mr. Daly.

MR. H. M. DEROCHE—(1)—I submit that no judgment was given in this matter. The evidence of Mr. Daly himself and the proceedings taken down by him at the time of the hearing show that no judgment was given unless what is appended to the evidence might be considered a judgment but Mr. Daly explains how it was that he came to append this to the evidence. He did it in order, as he thought, to close the proceedings after a demand had been made upon him for a copy of the proceedings. At the same time I submit that the evidence, as it appears on record, would have justified Mr. Daly in giving judgment against the defendant, Martin Benn, in this matter. It is alleged by Mr. Wilson in his argument that the magistrate had no jurisdiction to adjudge payment of costs by the accused to the prosecutor, Wagar, either as a penalty or by way of restitution. Mr. Daly, in his evidence, explains exactly what took place on the twenty-fourth of December when he intimated to the parties that they had better settle this matter between themselves or that if he came to the conclusion that the defendant was guilty he might feel obliged to fine him $10.00 and costs or send him to jail for thirty days and that it would be better for the defendant to make restitution by way of exchanging horses and pay the costs and he would endavor to treat it as a first offence by which I persume he meant to allow the accused to go on suspended sentence on giving his own bonds for good behaviour, and thus end the matter. At the same time I submit that Mr. Wilson is mistaken in the view that he takes that the magistrate had no jurisdiction to adjudge payment of costs by the accused to the prosecutor, Wagar, if he found the accused guilty. The sections of the Criminal Code to which Mr. Wilson refers do not cover this case. He refers to section 787 which section relates back to sub-sections a and b of section 783. Sub-section a of section 783 is in case where the value of the property does not, in the judgment of the magistrate, exceed $10. In this case the value of the horse was manifestly more than $10 and this case would then come within the provisions of section 789 where the value of the property exceeds $10, and the question of costs will be governed by section 832 of the Criminal Law where the magistrate has the power to inflict the payment of costs.

(2) In answer to Mr. Wilson's second argument this is practically covered by what I said in answer to his first, namely, that the evidence adduced before the Commissioner does not establish the fact that the decision or judgment of the magistrate was different from what it appears on record, or in other words, that Mr. Daly did not prononnce judgment as is alleged by the accused. Mr. Daly's own explanation of it has been given and I submit that it was given in such a way as must have carried conviction to the mind of the Commissioner that he was stating the facts just as they occurred, and that he did not give judgment on the twenty-fourth of Dec., but merely stated what I have alleged in answer to Mr. Wilson's first argument.

(3) Mr. Wilson, in his third argument contends that if Mr. Daly's version of what took place on the twenty-fourth of December is correct, that his conduct was more reprehensible. I contend that from the evidence Mr. Daly's version is correct and that his conduct was not reprehensible. In giving this intimation to the accused he only did what is very frequently done by judges, intimating that the parties had better settle the case, as if they did not, that judgment of a certain kind might be given. In my own experience as counsel I have had several cases of this kind and the judge did this with a view of having the parties settle amicably and I do not think that Mr. Daly should be censured for having done this. It is not complained of on the part of Mr. Wilson or his client that Mr. Daly showed any malice in this matter or had any feelings as between the parties at all and this being the case, his conduct in giving this intimation, can only be considered as the act of a man who wishes to prevent litigation and who desired to have parties settle in a friendly manner and prevent what might turn out to be disagreeable consequences, and I do not think that the conclusion can be cases are in no way parallel and this case is mentioned for the sake of creating a prejudice against Mr. Daly, and the pretended anxiety not to have Mr. Daly dealt with as Mr. Cousins was is to say the least of it a little comical. The intended inference is plainly seen. The demand for restitution is mildly put and is as absurd as the unwarranted construction of the law by Mr. Wilson throughout this whole matter. Whoever heard of a judge making restitution even when his judgments or his decisions have been erroneous. I submit that if Mr. Wilson wants restitution he should have put his client in a position to have protected himself by way of appeal to the Court of Appeal as provided by the Code? This seems to have been overlooked altogether by Mr. Wilson.

In conclusion, I beg to say that Mr. Daly has been Police Magistrate here for ten years. During that time he has been a faithful officer and discharged his duty well. His course has given satisfaction to the public generally and in this matter if he was mistaken in the course he pursued, it was simply an error of judgment and should be treated as such. As a public officer he ought to be protected rather than blamed. It does look throughout this whole matter as if Mr. Daly was being pursued by those who ought to protect him and I trust that when this matter comes before the Attorney General, he will take the only common sense view of it, that Mr. Daly has endeavored to discharge his duty as a peace officer whose duty is to make peace and prevent parties being dragged into litigation by ill advisers.

Dated this 19th day of March, 1897.

Under the new act eight liquor licenses will be cut off in Belleville.

Mrs. Bois, of Deseronto slipped and fell on her back last week sustaining painful injuries.

Haines & Lockett, Belleville, have leased a commodious store in the Coleman block, that city.

Grinding every day at Close's Mills The best ground horse feed and barley meal for sale at Close's Mills

J.S. A. CLOSE.

There was a shortage of $600 by a late treasurer of Kaladar. Mrs. Margaret York now holds the office.

A lady named Mary Maguiah,
Had trouble in lighting her fiah,
The wood being green,
She used kerosene,
She has gone where the fuel is driah.

Gladstone is to publish a phamplet on the powers treatment of the Cretan complications of those who go through the world without glasses and suffering from headaches, sore eyes etc., if they do not consult a competent optician. A. f. chinneck a graduate of two optical school and a private student of Dr. Hammell can give numerous testimonials from the town and country where he has been eminently successful even when others had failed. Examination free. f. chinneck's jewellry store.

A woman is just as sure to hit her finger when she drives a nail as a man is to step on the soap when he gets out of a bath tub.

Mary bought a little wheel;
It wobbled so at random,
She gave it up and coaxed a man
To haul her on a tandem.

A. S. Kimmerly is selling the finest and cleanest timothy seed $190 per bushel. All kinds of field and garden seeds on hand. Fish of all kinds in stock at lowest prices. 24 lbs. best granulated sugar $1, Keewatin Flour $2.40 per hundred. Our 25c. tea beats the world. Finest can corn 5 for 25c.

'Tis now about the time of year,
When each friend, ever bold,
Fires off this question in your ear;
"Where did you get that cold?"

A clergyman, of Hamilton, propose religious services in a theatre, during which smoking will be permitted. Another clergyman recently danced to show how ridiculous dancing was; and still another killed a couple of cats by putting nicotene on their tongues, for the benefit of his congregation, and to show the evil effects of tobacco. The sensational pulpit goes too far. Will it finally give itself up to vaudeville.—Ex.

CASTORIA

For Infants and Children.

The fac-simile signature of Chas. H. Fletcher M.D.

900 DROPS

CASTORIA

A Vegetable Preparation for Assimilating the Food and Regulating the Stomachs and Bowels of

INFANTS CHILDREN

Promotes Digestion, Cheerfulness and Rest. Contains neither Opium, Morphine nor Mineral. NOT NARCOTIC.

Recipe of Old Dr SAMUEL PITCHER
Pumpkin Seed -
Alx. Senna +
Rochelle Salts -
Anise Seed +
Peppermint -
Bi Carbonate Soda +
Worm Seed -
Clarified Sugar -
Wintergreen Flavor.

A perfect Remedy for Constipation, Sour Stomach, Diarrhoea, Worms, Convulsions, Feverishness and LOSS OF SLEEP.

Fac Simile Signature of
Chas. H. Fletcher.
NEW YORK.

At 6 months old
35 DOSES – 35 CENTS

EXACT COPY OF WRAPPER.

SEE THAT THE FAC-SIMILE
SIGNATURE
—OF—
Chas. H. Fletcher.
IS ON THE WRAPPER
OF EVERY BOTTLE OF
CASTORIA

Castoria is put up in one-size bottles only. It is not sold in bulk. Don't allow anyone to sell you anything else on the plea or promise that it is "just as good" and "will answer every purpose." See that you get C-A-S-T-O-R-I-A.

The fac-simile signature of Chas. H. Fletcher. is on every wrapper.

A WISE MOVE.

For the past few months a certain section of the Tory press has been urging the Ontario Government to do something to develop the mines of the Province and interest capitalists in our mining country. These journals have rung with denunciation of the inaction of the Government and have been calling on Mr. Hardy in frenzied tones to do something to attract foreign capital to our shores. But a change has come over the spirit of their dreams. The Government has arranged to give a foreign company prospecting privileges over ten miles square, for a term of three years, they agreeing to spend $120,000 in that time. The company is to pay for any land they buy and be subject to the same regulations as are applied to others. This is termed an outrage, a bartering of the rights of the people and is roundly condemned by every Tory sheet in the land. No matter what action the Government takes, it is morally certain to receive the condemnation of the Tory press. All talk about the Government's deal with the South Africa syndicate being an "outrage" etc., is all moonshine. Anybody might have leased the entire tract in question for $64,000, little over half of what the syndicate has been bound to spend in prospecting—and held it by paying 25 cents an acre per annum, subject to the regulations. This mining deal will have the desired effect of interesting foreign capitalists in our mines and attracting the attention of the outside world to the mineral resources of Ontario.

Fast Losing Ground.

Dealers and druggists who handle and sell common package dyes for home dyeing are finding out that they are fast losing ground as business men.

Once a woman is deceived she never returns to the merchant that caused her loss of time and money.

The dealers who give their customers Diamond Dyes when dyes are asked for are the successful and trusted business med in every part of Canada.

Diamond Dyes are perfect in color and dyeing power: the only dyes that can warrant satisfaction. Every buyer should see that the name "Diamond" appears on each package handed to them by a dealer.

Constipation

Causes fully half the sickness in the world. It retains the digested food too long in the bowels and produces biliousness, torpid liver, indigestion, bad taste, coated tongue, sick headache, insomnia, etc. Hood's Pills cure constipation and all its results, easily and thoroughly. 25c. All druggists. Prepared by C. I. Hood & Co., Lowell, Mass. The only Pills to take with Hood's Sarsaparilla.

Hood's Pills

A BASHFUL BACHELOR.

He Had Reasons Enough for Failing to Win a Wife.

"Fate made me what I am," growled the gouty old bachelor who has his luxurious quarters within a block of Grand Circus Park. "I was intended by nature to love and be loved, and to have the joys of old age in a bright family circle instead of being shut up in a decorated dungeon like this. The fickle jade has played me a mighty mean trick.

"Why didn't you marry like a sensible fellow?" asked the old friend, who was making a duty call.

"Fate, I tell you; predestination, hard luck, or some of those other agencies to which we charge all misfortunes. When a young man I was smitten a score of times and hit so hard that it dazed me. It made an awkward sort of an idiot of me. I could neither think, talk or properly control my motions. The only thing on earth I was afraid of was a pretty woman and she simply paralyzed me."

"Pshaw; nothing but bashfulness, and you could have overcome it."

"You don't know what you are talking about. It wasn't anything of the kind. When in love I was controlled absolutely by some ulterior force. If I attempted to cross a room to address a young lady my feet would walk me out of the door. When I bowed I would fail to straighten up till someone broke the spell by a word or a laugh. I'd start to say something, and the result would be something else entirely irrelevant."

"Why didn't you make one grand effort and throw off the strange control?"

"That's what I did when I was visiting in Tennessee and fell in love with the grandest woman that ever lived. One day in the garden I set my teeth and determined to propose. Then I passed out of myself. I walked through a flower bed, fell over a baby carriage into a barbed wire fence, swore like a pirate and came up with a face on me like a cranberry patch. The sweet creature ran. So did I. That was my last love affair, and now there is nothing left but to sit in solitude and nurse the gout."—Detroit Free Press.

The Dominion Bank

ESTABLISHED 1871.

CAPITAL — $1,500,000.00
RESERVE FUND — $1,450,000.00

Deposits received and interest allowed. Drafts on all parts of Great Britain and United States bought and sold.

E. H. BAINES, Agent.

THE - MERCHANTS - BANK

OF CANADA

Head Office, — Montreal

Capital paid up, $6,000,000
Surplus, $3,000,000

INTEREST AT CURRENT RATES PAID ON DEPOSITS.

A GENERAL BANKING BUSINESS TRANSACTED.

W. A. BELLHOUSE,
Manager, Napanee Branch

EPPS'S COCOA

ENGLISH
BREAKFAST COCOA

Possesses the following Distinctive Merits:

DELICACY OF FLAVOR
SUPERIORITY IN QUALITY.

Grateful and Comforting to the Nervous or Dyspeptic.

NUTRITIVE QUALITIES UNRIVALLED.

In Quarter-Pound Tins Only.

Prepared by JAMES EPPS & Co., Ltd., Homœopathic Chemists, London, England.

Provincial Building and Loan Association, Toronto.

Local Advisory Board at

THE DINGLEY BILL is a second edition of the McKinley bill of a few years ago. It is very hostile to Canada, but before it passes through the United States Senate it may be so carved and altered that Mr. Dingley will not be able to recognize it. The Wilson Bill suffered severely in its passage through the House and we very much doubt if the Legislators of the United States will adopt the high protective features of the Dingley Bill without a protest.

LACKS THE ELEMENT OF TRUTH.

Now that Sir Oliver Mowat has passed to another sphere of usefulness the Tory press has turned its attention to Premier Hardy and he in turn is charged with nepotism. A conservative contemporary has compiled the following list of offices which the Hon. Mr. Hardy has filled with his relatives and friends, and it has gone the rounds of the Tory press, who have invariably commented on it in befitting terms. Here is the bon mot in question:—

"Hon. A. S. Hardy, who is Premier of this province, has the following persons drawing salaries from the province's money box:

His father, Mr. Russell Hardy, a storekeeper in the London asylum.

His son, an official in the Crown Lands department.

His niece, an official in the Orillia asylum.

His cousin, an official in the Crown Lands department.

His nephew, an official in the Education department,

Another cousin, an official in the license branch.

His sister, an official in the Hamilton asylum.

His former partner, registrar of the Crown Lands department."

The big headed individual who

HIS MEED OF PRAISE.

DEAR EDITOR:—As it seems to be the fashion for the people of Wilton to take turns at using the public prints for puffing our "leading, and most enterprising citizen," and "public benefactor," and orator, and as my turn has now come I will furnish my humble contribution. He certainly deserves great credit not only for his present efforts to build up our village but also for the noble manner in which he stands by the humble and helpless portion of the community when they are basely and unjustly attacked; and for the manly way in which he encouraged and assisted Mr. Geo. I. Perry, when he was reducing the price of cheese-making to the farmers. His noble conduct in that matter secured for him from the learned and impartial judge some very complimentary encomiums. The unselfish encouragement given to Mr. Metzler also showed a very magnanimous spirit, when he offered to make cheese for 12cts per lb. A very prominent feature of his character is his self-denying efforts to build up his neighbor's business at the expense of his own, which is no doubt due to his over-anxious carefulness not to transgress the 9th and 10th injunctions of the Decalogue. He has also discharged the duties of the many important offices he has held, in such a way as only he could do it. It is gratifying to know that his many transcendent qualities of head and heart are fully appreciated by some of his neighbors who know him well, and

CURED OF SCIATICA.

Left Hip Affected—Suspected Kidney Trouble — Relieved and Perfectly Cured by Dodd's Kidney Pills.

Toronto Junction, Mar. 22 (Special)—Mr. H. Playter, is not a difficult man to find as everybody here knows that he is foreman at No. 1 Fire Hall. He was the picture of health when called upon by your correspondent and told his story thus:—

"In April 1896 I suffered from a severe attack of Sciatica affecting my left hip and the leg to the tip of the toes I suspected it came from some form of kidney trouble and as they had been recommended I procured a box of Dodd's Kidney Pills."

At the end of the fourth day I was entirely relieved but desiring a permanent cure I continued to use that and another box and am now perfectly cured and as well as ever in my life. A brother of mine living at Pine Orchard has been cured by Dodd's Kidney Pills.

A BAFFLED FLORIST.

Now Gladys sends for catalogues
From seedsmen far and near,
And studies them with diligence
As she does every year.
Most lovingly she turns the leaves
And lingeringly she looks
At pictures of plants never seen
Except in seedsmen's books.

A new kind of chrysanthemum
Just fills her with delight,
A pictured sweet pea is a thing
To dream about at night.

Napanee.

President, M. S. Madole Esq; Vice Pres., G. W. Gibbard Esq., F. W. Morris, T. D. Pruyn, J. J. Taylor, Chas. Frizzell, Dr. G. W Edwards, W. P. Deroche. Solicitors Messrs. Deroche and Madden. Valuator, W. Embury; Sect. Treasurer and Agent, Irvine Parks.

from whom all information can be obtained. Money received on investment at good interest, and money loaned on easy terms of repayment.

Apply to I. Parks, Agent.

Pain-Killer.

(PERRY DAVIS').

A Sure and Safe Remedy in every case and every kind of Bowel Complaint is

Pain-Killer.

This is a true statement and it can't be made too strong or too emphatic.

It is a simple, safe and quick cure for

Cramps, Cough, Rheumatism, Colic, Colds, Neuralgia, Diarrhœa, Croup, Toothache.

TWO SIZES, 25c. and 50c.

VERY LARGE BOTTLES 50 CENTS.

Relief for Lung Troubles

The D. L. EMULSION

In CONSUMPTION and all LUNG DISEASES, SPITTING OF BLOOD, COUGH, LOSS OF APPETITE, DEBILITY, the benefit of this article are most manifest.

By the aid of The "D. & L." Emulsion I have got rid of a hacking cough which I had had for a period over a year, and have gained considerably in weight. I liked the Emulsion so well I was glad when the time came around to take it.

T. H. WINGHAM, C.E., Montreal.

50c. and $1 per Bottle

DAVIS & LAWRENCE CO., LTD., MONTREAL

The Napanee Express

NAPANEE, FRIDAY, MAR. 26th, 1897.

THE bye-election in Wright on Tuesday to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of Mr. Devlin resulted in the election of the Liberal candidate by a majority of over 800. Everything seems to be coming our way these days—even the Papal Ablegate.

THE Rev. Dr. Laing, of Kingston, thinks the License Bill now before the Ontario Legislature possesses a few good features, viz: The abolishing of all Saloons in the Province, and the advancing of the age limit from 18 to 21 years. The Government ought to be happy for this tardy acknowledgment.

THE temperance people of this Province don't want amendments to the license act, they want prohibition. This the Ontario Government has not the power to grant them. In view of the hostility his proposed efforts to restrict the traffic has engendered, Mr. Hardy would consult his own best interests by withdrawing the bill.

THE city council of Toronto contemplates instituting an investigation into the manner in which departmental stores are conducted in that city. It is said that these stores are gradually crushing out the smaller stores and reducing the salaries of their employees. This departmental store question is becoming a live issue, but the evil will believed that anything worth doing is worth doing well. As a gilt-edged liar he leaves Ananias miles in the rear. In the first place Mr. Hardy's father has been dead for many years. Mr. Hardy has no son in the Crown Lands Department. He has no niece in the Orillia Asylum; he has no cousin in the License branch; no son in the Education department; and his sister is not an official in the Hamilton Asylum.

Mr. Hardy is an honorable and faithful public servant and one who also has the best interests of the Province at heart. His opponents despairing of finding any flaws in his public record have resorted to barefaced lying in the hope of discrediting him with a certain section of the electorate who derive their light from under the half bushel of these servile organs of the Tory party.

A TEMPERANCE GOVERNMENT.

Sir Oliver Mowat as Premier of Ontario gave a distinct pledge that he would introduce a Prohibitory law if the Privy Council decided the Province had the jurisdiction to enact such legislation. The Privy Council decided that the Province had not the power to pass such a law. In lieu thereof the Ontario Government introduced several amendments to the license law restricting the traffic and looking towards the abolishment of all saloons in the Province. In return Mr. Hardy and his colleagues are branded as pledge breakers and dishonorable men through the columns of the Templar, the alleged mouthpiece of the temperance movement. W. W. Buchanan, the versatile and many sided editor of that immaculate sheet, is a professional temperance agitator who has never let an opportunity pass him to score the Reform party. On the strength of his temperance principles he endeavored to lift himself by his boot straps into the Dominion and Provincial Legislature. His ineffectual efforts to foist himself into Parliament embittered him so that he has concentrated all his transcendental abilities ever since to belittleing and abusing Sir Oliver Mowat, Premier Hardy and his colleagues. Week after week the Templar has teemed with scare head articles retailing the wickedness of the Ontario License Commissioners, disparaging reflections on Mr. Laurier's promised plebiscite and mean inuendoes against the Hon. G. W. Ross. When the Reform party came into power the bar in the House of Commons was abolished but the Liberals received no credit for this action from the Templar and no kindly word for their promise to grant a plebiscite on Prohibition. The Reform Government of Ontario has done all in their power to advance temperance in Ontario despite the opposition of W. W. Buchanan and a few more of his ilk. The large decrease in both the consumption of intoxicants and the number of licenses issued are directly traceable to the wise, restrictive and well administered laws of the Government of Sir Oliver Mowat. In his successor, the Hon. Arthur Hardy, who is every bit as aggressive for the suppression of the liquor traffic and the wide spread poverty and misery it entails, the Province has a Premier who is in every way worthy to follow in the footsteps of Ontario's G. O. M.

Madden's Enamel is the only stove pipe varnish that does not smell or smoke when applied to stove pipes, ranges, grates, etc. Ask your dealer for it. 45tf

Hagyard's Yellow Oil. This old reliable medicine, in use over a third of a century, cures rheumatism, stiff joints, sprains, bruises, swelling, frost bites, chilblains, chafing neuralgia and all pain or soreness in man or beast. 25c. at all druggists.

Wanted—An Idea Who can think of some simple thing to patent? Protect your ideas; they may bring you wealth. Write JOHN WEDDERBURN & CO., Patent Attorneys, Washington, D.C., for their $1,800 prize offer and list of two hundred inventions wanted.

whose patronage will be according to their knowledge. In view of the foregoing, and the various other ways in which he has shown remarkable ability and nobleness of character, and in view of the fact, that he sometimes delivers lengthy, but not very interesting speeches for the benefit of the farmers, please don't accuse us of claiming too much, when we say that he has done more for the farming community than all the other men put together that have lived in these parts.

The next chapter in the glorious record of this wonderful man will likely be to "whoop her up" for parliament, and then how those legislative halls on the banks of the Ottawa will jingle with an eloquence and wisdom never before heard of. In the meantime let us all sing the praises of the brightest star that ever shone in the old county of Lennox, and when the history of the present and near future comes to be written, it will likely be found that but few if any stars of equal lustre have ever risen above the horizon of the Dominion.

A FARMER THAT FARMS.

Wilton, March 9th, 1897.

SEAFORTH.

Long Remembered Trouble, Now a Thing of the Past.

A Seaforth lady gives an account of her rescue from a lifelong ailment:

"Ever since I can remember I have suffered from weak action of the heart. For sometime past it grew constantly worse, reducing my health to a very low state. I frequently had such sharp pains under my heart that I was fearful if I drew a long breath it would cause death. In going upstairs I had to stop to rest and regain breath. When my children made a noise while playing I would be so overcome with nervousness and weakness that I could not do anything and had to sit down to regain composure. Oftentimes my heart would seem to swell, and give me great pain. My limbs were unnaturally cold, and I was subject to nervous headaches any dizziness My memory became uncertain and sleep deserted me.

"I have been taking Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills, which I got at Mr. Fear's drug store, and as a result am very much better. I have improved in health and strength rapidly since commencing this treatment. The blessing of sleep is restored to me. My heart is much stronger, and the oppressive sensation in it has vanished. I can now go upstairs without stopping and with the greatest of ease, and I no longer suffer from dizziness or headache. It seems to me the circulation of my blood has became healthy and normal, thereby removing the coldness from my limbs. I can truly say that Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills have done me a world of good." (Signed) Mrs. James Constable, Seaforth, Ont.

Mrs. Constable is the wife of Mr. James Constable who has been a resident for over 25 years, and both he and his estimable wife are well known in Seaforth and the surrounding country.

Laxa Liver Pills cures canstipation, biliousness, and sick headache; 25c.

Wm. and Jacob Stouffles, Picton, have been arrested in connection with the recent series of robberies in that town and adjoining townships. A great quantity of stolen stuff was found on their premises. They were committed to gaol.

If you would be a voter at the next Provincial elections see that your name is placed on the municipal voters' list of this year.

At Picton Herbert Friar, who gallantly rescued M. McDiarmid, of Prescott, from drowning, was presented with a certificate of honor awarded by the Royal humane society of Hamilton.

A merchant yesterday told a commercial traveller for a United States house that he would buy nothing from him after the way his government was attempting to crowd Canada. "If I cannot buy in Canada or England the goods I require," he said, "I will do without." And the merchant was a grit.—Kingston Whig.

The Canadian hen is no slouch. Canada last year exported 6,584,725 dozens were sent to Great Britian and 894,989 dozens to the United States. Of the total Ontario

And so Mr Gladys turns the leaves
And makes her mental choice
And when she speaks of flowers you hear
The love tones of her voice.

Well, when she's looked the book all through
And made her little list,
She foots the figures up and then
You see a sudden mist
Of fleeting tears in Gladys' eyes;
Her order represents
An eighteen-dollar outlay, and
Her limit's fifty cents.

Put It in English.

A noted wag one day dropped into a cafe for dinner. The waiter had just flicked a piece of lint from his customer's coat collar when the guest opened out on him.

"Yes," said he, glancing at the menu, "you may bring me some eggs blushing like Aurora."

"Beg pardon," explained the waiter, "it's not on the bill."

"Isn't, eh? What's this, oeufs a l'aurore?"

"Oh, yes," replied the young man, blushing and shifting somewhat uneasily.

"And I feel like some breeches in the royal fashion, with velvet sauce."

The waiter turned red, white and blue.

"Got you again," chuckled the guest; "Well, I suppose you call it cutlotte a la royale, sauce veloute."

"Oh, that! Yes, sir; yes, sir," and the waiter briskly rattled the cutlery around the plate, as though he fain would drown the guest's voice.

"Be sure you bring a stew of good Christians."

"Now you are joking," mildly expostulated the waiter, with a sickly smile.

"Not a bit of it, man. See, here on your bill, compote de bons chretiens."

"Oh—ah—ugh," gulped the waiter.

"And a mouthful of ladies."

"Eh?"

"Bouchee de dames—quick, help—a glass of water—dash it in his face."

But the guest was too late. The waiter was in a dead swoon, from which he did not recover until late in the afternoon.—London Caterer.

HEART AND NERVE Troubles.

Any person residing in Napanee who may require a medicine for Heart or Nerve Troubles, such as Palpitation, Fluttering or Irregular Beating of the Heart, Distress after Exertion, Smothering Feeling, Feeling of Anxiety, etc., also Sleeplessness, Nervousness, Watery Blood, General Debility, after Effects of La Grippe, Loss of Appetite, etc., can procure a full-sized box of Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills, FREE, providing each applicant will cut this out, sign his or her name and address at the foot of same and present it at A. W. Grange & Bro's Drug Store.

We take this plan of distributing 36 boxes of Miburn's Heart and Nerve Pills, commencing this 27th day of March, 1897. First come, first served. The distribution will continue until they are all disposed of.

Name.....

No.....Street,

Place.....

CASTORIA.

The fac-simile

BICYCLES,

We have an elegant range of Bicycles direct from the best makers.

COLUMBIA, STEARNS, HARTFORD, UTICA AND OHIO WHEELS.

A $65.00 Wheel for $50.00.

JUST DROP IN AND LOOK AT THEM.

NO ONE CAN UNDERSELL US IN SHOES,

SEE THEM

HAINES & LOCKETT,

4 BIG SHOE STORES

NO CREDIT. ONE PRICE.

Sweet Caporal

CIGARETTES

10C. per Package

Standard of the World.

KINNEY BROS.,

NEW YORK.

New Fall and Winter Goods.
New stock just received.

Overcoatings, Scotch and English and Canadian Suitings, English and Canadian Serges, West of England Pants, all of which will be made up on the shortest possible notice. Satisfaction guaranteed. The best of Trimmings used in making up ordered work. We are not selling at cost, but our prices give but small profit and they are lower than our competitors. Please call and inspect before purchasing.

R. FORD. T. G. DAVIS.

SAVED HER LIFE.

FEEDING FOR EGGS.

The Instructions and Hints Contained in U. S. Bulletin No. 41.

In feeding for egg production, a valuable lesson may be learned from nature. It will be observed that our domestic fowls that receive the least care and attention, or, in other words, whose conditions approach more nearly the natural conditions, lay most of their eggs in the springtime. It is our duty, then, as feeders, to note the conditions surrounding these fowls at that time. The weather is warm, they have abundance of green food, more or less grain, many insects, and plenty of exercise and fresh air. Then, if we are to feed for egg production, we will endeavour to make it springtime all the year round; not only to provide a warm place for our fowls and give them a proper proportion of green food, grain and meat, but also to provide pure air and plenty of exercise.

Farmers who keep only a small stock of hens, chiefly to provide eggs for the family, frequently make a mistake in feeding too much corn. It has been clearly proven by experiment that corn should not form a very large proportion of the grain ration for laying hens; it is too fattening; especially for hens kept in close confinement. Until th past few years, corn has been considered the universal poultry food of America. This, no doubt, has been largely brought about by its cheapness and wide distribution. The recent low prices of wheat have id farmers to feed

HOTHOUSE LIVES.

Disease Germs In Homes that Are Badly Ventilated.

Sickness and Disease Prevail at This Season.

Paine's Celery Compound Gives New Life.

It Should Be Used by Every Ailing Person this Month.

The all important thing for nervous, sleepless and run down people to know is that Paine's Celery Compound builds up the whole physicial system, improves digestion and regulates the nerves. By accomplishing this work, sound, regular and refreshing sleep is insured that daily helps flesh-building and the gathering of strength.

In the winter the majority of men and women have lived hothouse lives. Thousands of homes are badly ventilated and without proper sanitary arrangements. The air is full of poison germs that are inhaled by the inmates, and we find sickness and disease holding sway.

This is the month when the blood is impure, when eruptions, boils and skin diseases make life a misery. This is the month when we see the sallow faces, the hollow cheeks and sunken eyes, betokening ill health and weakness. This is the month that demands physicial repairing and cleansing, in order that the seeds and germs of disease may be eradicated from the system.

Paine's Celery Compound is the medicine needed by every broken down and and diseased mortal at this time. Its marvellous virtues have been noted and commended by the ablest physicians in the world, and its best and strongest advocates are those whom it has restored to perfect health.

Dr. A. W. K. Newton, an eminent physician and surgeon of Boston, says:

"Paine's Celery Compound is not a patent medicine, and it must not be confounded with the ordinary nervines, bitters and sarsaparillas. It is as much superior to them in formula and results as the diamond is superior to glass. It purifies the blood, strengthens the nerves, and is nature's food for the brain.

"I had some trouble myself from blood

The Cuba of the Mediterranean.

Crete is the Cuba of the Mediterranean. From time out of mind it has been swept and swept again with war and convulsed by uprisings. This is the Crete of classic lore, whose famous King was Minos, and which contained the fabled labyrinth to confine the Minotaur. There, too, is Mount Ida, in one of whose caves Zeus, the supreme God of the ancient Greeks, was reared. With their mythologies and histories so intimately entwined, the bonds of kinship that bind Greece and Crete are the most natural conceivable. Whatever may be the requirements of European politics, the union of the island to Greece can be sustained by every argument of tradition, sentiment, kinship, and good order.

But many centuries have passed since Greece and Crete were one. The Romans conquered the Island in 68 B.C., and the Saraccus in turn obtained control in 823. In 961 it was retaken by the Greeks, but in 1204 the island was sold to the Venetians, then in the heyday of their commercial glory. In 1669 the Ottoman Turks captured it after a siege of twenty four years, in which 200,000 men perished, and since then the island has been under Turkish and Mosiem rule. During the nineteenth century there has been a steady succession of insurrections, and constant appeals to the powers to relieve the Christian population from the galling yoke. There were insurrections in 1841, in 1866, in 1868, in 1877, and in 1890. Every time a union with Greece was desired by the Christian population, and every time Greece held out her hands to receive the distracted island into the mother arms. But the "integrity" of the Ottoman Empire "must be preserved," and Crete was again and again forced back "pacified," under the hideous rule of the Porte. And almost always the Sultan granted "reforms."—Springfield (Mass.) Republican.

The Loon.

The loon is found in a'l the northern regions of this country. It is a very awkward bird on land, but a graceful and rapid swimmer. It is a remarkable diver, and it is thought that no other feathered creature can dive so far beneath the surface or remain so long a time under water. A specimen was once found attached to the hook of a fisherman's set line in Seneca lake, it having dived nearly 100 feet to reach the bait. It feeds on lizards, fish, frogs, all kinds of aquatic insects, and the roots of fresh-water plants, usually swallowing its food under water. It is a very large bird, about three feet in length and spreads its wings fully five feet. It builds its nest in marshes, near water or rushes and grass, which it twists together in a huge heap on the ground, usually among tall reeds. The eggs, usually three in number, are a litt'e over three inches long, and in color of a dull greenish ochre, with indistinct spots of dark umber, most numerous toward the broad end. During the winter this bird lives near the sea shore, especially in the salt marshes on the Long Island coast, and along the shores of the Chesapeake; but in the summer it goes as far north as Labrador and breeds there in great quantities.

Hibernian Twins.

Flannigan—I met a man, last week, and bedad, I'd have sworn it was yourself.

Toole—And wasn't it?

Flannigan—Never a bit! But he was your very image, barrin' he was a thrifle gray. I suppose now ye haven't such a thing as a twin brother a few years older than yourself?—London Tid-Bits.

The Link.

Quericus—What is it that connects thoughts of love with thoughts of war?

Cynicus—Marriage.

OH! THE MISERY.

Mrs. Galbraith of Shelburne, Ont., was a Great Sufferer from Indigestion, the Bane of so many Lives—South American Nervine Released its Hold—It Relieves in one Day.

"I was for a long time a great sufferer from indigestion. I experienced all the misery and annoyance so common to this ailment. I tried many remedies and spent a great deal on doctor's bills without receiving any permanent benefit. I was strongly recommended to try South American Nervine. I procured and used it after personally testifying I am pleased to testify [illegible] restored to health, and I [illegible] indigestion.

THE NARROW ESCAPE OF A FERGUS MERCHANT'S DAUGHTER.

Had Been Weak and Sickly From Infancy—Neither Doctor Nor Friends Thought She Would Survive—Dr. Williams' Pink Pills Saved Her Life—Advice to Parents.

From the Fergus News-Record.

Mr. C M. Post, fruit and confectionery dealer, St. Andrew street, Fergus, last week related to a representative of the News Record the sad story of the terrible suffering and sickness of his little daughter Ella, his only child, now a strong and healthy little maiden of ten years of age. At the time of the child's illness Mr. Post was a resident of Hamilton. His story is substantially as follows:—"My daughter had been very delicate from childhood until about three years ago, and the money it cost me for doctor bills made me poor as it was seldom she was without a doctor's care, and at times we have had as many as three doctors in attendance and hope of saving her despaired of. The doctors succeeded in keeping her alive, but she was gradualy growing worse and we all thought she was going to die. Our regular physician had given up hope of saving her life and remarked that if it were only warm weather, (it was then winter) there might be a chance. But seven summers had passed since her birth and she had gradually become feebler, and my wife and I thought it was just a matter of time until the child would be called to a better home. About this time Dr. Williams' Pink Pills were prominently brought to our notice through a cure they wrought in a neighbor's child. I thought I would give them a trial and so informed the doctor, but he only laughed at the idea of them helping her. However I bought a box of the Pink Pills, and began giving them to her, half a pill at a time. After a short treatment there was such an improvement that neither her mother nor I could doubt that Dr. Williams' Pink Pills were helping her, and I decided to abandon the doctor's services altogether. The Pink Pill treatment was continued and although the progress towards health and strength was necessarily slow, it was none the less certain, and it was continued until she is as well and strong as you see her today, I am thankful to say she has had no occasion for medical treatment since. I am a strong believer in the efficacy of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for weak and delicate children, and I firmly believe it was this medicine that saved my child."

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are an all-round-year medicine and are quite as efficacious in the case of children as in adults. They restore to the blood its lacking constituents and make it rich, red and pure. In this way they strengthen the system and drive out disease. There are many cases like the above in which this wonderful medicine has restored health and strength after the best medical advice had failed. The genuine Pink Pills are sold in boxes, the wrapper round which bears the full trade mark, "Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People." There are other pills colored pink, but they are base imitations offered only because they give the dealer a greater profit. They should always be refused.

Mrs. Helen Carscallen, relict of the late Luke Carscallen, died at her home in Thurlow on Thursday, 24th ult., aged 69 years. One son survives her.

Toronto Saturday Night claims that the departmental stores have decreased the value of real estate in that city to the extent of ten millions of dollars.

Five Gananoque stores are to combine and form a big departmental store as a joint stock company, to be ready by May 1st.

The Warkworth Journal says there is one home in that villiage in which there are five people whose total ages amount to 358 years.

An old man by the name of Donald McKenzie from Marmora was at Madoc the other day with gold to the value of $80, taken out of the ore by a simple process of his own. He has been following this business of this grain than formerly, and with a consequent improvement in the poultry ration.

STANDARD BUFF LEGHORN COCK.
Reliable Poultry Journal.

When comfortable quarters are provided for the fowls, the nutritive ratio of the food should be about 1:4; that it, one part of protein or muscle-forming compounds to four parts of carbohydrates or heat and fat-producing compounds. Wheat is to be preferred to corn. Oats make an excellent food, and perhaps come nearer the ideal than most any other single grain, particularly if the hull can be removed.

Buckwheat, like wheat, has too wide a nutritive ratio if fed alone, and produces a white flesh and light colored yolk if fed in large quantities. In feeding fowls for egg production, as in forcing animals for large yields of milk, it is found best to make up a ration of many kinds of grain, although the nutritive ratio of the ration may be about the same. It has been found by experiment that the fowls not only do not relish their ration more when composed of many kinds of grain, but that a somewhat larger percentage of the whole ration is digested than when it is composed of fewer ingredients. It has been clearly proven by experiment that food consumed by the fowls influences the flavor of the egg; that in extreme cases not only is the flavor of the food imparted to the eggs, but also the odor. This of itself is sufficient for always supplying whole some food for the fowls and seeing to it that none but wholesome food is consumed. It is conceded by the majority of poultrymen that ground or soft food should form a part of the daily ration. As the digestive organs contain the least amount of food in the morning, it is desirable to feed the soft food at this time, for the reason that it will be digested and assimilated quicker than whole grain. A mixture of equal parts, by weight, of corn and oats ground, added to an equal weight of wheat, bran and fine middling, makes a good morning food if mixed with milk or water, thoroughly wet without being sloppy. If the mixture is inclined to be sticky the proportion of bran should be increased. A little linseed meal will improve the mixture, particularly for hens during the moulting period, or for chickens when they are growing feathers.

The grain ration should consist largely of whole wheat, some oats, and perhaps as little cracked corn. This should be scattered in the litter which should always cover the floor of the poultry house. It is necessary to have the floor of the poultry house covered with a litter of some kind to insure cleanliness. Straw, chaff, buckwheat hulls, cut cornstalks, all make excellent litters. The object of scattering the grain in this litter is to give the fowls exercise. All breeds of fowls that are noted for egg production are active, nervous and like to be continually at work. How to keep them busy is a problem not easily solved. Feeding the grain as described will go a long way toward providing exercise. If the fowls are fed three times a day they should not be fed all they will eat at noon. Make them find every kernel. At night, just before going on the perch, they should have all they will eat up clean.

Grapevine Trellis for Shade.

Chicks need shady spots to which to resort in summer. Where trees and bushes are scarce, artificial shade must be furnished. The sketch shows how to have an attractive addition to the side of a building, a supply of grapes and a shady spot for the chicks all at once. Three plant supports are set in the ground and bent in a curve to the side of the building and secured. Over these wire netting is stretched, on which grapevines will grow with great readiness.

GRAPEVINE TRELLIS FOR SHADE.

Milk pans our own make, cream pails, strainer pails, churns, butter bowls, ladles, at Boyle & Sons.

This Spring. Spring is at hand, winter is nearly over. Are you ready for summer? Is your blood pure? Burdock Blood Bitters purifies and enriches the blood, cures dyspepsia poisoning received in a very delicate surgical operation. The formula of Paine's Celery Compound led me to try it, and I was much pleased with the results. I prescribe it for men and women who have no appetite, cannot sleep, and are weak and run down. For this condition, and for disorders of the blood and nerves, it has no equal.

"When a man or woman has lost appetite, lost sleep, and feels that life is a burden, that person is in a serious condition. I prescribe Paine's Celery Compound for my patients who have these common and dangerous symptoms with invariably satisfactory results. It is the best possible remedy to keep up one's strength and energy during the spring and summer months."

A Tale of Woe.

"Yes, suh, it made my heart bleed-ed, suh!"

Colonel Bourbon Straight brushed his coat sleeve across his eyes and uttered a deep, deep sigh.

"As you are well aware, suh, Majah Stillon belongs to one of the very first families of the South, suh. Owned a regiment of slaves befo' the wah, suh, and was worth a heap of money. Had it to burn, suh. Well, suh, I met the Majah on the street to-day, and we had a chat about old times befo' the wah, and he told me something, suh, that made my heart blee-e-d, suh.

"Yes, suh, and what was worse, suh; what was an actual disgrace to the proud name of Straight, suh, was the fact, suh, that it also made my eyes watah, suh—watah, suh—just think of it, suh! From what he told me that proud Kentucky family, suh, are in the most straightened circumstances, to-day, suh.

"Why, suh," the Colonel cried impressively, again brushing disgrace from the eyes of the house of Straight; "why, suh, from what the Majah told me to-day, suh, his family are in the most actual want, suh."

"No bread in the house, I suppose?" said the man from the North.

"No bread!" cried the Colonel. "Worse than that, suh, worse than that. Why, suh, they are actually without the necessaries of life, suh. They haven't got a drop of whisky in the house, suh.—not a drop of whisky in the house."—New York Journal.

Contempt of Court.

"Ten dollars," said the magistrate.

"But, your honor," said the prisoner, "I protest against this fine. I have the right to make a defense against the charge."

"But you have already pleaded guilty," said the magistrate.

"I beg your honor's pardon; I denied the charge in the plainest terms."

"Young man," said the magistrate sternly, "I want to call your attention to the fact that the court understands the English language. You have pleaded guilty in unmistakable words. The plaintiff charges you with assault and battery. It is clearly evident that he has been assaulted and battered. According to your statement he approached you on the street and used abusive language toward you. Then you say that you didn't do a thing to him. If the court understands the language spoken by seventy millions of people, you immediately wiped up the earth with him. The fine stands, and any further reflection upon the court's knowledge of English will cost you ten more."—Detroit Free Press.

Bad Joke on a Sad Fact.

"What! Another five-dollar bill! Do you think I'm made of 'em. No wonder the old poet was onto your tricks."

"Which poet was that?"

"Scott, I believe."

"What was the poem?"

"Why, it's the one commencing, 'Oh, woman, in our hours of Vs'—I've forgotten the rest."—Cleveland Plain

PILL-ANTHROPY

Or philanthropy to give you good health for 20 cents—the cost of Dr. Agnew's Liver Pills.

Sure, safe, quick and pleasant to act. No pain, no griping.

For Sick Headache, for distress after eating, for Billiousness, for coated Tongue, for Constipation. They work wonderful cures. All druggists have them. 40 in a vial, 25c. Sold by A. W. Green & Son.

Cheapside.

New Goods, New Goods, New Goods,

New Dress Goods, New Tweeds,
New Prints, New Cloths.

ORDERED CLOTHING a Specialty.

AND NOW IS THE TIME TO MAKE A SELECTION.

ONE PRICE ONLY, AND PRICES RIGHT.

TERMS, - CASH.

W. MOWAT, Proprietor.

DR WOOD'S
NORWAY PINE SYRUP.

THE MOST PROMPT,
Pleasant and Perfect Cure for Coughs, Colds, Asthma, Bronchitis, Hoarseness, Sore Throat, Croup, Whooping Cough, Quinsy, Pain in the Chest and all Throat, Bronchial and Lung Diseases.

The healing anti-consumptive virtues of the Norway Pine are combined in this medicine with Wild Cherry and other pectoral Herbs and Balsams to make a true specific for all forms of disease originating from colds.

Price - 25c. and 50c.

DOAN'S KIDNEY PILLS

Price 50 cents per Box, or 6 for $2.50. At Druggists, or Mailed on Receipt of Price by T. MILBURN & CO., Toronto.

Burdock

A Catastrophe.

The train was roaring along about forty miles an hour, and the conductor was busily punching tickets full of holes, when a little, thin, old man who sat in one of the corner seats plucked at his sleeve.

"Mr. Conductor, you be sure and let me off at Speers station. You see, this is the first time I ever rode on steam cars, and I don't know anything 'bout them. You won't forget it, eh?"

"All right sir; I won't forget."

The old man brushed back a stray lock of hair, and straightening himself, gazed at the flying landscape, every now and then exclaiming, "Gracious!" "By gum!" etc.

Suddenly there was a crash and after a number of gymnastic moves that made him think of his school days, he found himself sitting on the grass of the embankment alongside the track.

Seeing another passenger sitting a short distance away, patiently supporting various parts of the splintered car across his leg, he inquired:

"Is this Speers crossing?"

The passenger, who was a drummer, and not altogether new to such happenings, replied with a smile, although considerable pain:

"No; this is a catastrophe."

"Is that so," he irritably exclaimed. "Now I knew that conductor would put me off at the wrong place."—Harper's Round Table.

"Peculiar."

"Yes, Johnnie is considered a vicious boy, but he isn't responsible for that."

"Why not?"

"Because he is peculiar."

"In what way?"

"In a great many ways. One day his father told him to go to the store and come right right back. He didn't come, and when his father looked for him he was playing ball with some boys in the back lot."

"Indeed!"

"Yes, and that isn't the worst of it."

"No?"

"He hadn't been to the store at all."

"How strange."

"And also on this his sister said he shouldn't eat so many pancakes; that eleven were enough for any boy."

"Well?"

"Well, he ate thirteen."

"No?"

"Yes. Not long after this his Sunday school teacher cautioned him against the sin of lying. The next day he broke down the clothes line and said it was Jimmy Hartigan that did it."

"I want to know."

THE PASSING YEARS.

The years are passing o'er me,
Life's race will soon be run,
And sunset skies before me
I proclaim that day is done.

But what hath death of sorrow?
Well know I that to-day
Is parent of to-morrow,
With all its bright array.

At eve, when down I lay me,
In quietness to sleep,
This thought shall sweetly stay me;
Eternal love doth keep.

The future I can gladly
Leave to God's gentle care,
But one thought stealeth sadly
Upon me unaware.

So few the hours remaining,
For tasks of love and good;
I pray for grace sustaining
To use them as I should.

For burdened souls beside me,
Who mourning lift their plaint,
With word of help provide me,
At what time, Lord, they faint.

O, Font of living waters,
Deign through my life to flow,
To cheer Thy sons and daughters,
In time of want and woe.

—ROBERT M. OFFORD.

CATCHING A BURGLAR

BY AMY RANDOLPH.

"No," said Betsey Jane, "nothin shall induce me to change my mind, mem. I've give warning, and I shall stick to it. No, girl, mem, as respects herself could put up with the sort of treatment as I gets at No. 54. The way cold meat, mem, is weighed afore it goes off the table to make sure as there ain't anything cribbed off it before it goes back for nine o'clock supper, with a Welsh rabbit and a pickle! And as for me, mem, I'm expected to live off bread and cheese and salt pork. And the old gent, he measures all coal by the scuttleful, and says I'll bring him to the poorhouse if I don't leave off wasting the kindling wood—and Miss Zeruiah she counts every lump of sugar and the apples in the store chamber. Why, mem, there couldn't a black beetle grow fat in that house, let alone a respectable sized mouse, and no money couldn't hire me to stay, after my month is up."

And, catching up the tin cup which

Scott's Emulsion is Cod-liver Oil prepared as a food. At the same time, it is a blood maker, a nerve tonic and an up-builder. But principally it is a food for tired and weak digestions; for those who are not getting the fat they should from their ordinary food; for children whom nothing seems to nourish; for all who are fat-starved and thin.

It is pleasant to take; at least, it is not unpleasant. Children like it and ask for more.

Some druggists have a "just as good" kind. Isn't the kind all others try to equal good enough for you to buy?

butler kept it to ax his honor the court," said Policeman 20,000,02, and he dragged the culprit out and clapped on a pair of handcuffs before Betsey Jane and her mistress could believe that the desperate villain was really in custody.

"A-breakin' into peaceable citizenses' coalbicles and frightenin' the ladies! I wonder you ain't ashamed of yourself," said Policeman 20,000,02 with an extra jerk to the necktie of the brigand. "I say, come along, why don't you? Now, ladies, don't be scared! The gang's all broke up!"

At this juncture the fluttered doves of this cote ventured to peep over the banisters of the basement staircase. Miss Hardscrabble uttered a shriek, which, as Policeman 20,000,02 said, "ran through him like a carving knife."

"It's pa!" said Miss Hardscrabble.

"It's master!" said Betsey Jane.

"Brute of a policeman!" cried Miss Hardscrabble, "release my parent!"

"Ain't he a burglar?" demanded Policeman 20,000,02, in great perplexity.

"No more than yourself," said old Hardscrabble, who, with his mouth and eyes filled with coal dust, and his face resembling that of a negro minstrel ready for the stage, presented a most indescribable appearance.

BLOOD BITTERS.

THE BEST SPRING MEDICINE

Cures all Blood Diseases, from a common Pimple to the worst Scrofulous Sore.

FARMERS ATTENTION.

Insure your property in the Lennox and Addington Mutual Fire Insurance Company.

Because it is a Home Company.

Because it is a Safe Company.

Because it is the cheapest and best.

Because it affords the most liberal policies to patrons.

Because it insures only isolated non-hazardous risks, as farm property, county churches halls and school houses.

Because it is the Farmer's Company managed by Farmers in the interest of farmers of the Counties of Lennox and Addington, Hastings Portenay, Lanark and Leeds.

Officers—J. B. Aylsworth President; B. C. Lloyd, Vice-President. Directors—A. C. Parks, U. C. Sills, W. R. Gordanier, I. F. Aylesworth, Honorary Directors—Jas. Reid, M.P.P., A. N. Price, Camden; C. R. Allison, Wm. Chesters, Fredericksburgh, D. W. Allison ex-M.P., Adolphustown; F. B. Guess, Col. Geo. Hunter Kingston; Allan Pringle, Ira B. Hudgins, Richmond. The board meets at the Secretarie's office in the first Saturday of every month at one p.m.

J. N. McKim, Napanee. } Agents
N. A. Caton, Napanee. }
Thos. B. Wilson, Newburgh }
M. C. BOGART Sec'y.-Treas

"I want to know"

"Yes, it's a great comfort for me to remember that if Johnnie ever gets in any trouble it will be easy to prove that it wasn't original."

Murray & Lanman's

FLORIDA WATER

THE SWEETEST
MOST FRAGRANT, MOST REFRESHING
AND LASTING OF ALL
PERFUMES FOR THE
HANDKERCHIEF, TOILET OR BATH.

ALL DRUGGISTS, PERFUMERS AND
GENERAL DEALERS.

him to stay, after my month is up."

And, catching up the tin cup which contained a cent's worth of yeast, Betsey Jane hurried home, much relieved by this free expression of her mind to Mrs. Jones, the baker's wife. With all the speed which she could make, however, Miss Zeruiah Hardscrabble was lying in wait for her behind the parlor door when she came in.

"Betsey Jane," said she severely, "you've been gossiping with some young man."

"I've been for the yeast, miss," said Betsey Jane, panting with the speed she had made.

"I don't believe a word you say," said Miss Hardscrabble, brusquely—at which Betsey Jane only tossed her head and made no reply.

"Go and make some toast for tea," added Miss Zeruiah, "and put my father's slippers and dressing gown warming against he comes in; and if your young man is prowling about the premises, he'll be sorry for it, for I'm going through the basement with a candle and make sure that all is right."

"It ain't nothing to me, mem, how much you go through it with a candle," said Betsey Jane, stung beyond her control.

"Don't dare to be insolent, girl!" said Miss Hardscrabble.

"No, mem, I won't," said Betsey Jane, in a tone which might be interpreted as meaning: "I'll be as insolent as I please, and you can't help yourself."

Miss Hardscrabble nearly annihilated her retainer with a glance as she lighted the candle and set forth on her nightly round of investigation.

"I always go at dusk," said Miss Hardscrabble, "because that's the most dangerous time for thieves and burglars; and after that the doors are all locked, and Betsey Jane has to come to me for the key if she wants to go outside the doorstep."

Through the back kitchen—peeping under the tubs in the laundry, across the stone-paved hall toward the vault-like cellar, walked Miss Hardscrabble, a modern type of Lady Macbeth in the sleep-walking scene.

"Ha!" said Miss Hardscrabble, with a tragic start, "the coal-cellar door ajar! What does this mean?"

Opening it the least possible section of a crack, Miss Hardscrabble dropped the candle on the cat and uttered an eldritch scream. But, in the height of her panic she had still presence of mind enough to bolt and double bolt the cellar door on the outside.

"Run for the police, Betsey Jane!" said Miss Hardscrabble, flying upstairs. "I've got him!"

"Got who, mem?" said Betsey Jane, who was on her knees before the kitchen fire, vainly trying to brown a slice of bread before its handful of smoldering coals. "La!" said Betsey Jane to herself, "toast knows stingy people as well as anybody. And it won't never brown for 'em!"

"Your young man!" said Miss Hardscrabble. "In the coal cellar! But he's safe now until the justiciary comes."

"It ain't nothin' of the sort!" contradicted Betsey Jane. "I ain't got no young man! And if I had, he ain't skulkin' in your coal cellar, Miss Hardscrabble, no more he ain't. It's the cat."

But Tabby herself, rubbing up against her, with a good deal of melted tallow still adhering to her fur, served as a mute contradiction to this last assertion.

"Go for the police," said Miss Hardscrabble, her voice rising a semitone higher, "or I shall instantly discharge you without your month's wages!"

Thus adjured, Betsey Jane, grumblingly took down the sleeves which were rolled up above a pair of plump and mottled arms, removed her checkered apron, and reached down her hat from the pegs behind the kitchen door.

"Hurry, why don't you?" said Miss Hardscrabble.

"I am a-hurrying, ain't I?" retorted Betsey Jane.

But at this moment a rumbling sound, like the throes of a miniature earthquake, struck on both their ears.

"He's knocked down the whole half ton of coal!" screamed Betsey Jane.

"He's banging at the door to get out!" shrieked Miss Hardscrabble.

Away went Betsey Jane after the police, while her mistress locked herself in and considered whether there was enough red lavender and valerian in the house to justify her in going into hysterics. And the police arrived, and she hadn't time to indulge her nervousness.

"Come out of here, you villin!" growled Policeman 20,000,02.

"Let me out!" roared a voice from the inside.

"Yes, I'll let you out," said Policeman 20,000,02. "Oh, you hoary-headed old sinner, just come along with me!"

"How dare you!" shouted the caparel ready for the stage, presented a most indescribable appearance.

"Dearest pa!" exclaimed Miss Hardscrabble, flinging herself upon him.

"Don't be a fool, Zeruiah!" was the tenderly parental response.

"But how came you there?" demanded the policeman, naturally reluctant to let go the burglar whom he had captured with so much eclat. "This 'ere whole proceeding has got a kind of a queer look, to my mind."

"I don't know that it's anybody's business," said old Hardscrabble, sneezing vehemently, "but I went down on my way from the office to measure out the coal in scuttles and make sure there hadn't any of it been spirited away. I didn't speak to anybody because I didn't want anybody to know; but that stupid servant girl—"

"It was me, pa," said Miss Hardscrabble, "locked up the house."

"No matter who it was," said Mr. Hardscrabble, angrily. "Between you two fools I got locked in before I could make you hear. And now the whole matter is explained. You needn't wait, policeman. Go about your business, girl. Zeruiah, if you're quite through staring, perhaps you'll lay me out a clean shirt."

The policeman slunked away, Betsey Jane descended into the kitchen, giggling under her breath, and Miss Zeruiah disappeared into the linen closet, while old Mr. Hardscrabble, rubbing his abraided joints, sat before the parlor fire, uttering to himself:

"Such fools as people are!"

Pretty Combination of Book Shelves and an Open Fire.

Low book shelves with broad polished tops, and with shelf spaces broken by drawers and closets here and there, make up an ideal housing for books. A library also needs an open fire. The two are combined in the design that is furnished herewith. The brickwork is built out into the room so that its face comes flush with the front of the bookcases on either side. The fireplace has a half-circle opening, which is one of the most artistic shapes for this purpose that can well be imagined. The brickwork may have any one of the charming colors now found in pressed bricks—buff, gray, pale red and others, some of the brick shading darker than others to break the glare of a plain surface entirely one tone. Any mason should be able to set up so simple a fireplace, while the work on either side will be found quite within the range of the home workshop, as simplicity is the keynote in it all.—Orange Judd Farmer.

FIREPLACE FOR LIBRARY.

How to Care For Plants.

To keep plants free from insects one of the best remedies is tobacco. Take a small package of strong tobacco and pour over it boiling water. When cool the plants should be set into the mixture and washed, leaves and all, besides being thoroughly soaked with it. Another remedy is a strong soapsuds made of carbolic soap and water. Plants must be kept clean if they are to be healthy. The leaves should be washed occasionally in order that the dust may be removed.—Farm and Home.

Alum for Perspiration.

A few grains of alum in tepid water will relieve those whose hands perspire freely. A few drops of sulphuric acid in the water are also beneficial for this purpose, as well as desirable for washing the feet when they perspire freely.

"D.&L." MENTHOL PLASTER

I have prescribed Menthol Plaster in a number of cases of neuralgic and rheumatic pains, and am very much pleased with the effects and pleasantness of its application.—W. H. CARPENTER, M.D., Hotel Oxford, Boston.

I have used Menthol Plaster in several cases of muscular rheumatism, and find in every case that it gave almost instant and permanent relief.—J. B. MOORE, M.D., Washington, D.C.

It Cures Sciatica, Lumbago, Neuralgia, Pains in Back or Side, or any Muscular Pains.

1.—Mr. Touch-Down (half-back)—Golf is too tame a game. Give me some sport that has the element of danger in it.

2.—But just then Mr. Bunker Links drove the ball from the tee.—Comic Home Journal.

A CURE FOR TOOTHACHE.

A Cowboy's Radical Remedy Applied to the "Kurnel,"

One morning the Colonel rolled out of his blankets with the jumping toothache, says M. Quad in The New York Journal, and, though he exhausted all the remedies in camp, nothing had any effect. It was forty miles to the nearest town, with the chances against finding a dentist there, and it was finally decided to appeal to one of the cowboys on his station, five miles away. He came over in response to a message, and, after taking a look at the tooth, which was a double one on the upper jaw, the cowboy said:

"Kurnel, I kin shoot that tooth out as slick as greece if you don't mind the scar it will leave on your cheeks."

"Shoot it out!" shouted the Colonel. "Why, man, you must be crazy!"

"Wall, mebbe I kin pick in enough powder to blow it out."

"Never!"

"Might chuck it out with a piece of iron and a stone," continued the cowboy.

"And you might go to Texas and beyond!" exclaimed the suffering and indignant man.

"I'm only telling you how we do it out here, and if you don't want that tooth out you'll hev to stand the pain."

The cowboy started for his station, but after a gallop of a mile he returned to beckon the rest of us aside, and said:

"He seems to be a purty squar' sort o' man, though a little teechy, and I'm sorry fur him. Is he a good rider?"

"Only fair."

"Kin he shoot?"

"Not very straight."

"Then I think I kin cure that toothache."

He spent two minutes unfolding the plot, and then went over to the sufferer, and said:

"Kurnel, I've cum back to say you ar' a booby!"

"What!" yelled the Colonel, as he sprang up from his seat before the campfire.

"A booby and a squaw, Kurnel, and likewise a durned old liar!"

The Colonel jumped for him, but the cowboy dodged and ran for his horse. We had another ready saddled, with two loaded revolvers in the holsters, and the booby sprang into the saddle and gave chase. After getting out on the prairie half a mile the cowboy began to circle and shoot and yell, and the Colonel followed him and shot away the whole twelve bullets without sending one within five feet of him. When the twelfth one had been fired the kind hearted cowboy rode off at the top of his speed, and the Colonel came into camp to dismount and say: "Get me a hundred cartridges and my own horse and I'll follow that man to the end of the earth!"

"How's the toothache, Colonel?" was asked.

"Toothache!" Why, it's all gone, and I'll have that fellow's scalp if I have to stay out here all summer!"

Death's face is not a pleasant thing to look upon, yet thousands of men and women go about daily with the reflection of death in their faces. The dull eyes, the sallow complexion, the sunken cheeks, the emaciated form, all tell the story of the insidious advances of that implacable foe—consumption. Doctors have declared that consumption is incurable. It is not. Thousands of consumptives have testified to their complete recovery after they were given up by the doctors and all hope was gone. It is simply a matter of going to the seat of the trouble which is imperfect and improper nutrition.

Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery does this. It corrects all disorders of the digestion. It invigorates the liver. It makes assimilation perfect. It fills the blood with the elements that build new healthy tissue in every organ of the body. It is the great blood-maker and flesh-builder. It cures 98 per cent. of all cases of consumption. All good druggists sell it.

H. Gaddis, Esq., of No. 313 S. J. Street, Tacoma, Washington, writes: "I was taken ill in 1883 with headache and pain in my back. I called in a doctor and he came three times. He said I was bilious, but I kept getting worse. I took a cough so that I could not sleep only by being propped in bed. My lungs hurt me, and I got so poor that I was skin and bone. I thought I was going to die. I saw the 'Golden Medical Discovery' recommended for a cough. I tried a bottle of it and it did me so much good that I tried another one and it made me sound and well, so I recommend it to everybody. It saved my life."

A headache is a symptom of constipation. Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets cure constipation, promptly and permanently. They do not gripe. Druggists sell them.

SPRING MILLINERY.

SOME OF THE GAY THINGS SEEN AT THE ANNUAL OPENINGS.

Beautiful Effects in Hats and in the Dainty Bonnets. The Bell Crown Prevails, But Brims Are Not So Wide—Velvet and Novelties.

The great wholesale establishments of the country have thrown open their show rooms for the inspection of those interested in the spring styles in 1897 in hat, bonnets and trimmings. It was noticeable that rough or fancy straw braids are again abundant. Cocoa and wood silks are the fibres which appeared most noticeable in the new braids while the methods of plaiting differed but little from those to which everyone has been accustomed for several years past. A good word was also spoken for braids of smoother plaiting and ribbon like effects, or those without a purled or relief edge, but choice will probably resolve itself into a question of individual taste.

Beautiful Effects.

Charming effects are produced of ribbon like braids from three to four inches wide, edged with narrow relief plaiting in black or a contrasting color, or tone of color. Th[illegible] wide sheets at the last moment an article for millinery use that has the apearance of a net made of wood fibre and of silks, the former bearing the name of Batavia cloth, Bengal cloth and Tricot cloth, while the silk cloth or net bears the name of Silkeline and Silk Batavia cloth. It is used for covering the entire hat, for trimming edgings and flutings, and as aigrette. There are indications that laces will be very liberally used in the millinery of the spring and summer. They vary plisses of chiffon for veiling the brim and swathing the crown on imported hats and for the shells, rosettes, etc., fashioned of chiffon and ribbon by the Paris and the New York milliners; and on some of the French models the lace barbe is substituted for ribbon in bonnet strings. The black laces employed are of French and Flemish manufactures, more or less closely imitating the Chantilly point. A ruffle of wide lace, or a plisse of chiffon rising from the edge of the crown, is a feature distinctive of the next season, in the adjustment of trimming on the Paris hats and bonnets.

THE "LILLIAN RUSSELL."

There seems, at this time, little cause to doubt that ribbons of plain color will rule the coming mode of millinery. Ribons of plain texture will probably be rivalled by those of gauze and satin striping, and in this striping there are varieties which show the introduction of contrasting strong and bright colors, but they will hardly disturb the rule to any great extent. The plain ribbons are mostly of taffeta weave, taffeta moire or watered moire, with satin back and satin lined taffeta, and all of exceeding (unexampled) fineness of texture and lightness of weight. High novelties in plain ribbons are those in weaves of linen and mousseline effects, and there has been a revival of ribbons of the old popular Louisine weave of glace effect.

Notable Novelties.

Fancy ribbons of diaphanous texture of grass linen are plaided in Scotch colors, are also in Roman colors and broad quadrille effects. There are also Sarcenet ribbons of plain centre with fancy edges, and in Roman plaiding. The ribbons which will give character to the millinery of the spring, in a general sense, are of unusual width, running, as a rule, from five to eight inches, and in some instances reaching ten inches wide. Their delicate texture and lightness of weight contribute to their use, and render them available for trimming purposes. Velvet ribbons are continued for bonnet strings, but they are now employed in widths from one and a half to two inches, and an occasional model is seen with strings of satin ribbon of about No. 20 [illegible]. The taffeta ribbons used for bonnet ties are generally about four inches wide.

Jets are out [illegible] in bonnet crowns and the [illegible] line of ornaments, in new devices. It is exclusively of the faceted description, in stiff mountings, and wired. French gold ornaments have taken the place of the cut steel ornaments of last autumn, and of the earlier jewels, of Rhine crystals and other mock precious stones, but cut steel, white and colored crystals, mock pearls and mock turquoises stud the gold, and the jewels are as elegant as they have been for the last several seasons. They have come out in buckles, breches, bars, slides and long pins.

GARNITURE OF RIBBON AND OSPREYS

Season of Flowers.

Importers of artificial flowers tell us that roses will be in the greatest demand, but fashionable and refined taste has not yet been sated with violets for the trimming of hats and bonnets, and large invoices of them are already in the market, while geranium blossoms, lilacs, pansies, sweet peas, orchids

X-Rays

Of severest trial and test prove in regard to Hood's Sarsaparilla

1st, Greatest Merit

Secured by a peculiar Combination, Proportion and Process unknown to others—which naturally and actually produces

2d, Greatest Cures

Shown by thousands of honest, voluntary testimonials—which naturally and actually produce

3d, Greatest Sales

According to the statements of druggists all over the country. In these three points Hood's Sarsaparilla is peculiar to itself.

Hood's Sarsaparilla

Is the best—It is the One True Blood Purifier.

Hood's Pills are the only pills to take with Hood's Sarsaparilla.

A MODERN APPLICATION.

How a Lazy Boy Used an Ancient Piece of Mechanism to Water Stock.

That it sometimes pays to be lazy is a fact which cannot be disproved, notwithstanding the doctrine which teaches that industry and perseverance are qualities essential to success in any walk of life. When we make this admission, however, we must conscientiously qualify it with the caution that it is a rather dangerous experiment and one not to be recommended on general principles.

Yet instances have occurred where a strong repugnance for manual labor and a keen desire to take things easy have incited an ingenious mind to profitable activity. The mind, after all, was not idle. One familiar case of this sort resulted in the discovery by a lazy boy of the principles of the [illegible]centric as applied to the values [illegible]ge, upright steam engine in Watt's [illegible], and what follows is a recenty discovered example of the clever device of a lazy boy of pretty much the same type, whose work, or more properly speaking, whose contrivance to escape work, required a deal of elaboration and planning.

This youngster, a lad between 15 and 16 years of age, is modest and on this account of his name will not be given; he will be merely designated as Johnnie Smith. He lives with his parents, who are well-to-do farmers in a neighboring county, says The San Francisco Call.

It has been Johnnie's task for some years past to feed and water the stock in his father's barn, and otherwise to minister to their wants. Johnnie is not what you would call a typical farmer's lad. He lacks the usual robustness, and seems to take little interest in the work of the field, which he shirks as often as the dictates of prudence allow. In fact, he is something of a student, and fonder of his books and drawings than of the outdoor work and amusements usually preferred by boys of his age.

The barn where the cattle are housed stands on a piece of slightly rising ground and is distant about one hundred and fifty yards from a small stream that circles round the foot of the pasture.

Now, if there is one task that Johnnie has found particularly irksome, it is the dull and heavy work of drawing water by the bucketful from the creek several times a day for four horses and ten cows. Those one hundred and fifty yards soon ran into miles when the number of trips in a day were reckoned.

Sometimes he had help, it is true, but it was only sometimes, and he grew very tired.

So he set himself to thinkng. Of course, it was possible to pump the water through iron pipes, but he had neither tools nor the material necessary, and his father objected to the expense. Next he thought if he could only get the water up to a level slightly above that of the barn there would be no difficulty in constructing an open trough and allowing it to flow down, but how to raise it was to him a poser for many a day.

At last one day while poring over some old books he came across an an-

I'll have that fellow's scalp if I have to stay out here all summer!"

Troubles of a Marriage Broker.

Samuel Jacobs, the little old man who does whitewashing, paperhanging, plumbing, carpet-beating, and runs a marriage bureau in the rear of his second-hand clothing store, appeared yesterday with both eyes almost closed and badly discolored, and one arm in a sling.

"I feel sorry for them," he muttered, when questioned concerning his injuries.

"For whom?"

"For them that did it," and he shook his head ominously. "You see she wanted a husband with means, and he wanted a wife with money. She promised me $100, and he agreed to give me $150. I introduced them, and they were married. When I called on her for the hundred yesterday she poured hot water on me, and when I went after him for $150 he knocked me down and beat me. But I feel sorry for them."

"Why? Have you had them arrested?"

"No."

"Hired some one to give them a beating?"

"No."

"Then why do you feel sorry for them?"

"Well, they've only been married two weeks, and if they hate me that bad for bringing them together what will they do to each other?"—San Francisco Post.

A Good Chicken Coop.

The illustration shows a chicken coop of my own getting up, says C. W. Connor in Practical Farmer, and as we have used several of them for five or six years we consider them far ahead of anything we have seen. Any person handy with tools can make them. The coop is three feet square, two feet high in front, 18 inches high in rear. The half of the front end is covered with wire screen, 1-1-inch mesh, the other half is lath left far enough apart to allow your chicks to pass out and in. These spaces are closed or left open, as desired, by means of two small doors, hung at upper end on two small hinges, and hooked up by means of small wire hook on top of coop, or let down and fastened down by means of button at bottom. If the sun is hot, the doors can be left half raised, and set on small stake, making a nice shade in front of coop. The small door at side is large enough to admit hens. There is no bottom to the coop, and it can be moved about to fresh, clean ground when wanted. I use 2x2-inch pieces in the corners, and use 12-inch surfaced boards for body of coop, always putting the dressed side out. I painted mine, and they are just as good now as when made five or six years ago.

IMPROVED CHICKEN COOP.

Our plan is as follows: We leave the small door at side open, make a good nest in the coop, and soon the hens are laying in the nest. When one goes to sitting, we set her in the coop, close the little door, also the one over the lath and leave the one over the screen up for good ventilation. Place plenty of feed and water in the coop, also dust in one corner, and biddy is perfectly at home. We have raised as high as 30 in one coop in this way. At night close the door over the lath and leave the one over screen open if weather is warm, and they are perfectly secure from rats or other enemies, and by thoroughly saturating the coops with kerosene occasionally, we never have any trouble with lice or mites.

"I don't see why you keep an office!" exclaimed the careless man's candid friend. "You're never in it."

"Of course, I'm never in it."

"Then what makes you maintain it?"

"Why, I've got to have some place for the bill-collectors to come, haven't I?"—Washington Star.

She—Then a "tariff-tinker" is a man who wants to make changes in the tariff?

THE "LILLIAN RUSSELL."

or plaques of smooth fancy braids of basket mixture which are fashioned into hats and bonnets of skilful folding and shaping over a wire frame. Some of the most unique of the new bonnets are made of fancy braids in the old three-ply flat, about a third of an inch in width, and the fancy braids so like plaiting of tissue paper, have reappeared. The fancy braids now most numerous are of wool, silk fibre and are generally referred to as satin straw braids. Those of smooth, ribbon-like texture are made of solid colors, but very beautiful effects are seen in braids of two or more colors, as, for examples, geranium red introduced on a grounding of silver gray; jade moss-green or medium violet and a combination of matelot blue, emerald green and kola brown.

Following the inclination for felt and moire antique in the winter millinery, there are absolutely smooth braids to divide preference in the selection of a hat and hats with the crown of smooth and brim of rough braid and vice versa.

The Shapes in Hats.

The large hats for the most part follow in contour certain shapes which came out during the period of the New York Horse Show, in that they have a medium tall and medium broad bell crown, the brim wide and flaring at the front and gradually narrowing to two thirds the width of the front. The bell crown in both hats and bonnets promises to be the prevailing one, but varying this, there are hats with tall crowns narrowing at half their height and then widening out after the shape of an hour glass.

Shapes with a plaque projecting over the top after the manner of the flanges of a spool; shapes with medium tall and medium broad definitely square crowns; shapes with broader or narrower, slightly tapering crowns, and again crowns rising from a head-size. The brim in most of the new hats is narrower at the back than at the front, but there are shapes with the brim considerably wider at the back than at the front and turning up high. Other shapes have the brim widening out and turned high at the left, while others have the brim in a wide, obtuse point turned high at the left side of the back. The hats, as a rule, are somewhat larger than they were in the autumn, without attaining the circumference of the Gainsborough or the Braganza.

Among the most striking novelties in hats is one with a braid bell crown, a brim, wide and wing like at the sides, narrower and having a shallow scallop at the front, and narrower and cleft in a notch at the back.

A New Idea

These new productions have a brim rising to a high point at the left of the back. The most notable of the small hats is a modification of the "oxford," with a broad bell crown rising from the narrow brim closely curling at the sides. A unique little bonnet is a faithful copy of the pretty and picturesque little capote worn by the Flemish peasant woman, who sell milk in the cities of the Netherlands. It is formed of a band of straw braid about four inches wide, fitted to a flat, square crown, and hugging the head closely at the sides, the ends descending in lappets, which are sharply bent up. Novelties of manufacture are shown in hats of texture of the effect of etamine, canvas or grenadinet (in reality grass grenadine). The hats are fashioned as out of velvet or other woven fabric, and the brim bound with a narrow bias of velvet.

A new fillge braid of basket texture of the effect of very heavy and stout canvas, is employed in the same manner as the grass cloth, the brim cut in the necessary circle and finished with narrow velvet binding. Of hair manufacture, there is a novelty in pressed or felted gerds, which, with a slight transparency of texture, has the effect of rough camel's hair cloth or hairy felt. Hats are made of this as of felt, by blocking into shape and finishing with a hot iron, the brims in the trimmed models generally being unbound or unbordered by extraneous finish or trimming. All these, of their kind, are interesting productions of handicraft. They appear in natural hues, black, and some of the fashionable colors. With the exception of malines tulle and chiffon, which, as indicated in this review of styles, for the approaching season, will vary the use of braids in headgear for wear in warm weather, there has appeared, up to this time, no very remarkable output of the tissues which are produced sometimes for the making of hats and bonnets for summer wear.

Velvet for Bordeaux.

In the finish of the new hats and bonnet garnishing will, of course, large invoices of them are already in the market, while geranium blossoms, lilacs, poppies, sweet peas, orchids, sprays of hollyhock with bunches of berries and garlands of ivy leaves and berries are seen upon the charming Parisian models. The flowers are generaly of colorings of nature's suggestion, though the blossoms of the garden have appeared in colors foreign to nature's accustomed production.

The coming season will be distinguished by a very lavish use of feathers.

Ostrich plumes trim Paris hats in some cases to the exclusion of theorcs. On several models are seen birds' wings, and on one or two hats there were birds and very airy Paradise bird plumes.

Black will retain its popularity for bonnets and hats with ladies of elegant taste, and combination of black and white will retain favor. There appears, however, to be an inclination to lend brightness to black by a touch of colors, and, if nothing more, a tuft of violets. The medium pale tones of mauve known as Ophelia appears in trimmed bonnets from distinguished Paris millinery and purple in all tones from deep violet to pale lilac will be in vogue.

Necessary Precaution

"Yes, George," she said, with a fond smile, "our engagement must be kept a secret."

"But why, dear?" he asked.

"Because, silly boy, if it were made public people would think I really intended to marry you."—Philadelphia North American.

A Grievous Insult.

Colonel Swilson (of Kentucky)—I hev bin grossly insulted, suh, by ouah Mayor to-day.

Major Fourbon—How so, kuhnel.

Colonel Swilson (indignantly)—He had th' effrontry, sur, t' ask me t' suhve as a membuh o' th' watah boahd.—Judge.

An Expensive Article.

Young Man—I have a poem here.

Editor (after examining it)—Well, how would £2 suit you?

Young Man—That's really more than I expected.

Editor—Well, we can't publish such a poem as that for less.—Tit Bits.

Soap

In addition to the soap for bathing, white castile should be kept for washing the hair. Occasionally a little borax or ammonia may be used for this purpose, but care should be taken in its application as they are rather acid in their effects.

Few Women

ENJOY LIFE AS THEY OUGHT.

No 2

MILES' CANADIAN VEGETABLE COMPOUND

Many are miserable, weak and sickly, and suffer untold miseries through ailments peculiar to their sex.

IT IS WRONG: Most all these ills result from womb trouble of some sort. No woman can remain weak or ill who uses

MILES' (Can.) VEGETABLE COMPOUND and Miles' Sanative Wash.

Prices 75c. and 25c. For sale by all Druggists. They impart vitality and energy, and make the life of the "Mother Sex" worth living.

Explanatory pamphlet, "Woman's Triumph," free on application.

"A. M. C." MEDICINE CO., 578 St. Paul St., Montreal

Medicines expressed to any address on order.

Break Up a Cold in Time BY USING

PYNY-PECTORAL

The Quick Cure for COUGHS, COLDS, CROUP, BRONCHITIS, HOARSENESS, etc.

MRS. JOSEPH NORWICK, of 68 Sorauren Ave., Toronto, writes: "Pyny-Pectoral has never failed to cure my children of croup after a few doses. It cured myself of a long-standing cough after several other remedies had failed. It has also proved an excellent cough cure for my family. I prefer it to any other medicine for coughs, croup or hoarseness."

H. O. BARBOUR, of Little Rocher, N.B., writes: "As a cure for coughs Pyny-Pectoral is the best selling medicine I have; my customers will have no other."

Large Bottle, 25 Cts.

At last one day while poring over some old books he came across an ancient woodcut representing an Archimedean screw used for draining marshes; then the problem was solved.

A LAZY BOY'S CLEVER SCHEME FOR WATERING STOCK.

Early the next morning he was at work. First he constructed a small tank, or reservoir, a few yards from the stream and set it upon a scaffold high enough above the level of the barn to give the necessary grade. Next, procuring two lengths of rubber garden hose, he wound them alternately round a long, smooth fence rail, and in the ends of this he drove two stout pegs to serve as axles.

In the stream he sunk a heavy block of wood, through which a hole had been partly bored, and in this he inserted the peg at one end of his novel pump. To the other he fastened an old cart wheel, which was made to revolve with its axle resting in a sort of pillow-block upon a projection over the center of the reservoir. Then by means of a handle attached by a short piece of cord to a knob on the felloe of the wheel he could cause his novel pumping apparatus to revolve quite easily, and the water taken up by the rubber hose was by the successive revolutions gradually forced upward through coil after coil until it was delivered into the tanks, from which it flowed down to the barn through a roughly constructed aqueduct of hollow logs.

As the novelty has not yet worn off, Johnnie can get scores of boys quite happy to turn the wheel for him, so that happy to turn the wheel for him, so that present a sinecure. He sits by the fireplace with his favorite books enjoying a well-earned rest. Johnnie will be a great man some day.

Dehorning.

A subscriber of Farm and Home says dehorning is cruel, and the paper remarks: Had not a bull better suffer for a few moments than to risk the life of people and have stock injured and horses gored? Which have all been done on my farm until I adopted the plan of dehorning my bulls. My bulls are now as easily handled as yearling calves and perfectly safe. I have a bull nearly three years old that was very dangerous, would run at every horse he had a chance at, either in field, road or yard; we took his horns off about two months ago; now he runs in the yard quiet as a calf and perfectly safe.

"Say, Sal, did enny one catch yer under de mistletoe dis yere?"

Sal—Yep; pa ketched me standin' under some, wid a wistful gleam in me eye, an' give me a lickin'.

Expensive Gratitude.

In one of the Western States an exciting under trial was in progress. It happened that the attorney for the defense had in his employ a colored porter, who naturally became very much interested in the case.

When the jury retired he awaited their return with feverish impatience. At last, after several hours, they came in with a verdict of "not guilty." At the announcement the negro's self-control deserted him entirely, and he cried out: "Thank de Lord."

The judge immediately called him up and fined him ten dollars for contempt of court. The poor fellow was nearly scared to death, but after he recovered from his fright he remarked:

Wise

uyers.

Should Take a Look

our store and inspect our nobby line of tings, Overcoatings, and Trouserings

We can save you time l money. You will be isfied with quality, style l price.

—o—

J. L. Boyes.

Men's Furnisher.

COAL!

The Celebrated

SCRANTON COAL

That has no Equal.

I wish to announce to the public hat I have put in a thoroughly ssorted stock of this celebrated Coal, and am prepared to supply ny customers on as good terms as ny other dealers.

I am the sole agent in Napanee or this celebrated Coal and it can not be had from any other dealers. Your Patronage Solicited.

C. E. BARTLETT.

CARLETON WOODS,
ISSUER OF MARRIAGE LICENSES.
1y Roblin, Ont.

JOHN POLLARD,
ISSUER OF MARRIAGE LICENSES.
Express Office, Napanee.
Strictly Private and Confidential.

R. J. WRIGHT,
ISSUER OF MARRIAGE LICENSES.
At Residence, Bridge Street, Napanee, Opposite West Ward School.
Entirely Private.

The Napanee Express

NAPANEE, FRIDAY, MAR. 26. 897.

All local reading notices or notices announcing entertainments at which a fee is charged for admission, will be charged 5c per line for each insertion, if in ordinary type. In black type the price will be 10c per line each insertion.

Wallpaper

Winter is lingering in the lap of spring.

The dentist's drawing room is his office.

The fashion editress prefers a waist basque-t.

The early robin is in danger of contracting pnuemonia.

Mrs. Vantine, mother of Gilbert Parker, novelist, is dead.

Duplicate Whist complete may be had at

Dry Mill Wood.

Over 1000 cords. $1.60 per cord.
THE RATHBUN CO.,
Napanee.

Outside the Mark.

In a recent issue we stated that the horse "Hebrew" who took part in the Bath races had a mark of 2.29. We are creditably informed that this is an error, as the horse referred to never had a mark.

The Wheel for the People.

The Massey-Harris Bicycle, only one grade and that the highest. Only one price and that to everybody. W. J. Normile, sole agent for the county, Miller block, sign of the Golden Wheel.

To Form a League.

A meeting of those interested in the formation of a foot ball league will be held ot the Royal Hotel on Wednesday evening, March 31st, at 8 o'clock, p.m. A full attendance is requested.

Napanee Wood Yard.

Corner Mill and Robinson street, hard, soft, cut, or in cordwood, Trenton dry edgings and blocks. Reasonable rates. A call solicited. Wood delivered free to all parts of the town. S. J. HOWARD. tf

Assignee's Sale.

On Monday, March 29th, at 2 o'clock p. m. that very desirable property at Napanee Mills known as the Robert Scott house and lot, will be offered for sale by public auction. For particulars see bills.

A Quiet Wedding.

On Wednesday evening the 24th inst., a quiet wedding was celebrated at the home of the bride's parents, the contracting parties being Miss Ida Amelia, second daughter of Mr. Irvine Allison, Richmond township, and Mr. Geo. Alexander McCutcheon, also of Richmond. The Rev. Wm. Limbert, of Selby, performed the marriage ceremony.

A Correction.

In our reference to the sale of the stock farm, formerly occupied by the late Donald Smith, by mistake we said the purchaser was Mr. A. H. H. German, whereas it is Mr. A. H. St. German who is now the lucky owner of the valuable property referred to. Mr. St. German is a retired journalist and has been living on his handsome farm three miles outside of Toronto for 20 years past. He was in 1849 joint proprietor of the [illegible]ton Herald and Belleville Chronicle.

Belated Congratulations.

Mr. Ed. Douglas, the popular proprietor of the Paisley House, is just now receiving the congratulations of his host of friends. On February the 16th he slipped quietly over to Cape Vincent and was married to Mrs. Charles Douglas, and the news just leaked out the other day. Both the bride and groom are highly esteemed and respected in town and we join with their many friends in wishing them a long, prosperous and happy married life.

Horse Races at Stella.

The Amherst Island horse races were held on the ice at Stella, on the 17th inst., and proved highly successful. The attendance was large, weather favorable, and the various events close and exciting. The following is a summary:

Township Race—1 Island Maid, 2 Bay Jack, 3 Brown Prince. Time 3.12.

Three Minute Trot—1 Puzzler, J. Brannigan, Kingston; 2 J. Broadburn, J. McMullen, Emerald; 3 Jack Allen, H. Buck. Time 3.2.

Messrs. J. J. Johnston, Bath, and J. Fleming acted as judges, while Capt. Alex Glenn, of Stella, made an excellent starter.

The McRossie Failure.

A meeting of the creditors of A. D. McRossie, boot and shoe merchant of Ingersoll and Napanee, met at Ingersoll on Monday. The creditors are mostly Toronto people. The statement presented showed assets of $4,300 in the two stores and liabilities of $4,000. Mrs. McRossie ranks on the estate for $1,100, for notes, Mr. McRossie explains, she endorsed and paid for him. Mr. McRossie made an offer of 50 cents on the dollar cash, but this was not accepted.

Astonishing, Astounding, Confounding, But True.

That Smith the expert optician has several thousand patients, in this vicinity wearing spectacles that are scientifically fitted and guaranteed by him, and they are all shouting his praises, these are facts and not exaggerations, his qualifications and experience account for it all. If you have any suspicion that your eyes are not right,

This is For You.

For a good pair of ordered boots or shoes call on J. W. Schryver, John St. Boots, shoes and rubbers repaired on the shortest notice. 51tf

To Rent.

Fine brick dwelling, corner Dundas and Robinson streets. Fixed with all modern conveniences. Applp to
W. G. WILSON, Napanee, or
16 J. H. DOWNEY, Whitby.

Wanted.

I can employ five men and three ladies to work at and around home. A good thing, with good salary for pushers.
T. H. LINSCOTT,
Toronto, Ont.

Song and Organ Recital.

Don't forget the song and organ recital in the Presbyterian church, on Tuesday evening, March 30th. Mrs. Califfas and Miss Singleton, of Kingston will take part. Admission, 25 cents.

Wanted.

CANVASSERS—"Queen Victoria: Her Life and Reign," has captured the British Empire. Extraordinary testimonials from the great men; send for copy free. Marquis of Lorne says, "The best popular Life of the Queen I have seen." Her Majesty sends a kind letter of appreciation. Selling by thousands; gives enthusiastic satisfaction. Canvassers making $15 to $40 weekly. Prospectus free to agents. THE BRADLEY-GARRETSON CO., LTD, Toronto, Ont.

Recognized His Services.

The Grand Orange Lodge of Ontario East met in Picton last week and were right royally received by the citizens of that town. J. W. Bell, of Desmond, was re-elected Grand Master, and the usual amount of routine business was transacted. The sum of $50 was granted to the India fund, and $100 was granted the widow of the late Bro. Lachlan McGown, of Napanee, as a slight recognition of the services rendered the Orange Association by the late Bro. McGown. The next meeting will be held at Renfrew.

Notice to Farmers

The best MANITOBA RED FIFE seed wheat. The best WHITE ENSILAGE Seed corn that can be procured is for sale at the Big Mill at a small margin over cost. Try my flour "DAFOE'S BEST" and "NONESUCH." Prices and quality considered they can not be surpassed. The bread made from them has a rich golden color, sweet favor and retains moisture longer than any flour in the market. For pastry try "SEEK-NO-FURTHER." Ask your grocer for it and take no other, it suits them all.
15-1-] J. R. DAFOE.

Died in Gaol.

Old Ann Philips passed suddenly away at the county gaol on Friday evening last, aged 80 years. An inquest was held on Saturday after which the remains were interred in the Eastern cemetery. Deceased belonged to North Fredericksburgh, where she lived on the bounty of the township council for many years. Of late years her temper became so violent that no one in the township would consent to take charge of her and it was found necessary to send her to gaol. In her best mood she was a kindly and garrulous old soul and took much enjoyment out of her boon companion, an old c'ay pipe.

A Letter From Sir Donald.

Mayor Ward received the following letter this week from Sir Donald Smith, Canada's High Commissioner:

DEAR SIR—I am am anxious to obtain for the collection of Canadian photographs in this office two or three good views of Napanee.

They should give the best possible idea of its extent, leading streets, buildings and industries. It would be an advantage if they could be sent over unmounted, in order that they might be placed in books prepared for the purpose. The name of the city or town should be written in pencil on the back, with a note as to the position from which the photographs have been taken. They would be valuable for loaning purposes in connection with Lectures on Canada, and might also, in many instances, be usefully converted into lantern slides.

If you could comply with my request I should be extremely obliged,

Believe me,
Yours faithfully,
DONALD A. SMITH.

HIS WORSHIP THE MAYOR OF NAPANEE.

The Mayor will be pleased to receive suitable photographs from any of the town artists.

The Western Choir.

The members of the choir of the Cows For Sale.

Four new milch cows for sale. Apply Charles Lowry, two miles east of Napanee on York Road.

Found.

A short distance from Jamieson & Stacy's bakery a small amount of money. Apply at JAMIESON & STRACY'S.

Left Destitute

Not of worldly goods, but all earthly comfort is the poor wretch tormented by dyspepsia. The full scourge is however shorn of its throng in advance by Madden's Cereal Food Coffee. Your grocer keeps it.

Wanted.

Situation, working housekeeper capable of managing any position of trust. No objection to the care of children. References, address Post Office or call at the Brisco House. MISS ALENIA SCOTT,
Napanee.
Address for three days or call,

Rockwell Benefit.

Thirty voices will take part in the choruses at the Rockwell benefit concert in the opera house, on April 2nd. Mrs. Vanluven, Miss Templeton, Miss Herring and Mr. Craig will assist in the programme. Plan now open at J. J. Perry's. Reserve your seats before they are all gone.

Will Be Resumed.

According to information, the work in connection with the test well at Fredericksburgh will be resumed under different management and with heavier and improved machinery. The rock is now pronounced sandstone and a very good showing. An expert from Ohio oil fields visited the place on Monday and appeared well satisfied with the prospects. Everything points to an early recommencing of the work and all are hopeful of striking a new oil field.

The Massey-Harris Bicycle.

When selecting your '97 mount see the Silver Ribbon wheel, made by the world famous company, the Massey-Harris. Strictly high grade and at the peoples popular prices. Positively the best equipped wheel in the world. EVERY WHEEL GUARANTEED. Sale rooms, in the Miller Block, Boyle & Son's old stand. W. J. Normile, sole agent for the county. Remember the place, Miller's block—Sign of the Golden Wheel.

Parisian Steam Laundry

Agency at E. Vanalstine's Barber Shop, John st. Laundry will be called for and delivered to any part of the town at usual prices, strictly C. O. D. This is one of the largest and best equipped Steam Laundries in Canada. Laundry shipped once a week, on Wednesday, 3:20 p.m. and delivered Saturday morning. No chemicals used in the Laundry. All work guaranteed first-class. Lists on application. tf.

PERSONALS.

Mr. and Mrs. James Miller, of Napanee, took in the Washington excursion on Tuesday.

Judge and Mrs. Wilkison were in Kingston this week.

Mr. Clarence M. Warner, of our town has entered into partnership with Mr. Fred Shibley and will open up a real estate office in Prudence, Rhode Island.

Mrs. Samuel Bell, daughter of the late Mrs. Maria Huffman left for her home in Dakota on Thursday.

Mr. Matt Ryan, merchant, Newburgh, paid Napanee a visit on Wednesday.

Mrs. Finlay of Camden East, was in town on Wednesday and is thinking seriously of becoming a resident of Napanee.

Jno. McPherson, of near Bath, was in town on Tuesday and favored us with a call.

Master Frank Moore, son of Mr. Levi Moore has returned from a few weeks visit with relatives in Sophiasburgh.

The Misses Downey, of Adulphustown, spent Tuesday in town.

Uriah Wilson M. P., left for Ottawa on Wednesday to attend the session.

Helen, the little daughter of G. H. Williams, is improving from an attack of pneumonia.

Mrs. Arnold Milligan, of Watertown, is visiting her parents, Mrs. and Mrs. W. Exley.

Mr. G. W. Dawson, Liberal Organizer for Eastern Ontario, was in town on Monday and favored us with a call.

Mrs. Green has moved from Mrs. Priest's house John St. over near the Catholic church to the to the house formerly occupied by Mr. Parks.

Mr. Fish, manager of the King Shirt Company, Belleville, paid our town a visit on Wednesday.

B. S. O'Laughlin and L. C. Connolly, of Yarker, paid Napanee a visit on Wednesday.

Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Perry, left on Tuesday for Washington.

Miss Herrington, of Belleville, is spending a few days in town the guest of Mrs. W. S. Herrington.

Geo. Barrett will remove his family to his

Duplicate Whist complete may be had at Pollard's bookstore.

There is a large body of water going over the falls at present.

Every available space is occupied by the small boy and his marbles.

The next meeting of the Kingston Presbytery will be held in Napanee.

The late "Mike" Costigan was interred in the Catholic cemetery on Monday.

Mrs. John P. Morden, aged 80 years, passed away at Deseronto on the 17th inst,

and Borders

Test your coins before you accept them. A number of counterfeit twenty five cent pieces are in circulation.

Chris R. Bennett, formerly of Napanee and Sarah Falkner, of Carthage, N. Y., were married recently.

Hardware of every description, nails, fence wire, barb wire, steples, clearing sale of axes now going on at Boyle & Son's.

Geo. Easterbrook, a prominent citizen of Tweed, will leave shortly for South Africa, where he will establish a flour mill.

Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Haight, of the 4th con. of Tyendinaga, celebrated the 21st anniversary of their wedding on the 6th inst.

The man who wants a defination of a "round robin" is referred to the word "burglar," who is around robbin' most of the time.

in great variety at

The Kentuckians and Virginians, Napanee's colored hockey teams, gave an exhibition at the carnival at Deseronto, last week.

The late Mrs., Thos. McHenry was laid to rest in the Deseronto cemetery on the 12th inst. Rev. Father Hogan conducted the services.

The farmers of Prince Edward will, as the result of the threatened loss of the pea market in the States, sow large quantities of wheat during the coming season.

R. S. Richardson, Tweed, was presented with a past grand's collar accompanied by an address by the Oddfellows of that town, on the eve of his departure for Ottawa.

The liberal conservatives of Ernestown township have organized with these officers: Jesse Amey, president; William Fraser, vice-president; Nathan F. Snider, secretary; J. C. Fraser, treasurer.

John Dean, Deseronto, was found guilty of assaulting his wife, of larceny and malicious injury to property last week, and sentenced to one year in the Central Prison. It is said Dean is demented.

Pollard's Bookstore

Bob Fitzsimmons is married to Martin Julian's sister, Rose, and Martin Julian is married to Lanky Bob's divorced wife. Like the happy family they all sit around the one festive board as happy as a clam when the tide is slack.

Embury, Greer & Co. have removed their sash and door factory to the old brush factory. Mr. M. C. Jackson has been taken into the firm and in their commodious and well equipped premises an increased volume of business is assured.

Miss Adele Carlton Todd, noted actress, formerly with John McCullough and Lawrence Barrett, will receive pupils for voice culture, dramatic elocution, bible and miscellaneous readings, philosophy of expressions and Delsarte movements, stage appearance. Guaranteed when qualified. Shakespearian readings a specialty. Call at Mrs. Rose's, Dundas street. 14c

and the prices

Secretary Lartin, of the Kingston association football club, has written to the promoters of the scheme to form a central Ontario union, embracing teams in Belleville, Deseronto, Napanee, Sydenham, Brockville and Kingston, stating the club's willingness to enter such a league, and to do everything possible to develop the scheme, and bring it to perfection.—Whig.

The Todd Dramatic Co. presented the "Farmer's Daughter" at the opera house on Monday and Tuesday evenings. The play is a meritorious one and worthy of crowded houses. Mr. and Mrs. Todd, and little Blanche Nesbitt played their parts to perfection and Chas. Stevens Jr., as Farmer Allen, left nothing to be desired. Mrs. Stevens filled her role well and Mr. Spencer gave evidence that he is the possessor of good talents. The play was followed by a laughable sketch, "Locked experience accounts for it all. If you have any suspicion that your eyes are not right, do not rest contented until you have consulted Smith, for in dealing with the eyes, the best advice is what you want. H. E. Smith may be consulted at his office Smith's Jewelry Store. Eyes tested free.

Canadian Child Saving Work.

This good work which last year aided some fifty needy children of our own land gives evidence of doing still more during this present year. Some ten children have recently been sent out to good homes, and about twenty more are now ready to be placed out. Among these are some beautiful little boys and girls suitable for adoption. Mr. Watch is ready to aid any needy child in Canada. Funds and clothing are very much needed for this work. Address all correspondence to Rev. C. W. Watch, Brighton, Ont.

A Small Blaze.

On Saturday afternoon last fire broke out in Madden's paint works and considerable damage was done to the building and contents before it was gotten under control. The fire originated from the lead mixer, which is situated near the smoke stack. The building is an old stone one, formerly used by the Rathbun Co. in connection with their cement works, and is situated on Robinson street within a stone's throw of the river. The roof and upper story were badly damaged. There was a small insurance on the building and contents.

Still Coming In.

The Dominion Bank has received the undermentioned subscriptions to the Famine Fund.

Already acknowledged	$113 60
Mrs. R. D. Finlay, Camden East	5 00
Mrs. Williams, Wesley	25
Mrs. Kate Embury,	1 00
Methodist W. M. S. Auxiliary Hawley	3 00
Methodist W. M. S, Auxiliary, Bath	2 00
Roblin Village	2 50
	$127 35

Will Have a Bicycle Meet.

Our local wheelmen met at the Campbell House on Wednesday evening and organized for the season. There was a good attendance present and it was decided to join the C. W. A. A club was formed to be known as "The Jubilee Bicycle Club of Napanee." It is the intention of the club to have a meet here this summer. The following officers were elected: Hon. Pres., Dr. G. C. T. Ward; Pres., Rev. Mr. Peck; Vice-Pres., G. E. Hall; 2nd Vice-Pres., Mrs. W. B. Haines; Sec., F. C. Anderson; Treas., W. T. Waller; Captain, J. H. Frisken; 1st Lieut., W. Garrett; 2nd Lieut., W. Carson; Bugler, C. F. Smith; Standard Bearer, Ed. Huff; Committee of Management, Messrs. Peck, Anderson, Frisken, Fralick and Wales.

A Runaway.

Marshall, the son of John Hudson, Esq., Deseronto road, accompanied by his friend, a Mr. Thompson, were escorting two young ladies to their residence at Salem on Sunday evening. The young men realizing the obligation they had submitted to, asked their kind friend Mr. Grooms for his horse and vehicle, and he readily complied with the boys wishes. The animal not being acquainted with its modern driver rather unceremoniously disengaged itself from the vehicle and dashed up Dundas street, trailing the shafts after him, minus the carriage and its occupants. The young ladies had the blissful pleasure of being compelled to foot it home, while the young men were seen going at a 2.30 clip through the stone bridge. The harness and buggy were quite badly demolished. The horse sustained no serious injury.—Com.

The Temperance Meetings.

During the past two weeks Messrs. Bushell and Seymour, the agents of the grand division, Sons of Temperance, have held a very successful series of temperance meetings. Meetings have been held every night, without an exception, the attendance has been good, the interest excellent, and the indications are that good permanent results will follow. At every place visited, so far as we have yet learned, arrangements have been made for permanent organizations of divisions, a work very much needed in the county at this time. The meetings during the coming week will be as follows, and all with the view of organizing as well as providing a good attractive programme, Selby, Saturday, 27th; Napanee Mills, Monday, 29th; Newburgh, Tuesday 30th; Camden East, Wednesday, 31st; Colebrook, Saturday, April 3rd; Yarker, Thursday, April 1st; Moscow, Friday, April 2nd. Other meetings

The members of the choir of the Western Church were treated to an At Home in the parlor of the church on Friday evening last by members of the Official Board, assisted by their wives. After partaking of an oyster supper they adjourned to the lecture room, where a large congregation was in waiting to spend the remainder of the evening with the choir. Mr. W. T. Gibbard was called to the chair and in a few pleasant remarks opened the meeting. During the evening several choruses were rendered by the choir in excellent form. Two or three instrumentals were given by the orchestra, and recitations by Miss Allen and H. Collier which were well received. A resolution expresive of thanks and appreciation was moved by Rev. D. O. Crossley and seconded by M. S. Madole, Esq. and tendered to Mr. Jewell and his excellent choir for their faithful and efficient services so cheerfully rendered to the church. Mr. Crossley and Mr. Madole both spoke in very complimentary terms regarding the choir while moving and seconding of the resolution. Mr. Jewell has had charge of the choir for nearly three years and during that time he has proved himself very efficient both as an organist and choir leader.

Death of Mrs. Huffman.

It is our sad duty to chronicle this week the death of an esteemed and respected resident of Napanee in the person of Maria Switzer, relict of the late C. W. Huffman, who passed quietly away at the residence of her son in-law, Mr. Edward Kaylor, Morven, on Mar. 20th. Deceased, who was in her 68th year, had been ailing for some time with cancer, and her death, though regretted, was not unexpected. She resided in Napanee up to about two years ago when, owing to failing health, she removed to Morven, where she resided with her daughter, Mrs. Edward Kaylor. Deceased was a kindly christian lady and greatly beloved by her large circle of acquaintances. She leaves seven children, four daughters and three sons. The daughters are Mrs. Samuel Bell, Dakota, Mrs. Ed. Kaylor, Morven, Mrs. Sheldon Joice, North Fredericksburgh, and Miss Vice Huffman. All her daughters were with her during her last illness. The sons are Charles, of Winnipeg, John of North Dakota, and Robert, of Chicago. Deceased was a daughter of the late John G. Switzer of Switzerville. The funeral took place on Monday to the White church, Morven, the Rev. Mr. Pope conducting the services. The Rev. David Wilson also gave an address in which he spoke very highly of the deceased. The remains were placed in the Morven vault.

Division Court.

Division Court was held at the court house here on Wednesday before His Honor, Judge Price. The following cases were disposed of:

James Daly & Co. vs. John Baughan, due bill, $24.36. Judgment for plaintiffs.

Lydia Jane Miller, administratrix estate of the late Alpheus Miller, vs. John Conger. An account, $24.75. Judgment for plaintiff.

David McFarlane vs. James Schermerhorn. An action growing out of a horse trade. Non suited.

John Conger, proprietor Brisco House, creditor vs. Wm. E. Todd and Mrs. Wm. E. Todd, primary debtors, and Court No. 93, at Deseronto, of the Independant Order of Foresters, and James Stokes. Garnishee account, $42.25. Judgment against primary debtors.

John Conger, proprietor of Brisco House, creditor vs. Charles Stevens, jr. and wife, primary debtor, and Court No. 93, Deseronto, I. O. F., and James Stokes. Garnishee account, $12. Judgment against primary debtors.

Northrup & Lyman vs. D. W. Wartman, notes, $24.78. Judgment for plaintiff.

Thos. French vs. Wm. French, An account. $16 75. Judgment for plaintiff.

Judgment debtors—Bank of Montreal vs. F. W. Hart, $42.34, judgment. Jas. Wallace & Co., vs. Chas. Purvis, $31, by default. Town of Napanee, vs. Alex Henry, $46.03, by default. Esther Parrott vs. John W. Denyes, by default. J. W. Joy vs. Stewart Smith, $16.04, judgment. R. Light vs. Wm. Smith, $21.28, judgment.

The case of Downey vs. McNaughton was laid over until May, owing to the absence of a material witness.

Remember C. L. Shannon will sell all kinds of field and garden seeds, all new, and lower than any reliable competitor, timothy from $1.80 per bushel up. Alfalfa, very low this year. All the latest varieties of garden seeds just in from the most reliable growers. Bradley's celebrated lawn fertilizer, guaranteed satisfactory. Canned goods 5c. per can, and all kinds of groceries as cheap as we can sell them. Your choice of "surprise."

Geo. Parrott will remove his family to his farm near Belleville, in a few days.

Mrs. S. R. Miller is now almost recovered from her recent illness.

Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Cornell, have returned to Glenora after spending the winter in Napanee.

Miss Butler, of Belleville, is spending a few days in town the guest of her sister Mrs Jno. McKenty.

Miss Emma Scott, of Amherst Island, has been visiting in town, the guest of Miss Emma Scott, Thomas St.

Mr. and Mrs. McNabb, who have been spending the past year in San Francisco, are visiting in town the guest of her mother.

Mrs. D. Hogan, Napanee, took part in the concert at Deseronto on St. Patrick's Day.

Mrs. Wm. O'Hare of Forest Mills, was in town on Monday and favored us with a call.

Mr. and Mrs. E. D. McGurn, left for Ottawa on Monday where Mr. McGurn goes to attend the session of Parliament.

Miss Maggie Storms, Wilton, has been visiting friends in Napanee.

Mrs. Nelson McKim, of Montreal, has been visiting friends in Napanee and Newburgh.

Mrs. Sidney Warner, was visiting friends in Belleville, last week.

Miss Moutray, of Ireland, who has been visiting her uncle, W. H. Moutray Esq. Amherst Island, for the past few months, left for her home this week.

John Wiggins and family, of Stella, have removed to Conway.

Mr. Thos. Bald purposes leaving for Penetanguishene this week where he has secured a lucrative situation. Mr. Bald is deservedly popular in town and his many friends will regret to learn of his contemplated departure.

Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Herrington left on Monday for a visit with friends in Washington and New York.

Mr. Stewart Lockridge, who is attending the dental college, Toronto, is expected in Napanee and will spend a few weeks in this vicinity visiting friends.

His Honor Judge Wilkison held Division Court at Kingston on Wednesday.

BIRTHS

Fox—At Napanee Mills on the 19th inst. to Mr. and Mrs. Shirley Fox, a son.

MARRIAGES.

McCutcheon—Allison—In Richmond, on the 24th inst., by Rev. W. Limbert, Mr. Geo. McCutcheon to Miss Ida A. Allison.

Stanley—Perry—In Watertown, N. Y. March 25th. William Stanley, Watertown, to Ida Perry, formerly of Napanee.

Douglas—Douglas—At Cape Vincent, N. Y. Feb., 16th 1897. by Rev. E. S. Cheeseman, pastor of the Methodist Episcopal Church, Mr. Albert E. Douglas and Mrs. R. Estella Douglas, daughter of the late L. A. Wheeler, all of Napanee, Ont.

DEATHS.

Losee—At Adolphustown on Friday, March 26th, Rhoda, wife of Joseph Losee, aged 77 years.

Huffman—At Morven, on Saturday, March 20th, 1897, Maria Switzer, relict of the late C. W. Huffman, aged 68 years, 8 months and 15 days.

A FASHIONABLE SPRING SUIT Or OVERCOAT

Among the new Woollens purchased for the spring trade are some fine Scotch Cheviots and Worsted Suitings and Overcoatings in the newest shades and patterns.

We use Linings and Trimmings of guranteed good quality and put into them our best skill and experience in tailoring.

You can visit any store and you will not find an assortment of Suitings and Overcoatings to match ours, nor will you match our prices.

D. J. Hogan & SON.

Tailoring Extraordinary

Six patterns in Spring Tweeds, all light colours, but neat and stylish designs. The cloths are those which sell at $1 per yard. We offer choice of them made to measure, good trimmings, and guaranteed perfect fit,

At $10 a Suit

Or Bicycle Suit (Coat and Knickers) of same

At $6 a Suit

This is the most unprecedented bargain in good goods that has ever been open to you. If there isn't a saving of $4 on every Suit we offer at $10, don't buy.

J. A. CATHRO, Cutter.

The New Hats

Are the newest hats in the hat business. They are absolutely right in style, and they are cheaper than regular prices. You might as well save a quarter or half a dollar, and have a neater hat as well.

Fedoras from 50c. upwards.
Bennet's English Stiff Hats, $2.50.

Twenty-Five Cent Ties

Two for Twenty-Five Cents.

Tells you the history of the biggest tie sale you've seen. Only they weren't all twenty-five cent ones, there were dozens worth 50c. But there were nearly 1200 ties to start with. Plenty yet to pick from. Many customers take eight for a dollar, because they are new and stylish goods. Those are the wise ones. If you haven't had your share don't be too long about it.

New Clothing.

New Suits for Men.
New Suits for Boys.

Men's Blue Serge Suits $2.90
Men's Tweed Suits .... a bargain 5.00

We've stacks of well-made, neat-fitting Spring Clothing, made by houses whose name is a guarantee of reliable work. They'll please you none the less because the price is low. That is unusual, but it is true. Clothing prices are a wonder, even to clothing dealers, and the price at which good work is done in making clothing is very much lower than the price of oats or barley. Come in and see how we sell good clothing.

Spring Carpets.

The final shipment of the Spring Carpets came this week, and makes our stock complete in all lines for the season. The kinds include British Brussels Carpets in four and five frame, Canadian Axminster Carpets, best Tapestry Carpets, medium and low-grade Tapestries, two and three-ply Wools, Union and Hemps. The prices begin at 10c. for Hemps, 25c. for Unions, 68c. for Wools, 75c. for Brussels. The patterns are everything that they ought to be for this Spring's trade. A look at them costs nothing, and will convince you that your own town can do BEST for for you in Carpets, not merely as well as the city stores but MATERIALLY BETTER as regards value, just as well as regards style.

Pattern Dresses.

A big stock of them. Exquisite weaves and designs, charming color effects. We don't believe anyone can show you such a selection, or such trimmings to match them. There are most beautiful dresses here for four or five dollars—the twelve dollar patterns of other days couldn't hold a candle to them. To do the best possible buying for your Easter outfit you simply MUST see our Dress Goods.

Fancy Japanese Silks.

More of them than any two Napanee houses can show you. Patterns that are nowhere else. Prices begin at 25c. a yard—and at 43c., 58c., 72c., we show Silks that are usually shown at much higher prices.

Another Corset Bargain.

Only some five dozen of the P. C. Corset "Dora," in grey only. It is probably the fastest selling 75c. Corset in the country today. We bought this lot so that it is possible to sell them

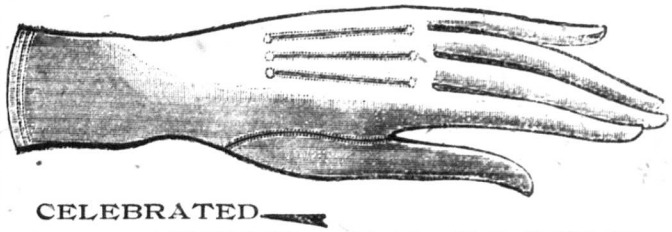
At 50c. a Pair.

Small sizes, 18 to 24. Ladies, it is worth your while to SEE JUST WHAT THIS CORSET IS LIKE.

The Twenty-Five Cent Corsets

Are a revelation. People who never bought a Corset at the price before are using them and like them. There may not be any next week.

PEWNY'S



CELEBRATED

KID GLOVES

The best Kid Gloves that come into this country. We are sole agents for Napanee. The new Spring stock is complete. The new Minerva, with the latest stitching and buttons, is an exquisite glove. It is guaranteed, of course, as are also the

ALBANI, in black and colours.
ALBERTINE, in black and colours.
ESTELLE, in black and colours.

UNBLEACHED TWILL SHEETING, two yards wide very nice quality ..... 15c.
FACTORY COTTON, 33 inches wide ..... 3c.
STRIPE FLANNELETTES, 30 inches wide, good weight and good patterns ..... 5c.

Lahey & McKenty.

ARENA FOR JUDGING.

committee meeting, will discuss this matter aand urge upon the directors of the leading industrial fairs the ad-

One Hundred Doses One Dollar is peculiar to and true only of Hood's Sarsaparilla. It is economy to buy Hood's.

Church of England Notes.

A CANADIAN FARM JOURNAL MAKES A GOOD SUGGESTION.

A Desideratum in Judging Live Stock That Will Be Appreciated If Adopted —A Plan That Will Work Proposed.

The important part played in the onward march of agriculture, especially in all branches of live stock husbandry, by the modern industrial exhibition will be readily conceded by all who take any interest in these matters. The stimulus and healthy rivalry created by these annual events reach out to the farthest limits of our land and exert a wonderful influence in improving the methods of breeding, feeding, caring for and the management of all classes of live stock. While exhibitions have done so much for these interests, it may be truly said, on the other hand, that the exhibitions are so dependent upon the live stock interests that if these were withdrawn there would be little further use for the annual fair. These interests, then, are interdependent, and each now recognizes the importance of the other. Perfection on either side is not yet attained. In the history of associations of this kind there is a period when the circus element is unduly magnified. The public, however, soon become surfeited with this sort of thing, and then there is the reaction toward a more solid and enduring basis, and while still retaining what is best of the circus element, and providing lively entertainment for all visitors, the more important and educational departments receive due consideration. That the exhibition of horses and cattle, where proper facilities are provided, will attract an audience can not be disputed since the Columbian Exposition, when thousands and thousands of interested spectators daily occupied seats in the magnificent live stock pavilion solely to witness the horses and cattle parade before the judges. In the more prominent Canadian shows perhaps nothing could be added that would be as much appreciated by both exhibitors and the public as would a proper judging arena for all classes of horses and cattle. At the Toronto Industrial last fall an influential body of horse exhibitors urged upon the management the absolute necessity of something like adequate facilities for letting the public see the horses while out in the ring. Last year the Missouri State Fair held at St. Louis, provided a magnificent covered pavilion, with seating capacity for 30,000 people, where all judging was done, and this was thoroughly appreciated by the public. We would suggest about the following plan: A good-sized oval ring, neatly fenced, with several tiers of seats arranged along both sides of the oval; all horses and cattle to be judged within the inclosure during certain well-advertised hours each day till the work is completed, each and every animal to have conspicuously displayed a number corresponding to its number in the live stock catalogue, where name, owner and other particulars are given. The space could be allotted about as indicated in the accompanying sketch, then the public should sit down and comfortably and intelligently watch the one or more classes of stock in which their particular interests lay.

LIVE STOCK JUDGING ARENA.

A represents a picket fence all round. B, horse gate. C, cattle gate. D, seats (amphitheatre style). J, stand for judges, etc., (roofed over and supplied with chairs). The five spaces separated by the dotted lines (which are only imaginary) are for the various classes of horses and cattle.

If it is found that these suggestions and the plan cannot, for sufficient reasons, be carried in their entirety at first, [illegible] modifications of [illegible] for the present, [illegible] in the ring.

of the leading industrial fairs the advantages of such an addition to the educational features of the exhibitions. —London Farmers' Advocate.

Handy Hog Holder.

The simple, inexpensive article for holding hogs illustrated herewith recommends itself to any one who has many hogs to ring, says Farm and Home. It will save time and labor enough in ringing 20 hogs to pay for itself the first time. The hogs should be confined in a close pen so that the one who handles the holder can walk up behind them and reach over and slip the larger stirrup-shaped end over the snout and into the mouth. The hog will back up and the operator standing in front can easily hold any hog perfectly still. It is easily adjusted, easily taken out, and when in use gives a leverage upon the upper jaw which secures perfect control of the animal in ringing.

RINGING THE HOG MADE EASY.

Transplanting Seed Boxes.

Seed boxes for annuals that will bear transplanting in the spring are usually home-made affairs, but the trade offers a variety of improved boxes. The chief virtue of these purchased boxes is that they have a water-tight saucer or long trough to catch surplus moisture that is sure to drip through the soil. A seed box that will not permit the water to escape is not a good arrangement. The soil at the bottom is sure to get muddy and sour in time, and this acts as a prison to the plants, causing rot to begin on all the roots that reach down to it. "Wet feet" for plants are almost as disastrous as for human beings, and the danger must be avoided. One of the surest ways to prevent the soil from getting soup in the bottom of the seed boxes or pots is to mix charcoal with the under layer.

Remarkable Horse Trade.

Two gentlemen of Marshallton, Va., who for convenience we will call Mr. A. and Mr. S., met one day and agreed to swap horses.

"I'll tell you what, John," said Mr. A., "if you get the best of the trade you shall bring me two bushels of wheat to bind the bargain, and if I come out best I'll do the same by you, eh?"

"That's a go," said Mr. S., "and I low you'll bring me the wheat."

"That's as it may be," retorted Mr. A. "But let it be agreed, then, that a week from this afternoon the one that's best suited, be it you or me, shall give t'other two bushels of wheat."

The week passed, the day came, and as luck would have it, Mr. A. and Mr. S. met on the road about midway between their respective homes.

"Where to John?" cried Mr. A., as they stopped a moment to chat.

"To your hourse with two bushels of wheat," replied Mr. S.

"Well, now that's good," remarked Mr. A., "for I was on my way to your house on the same errand. This horse you let me have, cant be beat.'"

"Just what I think of this nag," retorted Mr. S. and then they had a hearty laugh and separated after exchanging wheat.—Youth's Companion

The Baby Did It.

Mr. Newera—I thought your wife was a new woman?

Mr. Muchblest—Well, she was. But she has sort of given it up.

Mr. Newera—What made her give it up?

Mr. Muchblest—The new baby. Chips.

To Fill Flower Pots.

The simplest and most effectual way to fill seed boxes or flower pots is to make the bottom layer of potshreds broken into small pieces, or of large pebbles; then form another layer about this in very coarse sand, followed by a mixture of the pulverized charcoal and leaf mold or rich soil from the garden. The surface soil should be finely pulverized, the fineness being in proportion to the size of the seeds. Very fine seeds require surface soil that is pulverized to a powder, while larger ones do as well in soil not so carefully worked. The condition of the soil sparilla. It is economy to buy Hood's.

In the spring the young man's fancy lightly turns to thoughts of love, while the young woman spends many an anxious moment over the selection of a new bonnet.

Napanee Lodge, A. O. U. W., attended divine service in the Western church on Sunday morning last when the Rev. D. O. Crossley preached an excellent sermon to them.

H. B. Sherwood is out with an excellent letter in Saturday's Whig showing the benefit the city of Kingston has derived from connection with the Bay of Quinte railway.

The man who invented the coneshaped rough glass lemon squeezer made $50,000 out of it, and was lately offered $100,000 for four other invention of the same simple and practical kind.

Twelve year old Eddie Schoolcraft, of Arden, had his right foot amputated at the Kingston General Hospital last week. He stepped on a nail recently and injured the bone of the foot.

A petition is being circulated asking the Ontario Government to grant the B. of Q. R. R. the privilege of extending the road through Hastings. It is receiving numerous signatures.

The Rev. James Coburn, the blind preacher, will deliver a lecture in the Eastern Church this evening, entitled "Our Homes." Lecture will commence at 8 o'clock. A silver collection will be taken up to defray expenses.

A bill is shortly to be presented to the local Legislature very largely signed by the barbers of the province, asking that all barbers be qualified for their profession and that they take out regular certificates after an adequate apprenticeship has been served. The bill asks also that all barber shops be under the inspection of the provincial health department.

A public meeting under the auspices of the Woman's Missionary Auxiliary of the Western Methodist church will be held on Thursday evening next, April 1st in the lecture room of the church. Charles W. Service, B.A., of Trinity Medical College, who is prepairing himself for foreign mission work will give an address on "The Relation of Christian Women to Missions." An excellent program of music etc., will be given. The public are cordially invited. Silver collection.

She Fooled 'Em All.

It was in a downtown store. A pretty miss of 18 or thereabouts was shopping. She wore those large sleeves, a jaunty jacket that no man

S. Mary Magdalene—Church of S. Mary Magdalene, Napanee. Services at 11 a. m., and 7 p. m., each Sunday. Holy Communion at 11 a. m., on I and III Sundays of the month, and at 8 a. m. on all other Sundays. Strangers supplied with leaflets having service printed in full at evening services.

Parish of Adolphustown—Services Sunday next. St. Paul's, Sandhurst, at 11 o'clock; St. Alban's, Adolphustown, at 3 o'clock; Union Church, at 7 o'clock.

Odessa—Special Lenton Services will be held D.V. at St. Alban's Church, Odessa, every evening for two weeks commencing on Sunday next, March 28th at 7.30 p.m. No collections except at the Sunday services. All are cordially invited.

Parish of Selby—Services for fourth Sunday in Lent; St. Jude's, Kingsford, Matins 10.30; St. John's, Selby, S. S. 2 p.m., evensong 3 p.m. Week day services: St. John's, Selby, Thursday, April 1st at 7.30, evensong and address; St. Jude's, Kingsford, Friday, April 2nd, at 7.30. evensong and address.

Parish of Camden—Services Sunday next and following week: St. Jude's, Napanee Mills, holy communion 8 o'clock; St. John's Newburgh, morning prayer, holy communion, 10.30; St. Luke, Camden East, 3 p.m.; St. Jude's, Napanee Mills, 7 o'clock; St. Anthony, Yarker, 7 o'clock. This will be the first of the Lenton services to be continued (D.V.) each evening until Friday, inclusive, at 7.30.

John Sutherland, aged 87 years died at Kingston on Monday.

Henry Dunbar, aged 82 years, died at Kingston on Saturday.

Capt. Montgomery, of Yarker, has purchased the schr. Freeman.

Wallpaper and borders with ceilings to match, cheap, at Pollard's bookstore.

Try English wallpaper for your kitchen, washbale, cheap—Pollard's Bookstore.

Hood's Pills act easily and promptly on the liver and bowels. Cure sick headache.

Miss Murtagh, a young lady at Tweed, has fallen heir to an estate amounting to upwards of $50,000.

Mr. W. S. Herrington was presented with a copy of Shakespeare's concordance by the Shakespeare Club.

Mr. Hilt Finkle, Newburgh, has secured the contract of carrying the mails from Newburgh to Kingston.

It is reported that the Emperor of Germany has gone crazy. It is our opinion thhat he hadn't far to go.

According to the London Advertiser the heaviest blows struck on St. Patrick's Day were Corbett and Fitzsimmons.

Mrs. Joseph Losee, an aged and highly respected resident of Adolphustown passed away on Friday of last week, aged 77 years. The funeral took place on Sunday and was largely attended.

THE NAPAN

Vol. XXXVI] No 17.—JNO. POLLARD, Editor and Publisher. | NAPANEE, ONT., CAN

5c.

I am still selling 3 lb. cans of Sugar Corn at the low price of 5c. The best in the market. Try it.

5c. 5c.

W. COXALL.

Something New.

We have just received a fine stock of Men's and Boy's Boots and Shoes which we are prepared to sell away down in price as we will not have any extra expenses being only as a side line with our Clothing, Men's Furnishings, Hats and Caps.

You will do well to see our Boots and Shoes whether you buy or not.

A. M. VINEBERG,

The Wonderful Cheap Clothier. Dundas st., Henry Block, Napanee

TIMOTHY

—AND—

CLOVER SEED

Bran and Shorts

Flour and Feed.

TAYLOR & MORRIS,

(Blewett's Old Stand.)

NEW PLAINING MILL AND LUMBER YARD.

Now in full operation. All kinds Lumber, Sash, Doors and Blinds. Custom work done on shortest notice. Get our prices before buying. Mr. Embury is prepared to draw plans for parties wanting them.

Embury, Greer & Co.

HOUSES TO LET.

MORTGAGE SALE OF VALUABLE

GRAND DIS

New M

SATURDAY,

And during the following week.

The trade winning power of this sto passes without a new customer is made. Every obliging, attentive and painstaking. Our stock are the lowest. When you buy anything in this refund the money. We are sure it will not be t are not of the most pleasing and money saving c

DRESS GOODS.

As usual we make a specialty of Dres Goods worth 13c. Our price
Double-fold figured French Dress Goo
Beautiful figured French Dress Goods Our price 24c.
Black Brilliantines at 25c, 35c, 44c, 4
Special pattern Dress Goods, no two $5.00 to $15.00 per pattern.
Serges, Estemaines, Silkmixtures, Crep the very lowest prices in the tr goods.

LACE CURTAINS.

We are showing by long odds the best sell a splendid Curtain at 25c. $1.25 &c. &c.

Towel Bargain, 80c. per pair.
Men's Unlaundried
Ticking Specials at 10c,
Ladies' Hem-Stitched Linen Handk
Ladies' Co
Ladies' Corsets, s
Men's Suits ready-to-wear at $3.00,
B
Boy's Suits worth $2.

Plenty of good water, yard and soil. For particulars apply to S. CASEY DENISON,

ACTIVE MEN WISHING PERMANENT and paying employment can secure the same by engaging with us to sell our HARDY SPECIALTIES AND SEED POTATOES. All Canadian grown. Outfit free. Salary paid weekly. Write to us for particulars, and secure exclusive territory.

PELHAM NURSERY CO.

17-1 a TORONTO, ONT.

REAL ESTATE AND INSURANCE

I have several good farms of 50, 100 and 200 acres, at most moderate prices, and very easy terms of payment.

Several dwellings in the Town of Napanee.

Farm lands and city lots in Manitoba.

Insurance in Stock and Mutual Companies.

Money to loan at 5 per cent. on good Real Estate property. Apply to

M. C. BOGART,

40tf Napanee.

T. W. SIMPSON, B.A., M.D., C.A.

Licentiate of the Royal College of Physicians Edinburgh.

Office - Dr. Grants' late residence, Bridge St

MARGARET P. SYMINGTON, M. D. C. M., Licentiate of Royal College of Physicians, Edinburgh.

Diseases of Women and Children.

Residence north side Market Square, 4th door west John street

Consultation hours 11 a.m. to 3 p.m., and 6 to 8 p.m. Telephone 87.

R. A. LEONARD, M.D., C.P.S.

Physician, Surgeon, etc.

Late House Surgeon of the Kingston General Hospital.

Office—North side of Dundas Street, between West and Robert Streets Napanee. 5:1y

HERRINGTON & WARNER

Barristers, etc.

MONEY TO LOAN AT LOW RATES

Office—Warner Block, East-st, Napanee. 5y

DEROCHE & MADDEN,

Barristers,

Attorneys-at-Law, Solicitors in Chancery, Conveyancers, Notaries Public, etc.

Office—Grange block

Money to Loan at "lower than the lowest" rates

H. M. DEROCHE, Q.C. 5.1y J. H. MADDEN

MORDEN & RUTTAN,

Barristers, Solicitors, etc.

Solicitors for the Merchant's Bank of Canada etc., etc.

Dundas Street, Napanee.

G. F. RUTTAN.

Private funds to loan at five per cent.

A. S. ASHLEY,

DENTIST

16 Years in Napanee.

34 Years Experience.

Rooms, - Albert Block, - Napanee

DENTISTS

C. D. WARTMAN, L.D.S.

C. H. WARTMAN, D.D.S.

Graduates of the Royal College of Dental Surgeons of Ontario, and graduate of Toronto University.

OFFICE—LEONARD BLOCK,

Visits made to Tamworth the first Monday in each month, remaining over Tuesday. Rooms at Wheeler's Hotel.

All other Mondays C. D Wartman will be in Yarker.

Napanee office open every day.

THE ROYAL HOTEL.

Dundas Street, Napanee.

H. HUNTER, Prop.

This commodious hotel is centrally situated having every convenience for the travelling and business public. Large yard and sheds for farmers.

Good table, best of wines liquors, and cigars The comfort of guests is made a first consideration.

JAS. AYLESWORTH,

General Business Agent.

POLICE MAGISTRATE for the Provincial Eleo oral District of Addington.

Conveyancer,

Issuer of Marriage Licenses.

Commissioner, etc., in H.C.J

Clerk, 7th Division Court. of the County of Lennox & Addington

TAMWORTH.

That tired feeling is due to impoverished blood. Enrich the blood with Hood's

Under and by virtue of the power of sale contained in a certain mortgage, which will be produced at the time of the sale, there will be offered for sale by public auction, at the office of Herrington & Warner, in the Town of Napanee, on Saturday, the 17th day of April, 1897.

at the hour of 2 o'clock in the afternoon, the following valuable farm property:—

ALL AND SINGULAR that certain parcel or tract of land and premises situate, lying and being in the Township of Camden in the County of Lennox and Addington, Province of Ontario being the Westerley seventy-five acres of lot number eighteen in the third concession of the said Township. The property will be offered for sale subject to a reserve bid and subject to the interest in the said lands of one Mary Jane Clancy.

Terms: 10 per cent of purchase money at the time of the sale; balance within thirty days thereafter.

Further particulars and conditions of sale will be made known at the time of sale, or may be had on application to the undersigned.

HERRINGTON & WARNER,

Vendor's Solicitors.

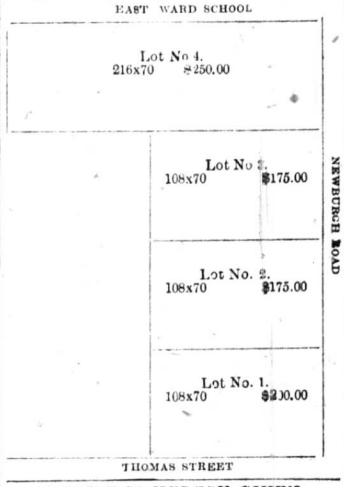
Dated at Napanee this 22nd day, of March A. D 1897.

PROPERTY FOR SALE

Or to let for a term of years.

The Property on Newburgh Road known as the RECTORY HOUSE,—one acre of land attached. Apply to Rev. Arthur Jarvis, on the premises, or to J. G. Fennell and Jno. S. Ham, Churchwardens.

The same parties offer for sale the church property at corner of Thomas street and Newburgh road as per diagram below.



NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN THAT

The Board of Audit

FOR THE COUNTY OF

LENNOX AND ADDINGTON

will meet to audit the Public Accounts at

THE COURT HOUSE

—IN THE—

TOWN OF NAPANEE

—ON—

Monday, April 12th, A.D. 1897

at the hour of 10 o'clock a.m.

All accounts for audit must be delivered to the Clerk of the Peace on or before the 1st day of April, 1896. S. C. WARNER,

Clerk of the Peace.

Napanee, September 26th, 1896.

Bicycle and bicycle accessors, largest stock most reliable up to date wheels on the market at Boyle & Son's.

A. S. Kimmerly is selling the finest and cleanest timothy seed $190 per bushel. All kinds of field and garden seeds on hand. Fish of all kinds in stock at lowest prices. 24 lbs. best granulated sugar $1, Keewatin Flour $2.40 per hundred. Our 25c. tea beats the world. Finest can corn 5 for 25c.

CASTORIA

For Infants and Children.

The fac-simile signature of Chas. H. Fletcher is on every wrapper

NOTICE TO CREDITORS.

IN THE MATTER OF MILES SAMUEL PLUMLEY OF THE TOWN OF NAPANEE, IN THE COUNTY OF LENNOX AND ADDINGTON, INSOLVENT.

The above named Insolvent, Miles Samuel Plumley, has made an assignment to me of his estate and effects in pursuance of the Revised tatutes of Ontario, Chapter 124 and Amending Acts, in trust for the benefit of his creditors.

A meeting of the creditors of the said Miles Samuel Plumley will be held at my office on Dundas street, in the Town of Napanee, on Friday, the 9th day of April

A. D., 1897,

at the hour of two o'clock in the afternoon, for the appointment of Inspectors, and of the giving of directions for the disposal of the estate.

Creditors are required to file their claims against the estate with me, duly verified by affidavit, on or before the day of such meeting as provided by the said statutes.

T. D. PRUYN, Assignee.

Dated at Napanee, 30th March, 1897. 17b

FRUIT & ORNAMENTAL TREES

700 ACRES.

SHRUBS, ROSES, VINES AND SEED POTATOES.

WE have the largest assortment and employ the very latest and most improved methods for propagating. All stock carefully packed under our personal supervision, and all new varieties tested at our trial farms before being catalogued These are the only testing orchards connected with any Nursery in the Dominion.

Agents Wanted to Represent us.

Special attention given to Park, Cemetery and Boulevard orders. Estimates furnished for supplying entire orchards.

Why buy of foreign concerns or of middlemen when you can purchase as cheaply from us and get better value.

Our stock is Canadian grown and acclimated.

Catalogue (English or French) free on application.

STONE & WELLINGTON, Toronto, Ontario.

FONTHILL NURSERYMEN,

The Leading Canadian Tree Men

Gladstone is to publish a phamplet on the powers treatment of the Cretan complications of those who go through the world without glasses and suffering from headaches, sore eyes etc., if they do not consult a competent optician. a. f. chinneck a graduate of two optical school and a private student of Dr. Hammell can give numerous testimonials from the town and country where he has been eminently successful even when others had failed. Examination free. f. chinneck's jewellry store.

GRAVEL IN THE BLADDER.

Used Eighteen Boxes of Dodd's Kidney Pills — The Stone Dissolved and Removed—Knew of Others Cured.

Shelburne, Mar. 29 (Special)—Mr. John Medill known locally as well as far and near as physical giant and gloryingin his strength came to be a great sufferer and tells his cure as follows;—

"I do not hesitate to speak of Dodd's Kidney Pills or anything else exactly as I find them. If a medicine cures me and if I think it will cure others why not say so?"

It is true I had been suffering for some time with Bladder trouble and learning of a cure made in a similar case, by Dodd's Kidney Pills I commenced using them.

In all I have used eighteen boxes and they have dissolved the stone and have entirely cured me of any sign of such difficulty. I do not hesitate to speak of Dodd's Kidney Pills in the highest terms of praise for I know of many persons who have been

JOURNEY IN A FLUME.

EXCITING RIDE FROM ICEBOUND SIERRAS TO SEMI-TROPICAL REGIONS.

In the San Joaquin Valley a Party of Three in a Small Boat Goes Down—Ice in the Upper Gorges—Oranges at the Vineyard Levels.

What would the tobogganists of the east say of a toboggan slide fifty long miles! Think of sliding down a chute that extends from arctic to semi-tropic regions—through snow-clad and ice-bound canons, around rocky fastnesses, over foaming cascades and rushing rivers, and then through vineyards and orange groves, and landing amid gardens of roses and lilies.

A half dozen localities on the Pacific coast—especially in California—afford opportunities for such slides. One of the flumes that several big lumber companies have constructed in different sections, all the way from Sanger, in Fresno County, California, to Salem, Oregon, is an example. These flumes have been built for conveying lumber from the towering Sierras to sawmills in the valleys below. They are from fifty to sixty-five miles long, and are built upon trestles varying in height from 20 to 120 feet. The chute is V-shaped and usually about a yard deep. The lumber is floated through it on water supplied from mountain streams, and the time consumed in a journey through the flues is from two to three hours, depending on the force and quantity of the water.

An invitation to make one of a party of three gentlemen to ride down through a lumber flume located at the southern end of the great San Joaquin Valley was eagerly accepted by the correspondent of The New York Times. The hour of starting was fixed at 8 on a January morning, and the place was the mountain headquarters of a lumber company. The guests were told to make themselves at home at the log house.

Early on the evening previous to the flume ride three gentlemen arrived at the headquarters. It had taken eight hours of hard driving with a team of mules to get there. The altitude is 7800 feet. Winter was everywhere in evidence, and it was the first taste any one in the party had had of an old fashioned winter season in some years.

The snow was so deep and hard that the lumbermen had been unable to work for several days. Ice covered every watercourse in the mountains, and a cold, frosty wind that sent the mercury below zero descended from the peaks that reared themselves 1000 feet higher. The night was passed at the company's building, and with a big breakfast the three flume travelers were ready for the journey.

The flume boat in which the party was to be floated down the chute was brought forth. It was a crude affair, eight feet long, V-shaped to conform to the trough, made of boards easily nailed to gether, and the seats were short boards adjusted between the sides of the craft. Two lumbermen held the boat, while the travelers, bundled in heavy overcoats, and with grim resolution, stepped cautiously into it.

"Hold on tight, boys;" "Let her go;" "Good-bye," "Good-bye," were shouted from the group of lumbermen as the boat started down the flume. A thin coating of ice glazed the surface of the flume timbers for the first ten miles, so that the craft sped forward with unusual swiftness.

The boat gathered momentum every second. Pine trees bending with snow, boulders strewn along the canon, and immense projecting chunks of ice and granite approached and darted past in a twinkling. There was no time to look to the right or left. Not a word was spoken. It seemed as if not even a breath was drawn. All eyes were set dead ahead, and all hands clutched the board seats with a vise-like grip.

But there was ample time for startling ideas. What if a chunk of the ledges had torn away the flume just beyond that sharp bend? What if a plank were loose away down near that redwood tree? What a frightful fall

NEE EXPRESS.

ANADA—FRIDAY, APRIL 2nd 1897. $1 per Year in advance; $1.50 if not so paid.

SPLAY

Millinery

, APRIL 3rd,

You are cordially invited to attend.

store is something wonderful. Scarcely a day verything is well done here. Our clerks are ock is well assorted, clean and tasty. Our prices this store if it is not satisfactory we cheerfully be the fault of this store if your dealings with it ng character. Try it and be convinced.

Dress Goods. Double fold figured French Dress ice 10c.
Goods worth 18c. Our price 14c.
ods, 40 inches wide, seven shades, worth 35c.

c, 48c, 68c, 74c, and $1.00, extra value.
two alike, the very latest styles. Prices from n.
Crepons, Canvas Cloths, Broadcloth, &c. All at e trade. Dress trimmings to match all our Dress best values in the trade in Lace Curtains. We 5c. per pair. Better goods at 35c, 50c, 75c,

ed White Shirts, worth 75c. for 50c.
0c, 13c, 15c, 19c, and 21c.
dkerchief specials, 6 for 25c.
Corsets, all sizes, worth 75c. for 49c.
s, specials, at 25c.
0, $4.90 and $5.00. Special.
Boy's Suits worth $2.25 for $1.48c.
$2.50 for $1.78.

Store.

Building Material of all Kinds.

FOR SALE AT REASONABLE PRICES.

Headquarters for Lumber of all kinds, Shingles, Lath, Doors, Sash, Monldings, Portland Cement, Water Lime, Plaster Paris, Apple Barrels, Land Plaster, Porus Tile Windsor Salt, Coal, Wood and Charcoal.

Use our pressed Brick for your house and chimney, as cheap as any, and the best. Get our prices before purchasing.

THE RATHBUN CO'Y

Yard and office foot of Centre St R. SHIPMAN, Agent.

NEWS FROM THE COUNTRY.

GLENMORE.

Mrs. D. D. McDonell, who has been visiting her sister, Mrs. J. G. Smith, has returned from Brockville where she intends spending a few days with her sister, Mrs. R. M. Bell, before leaving for her home in Montreal.

Mr. John Vent was taken suddenly ill Sunday night. Dr. Locke, of Algonquin, was called in and we hear that the paitent is doing well.

We are pleased to hear that Mrs J. G. Smith is on the mend.

Mrs. John Tammey is on the sick list.

Owing to the bad roads and disagreeable weather the usual services were not held in Cedar Grove church last Wednesday evening.

Earache Cured. DEAR SIRS,—I was troubled with earache for a long time and could get no ease until I tried Hagyard's Yellow Oil. I can truthfully say that it has made a complete cure.

MISS MARTHA M. RECTOR
Central Economy, N.S.

KINGSFORD.

Samuel Winters and wife, near Selby, were the guests at his father's, Thos Winters, Friday evening.

Albert Brown, who has been laid up with rheumatism, is convalescent.

David Doyle has gone to J. Allison's to work. Some one will likely miss you.

George Somers intends working for John McAlister for the season.

W. Andrew McCullough spent Sunday the guest of Nelson Frizzell.

Mary Doyle is visiting down east again. Be careful Mary, you might take a wrong step.

Carrie Winters is visiting at Mr. Robert McCormick's, Selby, for a few days.

Eddie Hewitt was the guest of E. Doyle on Sunday.

Wm. Provins is engaged erecting a new addition to Jas. Doyle's house.

Several attended the cheese meeting at Forest Mills on Tuesday night.

Hugh McCormick was calling on friends here.

Mr. David Winters has sued the Richmond and Tyendinaga councils for damages done to his cutter and horse which happened some time ago when his son was driving across the bridge and the horse took a tumble in the river.

Thomas Winters and wife spent last Tuesday visiting friends at Empey Hill.

SELBY

The [illegible] are drying up. Some have tapped and report a very good run.

Moving is the order of the day. Mr. Pringle is moving to Forest Mills. Mr. McCutcheon is moving on the farm vacated by Mr. Pringle. Mr. Henry Gordon, one of the village farm. Mr. [illegible] has left, and Mr. James Ellis to the farm. H. Graham is moving on Edgar having purchased it from Mr.

A number attend here at present with colds.

Mrs. J. [illegible] father's, Napanee, a few days [illegible] was glad to hear.

Master Frank Dennison is [illegible]

Which of your boys [illegible] Fitzsimmons, better keep your eyes on nose, Jim.

PRINCE EDWARD COUNTY.

Now we hear this foolish question asked "is this muddy enough for you?"

Very poor sap weather, is the verdict of those who have undertaken to make sugar.

Ed Valleau, High Shore, is remodeling the interior of his house.

Frank Gordon, Picton, has accepted a situation as travelling salesman for a surgical instrument firm in Detroit, and has started "on his road."

The bay is free from ice between Northport and Deseronto, and the ferry boat has commenced operations for the season.

On Tuesday evening, March 23rd, a merry company with well filled baskets, assembled at the residence of Mr. Charles McDonald Benson's, and gave him a good old fashioned surprise. It was Mr. McDonald's birthday anniversary, and we are sure he will remember this one, as an unexpected rain storm prevented an early departure of his guests and they were obliged to remain until daylight.

A certain and thrifty and progressive farmer of this county is running imbued with the idea that there is money in hens. He set a large hen house furnished with an incubator, and with many improvements, placed two hundred eggs in the incubator and awaited results. Owing to some mismanagement in regulating the temperature the small number of seven chickens rewarded his labors. A visitor to the farm in hearing of the venture, contemptuously remarked of the hen house, and lent that with an old hen.

The lecture and entertainment held on the evening of the 25th instant in the church of St. Vincent de Paul, Deseronto, realized the handsome sum of $141.75. Rev. Father Hogan has expressed himself as grateful for the success of the event and the liberal patronage extended by all classes and denominations.

A. S. Kimmerly since the summer rate of freight has come is able to give his many customers the finest re cleaned Timothy Seed at $1.25 per bushel. I have just received a car of that Mammoth Southern Sweet Corn, price lower than ever before. One car of bran to be sold cheap. All kinds garden seed in stock. Have you tried our [illegible] new stock.

NEE EXPRESS.

ANADA—FRIDAY, APRIL 2nd 1897. $1 per Year in advance; $1.50 if not so paid.

SPLAY

Millinery

, APRIL 3rd,

☛ You are cordially invited to attend.

store is something wonderful. Scarcely a day erything is well done here. Our clerks are ck is well assorted, clean and tasty. Our prices this store if it is not satisfactory we cheerfully be the fault of this store if your dealings with it ng character. Try it and be convinced.

Dress Goods. Double fold figured French Dress ice 10c.
Goods worth 18c. Our price 14c.
ods, 40 inches wide, seven shades, worth 35c.

c, 48c, 68c, 74c, and $1.00, extra value.
two alike, the very latest styles. Prices from n.
Crepons, Canvas Cloths, Broadcloth, &c. All at e trade. Dress trimmings to match all our Dress best values in the trade in Lace Curtains. We 5c. per pair. Better goods at 35c, 50c, 75c, ed White Shirts. worth 75c. for 50c.

0c, 13c, 15c, 19c, and 21c.
dkerchief specials, 6 for 25c.
Corsets, all sizes, worth 75c. for 49c.
s, specials, at 25c.
0, $4.90 and $5.00. Special.
Boy's Suits worth $2.25 for $1.48c.
$2.50 for $1.78.

Store.

Building Material of all Kinds.

FOR SALE AT REASONABLE PRICES.

Headquarters for Lumber of all kinds, Shingles, Lath, Doors, Sash, Monldings, Portland Cement, Water Lime, Plaster Paris, Apple Barrels, Land Plaster, Porus Tile Windsor Salt, Coal, Wood and Charcoal.

Use our pressed Brick for your house and chimney, as cheap as any, and the best. Get our prices before purchasing.

THE RATHBUN CO'Y

Yard and office foot of Centre St R. SHIPMAN, Agent.

NEWS FROM THE COUNTRY.

GLENMORE.

Mrs. D. D. McDonell, who has been visiting her sister, Mrs. J. G. Smith, has returned from Brockville where she intends spending a few days with her sister, Mrs. R. M. Bell, before leaving for her home in Montreal.

Mr. John Vent was taken suddenly ill Sunday night. Dr. Locke, of Algonquin, was called in and we hear that the paitent is doing well.

We are pleased to hear that Mrs. J. G. Smith is on the mend.

Mrs. John Tammey is on the sick list.

Owing to the bad roads and disagreeable weather the usual services were not held in Cedar Grove church last Wednesday evening.

Earache Cured. DEAR SIRS,—I was troubled with earache for a long time, and could get no ease until I tried Hygard's Yellow Oil. I can truthfully say that it has made a complete cure.

MISS MARTHA M. RECTOR,
Central Economy, N.S.

KINGSFORD.

Samuel Winters and wife, near Selby, were the guests at his father's, Thos. Winters, Friday evening.

Albert Brown, who has been laid up with rheumatism, is convalescent.

David Doyle has gone to J. Allison's to work. Some one will likely miss you.

George Somers intends working for John McAlister for the season.

W. Andrew McCullough spent Sunday the guest of Nelson Frizzell.

Mary Doyle is visiting down east again. Be careful Mary, you might take a wrong step.

Carrie Winters is visiting at Mr. Robert McCormick's, Selby, for a few days.

Eddie Hewitt was the guest of E. Doyle on Sunday.

Wm. Provins is engaged erecting a new addition to Jas Doyle's house.

Several attended the cheese meeting at Forest Mills on Tuesday night.

Hugh McCormick was calling on friends here.

Mr. David Winters has sued the Richmond and Tyendinaga councils for damages done to his cutter and horse which happened some time ago when his son was driving across the bridge and the horse took a tumble in the river.

Thomas Winters and wife spent last Tuesday visiting friends at Empey Hill.

SELBY.

The roads are drying up. Some have tapped and report a very good run.

Moving is the order of the day. Mr. S. Pringle is moving to Forest Mills. Mr. A. McCutcheon is moving on the farm vacated by Mr. Pringle, Mr. Henry Graham, north of the village to the farm Mr. McCutcheon has left, and Mr. James Edgar of Tamworth to the farm H. Graham is leaving. Mr. Edgar having purchased it from Mr. Cleall.

A number around here are suffering from colds.

Mrs. J. C. Hudgins, who is ill at her father's, Salem, is a little better, we are glad to hear.

Master Frank Denison is also improving.

Which of our boys intend challenging Fitzsimmons, better keep your eyes on your nose, Jim.

PRINCE EDWARD COUNTY.

Now we hear this foolish question asked "is this muddy enough for you?"

Very poor sap weather, is the verdict of those who have undertaken to make sugar.

Ed Valleau, High Shore, is remodeling the interior of his house.

Frank Gordon, Picton, has accepted a situation as travelling salesman for a surgical instrument firm in Detroit, and has started "on his road."

The bay is free from ice between Northport and Deseronto, and the ferry boat has commenced operations for the season.

On Tuesday evening, March 23rd, a merry company with well filled baskets, assembled at the residence of Mr. Charles McDonald Benson's, and gave him a good old fashioned surprise It was Mr. McDonald's birthday anniversary, and we are sure he will remember this one, as an unexpected rain storm prevented an early departure of his guests and they were obliged to remain until daylight.

A certain ambitious and progressive farmer of this county becomming imbued with the idea that there is "money in hens" erected a large hen house furnished with an incubator and all modern improvements, placed two huddred eggs in the incubator and awaited results Owing to some mismanagement in regulating the temperature the small number of eleven chickens rewarded his labor, and a neighbor's wife, on hearing of the venture, contemptuously remarked that she "could beat that with an old hen."

The lecture and entertainment held on the evening of the 17th instant in the Church of St. Vincent de Paul, Deseronto, realized the handsome sum of $141 75. Rev. Father Hogan has expressed himself as grateful for the success of the event and the liberal patronage extended by all classes and denominations.

A. S. Kimmerly, since the summer rate of freight has come, is able to give his many customers the finest re-cleaned Timothy Seed at $1.85 per bushel. I have just received a car of that Mammoth Southern Sweet Corn, price lower than ever before. One car of bran to be sold cheap, All kinds garden seed in stock. Have you tried our 5c corn, all new stock.

The Growth of London

London's population continues to increase rapidly, but recent census figures reveal a change in the character of this growth which has both surprised and puzzled the English statisticians. Up to times comparatively recent the city's increase was chiefly at the expense of the country districts and of other lands, the number of births within the metropolitan limits, when not less than the number of deaths, being not nearly enough in excess of it to account for the annual increment. Thus, in the period of 1871-80, the increase in population was more than 100,000 in excess of the births over the deaths. In the years 1881-90, however, the balance was the other way, the addition to the population being nearly 118,000 less than the natural increase. In the period of 1891-95, the excess of births over deaths was 230,000, but the actual increase in the population was slightly less than 200,000. From these figures it appears either that London-born children are lodged rock or strike a loosened spike, or run over a stray piece of timber in the flume? Each remembered all the stories he had heard of mortal accidents in these flumes.

BINSON CO.

For seven miles the party traveled at the rate of a mile in eighty or ninety seconds. The wind howled about their ears and beat against their faces and chests. Heavy overcoats were none too heavy. The cold water spattered in their faces, and the frosty air darted down their backs. The picturesque scenery had scant attention.

The first twenty minutes of the trip were by far the most risky and exciting. By that time the party was about eight miles in the canon, where the grade of the trough ran easier, and was sailing at the rate of a mile in four minutes. The air came less bleak and penetrating. The altitude was about 4000 feet, and the last signs of the ice and snow were being left behind.

In a half hour more the mouth of the canon was almost reached. The flume ran higher, and the canon stream that had roared as it gurgled and bounded over rocks and among boulders could scarcely be heard.

Suddenly the flume turned to the left, and several gorges hundreds of feet deep were crossed. The timbers that support the flume looked slender and insecure, and the giant walls of granite that stood straight up added to the grandeur of the scene.

Another bend in the flume, and, skirting a spur of foothills, the party glided out of the canon. A vista of some thirty miles stretched before their eyes. This is a part of the San Joaquin Valley, from which the trestle may be seen, like a huge silvery serpent lying among the foothills. Here the trough runs at some 100 feet above the ground, and the feeling as the greater elevation from the earth is reached is similar to that of the aeronaut.

The sound of the plunging, turbulent mountain stream below came to our ears, and the fresh, clear air of morning was delightful. Undulating foothills, immense sweeps of grazing and ranch land, here and there hundreds of cattle could be seen.

The heavy overcoats were laid aside as the craft moved on. Several little villages were passed, then the orchards of the valley appeared ahead, and in a few minutes more the party was floated above the fruitgrowers' homes and over their orchards of pears, prunes, peaches and oranges. Men were busy among rows of trees, and the dark glossy foliage of the orchards added another element of beauty to the scene. Later raisin grape vineyards that reach in every direction and cover an area of hundreds of acres were passed, and the travelers looked down from an elevation of eighty feet upon a score or more of Chinamen at work pruning the grape vines.

Then came a wide curve in the flume. The boat swept gracefully around it. Off to the west was a collection of large buildings and mammoth piles of lumber, the terminus of the flume. The trestle was lower and the boat floated within thirty feet of the ground.

The flume was almost level, and except for the impetus given further back, there would be very little motion to the water. Gradually the flow ceased and the craft and its passengers moved at a walking pace up to the docks of the lumber company's big mills. A workman seized one side of the boat and held it while the men disembarked.

A Blind Woman's Talents

Mlle. Melaine de Salignac, a blind woman, mentioned at considerable length by Diderot, was able to tell, by the impression of the air, whether it was fine or cloudy, whether she was in an open place or a street, and whether the street was open at the end, says an exchange. Having once gone over a house, she became so well acquainted with the different parts as to be able to warn others of any danger they were exposed to by the existence of a step or the lowness of a door. She could thread the smallest needle with great dexterity and could execute every sort of needlework. She understood music, geography, geometry and wrote with a pin, by pricking a sheet of paper stretched on a frame, and read what she had written by feeling the pin marks on the other side of the paper.

Heavy Losses and No Insurance.

The women of Canada lose thousands of dollars every year by having valuable garments and goods ruined by adulterated and imitation package dyes.

There being no security or insurance against losses resulting from spurious and deceptive dyes, defrauded women cannot claim damages or expect to be recouped by the makers of the common dyes.

Let it be understood perfectly that every package of Diamond Dyes is fully warranted to do what is promised for it.

The manufacturers of Diamond Dyes are the only responsible makers in the world of package dyes for home dyeing, and they succeed because their dyes are pure, strong, bright and never fading, and the easiest to use.

The remains of the late Mrs. Ferdinand Rockwell, daughter of D. S. Warner were buried in the Napanee cemetery on Wednesday.

The skating rink will be utilized as a lawn tennis court during the summer.

"Jimmie" Pierson was presented with a plug hat last week. If he can make the raise of a prince albert "Jimmie" intends taking in the millinery openings.

With this fine weather comes fine walking. We have a fine line of silver mounted Congowood walking sticks, latest styles at very low prices. Call and see them. F. Chinneck.

Edward Shabey passed away at his late residence in Napanee, on Wednesday. The funeral took place on Thursday afternoon from the R. C. church and then to the R. C cemetery where the remains were deposited in the vault.

Mrs. Ann Williamson passed away at the residence of Mr. Robert Boyes, East St., on Monday Deceased was in her sixty eighth year. The funeral took place to the Napanee cemetery vault on Wednesday and was well attended.

"I hope Mr. Shyman managed to crack the ice in his conversation with you just now?"

"No; it was all slush."—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

"You refuse to marry me," he said bitterly, "because I am poor."

"Well, yes," she replied; "it would pain me too much to have people hurt your feelings by saying that you married me for my money."—Philadelphia North American.

Teacher—It is told of Demosthenes that in order to improve his enunciation he would go down to the shore and talk with his mouth filled with pebbles. Who was Demosthenes?

Willie Tell—Please, ma'am, he was the inventor of the gag. "These are not the only pebbles on the beach."—Plain Dealer.

"She is always giving you a piece of her mind in the rudest way."

"You can't wonder. She has no education except of the most fragmentary sort."—Detroit Journal.

GOOD WOMAN—BAD HEART.

When Could the Life of a Loved one be more Uncertain than when Attacked by Heart Disease? If you have a Hint of it Have Dr. Agnew's Cure for the Heart Always at Hand, it is the only Remedy which can Relieve you in 30 Minutes and Cure you Permanently.

"This is to certify that my wife has been a sufferer from heart disease for over twenty years. After having tried doctors and remedies innumerable without benefit I procured two bottles of Dr. Agnew's Cure for the Heart, and she has received more benefit from it that from all the doctors and all the cures used heretofore. I am pleased to certify to the excellence of this wonderful remedy.

"AARON NICHOLS.

Peterboro', Smith Tp."

Our enterprising young benedict, Elias Hudgins, assumes control of the stage and mail route April 1st. He will reside at Erinsville.

Our cheese factory has been running for the last three weeks.

Mr. John Gollinger is erecting a new barn on his lot opposite the English church.

Reggie Lucas accompanied his uncle, J. B. Lucas, home to Moscow. Anyone requiring any grafts put in will find Mr. Wm. Hall ready and willing to accommodate them.

TAMWORTH.

Our snow has completely dispersed and the roads are drying up very fast.

There is quite a lot of people sick around here. A poor family about a quarter of a mile from this place have lost two children with whooping cough. Colds seem to be the prevalent disease.

Mr. Wm. Kelly's son passed away this week. He had been ailing for a long time. He died on Monday morning. The funeral took place on the 31st ult.

Mr. Barrager, sr. is very sick. He has been ailing some time with a heavy cold and as he is well up in years it takes more of a hold on him.

Mrs. Pomroy's little girl Fannie, is still very low. The doctors have not much hopes of her recovery.

Mrs. L. A. Wheeler is some better now.

Mrs. E. A. Douglas of Napanee is visiting her mother Mrs. F. A. Wheeler.

Mr. J. A. Fraser has been laid up for a day or so with a cold.

Miss Addia Coxall is a trifle better. She has been under the doctor's care with nervous la grippe.

Sugar making is all the rage now. The season will likely be short.

Weakness and Dyspepsia Cured—DEAR SIRS,—I can heartily recommend Burdock Blood Bitters. For a long time I was troubled with dyspepsia and weakness. The least exertion would tire me out. I am glad to say, however, that your B. B. B has greatly benefited me, curing the dyspepsia and making me strong and well.

JENNIE EVANS,
Hespeler, Ont.

HAWLEY.

The weather is very favorable at present and spring seems to be near.

Some of our neighbors are ploughing sod which brings back old remembrances to us.

Miss Aggie Gilbert met with a serious accident, resulting in a compound fracture of the hip. We are glad to state she is somewhat better at present.

Mr. Geo Asselstine who has been on the sick list all winter is also showing signs of improvement.

Mr. Robt Meyers and Owen Foley have each recovered from a heavy attack of cold. They attribute their speedy cures to the use of "Cough Not."

Dick frets a great deal that he is so far from grace.

Messrs. McCulloch, Wilson and Bowerman of the N. C. I. accompanied by a jolly load of young people came out here last Friday evening to debate with the Hawley boys on the subject resolved "That women should have equal franchise rights with men." The Hawley debators, Messrs. Allen, Anderson and McNeil had the affirmative side of the question. Mr. R. O. Cadman ably filled the chair and Messrs. W. H. Perry and C. W. Elliot acted in capacity of judges. The debators had studied the subject well and each side made a brilliant showing. We shall make special mention of Mr. Allen who by his unrefutable arguments made many points for the affirmative, and Mr. Wilson who by his impassioned antiloquence won the admiration of the ladies. After mature consideration the judges decided in favor of affirmative. Then after an enjoyable evening of pleasant instruction all took their several ways homeward. We would be glad to have the Napanee load come back at any time for they are jolly good fellows. We would advise them to bring a girl apiece next time.

Mr. Joseph M. Bachelor called on Miss Annie Craven on Wednesday evening.

Our genial neighbor Mr. John Blackadder has removed from our midst. We are sorry to lose you John but Pine Grove is the gainer this time.

Two youthful magnanimosities from Hawley are sojourning at Walnut Grove. Come home boys the springs work is at hand.

Mr. Samuel McNeil, agent for an American nursery is doing his usual rounds supplying the farmers with fruit trees. Sam is doing a licensed business and deserves public confidence.

It makes red blood. Rosy, healthy people move the world. Madden Cereal is neither tea nor coffee but a food drink.

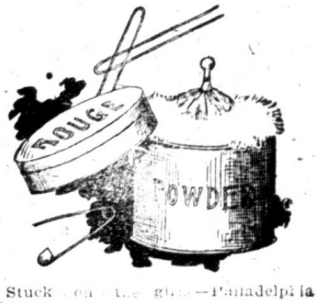
the victims of an excessive death rate, or else that the opportunities to be found in the great capital are no longer attractive enough to satisfy its native inhabitants, large numbers of whom, therefore, have been led to seek their fortunes elsewhere. The problem is a rather obscure one, flowing long enough to make easy a determination of its direction, extent, and cause. —New York Times.

Auctions in Japan.

There is little chance for fraud or complaint in the matter of conducting auction sales in Japan. Although there are not nearly so many sales held as in this country, officials of the cities have a way of conducting them much similar to our method of voting.

When an auction is to take place the goods or property is advertised for two weeks ahead. On the day of the sale each bidder writes his name and address and the amount of his bid for each lot on a slip of paper, which he carefully places in a box. When all the bids are in the auctioneer opens the box in the presence of the spectators, and, after examining, all the goods are declared the property of the highest bidder. By this system the American custom of owners bidding in property or goods would almost entirely disappear.—New York Journal.

WITH THE PARAGRAPHERS.



Stuck on the glass.—Philadelphia Press.

FOR YOU! FOR ALL!

The Great Life-giver.

Paine's Celery Compound Removes Every Load and Burden.

It Is Foremost As a Spring Medicine.

It Makes Wondrous Cures.

The promise of a new and happier existence is personal and general. It is for you! It is for all!

Men and women, young and old, enter into the spring season with a variety of diseases that arise from a faulty or impaired nervous system. These ailments cause more sufferings and earlier deaths than all others, and that is why so much attention and prominence has been given to Paine's Celery Compound.

Of all medicines, Paine's Celery Compound stands first as a rapid and sure cure for all nerve diseases such as nervous debility, neuralgia, rheumatism and sciatica. Sleeplessness, nervousness and dyspepsia originate from an imperfect condition of the nervous system, and a perfect and permanent cure can only be looked for from Paine's Celery Compound.

In the spring season, when the blood is impure, thin and impoverished, Paine's Celery Compound is the agent of life that quickly cleanses and purifies the life stream, bringing strength, vigor and robustness.

The use of one bottle of Paine's Celery Compound will quickly convince the sufferer that he or she has truly laid hold of a spring medicine that leads to health and a new life. Thousands in the past have thrown aside their ills and troubles; you may do the same if you get the medicine that cures. Paine's Celery Compound, and it alone, can meet your expectations. Take no other medicine from your dealer, no matter how strongly he may recommend it.

900 DROPS

CASTORIA

A Vegetable Preparation for Assimilating the Food and Regulating the Stomachs and Bowels of

INFANTS CHILDREN

Promotes Digestion, Cheerfulness and Rest. Contains neither Opium, Morphine nor Mineral. NOT NARCOTIC.

Recipe of Old Dr SAMUEL PITCHER

Pumpkin Seed -
Alx. Senna +
Rochelle Salts -
Anise Seed +
Peppermint
Bi Carbonate Soda +
Worm Seed -
Clarified Sugar -
Wintergreen Flavor.

A perfect Remedy for Constipation, Sour Stomach, Diarrhœa, Worms, Convulsions, Feverishness and LOSS OF SLEEP.

Fac Simile Signature of
Chas. H. Fletcher,
NEW YORK.

At 6 months old
35 DOSES - 35 CENTS

EXACT COPY OF WRAPPER.

SEE THAT THE FAC-SIMILE SIGNATURE —OF— Chas. H. Fletcher. IS ON THE WRAPPER OF EVERY BOTTLE OF CASTORIA

Castoria is put up in one-size bottles only. It is not sold in bulk. Don't allow anyone to sell you anything else on the plea or promise that it is "just as good" and "will answer every purpose." See that you get C-A-S-T-O-R-I-A.

The fac-simile signature of Chas. H. Fletcher is on every wrapper.

AS UNCALLED FOR ATTACK.

The Napanee Star of last week has an unfair and unjust attack on Sir. Oliver Mowat and the Hon. A. S. Hardy in connection with liquor license legislation. Briefly stated, Sir Oliver is stigmatised as a hypocrite, so far as prohibition is concerned. To use the writer's own words, "he has humbugged the prohibitionists for many years until much contempt for the stability and honesty of the prohibition movement has been engendered," etc., etc.

Then Premier Hardy is represented that he "evidently thinks that the temperance people have allowed themselves to be humbugged so long that they have lost all power to do him harm." The Star does not pretend to be an advocate of prohibition, but it is annoyed that Sir Oliver and Mr. Hardy have not before this given the country a much more stringent prohibition law. It claims that the prohibitionists should have "long ago dashed Mowat's Government into atoms, if for no other reason than to give a convincing object lesson, not only to the so-called Reform party, which if it so willed, could place on the statute book an effective law to carry out the wishes of the temperance people, within three weeks, but it could have taught a lesson to the Conservative party which it has never learned and apparently has not the slightest disposition to learn."

So sar as Sir Oliver is concerned it is not necessary for HIM to go to such a source for a character as an honest man. Even the late Sir John Macdonald, not long before his death, did not hesitate to declare that Sir Oliver was an honest and well meaning man. Since this session of the Ontario legislature Mr. Whitney, the present Conservative leader, has declared the same thing. The great majority of the electors of Ontario have, over and over again within the past twenty-five years, declared their confidence in him as in no other public man in this province.

As a prohibitionist Sir Oliver has long been well known and trusted by the temperance people. Over forty years ago, when temperance laws were much less popular than now, Sir Oliver first became a candidate for Ontario County and then declared for prohibition. He has maintained the same position ever since. When the Dunkin Act was voted on in Toronto, away back in the sixties, he was nearly the only man of much public prominence who came forward boldly and voted for it. He has maintained that position ever since.

During the last twenty years Sir Oliver's government, of which Hon. Mr. Hardy has been nearly all the time a prominent member, has amended the licence laws of this province no less than ten times, and each amendment has been a decided step in advance. No backward step has ever been taken. We have now the best enforced license laws of any province in this whole Dominion. Under the provisions of the Reform Government license laws the total number of licenses in this Province has been reduced from 6,185 in 1874 to 3,132 last year. The number of taverns from 4,793 to 2,779, and we all know that the class of licensed taverns has been vastly improved. The number of licensed liquor shops has been reduced from 1,307 down to 327 in the whole province. In this entire county but one license shop remains. Wholesale licenses have been reduced just one half in number. Steamboat liquor licenses, which were plentiful years ago, have been cut off altogether, not one has been granted in the last five years. The number of prisoners committed for drunkenness in the jails of this province has been reduced from 4,032 in 1877 to only 1,907 in 1896. Not one drunken man is now seen in this county, or town, where ten could be seen twenty-

Biliousness

Is caused by torpid liver, which prevents digestion and permits food to ferment and putrify in the stomach. Then follow dizziness, headache,

Hood's Pills

insomina, nervousness, and, if not relieved, bilious fever or blood poisoning. Hood's Pills stimulate the stomach, rouse the liver, cure headache, dizziness, constipation, etc. 25 cents. Sold by all druggists. The only Pills to take with Hood's Sarsaparilla.

ONTARIO AGRICULTURAL AND EXPERIMENTAL UNION.

CO-OPERATIVE EXPERIMENTS IN AGRICULTURE

Upwards of 1000 varieties of farm crops have been tested in the Experimental Department of the Ontario Agricultural College, Guelph, within the past eleven years, and six hundred of them have been grown for at least five years in succession. Nearly all the Canadian sorts and several hundred new varieties imported by the Experimental Department from different parts of Europe, Asia, Africa, Australia, and the United States have beed included in these carefully conducted experiments. Some of the new varieties have done exceptionally well and have already been distributed over Ontario, through the medium of the Experimental Union, with very gratifying results. The Siberian Oats, Mandscheuri Barley, Herison Bearded Spring Wheat, and the Cloud's Early Yellow Dent, Mammoth Cuban, Wisconsin Earliest White Dent, and Salzer's North Dokota varieties of corn, which are now becoming so popular in Ontario, were imported by the Experimental Department and after being well tested were distributed in small quantities.

The present system of co-operative experimental work in agriculture was started in 1886 with 60 plots, which were situated on twelve different farms in Ontario. Since that date, however, the work has increased from year to year and in 1896 there were 11,124 plots, which were situated on 2,260 farms. We are again prepared to distribute material for co-operative experiments with fertilizers, fodder crops, roots, grains, grasses, and clovers.

Interested persons in Ontario who wish to join in the work, may elect any one of the experiments for 1897 and inform the director at once of the choice made. All materials will be furnished entirely free of charge to each applicant, but he will be expected to conduct the test according to the instructions sent with the seeds, and to report the results of his test as soon as possible after harvest.

LIST OF EXPERIMENTS FOR 1897.

1. Testing nitrate of soda, superphosphate, muriate of potash, mixture, and no manure with corn.
2. Testing nitrate of soda, superphosphate, muriate of potash, mixture, and no manure with mangels.
3. Testing six leading varieties of fodder corn.
4. Growing three Leguminous crops for green fodder.
5. Growing three mixtures of grain for green fodder.
6. Testing four varieties of grasses for hay.
7. Testing four varieties of clover for hay.
8. Testing three varieties of buckwheat.
9. Testing four varieties of spring wheat.
10. Testing four varieties of Barley.
11. Testing five varieties of oats.
12. Testing four varieties of peas.
13. Testing three varieties of beans.
14. Testing five varieties of carrots.
15. Testing five varieties of mangels.
16. Testing four varieties of Turnips.

Material for either No. 1 or No. 2 experiment will be sent by express, and for each of the others it will be forwarded by mail. All fertilizers and seeds will be sent in good time for spring seeding, providing the applications are received at an early date. The supply of material being limited, those who apply first will be surest of obtaining the desired outfit. It might be well for each applicant to make a second choice for fear the first could not be granted.

Particular varieties need not be mentioned as all the kinds to be distributed are those which have done exceptionally well upon the trial plots in the Experimental Department.

C. A. ZAVITZ,
Director.

Agricultural College, March 22nd, 1897.

Tobacco Heart.—Much heart and nerve

The Dominion Bank
ESTABLISHED 1871.
CAPITAL — $1,500,000.00
RESERVE FUND — $1,450,000.00
Deposits received and interest allowed. Drafts on all parts of Great Britain and United States bought and sold.
E. H. BAINES, Agent.

THE - MERCHANTS - BANK
OF CANADA
Head Office, — Montreal
Capital paid up, $6,000,000
Surplus, $3,000,000
INTFREST AT CURRENT RATES PAID ON DEPOSITS.
A GENERAL BANKING BUSINESS TRANSACTED.
W. A. BELLHOUSE,
Manager, Napanee Branch

EPPS'S COCOA
ENGLISH BREAKFAST COCOA
Possesses the following Distinctive Merits:
DELICACY OF FLAVOR
SUPERIORITY IN QUALITY.
Grateful and Comforting to the Nervous or Dyspeptic.
NUTRITIVE QUALITIES UNRIVALLED.
In Quarter-Pound Tins Only.
Prepared by JAMES EPPS & Co., Ltd., Homœopathic Chemists, London, England.

Provincial Building and Loan Association, Toronto.

Local Advisory Board at Napanee

WILL some friend of the family kindly inform the editor of the Kingston News that the School Question is settled.

SO completely have Hibbert Tupper and his pa deserted Lord Aberdeen that they haven't even left a vacancy behind them.

WE always knew Toronto had her fair share of old girls, but until we read last Saturday's Globe we had no idea they were so numerous

THE TEMPLAR says that Marter can be depended on to denounce the Ontario Government. We might add, so can W. W. Buchanan, the editor of the Templar.

THE new Dominion Franchise Bill proposes to make use of the Provincial franchise. In view of this the necessity of having your name placed on the voters' list will be apparent.

ONE swallow doesn't make a summer, but one man appears to constitute the opposition in the Manitoba Legislature. The leader of the Conservative forces in the Manitoba House moved the adjournment of the debate on Saturday and failed to get a seconder.

THE "Old Baronet" evidently intends to carry his rancor into social life. Sir Charles absented himself from the state dinner at Rideau Hall to show his antagonism to Lord Aberdeen for frustrating the Old War Horse's wholesale attempt to corrupt the civil service.

JAMES MAY was put to sleep by a hypnotist at London nearly a week ago and now the professor is unable to wake him up. Providing May sleeps from whom all information can be obtained. Money received on investment at good interest, and money loaned on easy terms of repayment.

President, M. S. Madole Esq ; Vice Pres., G. W. Gibbard Esq., F. W. Morris, T. D. Pruyn, J. J. Taylor, Chas. Frizzell, Dr. G. W Edwards, W. P. Deroche. Solicitors Messrs. Deroche and Madden. Valuator, W. Embury ; Sect. Treasurer and Agent, Irvine Parks.

Apply to I. Parks, Agent.

Cramps, Colic, Colds,

Croup, Coughs, Tooth-ache,

DIARRHŒA, DYSENTERY, and all BOWEL COMPLAINTS.

A Sure, Safe, Quick Cure for these troubles is

Pain-Killer

(PERRY DAVIS'.)

Used Internally and Externally.

Two Sizes, 25c. and 50c. bottles.

VERY LARGE BOTTLES 50 CENTS.

The D. & L. Emulsion

Is invaluable if you are run down, as it is a food as well as a medicine.

The D. & L. Emulsion

Will build you up if your general health is impaired.

The D. & L. Emulsion

Is the best and most palatable preparation of Cod Liver Oil, agreeing with the most delicate stomachs.

The D. & L. Emulsion

Is prescribed by the leading physicians of Canada.

The D. & L. Emulsion

Is a marvellous flesh producer and will give you an appetite.

50c. & $1 per Bottle

Be sure you get the genuine | DAVIS & LAWRENCE CO., LTD. MONTREAL

The Napanee Express

NAPANEE, FRIDAY, APRIL 2 d, 1897.

THE present iniquitous franchise act will be repealed this session.

IN the new tariff any concessions granted to the mother country will meet with the approval of the Canadian people.

THE school settlement remains settled and Mgr. Merry del Val, Papal Ablegate, has arrived in Canada to settle the unsettlers.

IN framing our tariff the doctrine of retaliation should find no place. Adopt the policy calculated to promote the best interests of Canada.

AN alien labor bill will be introduced during this session and will in all probability become law. A taste of their own medicine will go a long way towards hammering a little sense into the heads of the peanut politicians of the American Republic.

THE DINGLEY BILL will have the effect of directing our trade to the British market, and once the trade relationship between Canada and the mother country becomes firmly established by the means of cold storage no amount of concessions on the part of the United States will divert it back into that channel.

himself into eternity will it be necessary for the Crown to call in the services of Prof. Radcliffe to put the hypnotist to sleep in order to protect the public from fool experiments?

THE revision of the tariff which will take place during the present session of Parliament may not be a very sweeping one. The maladministration and corruption of the preceeding Government left a legacy of debt and obligation in its wake that cannot be ignored, which will render a sweeping reduction impossible at present. The return to a revenue tariff basis must of necessity be by gradual stages. The inequalities of the N. P. tariff, designed not for the purposes of revenue, but to place money in the pockets of a few favored individuals will be abolished and the mouldering branches of a pernicious fiscal policy will be lopped off as rapidly as the exigencies of existing conditions will permit.

IN his inaugural address Mayor Ward made a brief reference to the need of action looking towards the improvement of our roads, both in the town and country. The Warden of the county at the January session also referred to the Good Roads Question, and the advisability of purchasing improved road making machinery was the subject of a lengthy discussion by the members of the County Council. This is a live question and one that demands the consideration of every ratepayer. We hope the municipal councils throughout the county will take the matter up and institute comparison. In counties and townships where roadmaking machinery has been introduced it has been found that it entails a big saving in time, labor and money, besides giving better roads. We understand that several townships in Lennox are contemplating purchasing road making machinery and Napanee should not be behind in this matter. Mayor Ward's suggestion that A. W. Campbell, Provincial Road Instructor, should be invited to visit this county and give a series of addresses on the subject is a good one and cannot be acted upon too soon. A visit from Mr. Campbell would give a stimulus to the movement it seems much in need of at present. Mr. Campbell is employed by the Ontario Government and his services would entail no expense upon either the town or the county. Our roads are certainly in a reprehensible condition and any movement towards their improvement should be welcomed by all. We would be pleased to receive the views of our readers upon the "Good Roads Question."

WONDERFUL.

Piles Cured in 3 to 6 Nights, Itching, Burning Skin Diseases Relieved in one day.

Dr. Agnew's Ointment will cure all cases of itching piles in three to six night. For blind and bleeding piles it is peerless. Also cures tetter, salt rheum, eczema barber's itch and all eruptions of the skin. Relieves in a day. 35 cents. Sold by A. W. Grange & Bro.

Madden's Enamel is the only stove pipe varnish that does not smell or smoke when applied to stove pipes, ranges, grates, etc. Ask your dealer for it. 45tf

A Triumph Won. Before taking Doan's Kidney Pills I felt that diabetes was fast tightening its grip upon me. Now I know that it has been met and defeated. I have used the pills steadily for some time, and am now in the full enjoyment of health, and shall always be glad to testify to the merits of this triumphant medicine.

RICHARD LYMAN,
St. John, N. B.

Wanted—An Idea Who can think of some simple thing to patent? Protect your ideas; they may bring you wealth. Write JOHN WEDDERBURN & CO., Patent Attorneys, Washington, D. C., for their $1,800 prize offer five years ago, and seldom, if ever, does a bar-room row or fight occur now, while we all know they were of very common occurrence before the existing license laws came into force. Indeed, under the existing administration, should one of the old time drunken rows occur a renewal of license could not be obtained. We all know, too, that unlicensed selling has been as completely stamped out as it ever can be, while years ago "shebeens" were quite common all over our county. And yet we are now told by our "Star" that it is "rank hypocrisy for anyone to ascribe any credit therefor to any administration."

It might serve Tory purposes very well no doubt to endeavor to induce the temperance people to now unite to "dash the government to atoms," but what would the country gain by it, from a temperance stand point? We all know how MUCH the Reform Government at Toronto has done in the way of temperance legislation within the last twenty years. We all know how LITTLE the Conservative Government at Ottawa has done in the same direction during the same time. The hope of the country lies in a temperate people. The hope of the temperance people lies in the Liberal party These facts are too well-known to be ignored.

Here are some of the gains to be counted on in connection with the amended license bill of the present Ontario Government.

1 The number of licenses in the province will be reduced at once by at least 150, and the 80 saloon licenses now in the various cities will soon all disappear. Each municipal council may every year reduce the number where the people demand it.

2 All such druggists as practiced evading the law will be more restricted in future.

3 No sales of liquor will be allowed to any young man under 21 years of age, and such will not even be allowed to loiter about licensed premises, under penalty of a fine. Many parents will thank the government, and thank God for this.

4 All licensed bar-rooms in the country must be closed not later than 10 o'clock and in towns and cities at 11. The local authorities are empowered to require them closed at still earlier hours. Anyone convicted three times in a year of selling on Sundays or during prohibited hours will forfeit his license and will not be eligible to receive another license for three years.

5 In future no new license shall be granted within 300 feet of any church, or school, and licenses can be removed from any residential district if a majority of the electors in the district so desire.

6 The way is made more clear for the taxpayers of any town or township to prohibit the issue of any licences in their municipality, if a majority so desire.

And yet, in the face of just such amendments, the temperance people are seriously advised to "smash the government to atoms," and make room for whom———? Very few intelligent men of that class will guide their course by SUCH a Star. FAIR PLAY.

A PREACHER'S STORY.

Like Other Mortals he fell Victim to Disease, Dr. Agnew's Catarrhal Powder was the Agent which Restored him to Health and he Gladly Allows his Name to be Used in Telling it that others may be Benefited too.

Rev. Chas. E. Whitcombe, Rector of St., Matthew's Episcopal Church, and Principal of St. Matthew's Church School, Hamilton, was a great sufferer. Dr. Agnew's Catarrhal Powder cured him, and he now proclaims to the world that as a safe, simple and certain cure it has no equal. It never fails to relieve catarrh in ten minutes, and cure permanently. Sold weakness is caused by undue use of tea, coffee, or tobacco; palpitation, nervousness, irritability, excitability, lack of confidence, etc, are sure symptoms. Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills bring ready relief, by steadying the nerves and regulating the heart. They are a true heart and nerve food.

Sub-Irrigating Flower Beds.

The experiments that have been tried in introducing water freely below beds of growing plants have proved conclusively the value of this kind of watering. The cross section given herewith shows how one may readily try this experiment for himself this spring. Select the spot where a small bed is to be devoted to foliage or other plants, and sink an empty keg in the centre just below the position of the coming roots. Fit an old piece of tin pipe, as suggested in the sketch, and your "irrigating plant" is ready for business! Not only can water be thus freely applied, but liquid manure also. The keg, it should be said, should not be one that will "hold water."—American Agriculturist.

A SUB-IRRIGATING FLOWER BED.

The Smell of Paint.

To remove the smell of new paint, lay a bunch of hay in the room and sprinkle it with a little chloride of lime; close the room for several hours, and when it is again opened the smell of paint will be gone.

SUFFERING WOMEN.

Troubled with Weakness Peculiar to their Sex.

HOW THEY MAY BE CURED.

Dodd's Kidney Pills Act upon the Female Organs as well as upon the Kidneys—Many a Woman suffers needlessly.

Women suffer more than men. From the time a girl-child turns the corner into womanhood, she has more troubles than men ever dream of. We look upon women as weak and fragile but considering what they endure they are stronger by far.

Women suffer many times more than they need to. Partly because they don't know what ails them at first ; then because they are ashamed to tell a doctor ; latterly because they hate to be a continual source of expense to their husbands.

"Female Weaknesses" are what we term the diseases peculiar to the female sex. They are often confounded with female Kidney troubles, and Kidney troubles are often mistaken for other troubles. All those delicate organs are closely connected. What affects one affects the others.

What cures one, cures the others, too. DODD'S KIDNEY PILLS which are a sovereign cure for all Kidney ills, act to regulate and control the female organs and to relieve their difficulties. This is worth while for every woman to remember.

Mrs. Lucy Crabbe, Chambers P. O., says:—"For years I was a sufferer from weakness peculiar to my sex, combined with kidney trouble from all of which I was completely cured by two boxes of Dodd's Kidney Pills."

Mrs. Elmena Ady, Walkerton, Ont. says:—"For a long time I have suffered from a complication of Kidney Trouble and Female Disease ; and am glad to say have no pain or ache since using Dodd's Kidney Pills."

DODD'S KIDNEY PILLS, cure Kidney Disease and Female Weakness. Try Them. They are on sale at all druggists.

Price 50 cents per box, 6 boxes for $2.50. Dodd's Medicine Co., Ltd., Toronto, Ont.

CASTORIA.

The fac-simile signature of Chas. H. Fletcher is on every

BICYCLES,

We have an elegant range of Bicycles direct from the best makers.

COLUMBIA, STEARNS, HARTFORD, UTICA AND OHIO WHEELS.

A $65.00 Wheel for $50.00.

DROP IN AND LOOK AT THEM.

NO ONE CAN UNDERSELL US IN SHOES,

SEE THEM

HAINES & LOCKETT,

4 BIG SHOE STORES

NO CREDIT. ONE PRICE.

Sweet Caporal

CIGARETTES

10C. per Package

Standard of the World.

KINNEY BROS.,

NEW YORK.

New Spring Gent's Wear

Just opened out. New Scotch, English and Canadian Suitings and Pantings, in all the Latest Patterns. Black, Blue, Brown Worsteds for Overcoatings at Popular Prices.

Nice Suits Made to Order from $12.50 Upwards.

Please call before purchasing and inspect our stock

R. FORD. T. G. DAVIS.

A FAMILY CUSTOM.

An Engineer's Story.

CYCLDOM

ARTHUR V. Linton and Rivierre, who finished first and second respectively Paris to Bordeaux road race, furnished one of the most remarkable contests ever recorded in the history of bicycle sport. After a hard run across the country for 369 miles, which they accomplished in 21 hours 17 minutes and 18 seconds, they raced into the Seine track in Paris one minute apart, and finished there in a cracking spurt before a crowd that was nearly wild with excitement. Linton finished first, but he did not ride the last four miles over the proscribed course. He lost the way, but reached the Siene track first and claimed the race. Rivierre, who came a moment later, had not seen Linton ahead of him on the path, and therefore he, also, claimed the race. The jury recognized that Linton, having left the track, was subject to disqualification, but recognizing also the merits of his ride, decided to make two awards, one to Linton and one to Rivierre.

Arthur Linton is a Welshman and a brother of Tom Linton, who recently broke the hour record on the Seine track by crowding thirty miles and 214 yards into sixty minutes' riding. Rivierre is a French rder of great ability.

ARTHUR V. LINTON.

The Paris-Bordeaux race is the greatest bicycle road event in Europe. It is moment. Put in a teaspoonful of ammonia and stir well. Soak the garment in this liquid for fifteen minutes or half an hour, and then souse and knead with the hands so as to squeeze out the dirt, but not vigourously enough to impair the garment's shape. Turn inside out and repeat the process. Pour off the water, which now contains all the dirt that was in the garment, and rinse very thoroughly in several waters—cold water, of course—using the same motions as before. Lift the garment from the rinsing water and lay it over a line or wooden frame to drip dry. When dry turn right side out and the job is done. Observe the following cautions: If the garment is one you care anything about wash it yourself. It will take but a few moments, and you will be amply repaid for the trouble. Put the soap in the water, not in the garment. Use good soap and not a very great deal of it. Use cold water. Don't wring or squeeze or pull. Dry wrong side out. Don't dry in the sun or wind or by the fire. (A shed or basement with a tub to catch the water, is usually better than outdoors.) Don't leave where it is cold enough to freeze. Don't iron. In case the garment is extremely dirty, use more ammonia and soak longer. If there are grease spots, after oaking remove the spots with ammonia, benzine or some kind of cleansing compound and then proceed as before described. I have an all-wool, close fitting jersey shirt that has been washed in this manner by myself just forty times, by actual count.—From L. A. W. Bulletin.

TO FURNISH A KITCHEN.

A List of Articles Necessary For a Well-Furnished Kitchen.

"The trouble with many housekeepers," said Mrs. Lemcke, one of the chief culinary apostles in New York, "is that they expect their cooks to get them up Delmonico dinners and either give them utensils and no materials, or materials and no utensils, or they expect the same dinner and give the cooks neither. You cannot cook unless you have the proper things to cook with.

"People will spend $100 for folderols for their parlors and begrudge every cent spent on the kitchen. Then if they do get a supply of kitchen utensils, they expect them to last forever. You have to keep buying for the kitchen all the time. Things will wear out. Even human beings can't last forever.

"First in the list of things necessary for the kitchen I should mention a nest of saucepans, from the largest to the smallest, seven or eight of them with handles.

to Banish Wine From Her Table.

"I was brought up to have wine on the table," said aristocratic Mrs. Nevers, "and I have kept up the custom in my household. Boys will never fall into the habit of drinking too much if they always have wine and brandy as free as water."

Nevertheless, Mrs. Nevers oldest son, Robert, the pride and hope of the family, did fall into dissolute ways, to the extreme mortification of his lady mother. Yet, when a great temperance reformer came to the city and Robert became interested in the meetings, Mrs. Nevers said to her beautiful only daughter, Alice:

"I hardly know whether I would rather have Robert a drunkard or have him speak at one of those common meetings."

"It is very common indeed to get drunk, mother," said Alice. "A few days ago as I was walking down Main street I saw my brother Robert on Exchange corner turning a hand-organ while a drunken negro danced."

"Alice!"

"I did, mother, and I held up my head and walked on, saying to myself, this is the beautiful fruit of the aristocratic old family custom of having wine at table."

"Alice!"

"I know you are horrified, mother, so was I, but that was what I said. I have inherited much of the family pride, and it would be the proudest day of my life to see Brother Robert leading this reform that is stirring the whole city."

"And have his name in the Times as one of the pledge signers, I suppose?"

"Certainly, mother."

"And have him lead Gospel temperance mass-meetings, and sing, perhaps?"

"Why not? If he is converted to the Gospel of Christ I hope he may have the courage to live it and proclaim it. He has a fine address and a melodious voice; how could he put them to better account than to become a leader of men?"

"I do not know, child, but I suppose my pride must be humbled."

The next morning's papers chronicled the fact that handsome Robert Nevers, the most popular young society man in the city, had been converted at the meetings, had signed the pledge, and spoken at some length and very eloquently from the platform.

"I shall go to-night," cried Alice with animation. "Say, boys," to her brothers, "let us all go and lead the applause. I never was so happy in my life;" and as her brother Robert at that moment entered the breakfast room perfectly sober for the first time for months, she threw herself into his arms.

"May I go to-night, Rob, and hear you speak, and tie on ribbons?"

"Certainly, darling, if mother is willing. I hardly expected a follower in my own family," replied the young man, much touched at this exhibition of genuine feeling.

"Oh, I am willing for anything," replied the mother.

"And we are all inclined to follow our lion in pledge-taking," said the younger brothers.

Robert shook hands with them all around without a word, and, turning to his mother, said:

"Then, mother, dear, you are willing to have me remove my quarters from here to the new temperance hotel?"

"For what reason, my son?"

"Because I can no longer sit at table where there is wine."

"So I am to be vanquished, am I, with all my traditions?"

"Not at all, I simply announce that I am to leave."

"When it comes to choosing between my son and wine, of course there is but one thing to be said—the wine must go."

"What misery we all might have been saved had you said that years ago, mother."

So the family custom gave way to the reign of temperance. Robert is still a temperance worker, and dainty Alice and her younger brothers are his staunch advocates and supporters.

The aged mother in her new peace of mind says:

"The Lord was good, to save my family, as a brand plucked from the burning, in spite of my determination to keep up the proud old family custom."

Oh! So Tired. Many people are tired, worn out and weary in spring time, when they could easily be strong, vigorous and healthy by using Burdock Blood Bitters, which removes all morbid effete matter from the system and restores robust health.

That Pale Face. For Nervous Prostration and Anæmia there is no medicine that will so promptly and infallibly restore vigor and strength as Scott's Emulsion.

LIFE ON A RAILROAD CONDUCIVE TO DISEASE.

Mr. Wm. Taylor, of Kentville, Attacked With Kidney Trouble — So-Called Cures Proved Useless, But Dr. Williams' Pink Pills Restored His Health.

From the Kentville Advertiser.

There are very few employments more trying to the health than that of a railway engineer. The hours of labor are frequently long, meals irregular, and rest and sleep hurriedly snatched "between runs." One of the troubles which very frequently attacks railway trainmen is kidney disease, which up to a late period has been looked upon as a disease difficult, if not impossible, to totally cure. Although there exist numerous remedies claimed to be cures, the truth is that nothing had been found to successfully cope with this terrible disease until the advent of the now world-famed Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. Chancing to hear one day that Mr. Wm. Taylor, a resident of this town, had been cured of kidney trouble through the agency of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, a reporter called upon him at his home to hear from him personally what he thought of his cure. Mr. Taylor is an engineer on the Dominion Atlantic Railway, his run being between Halifax and Kentville, and he is one of the most popular drivers on the road. When asked by the reporter concerning his illness he said: "It was in the spring of 1896 that I had a severe attack of kidney trouble, brought on by continuous running on the road, and I suppose it is caused by the oscillation of the locomotive. It affected me but slightly at first, but gradually grew worse. I consulted a doctor and then tried two or three varieties of so called cures. Some helped me for a time, but after stopping the use of them I grew worse than ever. I had noticed numerous testimonials in the papers concerning Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, and reading of one cure that was almost indentical with my own I decided to give them a trial, and purchased four boxes at a cost of $2. But it was $2 well spent; for I was completely cured by the use of the pills, and have not been troubled with my kidneys since. I can therefore recommend them to others similarly afflicted.

The experience of years has proved that there is absolutely no disease due to a vitiated condition of the blood or shattered nerves, that Dr. Williams' Pink Pills will not promptly cure, and those who are suffering from such troubles would avoid much misery and save money by promptly resorting to this treatment. Get the genuine Pink Pills every time and do not be persuaded to take an imitation or some other remedy from a dealer, who for the sake of the extra profit to himself, may say is "just as good." Dr. Williams' Pink Pills cure when other medicines fail.

Bronchitis Cured. Miss Maggie Griffin, 37 Metcalf Street, Toronto, writes: "After having bronchitis and cold so badly that I could hardly speak, and could not find any remedy to relieve me, I decided to try Norway Pine Syrup. It made a complete cure, and I highly recommend it to all.

Paris Le Velo, and the entry list this year was the best ever secured. It included all the principal exponents of a shade over twenty-five miles was ridlong distance riding in Europe, among them Fischer, the German, Linton, Neason, Carlisle and Hunt from England, Rivierre, The, Bretonnet and others from France.

The start was from Bordeaux, thirty-two out of fifty-six entrants going out on the run. The speed was terrific from the start, as is proved by the fact that den in the first hour, and that the first 100 miles only occupied 4.49. Linton and Fischer, the German rider, who was the general favorite for the event, were then in front, but, shortly afterward Fischer was unfortunately brought down by a dog and had to give up. Linton went on, closely pursued by Rivierre, who, riding splendidly to time table, caught him and passed him at Tours, 325 miles, ridden in 10.40. At this point George Hunt, being ill, had to give up.

Rivierre seemed all over a winner. Linton was "fagged," but with a courage which was truly admirable, the Welsh rider came up again, passing Rivierre just four miles from home. Here he, or rather his pacemakers, made a mistake, and left the official road, while Rivierre kept to it. However, Linton came in at the Seine track, where the race finished, and, riding two laps as prescribed, dismounted. Rivierre finished one minute behind, and at once lodged a protest against the winner. The was third, and the Liverpool rider, Neason, who rode a splendid race, was fourth. The previous record, 24.12.15, was made last year by Gerger, who, however, finished seventh on this occasion.

The first eight riders finished in this order:

	H.	M.	S.
Linton, Eng'and	21	17	18
Rivierre, France	21	18	20
The, France	22	12	40
Neason, England	23	9	45
Cording, Holland	23	28	30
Carlsle, England	23	48	40
Gerger, Austria	23	58	50
Bretonnet, France	25	47	35

The race this year was the best ever run over the Paris-Bordeaux course from all points of view. The entry list was better, the race better contested, and the time is better than in any of the former events.

RIVIERRE.

To wash a sweater properly, fill a pail two-thirds or three-quarters full of cold water. In extremely cold weather the water may be tempered a little, but let it be cold and not warm. Take a cake of good laundry soap—any good soap that hasn't an excess of alkali will answer the purpose—and rub between the hands in the water for a

Milk pans our own make, cream pails, strainer pails, churns, butter bowls, ladles, at Boyle & Son's,

This Spring. Spring is at hand, winter is nearly over. Are you ready for summer? Is your blood pure? Burdock Blood Bitters purifies and enriches the blood, cures dyspepsia, bad blood, sick headache, etc. B. B. B. removes every trace of impurity from the Blood, from a common pimple to the worst scrofulous well, and a ham boiler also of iron. The iron is cheaper. There must be three frying pans—the iron are better than other kinds—large, medium, and small; two double boilers, a one and a two quart, or a pint and a quart, according to the size of the family. For bread pans I like the round ones which fold over. It takes a little longer to make the bread in them. If this kind is not used, there must be two brick pans. There must be six round pans for layer cake, I use those for fluted edges. The cake comes out of them without any difficulty, and I think they are prettier than those with plain edges.

"There must be two fluted forms with a tube in the centre for wine babas," she went on presently, "small tins for wine cake, timbal molds, one dozen; a set of cutters for cake, biscuit, and puff paste, round or fluted—I prefer the round. There must be a nest of vegetable cutters and two small paint brushes to brush different dishes over with butter.

"You will need one-half dozen small wooden spoons, and this is the proper kind." The spoon that Mrs. Lemcke exhibited had a bowl flat and rather square in shape, and from the shallowness of the bowl more like a paddle than a spoon. "These are excellent for beating cake. Infinitely superior to the regular spoons. I have mine made for me. They have had them in the stores, but there was no demand for them, and they have not been kept in stock. They must be of assorted sizes. There must be at least eight mixing bowls of stone ware; the yellow is as good as the white. There must be one or two jelly forms of tin, measuring cups—a quart, pint, one-half pint and gill, and a small tea scale, with weights from one-quarter to a pound.

"The preserving kettle can be of steel or of imported blueware. You will need one-half dozen shallow tin pans, 1 inch deep, 11 inches long, and 5 inches wide, for coffee cake, puff paste, cookies, etc., and two square pans for molasses cake. The frying kettle of iron can be bought with the sieve and all attached. The long covered fish kettle is provided with a drainer. Of knives and forks there must be half a dozen of each, a broiler, a toaster and a colander.

There must be one soup and one sauce strainer, a nutmeg grater, lemon squeezer, ladle for dipping soups, pudding forms with a tube in the centre of each, two pudding pans for rice and other puddings, two deep dishes for chicken pie, four pie plates, a large and small roasting pan, molding pan, and board and rolling pin, three wooden buckets for flour, powdered and granulated sugar, a chopping board and a chopping bowl and knife.

"A carving knife must be included and a large fish knife. The latter are used for many things, chopping, cutting up, etc. There must be half a dozen common plates, two cups and saucers, and other little utensils. There will be skimmers, half a dozen tablespoons, half a dozen teaspoons, a funned, medium-sized, of tin; an egg beater, little scalloped tin molds for cake, tin scoops for flour and sugar."

"The bread and cake box will be of tin. There must be spice boxes and a nest of boxes for rice, raisins, etc. The salt box should hang on the wall, and there must be a vinegar jug and a molasses jug. A meat grinder is very important for Hamburger steaks, and preparing forcemeats. An ice cream freezer that will hold two quarts will be valuable. I like an odorless ice chest.

"That will be a satisfactory outfit for a family of six persons."

LIFE'S A BURDEN.

If The Stomach is Not Right

Is there Nausea? Is there Constipation? Is the Tongue Coated? Are you light Headed? Do you have Sick Headaches?

Any and all of these denote Stomach and Liver Disorders.

Dr. Agnew's Liver Pills act quickly and will cure most stubborn and chronic cases. No unpleasantness. No griping. These little pills are little wonder workers and are far famed. 40 in a vial for 20 cents. Sold by A. W. Grange & Bro.

CASTORIA.

The fac-simile signature of Scott Turton is on every

Cheapside.

ON SATURDAY, 3rd APRIL

WE WILL HAVE OUR

MILLINERY OPENING;

and we cordially invite all the ladies and their friends to inspect the beautiful display of

London, Paris and New York Styles

IN HATS AND BONNETS.

Miss Sherin and her assistants will be on hand to take orders at the same time if you are so disposed.

All other departments will be found to be well assorted.

We do not quote prices, as it is far more satisfactory to inspect our goods, and as all goods are marked in plain figures and ONE PRICE ONLY we are confident that values can be had here that cannot be surpassed

GIVE US A TRIAL. NO TROUBLE TO SHOW GOODS.

TERMS, - CASH.

W. MOWAT.

B BURDOCK B BLOOD B BITTERS

Strong Points
ABOUT B. B. B.

1. Its Purity.
2. Its Thousands of Cures.
3. Its Economy. 1c. a dose.

B. B. B.

Regulates the Stomach, Liver and Bowels, unlocks the Secretions, Purifies the Blood and removes all the impurities from a common Pimple to the worst Scrofulous Sore, and

CURES

DYSPEPSIA, BILIOUSNESS, CONSTIPATION, HEADACHE, SALT RHEUM, SCROFULA, HEARTBURN, SOUR STOMACH, DIZZINESS, DROPSY, RHEUMATISM, SKIN DISEASES.

B B B

MILBURN'S HEART AND NERVE PILLS

FOR WEAK PEOPLE.

At all Druggists. Price 60 cents per Box, or 3 for $1.50. Sent by Mail on receipt of price. T. MILBURN & CO., Toronto.

LAXA-LIVER

What Folks Talk About.

A certain physician of this city who never neglects an opportunity to study the traits of the people among whom his business takes him, has been making some observations recently that may serve as a basis for estimating the character of the average modern American.

"I have to travel on street-cars a good deal," the physician said in explaining his course of procedure, "and I hear all kinds of people talk. A short time ago I thought I would keep a record of the words most frequently used within my hearing by people of all classes.

"I omit names, profanity and vulgarity, but otherwise this list, which represents one week's street car conversation, is absolutely correct. Here then is a summary of what married men talk about:

"Dollars mentioned within my hearing, 497 times; business, 95; money, 206; dollar, 194; stocks, 163; bonds, 152; job, 81; son, 63; daughter, 11; wife, 4; literature, 0; music, 0; art, 0.

"Married women: She, 409; party, 326; dress, 324; splendid, 316; dollars, 294; trimming, 187; cards, 151; prize, 151; society, 130; baby, 59; perfectly awful, 46; doctor, 43; medicine, 34; music, 6; literature, 0; art, 0.

Young men, unmarried: Corker, 502; daisy, 467; girl, 416; beaut, 391; fairy, 306; winner, 302; stunner, 284; hummer, 151; society, 130; baby, 2, 119; clothes, 84; weather, 62; rich, 60; lovely, 59; perfectly awful, 46; doctor; 43; medicine, 34; music, 6; literature, 0; art, 0.

"Young women, unmarried: Lovely, 509; just perfectly lovely, 491; horrid, 476; gorgeous, 463; fellow, 409; engaged, 387; dress, 371; stunning, 352; love, 295; party, 291; wear, 281; she, 206; opera, 108; ring, 31; mamma, 28; papa, 16; music, 9; mother, 1; picture, 1; poem, 1; art, 0.

"I intend," the doctor concluded, "to pursue this subject further, and may some day be able to give additional figures that will be interesting."—Cleveland Leader.

An Honest Soul.

"Mister, please gimme a dime."

"What—poor man—are you entirely out of pocket?"

"Naw—I've got dead loads of pocket, but I hain't got no cash."

A Fatal Error.

Manager—That was a great mistake you made, treating our audience as though they were a lot of horrible examples.

NIAGARA.

Some was despair, some grief divine,
Doth vigil keep
Forever here; before this shrine
The waters weep.

Methinks a God from some far sphere,
In sportive part,
In ages past wooed Nature here,
And broke her heart.

—ROBERT LOVEMAN.

NANNY.

BY ANNIE L. WATSON.

Beside a little gurgling creek two children sat at play.

The boy was lame. One foot was twisted and the leg was short. The back bore the burden so hard to bear, a hump. The face was thin and pale and wore a sad beseeching look, yet not a tinge of discontent lingered in those deep blue eyes.

The other child was one of nature's pets. Every curve was perfect. Eyes of laughing brown flashed and sparkled a dangerous rivalry with the shining waters of the brook. Her head was covered with clustering curls of reddish brown, and nothing else.

They had sat beside the stream since early morning playing with a most peculiar plaything—a diminutive mill. Wheels, saws and belts were perfect, the product of their own little hands.

"I will add a new saw to-morrow, Nanny. Then our mill will be complete."

"But, Ted, it is all nice now."

"Yes, nice, but not finished; besides what would we do if we did not whittle?"

"Quarrel," replied the saucy Nanny. "We wil lnever quarrel, will we, Nanny?" said Ted, looking lovingly into the mirthful eyes of his little friend.

"No, Ted," she answered, laying her hand on his head, while tender pity softened the mischievous face. "Never, you will always be my Ted."

Crash! A big stone fell crashing through the little mill, splintering its tiny wheels and saws, snapping the dainty belts of kid. The results of weeks of patient whittling, thoughtful ingenuity, lay at their feet a complete wreck.

"Well, Humphy, how do you like that? Come on and fight me now."

A painful flush dyed the pallid face of the lame boy as he encountered the insolent stare of the wretched bully.

"No! but I will!"

You can't go on losing flesh under ordinary conditions without the knowledge that something is wrong, either with digestion or nutrition. If the brain and nerves are not fed, they can't work. If the blood is not well supplied, it can't travel on its life journey through the body. Wasting is tearing down; Scott's Emulsion is building up. Its first action is to improve digestion, create an appetite and supply needed nutrition. Book free.

SCOTT & BOWNE, Belleville, Ont.

mill he had built for them. Ten years this one had taken and all was complete. All it lacked was Nanny's admiration.

"Nanny, would you mind if I took you to see the mill before the home? I love it so. I want to see your bonnie eyes light up with pleasure as you see how I have replaced the old one you and I whittled out and built."

Nanny's face flushed with pleasure.

"Ted, you are able to fight for yourself now. I would like best to see the mill first. It will soon rain and then we will go home."

They soon arrived at the mill with its piles of sweet-smelling pine lumber. As they approached the low, broad building, with its crashing, buzzing, whirring saws, mingled with the grinding, rumbling roar of the huge driving wheels, the water was turned off and the ponderous wheels sobbed themselves to sleep, as if they felt their usefulness diminished because they could not welcome their creator.

The men advanced in a body, and as Teddy and Nanny came under the roof there arose such a cheer that the wheels and saws grew envious. Their noise had been outnoised. Cheer after

CURE
BILIOUSNESS
CONSTIPATION
SICK HEADACHE
AND ALL LIVER TROUBLES

FARMERS ATTENTION.

Insure your property in the Lennox and Addington Mutual Fire Insurance Company.
Because it is a Home Company.
Because it is a Safe Company.
Because it is the cheapest and best.
Because it affords the most liberal policies to patrons.
Because it insures only (isolated) non-hazardous risks, as farm property, county churches halls and school houses.
Because it is the Farmer's Company managed by Farmers in the interest of farmers of the Counties of Lennox and Addington, Hastings Frontenac, Lanark and Leeds.
Officers—J. B. Aylesworth President; B. C. Lloyd Vice-President. Directors—A. C. Parks, C. C. Sills, W. R. Gordanier, I. F. Aylesworth. Honorary Directors—Jas. Ried, M.P.P., A. V. Price Camden; C. R. Allison, Wm. Chesters, Fredericksburgh; D. W. Allison ex-M.P. Adolphustown; F. B. Guess, Col. Geo. Hunter Kingston; Allan Pringle, Ira. B. Hudgins, Richmond. The board meets at the Secretarie's office in the first Saturday of every month at one p.m.

J. N. McKim, Napanee.
N. A. Caton, Napanee } Agents
Thos. B. Wilson, Newburgh
M. C. BOGART Sec'y.-Treas

by saying you were glad to see such a full attendance.—New York Evening Journal.

To Cure
RHEUMATISM
TAKE
Bristol's
SARSAPARILLA
IT IS PROMPT
RELIABLE
AND NEVER FAILS.
IT WILL MAKE
YOU WELL
Ask your Druggist or Dealer for it.
BRISTOL'S SARSAPARILLA.

Bay of Quinte Railway and Navigation Company

GENERAL PASSENGER TIME TABLE,

Eastern Standard Time. No. 13 Taking effect Dec. 2nd, 1895

Tweed and Tamworth to Napanee and Deseronto.

	Stations	Miles	No.2 A.M.	No.4 P.M.	No.6 P.M.
ave	Tweed		6 50	....	3 00
	Stoco	3	6 58	....	3 10
	Larkins	7	7 10	....	3 25
	Marlbank	13	7 25	....	3 40
	Erinsville	17	7 40	....	3 55
	Tamworth	20	7 50	2 00	4 10
	Wilson*	24	....	....	....
	Enterprise	26	8 10	2 20	4 30
	Mudlake Bridge*	28	....	....	....
	Moscow	31	8 22	2 35	4 43
	Galbraith*	33	....	....	....
arr	Yarker	35	8 35	....	4 55
ave	Yarker	35	9 00	2 50	5 10
	Camden East	39	9 13	3 02	5 23
	Thomson's Mills	40	9 18	....	....
	Newburgh	41	9 23	3 15	5 30
	Napanee Mills	43	9 33	3 25	5 40
arr	Napanee	49	9 50	3 40	5 55
ave	Napanee		....	....	6 15
	Deseronto Junction	54	....	....	6 30
arr	Deseronto	58	....	....	6 45

Deseronto and Napanee to Tamworth and Tweed.

Stations.	Miles	No.1. A.M.	No.3. P.M.	No.5 P.M.
Lve Deseronto	0	6 50	....	....
Deseronto Junction	4	7 10	....	....
Arr Napanee	9	7 25	....	....
Lve Napanee	9	7 45	12 00	4 20
Napanee Mills	15	8 00	12 15	4 35
Newburgh	17	8 10	12 23	4 42
Thomson's Mills*	18	8 20	....	....
Camden East	19	8 33	12 30	4 50
Arr Yarker	23	8 43	....	5 00
Lve Yarker	23	9 00	12 45	5 15
Galbraith*	25	....	....	....
Moscow	27	9 15	1 00	5 27
Mudlake Bridge*	30	....	....	....
Enterprise	32	9 30	1 15	5 40
Wilson*	34	....	....	....
Tamworth	38	9 50	1 35	5 58
Erinsville	41	10 00	....	6 10
Marlbank	45	10 15	....	6 23
Larkins	51	10 30	....	6 40
Stoco	55	10 50	....	6 50
Arr Tweed	58	11 00	....	7 03

Kingston and Sydenham to Napanee and Deseronto.

Stations.	Miles	No.2. A.M.	No.4. P.M.	No.6. P.M.
ave Kingston	0	....	....	3 30
G. T. R. Junction	2	....	....	3 40
Glenvale*	10	....	....	4 00
Murvale*		....	....	4 15
rr Harrowsmith	19	....	....	4 30
ve Sydenham	23	8 00	....	....
Harrowsmith	19	8 20	....	4 30
Frontenac*	22	8 32	....	4 40
rr Yarker	26	8 40	....	4 50
ve Yarker	26	9 00	2 50	5 10
Camden East	30	9 13	3 02	5 23
Thomson's Mills*	31	9 18	....	....
Newburgh	32	9 23	3 15	5 30
Napanee Mills	34	9 33	3 25	5 40
rr Napanee	40	9 50	3 40	5 55
ve Napanee, West End	40	....	....	6 15
Deseronto Junction	45	....	....	6 30
rr Deseronto	49	....	....	6 45

Deseronto and Napanee to Sydenham and Kingston.

Stations	Miles.	No.1 A.M.	No.3, P.M.	No.5 P.M
Lve Deseronto	0	6 50	....	....
Deseronto Junction	4	7 10	....	....
Arr Napanee	9	7 25	....	....
Lve Napanee	9	7 45	12 00	4 20
Napanee Mills	15	8 00	12 15	4 35
Newburg	17	8 10	12 23	4 42
Thomson's Mills*	18	8 15	....	....
Camden East	19	8 20	12 30	4 50
Arr Yarker	23	8 33	12 45	5 00
Lve Yarker	23	8 50	....	5 20
Frontenac*	27	9 00	....	5 27
Arr Harrowsmith	30	9 05	....	5 40
Sydenham	34	....	....	6 55
Lve Harrowsmith	30	9 05	....	....
Murvale*	35	9 20	....	....
Glenvale*	39	9 30	....	....
G. T. R. Junction	47	9 55	....	....
Arr Kingston	49	10 00	....	....

R. G. CARTER, G. A. BROWNE, H. B. SHERWOOD

but back. Soon he lay on the grass kicking and creaming with pain, for Nanny had sat down upon him and was showering blows quick and fast on face and ears of the now thoroughly vanquished foe.

"Now, will you call my Ted 'Humphy?' Will you? Will you? You coward! There, you can go now, and when you are ready for another whipping I'll be here."

Seating herself by Ted, she laughingly said: "Didn't I do it well?"

"Yes, dear. But don't fight for me. I am scarcely worth it."

Time passed on. These two, so queerly drawn together, continued their whittling. As they grew older they fashioned chairs and stools, and all the pretty things were kept in order by Nanny in their small workshop in the rear of their own small homes.

Nanny and Ted were neighbors. They were now advancing in years; he was 17, she 16. Both must soon choose the weapon they thought best to fight with for their living.

As yet they both were children.

"Nanny, I cannot work to-day; come down by the brook for a talk. Come, dear, do."

Walking slowly, she unconsciously tendered her never failing support to the poor weary companion of her whole childhood.

As they neared the brook, they met a stranger to their little village. As he passed, Nanny looked up and met the earnest, steadfast gaze of eyes deeply brown as her own. Her breath came fast, while over the dusky face of the stranger there passed a look of reverent admiration.

"Nanny, you tremble, dear. Are you cold?"

"No! Cold this lovely day; you think things, Teddy. I don't think I ever trembled in my life—only the day I licked Percy Grey; but that was with anger. Do you remember the little villain?"

They were now seated where their little mill had been destroyed. An ominous silence sealed both their lips. The brook laughed and flirted as gaily as ever. The leaves above whispered in low murmuring sounds. Why was Nanny silent?

"Teddy, who was that man with the eyes so dark?"

Her voice had caught the murmuring sweetness of the love whispering leaves. Her eyes had left their saucy dance to don the misty garb that love so dearly loves. Ted turned, and, looking in her face, knew the change.

'Twas Ted's turn to tremble. The poor, weak, crooked body quivered as cruel Cupid's arrow killed the boy to make the man. With a low moan of anguish, he threw himself on the ground, burying his head in Nanny's lap.

"Nanny, Nanny!" O, my Nanny! I am so crooked. I never know till now how hideous I am, Nanny!"

The last "Nanny" was the wail of a desolate soul.

Two little hands rested on the bowed head.

"Teddy, I love you," she whispered low.

Her little hands stroked gently the bowed head.

"Don't, Teddy, dear. Don't moan so; you are not crooked or hideous to me. We love each other now. Look up!"

Slipping her hand under his head, she turned the sorrowing face upward. Bending down she pressed her lips to his.

"I will wait for you dear. When you have a home for me I will be ready."

* * * * *

Eyes deeply, darkly brown looked into Nanny's, while a voice full and firm, lowered with the tremulousness of love, told all the love and passion that throbbed with his every pulse.

"Nanny, do you love me? Will you be my wife, little one?"

Nanny raised her eyes and looked calmly into those of him she knew she loved as woman loves but once. Joy, sweetly painful, shook her whole being as she answered low and soft:

"I am waiting for Teddy."

* * * * *

"I have come for you, Nanny."

"I am waiting for you, Ted, dear."

"I have the home all ready; but, my darling, are you quite sure you love me yet? Have none straighter and stronger sought your love and won it?"

"I have waited ten years for you, Teddy. I love you dearly. We will be so happy in our little home."

She again bent her head and pressed her lips to his.

A flush of glad thankfulness covered his pale, delicate features. Taking her hand in his, they talked long of all the days gone by, when she had fought his battles.

They were married quietly one bright morning and as they journeyed toward their new home, he told her of the new hand and signed silence.

"All to your places; my wife would see the mill!"

Soon the whirring, spinning saws and roaring wheels and clanking chains were shouting their welcome to Nanny with a greater fervor for their temperary restaint.

She inspected every machine that her Teddy had built and without aid.

"Oh, Teddy, I am so proud of you, my dear. Your mill is perfect."

"Nanny, say 'our mill.' Your tender, loving words by the brook, your gentle 'I love you, Teddy,' gave me the strength to build. Now we will go home; it is getting late." When they reached the road they paused to take one general view of the whole.

Crash, crash! A blinding flash of lightning lit the whole mill. Nanny saw every saw turn to fire. Then a splintering of the huge supporting posts, a rushing crowd of men as they fled from the mill. Soon the flames were seen creeping up around the gang saws. They spread with terrible rapidity among the oil-soaked flooring and stays.

Nanny stood terrified, watching the destruction.

"The boss! the boss!" shouted the men.

Nanny turned to see Teddy lying on the road beside her, dead.

Poor Teddy had been spared the sight of the destruction of his second mill.

Nanny again bent over Teddy's prostrate head. This time she whispered: "I was true to you, Teddy; I have been yours through life."

Rough hands lifted their light burden gently, as a woman her babe, and carried him to the beautiful home he had made for his Nanny.

He was laid to rest followed only by the men of his mill and Nanny.

* * * * *

Again brown eyes looked into Nanny's with a world of yearning. This time hers drooped heavy with their weight of love. The leaves above ceased their love songs to listen to Nanny's.

"I have waited for you, little one—twenty years. You were seventeen when you told me you were waiting for Teddy. Can you love me now?"

One of Nanny's old-time smiles tripped lightly over her dear face as she answered:

"Fall in love at thirty-seven? See my hair—white with the brown."

Coming near to view the white in the little bowed head, he raised her face to his. Looking earnestly into the clear depths of her eyes, he knew she had always loved him. Stooping he received from Nanny her first kiss of love.

Overhead the leaves clapped softly their little hands.

"Well, Mr. Softley, did you revenge yourself on Algy since that quarrel you had with him?"

"Yes, indeed. I ordered my man to be wude to his man when he meets him."—London Punch.

Back-Ache, Face-Ache, Sciatic Pains, Neuralgic Pains, Pain in the Side, etc.
Promptly Relieved and Cured by
The "D. & L." Menthol Plaster
Having used your D. & L. Menthol Plaster for severe pain in the back and lumbago, I unhesitatingly recommend same as a safe, sure and rapid remedy; in fact, they act like magic.—A. LAPOINTE, Elizabethtown, Ont.
Price 25c.
DAVIS & LAWRENCE CO., LTD.
Proprietors, MONTREAL.

BATHS AND BATHING.

THE USE OF COLD WATER WILL DRIVE AWAY MANY ILLS.

Water is Not Injurious to the Skin—The Society Woman's Failings—Country Boys Did Not Have Towels—Use of Cold and Hot Baths.

"The subject of baths and bathing is one which has excited more pros and cons than almost any other relating to general health, said Mrs. Etta Morse Hudders in opening her lecture upon baths and bathing in the Brooklyn Institute. "In most subjects different authorities agree on vital points, but not in this. Dame Nature makes no mistakes, and when she provided so much water she intended it to be used, but there is no one subject so much misunderstood.

"There is no more popular failing than the idea that water is injurious to the skin. Properly used no more efficient and beneficial agent can be found. I will admit that improper use has injured the skin. I heard a prominent physical culturist say some years ago that if she had her way she would take every bath tub from the houses. I should say instead of that put another bath tub in and have two. Warm water should always be followed by cold in the bath, and if we could have a bath tub for hot and one for cold water it would simplify matters. The higher our civilization becomes and the more luxuriant our living the more we are in need of water.

"The society woman puts herself in opposition to nature, and there is no way by which she can retain her physical equilibrium better than by means of bathing. We know that a man who has been dissipated finds the Turkish bath one of the most effective means of recovering from the effects of his dissipation. All kinds of baths are taken to-day to preserve the health of the body. If we should consider all the baths used for medicinal purposes it would take us two or three lessons.

"Hot and cold water is available for all, and hot and cold baths can be taken by every one. The hot bath has been much abused. It is taken more than the cold probable because we are lazy and it is easy to take. We are indolent concerning measures for health and preventive treatment. We will take any amount of pains for our pleasure or for anything we wish in other directions, but when the care of our health is concerned we are negligent.

"Both men and women look upon cold water as very satisfactory for the hands and face, but the thought of using it for the whole body seems to send cold shivers down the spine. I never shock people so much as when I say they should take a daily cold bath.

"We should begin early with the cold bath and accustom our children to it. It is well to begin with them in the summer. Teach them to swim and they will enjoy it so much that they will not object to the bath at home later.

"Hot water for the bath should always be followed by cold. Take the subject of linen, and we will see the analogy. Do we every think of the reason we rinse our clothes in cold water. The hot water first softens and liberates the impurities and the cold water carries them off.

"There are four benefits we receive from the bath: First—It dissolves and frees the impurities of body and blood, second, it eliminates the waste matter; third, it improves circulation, and, fourth, it energizes the body, strengthens the resistance and increases vitality. Living in overheated houses, improperly clothed and improperly fed, our muscles become soft and we do not have proper resistance. Most disease comes to us from this lack of resistance.

"I remember, some time ago, before I had studied these subjects as I have now, I was staying in the country, and my boy, who had been out playing, came in and said that he had been in bathing with the boys, 'What did you do for towels?' I asked. 'Oh, we did not have any towels,' he answered; 'we put on our clothes and didn't need them.'

"I was frightened, and made him undress so that I could dry him properly. But I found him warm and dry and his skin in a normal condition. The hardy little country boys were in the habit of going into the water every day in that way, and sometimes more than once, and they never took cold.

There is no prettier sight in the world than that of a healthy, happy mother at play with her robust and rollicking baby. It is a sight entirely too infrequent. Too often the baby is puny and peevish and the mother sickly, fretful, and nervous. The woman who neglects to take proper care of herself and who therefore suffers from weakness and disease of the organs of womanhood cannot be healthy and amiable. Her children will be puny and ailing and happiness will pass by on the other side. There is no reason why every woman should not be the healthy, happy mother of robust and playful children if she will take the proper care of herself. Proper care means, first of all, proper medicine for her ailments.

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription will make any woman strong and well in a womanly way. It cures all weakness and disease of the distinctly feminine organism. It prepares a woman for motherhood. It insures the health of the baby. It makes parturition easy and nearly painless. Over 90,000 women have testified to its virtues, in writing. Druggists sell it and have no substitute "just as good." The druggist who tries to force something else upon you is not an honest man. He is trifling with your life and happiness for the sake of a greater profit to himself.

Mrs. F. E. Forgey, of Carns, Keyapaha, Co., Neb., writes: "I write to you again concerning my daughter, Mrs. D. Billings. She has taken two bottles of 'Favorite Prescription' and two of 'Golden Medical Discovery.' She thinks the medicines did her a world of good. She was confined the 15th of February. Was sick about three hours, and now has a ten pound daughter. She got along nicely afterward. She says she never felt so well. She looks well and her complexion is clear."

The modern business world won't stand still or loiter to wait for the man who suffers from headaches, biliousness and dyspepsia caused by constipation. Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets cure constipation. Of druggists.

POWERS OF PLANTS.

EVIDENCES SHOWING THAT THEY THINK FOR THEMSELVES.

From Fern Spores and Pot Mould to Mangroves and Mistletoe, the Marvellous Powers of Life Choice Are Shown—How It Manifests.

Plants, just as much as animals, are irritable beings, and like animals they may show irritability to varying degrees. Thus some plants may be described as mildly irritable. Every plant has to look after its feeding. Green plants, furthermore, have to seek for a very important part of their food in the air, and this they take up under the influence of light, so that it is not surprising to find the influence of environment, making itself felt on every plant, and causing the plant in one way or another to react to its surroundings. It is the particular response to stimuli which we may call irritability. A plant is irritable because it is able to respond.

Higher plants no less than lower are irritable. The shoots of a tree responding to the influence of light, place the leaves in the most advantageous position for the work they have to perform, and the roots, in obedience to the stimulus exerted by gravitation, grow downward into the earth. Tendrils are modified leaves or branches which have become irritable to contact.

A little plant, the ivy-leaved toadflax, found covering limestone walls, affords an interesting instance of irritability. When in blossom, the long flower stalks of the plant turn outward and carry the flowers from underneath the leaves, in order that they may secure the visits of insects, which are necessary for their fertilization. The stalk of the seed vessel is, fortunately for the welfare of the plant, an irritable structure. When flowering is over it no longer seeks the place which is most strongly lighted, but carries the ripening fruit behind the leaves into a little cranny in the wall. Here the seed vessel bursts and discharges its contents, not among coarser weeds, where its growth would be inevitably checked, but upon the soil which has collected in the cranny. Young seedlings soon make their appearance, and, as a result of the flourishing start in life, the ivy-leaved toad-flax is usually the downward direction is due to gravity. The tap root is stimulated by gravitation in such a way that it grows vertically downward, while lateral roots under the action of the same stimulus grow in a very much more oblique direction. If now the plant be tilted, the growing end of the tap root turns vertically downward, while the lateral roots curve in such a manner as to restore what may be called their normal direction. If by any mischance the tap root gets broken off or destroyed, the want is supplied by neighboring lateral roots, which now behave toward gravitation as did the tap root, and change their sloping direction for the vertical. Another instance of gravity causing a member to grow in a definite direction, making an angle with the vertical, is afforded by the daffodil. The daffodil always hangs its head. This depends not on the weight of the flower, but on the stimulus of gravity, for no matter how the stalk may be placed the flower always makes an angle with reference to the direction of gravitation.

When a part of a plant responds to an external stimulus the whole plant need not necessarily know in which direction the stimulus tends. In the case of roots a certain part is increasing in length, and this is the portion in which curvature takes place under the action of the stimulus of gravitation. But this is not the part which knows which way gravity is pulling. Near the tip of the root, just behind the root-cap, is a very small patch of tissue which perceives the stimulus. Cut off the tip of the root, and with it this little patch of irritable tissue, and invert the plant, and the root, which is thus placed uppermost, grows vertically into the air. A very interesting experiment in illustration of this fact, and one easily tried is as follows: Take a thin glass tube shaped like a boot, the toe being rather short and more than two millimetres long. Allow the root of a seedling to grow into this, fixing the plant at the open end of the tube. The root grows vertically down the tube, and when it reaches the toe it turns horizontally along it. The tissue at the tip of the root sends a message up the plant that there is something preventing it from responding to the stimulus of gravity and growing vertically downward, and this is necessitating its horizontal growth. In response to this message the elongating portion curves at right angles in the hope of thus getting the tip of the root round the opposing structure. But it is unconscious that a trick is being played upon it, that the root is fixed in the glass tube unable to move forward, and that the curvature, instead of pushing the root horizontally forward, acts upon the shoot, pushing this horizontally in the opposite direction.

The berries of some foreign species of mistletoe show a remarkable behavior in their endeavors to penetrate the trunk of a tree. The sticky berrie fastens itself to a branch and sends out a root, which, curving over, meets the branch again and forms a saddle-like mass of tissue. It attempts at this point to pierce the bark. If unable to do so the berrie is deposited a little further on. The saddle now becomes detached, and, by another bending of the root, is placed once more on the branch beyond the berrie. If the roots can penetrate in the new station all goes well, but if not the plant performs another somersault. One berrie that was made the object of continued observation performed five jumps in two nights and three days. A number of unfortunate berries were once seen hopelessly traveling along the telegraph wires in Ceylon, vainly endeavoring to find a profitabe resting place. The sensitive plant and the Venus fly trap furnish two examples among many others of restlessly irritable plants which react violently to the stimulus of contact. It is a curious and little-known fact that the Venus fly trap only responds to the stimulus when one of the hairs on the centre of the "trap" is touched twice. No effect is observed after the first touch.

The wonderful purposefulness of these habits and mechanicisms forever dispel the idea that botany treats of inert, objectless plants. It is instead a science of life and living things, each one of which is endowed with marvellous and different powers of making the best of life in the sphere in which it finds itself.—Pharmaceutical Journal.

Old-Time Keelhauling.

Keelhauling was a method of naval discipline particularly in vogue with the Dutch navy, for, as Van Tromp swept the channel with a broom at his masthead, his countrymen sometimes used human sweepers under their keels. In large square rigged vessels the victim was lashed to a spar and had iron weights secured to his feet, spans were secured to this spar, and lines were led from it to the mainyard

Can't Eat

This is the complaint of thousands at this season. They have no appetite; food does not relish. They need the toning up of the stomach and digestive organs, which a course of Hood's Sarsaparilla will give them. It also purifies and enriches the blood, cures that distress after eating, and internal misery only a dyspeptic can know, creates an appetite, overcomes that tired feeling and builds up and sustains the whole physical system. It so promptly and efficiently relieves dyspeptic symptoms and cures nervous headaches, that it seems to have almost "a magic touch."

Hood's Sarsaparilla

Is the best—in fact the One True Blood Purifier

Hood's Pills are the best after-dinner pills, aid digestion. 25c

POULTRY FOR FARMERS.

An Enthusiast Gives Some Practical Pointers of Great Value

First, I would like to ask the question: How much does it cost to arrange suitable buildings and stables for ten cows; how much will it cost to stock them with ten good cows; what does it cost to feed ten cows one year; how much time will it require to properly care for them, and what are the average net receipts for one year? The poultry business is such a little business, that I do not know but what I may go into the milk business. Now, the oldest and best poultrymen we have in the United States have told us time and again, that hens, properly managed (same care and attention you give your cows), will lay from 150 to 175 eggs in a year. Likely the few barnyard hens that you now have, without any care at all, only what time your good wife gets to attend to their wants, but she must first get your meals "right on tick," because you are running a milk farm, and the cows must be milked at just such a time, and the hens don't amount to very much, anyhow? We will take the average number of eggs that a hen will lay in a year, at an average price of 20 cents per dozen, which would amount to $2.50 to $2.90 per hen per year (always sell your old hens just before they molt and you will add 50 cents more to the income), making $3 to $3.40. Now deduct $1.25, the average market value of the food she will eat in one year, and you can see for a "little business" you have made a profit of $1.75 to $2.15 on one hen for one year. I know, Mr. Farmer, that you are now going to ask me how I can get an average price of 20 cents per dozen for the year, and I am going to tell you just how to do it, and if it does not average you more than I have figured, I'll "buy the hat."

STANDARD BUFF LEGHORN HEN.
—Reliable Poultry Journal.

taking a bath. Some women say they awaken with cold feet. It is necessary to be warm before taking the bath, but by that I do not mean to put your feet up to a radiator or stove to warm them. I have taken a bath when I have been at a hotel in a small place, where I had to break the ice in the pitcher before I took my bath, but I was entirely warm when I had finished.

"The best plan for any one who is not accustomed to taking a cold bath is to begin with the water tepid. It is well to bathe half the body at first, and the rest later in the day, but never one hour before meals or two hours afterward. The food is digesting after meals, and it is easy to understand why we should not bathe before meals, if we give the matter thought. The object of bathing is to bring the blood to the surface. If we bring the blood to the surface we take it from the stomach, where we need it for digestion. Mrs. Lemcke, who lectured upon food here recently, says that nothing that she can do will bring on an attack of indigestion so soon as to take a bath just before eating, and she is a strong and healthy woman.

"The disadvantage of our mode of living is that we have not much animal heat. The cold bath generates heat. We can resist the cold better after it, and we can wear less clothing. We, most of us, wear too much. Occasionally I find families who for several generations have been accustomed to the use of cold water. They are healthy and rosy and active.

"The hot bath is good for two things. It loosens and clears the impurities from the skin, which, if not removed, would be carried back into the system. The constant relaxation of the skin by frequent hot baths where people are delicate and anaemic is very bad. The bath should always be followed by cold water, which closes the pores of the skin. A skin of fine texture, if constantly accustomed to warm water has the pores opened, and they finally become permanently open.

"A hot bath should be taken at a temperature of from 90 to 95 degrees and the temperature should be decided by a thermometer placed in the water. The hand will not do, and it will not do to dash the thermometer in and remove it immediately.

"Babies and old people may take a bath at from 95 to 100 degrees, but baby should be accustomed to a cold bath early and he soon learns to enjoy it. In some cases where the circulation is bad a bath at 112 degrees may be taken where it is not convenient to take a Turkish bath. I should not advise those as often as some people take them without the advice of a physician.

"Never take a bath when the body is chilled. We hear a great deal about taking a bath when the body is overheated, but it is not so bad as to take a bath when the body is cold. If you are a little heated, it is a favorable time for taking a cold bath. The pores are open, but you must be careful to avoid getting in a draught, as you take it.

"The morning is the best time to take the daily bath, because at that time the body is rested, and we should be in the best physical condition. Hot water drinking an hour before meals should be always after the cold bath, not before. If you are not up in time do not give up the bath on any account, but take the hot water at night before going to bed.

"A salt-water bath is very good when coming in from a ride on the wheel. If not overtired, take this bath immediately. If tired, remove the clothes, put on a flannel gown, and rest first. When there are not two tubs in a bath-room and there seldom are, it is easy to obtain the cold water after the hot bath by reducing the temperature of the water in the tub, which can be quickly done. A spray can be attached to the faucet and used to advantage, and some people prefer to apply the cold water while standing in the warm water and using the cold water on the feet later.

"These directions are all general. They may not all of them agree with each individual. We must all take only what suits ourselves. If there is one thing that does not agree with you, it is not necessarily bad, but it is bad for you, and you must not attempt it."

Scab in Sheep.

It is claimed that the scab in sheep has been completely wiped out in Australia by persistent use of hot baths of sulphur and tobacco, followed by one of sulphur and quicklime, at a temperature of 110 degrees. Whatever the apparent condition of an imported sheep, it must go into the bath. There is no more scab, but it has been eradi-is found at all. Here we have a stalk, responding to the stimulus of light, and a reversal of the influence at different periods of development enabling the plant to accommodate itself to its environment.

All plants only succeed so long as their irritability leads them to adapt themselves to their surroundings. The more lowy organized, by reason of their simpler structure, show greater versatility in this respect than their more complex relatives. It is easy to understand how a mass of protoplasm can more readily adapt itself to varying conditions than a higher plant with its extensive differentiation of tissue.

Bacteria are especially sensitive from this point of view. They can distinguish with very great nicety between the relative suitability of two nutrient solutions. Many of them are capable of perfectly astounding discrimination in this respect. In the same way the white blood corpuscles are attracted by certain foreign—often pathogenic—substances to the spot of the intrusion of bacteria into the blood. Here it is the business of the white corpuscles, if possible, to destroy the bacteria. This attraction shown by many organisms toward chemical substances is known as chemiotaxis.

The spores of ferns and mosses afford a remarkable illustration. The male cells are discharged by the plant and may be seen swimming in all directions in water, when suddenly they will make a dash in the direction of the female organ. This sudden rush is a chemiotactic phenomenon. In the case of ferns malic acid, and in the case of mosses a sugar, is the substance secreted by the female organ, causing the surprising activity of the little swimming antherozoids. Wonderfully dilute solutions are careful of causing the stimulus. Supposing the strength of the solution be gradually increased, the limit is shortly reached, beyond which the solution acts as a repellent instead of an attractive stimulus, causing the plants to swim away as far as they can. If, however, the plants be compelled to live in a strong solution, they will in time get acclimatized and will swim vigorously toward a solution of the attracting salt, although it may very much exceed the normal maximum of attracting strength.

The following is an example of chemiotaxis which a plant has discovered to secure its own ends. Isaria is a fungus which infests silkworms and other caterpillars. Melanospora is another fungus parasitic upon isaria, an extremely intelligent parasite, and unless it happens to meet with a filament of isaria it entirely misses its vocation. Now melanospora apparently secretes some substance which exercises considerable attraction for isaria filaments, for they seek out the apparently harmless spores of melanospora and grow freely over them. When the spore is surrounded by isaria filaments it puts out its germ tube and proceeds to feed upon its host.

Not so obviously intelligent, although it is in reality, is the life of the green plants. The fact that the branches of a tree grow upward into the air and light, while the roots grow downward into the soil, shows that the different parts are endowed with especial irritability. Green plants also possess the power of adapting themselves to circumstances. A potato, when grown in the cellar, in the attempt to get its leaves into the light puts out very much elongated shoots bearing small leaves, for in the darkness leaves are unable to perform the important functions of taking food from the air. This behavior of the potato plant is, then, a direct attempt to overcome disadvantageous conditions by putting all the strength into the work of elongating its stem, if haply it may bring its leaves to the light.

Roots show remarkable intelligence in the way in which they move through the ground. It is necessary for the proper performance of its duties that the root be supplied with oxygen. It has no difficulty in obtaining this oxygen from a healthy soil. In the tropical mangrove swamps the soil consists of a mass of decayed vegetation, where very little oxygen is found among the putrefying substance. The mangrove accordingly adapts itself to circumstances. Its roots begin by growing horizontally in the normal way, but if not aerated they proceed to take a turn upward, grow along in the air for a short distance above the ground, and then go down again. A root may repeat this process at intervals. In the aerial parts is found a permeable tissue which allows of the free circulation of air between the cells.

The entire behavior of roots is influenced by gravitation. If the influence of gravitation in a particular direction be done away with, as by causing a growing seedling to rotate and to receive the gravitation stimulus in all directions by turns the root will grow swayed up to the mainyard, dropped into the sea, and hauled under the ship to the other side. Here is the way Marryat describes its operation in that small cutter where Smallbones suffered and Snarleyow was thought to be a dog fiend:

"This ingenious process," he writes, "is nothing more or less than sending a poor navigator on a voyage of discovery under the bottom of the vessel, lowering him down over the bows, and with ropes retaining him exactly in his position under the keelson, while he is drawn aft by a hauling line until he makes his appearance at the rudder chains, generally speaking quite out of breath, not at the rapidity of his motion, but because when so long under the water he had expended all the breath in his body and induced to take salt water in lieu. * * * In the days of keelhauling the bottoms of vessels were not coppered, and in consequence were all studded with a species of shellfish, called barnacles, which attached themselves; and, as these shells were all open mouthed and with sharp cutting points, those who underwent this punishment (for they were made to hug the keelson of the vessel by the ropes at each side fastened to their arms) were cut and scarred all over the body, as if with so many lancets, generally coming up bleeding in every part. But this was considered rather advantageous than otherwise, as the loss of blood restored the patient if he were not quite drowned, and the consequence was that one out of three. It is said have been known to recover after their submarine excursion."

No words can add to this weird description of a very old and hearty sea way of murdering. All the officers of junior and middle rank, and all the men, whether volunteered, shanghaied or pressed, were underpaid and rob bed.—Harper's Weekly.

* * *

"Great Scott! Eph, what's the number of your boots?"

"Two, sah; one foh each foot, sah."

A Thrilling Sight.

Bridget—"Yez oughter bin wid me down to thot china store; I seed a most lovely sight."

Nora—"What was it?"

Bridget—"Why, wan of th' clerks dropped about two dozen plates an' smashed thim all t' bits. It just made me wish Oi was a man an' worruked in a china store!"—Puck.

Any Woman

No. 3

If she is content to endure her pains and weakness without attempting to get relief, can get along without MILES' (Can.) VEGETABLE COMPOUND. But if she WANTS to be well, WANTS to be strong, WANTS to walk and work with ease and comfort, she will use

MILES' (Can. VEGETABLE COMPOUND

If she can't get it at her Druggist's, she will enclose 75c. to

The "A.M.C." MEDICINE CO., Ltd.

578 St. Paul St., Montreal, and get a large bottle.

If wise she will lose no time in doing it.

Explanatory pamphlet, "Woman's Triumph," mailed free on application.

PYNY-PECTORAL

Positively Cures

COUGHS and COLDS

in a surprisingly short time. It's a scientific certainty, tried and true, soothing and healing in its effects.

W. C. McCOMBER & SON, Bouchette, Que., report in a letter that Pyny-Pectoral cured Mrs. C. Garceau of chronic cold in chest and bronchial tubes, and also cured W. G. McComber of a long-standing cold.

MR. J. H. HUTTY, Chemist, 528 Yonge St., Toronto, writes: "As a general cough and lung syrup Pyny-Pectoral is a most invaluable preparation. It has given the utmost satisfaction to all who have tried it, many having spoken to me of the benefits derived from its use in their families. It is suitable for old or young, being pleasant to the taste. Its sale with me has been wonderful, and I can always recommend it as a safe and reliable cough medicine.

Large Bottle, 25 Cts.

DAVIS & LAWRENCE CO., Ltd.
Sole Proprietors
MONTREAL

for the ones with wire holders, or trays. Paint them up in good style, so that they will always look clean and sweet. Have them lettered with your name and return address. Make arrangements with your express agent for special rates for a year to the city or market you wish to ship to, making arrangements also with a popular grocery man in that city, telling him the quality and style of eggs you are to send him for the year. When gathering your eggs, wash them, so that they will all be clean, as one dirty egg will often hurt the sale of the whole crate. Get you a rubber stamp made with your name, address and date. This stamp will not cost you over 75 cents to $1, and stamp every egg with it as fast as gathered, shipping to your customer once a week on a regular day, and you will find that in this way you will not only get the very highest market price, but your customer will sell your eggs faster than you can furnish them, unless you begin enlarging your plant. One fact you must always keep in mind; that is, it is the "winter eggs," that pay, same as with your cows, and in order to have pullets that will begin laying the first of October, when you must hatch them early and keep them healthy and growing every minute. I have had pullets start laying the 29th of August, but this is really earlier than is needed, for you just want them to take the place of your old layers before they start molting, so that you can sell them at a profit. Pullets that begin laying early will lay all winter if cared for as you look after the wants of your ten cows. I know it is hard to get young chicks early if you depend on the hens to hatch them, but you do not want to wait for the hens to become broody, because sitting hens will hatch 14,000 lice to every chick, and he will be a lousy chick. It don't pay. Keep your hens laying; it does not cost any more, if it does as much, to feed a laying hen as it does to feed a sitting hen. Hatch your chickens by machinery (a good incubator) and keep the hens laying every day. In this way, you can hatch them in large numbers and as early as you wish, and as they get to weigh one and one-half pounds each, you can sort out the cockerels and those of the pullets that you do not like the looks of to keep for layers, and sell them for "springers" or "roasters." They will net you from 30 to 50 cents each. I have sold them for a dollar a pair, alive.—H. H. Blackman, in Practical Farmer.

UNCLE OATCAKE EXPLAINS.

But His Explanation Puzzles His Little Nephew From the City.

"Say, Uncle Oatcake," said the little boy who was staying at the farm, "what makes you go to bed now?"

The time was 8.15 on a winter's evening, and Farmer Oatcake, according to his life-long custom, having wound up the kitchen clock, thrown the cat into a snowdrift, and read a chapter from Hezekiah, was preparing to go to bed, says Truth.

"What makes me go to bed now?" repeated the agriculturist in blank amazement. "Why, so I can git up early."

"But, uncle, now that there is no work on the farm, what is there to do so early?"

"God bless the boy!" said Farmer Oatcake. "Do? Why, light the fires, to be sure."

"But what do you want the fires for so early?"

"Har, har!" laughed the farmer. "Well, now, don't that beat all? If you don't have no fire, how are you going to git breakfast?"

"But, uncle," persisted the boy, "what is the good of having breakfast so early?"

"The good of it!" cried Uncle Oatcake. "By gosh, sonny, of you was to git up at 4 on a winter's morning you wouldn't want to be kept waiting round for breakfast! No, siree!"

"But you said you only got up to light the fire?"

"That's it," assented the farmer.

"And you only light the fire so as to get breakfast?"

"That's right."

"And you only have to get breakfast because you're up so early Aren't you arguing in a circle?"

"Aren't I which?" said the farmer.

"Arguing in a circle—a vicious circle?"

"See here, bub," said Uncle Oatcake, sternly. "I've been working hard on this place for nigh 40 years and, by gun, I ain't going to have a young whippersnapper like you telling me my life's vicious. I git up because I've got to git up, and don't let me hear no more dummed fool questions!"

Saying which, Farmer Oatcake took down his bootjack from its hook and retired.

Spring Trade

—In full swing—

Men's Spring Suits and Light Overcoats.

Are In Great Demand.

And our Tailoring department is busier than ever before. Our prices are right for good goods, well made and properly fitted.

You can always find here the best assortment of Scotch and English Suitings to choose from.

—o—

J. L. Boyes.

Men's Furnisher.

COAL!

The Celebrated

SCRANTON COAL

That has no Equal.

I wish to announce to the public that I have put in a thoroughly assorted stock of this celebrated Coal, and am prepared to supply my customers on as good terms as any other dealers.

I am the sole agent in Napanee for this celebrated Coal and it can not be had from any other dealers. Your Patronage Solicited.

C. E. BARTLETT.

CARLETON WOODS.
ISSUER OF MARRIAGE LICENSES.
1y Roblin, Ont.

JOHN POLLARD,
ISSUER OF MARRIAGE LICENSES.
Express Office, Napanee.
Strictly Private and Confidential.

R. J. WRIGHT,
ISSUER OF MARRIAGE LICENSES.
At Residence, Bridge Street, Napanee, Opposite West Ward School.
Entirely Private.

The Napanee Express

NAPANEE, FRIDAY, APRIL 2, 897.

All local reading notices or notices announcing entertainments at which a fee is charged for admission, will be charged 5c per line for each insertion, if in ordinary type. In black type the price will be 10c per line each insertion.

Rockwell

The bay is open down to Glenora.

The roads are drying up rapidly.

The bicyclist is much in evidence.

The smell of paint is abroad in the land.

Mrs. David Sills, Foxboro, died on the 20th ult.

Joseph Haggerty and Annie Begg were married at Deseronto last week.

A. W. Woods, of Plevna, is recovering from a severe attack of pneumonia.

Cheapside Announcement.

Contrary to our usual custom this store will remain open until 10 o'clock on Saturday evening.—W. Mowat.

Dry Mill Wood.

Over 1000 cords. $1.60 per cord.
THE RATHBUN Co.,
Napanee.

Lost.

On Dundas street, between Lahey & McKenty's store and railway bridge, a pair of gold rimmed spectacles. Finder will be rewarded by leaving same at EXPRESS Office.

The Wheel for the People.

The Massey-Harris Bicycle, only one grade and that the highest. Only one price and that to everybody. W. J. Normile, sole agent for the county, Miller block, sign of the Golden Wheel.

Napanee Wood Yard.

Corner Mill and Robinson street, hard, soft, cut, or in cordwood, Trenton dry edgings and blocks. Reasonable rates. A call solicited. Wood delivered free to all parts of the town. S. J. HOWARD. tf

The Truth Is Mighty and Must Prevail.

The readers of the Kingston News were given a treat last week by an oversight on the part of the editor. By mistake a Toronto plate foundry forwarded the News an Ottawa letter written from a Liberal viewpoint and the paper went to press without discovering the error. This wholesome touch of truth met with such favor with its readers that the News may be induced to make the Liberal letter a regular feature in future.

Song Sermon.

The regular monthly Song Sermon will be given in the Western Church on Sunday evening next by the pastor Rev. D. O. Crossley, subject, "The Sea of Life and How to Cross it Safely." The following songs will be sung by Mr. Crossley and the male members of the choir, vic: The Sea of Life—The Pilot—The Anchor of the Soul—and The Light House on the Shore.

Wanted.

CANVASSERS—"Queen Victoria: Her Life and Reign," has captured the British Empire. Extraordinary testimonials from the great men; send for copy free. Marquis of Lorne says, "The best popular Life of the Queen I have seen." Her Majesty sends a kind letter of appreciation. Selling by thousands; gives enthusiastic satisfaction. Canvassers making $15 to $40 weekly. Prospectus free to agents. THE BRADLEY-GARRETSON Co., LTD, Toronto, Ont.

Song and Organ Recital.

The song and organ recital in the Presbyterian church on Tuesday evening was a most enjoyable and successful entertainment. Miss Singleton proved herself an organist of high ability and Mrs. Callfas, of Kingston, delighted the audience with her singing. Miss E. Armstrong's selections on the violin were highly pleasing and much appreciated. Mrs. W. R. Gordanier contributed an organ solo which was well received. Mr. W. Mowat gave two excellent Scotch readings which proved highly amusing. The Rev. W. W. Peck made an ideal chairman.

Notice to Farmers

The best MANITOBA RED FIFE seed wheat. The best WHITE ENSILAGE Seed corn that can be procured is for sale at the Big Mill at a small margin over cost. Try my flour "DAFOE'S BEST" and "NONESUCH." Prices and quality considered they can not be surpassed. The bread made from them has a rich golden color, sweet favor and retains moisture longer than any flour in the market. For pastry try "SEEK-NO-FURTHER." Ask your grocer for it and take no other, it suits them all.

15-1-1 J. R. DAFOE.

A Coming Treat.

The R. T. of T's, are about to produce the greatest temperance drama known to modern times "Ten Nights in a Bar Room." Elaborate preparations are now being made in regard to the scenic effects, and a cast of characters embracing the best amateurs in this vicinity, augmented by the professional artists, including Adele Carlton Todd, W. E. Todd and little Blanche Nesbitt, will aid in producing this highly moral temperance drama. The famous Delsarte living pictures which were produced at the Church of England enter-

This is For You.

For a good pair of ordered boots or shoes call on J. W. Schryver, John St. Boots, shoes and rubbers repaired on the shortest notice. 51tf

To Rent.

Fine brick dwelling, corner Dundas and Robinson streets. Fixed with all modern conveniences. Applp to
W. G. WILSON, Napanee, or
16c J. H. DOWNEY, Whitby.

Wanted.

I can employ five men and three ladies to work at and around home. A good thing, with good salary for pushers.
T. H. LINSCOTT,
Toronto, Ont.

Canadians For A' That.

We notice by the New York Mail and Express that a Canadian Club was formed in New York on Monday evening last. Mr. Edward D. Miller, son of S. R. Miller, of Napanee, was elected treasurer of the club and to him belongs much of the credit of starting the organization. The club numbers among it members such men as Erastus Wiman, Prof. Roberts, the famous poet, and others, and we feel these expatriated ones will be successful in keeping alive a Canadian sentiment.

An Official Investigation.

Mr. O. B. Sheppard, Fishery Inspector, Toronto, held an investigation on Saturday into charges preferred by Wesley Post, of Hay Bay, against E. H. Sills, Fishery Overseer for this district. The investigation was held at the Campbell House, the complainant charging Mr. Sills with neglect of office and gross offensive partizanship. The latter charge was not pressed, however. A number of witnesses were called. The inspector reserved decision.

A Bright Child.

Word was received here that Gyneth, daughter of Herbert and Nellie Parks, had passed away at her home in Berkeley, California, on Sunday last. Deceased had undergone an operation for appendicitis but was unable to stand the shock. She was was nine years of age and an exceedingly bright and lovable child. Deceased was a grand daughter of W. S. Williams, a former townsman, and of Irvine Parks, of Napanee. Her father is in a low state state of health and much sympathy is expressed for him in his great bereavement.

An Interesting Debate.

On Friday evening of last week a number of Napanee people drove to Hawley to listen to an interesting debate between the clubs of Napanee and Hawley, respectively. After an exciting and somewhat eventful drive through mud, snow and water, (the mud predominating) the Napanee contingent arrived at their destination and after the few preliminaries, incidental to an affair of this kind, had been satisfactorily adjusted, the discussion began. Mr. Cadman, of Hawley, acted as chairman, and W. H. Perry, Napanee, and Chas. Elliott, of Hawley, were selected as judges. The subject: "Resolved that women should have equal franchise with men," was ably handled by both sides and some very good points were brought out. The affirmative was championed by Messrs. Allen, J. P. Anderson and S. McNeil, of Hawley, who advanced numerous good reasons why women should be allowed to vote whether they desired to or not. For the negative Messrs. McCullough, F. Bowerman and Chas. Wilson, of Napanee, demonstrated why the franchise should not be extended to the fair sex. The judges disagreed and were unable to arrive at a decision and it was referred to the chairman who declared in favor of the affirmative.

The Bay of Quinte Railway.

Cheap fares to Kingston, Napanee and Tweed.—Commencing Monday, April 5th, and until further notice the Bay of Quinte Railway will issue special low rate tickets as follows. From undermentioned stations to Kingston and Napanee, good going a.m. trains Thursday and Saturday and good returning following day (Sundays not counted). From all stations to Tweed, good going, a.m. trains Wednesday and good returning all trains Thursday.

	TO NAPANEE,		TO KINGSTON.		TO TWEED
TWEED	$1.15		$1.25
Stoco	1.15	"	1.25	"	$ .15
Larkins	1.15	"	1.25	"	.25
Marlbank	.75	"	1.25	"	.40
Erinsville	.75	"	1.25	"	.55
Tamworth	.75	"	1.25	"	.65

The Massey-Harris Bicycle.

When selecting your '97 mount see the Silver Ribbon wheel, made by the world famous company, the Massey-Harris. Strictly high grade and at the peoples popular prices. Positively the best equipped wheel in the world. EVERY WHEEL GUARANTEED. Sale rooms, in the Miller Block, Boyle & Son's old stand. W. J. Normile, sole agent for the county. Remember the place. Miller's block—Sign of the Golden Wheel.

Coming Meeting.

We are informed that public temperance meetings will be held as follows during the evenings of the coming week. They will be addressed by Messrs. Bushell and Seymour, and all are invited to attend them: Colebrook, Saturday 3rd inst.; Centerville, Monday 5th.; Tamworth, Tuesday 6th.; Enterprise, Wednesday 7th; Marlbank, Thursday, 8th.; Roblin, Friday, 9th.; Croydon, Saturday, 10th.

Parisian Steam Laundry

Agency at E. Vanalstine's Barber Shop, John st. Laundry will be called for and delivered to any part of the town at usual prices, strictly C. O. D. This is one of the largest and best equipped Steam Laundries in Canada. Laundry shipped once a week, on Wednesday, 3:20 p.m. and delivered Saturday morning. No chemicals used in the Laundry. All work guaranteed first-class. Lists on application. tf.

Hymenial.

A quiet wedding took place at Fisher, Minnesota, on the 22nd, ult, when Mr. Everton Vanluven, of Vanluven Bros., Moscow, was united in the holy bonds of matrimony to Miss Mabel, eldest daughter of Mr. E. A. Sweet, of that place and a former resident of Lennox. The happy couple arrived in Napanee on Saturday last and left for Moscow in the afternoon where they will take up housekeeping. The EXPRESS joins with their many friends in extending congratulations.

Would be a Loss to Canada.

Mr. H. H. Groff, whose work as a hybridizer of the Gladiolus is recognized by the U. S. trade as the best in America, has received an offer from a prominent and wealthy scientific hybridist so join him in the middle South for the development of several lines of valuable work just out of the experimental stage in conjunction with similar results of Mr. Groff's originating here. A threatened duty under President McKinley, will cut off Mr. Groff's increasing connection with our neighbors and necessitates the consideration of this offer or the abandonment of what has been so successfully begun. He may visit Tennessee after the close of the season.—Simcoe Reformer. This is the gentlemen whom the Napanee Horticultural Society have been getting their Cafna and Gladiolus bulbs from.

Death of an Old Resident.

Another old and esteemed resident of Napanee passed away to her reward on Saturday in the person of Mrs. John B. George, who for thirty-five years has occupied the position of caretaker of the court house. Her death came very unexpectedly. On the day of her demise she appeared to be in her usual health and her daughter, Mrs. Cheetham left her alone in her house while she went out to attend to the marketing. When she returned she found her mother in an unconcious condition having been attacked by a paralytic stroke from which she never rallied. Deceased, whose maiden name was Eliza Derby, was a daughter of the late Wm. D. Derby, of Morven, and was 72 years of age. She was married to the late Jno. B. George in 1845 who preceded her to the tomb twenty-nine years ago. She leaves two daughters, Mrs. Cheetham, of Napanee, and Mrs. Fanning, of Belleville, and one son, Wm. George, of Chicago, to mourn the loss of a loving mother. Two sisters, Mrs. Sicker, of Napanee, and Mrs. Chadd, of Picton, are also left to mourn. Deceased was of a genial and kindly personality and was greatly beloved and respected among her wide circle of friends and acquaintances. The funeral took place to the Napanee cemetery on Tuesday, the large concourse which followed the remains to their last resting place testifying to the high esteem in which she was held by all.

Death of Mrs. McPherson.

On Saturday last, Mar. 27th, 1897, Ann Granger, wife of Peter McPherson, died at her home, Newburgh road, about a mile south of Napanee Mills. More than a year ago deceased suspebted she was afflicted with cancer, and when physicians had ex-

Capt. Smith shipped the band instruments to Battersea on Wednesday.

The storm door has been relegated to the background and awnings are in order.

Earthquake—How do you like my funny cracks? Miss Montreal—You schock me.

Geo. Munro, a member of the Tyendinaga o onncil, died on Wednesday, aged 66 years.

Benefit

A Canada 3-cent letter stamp is to be issued in commemoration of the Queen's Jubilee.

Leavens and Deshanes liquor store at Belleville, was badly damaged by fire on Saturday.

Jos. Prickett, Deseronto, had his wrist and arm badly lacerated in a planing lathe last week.

Miss Mary Toland, of Storrington, was married to Jno. M. Blake, reeve of Loughboro, last week,

Miss Daisy Phillips, aged seventeen, daughter of William Phillips, Tyendinaga, died last week.

Miss Annie J. Leonard, Westbrook, and Wesley J. Mallough, Enterprise, were married this week.

Concert

Hood's Pills are the best family cathartic and liver medicine. Gentle, reliable, sure.

A sugar social will be held in the basement of the Methodist church, Selby, on Tuesday night next.

A number of Deseronto young men will celebrate the Queen's Diamond Jubilee by getting married this year.

Cheap agate fry pans, No. 9 agate fry pans for 30c, just think of it. Cheaper than iron, at Boyle & Son's, Malley's drug store, Deseronto, was damaged to the extent of $2000 on Tuesday. The free public library was also somewhat damaged.

The Picton skiff owners are suing the Belleville regatta committee for their prize money. The case will be tried at Belleville on the 6th inst.

Opera House

Burglars were operating in Deseronto last week. They gained entrance to the stores of J. J. Kerr and Mr. Loynes and secured numerous articles.

The Belleville city foot ball club has organized for the season. F. D. Diamond is captain, Carl W. Ross, sec.-treas., and W. A. G. Hardy, Manager.

Lankie Savage, Melita, Man., and Miss Matilda Ann Watson, of Deseronto, were married at the residence of Wm. N. Dean, Deseronto, on the 23rd ult.

A petition largely signed by ratepayers, will be presented to the town council next Monday evening asking the council to assist in the formation of a Citizen's Band.

The absent-minded man, 'its said,
Is he, without much doubt,
Who put the candle into bed
And blew himself clear out.

To-night

Next month fifteen prisoners will be liberated from the Kingston Penitentiary and sixty-four from the Central Prison. This number allowed their freedom in one month, is the largest record in many years.

Boyle bottom milk can, best milk can in the world, not copied or stolen from any other, but original; made from best material that money can buy and by men who know how to make good cans. Sold only by Boyle & Son.

Judgment in the case of John Miller of Belleville, accused of misappropriating notes, the property of John Reid of Tyendinaga, was given on Monday. The magistrate, after a lengthy verbal review of the evidence, discharged Miller.

"Let us then be up and doing"—
"Doing what, my little man?"
And the answer came abruptly,
"Doin' anyone we can."

George McKenzie, Colborne, was arraigned before magistrrte Gordon and mayor Morrison in Trenton on a charge of abducting Annie Hutchinson, of that town, and taking her to Colborne and Brighton. The girl is not yet sixteen years of age. Bail was accepted.

Admission 25c.

by special request.

The Victorias.

A meeting for the purpose of forming a foot ball club was held at the Royal Hotel on Wednesday evening. There was a large crowd of foot ball enthusiasts present and from all appearances the game will boom here this season. The following officers were appointed. Hon. Pres., Judge Wilkison; Pres. F. Chinneck; Vice Pres., W. Waller; Manager, E. Vanalstine; Captain, F. Grieve; Sec.-Treas., M. B. McDonald; Managing Committee, W. B. Haines, P. Wagar, P. Preston. It was decided to call the Club the Victorias, and steps will be taken towards forming a league to embrace Kingston, Deseronto, Sydenham and Napanee. In all probability a cup will be put up for the teams to contest for, home and home matches to be played. W. H. Hunter of the Royal offers to bear one quarter the cost of the cup, providing it is put up. The foot ball boys intend giving a concert at an early date to provide funds to meet outstanding obligations.

Premiers and Their Premier.

Judge Wilkison, of Napanee, warmly favors the proposal that the premiers of the different provinces constituting the Dominion of Canada go to England in June to attend the celebration in honor of the Queen's Diamond Jubilee. He thinks that no more appropriate way of showing the universal loyalty of Canadians could be adopted than to have the prime minister of each province represent, in his own person at the court of St. James, the devotion of the people of his province. But the judge would go further than this. While as stated, he believes in the project to send the provincial premiers, each as the special personification of the loyalty of his particular province, so to speak, and thus have the constituent portions of the Dominion represented, he suggests that the Dominion, as a whole, should be typified by the presence at the head of the delegation of Hon. Wilfrid Laurier, the first minister of the colony. The presence of Mr. Laurier, representing as he does in the country's parliament, and as he would, at the court of the empress queen, the English Protestant and the French Roman Catholic sections of Canada's population, would of itself be the most emphatic proof of the abiding loyalty of both races and of the nation as a whole.—Whig.

Sons of Tempérance Organization.

Messrs. Bushell and Seymour the Sons of Temperance agents now at work in this county, are meeting with excellent success, not only as regards large meetings, but in regard to effecting permanent organizations. Their meetings last week at Centreville, Tamworth, Marlbank, Roblin and Selby were all very successful and encouraging On Sunday evening they addressed a very large audience in the Western Methodist church here after the close of the regular service. They will probably hold a couple of public meetings in the Town Hall soon, of which good notice will be given. On Saturday evening they organized a new division at Selby with thirty two charter members. The officers are: Ira B. Hudgins, W. P; Mrs. C. W. Dean, W.A.; Annnie Hudgins, Supt. of Y.P.; Garrett M. Neely, R. Scribe; Minnie Allen, A.R.S.; Fanny McGuiness, F S.; Thomas I. Winter, Treas.; W. H. Limbert, Chap.; W. T. Hudgins, Con.; Ida Hudgins, A.C., Lesslie Ballance, I. S.; Archie Sxsmith, O.S.; Rev. W. H. Limbert, P.W.P.; Anson Rose, D. Deputy. Meeting on Tuesday evenings. On Monday evening a division was oaganized at Napanee Mills. The officers are: J. T. Howell, W.P.; A. S. Morgan, W.A; Archie Bruton, R. Scribe; Edith McDonald, A.R.S.; W. P. Bower, F.S.; Elton Hartman, Treas.; Ida Miller, Supt. of J. W.; Vera Madden, Chap; Wm. Cooper, Con.; Hugh Kelly, A.C.; John Asselstine, I.S.; Thos. Pybus, O.S.; Cephas Fox, P.W.P; Roland Cooper, Deputy. Meetings will be held each Tuesday evening. At Newburgh, on Tuesday evening a capital division was organized with no less than sixty eight charter members, composed of some of the best workers of the town. The officers are: G. Rowlinson, W. P.; Alice Baughn, W.A; Mrs. T. W. Courtney, S.Y.P.W.; Wesley Adams, R. Scribe; Nellie Jesseep, A.R.S.; Joseph C. Gaudier, F.S.; Stanley Chant, Treas.; Rev. J. H. Chant, Treas.; Rev. J. H. Chant, Chap.; Herbert McKim, Con.; Harry Lockhead, A.C; Edna Glenn, I.S.; Howard Nesbitt, O.S.; Rev. J. Gaudier, P.W.A.; J. Mathieson, Deputy.

CASTORIA.

The fac-simile signature of Chas. H. Fletcher is on every wrapper.

Enterprise	.60	"	1.05	" .80
Mud Lake	.55	"	1.00	" .85
Moscow	.50	"	.90	" .95
Galbraith	.45	"	.85	" 1.00
Yarker	.40	"	.80	" 1.00
Frontenac	.55	"	.70	" 1.00
Sydenham	.75	"	.60	" 1.10
Camden East	.50	"	.90	" 1.10
Thompsons	.50	"	.95	" 1.10
Newburgh	.25	"	.95	" 1.15
Nap. Mills	.20	"	1.00	" 1.15
Napanee		"		" 1.15
Deseronto		"	1.25	" 1.25
Kingston		"		" 1.25

Market produce up to 50 pounds will be carried free in baggage car if the property of ticket holder. These rates are open to the public.

H. B. Sherwood, Supt. Napanee.
J. F. Chapman, A. G. F. & P. A., Deseronto.

Tendered a Banquet.

On Monday morning Mr. Thos. J. Bald left for his home in Penetanguishene where he has secured a lucrative position. Mr. Bald has resided in Napanee for a number of years and was justly esteemed and popular. He took an interest in all manly sports and will be greatly missed in hockey, baseball, and football circles. For the past two years he has had charge of the tinsmith department of M. S. Madole's business and his employer felt that he could not allow him to take his departure from town without some recognition of his goodwill. Accordingly he decided to tender him a banquet on the eve of his departure and about 10 o'clock Saturday evening, a number of friends congregated at Queen's Restaurant where an excellent repast was in waiting. After due justice had been rendered to the oysters and toothsome edibles provided, Mr. A. E. Paul in a neat speech, explained the reasons that led up to their assembling there that evening, and called upon Mr. W. E. Wilson, who read the following address:—

Thos. J. Bald:—

Dear Sir:—The best of friends must part and to-night we must bid you good-bye and wish you good luck in your new home. During the two years you have been with us we have learned to respect you very much and have formed a high opinion of your integrity, industry and gentlemanly conduct. Your interest in your trade and your endeavors to increase the business of the firm have been duly appreciated, and to-night you part with your fellow employees in the workshop, with your friends and associates in town and with your employer, with the best of good wishes. Our hope and wish for you is that you may find as good and true friends in your new field of labor as you leave behind and we shall ever be glad to hear from you and learn of your success. We take this opportunity of saying adieu. Signed,

M. S. Madole,
W. E. Wilson,
P. A. Woodcock,
H. J. Thompson,
Robert Bennett,
D. Davis,
Chas. Byrnes,
Jos. Bennett,
A. E. Paul,
J. H. Frisken.

Mr. Bald, although visibly affected, made a suitable reply in which he referred to his regret in parting with his fellow workmen, with whom he had been on the best of terms. He paid a high compliment to Mr. Madole, as an employer. It had never been his good pleasure to work for a more just and kind "boss".

Mr. A. E. Paul followed and referred to the good feeling that had always existed between Mr. Madole and his employees. Mr. M. S. Madole made an excellent speech in which he referred to the relations which he thought should exist between employer and employee. He had always endeavored to be one of "the boys" and had tried to conduct his business so that there would be a mutality of interest between himself and his employees. Mr. Bald left his employ with the best of good feelings existing between them and he would always be pleased to hear of his success.

The press brought short addresses from Chas. Stevens, sr., M. B. McDonald, and A. E. Clarke.

Kindred Industries was responded to by Mr. Alex. Lafferty.

The ladies elected speeches from such well-known champions as Messrs, Geo. H. Thompson, D. Davis, and Geo. A. Thompson.

The employees was responded to by Messrs. Robt. Bennett, Jos. Bennett, P. A. Woodcock, Herbert J. Thompson, W. E. Wilson, and Charles Burns. Short addresses were delivered by Thos. Oliver and J. Frisken. The singing of Auld Lang Syne brought an enjoyable evening to a close.

Spring Millinery openings on Saturday.

Remember C. L. Shannon will sell all kinds of field and garden seeds, all new, and lower than any reliable competitor, timothy from $1.80 per bushel up. Alfalfa, very low this year. All the latest varieties of garden seeds just in from the most reliable growers. Bradley's celebrated lawn fertilizer, guaranteed satisfactory. Canned goods 5c. per can, and all kinds of groceries as cheap as anyone can sell them. Your choice of "surprise," "best," "comfort," or "pure" soaps, six for 25c. Flour $2.40 per hundred. Cash paid for raw furs. Baled hay for sale.

nature of the disease she was utterly discouraged. However she consented to an operation. From that time she seemed to regain her health. After a few months there were indications of cancer again. During the winter her arm was broken, and her mother, residing with her, died about this time. The shock and suffering seemed to be too much for her. Deceased's general health failed rapidly until death put a period to her sufferings. Mrs. McPherson was in her 55th year, and had always been a remarkably healthy person. Beside her husband she leaves two sons, aged seventeen and nineteen years respectively. She was a daughter of the late Artimus Granger, and was born near the home where she breathed her last. Kind hearted and charitable she will be missed by her neighbors as well as her family. She was glad to leave her sufferings and go to rest. Trusting in the Lord Jesus as her friend and Saviour she had no fears regarding "that other life." Mr. A. Granger, a brother from Minnesota, arrived a few weeks ago which seemed to cheer her greatly. The funeral took place on Tuesday, 30th inst., Rev. McCullough officiating. The remains were deposited in Napanee vault.

A NOTABLE EVENT.

(From the Ottawa Free Press, 25th March 1897.)

The Famine Fund sent to the Montreal Star has turned fifty thousand dollars, representing subscriptions from upwards of two hundred thousand schools children, and nearly one hundred thousand church members of all faiths, besides great and small subscriptions from thousands of private citizens. We do not remember ever to have seen so extraordinary a subscription anywhere. For many years to come the remarkable spontaneity with which this subscription was supported, its almost universal character and the right good will with which the subscriptions were bestowed for the cause, will be looked back to by all Canadians with genuine pride. Besides the relief that this fund provides for India, it provides a substantial interest in the whole Empire and it thus serves the double purpose of philanthropy and patriotism. We do not believe that any person ever imagined that it was possible for any one agency to raise so large a sum and to enlist the sympathies of such an enormous number of people as has been done by the Star.

Hawley Lasher, of Camden, and Bertha May McKeown were married on the 17th of March.

A FASHIONABLE SPRING SUIT Or OVERCOAT

Among the new Woollens purchased for the spring trade are some fine Scotch Cheviots and Worsted Suitings and Overcoatings in the newest shades and patterns.

We use Linings and Trimmings of guranteed good quality and put into them our best skill and experience in tailoring.

You can visit any store and you will not find an assortment of Suitings and Overcoatings to match ours, nor will you match our prices.

D. J. Hogan & SON,

Sole Agent for the Wilkinson and Henry Carter English Hats.

Tailoring Extraordinary

Six patterns in Spring Tweeds, all light colours, but neat and stylish designs. The cloths are those which sell at $1 per yard. We offer choice of them made to measure, good trimmings, and guaranteed perfect fit,

At $10 a Suit

Or Bicycle Suit (Coat and Knickers) of same

At $6 a Suit

This is the most unprecedented bargain in good goods that has ever been open to you. If there isn't a saving of $4 on every Suit we offer at $10, don't buy.

J. A. CATHRO, Cutter.

The New Hats

Are the newest hats in the hat business. They are absolutely right in style, and they are cheaper than regular prices. You might as well save a quarter or half a dollar, and have a neater hat as well.

Fedoras from 50c. upwards.
Bennet's English Stiff Hats, $2.50

Twenty-Five Cent Ties

Two for Twenty-Five Cents.

Tells you the history of the biggest tie sale you've seen. Only they weren't all twenty-five cent ones, there were dozens worth 50c. But there were nearly 1200 ties to start with. Plenty yet to pick from. Many customers take eight for a dollar, because they are new and stylish goods. Those are the wise ones. If you haven't had your share don't be too long about it.

New Clothing.

New Suits for Men.
New Suits for Boys.

Men's Blue Serge Suits $2.90
Men's Tweed Suits .... a bargain 5.00

We've stacks of well-made, neat-fitting Spring Clothing, made by houses whose name is a guarantee of reliable work. They'll please you none the less because the price is low. That is unusual, but it is true. Clothing prices are a wonder, even to clothing dealers, and the price at which good work is done in making clothing is very much lower than the price of oats or barley. Come in and see how we sell good clothing.

Spring Carpets.

The final shipment of the Spring Carpets came this week, and makes our stock complete in all lines for the season. The kinds include British Brussels Carpets in four and five frame, Canadian Axminster Carpets, best Tapestry Carpets, medium and low-grade Tapestries, two and three-ply Wools, Union and Hemps. The prices begin, at 10c. for Hemps, 25c. for Unions 68c. for Wools, 75c. for Brussels. The patterns are everything that they ought to be for this Spring's trade. A look at them costs nothing, and will convince you that your own town can do BEST for for you in Carpets, not merely as well as the city stores but MATERIALLY BETTER as regards value, just as well as regards style.

Pattern Dresses.

A big stock of them. Exquisite weaves and designs, charming color effects. We don't believe anyone can show you such a selection, or such trimmings to match them. There are most beautiful dresses here for four or five dollars—the twelve dollar patterns of other days couldn't hold a candle to them. To do the best possible buying for your Easter outfit you simply MUST see our Dress Goods.

Fancy Japanese Silks.

More of them than any two Napanee houses can show you. Patterns that are nowhere else. Prices begin at 25c. a yard—and at 43c., 58c., 72c., we show Silks that are usually shown at much higher prices.

Another Corset Bargain.

Only some five dozen of the P. C. Corset "Dora," in grey only. It is probably the fastest selling 75c. Corset in the country today. We bought this lot so that it is possible to sell them

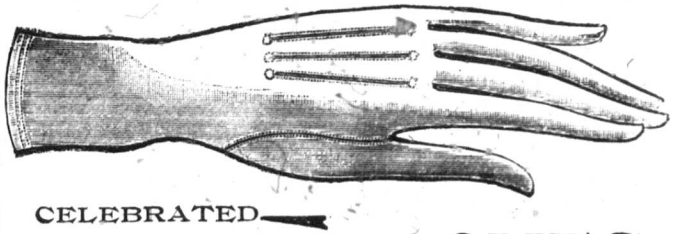
At 50c. a Pair.

Small sizes, 18 to 24. Ladies, it is worth your while to SEE JUST WHAT THIS CORSET IS LIKE.

The Twenty-Five Cent Corsets

Are a revelation. People who never bought a Corset at the price before are using them and like them. There may not be any next week.

PEWNY'S



CELEBRATED

KID GLOVES

The best Kid Gloves that come into this country. We are sole agents for Napanee. The new Spring stock is complete. The new Minerva, with the latest stitching and buttons, is an exquisite glove. It is guaranteed, of course, as are also the

ALBANI, in black and colours.
ALBERTINE, in black and colours.
ESTELLE, in black and colours.

UNBLEACHED TWILL SHEETING, two yards wide very nice quality ..... 15c.
FACTORY COTTON, 33 inches wide ..... 3c.
STRIPE FLANNELETTES, 30 inches wide, good weight and good patterns ..... 5c.

Lahey & McKenty.

PERSONALS.

Isaiah Parks, Belleville road, is ill with paralysis

Farmers, Gardners and Fruit Growers.

My car of fertilizers has arrived. Every

Along the Docks.

Captain Sam Howard has been making

Church of England Notes.

days in town.

Mrs. Chadd, of Picton, attended the funeral of her sister, the late Mrs. George.

Mayor Ward was in Kingston yesterday.

It is said that Lieutenant Governor Kerkpatrick, who recently went to London for Medical treatment, cannot recover.

Wm. Huffman has returned to town.

James Cline, Belleville road, is now almost recovered from a severe attack of la grippe.

James Fitzpatrick has gone to Belleville where he has secured a situation.

W. Armitage left for Manitoba this week.

Fred J. Blewett is now completely recovered from the effects of an attack of grip.

Mrs. N. C. Shorey, Toronto, is visiting at Newburgh.

Mr. Robert Grange has gone to Manitoba.

F. W. Vandusen was elected Supreme Marshall of the Circle of Home Circles at Brantford last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Jas. B. Miller, of Morven, have been visiting friends in Washington.

J. P. Hanley has returned from Toronto.

R. H. Potter has been under the weather suffering from an attack of grip but is now able to be out.

Mr. and Mrs. John Christie and family removed to Toronto this week.

Miss Bertie Grange is visiting friends in Montreal. She writes to a friend in town telling of the somewhat thrilling experience she had during the earthquake shock in that city.

Mr. S. Lockridge, of Toronto, is spending his vacation in town.

Miss Belle Pollard was "At Home" to a number of her friends on Friday evening last.

Miss Flossie Derbyshire and Miss Louie Timmerman have returned to their home at Odessa after an extended trip to Nova Scotia, Montreal and Brockville.

Miss Bertie Metzler, Odessa, received a severe fall on Monday, which will lay her up for some time.

Mr. F. Birrell left for Hamilton on Monday.

Rev. Mr. Mavety, of Granby, Que., who came here to attend the funeral of the late Mrs. Dr. Mavety, is spending a few days in town.

D. S. Warner returned to Napanee last Monday after spending a month in Stratford and Toronto.

Geo. Walker and daughter, of Wilton, paid Napanee a visit on Tuesday.

Miss Josie and Miss Marie Davy left for Toronto on Thursday where they will reside.

Geo. Thompson was in Belleville on Wednesday.

Mr. Frank Smith left on Thursday for Toronto, where he goes to purchase a car load of western beef.

Mrs. Keenleyside and Mrs. Daly, of London, have been visiting friends in town.

Mrs. Duncan Benn, South Napanee, has returned from Warner, N. Y., where she was attending Mr. Benn, who has been quite ill.

Mrs. T. R. Ferguson, of Rat Portage and formerly of Napanee, has composed a piece of instrumental music entitled "Queen's Diamond Jubilee Polka March Militaire," which is meeting with great favor among bandsmen and musicians. It is now on sale at Lockwood's and Henry's.

Mrs. Wm. Tulloch, of Kingsford, who has been visiting Mrs. Peter Gould, Centre Street, returned home last Monday.

Mrs. Jno. Kilpatrick, of Kingston, who has been in town visiting her daughter, Mrs. James Gordon, helping her move and seeing her settled in her new home, returned home on Wednesday.

Miss Emma Norris has returned from visiting with friend in Belleville.

Miss Davy and Miss Butler, of Belleville have been visiting friends in town.

Mr. Jno. Hinch, of Centreville, was in town on Tuesday.

Mr. E. Lund, Morven, was in town on Saturday and favored us with a call.

Mr. B. E. Aylesworth, warden of the county, was in town on Saturday.

Miss Alcombrack, Kingston, is visiting friends in this vicinity.

Rev. N. A. McDiarmid, of Napanee, delivered educational sermons in Brock street, Methodist church, Kingston, on Sunday last.

John McNeil has returned to Dakota after a pleasant visit in and around Marysville. Many fair maids were disappointed on seeing him return alone.

Miss May Prickett, of the Deseronto Tribune Staff, has left for Pittsfield, Mass., where she will enter a hospital to train as a nurse. She was presented with a fine satchell by the Tribune staff before her departure.

C. G. Hawley, Gosport, was in town on Tuesday and favored us with a call.

Mr. A. C. Parks and family moved to their farm at Hay Bay on Wednesday.

BIRTHS

LLOYD—At Hawley, on 17th ult, to Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Lloyd, a son.

ROBINSON—At Sillsville, 16th ult, the wife of Amos. Robinson, of a son.

BELCHER—At Napanee, 23rd ult, to Mr. and Mrs. Jos. Belcher, a daughter.

BAKER—At Napanee, on March 30 the wife of Mr. Chas. Baker, of British Columbia, of a son.

MCCABE—At Napanee, on Friday, March 26th, the wife of Mr. B. McCabe of a son.

DEATHS.

HINCH—At Centreville, on March 22nd, Peter Hinch, aged 51 years.

ALLEN—At Marlbank, on March, 19th Geo. A. Allen, aged 14 years.

SEDORE—At Marlbank, on March 19th, Miles Sedore, aged 25 years.

GEORGE—At Napanee, on Saturday, Mrs. Jno. B. George, aged 72 years.

WILLIAMSON—At Napanee, on Monday, March 28th, 1897, Mrs. Ann Williamson, Aged 68 years.

SWEET—At North Fredericksburgh, on the 26th, ult., Jennie Sweet, aged 23 years and 6 months.

SHAHEY—At Napanee, on March, 31st, Edward Shahey, aged 64 years.

selves that it pays to fertilize. Those who have ordered will please call and get goods soon as possible. I have the best Timothy Seed in the market. The price is cheap considering the quality. See it before buying unsound and inferior seed.

17 F. E. VANLUVEN.

A Former Resident.

The remains of the late Mrs. Dr. Mavetey were brought here from Peoria, Ills., on Thursday and deposited in the Western cemetery. Deceased was a daughter of the late Jos. B. Lucas, and a sister of Mrs. Silas F. Vrooman. She was well and favorably known in this district and greatly respected for her many estimable qualities. Her husband at one time carried on a practice at Napanee and also at Kingston. Her remains were followed to their last resting place by a large concourse of sorrowing friends and acquaintances, the Revs. Crossley and Dr. McDiarimid taking part in the services. The Rev. Mr. Mavetey, of Grandby, Quebec, brother-in-law of deceased was also in attendance at the funeral.

Died In Early Youth.

After four weeks of suffering with typhoid fever, Lilly McConnell, beloved daughter of Mr. James McConnell, passed peacefully away on Saturday, March 27th, 1897 in her sixteenth year, that period when life looks brightest. One of the healthiest and brightest girls in the neighborhood, it is the more sorrowful that she should droop and die so soon. At the first confirmation held in St. Jude's Church, Napanee Mills, she received the sacred rite of confirmation and did "continue Christ's faithful soldier and servant unto her life's end." Always at sabbath school and church, a regular attendant at the holy communion, living such a life as she knew her Lord and Master would have her live when the call came she went without a murmur, without a fear. She had been attending Newburgh High School since summer vacation. It is an evidence of her popularity, that the institution closed on Monday and the pupils attended the funeral which was held in the church Napanee Mills. The rector, Rev. F. D. Woodcock, assisted by Rev. G. W. Swayne, of Selby, conducted the service which was solemn and impressive. The incumbent charged her fellow students to take the death of their school-mate as a warning and to live such lives as would make them ready to go whenever the summons came. The Sunday school of St. Jude's presented a wreath of "Calla lilies." Newburgh school also sent a beautiful wreath. There were other handsome designs of flowers sent by friends. The pall bearers were H. Nesbit, H. McKim and R. Lott, of N. H. C., R. Pybus, J. Beck, H. Morgan, of Napanee Mills. Mr. E. J. Reid acted as manager. The heart broken parents have the sympathy of all in their irreparable loss.

GRIEF AND WORRY.

Cause Heart Troubles.

A well and favorable known lady of Mitchell gives an account of her sufferings:

"Grief at the death of near and dear relatives a few years ago caused nervous trouble and general debility. Prior to that time I was in excellent health, quite stout and very strong. With my sad bereavements I became excessively nervous, my appetite failed, I lost flesh and strength, and my mind and nerves were in such a state that I found it almost impossible to compose myself to sleep. When I did drop into slumber I would wake up in a short time trembling violently and in a cold perspiration, and could not get to sleep again that night. My memory became clouded and fickle. I had great pain through my temples, and my heart frequently seemed to stop its pulsations. Then again I had fainting spells so that my friends thought I was a hypochondriac. Fortunately I procured a box of Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills from Mr. S. A. Hodge, the well-known druggist of this place, and commenced taking them last spring. To my gratitude they performed a complete cure. My appetite is now good. I have gained in flesh, health and strength, and feel cheerful and happy. I sleep well, and have now no trouble with my heart or nerves whatever. These pills are a great cure for heart and nerve troubles as well as a splendid tonic for the entire system, and I am very glad to recommend them to all sufferers from similar complaints (Signed) Miss W. Misserschmidt, Mitchell, Ont.

Laxa Liver Pills cures constipation, biliousness, and sick headache; 25c.

Star, and expects to launch her on Monday. He has also repainted her and she is now "one of the finest."

Captain Mike Shechan has fitted up the Gull and will soon be ready for the summer trade.

The Rover has been undergoing a thorough repainting this week and will be put in the water about Tuesday.

M. B. Mills is fitting up his sailing yacht Madge.

Capt. Collier is at work on the Reindeer putting her machinery in order and repainting for the summer season. He will make his first trip some day next week.

Presented With a Purse and Address.

Mr. F. S. Rockwell, who leaves in a few days for D. L. Moody's Bible Institute, Chicago, was presented by the members of the Eastern Methodist church with a purse, containing over $30 and a highly eulogistic address on Wednesday evening last. In referring to the vacancy which will be created by Mr. Rockwell's departure the address says: "Our comrade, on whose activity and energy we leaned hard, is leaving our ship, and the stroke-oar he pulled so oft and effectively is left swinging aimlessly on the rowlock." "Permit us to assure you that the church in its various departments, has gained by the free gift of your versatile powers and by your untiring religious zeal." The address refers to Mr. Rockwell's work in the Epworth League, in the Sunday school, in the social services and the choir and is signed on behalf of the church by N. A. McDiarmid, Pastor. On behalf of the E. L. of C. E. by Laura M. Hogle, President; Annie W. Cliffe, Sec. On behalf of the Sunday school by S Gibson, Supt.; C. W. Wartman, Ass't. Supt.; W. F. Hall, Rec. Steward.

Pike are running.

The sugar season will in all probability be a short one.

Jno Madden purchased a crescent bicycle frem Wm. Normile this week.

Two papers in New York have been edited for a considerable period by prize-fighters. It will not be long before those noble gentlemen will put in claims for the lecture platform.

In Michigan it is proposed to put a tax on bachelors and they are even considering the propriety of old maids while old boys who have made an honest attempt to get spliced and failed will be exempted.

Don't forget that we make a specialty of fine watch repairing, F. Chinneck, who has spent longer than any other in town at this department still gives it his personal attention. We also carry a fine line of ladies and gents gold and silver watches at rock bottom prices. F. Chinneck's jewelry store.

The Sunday School Association of South Fredericksburgh and Adolphustown held its seventh convention at Bethel Methodist church, Hawley, on the 18th ult. Officers for 1897 were elected as follows: Pres., J. O. Fretts; Vice-pres., J. Stratton; Sec., W. Hough; Treas., S. H. Mellow.

The Customs Department has notified Collectors of Customs in future that 90 per cent will be refunded of the duty paid on guns, fishing rods, and equipments of parties visiting Canada for sporting purposes. Formerly visitors were required to pay 20 per cent, of the value of the equipment.

The first lightning last year occurred on March 29th, robins and blackbirds putting in an appearance on the following day. The first open water was seen off Foresters' Island Park on the 31st. The ice bridge opposite the town held until April 14th. Navigation was open on the 17th, and the Resolute cleared for Fairhaven on the 18th, the Deseronto and schooner Rover clearing for Picton on the same date.—Tribune.

When a man asks a newspaper publisher to suppress an item of news he not only asks him to throw away a part of his stock in trade, but he requests the publisher to violate his contract with his subscribers and the general public. It is all proper to make the request to omit publication of some news item, but the person making the request has no ground for complaint if the request is not granted. The publisher must be the judge.

The manner in which the Chief undertakes to enforce the regulation prohibiting the riding of bicycles on the sidewalk is coming in for much uncomplimentary comment in some quarters. It is stated that Jerry is conveniently blind when "certain head parties," are sporting themselves on the sidewalk, while he is unduly officious with others who are not in possession of a pull. The regulation should be enforced without fear, favor or partiality.

Magdalene, Napanee. Services at 11 a. m., and 7 p. m., each Sunday. Holy Communion at 11 a. m., on I and III Sundays of the month, and at 8 a. m. on all other Sundays. Strangers supplied with leaflets having service printed in full at evening services.

PARISH OF CAMDEN — Services Sunday next and following week. St. Luke, Camden East, Morning Prayer, Holy Communion, 11 o'clock; St. Anthony, Yarker, 3 o'clock; St. Jude, Napanee Mills, 7 o'clock; St. John, Newburgh, 7 o'clock. This will be the first of the Lenten services to be conducted each evening during the week until Friday inclusive at 7.30.

Thos. Vardy, an old resident of Odessa, passed away recently.

Cricket and baseball clubs are everywhere organizing for the coming campaign.

T. McClucky, of Flinton, and Mahala Ruttan, of Kaladar, were married recently.

Geo. Henderson, Roblin's Hill, had his foot severely cut while chopping wood last week.

The Indians on the Tyendinaga Reserve will receive their spring annuity next week.

Murney Morden, Melrose, and Miss Francis Tripp, Owassa, Mich, were married recently.

A St. Patrick's society has been formed in Belleville; it is undenominational in character.

David Saul, Camden East, and Miss Annie Marshall, Thomsonville, were married last week.

Peter Hinch, at one time in the employ of Webster & Boyes, Napanee, died at Centreville last week.

Grinding every day at Close's Mills The best ground horse feed and barley meal for sale at Close's Mills

JAS. A. CLOSE.

While J. Dunning, Roslin, was killing a calf the knife slipped and stuck in his leg just above the knee. He may loose his leg and possibly his life.

Miss M. Hayes, and Miss B. Stafford, Empey Hill, have removed to Yarker where they will open up a millinery and dress-making establishment.

The cheesemakers of Peterborough district have passed a resolution condemning the feeding of turnips to milch cows whose milk is to be sent to cheese and butter factories.

Truth in a Nutshell. Impure blood is the natural result of close confinement in house, school room or shop.

Blood is purified by Hood's Sarsaparilla and all the disagreeable results of impure blood disappear with the use of this medicine.

If you wish to feel well, keep your blood pure with Hood's Sarsaparilla.

The bean social at the S. A. barracks on Saturday evening was highly successful. The following took part in the programme: F. S. Rockwell, Flossie Lewis, Mrs. Bailey, Miss Ida Hearns, Clara Bowen and Pearl Meeks,

The town of Trenton is just now in the throes of a sensation. Several prominent citizens of that burg, some of them married men, abducted a young girl and kept her in the room of one of the parties for several weeks for immoral purposes. The girl who is not sixteen years of age belongs to a respectable family.

BICYCLES—See our display Saturday. We can give you the cheapest and best $40 wheel ever offered, the only wheel at the price using weldless tubing, all other cheap wheels have brazed tubing. In stock, Triump, Perfect, Dominion, Garden City, Night Hawk, Skylark, Leader, Phœnix, and the celebrated Cleveland. Boyle & Son.

WOOD'S PHOSPHODINE.
The Great English Remedy.

Before and After.

Six Packages Guaranteed to promptly, and permanently cure all forms of Nervous Weakness, Emissions, Spermatorrhea, Impotency and all effects of Abuse or Excesses, Mental Worry, excessive use of Tobacco, Opium or Stimulants, which soon lead to Insanity, Insanity, Consumption and an early grave. Has been prescribed over 35 years in thousands of cases; is the only Reliable and Honest Medicine known. Ask druggist for Wood's Phosphodine; if he offers some worthless medicine in place of this, inclose price in letter, and we will send by return mail. Price, one package, $1; six, $5. One will please, six will cure. Pamphlets free to any address.

The Wood Company,
Windsor, Ont., Canada.

Sold in Napanee and everywhere in Canada by all responsible druggists.

THE NAPAN

Vol. XXXVI] No 18.—JNO. POLLARD, Editor and Publisher. NAPANEE, ONT., CAN

5c. 5c.

I am still selling 3 lb. cans of Sugar Corn at the low price of 5c. The best in the market. Try it.

5c. 5c.

W. COXALL.

Spring Overcoats in the Latest Shades, from $5.00 up, a special.

Men's Shirts, any kind you want from 25c. up. Spring Underwear from 25c. up. Socks, Kid Gloves, Overalls, Neckwear, Sweaters for men and boys. We have a good assortment in these lines.

In Hats and Caps the very latest of English and American styles. Try one of our Stiff Hats, it is a beauty.

Some new lines of Men's Boots and Shoes to hand this week. Come and see them.

A. M. VINEBERG,

The Wonderful Cheap Clothier. Dundas st., Henry Block, Napanee

TIMOTHY

—AND—

CLOVER SEED

Bran and Shorts

Flour and Feed.

TAYLOR & MORRIS,

(Blewett's Old Stand.)

NEW PLAINING MILL AND LUMBER YARD.

Now in full operation. All kinds Lumber, Sash, Doors and Blinds. Custom work done on shortest notice. Get our prices before buying. Mr. Embury is prepared to draw plans for parties wanting them.

Embury, Greer & Co.

We Don't C

ONLY MI

In Napanee; but we do claim that we have a any other store, and that our prices are lower th on every article you buy.

MISS BAKER,

IT is only by unceasing effort and untiring e and shoulders over its competitors. Each customers. We never tire in looking a them. Your money back if at any time goods

Silks and Satins.

We show some very extra bargains in Si shades, worth $1, our price 57c. Black our price $1.19. Black Pean de Soie S Gros Grain Silk, worth $1.25, our pric patterns, cheap at 50c., our price 32½ Black Surah Silk, worth 75c., our price

Boys' Suits.

This department is interesting for the and save the mothers trouble and expen one at $1.48 per suit, and the other a money. We guarantee them the bigg for boys' clothing.

Table Linens.

We must keep pressing this matter o should buy table linens elsewhere, and in table linens, which we want to sell yo

Towellings from 3c. per yard up.

Men's ready-to-wear Pants, at 7

Cottonades, special, at 12½—

Ladies' "Empress" Shirt Waists, confined to u

Ladies' pure linen hem-stitched han

Table Napkins, specia

Ladies' ready-made Jackets,

Ladies' ready-made Jackets,

Prints from 5c. per yard up.

Flannelettes, special

HOUSES TO LET

MORTGAGE SALE OF VALUABLE

HOUSES TO LET.

Two commodious dwellings on Centre St. Plenty of good water, hard and soft. For particulars apply to S. CASEY DENISON.

ACTIVE MEN WISHING PERMANENT and paying employment can secure the same by engaging with us to sell our HARDY SPECIALTIES AND SEED POTATOES. All Canadian grown. Outfit free. Salary paid weekly. Write to us for particulars, and secure exclusive territory.

PELHAM NURSERY CO.

17 1a TORONTO, ONT.

REAL ESTATE AND INSURANCE.

I have several good farms of 50, 100 and 200 acres, at most moderate prices, and very easy terms of payment.
Several dwellings in the Town of Napanee.
Farm lands and city lots in Manitoba.
Insurance in Stock and Mutual Companies.
Money to loan at 5 per cent. on good Real Estate property. Apply to
M. C. BOGART.
4 tf Napanee.

T. W. SIMPSON, B.A., M.D., C.A.

Licentiate of the Royal College of Physicians Edinburgh.
Office—Dr. Grants' late residence, Bridge St

MARGARET P. SYMINGTON, M. D. C. M., Licentiate of Royal College of Physicians, Edinburgh.
Diseases of Women and Children.
Residence north side Market Square, 4th door west John street
Consultin hours 11 a.m. to 3 p.m., and 6 to 8 p.m. Telephone 87.

R. A. LEONARD, M.D., C.P.S.

Physician, Surgeon, etc.

Late House Surgeon of the Kingston General Hospital.
Office—North side of Dundas Street, between West and Robert Streets, Napanee. 5:1v

HERRINGTON & WARNER

Barristers, etc.

MONEY TO LOAN AT LOW RATES

Office—Warner Block, East-st, Napanee. 5y

DEROCHE & MADDEN,

Barristers,

Attorneys-at-Law, Solicitors in Chancery, Conveyancers, Notaries Public, etc.
Office—Grange block
Money to Loan at "lower than the lowest" rates
H. M. DEROCHE, Q.C. 5:1v J. H. MADDEN

MORDEN & RUTTAN,

Barristers, Solicitors, etc.

Solicitors for the Merchant's Bank of Canada etc., etc.
Dundas Street, Napanee.
G. F. RUTTAN.
Private funds to loan at five per cent.

A. S. ASHLEY,

DENTIST

16 Years in Napanee.
34 Years Experience.

Rooms, - Albert Block, - Napanee

DENTISTS

C. D. WARTMAN, L.D.S.
C. H. WARTMAN, D.D.S.

Graduates of the Royal College of Dental Surgeons of Ontario, and graduate of Toronto University.

OFFICE—LEONARD BLOCK,

Visits made to Tamworth the first Monday in each month, remaining over Tuesday. Rooms at Wheeler's Hotel.
All other Mondays C. D. Wartman will be in Yarker.
Napanee office open every day.

THE ROYAL HOTEL.
Dundas Street, Napanee.
H. HUNTER, Prop.

This commodious hotel is centrally situated having every convenience for the travelling and business public. Large yard and sheds for farmers.
Good table, best of wines liquors, and cigars The comfort of guests is made a first consideration.

JAS. AYLESWORTH,
General Business Agent.
POLICE MAGISTRATE for the Provincial Electoral District of Addington.
Conveyancer,
Issuer of Marriage Licenses.
Commissioner, etc., in H.C.J
Clerk, 7th Division Court, of the County of Lennox & Addington
TAMWORTH.

MORTGAGE SALE OF VALUABLE FARM PROPERTY.

Under and by virtue of the power of sale contained in a certain mortgage, which will be produced at the time of the sale, there will be offered for sale by public auction, at the office of Herrington & Warner, in the Town of Napanee, on Saturday, the 17th day of April, 1897.

at the hour of 2 o'clock in the afternoon, the following valuable farm property:—

ALL AND SINGULAR that certain parcel or tract of land and premises situate, lying and being in the Township of Camden in the County of Lennox and Addington, Province of Ontario being the Westerley seventy-five acres of lot number eighteen in the third concession of the said Township. The property will be offered for sale subject to a reserve bid and subject to the interest in the said lands of one Mary Jane Clancy.

Terms:—10 per cent of purchase money at the time of the sale; balance within thirty days thereafter.

Further particulars and conditions of sale will be made known at the time of sale, or may be had on application to the undersigned.

HERRINGTON & WARNER,
Vendor's Solicitors.

Dated at Napanee this 22nd day of March A. D 1897.

NOTICE.

A meeting of the Board of License Commissioners for the district of Addington will be held in the

INSPECTOR'S OFFICE,

TAMWORTH

—ON—

FRIDAY, APRIL 23rd, 1897

AT 10 O'CLOCK A.M.

for the consideration of applications for Tavern Licenses for the year 1897-8.

J. M. SMITH,
Secretary of Board.

JAMES HERCHMER,
Chairman.

The number of applications for Tavern Licenses for the year 1897-8, is 27. The number of Licenses issued for 1896-7 was 25.

The names of persons applying for Tavern Licenses for the year 1897-8, who are not licensed, are: Johnston Brown, Tichborne, and Robt. Burke, Clarendon.

J. M. SMITH,
Inspector.

Station, K. & P. Ry.
Tamworth April 6 h, 1897

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN THAT

The Board of Audit

FOR THE COUNTY OF

LENNOX AND ADDINGTON

will meet to audit the Public Accounts at

THE COURT HOUSE

—IN THE—

TOWN OF NAPANEE

—ON—

Monday, April 12th, A.D. 1897

at the hour of 10 o'clock a.m.

All accounts for audit must be delivered to the Clerk of the Peace on or before the 1st day of April, 1896. S. C. WARNER,
Clerk of the Peace.

Napanee, September 26th, 1896.

Among other fine pictures there is on exhibition this week in Hulett's show window an excellent picture of Miss Babitt, of Toronto, and Miss Lulu Embury. The picture is done in water colors.

CASTORIA

For Infants and Children.

Flannelettes, special,

THE ROB

NOTICE TO CREDITORS.

IN THE MATTER OF MILES SAMUEL PLUMLEY OF THE TOWN OF NAPANEE, IN THE COUNTY OF LENNOX AND ADDINGTON, INSOLVENT.

The above named Insolvent, Miles Samuel Plumley, has made an assignment to me of his estate and effects in pursuance of the Revised Statutes of Ontario, Chapter 124 and Amending Acts, in trust for the benefit of his creditors.

A meeting of the creditors of the said Miles Samuel Plumley will be held at my office on Dundas street, in the Town of Napanee, on

Friday, the 9th day of April

A. D., 1897,

at the hour of two o'clock in the afternoon,

for the appointment of Inspectors, and of the giving of directions for the disposal of the estate.

Creditors are required to file their claims against the estate with me, duly verified by affidavit, on or before the day of such meeting as provided by the said statutes.

T. D. PRUYN, Assignee.

Dated at Napanee, 30th March, 1897. 17b

NOTICE.

A meeting of the Board of License Commissioners for the License District of Lennox will be held in the

TOWN HALL,

—IN THE—

TOWN OF NAPANEE,

—ON—

THURSDAY, APRIL 22nd, '97

at the hour of 10 o'clock

for the purpose of considering applications for licenses for the ensuing year.

W. A. ROSE,
License Inspector.

Dated at Napanee April 3rd 1897.

There were issued in the License District of Lennox for the year 1896-7 fourteen tavern licenses and one shop license and there has been fourteen applications for tavern licenses and one for shop license for the ensuing year.

W. A. ROSE,
18b License Inspector.

MANITOBA MENTION.

Miami, Man.

The Doan Kidney Pills Co., Toronto, Ont:

Gentlemen,—I got a box of your Kidney Pills from the Miami Drug Store, determining to give them a chance to cure me of the kidney complaint, from which I have suffered for some time, and which has become so bad latterly that I could scarcely endure it. I may say that it resulted from a fall which I received a few months back. After using several kidney pills and cures of different kinds, but without receiving any benefit, therefore I am pleased to testify to the great benefit I have received from Doan's Kidney Pills. I have used only one box up to this date, and the change in my condition is so great that I cannot refrain from recommending them to any person afflicted as I have been, or troubled with any kidney disorder, for I believe that if they would cure me they would cure almost any case. I will be able to resume my farm work now, as usual, and it is not the lightest work either. I am, sirs,

Yours gratefully,
ALEXANDER FRASER,
Miami, Man.

Laxa Liver Pills cures constipation, biliousness, and sick headache; 25c.

Hulett has a very fine collection of frames suitable for chromos, etc.

Lace Boleros, cream and black and white just in at Lahey & McKenty's.

Taylor & Morris will continue in the flour and feed business, but will dispose of the grocery.

Mrs. Wm. Silver, while driving from Tamworth this week was thrown out of the wagon and had her leg broken at the thigh.

Health brand Underwear for ladies in spring weights, 50c and 75c a garment, at Lahey & McKenty's.

The Bay of Quinte railway is deserving of praise for the great reduction in their rates on market days. It has given a stimulus to trade that it was badly in need of.

J. S. Hulett treated his photograph gallery to a coat of paint this week, and has repapered the interior.

A tramping couple, who claimed to be man and wife, visited Napanee this week and endeavored to work charitably disposed people with a piteous tale. They were rank imposters and received a notice to leave town, which they complied with.

Speculation has been rife in regard to a bright light observed in the sky evenings for the past few weeks. Some have affirmed it is an electric light sent up from Peterborough. The Watertown Standard says it is the planet Venus which will be difficult to dodge as it is only 30,000,000 miles distant from us.

Forty members have been enrolled in the Boy's Brigade formed in connection with the Western church. The officers of the Brigade are: H. B. Collier, captain; A. E. Paul, 1st lieutenant; B. Spencer, 2nd lieutenant; and Parker Crossley, 3rd lieutenant.

Hiram Young, who once resided near Napanee, is being prosecuted for bigamy by Mrs. Rebecca Clegghammer, of Niagara Falls, N.Y. Young married the fair Rebecca in the States and after receiving her money, some $1,500, he returned to his first wife and started a grocery store in Toronto. Wife No. 2 is now after the festive Hiram with a club.

Detective Rogers has been on a still hunt for the tam o'shanter hat taken from McLeod's house on the night of the murder in place of the one left behind by the assassin. Rogers was in Brockville this week trying to locate the tam, but as yet his efforts have not been crowned with success.

A. S. Kimmerly, since the summer rate of freight has come, is able to give his many customers the finest re-cleaned Timothy Seed at $1.85 per bushel. I have just received a car of that Mammoth Southern Sweet Corn, price lower than ever before. One car of bran to be sold cheap. All kinds garden seed in stock. Have you tried our 5c corn, all new stock.

The Diamond Jubilee Waltzes, introducing the national anthems and other popular airs, is the latest gem from the hand of Jules Norman, the brilliant composer of 2238 St. Catharines street, Montreal. This beautiful set of waltzes will be sent to any address for 25c, half the original price for a limited time only. Address all orders to the author.

On Saturday last Raymond Ritely and Roy Lalonde, two little "toddlers" of eight, took into their heads to pay a visit to Raymond's uncle, who resides at Hay Bay. They started out and after a wearing ten mile tramp arrived at their destination, and [illegible] supper were soon in the arms of Morpheus. Their respec[illegible]

NEE EXPRESS.

NADA—FRIDAY, APRIL 9th 1897. $1 per Year in advance; $1.50 if not so paid.

Claim to Have the ILLINERY

ve as good an assortment of stylish goods as any r than any other store. We can save you money

R, head milliner.

g energy that this store is looming up head and ach day's success means bigger bargains for our g after our customers' interests and in pleasing ods are not perfectly satisfactory.

Silks and Satins. Beautiful Satin Merv, seven ack Brocade Silks, two patterns, worth $1.75, e Silk, extra quality, @ $1.24 per yard. Black price 98c. Blouse Silks, variety of shades and 32½c. Japanese Silks from 25c. per yard up.
ice 49c.

he mothers, because our boys' clothes wear well ense. This season we have two special lines—r at $1.78 per suit. They are worth double the iggest bargain you have ever seen. Come to us

r of table linens, for fear that some one person d thereby lose money. We have special values you.

Man's Suit, all wool, special, at $5.
79c.—98c.—$1.17—$1.25—&c.
½—14—15—18½—20—24c.
us. Large-sized White Quilts at $1 & $1.25.
andkerchiefs at 10c. and 12½c. each.
cial, at 98c. per dozen.
s, worth $5, our price $3.25.
s, worth $6.50, our price $3.95.
Lace Curtains from 25c. per pair up.
ial, at 5c.—7c.—7¾c.

Building Material of all Kinds.
FOR SALE AT REASONABLE PRICES.

Headquarters for Lumber of all kinds, Shingles, Lath, Doors, Sash, Mouldings, Portland Cement, Water Lime, Plaster Paris, Apple Barrels, Land Plaster, Porus Tile Windsor Salt, Coal, Wood and Charcoal.

Use our pressed Brick for your house and chimney, as cheap as any, and the best. Get our prices before purchasing.

THE RATHBUN CO'Y

Yard and office foot of Centre St R. SHIPMAN, Agent.

NEWS FROM THE COUNTRY.

DESERONTO.

The Bay of Quinte is completely clear of ice as far as can be seen, through it still holds below Adolphustown and in Big bay.

The Resolute left on Monday to force her way through to Oswego this afternoon.

The light rain Sunday night has started vegetation and the grass is getting quite green along the boulevards.

John Solmes left on Monday for Chicago, where he has accepted a position.

The big mill has commenced operations.

Earache Cured. DEAR SIRS,—I was troubled with earache for a long time and could get no ease until I tried Hagyard's Yellow Oil. I can truthfully say that it has made a complete cure.

MISS MARTHA M. RECTOR,
Central Economy, N.S.

WILTON.

Aunt Fanny Storms is very poorly and not expected to recover.

A. E. Gallagher has his new store running now at full blast.

Metzler cheese factory commenced operations for the season last Tuesday with a good supply of milk.

The remains of Mrs. Robert, and Mrs Jas. Miller were buried last Monday. Out of thirteen bodies placed in the vault this winter, eleven of them were women.

Master Percy Shibley, son of B. B. Shibley was taken to the Kingston hospital on Tuesday to have one of his eyes removed. His eye was hurt quite a while ago by a falling icicle and he has been gradually losing the sight of it since. We sincerely hope that the operation will prove entirely successful.

Weakness and Dyspepsia Cured DEAR SIRS,—I can heartily recommend Burdock Blood Bitters. For a long time I was troubled with dyspepsia and weakness. The least exertion would tire me out. I am glad to say, however, that your B. B. B. has greatly benefited me, curing the dyspepsia and making me strong and well.

JENNIE EVANS,
Hespeler, Ont.

KINGSFORD.

Mrs. Jas. McHenry is spending a few days in Kingston visiting friends.

David McAlister and sister Alice, of Shannonville spent Sunday the guests of their brother John of this place.

Albert Bowen and wife spent Sunday in Salem the guest of her sister. Mrs. B McCabe.

Nelson Hewitt spent Sunday in Napanee

Henry Sexsmith has been quite ill. The Dr. is attending him.

Stanley Gordon, of Napanee, paid a flying visit to friends here on Wednesday.

Willie Deline of Windover intends spending the summer with his uncle Mr. A Hewitt

Mrs Loyst of Arden is spending a week or two with her daughter Mrs. Wm Ballance.

Several attended Mr. A. McCullough's sale last week. He intends going to Manitoba to live.

Mr. Morley Shibley has erected a wind mill for cracking grain. it works to perfection. Give him a call.

The roads have dried up fine and good

Rev. E. S. Shorey was in Napanee on Monday last.

Mr. T. Gurren, jr. was the guest of Mr. S. Sills a few days last week.

Mr. G. H. Switzer of this place clipped a large number of horses in a very short time last week, about a horse per hour. George is a hustler.

Harry Phippen and E H. Wright are on the sick list.

FREDERICKSBURGH.

Union cheese factory commenced the season's operations on Monday. Geo. H. Robinson is again in charge as cheese maker.

Rev R. M. Pope was unable to attend the Sunday evening services owing to ill health. The reverend gentleman has not been in the best of health of late and much sickness necessitated many sick calls. The mortality rate has been high in this district of late, as since February 17th, Mr. Pope has preached seven funeral sermons at the White Church, Morven.

Work at the oil wells will be resumed at an early date.

Geo. A. Perry is shipping hay to the American markets

Miss Pauline Vandebogart and Miss Dollie Hawley, of Richmond, and Miss Maud Burley, of Fellows, have been spending a few days at Jas. Fraser's.

ERINSVILLE.

Sugar making was the gold dust of the last two weeks Maple syrup sold readily at one dollar per gallon. Now that the season is about expired the farmers are busy repairing fences and preparing for seeding.

Mr. Richard Hinch, of Clareview, left here on Wednesday with his family to reside in Kingston. We are sorry to see him go but wish him success.

Mrs. N. Phelan (hotel keepers) of Erinsville, is dangerously ill but hopes are entertained of her recovery. She is under the care of Dr. Clark.

Mr. Amab Thompson, of Thompsonville, is also dangerously ill with pneumonia.

The inhabitants of Clarkville are in a bustle as operations have begun in the wood factory.

Rumour says we are going to lose some of our young men who intend going to Michigan. We will be sorry to see you go but wish you health and success.

Our school is progressing nicely under the able management of Miss Jennie Ryan.

Mr. John Neville is seriously ill at present.

The lady and bycicle are seen on our street to-day.

TOWN COUNCIL.

Council Chamber,
April, 5th, 1897.

Council met in regular session Mayor Ward presiding. Present, Reeve Leonard Deputy Reeve Madole, Councillors Alexander, Boyle, Dey, Perry, Miller, Carson

Minutes of last regular meeting were read and confirmed.

A communication from the city clerk of Toronto asking the council to co-operate with the council of Toronto re the matter of tax exemptions and bringing the same before the legislature was read and laid on the table.

A communication from S. C. Warner, al, at 5c.—7c.—7¾c.

BINSON CO.

PERSONALS.

Mrs. D. Kelly, of Napanee, left on Tuesday for Watertown, N. Y.

Mrs. A. E. Paul and family are visiting her father, Mr. L. D. Williams, Camden East.

Miss Nellie Peck, has returned to town after a pleasant visit with friends in Trenton.

Mrs. George Lloyd received a handsome rocking chair from her daughter, Grace, of Belleville, last week as a birthday present.

Mr. and Mrs. Brock Meredith, of Kingston, spent Saturday and Sunday visiting friends in Napanee and Selby.

Mack Fralick has joined the ranks of the wheelmen.

Mr. and Mrs. Thos Naylor, of Deseronto, were visiting her parents Mr. and Mrs. Coates, on Sunday.

Mr. Jos. Pawley, spent Sunday in town the guest of Mr. E. Vanalstine.

Mr. Peter Henry, of Toronto, spent Sunday in town the guest of Mr. Wm. Gannons.

Parker Crossley spent a few days in Newburgh last week, the guest of Mr. Wm. Nugent.

Mr. Harry Ballerd and Miss Edna Shortts, of Newburgh, spent Sunday in town.

Miss Babitt, of Toronto, is visiting in town the guest of Miss Lulu Embury.

Mr. John McEvoy, of Napanee Mills spent Tuesday in town.

Mr. Fraser Bowerwan left for Chicago last week where he will take a course at Moody's Bible Institute

Mr. Alfred Rendell was confined to the house last week through illness, but we are pleased to see him around again this week attending to his duties as assessor.

Mr. F. S. Rockwell left for Chicago on Saturday.

Mr. Alex Karr, of the Star, was taken quite ill last week but his immense recuperative powers soon brought him around and he was on deck on Monday apparently as well as ever.

Messrs Nelson and Jack Robinson and Will Tait were the guests of Miss Carrie Sills, Pleasant Valley, on Sunday.

Mrs. Jno. Pollard the Misses Pollard and Mrs. Shannon, spent Wednesday the guest of Mrs. E. R. Sills, Pleasant Valley.

Mr. Uriah Wilson, M. P. attended the reception tendered to Mgr. Merry del Val, Papal Ablegate, at the Basilica, Ottawa, on Sunday evening last,

Clarence Vine, returned on Wednesday from an extended visit with his aunt, Mrs. Peter Aylsworth, Isabella County, Michigan.

Mr. Wm. Belcher, wife and family left for Watertown on Tuesday, where he will reside.

Mr. Edward Perry, of Violet, a brother of Rudd Perry, of Napanee, is critically ill with pneumonia.

J. A. Lochead, formerly of Napanee and Hamilton, is now settled at 43rd and Lawrence avenue, doing an excellent dentistry practice. We can confidently recommend Mr. Lochead as in every way reliable. His many friends will be glad to hear of his success in this great metropolis. His sister Clara, formerly of Centreville, near Napanee, is now in this city, pursuing her studies as a nurse at the Willie Hipp hospital on the south side.—Chicago Canadian-American.

Dr. J. P. Pulkinghorn, dental surgeon, has decided to open an office in Deseronto.

Wm. Gamble has removed to the old Huff estate at the west end of Napanee where he will go into gardening business on a large scale.—Tribune.

Mr. and Mrs. L. Savage left last week for their home in Melita, Manitoba. The happy couple are followed with the best wishes of a wide circle of friends.

Miss Stella Neilson, of Wilton, spent last Tuesday with friends in Napanee.

Mr. W. S. Herrington returned from Washington Saturday evening.

Mrs. Robert McCoy returned this week from an extended visit with her son, Mr. A. B. McCoy, Hawk, Lake.

Messrs. F. W. Shibley and C. M. Warner, of Napanee, are now nicely domiciled in their offices Bannigan Building, Providence, R. I. They are carrying on a loan and investment business.

Mrs. Lester Scott, of Napanee, underwent an operation in the Kingston General Hospital this week and is progressing nicely.

Mr. Archie Clarke has severed his connection with the Beaver.

Mr. H. M. Deroche, Q. C. will act as crown prosecutor at the Cornwall assizes, which open on the 20th inst. Mr. Deroche was at Picton on Monday and Tuesday attending the assizes as counsel for the crown.

Mrs. English, of Deseronto, has been the guest of her sister, Mrs. Dr. Ming, John st.

Mr. Nelson Aylsworth is we are pleased to say, able to be around again after his recent severe illness. He has assumed charge of his school.

Miss Lottie Allen has accepted a position as teacher in a school near Tamworth. She assumed charge on Monday.

Mrs. Duckworth, Belleville, has been the guest of Mrs. Dr. Ming, John st.

Mrs. E. W. Benjamin and Miss Hermine Conolly, of Yarker, are visiting friends in Napanee. They attended the millinery openings on Saturday.

Mrs. D. Caughey, Stella, who was injured by being thrown out of a cutter a few weeks ago, is able to be around again we are pleased to say.

Mr. Wm. Dey returned on Thursday from a few day's business trip in the back country. He reports that business is brightening up a bit.

Mr. Fred Scott has purchased a Leader bicycle.

Mr. Walters and S. C. Warner visited Belleville on Tuesday evening last.

Mr. Eakins of Belleville, was visiting friends in Napanee this week.

Mr. C. H. Wartman and Mr. W. A. Rockwell, gave a duet last Sunday evening in E. M. church that was greatly appreciated.

Rev. Roberts of the Tabernacle, Belleville, preached an Educational sermon in the Eastern Methodist church on last Tuesday. The collections were large.

Mrs. Frank Denyes, and son Walter of Odessa, are spending a week visiting friends in Belleville and Trenton.

Mr. Jim Butland, arrived in town last week He is critically ill.

BIRTHS

HURVID—At Deseronto, March 25th, wife of William Hurvid of twins—girls.

HALL—At Deseronto, March 27th, wife of Isaac Hall of a daughter.

MARTIN—At Tyendinaga, March 30th, wife of Elias Martin of a son.

SEXSMITH—At Bardolph, March 31st, wife of Alfred Sexsmith of a son.

REMO—At Deseronto, March 30th, wife of Louis Remo of a son.

MING—At Napanee, on Sunday, the wife of Dr. Ming of a son.

HOWELL—At Napanee, on March 25th, the wife of Benjamin Howell, of a Daughter.

MARRIAGES.

MCCONNELL—TYNER—At the parsonage Deseronto, on Tuesday, March 30th 1897, by the Rev. G. H. Copland, Mr. Frank McConnell to Miss Maria Tyner, both of the township of Richmond.

LEE—GOWDY—At Newburgh, on March 30th, Dennis Byard Lee, Yarker, to Hannah Jane Gowdy, Moscow.

BAIRD—RUSH—At Kingston on Feb. 24th 1897, by Rev. T. G. Smith, Mr. John C. Baird, of North Fredericksburgh, Kate M. Rush of Napanee, second daughter of the late Arthur Rush.

LEMMON—MCMULLEN—At St. John's church, Selby, on March 31st, by the Rev. W. G. Swayne, Charles Lemmon, of Thompsonville, to Miss Maria McMullen, of Enterprise.

DEATHS.

HYMERS—At Wilton, March 26th Mrs. Alexander Hymers aged 70 years.

WARD—At Wilton, March 29th Mrs. Christopher Ward, aged 80 years.

HOGEBOOM—In Ernestown, March 26th Lotta, infant daughter of Slyvester Hogeboom aged 3 months.

WARNER—In Toronto, March 18th 1897 Mrs. Julia Warner, widow of the late Rev. Lewis Warner, formerly of Wilton, County Lennox and Addington.

SAGAR—At Napanee, on Monday, Amos Sagar, aged 37 years.

WILLIAMS—At Bath, on Sunday, John Williams, aged 76 years.

MITCHELL—In Ernestown, on April 2nd. Nellie Mitchell, aged 5 months and two days.

ROMBOUGH—At Morven, on April 2nd, Mrs Jacob Rombough, aged 78 years.

Easter Display of Western Beef.

J. F. Smith is handling the very choicest Western Beef brought from Guelph. We have also the very finest lamb, veal, pork and Fearman's sugar cured hams, and selected English breakfast bacon. Be sure and call and see our Easter diaplay. We have made special preparation. These goods can be had at the Central Meat Market, two doors south of Post Office, J. W. Anderson, manager, or at the Grocery Store.

We have also the very finest line of gorceries, as cheap as the cheapest. Call and see our stock of fruit and note the prices. We guarantee our 25c. Tea to beat all others.

18b J. F. SMITH,
East End Grocery and Meat Market.

Our English wallpapers are winning favor every day. Better printed, nicer designs, fuller patterns. Prices commence at 5c. per roll. Pollard's bookstore.

One of Tyendinaga's oldest residents passed away Sunday in the person of James Robertson. Deceased was born in Perthshire, Scotland, eighty-seven yers ago, and came to this country when seventeen years of age.

British Columbia doesn't want the earth; an expenditure of fifty or sixty millions of public money for building a railway will suffice. Don't be modest, old girl, speak out for the earth—you may get the Toronto World.

tion. Give him a call.

The roads have dried up fine and good wheeling is the order of the day.

Quite a number in attendance at school these days

It makes red blood. Rosy, healthy people move the world. Madden Cereal is neither tea nor coffee but a food drink.

CENTREVILLE.

Spring is again with us and sugar making is about to an end. The frosty nights and sunny days have dried up the roads considerably and the dust is beginning to blow.

Fall grain and meadows in this vicinity have wintered well and at present look fine. Seeding will in all probability commence next week.

Mr. Chas. Lemmon, of Newburgh, and Miss Maria McMullen, of Centreville West, were married on the 31st, inst. Only the immediate friends of the contracting parties were in attendance.

The cheese factory will start next week and is sure to swim in milk this season. "As the past guarantees the future," so must last years' record of this factory, which was conside ably above its neighbors, guarantee an increased supply of milk the coming season.

Sales are at an end.

Another "Carson City" affair is arranged to take place here in the near future. The "principals" in this affair are two local middle-weights. They have both started training one here, while the other goes to Newburg.

Tender building is the order of the day.

H Asselstine is putting a shed for J. Cassidy.

The assessor has been through here, dogs are being assessed.

Visitors. Miss M. Ingoldsby, Newburgh, D. Cameron and J. McNeil, Hinch, Miss M. Thompson, Hay Bay, Miss L. Lochhead, Overton.

CONWAY AND SANDHURST.

Miss Susie Shorey has returned home from a lengthy visit to Kingston and vicinity and reports having had a most enjoyable time.

Mr. Higgins, and family, of Amherst Island, are domesticated in what was last summer the Presbyterian manse. Mr. Higgins is to be gardener for Tarry Hall establishment.

Repairs on the cheese factory are about completed, making the building more suitable for the cheese process, and more healthy for the employees.

Now that the ice is moving out of the bay parties wanting their boats repaired will do well to call on Mr Frank Wiskin who has put out his shingle in our town.

Mr. Hugh Hill, who had his hand hurt some time ago, is still unable to use it, but he hopes soon to be able to handle the plough.

Mr. Geo. Switzer was the guest of Mr. W. F. Fretts, Hawley, for a few days last week.

The carpenters are progressing rapidly at their work on the store. W. H. Wright, superintendent.

Mr. C. V. Wright journeyed to Newburgh last week and purchased a new canopy top buggy. Charlie now has the finest buggy on the road.

Mr. Wm. Wright has also purchased a new cart and buggy. Bill intends to drive the ladies around this summer.

Our bicycle scorcher has made his appearance again this season, his wheel resplendent on a new coat of red paint, attracks the attention of our young ladies who pay considerable attention to the bicyclist.

James A. Hill, jr. of Napanee, spent Sunday last visiting friends in this vicinity. Come again James.

Mr. Allen Neilson, of Tarry Hall, has purchased Bessie Stanton from Mr. J. T. Hill, of Napanee.

Mr. John Homer is at present the guest of Miss Prudence Fwry.

Mr. Sidney Shorey left for Napanee on Sunday last.

Mr. R. Wright has traded off his phaeton with Mr. Charlie Wright of this place.

Tarry Hall is being renovated and generally repaired, in order that it may be ready for use as soon as the boats run.

Messrs. G. Wright, M. Switzer and T. Gurren were in Napanee on Tuesday with a fine lot of hogs.

Our baseball club is being organized for the coming season. The prospects for the same are very bright and the "vigorous nine" expect to play a series of games with their near neighbors in which no doubt they will be successful.

Miss Martha Phippen is convalescent.

Mr. John Collins has secured a paying job at Cressy.

The Presbyterians intend holding a sugar social at Ballyduff on Monday evening next.

the table.

A communication from S. C. Warner, town solicitor, was read stating that the council had the power to grant a bonus towards a citizen's band.

A petition was presented asking that a sidewalk be built from John street to Savage and Frikin's blacksmith shop. It was referred to the Street Committee.

A petition was presented, signed by a large number of ratepayers, praying the council to grant a sum of money towards the establishment of a citizens' band. It was read and referred to the Finance Committee to report.

The Finance Committee presented its report, showing account overdrawn at bank to be $7.00. The chairman explained that there was a large amount out in unpaid taxes. The committee recommended that Frank Walker's taxes for 1895 be remitted. The report was adopted.

The Street Committee was granted further time to report upon the matters referred to them.

The Fire, Water and Light Committee reported, recommending that the electric light account be paid, less $20, for insufficient service. Adopted.

The report of the committee to whom was referred the recent communication from the Fire Underwriter's Association threatening to lower the rating of the town unless certain action was taken was read and certain recommendations were made which were adopted. The committee recommended that certain clauses in the Fire Underwriters Association report be adopted, but that the others would entail too great an expense.

A petition praying that a four foot walk be put down on the north side of Graham street, between John and Centre streets, was read and referred to the Street Committee.

No action was taken re the petition of W. H. Whitmarsh.

On motion of Carson and Alexander the police were instructed to enforce the by-laws in reference to obstructions on the sidewalks.

On motion $30 was placed at the disposal of the Poor and Sanitary Committee.

On motion $25 was placed in the hands of the chief of police to provide a new suit of clothes.

Dr. Leonard gave notice that at the next meeting of the council he would move to amend the by-law relating to the riding of bicycles on the sidewalk.

Deputy Reeve Madole drew the attention of the Street Committee to the bad state of the street in front of Mrs. Flimdel Hawley's, caused, he thought, by a leak in the water main. The matter was referred to the Fire, Water and Light Committee.

Mayor Ward referred to the advisability of the town securing some road making machinery. A machine that would crush granite would be a great addition both for road and sidewalk purposes. He thought if the town would put in a crusher and road machine the neighboring townships would co-operate with them. Reeve Leonard, Deputy Reeve Madole, Councillors Carson, Miller and others thought that it was worthy of consideration.

It was moved by Madole and Carson that the Mayor and Street Committee be appointed to confer with Richmond, Ernestown and North Fredericksburgh re the purchase of a crusher for road purposes. Carried.

Quite a little breeze occurred between Coun. Carson and Reeve Leonard over the enforcement of the regulation restricting the riding of bicycles on the sidewalk. Coun. Carson thought the Chief had been showing undue favoritism in the enforcement of the by law. He thought the Chief should pay as much attention to the older men, who transgress the law, as the boys. It is purposed to amend the by-law so that on the payment of a license bicyclists can ride their wheels on certain sidewalks in the town, under certain conditions.

Council adjourned.

Thomas Edgar, Richmond, has leased the George Finkle farm, North Fredericksburgh.

40 RED-COATS

Put to route an Army of Formidable Trespassers.

Constipation, Dizziness, Pain under the Shoulder Blades, Sick Headache, Depressed Feeling, Bloating After Eating, Debility and Insomnia, Results from an Inactive Liver.

900 DROPS

CASTORIA

A Vegetable Preparation for Assimilating the Food and Regulating the Stomachs and Bowels of

INFANTS CHILDREN

Promotes Digestion, Cheerfulness and Rest. Contains neither Opium, Morphine nor Mineral. NOT NARCOTIC.

Recipe of Old Dr SAMUEL PITCHER

Pumpkin Seed -
Alx. Senna +
Rochelle Salts -
Anise Seed +
Peppermint
Bi Carbonate Soda +
Worm Seed -
Clarified Sugar -
Wintergreen Flavor.

A perfect Remedy for Constipation, Sour Stomach, Diarrhoea, Worms, Convulsions, Feverishness and LOSS OF SLEEP.

Fac Simile Signature of
Chas. H. Fletcher,
NEW YORK.

At 6 months old
35 DOSES - 35 CENTS

EXACT COPY OF WRAPPER.

SEE THAT THE FAC-SIMILE SIGNATURE —OF— Chas. H. Fletcher. IS ON THE WRAPPER OF EVERY BOTTLE OF CASTORIA

Castoria is put up in one-size bottles only. It is not sold in bulk. Don't allow anyone to sell you anything else on the plea or promise that it is "just as good" and "will answer every purpose." See that you get C-A-S-T-O-R-I-A.

The fac-simile signature of Chas. H. Fletcher is on every wrapper.

TO THE MAN.

When a siren comes up slyly
And proceeds to flatter you—
Tells you that your work is grander
Than your rival e'er can do—
Don't bow down to her in worship,
Though you may be so inclined,
For, perchance—there is no telling—
She may have an axe to grind.

TO THE MATRON.

When the charmer whispers to you
Words that set your brain awhirl—
Tells you that you look so youthful
And rosy as a girl,
Do not listen—do not suffer
Him to captivate your mind,
For the chances are, good woman,
That there is an axe to grind!

TO THE YOUTH.

When a world-worn woman tells you
That you are a "heartless man;"
That she wishes to forget you,
But, "ah, that she never can,"
Then, dear boy, get up and scamper—
Pray for wings to cleave the wind,
For 'tis certain that there's some one
With a gleaming axe to grind.

SIGNS OF SPRING.

A Prose Contribution About an Unusually Poetical Subject.

That spring is approaching is apparent in the alarming shrinkage that is noticed in the coal bin, and in the corresponding increase in the cinder accumulation in the cellar.

Suburbans about this time begin to consult the seedman's catalogue and imagine a vain thing when they hope to duplicate in their own gardens the gigantic vegetables and splendid efflorescence that is pictured forth in radiant colors upon its pages.

Bangs refuse to crinkle, petticoats are fringed with the rich soil of Mother Earth and the weather is generally favorable to the airing of umbrellas and goloshes.

Doctors drive about from house to house in brisk career and the face of the apothecary is one vast substantial smile.

Umbrellas are turned inside out and headgear is borne upon the wings of the wind.

In the cars the talk is made up of prognostications of the broken back of winter, alleged, and of fairy tales in which the early pea is the prominent figure.

Overcoats begin to show a threadbare appearance and troubled looks are directed toward flabby pocketbooks.

The house hunter makes ready to start out on his peregrinations and signs of "To let" blossom forth upon every hand.

In short, the gladsome springtime, the season of the real mildness, is upon us.

The one blessed thing about gentle spring consists in the fact that it does not last all the year round.—Boston Transcript.

"Who is that young woman sitting there by the heater? I mean the one with the willowy figure, ashy complexion and chestnut hair?"

"That? Oh, that is Miss Wood."—Cincinnati Enquirer.

"Cheer up, old man; spring is on the way."

"That's what saddens me; the people next door who borrowed our snow shovel all winter have moved and taken their lawn mower along."—Chicago Record.

"How on earth did you come to marry such a woman hater?"

"I suppose he was converted. I guess he was only consistent."—Detroit Journal.

"Now, when you ask papa for me be sure to face him like a man."

"You bet I will. He doesn't get any chance at my back if I can help it."—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

"I wonder why the tax levy is made in mills instead of cents," remarked Beechwood.

"That is in accordance with the eternal fitness of things," replied Homewood.

"Well."

"Because it grinds the taxpayers."—Pittsburg Chronicle-Telegraph.

No Gripe

When you take Hood's Pills. The big, old-fashioned, sugar-coated pills, which tear you all to pieces, are not in it with Hood's. Easy to take and easy to operate, is true of Hood's Pills, which are up to date in every respect. Safe, certain and sure. All druggists. 25c. C. I. Hood & Co., Lowell, Mass. The only Pills to take with Hood's Sarsaparilla.

Hood's Pills

FROM OUR EXCHANGES.

GILDED BAITS.
Kincardine Review

"Is it wrong to cheat a lawyer?" was recently very ably discussed by the members of a debating society. The conclusion arrived at was that it was not wrong, but impossible.

HORNER HAS A PLUM.
Tweed News.

Horner has seen the zenith of his fame. The tide of public sympathy and public sentiment is now turned against him and 'twill be only a short time before he is stripped of all his glory. But the wily preacher has been feathering his nest during these years and will step down with his pockets well lined.

WELL, RATHER.
Tiverton Watchman.

The Hamilton Spectator, a leading light in Conservative journalistic ranks, and one of the most ably conducted Conservative papers in the Province, in speaking of prohibitionists, says: "If they (the prohibitionists) come to the Conservative party they will be told firmly and candidly that the Conservative party is not in the prohibition business. They have always been told that when they approached the Conservative party." This is, no doubt, true. And still there are some very enthusiastic prohibitionists, who would like to turn out of power the only government that has ever given temperance legislation and and replace it by a Conservative government that would tell them firmly and candidly that it is not in the temperance business. Strange, isn't it?

CHERRY'S TROUBLES

Were of the Heart—Human Skill was Almost Defeated when Dr. Agnew's Cure for the Heart Fell Into the Breach, and in a few Minutes After One Dose He Found Great Relief, and Five Bottles Made a Bad Heart a Good One.

Wm. Cherry, of Owen Sound, Ont., writes: "For the past two years I have been greatly troubled with weakness of the heart and fainting spells. I tried several remedies, and consulted best physicians without any apparent relief. I noticed testimonials of great cures made by Dr. Agnew's Cure for the Heart. I procured a bottle, and the first dose gave me great relief. The first bottle did wonders for me. After using five bottles there are none of the symptoms remaining whatever. I think it a great boon to mankind." Sold by A. W. Grange & Bro.

IT RAINED OYSTER SOUP.

Queer Yarn of an Engineer and How He Saved His Train.

He was more than an ordinarily accomplished liar for an amateur, and they all knew it when they asked him for a story, says The Chicago Times-Herald.

"I can tell you how I once ran an engine and saved a train load of people with an oyster stew if you want to know, but I don't think of anything more exciting than that," he said, apologetically.

"That's good enough," they all declared. "Give us that."

"All right, then; here goes," he said, as he settled back in his chair. "I was once engineer on a road that ran for a long distance through the forests of northern Wisconsin, and we were frequently bothered by forest fires. They were particularly bad at the time I speak of. One day I had run through one big blaze only to find that there was a bigger one ahead. The worst of it was we were low on water, and there was no chance to fill the tank without

The Dominion Bank
ESTABLISHED 1871.

CAPITAL — $1,500,000.00
RESERVE FUND — $1,450,000.00

Deposits received and interest allowed. Drafts on all parts of Great Britain and United States bought and sold.

E. H. BAINES, Agent.

THE - MERCHANTS - BANK
OF CANADA
Head Office, — Montreal
Capital paid up, $6,000,000
Surplus, $3,000,000
INTFREST AT CURRENT RATES PAID ON DEPOSITS.
A GENERAL BANKING BUSINESS TRANSACTED.
W. A. BELLHOUSE,
Manager, Napanee Branch

EPPS'S COCOA
ENGLISH BREAKFAST COCOA
Possesses the following Distinctive Merits:
DELICACY OF FLAVOR
SUPERIORITY IN QUALITY.
Grateful and Comforting to the Nervous or Dyspeptic.
NUTRITIVE QUALITIES UNRIVALLED.
In Quarter-Pound Tins Only.
Prepared by JAMES EPPS & Co., Ltd., Homœopathic Chemists, London, England.

Provincial Building and Loan Association, Toronto.

Local Advisory Board at

THE Departmental Store is getting much valuable free advertising these days. On Monday Mr. Middleton introduced a bill in the Local Legislature to regulale departmental stores and an interesting discusaion ensued The majority of the speakers looked upon these stores as monopolies, and thought they should be restricted. In attempting to fight the big department stores the people engaged in it are running up against an inexorable law of economics. Concentration comes in obedience to the relentless law of supply and demand and the trust and the department store spring from common soil. You may restrict and hamper its workings but the department store will still find means to obey the demands of social economy.

MR. MORIN, M. P., of Dorchester, wanted to know you know in the House of Commons last week why the Bay St. Paul and Murray Bay mail contract had been cancelled, and that enquiring gentleman found out. The contract had been awarded previously to one Alexis Bouchard at $1170 per year, provided he divided up with Jean Bouchard, whose tender was $930 per year. In December, 1896, there was an election on in Charlevoix and the Tories urged Sir Adolph Caron to renew Bouchard's contract, which had expired, "as the renewal of this contract is calculated to procure for us a large number of votes at Les Eboulements and here," wrote A. H. Simard, a Tory heeler. The jaunty Sir Adolph attended to the matter and the contract was renewed for four years at the old rate, $1170 per year. Mr. Mullock, the present honest and efficient Postmaster General, explained that he had cancelled the contract and re-let it at public tender at $849 a year, thus making a saving of $1284 in the four years. This is a fair illustration of the manner in which contracts were

A FARMER'S WIFE.

TELLS A STORY OF YEARS OF PAIN AND SUFFERING.

Doctors Utterly Failed to Help Her and Morphine was Continually Resorted to—Because So Weak She Could Scarcely Perform Her Household Duties.

Napanee.

President, M. S. Madole Esq; Vice Pres., G. W. Gibbard Esq., F. W. Morris, T. D. Pruyn, J. J. Taylor, Chas. Frizzell, Dr. G. W Edwards, W. P. Deroche. Solicitors Messrs. Deroche and Madden. Valuator, W. Embury; Sect. Treasurer and Agent, Irvine Parks.

from whom all information can be obtained. Money received on investment at good interest, and money loaned on easy terms of repayment.

Apply to I. Parks, Agent.

Pain-Killer.

(PERRY DAVIS'.)

A Sure and Safe Remedy in every case and every kind of Bowel Complaint is

Pain-Killer.

This is a true statement and it can't be made too strong or too emphatic.

It is a simple, safe and quick cure for

Cramps, Cough, Rheumatism,
Colic, Colds, Neuralgia,
Diarrhœa, Croup, Toothache.

TWO SIZES, 25c. and 50c.

VERY LARGE BOTTLES 50 CENTS.

Relief for Lung Troubles

The D. & L. EMULSION

In CONSUMPTION and all LUNG DISEASES, SPITTING OF BLOOD, COUGH, LOSS OF APPETITE, DEBILITY, the benefits of this article are most manifest.

By the aid of The D. & L. Emulsion I have got rid of a hacking cough which had troubled me for over a year, and have gained considerably in weight. I like this Emulsion so well I was glad when the time came around to take it.

T. H. WINGHAM, C.E., Montreal

50c. and $1 per Bottle

DAVIS & LAWRENCE CO., LTD., MONTREAL

The Napanee Express

NAPANEE, FRIDAY, APRIL 9th, 1897.

THE people are with us, and the power of the Bishops will not avail against us.

THE weakness of the opposition in the Ontario Legislature was never more painfully apparent than during the present session.

THE Catholic priests in Champlain are unwittingly doing a great harm to christianity by likening the Conservative party to the Almighty. Comparisons of this kind are particularly odious.

THE Ontario Government has introduced a mining bill which is well calculated to conserve the interests of the people. It is a really pleasant thing to know that our provincial affairs are in such capable hands.

IF the instructions given out from the pulpits by the French priests in Champlain are carried out the campaign will indeed have been an interesting one for the Liberals. "Drive the Liberal speakers out of the parish with sticks—set the dogs on them" is the kindly reception one priest advises his flock to accord them. If the advice were followed, starring [illegible] Uncle Tom's Cabin would be tame compared awarded under the old regime.

UNDER the Tory regime the Government was honeycombed with corruption and the civil service loaded up with a host of parasites who did nothing in return for the princely salaries they drew at the expense of the sweating taxpayer of Canada. When the cabinet of incapables made way for the business administration which was ushered in as a result of the voting on the 23rd of June, the hangers on virtually received a notice to quit. The Liberals found the civil service lumbered up with a lot of men who toiled not, neither do they spin, and since their advent to power they have honestly endeavored to weed them out and stop some of the leaks in the treasury. We all know how this attempt to introduce business methods in the government of our country has been met by the Tory press. Every time an unnecessary and useless civil servant has been dismissed Tory journals have raised the cry that the Liberals have introduced the spoils system. A short time ago the cry was raised that the Liberal guillotine had reached Prince Edward County. We are pleased to say that it did and it would have been a good thing for the country if the same guillotine had got in its work eighteen years ago. The investigation which led to the dismissal of the customs and preventive officers in this neighboring county disclosed a disgraceful state of affairs, which, we regret to say, was general throughout the Dominion. In the House of Commons on Monday, in reply to a question by Mr. Pettet, of Prince Edward County, Mr. Patterson, Controller of Customs, informed the House that since the Reform Government assumed power eight officers in Prince Edward County had been dismissed and as many out ports and preventive stations attached to the port of Picton, at which they were formerly stationed, had been abolished. The figures of receipts at these stations and the salaries paid the officers are almost beyond belief. Here they are as given by the Ottawa correspondent of the Globe. George J. C. Hadd, a sub-collector at Weller's Bay, got a salary of $400 a year. He did not collect a cent in 1892-93 and 1893-94. In 1894-95 he collected 40 cents, and in 1896 89. The expense of collection was $1,600 in four years, and the receipts 89. Another holder of a sinecure was John Shannon, preventive officer at Black River Bridge, who has drawn $200 a year. During the past three years he did not collect a single dollar. Scarcely less glaring were the other cases. The Picton Gazette and other party organs, who have been very offensive in their references to the "hungry Grits," will have to do some figuring in order to square their remarks with the action of the Controller of Customs. These men were not dismissed to make places for Grits. They were men who were appointed to sinecures as a reward for party services, and with the advent of an honest and business-like administration they were not only dismissed but the offices they held abolished. If this is a sample of the Spoils System by all means let the Government adopt and rigorously enforce it.

Madden's Enamel is the only stove pipe varnish that does not smell or smoke when applied to stove pipes, ranges, grates, etc. Ask your dealer for it. 45tf

A Triumph Won. Before taking Doan's Kidney Pills I felt that diabetes was fast tightening its grip upon me. Now I know that it has been met and defeated. I have used the pills steadily for some time, and am now in the full enjoyment of health, and shall always be glad to testify to the merits of this triumphant medicine.

RICHARD LYMAN,
St. John, N. B.

Wanted—An Idea Who can think of some simple thing to patent? protect your ideas; they may bring you wealth.

From the Beaver, Napanee.

Mr. and Mrs. Robt. Stone have been residents of the township of Ernestown, about ten miles east of Napanee, for a period of about three years, and in that time have gained the esteem of all their neighbors. For six years previous to this time they had lived in Glenwood Springs, Colorado, and it was during their residence there that Mrs. Stone was attacked with an illness that made her life miserable for years. To a reporter who recently interviewed her she told the following story: "During the early part of our residence in Colorado, my illness first came on. At the outset every two or three weeks I would be attacked with a pain in my stomach. Later on it greatly increaced in severity, and at times was so bad that I would scream aloud with the pain. A doctor was called in, but the only benefit I ever received from his treatment was through the injection of morphine into my arm, as a result of which the pain would gradually pass away. The medicine which was given me, however, had not the slightest effect, and the doctor appeared to be greatly perplexed, and thereafter continually resorted to injections of morphine whenever the attacks came on. These attacks continued at intervals until our return to Canada, when they increased in frequency and intenseness. The result was that I grew very weak, and my whole system appeared to be giving out. My complexion turned a yellowish hue, and I had little or no appetite. Latterly I would be attacked with fainting spells, preceded by attacks of dizziness. I became utterly unable to stand fatigue, and could with the greatest difficulty perform my household duties. A doctor was called in who treated me for some time without benefitting me any. Then he gave me what I now know to be Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, and after I had used two boxes I felt somewhat better. I then purchased the pills myself and continued the treatment. I found that the pain was gradually decreasing. I could get rest and sleep at night, which had hitherto been almost impossible. I continued using Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for several months, and the result is that they have effected a complete cure, and I am now enjoying the best of health. I can assure you it is a great relief to be free from the trouble that made my life miserable for so many years and I have to thank Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for succeeding when doctors had failed.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills act directly upon the blood and nerves, building them anew and thus driving disease from the system. There is no trouble due to either of these causes which Pink Pills will not cure, and in hundreds of cases they have restored patients to health after all other remedies had failed. Ask for Dr. Williams' Pink Pills and take nothing else. The genuine are always enclosed in boxes the wrapper around which bears the full trade mark, "Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People." May be had from all dealers or sent post paid on receipt of 50 cents a box or 6 boxes for $2.50, by addressing the Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Brockville, dashing through the fire ahead of us. I sent the fireman out to see if we had enough to make the run, but he came back and told me the boiler was almost dry.

"I was puzzled for a while. It was death to all of us I knew to stay there, but how to get out was the question. Suddenly a happy thought struck me. There was a milk car just behind the first baggage, and I made for it. 'How much milk have you got?' I says to the fellow in charge. 'About forty cans, I guess,' he answered. 'Why do you ask?' 'Never mind,' says I. 'What's that in those cans in the corner?' 'Oysters,' he answered. 'But why do you want to know?' 'Never you mind,' I told him and then I ordered the other train hands who had come up to see why we had stopped to tote that milk and those oysters up to the engine. They did it in spite of the kicking of the milkman, and when they had brought them up I ordered them all chucked into the tank. The conductor came up, too, and declared it was a funny notion to be making oyster stew in an engine boiler, when we were in danger of being burned alive, but I soon convinced him that it was necessary if we did not want to stay there and roast.

"Well, we finally dumped in all the milk and all the oysters and started ahead. You ought to have smelled the steam that came back into that engine cab. It would have made you think of an old time church festival. Whew! how that soup did smell. It made the engine jump, though, and that was all we wanted. We got up a great head of steam in no time, and the way we plunged through that next fire belt was a caution. As we pulled up at the station just beyond I opened up and began to whistle. A great cloud of oyster soup or vapor shot into the sky, of course, and didn't come down till we were far out of sight. Then it settled like a thick fog, oysters, soup and all. Everybody noticed it, of course, and there was a country scientist in the town who was sure it was the greatest phenomenon of the age. It was raining oyster soup up there he was sure and the next issue of the weekly papers were full of it—not the soup, but the news of it. After the residents up that way had all swallowed it—not the soup, but the story—we told them about it, and that was the silliest looking scientist I ever saw."

A Poor Excuse Better Than None.

Truthful Tommy (caught in the act)—Honest, mamma, I wasn't takin' any cake—I was jest puttin' back a piece I saw fall on the floor.

And So On.

Crummer—Here is a funny thing I have noticed.

Gilleland—Out with it.

Crummer—It is invariably the case that the less a society woman has on her back the less cash her husband has in his pockets.

The Blow Little Softened.

"We will not discharge you," said the manager. "We shall allow you to tender your resignation."

"Tendering it will not make it any less tough," said the young man who was getting laid off until better times.—Cincinnati Enquirer.

Which Is a Fact.

She—No. I don't prefer men who are known to be rich.

He—How can that be?

She—They don't spend their money so freely as men who want to be known as rich.

Tobacco Heart.—Much heart and nerve weakness is caused by undue use of tea, coffee, or tobacco; palpitation, nervousness, irritability, excitability, lack of confidence, etc., are sure symptoms. Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills bring ready relief, by steadying the nerves and regulating the heart. They are a true heart and nerve food.

CASTORIA.

BICYCLES,

We have an elegant range of Bicycles direct from the best makers.

COLUMBIA, STEARNS, HARTFORD, UTICA AND OHIO WHEELS.

A $65.00 Wheel for $50.00.

DROP IN AND LOOK AT THEM.

NO ONE CAN UNDERSELL US IN SHOES,

SEE THEM

HAINES & LOCKETT,

4 BIG SHOE STORES

NO CREDIT. ONE PRICE.

New Spring Gent's Wear

Just opened out. New Scotch, English and Canadian Suitings and Pantings, in all the Latest Patterns. Black, Blue, Brown Worsteds for Overcoatings at Popular Prices.

Nice Suits Made to Order from $12.50 Upwards.

Please call before purchasing and inspect our stock

R. FORD. T. G. DAVIS.

LOST.

RIGHT FROM THE MINES.

TIMING THE EGGS.

How It Was Done to Perfection Without a Timepiece or Glass.

It is a common saying that every cook, if she is a cook, has a method of her own. Whether this rule could apply to so simple a matter as boiling an egg might have seemed doubtful, but a story related by The Baltimore Herald shows the doubt ill-founded. The story in question has to do with Bishop Paret of Maryland, who, of course, has often to go about the country, and to be entertained by hospitable families.

On a trip into West Virginia, not very long ago, he put up at a house, the lady of which is a devoted member of the chuch, one of those dainty women who go cheerfully about their housework singing hymns.

Anxious to please her distinguished guest, she had inquired as to the bishop's favorite dishes, and had been told that he was fond of eggs for breakfast, preferring them hard-boiled.

The next morning, therefore, she rose early and went down to the kitchen to supervise the cooking of this portion of the breakfast. The bishop also rose early, and coming downstairs, took a seat in the dining-room, talking to his entertainer as she hurried to and from the kitchen.

Finally she went into the kitchen with two eggs, and a moment later began to sing that good old hymn "Rock of Ages." Finishing the first stanza she paused for a moment and then started on the second, the bishop joining in the singing.

When the stanza was finished there was silence, and the bishop remarked: "Why not sing the third verse?"

"The third verse?" replied the lady, as she came into the dining-room bringing the steaming eggs, "Oh, that's not necessary!"

"I don't understand," replied Bishop Paret.

"Why, you, see," she said, "when I am cooking eggs, I always sing one verse for soft-boiled and two for hard-boiled."

"Oh! I see," said the bishop, as he broke the shell of one of the eggs to find that the new method of timing had worked admirably.

Blown Up by Dynamite.

Gen. Dudley Avery is one man among a million; he has been blown up by dynamite and lives to tell the tale. How it happened and how he felt is seen from his own account of the matter as printed in The New Orleans Times-Democrat.

One of the most exciting episodes of my life took place on Avery's Island, when ten thousand pounds of dynamite exploded.

I was in the neighborhood of the building in which the dynamite was stored, and when the storm came on I took shelter under a shed which was some distance from the explosive and was used as a blacksmith shop by a

THE KING OF MAN-KILLERS

Bright's Disease of the Kidneys Baffled the World's most Eminent Medical Authorities until

DODD'S KIDNEY PILLS

Came to the Rescue and Delivery of Mankind Stopping Forever the Deadly Assaults of Life's Most Insidious Foe.

Men are dropping from the ranks everywhere. Cut down in the flower of youth or the fruitage of manhood by that ruthless destroyer—Bright's Disease of the Kidneys.

Only a few days ago Sir Hercules Robinson, the doughty Governor of Cape Colony was forced to resign that post because of encroaching Bright's Disease.

Hardly had his successor been appointed when the wires brought tidings of the death of William P. St. John, a New York banker, and remembered by everyone as the treasurer of the National Democratic party during the latest national campaign. Bright's Disease carried him off.

It has killed many better men than most of us. So has Diabetes, its twin curse. Yet there is one cure (and only one) that never fails in cases of Diabetes and Bright's Disease. Let these testimonals bear witness:

MR. FRED CARTIENS, Palmerston, Ont., says:—"After many years suffering with Bright's Disease, I am a new man, cured by using three boxes of Dodd's Kidney Pills."

MR. F. X. GROULX, Ottawa, Ont., says: "Dodd's Kidney Pills have been a godsend to me as they have cured me of Bright's Disease of the Kidneys."

S. G. MOORE, Kink St., London, Ont., says: "After taking a few boxes of Dodd's Kidney Pills I am as well as ever in my life, despairing of recovery from Bright's Disease."

MR. CHAS. T. BYE, Garrysowen P.O. Ont. says: "For the past three years have suffered of Diabetes, but noticing cures published I have used Dodd's Kidney Pills which have perfectly cured me."

DODD'S KIDNEY PILLS are for sale by druggists everywhere, and by the Dodd's Medicine Co., Toronto, Ont. Price 50 cents a box.

The Peculiar Way in Which Dashaway Lost One Good Dinner.

Dashaway—Condole with me, old man. I have just lost a very excellent dinner.

Cleverton—In what way?

Dashaway—Over a bet. The other day Van Winkle, Stuffer and myself were strolling down the avenue, and I happened to mention that a few nights before I had met a certain Miss Miller at a dinner for the first time, and the question came up as to whether, if she met me on the street, she would bow. Van Winkle and I got into a heated discussion over it. He maintained that she wouldn't bow; that it wasn't customary, and I said she would. Then I bet him the finest dinner that could be bought that the next time I met her she would bow, and he took me up. We got quite excited over it, when, by jove! what do you think happened?

Cleverton—You met the girl?

Dashaway—Precisely. I happened to look up, and there she was, bearing down on us.

Cleverton—And she of course didn't bow, and you lost your bet.

Dashaway—But she did bow and I won the bet. But (sadly) I lost the dinner, old fellow.

Cleverton (puzzled)—I don't see how that could be.

Dashaway—You forget that Stuffer was there. While Van Winkle and I were betting and were so excited, he had made a remark that we agreed to. We didn't exactly grasp the meaning of it until afterward.

Cleverton—What on earth could it have been?

Dashaway (gloomily)—He said he would hold the stakes.—Philadelphia Press.

Susie's Rejection.

"Mrs. Weeds," said Mr. Jones, "I asked your daughter to marry me, and she referred me to you."

"I'm sure that's very kind of Susie, but then she always was a dutiful girl. Really, Mr. Jones, I hadn't thought of marrying again at my time of life, but since you insist, suppose we make the wedding day next Thursday week."

No Wonder.

"What's that—a receiver for Johnson?"

"That's what the paper says."

"But I thought he was doing a rattling good business?"

"Yes. I guess he was, but he was buying wheels for his family on the instalment plan."—Detroit News.

The Right Kind of Wife.

"Does your wife take any interest in current politics?" asked the earnest woman.

"Naw," replied Mr. Sodfarm, "she dun't. But if it's currant jelly er currant pie, why, I allow she could tell you more things about 'em 'n you ever dremp of."—Cincinnati Enquirer.

Hard Luck.

Reals—Is Bagley head over heels in debt?

Beals—Yes, I hear so. He signed a contract with his tailor to pay two dollars a night for the hire of a dress suit till he returned it. After the second night it was stolen!

Family Ties may be Broken in the Grand Rush for Gold, but What's Wealth Without Health—Dr. Agnew's Catarrhal Power is a Wonderful Cure—It Never Fails to Relieve in Ten Minutes.

Fred Lawrie, of Trail Creek, B. C., writes: "I have used two bottles of Dr. Agnew's Catarrhal Powder, and have been wonderfully helped. I can recommend it very highly to all sufferers from Catarrh." And here is another:—Mr. B. L. Egan, Easton, Pa., says: "When I read that Dr. Agnew's Catarrhal Powder would relieve Catarrh in 10 minutes, I must say I was far from being convinced of the fact. I decided to try it. I purchased a bottle. A single puff of the powder through the blower afforded instantaneous relief." Sold by A. W. Grange & Bro.

Father Murphy, of gold cure fame, is dead.

Many things are conversely true. For instance, the girl who smiles the sweetest is liable to make the sourest pancakes.

Seven and nine cents mines still continue to be advertised in direct contravention of the regulation prohibiting sucker fishing.

Dr. C. Day Clark, of Tamworth, has been appointed High Chief Ranger of the Independent Order of Foresters in the place of Rev. R. McNair resigned.

If our modern would-be philosophers would devote less time to their hallucinations and more to earning a living many communities would be infinitely better off.

Bronchitis Cured. Miss Maggie Griffin, 37 Metcalf Street, Toronto, writes: "After having bronchitis and cold so badly that I could hardly speak, and could not find any remedy to relieve me, I decided to try Norway Pine Syrup. It made a complete cure, and I highly recommend it to all.

The Rathbun company have an order for 25,000 barrels of cement for the Trent Valley and St. Lawrence canals.

The Star foot ball club, of Picton, has been organized for the season with G. M. Hermission as captain, and A. C. Price, sec.-treas.

Oh! So Tired. Many people are tired, worn out and weary in spring time, when they could easily be strong, vigorous and healthy by using Burdock Blood Bitters, which removes all morbid effete matter from the system and restores robust health.

Someway always like a man
Who speaks out flat and plain
Before he stops to scheme and plan
Of future loss or gain;
Who does not hedge and dodge about,
But stands up straight and plumb;
The fearless, honest man speaks out,
The demagogue is mum.

That Pale Face. For Nervous Prostration and Anæmia there is no medicine that will so promptly and infallibly restore vigor and strength as Scott's Emulsion.

Let pessimists prognosticate
All evils that they may,
My heart within me is elate,
My spirit blithe and gay.
Glad signs of springtime come to me
And joy in fullest store
For up and down the streets I see
The shirtwaist bloom once more.

man who had served with me during the war.

We were chatting together when I felt a shock, and, then, to my surprise, I saw the blacksmith going up in the air. I watched him pass through the roof of the shed, but the man, who, by the way, was an Irishman, did not seem to get any further from me.

Then I realized that I was going up, too. I suppose we must have ascended for thirty or forty feet, and then we came down with a rush, reaching the earth a little disfigured and with lungs in a state of collapse. When we caught our breath the Irishman remarked, between his gasps that a little thing like that couldn't scare us, as we'd both been in explosions before.

He was wounded badly, however, while I escaped with a few scratches. We found that the lightning had exploded the ten thousand pounds of dynamite. Where the storehouse had stood there was a hole in the ground about thirty feet deep, and with a diameter of fully sixty feet, shaped like a funnel. Trees in the vicinity were burned black, and an oak tree two feet thick, that had stood twenty feet from the building, was blown into shreds so fine that not a vestige of it could be found. I have been afraid to go near dynamite ever since.

Why William Hates the Greek.

Newspaper readers following the present European complications have doubtless wondered at the German Emperor's attitude toward Greece, of which country his sister Sophia hopes to be queen some day.

The former princess Sophia of Prussia now Crown Princess of the Hellenes and Duchess of Sparta, has not been on good terms with her imperial and imperious brother, from the day, three or four years ago, when she first declared her intention to join the Greek Church. The Emperor made strenuous opposition to this resolve, but the Duchess, after explaining that she had been in no way coerced, either by her husand or his family, to take the step, quietly put an end to the discussion by embracing the faith of her future subjects.

Since then the Princess Sophia has become a stranger in her native city, and her name is never even mentioned at the Berlin court.

The Cretan incident afforded the Kaiser the first opportunity to punish Princess Sophia and her husband. It was he who proposed that the Piraeus be blockaded at once. The rown Princess of the Hellenes has become one of the most popular women of Athens, where she leads all movements to benefit womankind and aid the poor. Of late she has become the patroness of a society for the introduction of a new national dress. She is also at the head of an organization for furnishing wholesome food to the poor at cost price, and poor school children receive free noonday meals at her expense every day in the year.

Forgotten Turkish Proverbs.

Sit down crooked if you like, but talk straight.

If you come empty-handed they will tell you: "The effendi is asleep." If you come with a present they will say: "Effendi, pray step in."

It is not by saying "Honey, honey," the sweetness comes into the mouth.

The dogs bark, but the caravan passes.

If all our wishes could be gratified, every beggar would be a pacha.

Measure yourself by your own yardstick.

Waiting on a young prince and grooming a spirited horse are two very difficult things.

One hour of justice (righteousness) is worth more than seventy years of prayers.

A poor man without patience is like a lamp without oil.

A secret shared by more than two becomes common property.

A king without justice is a river without wine.—Il Calino.

A Cat Farm.

A company has just been organized at Lacon, Ill., for the breeding of black and maltese cats. A farm of 160 acres will be purchased and in one year's time it is expected that the number of cats thereon will reach 10,000, increasing to 100,000 in another twelve months. The skins of such cats sell for about fifteen cents apiece, and in raising them in large numbers there is money in the business.

The Anglican church, Picton, has a surpliced choir.

This Spring. Spring is at hand, winter is nearly over. Are you ready for summer? Is your blood pure? Burdock Blood Bitters purifies and enriches the blood, cures dyspepsia, bad blood, sick headache, etc. B.B.B.

MRS. CARY'S WASH.

Upon the roof on summer nights,
Above the hazy city lights,
We sit, sweet Dora Dale and I,
Beneath the cool and friendly sky.

And we listen to the flapping of Mrs. Cary's wash,
Like the shaking of white sails on summer seas,
And we dream that we are sailing till we almost hear the swash
Of the water, as the lines swing in the breeze.

Love makes the roof so dear to me
That all the charms of wood and sea
No longer in my heart can stir,
If having them I must leave her.

So we listen to the flapping of Mrs. Cary's wash,
Like the shaking of white sails on summer seas;
And we dream that we are sailing till almost hear the swash
Of the water, as the lines swing in the breeze.

The neighbor' gossip on the roof,
But from the rest we sit aloof,
And plan how some day, happily,
Our roof shall lie beside the sea.

And we listen to the flapping of Mrs. Cary's wash,
Like the shaking of white sails on summer seas;
And we dream that we are sailing till we almost hear the swash
Of the water, as the lines swing in the breeze.

"That is a queer story about a man in Minnesota being treed by wolves while on his way to be married," said the shoe clerk boarder.

"Most remarkable exhibition of animal intelligence I know of," said the cheerful idiot.

"Animal intelligence?"

"Yes; they must have realized how tender he would be at that time."—Indianapolis Journal.

Visitor—I'm grieved to learn of your mistress' illness. Nothing serious—no great cause for alarm, I trust?

The New French Maid—No, monsieur, nozzing beeg, nozzing grande. Something what you call leetle, petite. What zey call ze leetle—small—small—smallpox. Tid-Bits.

Very Particular.

Mrs. Sweet—What have you put that board down so carefully for, Dick?

Mr. Sweet—So I won't clean off any of the next door people's sidewalk.

Paine's Celery Compound.

Saves Sleepless, Nervous and Despondent People Fom Insanity.

THE GREAT MEDICINE HAS NO EQUAL.

Medical men of the highest standing, and a host of others competent to judge declare that Paine's Celery Compound is the only effective medicine for the banishment of all the troubles that lead to sleeplessness or insomnia.

In the spring season thousands are restless, fretful, nervous, despondent and gloomy. They find it impossible to obtain restful and sweet sleep, and soon become physically exhausted; some already are mere wrecks of humanity.

Such sufferers cannot with safety trifle with sleeplessness and continued unrest. All in such a condition demand immediate, succor and aid before nature becomes too exhausted. The weakened, exhausted and is Paine's Celery Compound, the only medicine that acts in a truly natural way to produce sleep and perfect rest.

This wondrous remedy of nature should be used at once if satisfactory and immediate results are desired. Do not allow your run-down nervous system to lead you to the very brink of the grave in spring time.

Putting off will only complicate your troubles, and deeper misery will be yours. Use Paine's Celery Compound and you are assured of perfect action of the heart, stomach, kidneys and liver, and sweet sleep will be your life blessing.

Get "Paine's," the kind that cures. Remember that there are miserable imitations—celery preparations that are worthless and dangerous.

IT HOLDS THE KEY.

Insignificant Beginnings—But They Steal on one as a Thief in the Night, and Before one has time to Wonder what ails him he is in the Firm Grasp of Disease—South American Kidney Cure will Break the Bonds and Liberate, no matter how strong the cords.

The thousands of cases that have been helped and cured by the great South American Kidney Cure is the best recommend of its curative qualities. The remedy is a specific for all kidney troubles. The formula is compounded on the very latest scientific discoveries in the medical world. There are thousands to-day who do truthfully say "I am living because I used South American Kidney Cure." It relieves in six hours. Sold by A. W. Grange & Bro.

CASTORIA.

BOYES'S IS THE PLACE FOR HATS.

Men now-a-days ask for and appreciate a good Hat.

This season's best styles and colors are now in stock. The best lines we carry are—

Bennett & Son's,
Leslie & Co's.,
Wakefield's and
Christie's,

All of which are known to be the leading makes.

—o—

J. L. Boyes.

Men's Furnisher.

N. B. For Bicycle Suits, Hose and Sweaters, see us.

COAL!

The Celebrated

SCRANTON COAL

That has no Equal.

I wish to announce to the public that I have put in a thoroughly assorted stock of this celebrated Coal, and am prepared to supply my customers on as good terms as any other dealers.

I am the sole agent in Napanee for this celebrated Coal and it can not be had from any other dealers. Your Patronage Solicited.

C. E. BARTLETT.

CARLETON WOODS.
ISSUER OF MARRIAGE LICENSES.
1y Roblin, Ont.

JOHN POLLARD,
ISSUER OF MARRIAGE LICENSES.
Express Office, Napanee.
Strictly Private and Confidential.

R. J. WRIGHT,
ISSUER OF MARRIAGE LICENSES.
At Residence, Bridge Street, Napanee, Opposite West Ward School.
Entirely Private.

The Napanee Express

NAPANEE, FRIDAY, APRIL 9, 897.

All local reading notices or notices announcing entertainments at which a fee is charged for admission, will be charged 5c per line for each insertion, if in ordinary type. In black type the price will be 10c per line each insertion.

Wallpaper

Mrs. C. Sulman died in Belleville this week.

H. B. Rathbun, Belleville, is dead aged thirty-eight years.

Job Clappe, Halloway, and Miss Frankie Simpson, were married recently.

The prettiest Blouse Waists of the season are at Lahey & McKenty's.

Dry Mill Wood.

Over 1000 cords. $1.60 per cord.
THE RATHBUN CO.,
Napanee.

The Wheel for the People.

The Massey-Harris Bicycle, only one grade and that the highest. Only one price and that to everybody. W. J. Normile, sole agent for the county, Miller block, sign of the Golden Wheel.

Napanee Wood Yard.

Corner Mill and Robinson street, hard, soft, cut, or in cordwood, Trenton dry edgings and blocks. Reasonable rates. A call solicited. Wood delivered free to all parts of the town. S. J. HOWARD. tf

Fatal Accident.

Just as we were going to press we heard that a lad named Johnson, an emigrant boy, had met with his death by a runaway. The lad had been in the employ of Mr. Kindall, had accumulated a little money, bought a piece of land some time ago and a team of horses recently. He hitched them up on Wednesday and had a runaway, was thrown out, and only lived half an hour.

Wanted.

CANVASSERS—"Queen Victoria: Her Life and Reign," has captured the British Empire. Extraordinary testimonials from the great men; send for copy free. Marquis of Lorne says, "The best popular Life of the Queen I have seen." Her Majesty sends a kind letter of appreciation. Selling by thousands; gives enthusiastic satisfaction. Canvassers making $15 to $40 weekly. Prospectus free to agents. THE BRADLEY-GARRETSON CO., L'TD, Toronto, Ont.

Notice to Farmers

The best MANITOBA RED FIFE seed wheat. The best WHITE ENSILAGE Seed corn that can be procured is for sale at the Big Mill at a small margin over cost. Try my flour "DAFOE'S BEST" and "NONESUCH." Prices and quality considered they can not be surpassed. The bread made from them has a rich golden color, sweet favor and retains moisture longer than any flour in the market. For pastry try "SEEK-NO-FURTHER." Ask your grocer for it and take no other, it suits them all.

15-1 J. R. DAFOE.

Hymenial.

Helena, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John H. Phillips, South Napanee, was married to Mr. Robert Stewart, of Deseronto, on Wednesday. The ceremony was performed at the residence of the bride's parents by the Rev. W. W. Peck, in the presence of about fifty invited guests. Miss Minnie Watts, of Montreal, and the Misses Watts, of Kingston, acted as bridesmaids, while Messrs. Wallace Foster and Walter Smith, of Deseronto, supported the groom. After the ceremony the guests sat down to a sumptuous repast prepared by caterer Rikely. The bride was made the recipient of many handsome presents. We extend congratulations.

Popular Meetings.

The meetings and entertainments of Messrs. Bushell and Seymour have been very popular and successful and where they have once visited they are in popular request again. So far as we have learned the following arrangements have been made for the next week: Tuesday evening next at Selby, to assist in a popular entertainment in aid of the India Famine Relief Fund; Wednesday not yet provided for; Thursday 15th, Napanee Town Hall, to which all are invited; Friday 16th, to assist at an entertainment in aid of the parsonage fund; Saturday, 17th Tamworth, a popular temperance meeting; Monday, 19th at Colebrook, to assist at an entertainment.

Obituary.

On Friday last, April 2nd, at her home in Morven, there passed away to the great majority, Mrs. Jacob Rombough, aged 71 years. Deceased whose maiden name was Mary Hamilton came to Canada from Ireland with her parents when but one year old. The family located near Violet and for several years lived there when they moved near Moscow. Here deceased lived after her marriage until about twenty years ago when they purchased and moved to their present home at Morven. Deceased was an earnest christian and bore with great patience her seven years confinement to the house from which she was carried on Sunday last by her three sons Marshall and Frank Rombough, of Morven, and Alex. Rombough, of New York City and a

This is For You.

For a good pair of ordered boots or shoes call on J. W. Schryver, John St. Boots, shoes and rubbers repaired on the shortest notice. 51tf

To Rent.

Fine brick dwelling, corner Dundas and Robinson streets. Fixed with all modern conveniences. Applp to
W. G. WILSON, Napanee, or
16c J. H. DOWNEY, Whitby.

Wanted.

I can employ five men and three ladies to work at and around home. A good thing, with good salary for pushers.
T. H. LINSCOTT,
Toronto, Ont.

Napanee Charitable Organization.

A meeting will be held in the town hall on Thursday evening, April 15th, at 7.30 p.m. for the purpose of considering a more satisfactory method of deal with the subjects of charity in our town. Members of all charitable organizations and all who are interested in this work are especially requested to be present.

Go To Lawson's

For prime Easter beef, fed by our townsman W. Miller, unequalled by western markets, also choice veal, pork, mutton, spring lamb and poultry, (rose brand) smoked hams, breakfast bacon and lard, salt and pickled meats and our renowned home made sausage, prices right. Call and be convinced.

India Famine Fund.

The Dominion Bank has received the following additional subscriptions to the India Famine Fund.

Previously acknowledged	$127 35
Camden East Methodist Sunday School	1 00
M. F. C.	5 00
	$133 35

S. E. Hershey.

Veterinary Surgeon and Dentist. I offer my service to horsemen and farmers in general. As a veterinarian I have had considerable experience, being one term home surgeon at the Maryland Veterinary Hospital, Baltimore, Md. I am a graduate in veterinary science and dentistry. All calls promptly attended, day or night. Charges reasonable. Telephone 118. Can be consulted at Royal Hotel, Napanee, Ont. 18ap.

Spring Requires

That the impurities which have accumulated in your blood during the winter shall be promptly and thoroughly expelled if good health is expected. When the warmer weather comes these impurities are liable to manifest themselves in various ways and often lead to serious illness. Unless the blood is rich and pure that tired feeling will afflict you, your appetite will fail and you will find yourself "all run down." Hood's Sarsaparilla tones and strengthens the system, drives out all impurities and makes pure, rich, healthy blood. Hood's Sarsaparilla is the one true blood purifier and the best spring medicine. Be sure to get only Hood's.

Work of An Incendiary.

About 3.30 Friday morning, 2nd inst. the two-storey frame building used as sample rooms for the O'Connor House was burned. The west end of the hotel was badly scorched. The east end of Baker Block was scorched and the Deseronto Opera House also suffered. J. J. Kerr was probably the heaviest loser. His shop is in the Baker Block, and the water came through and damaged his stock. J. A. Jackes, traveller for Gowans, Kent & Company, Toronto, lost all his crockery samples. The losses are estimated as follows:—O'Connor House, $1,400; J. J. Kerr, $3,000; R. J. Adams, $800; A. H. Baker, $500; Mr. Jackes, $200; sundry losses about $400.

An Incorrigible.

The High Court of Justice closed at Picton on Tuesday. W. H. Wilkinson was sentenced to fifteen years in the penitentiary for burglary. Wilkinson is thirty-three years old and has spent 17 years in the Penitentiary, Central Prison and Jail. He was brought to this country some 28 years ago among other waifs, his first home being Marchmont Home, Belleville. Soon afterward he was adopted by a Mr. Chatsy, a wealthy farmer, living near Wellington in this country. After some years spent in a vain endeavor to make something of the boy he was returned to the home again

IN THE SPRING TIME.

THE FAIR ONES' FANCY LIGHTLY TURNS TO THOUGHTS OF MILLINERY. LARGE CROWDS OUT ON SATURDAY TO VIEW THE ANNUAL SPRING MILLINERY OPENINGS.

That "tired feeling" which is popularly supposed to be prevalent in the spring, doesn't effect the average woman to any appreciable extent when the annual Spring Millinery Openings are on "the boards," so to speak. As a drawing card "Spring Openings" are miles in advance of any attraction on the road and are always a source of interest and pleasure to every well regulated lady. Nor can it be said that the interest is confined to the fair sex. "Man, poor man," has a sneaking regard for a pretty bonnet, or perhaps it is for "the head that is in it," who can say. But to be candid man didn't figure in it to any great extent on Saturday, when the maids and matrons of town and county crowded the elegant show rooms of our local merchants and viewed and tried on the beautiful creations that will adorn the faces of the many handsome ladies of this district this season. The crowds that attended the millinery openings on Saturday was unprecedented in the memory of the oldest inhabitant. The ancient inhabitant, some uncharitable people will say, is not interested in such frivolities, but nevertheless he is a fine line to fall back on when you are in need of a simile. But a word as to fashions.

If the father of a family—that is a particularly large family—should enquire as to the most striking feature about the hats this year you can tell him the crowns are very high, and the prices about the same as usual. The trimming is elaborate and the colors gay. Red, mauve and green appear to be the most popular colors and they are to be found in various shades. Rhinestone ornaments are much in evidence. Batavia straw, Batavia cloth—a pretty canvas effect—are popular trimming materials. Brims are made to look heavy this year. Tulle is employed very effectively in imparting to the trimming a soft, dreamy appearance. Good taste and common sense seems to have influenced the behests of Dame Fashion this year as there are no extraordinary shapes. Cheffon, geraniums, a new thing, violets, foliage, and grass are much in vogue this year.

THE ROBINSON CO Y.

Saturday was indeed a busy day in this large establishment. Crowds of people thronged the store both afternoon and evening and if "its a pleasure to show goods" Mr. Robinson and his staff of clerks were in clover, without a doubt. When the EXPRESS representative elbowed his way through the crush he found all business and bustle inside. Every department looked its brightest and gayest. In the dry goods department new hosiery and gloves are in evidence, and the dress materials are among the finest ever opened up in Napanee. The clothing department is stocked with a fine line of suitings, and the ready-made lines are very complete. But passing on to the millinery department we found every available bit of space occupied by "woman, lovely woman" who was out in force to see the many pretty effects in hats and bonnets. The Robinson Co'y's display of millinery this year was indeed a thing of beauty. The show rooms were tastefully decorated and the various styles in hats and bonnets were shown off to the best advantage. Miss Baker, who has charge of the millinery department won many warm encomiums from the ladies present for the handsome display. To attempt anything like a detailed description is beyond us. Miss Baker is an artist in her line and her work is marked by good taste. We saw some very pretty hats that we would like to give an adequate description of but are painfully conscious of our inability. Among the many pretty creations was a cone shaped black crown, yellow and black brim, fancy straw hat. It was trimmed with tips and buckles and black velvet ribbon and geraniums. It had flowers under the brim and black nett ties. We were shown a very pretty made hat with narrow ties plaited around the edge, and fancy straw braids arranged on the brim, with a fancy crown made of cream cheffon, band of green and cream with a yellow tip on left side also green and yellow poppies, and poppies and ribbon under brim. A small Sequin hat with roses arranged under brim, fancy tips

BOYES'S IS THE PLACE FOR HATS.

Men now-a-days ask for and appreciate a good Hat.

This season's best styles and colors are now in stock. The best lines we carry are—

Bennett & Son's,
Leslie & Co's.,
Wakefield's and
Christie's,

All of which are known to be the leading makes.

—o—

J. L. Boyes.

Men's Furnisher.

N. B. For Bicycle Suits, Hose and Sweaters, see us.

COAL!

The Celebrated

SCRANTON COAL

That has no Equal.

I wish to announce to the public that I have put in a thoroughly assorted stock of this celebrated Coal, and am prepared to supply my customers on as good terms as any other dealers.

I am the sole agent in Napanee for this celebrated Coal and it can not be had from any other dealers. Your Patronage Solicited.

C. E. BARTLETT.

CARLETON WOODS.
ISSUER OF MARRIAGE LICENSES.
1y Roblin, Ont.

JOHN POLLARD,
ISSUER OF MARRIAGE LICENSES.
Express Office. Napanee.
Strictly Private and Confidential.

R. J. WRIGHT,
ISSUER OF MARRIAGE LICENSES.
At Residence, Bridge Street, Napanee, Opposite West Ward School.
Entirely Private.

The Napanee Express

NAPANEE, FRIDAY, APRIL 9, 897.

All local reading notices or notices announcing entertainments at which a fee is charged for admission, will be charged 5c per line for each insertion, if in ordinary type. In black type the price will be 10c per line each insertion.

Wallpaper

Mrs. C. Sulman died in Belleville this week.

H. B. Rathbun, Belleville, is dead aged thirty-eight years.

Job Clappe, Halloway, and Miss Frankie Simpson, were married recently.

The prettiest Blouse Waists of the season are at Lahey & McKenty's.

Dry Mill Wood.

Over 1000 cords. $1.60 per cord.
THE RATHBUN CO.,
Napanee.

The Wheel for the People.

The Massey-Harris Bicycle, only one grade and that the highest. Only one price and that to everybody. W. J. Normile, sole agent for the county, Miller block, sign of the Golden Wheel.

Napanee Wood Yard.

Corner Mill and Robinson street, hard, soft, cut, or in cordwood, Trenton dry edgings and blocks. Reasonable rates. A call solicited. Wood delivered free to all parts of the town. S. J. HOWARD. tf

Fatal Accident.

Just as we were going to press we heard that a lad named Johnson, an emigrant boy, had met with his death by a runaway. The lad had been in the employ of Mr. Kindall, had accumulated a little money, bought a piece of land some time ago and a team of horses recently. He hitched them up on Wednesday and had a runaway, was thrown out, and only lived half an hour.

Wanted.

CANVASSERS—"Queen Victoria: Her Life and Reign," has captured the British Empire. Extraordinary testimonials from the great men; send for copy free. Marquis of Lorne says, "The best popular Life of the Queen I have seen." Her Majesty sends a kind letter of appreciation. Selling by thousands; gives enthusiastic satisfaction. Canvassers making $15 to $40 weekly. Prospectus free to agents. THE BRADLEY-GARRETSON CO., LTD, Toronto, Ont.

Notice to Farmers

The best MANITOBA RED FIFE seed wheat. The best WHITE ENSILAGE Seed corn that can be procured is for sale at the Big Mill at a small margin over cost. Try my flour "DAFOE'S BEST" and "NONESUCH." Prices and quality considered they can not be surpassed. The bread made from them has a rich golden color, sweet favor and retains moisture longer than any flour in the market. For pastry try "SEEK-NO-FURTHER." Ask your grocer for it and take no other, it suits them all.

15-1 J. R. DAFOE.

Hymenial.

Helena, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John H. Phillips, South Napanee, was married to Mr. Robert Stewart, of Deseronto, on Wednesday. The ceremony was performed at the residence of the bride's parents by the Rev. W. W. Peck, in the presence of about fifty invited guests. Miss Minnie Watts, of Montreal, and the Misses Watts, of Kingston, acted as bridesmaids, while Messrs. Wallace Foster and Walter Smith, of Deseronto, supported the groom. After the ceremony the guests sat down to a sumptuous repast prepared by caterer Rikely. The bride was made the recipient of many handsome presents. We extend congratulations.

Popular Meetings.

The meetings and entertainments of Messrs. Bushell and Seymour have been very popular and successful and where they have once visited they are in popular request again. So far as we have learned the following arrangements have been made for the next week: Tuesday evening next at Selby, to assist in a popular entertainment in aid of the India Famine Relief Fund; Wednesday not yet provided for; Thursday 15th, Napanee Town Hall, to which all are invited; Friday 16th, to assist at an entertainment in aid of the parsonage fund; Saturday, 17th Tamworth, a popular temperance meeting; Monday, 19th at Colebrook, to assist at an entertainment.

Obituary.

On Friday last, April 2nd, at her home in Morven, there passed away to the great majority, Mrs. Jacob Rombough, aged 71 years. Deceased whose maiden name was Mary Hamilton came to Canada from Ireland with her parents when but one year old. The family located near Violet and for several years lived there when they moved near Moscow. Here deceased lived after her marriage until about twenty years ago when they purchased and moved to their present home at Morven. Deceased was an earnest christian and bore with great patience her seven years confinement to the house from which she was carried on Sunday last by her three sons Marshall and Frank Rombough, of Morven, and Alex. Rombough, of New York City and a

This is For You.

For a good pair of ordered boots or shoes call on J. W. Schryver, John St. Boots, shoes and rubbers repaired on the shortest notice. 51tf

To Rent.

Fine brick dwelling, corner Dundas and Robinson streets. Fixed with all modern conveniences. Applp to
W. G. WILSON, Napanee, or 16o J. H. DOWNEY, Whitby.

Wanted.

I can employ five men and three ladies to work at and around home. A good thing, with good salary for pushers.
T. H. LINSCOTT,
Toronto, Ont.

Napanee Charitable Organization.

A meeting will be held in the town hall on Thursday evening, April 15th, at 7.30 p.m. for the purpose of considering a more satisfactory method of deal with the subjects of charity in our town. Members of all charitable organizations and all who are interested in this work are especially requested to be present.

Go To Lawson's

For prime Easter beef, fed by our townsman W. Miller, unequalled by western markets, also choice veal, pork, mutton, spring lamb and poultry, (rose brand) smoked hams, breakfast bacon and lard, salt and pickled meats and our renowned home made sausage, prices right. Call and be convinced.

India Famine Fund.

The Dominion Bank has received the following additional subscriptions to the India Famine Fund.

Previously acknowledged	$127 35
Camden East Methodist Sunday School	1 00
M. F. C.	5 00
	$133 35

S. E. Hershey.

Veterinary Surgeon and Dentist. I offer my service to horsemen and farmers in general. As a veterinarian I have had considerable experience, being one term home surgeon at the Maryland Veterinary Hospital, Baltimore, Md. I am a graduate in veterinary science and dentistry. All calls promptly attended, day or night. Charges reasonable. Telephone 118. Can be consulted at Royal Hotel, Napanee, Ont. 18ap.

Spring Requires

That the impurities which have accumulated in your blood during the winter shall be promptly and thoroughly expelled if good health is expected. When the warmer weather comes these impurities are liable to manifest themselves in various ways and often lead to serious illness. Unless the blood is rich and pure that tired feeling will afflict you, your appetite will fail and you will find yourself "all run down." Hood's Sarsaparilla tones and strengthens the system, drives out all impurities and makes pure, rich, healthy blood. Hood's Sarsaparilla is the one true blood purifier and the best spring medicine. Be sure to get only Hood's.

Work of An Incendiary.

About 3.30 Friday morning, 2nd inst. the two-storey frame building used as sample rooms for the O'Connor House was burned. The west end of the hotel was badly scorched. The east end of Baker Block was scorched and the Deseronto Opera House also suffered. J. J. Kerr was probably the heaviest loser. His shop is in the Baker Block, and the water came through and damaged his stock. J. A. Jackes, traveller for Gowans, Kent & Company, Toronto, lost all his crockery samples. The losses are estimated as follows:—O'Connor House, $1,400; J. J. Kerr, $3,000; R. J. Adams, $800; A. H. Baker, $500; Mr. Jackes, $200; sundry losses about $400.

An Incorrigible.

The High Court of Justice closed at Picton on Tuesday. W. H. Wilkinson was sentenced to fifteen years in the penitentiary for burglary. Wilkinson is thirty-three years old and has spent 17 years in the Penitentiary, Central Prison and Jail. He was brought to this country some 28 years ago among other waifs, his first home being Marchmont Home, Belleville. Soon afterward he was adopted by a Mr. Chatsy, a wealthy farmer, living near Wellington in this country. After some years spent in a vain endeavor to make something of the boy he was returned to the home again

IN THE SPRING TIME.

THE FAIR ONES' FANCY LIGHTLY TURNS TO THOUGHTS OF MILLINERY. LARGE CROWDS OUT ON SATURDAY TO VIEW THE ANNUAL SPRING MILLINERY OPENINGS.

That "tired feeling" which is popularly supposed to be prevalent in the spring, doesn't effect the average woman to any appreciable extent when the annual Spring Millinery Openings are on "the boards," so to speak. As a drawing card "Spring Openings" are miles in advance of any attraction on the road and are always a source of interest and pleasure to every well regulated lady. Nor can it be said that the interest is confined to the fair sex. "Man, poor man," has a sneaking regard for a pretty bonnet, or perhaps it is for "the head that is in it," who can say. But to be candid man didn't figure in it to any great extent on Saturday, when the maids and matrons of town and county crowded the elegant show rooms of our local merchants and viewed and tried on the beautiful creations that will adorn the faces of the many handsome ladies of this district this season. The crowds that attended the millinery openings on Saturday was unprecedented in the memory of the oldest inhabitant. The ancient inhabitant, some uncharitable people will say, is not interested in such frivolities, but nevertheless he is a fine line to fall back on when you are in need of a simile. But a word as to fashions.

If the father of a family—that is a particularly large family—should enquire as to the most striking feature about the hats this year you can tell him the crowns are very high, and the prices about the same as usual. The trimming is elaborate and the colors gay. Red, mauve and green appear to be the most popular colors and they are to be found in various shades. Rhinestone ornaments are much in evidence. Batavia straw, Batavia cloth—a pretty canvas effect—are popular trimming materials. Brims are made to look heavy this year. Tulle is employed very effectively in imparting to the trimming a soft, dreamy appearance. Good taste and common sense seems to have influenced the behests of Dame Fashion this year as there are no extraordinary shapes. Cheffon, geraniums, a new thing, violets, foliage, and grass are much in vogue this year.

THE ROBINSON CO Y.

Saturday was indeed a busy day in this large establishment. Crowds of people thronged the store both afternoon and evening and if "its a pleasure to show goods" Mr. Robinson and his staff of clerks were in clover, without a doubt. When the EXPRESS representative elbowed his way through the crush he found all business and bustle inside. Every department looked its brightest and gayest. In the dry goods department new hosiery and gloves are in evidence, and the dress materials are among the finest ever opened up in Napanee. The clothing department is stocked with a fine line of suitings, and the ready-made lines are very complete. But passing on to the millinery department we found every available bit of space occupied by "woman, lovely woman" who was out in force to see the many pretty effects in hats and bonnets. The Robinson Co's display of millinery this year was indeed a thing of beauty. The show rooms were tastefully decorated and the various styles in hats and bonnets were shown off to the best advantage. Miss Baker, who has charge of the millinery department won many warm encomiums from the ladies present for the handsome display. To attempt anything like a detailed description is beyond us. Miss Baker is an artist in her line and her work is marked by good taste. We saw some very pretty hats that we would like to give an adequate description of but are painfully conscious of our inability. Among the many pretty creations was a cone shaped black crown, yellow and black brim, fancy straw hat. It was trimmed with tips and buckles and black velvet ribbon and geraniums. It had flowers under the brim and black nett ties. We were shown a very pretty made hat with narrow ties plaited around the edge, and fancy straw braids arranged on the brim, with a fancy crown made of cream cheffon, band of green and cream with a yellow tip on left side also green and yellow poppies, and poppies and ribbon under brim. A small Sequin hat with roses arranged under brim, fancy tips season are at Lahey & McKenty's.

Hood's Pills are the best after-dinner pill; assist digestion, cure headache. 25 cents.

Dr. Jas. Knight, Belleville, was married to Mrs. Robt. Gibbons, of Bloomfield, last week.

Did you ever try a Judge's quill, if not, you need a good pen still—Pollard's bookstore, one cent each.

Cheap agate fry pans, No. 9 agate fry pans for 30c, just think of it. Cheaper than iron, at Boyle & Son's.

and Borders

Charges of offensive partisanship have been laid against Hugh Creighton, Postmaster, Sydenham. Judge Wilkison, as commissioner, will take evidence this week.

Washable wallpaper which will bear cleaning with soap and water. Try it, 7 cts. and 10 cts. per roll, pretty patterns. At Pollard's bookstore.

The members of the Tiger hockey club were entertained by Parker Crossley on Friday evening last, and during the course of the evening formed a foot ball club with Frank Burrows as captain.

J. F. Smith received a car load of western cattle from Guelph on Saturday. They are a choice looking lot of cattle and the people of Napanee are assured of some excellent beef during Easter.

The Department of Marine and Fisheries has decided not to grant an extension of time for hoop nets this spring. Fishermen therefore will have all hoop nets out of the water before the 15th inst.

in great variety at

He squandered $10 for roses, you see—
Her joy in the gift was immense:
But little she dreamed that his dinner would be
Three buckwheats that cost him ten cents.

Boyle bottom milk can, best milk can in the world, not copied or stolen from any other, but original; made from best material that money can buy and by men who know how to make good cans. Sold only by Boyle & Son.

It is said Mr. McInnes, the French young member from Vancouver, is very angry at The Globe for calling him a liar. This warlike young man has somehow got hold of the idea that he can talk about and nullify people with impunity.

Recently a son of Samuel Asselstine, Hay Bay, met with a peculiar accident. He went to mount on horseback and as he got one foot in the stirrup the equine started. The young man fell backwards on his left hand, breaking the middle finger near the knuckle.

Pollard's Bookstore

Mr. D. P. Henwood presided at the organ in Chalmer's Church, Guelph, on Sunday last. The Guelph Mercury speaks of him as a brilliant young artist who delighted the congregation a few weeks ago. Mr. Henwood is an applicant for the position of organist in Chalmer's church.

It would be rather too much to expect Champlain to elect a Liberal. This constituency has always been overwhelmingly Tory and in past elections the Liberals have practically let it go by default. The Conservative majority was greatly reduced, however, and in view of the stand taken by the bishops is a good showing.

Why patronize strangers when you have just as good an optician who is always at home to guaranteee satisfaction, while these men are here only two or three times a year. More than this you will be leaving your money at home. Consultation and testing free. A. F. Chinneck, graduate optician, F. Chinneck's Jewelry Store.

and the prices

Three years ago an attempt was made to blow up the Tweed News office. A keg of blasting powder with a lighted fuse was thrown through the window and landed only a few feet from where Mr. Taylor, the proprietor, was sleeping. Fortunately the fuse failed to ignite the powder. Detective Murray has been working on the case and has hopes of bringing the guilty parties to justice.

A Point to Remember. If you wish to purify your blood you should take a medicine which cures blood diseases. The record of cures by Hood's Sarsaparilla proves that this is the best medicine for the blood ever produced. Hood's Sarsaparilla cures the most stubborn cases and it is the medicine for you to take if your Alex. Rombough, of New York City and a particular friend of the family, Mr. Smith of Ernestown Station. The large concourse that attended the funeral to the White Church, Morven, testified to the universal respect in which deceased was held.

Wills Probated.

Letters of administration were granted to the estate of Adolphus Miller, of Napanee, on the 11th day of March. Estate valued at $95. English & Perry, solicitors.

Probate of the will of Geo. B. Fleming, of Ernestown, farmer, was taken out by Deroche & Madden on the 16th of March. The estate was valued at $3,131 and is willed to his widow and children.

Probate of the will of John H. Richards, of Amherst Island, farmer, was taken out by W. G. Wilson on the 16th of March. The estate was valued at $1,445, and was divided amongst his children.

Letters of administration to the estate of Canfield Clancy, of Camden, farmer, were taken out by Herrington & Warner on the 18th of March. The estate was valued at $3,439.

Probate of the will of Sarah M. Huffman, of Napanee, widow, were taken out on the 30th day of March by Herrington & Warner. Estate $22.00 and the property is given to her children.

Probate of the will of Wm. Gordon, of Yarker, gentleman, was proved by English & Perry on the 3rd of April. Estate valued at $275.

Letters of admfnistration de bonis non administrates to the estate of John J. Watson, Esq., of Adolphustown, were taken out by English & Perry on the 5th day of April. The amount of the estate now to be administered is $660.

Honor Rolls.

YARKER PUBLIC SCHOOL.

V Class—Gertrude Connolly 89, Jessie Winter 82, Mabel Montgomery 78. Sr. IV—Helen McDonald 74, Lizzie Manion 71, Grace Hill 60, Edna Dupuis 59, Mark Tooker 59, Harry Montgomery 44. Jr. IV—Earl Freeman 78, Jole O'Mara 72, Geroy West 69, Stuart Connolly 55, Clara Hill 48, John Winter 47, Maggie Montgomery 46, Marion Irish 10, Eve Sylser. III—Edna O'Mara 87, Mmica McDonald 81, Violet Ewart 73, Ethel Barton 64, Stella Lloyd 60, May Woodhouse 62, Alta Sager 56, Carrie McDonald 56, Bernice Emberly 50, Hanlin Carrol 47, John Woodhouse 30, Leslie Tooker 30, Raymond Lloyd 30, Amos Hartman 29. I—Harry Gilligan 87, Bruce Banyard 87, George Woodhouse 86, John Warner 82, John Gilbo 75, Hazel Atkins 67, Gordon Shultz 64, Elda Atkins 62, Luella Freeman 56, Sadie Shultze 44, Regina Noll 36, Grace Sager 20. Pt. II—May Warner 98, Gertie Lloyd 90, Arthur Emberly 85, Lillie Freeman 82, Frankie Snare 82, Alice Irish 70, Clayton Juniac 69 Herman Shulte 68, Willie Skinner 67, Clark Sager 67. Sr. II—Lena Benjamin 83, Lillie Hill 81, Ada Gordon 78, Clarence Ewart 71, Clarence Emberly 69, Hazel Sager 67, Carleton West 64. Jr. II—Lilie Montgrmery 85, Myrtle Freeman 71, Elcho Tooker 66, Addie Irish 63, Jennie Montgomery 60, Nellie Shultz 53, Luella Carroll 27.

MORVEN.

Class IV—Total 770. May Brandon 617; Marcus Smith 493, Damon Garrison 419. Sr. III—Total 630. Clarence Sharp 157; Vicie Brandon 432; Charlie Smith 407, Cora Smith 371, Blanche Gilchrist 313, Willie Wood 226. Jr. III—Total 500. Pearl Hiller 383; Wilbur Bell 287. Class II—Total 400. John Franklin 272. Sr. Part II—Total 350. Nellie Weller 259; Mary Weller 237; Rosa Lucas 211; Willie Schryver 164. Jr. Part II—Bert Smith 326; Ernest Gordanier 307; Wilmot Vanluven 290; May Franklin 273; James Bruce 244, Ada Lucas 196, May Lund 194, Pearl Vanluven 189; Percy Bell 180. Sr. Part I—Total 350. Wray Kayler 239. Jr. Part I—Ethel Bruce 225.

STELLA NEILSON, Teacher.

S. S. NO. 18, RICHMOND.

IV—Florence Bradshaw 20. Sr. III—Jeania Davis 115, Phyllis Doidge 85, Ethel Arnold 85, Grace Sedore 30, Annie Wayte 25, Manly Mowers 15. Jr. III—George Thompson 71, Frank Thompson 66. Sr. II—Hayard Wayte 111, Gracie Davis 95, John Doidge 80, Hamilton Mowers 69, Jim Thompson 64, Victoria Sedore 60, Frank Dafce 49. Jr. II—Essie Young 101, Alva Pringle 100, Leslie Davis 93, Lavina Pringle 90, Fred Bradshaw 86, Carrie Pringle 84, Eddy Pringle 50, Calvin Pringle 41. Intermediate Part II—Thos. French 113' James Wayte 109, Robbie Pringle 106, Ada Arnold 69, Dorcas Clark 60. Jr. Part II—Leighton Davis 108. Sr. Part I.—Stanley Young 91, Willie Storings 6. Intermediate Part I—Lena Davis 119, the boy he was returned to the home again. He was sent to a farmer near Toronto and from this time to the present his time has been passed in the various penal establishments of Ontario. He was sentenced to seven years in the Central Prison by Judge Wilkison, of Napanee.

Sporting Notes.

All lovers of base ball are requested to be at the Paisley House this Friday evening at 8 o'clock for the purpose of organization.

Delegates from the Kingston, Belleville, Deseronto, Picton, Sydenham and Napanee football clubs have been invited to send representatives to attend a meeting at the Royal Hotel, Napanee, on Monday, 12th inst., at 7 o'clock p.m., for the purpose of forming a Quinte District Association foot ball union, the appointing of officers, adoption of a schedule, etc.

The Victoria foot ball club held a meeting at the Royal on Wednesday evening and adopted red, with white stripes as the club's colors. Messrs. F. Grieve and M. B. McDodald were appointed representatives to the conference to be held here on Monday evening.

Extraordinary Event.

Brooke's famous Chicago Marine Band, the greatest popular music band in the world, has been specially engaged to give an afternoon concert in Napanee opera house, on Thursday, April 15th, at 2 o'clock sharp, to aid our local band secure new instruments. This great band is headed by Mr. T. B. Brooke, the great conductor and composer, and is composed of fifty of the best musicians the world possesses. They play two towns each day and travel in their own special train. Miss Sibyl Sammis, the world renowned mezzo-soprano, is the prima donna with the band and will positively sing at the concert, with the full band of fifty accompanying. Arrangements are being made to run excursions from Deseronto and Yarker at half rate. A subscription list has been opened and is filling rapidly. Parties desiring seats should sign at once at Haines & Lockett's store. The plan will open on Monday morning at 10 o'clock sharp, for subscribers only. All parties that have signed the list will get first choice of seats. On Tuesday it will be thrown open to the public. The prices are 25c, 50c, and 75c. Don't miss this, the greatest of all. It is a chance in a life time to hear such a great band without going out of town. Secure seats at once at Haines & Lockett's.

Rockwell Benefit Concert.

The hockey club benefit and farewell concert to Mr. F. S. Rockwell, at the opera house, on Friday evening last, was one of the most enjoyable and successful events of the season. Napanee people were not aware that the town was in possession of such an array of talented vocalists, and the excellent bill of fare presented came in the nature of a surprise to many. The glee club numbered thirty voices and the choruses were well selected and excellently rendered. The large and fashionable audience were more than pleased with the entertainment and it was the unanimous verdict that there was not a dull number on the programme. Mr. W. Durand, who has a fine stage appearance, delighted the assemblage with several fine solos, and Mr. W. Ponton struck the popular chord with "Meet a Coon To-night," and "Ma Angelina." He was roundly applauded and the boys would take no denial until he gave them "Put me off at Buffalo." The "Lime Kiln Club" by G. E. Hall brought down the house. The quartettes by Messrs. Craig and Rockwells were greatly appreciated. A recitation by Miss Maggie Templeton "So was I," won a well merited encore. Miss Nellie Herring's songs were much enjoyed. A recitation by F. S. Rockwell, "Light from over the range," was much appreciated. Miss Laura Ward acted as accompanist in her usual efficient manner. The glee club was composed of the following: First and second tenor—W. Ponton, W. Smith, J. Bennett, W. Rockwell, C. Mabee, W. Durand, C. Fanning, A. Henry, C. Dewey, F. Thomas, H. Ward, G. Harrison, F. Perry, W. Garret, J. Cheetham, G. E. Hall, W. Carson, D. Davis, W. Bruton, F. S. Rockwell. First and Second Bass.—J. Craig, G. Bustin, W. A. Rockwell, W. Daly, E. Blair, H. Gibson, W. Thexton, A. Pringle, C. Wilson, H. Ashley.

Remember C. L. Shannon will sell all kinds of field and garden seeds, all new, and lower than any reliable competitor, timothy from $1.80 per bushel up. Alfalfa, very low this year. All the latest varieties of garden seeds just in from the most reliable growers. Bradley's celebrated lawn fertilizer, guaranteed satisfactory. Canned goods 5c. per can, and all kinds of groceries as cheap as anyone can sell them. Your choice of "surprise," "best," "comfort," or "pure" soaps, six for 25c.

at back falling on the head, and black accordeon plaiting arranged in fans, with osprey standing at the back, jet fans near front and a twist of rose colored velvet around base of crown, took our eye. Miss Baker informed us that bonnets would not be worn so much this year. We were shown some very pretty bonnets and turbans, and a nice display of mourning bonnets and hats. Some of the newest shapes in small hats this year are the "Delina," "Lenora" and "The Nymph." The firm made a nice display in misses hats and Panama straw sailors, and altogether we were delighted with our visit to The Robinson Coy's. millinery opening.

CHEAPSIDE.

This popular and enterprising establishment eclipsed all previous efforts in the millinery line on Saturday. Variety, quality and good taste were the conspicuous features in their display of Millinery this season. On Saturday the people crowded down upon them like "wolves on a fold" and all day long the store was thronged with delighted sightseers and customers. THE EXPRESS representative followed directions and landed in the basement where he ran across the popular proprietor, Mr. W. Mowat, surrounded by carpets, lace curtains and other housefurnishing essentials. "There is lots of room to display carpets here," he said, pointing to the large and finely assorted stock of brussels, axminster and tapestry, and we quite concurred with him. On our way to the millinery department we took a mental note of the fine assortment of dress goods, hosiery, tweeds and notions which lined the shelves. Cheapside's millinery department is a fit store house for the beautiful goods it contains. The show room was beautifully arranged. Festooned with lace curtains over which flowers ribbons and fancy goods were temptingly displayed. The EXPRESS representative doesn't pose as a connoisseur but he was agreeably surprised and particularly taken with the many pretty hats and bonnets so finely arranged to tempt the tastes and fancies of the fair ones. Miss Sherrin, who has charge of the millinery department, is a lady who has had a long and varied experience at the business and the elegant display speaks more eloquently than words of her ability in that line. Miss Sherrin has associated with her, Miss Frieze, of Peterboro, whose work displays much natural taste and good judgment. We would like to give a pen picture of the display but we are sure the general public will excuse us if they are able to appreciate how feeble words are when one comes to talk about ladies or babies or millinery. Some very chic effects in turbans, hats, and bonnets were noted, however. A hat of mauve and green straw, lace brim trimmed with cheffon and lilies, Rhinestone buckles and mount of violets and a bell

Wilkison And Henry Carter Hats.

We have secured for this season along with the agency of the Wilkison Hat the sole agency of the Henry Carter Hats, two of the best English Hats in the market.

Note the style, shades and finish of these Hats before you buy, and you will find them ahead of anything shown elsewhere.

D. J. Hogan

Five Dollar Suits For Men!

The greatest array of $5 Suits ever got together in a town of this size. Not the usual $5 Suit though. Five dollars is about the size of ten dollars at present. So is the value of our Five Dollar Suits. The patterns are new; the best taste will find them all right; the qualities will surprise you pleasantly. Not the kind of surprise you get when "shopping by mail."

A Chance in Boys' Suits!

Some fifty odd suits that will fit boys between five and ten years. Odd sizes and prices; but all expensive goods. Some were $4, a few $5, the great bulk of them $3 to $3.60. We make them into three lots, at three special prices, for quick clearance—

$1.50, $2.00. $2.50.

If you have a boy to clothe don't miss these. The above prices average

Slightly over Half Value,

and the goods are the kind that everyone is glad to buy.

Another One!

Boys' 3-piece Tweed Suits, coat, vest, and short pants, sizes 28 to 32 breast measure, or to fit boys of from ten to fifteen years. These are fine patterns in Tweeds, good colors, and proper weights. They ranged from $3.75 to $5 a suit. They go on sale now at

Three Dollars a Suit,

just to show that we have no rivals for clothing values.

Tailoring Snaps!

Ten Dollars for Full Suits!

Six Dollars for Bicycle Suits!

Is our price for your choice of five patterns of Tweeds, which may be seen at our door or on our counters. It is simply the greatest money-saving chance you were ever offered in the tailoring line. The Tweeds are $1 goods. Figure it out for yourself. And no one fits so perfectly as our Mr. Cathro.

Gentlemen's Spring Hats.

The hats Dineen is showing, fifty cents lower than Dineen's price. Blacks, browns, and walnut colors. We have the absolutely correct touch in shapes. For the right hat, see us.

Our Two-for-a-Quarter Ties.

Are about the only ties sold in Napanee since they arrived. Your season's ties need only cost you half if you buy now. Fancy! eight elegant ties for a dollar. That's the way they sell.

Dress Goods at Little Prices.

Some beautiful new things in shot Dresden effects, 38 inch, rich silky finish, equal in appearance to $1 goods. There are seven new color effects to choose from, and the price is Twenty-five Cents a Yard!

36-inch Costume Tweeds, broken checks, the latest mixtures and combinations of greens, browns, fawns, &c. The highest-priced goods shown are no prettier nor more stylish than these. Our price again

Twenty-Five Cents a Yard

cannot be duplicated elsewhere.

Pattern Dresses and Trimmings

Are at their very perfection here. There is more beauty of fabric and color arrangement on our pattern dress counter than you'll see in a day's travel. This week brought some very new canvas weaves, in colors and blacks, and a very choice lot of black figured goods. Our range of patterns at $4, and up to $5 a dress, is very complete. And in trimmings everything that should be here is here, and at smaller prices than you'll expect to find.

Ladies' White Underwear.

Extra good values. No trashy goods; none of the imitation kind, but good sound values in

Gowns at 50c. and upwards.
Chemises at 25c. and upwards.
Drawers at 25c. and upwards.
Skirts at 65c. and upwards.

New Shirt Waists and Blouses.

They're here. The best-fitting goods made in this country. Also some that are not made in this country. Two lines of American Dresden cambric goods are especially pretty.

A Neat Kid Glove

Is a delight to the heart of any woman. The neat ones you see are Pewny's. They cost no more than the other kind. We are the Napanee agents for them, and have all the Spring fancies in the guaranteed brands; also in low-priced kinds

The Spring Carpets

Deserve your very best attention. They're the nicest goods that have come here; bright tasteful—sound qualities—moderate priced. We are glad to show them, and to give every opportunity for comparison of patterns and prices—particularly prices. If you're thinking of a carpet, we're always ready and willing, and you'll find it worth while.

Lace Curtains

Deserve more space than we can give them. A stock that would do credit to any city store, and values that they can't match. Neat bedroom curtains for 23c. a pair. Beautiful curtains at $1 and $1.25.

CHENILLE Curtains, Rugs, Chenille Covers, and a big line of OIL-PAINTED WINDOW SHADES from 35c. upwards.

Lahey & McKenty.

---

crown was what would be vulgarly termed "a beaut." Then there was a jet bonnet lined with osprey, cheffon lace with geran-

To Let.

A fine brick residence on Dundas Street,

EXPRESS-IONS,

A prominent citizen was greatly taken

Church of England Notes.

crown was what would be vulgarly termed "a beaut." Then there was a jet bonnet lined with osprey, cheffon lace with geraniums, mauve, Rhinestone opals and ties. Then in turbans there was a green and cream fancy straw tan, wire shape, covered with nett, rim shaped with lace and trimmed with mauve, and cardinal, purple and pink, with high effect of green ribbon, and knotted bow of green and velvet. "The Estelle" was a very pretty turban with a handkerchief of batavia and roses on the left and foliage, knotted with green ribbon on right, the knot brought through and folded over the rim. Violets on the back. Roses, standing effect, we were informed, are very fashionable this year, with platings of batavia aronnd the rim. Java sailors, flat rims, high crowns, and narrow back, trimmed with tulle and mounts of flowers are also quite the proper caper. We saw many pretty things at Cheapside's millinery opening and our visit was a most enjoyable one.

LAHEY & MCKENTY.

The Big Store didn't have a millinery opening but they were right in line on Saturday with a grand display of dress goods and carpets and housefurnishing goods of all kinds. Their dress department this year is unusually complete and they have a wealth of light fabrics and shades. In gentlemens spring hats they have all the latest styles and the firm is paying especial attention to the tailoring department. In men's outfittings they have a large and varied stock and in readymade and ordered clothing everything is right and up-to-date. Lahey & McKenty are paying much attention to bicyclists' requirements this year. The firm informs us that they did an unusually large volume of business on Saturday, the store being crowded throughout the day.

Special value in towels, new goods just in at Lahey & McKenty's.

Farmers, Gardners and Fruit Growers.

My car of fertilizers has arrived. Every one should try enough to convince themselves that it pays to fertilize. Those who have ordered will please call and get goods soon as possible. I have the best Timothy Seed in the market. The price is cheap considering the quality. See it before buying unsound and inferior seed.

17 F. E. VANLUVEN.

Installation of Officers.

The following officers of Loyal Rose Lodge, Fo. 183, Canadian Order of Odd fellows, Napanee, were installed on April 1st :—Henry Wagar, P.N.G.; James Stark, N.G.; Jno. Carr, V.G.; J. W. Schryver, I M.; Chas. File, Treas.; N. Westmoreland, Sec.; B. Mowers, R.S.N.G.; J. Whitmarsh, L.S.N.G.; S. Meeks, Warden, ; Wm. Hicks, Con.; N. Wellhelm, R.S.V.G.; Jos. Woodcock, L S.V.G.; Jos. Brown, O.G.; John Hearns, I.G.; Trustees; Henry Wagar, Wm. Hall. and Jno. Carson.

Nice patterns in floor oilcloths at closest prices at Lahey & McKenty's.

The Massey-Harris Bicycle.

When selecting your '97 mount see the Silver Ribbon wheel, made by the world famous company, the Massey-Harris. Strictly high grade and at the peop'es popular prices. Positively the best equipped wheel in the world. EVERY WHEEL GUARANTEED. Sale rooms, in the Miller Block, Boyle & Son's old stand. W. J. Normile, sole agent for the county. Remember the place, Miller's block—Sign of the Golden Wheel.

Along the Docks.

The Ella Ross will be manned as follows this season : Capt. D. B. Christie, mate P. Farrington, engineer John McFaul, purser, George McGaughey.

The Deseronto will be looked after by the following officers thie year : Wm. Skillen, mate G. Arthurs, engineer.

Mr. P. Flynn, of Trenton, has purchased the Trent of Trenton from R. Light, Napanee.

Frank Carson is putting a new set of sails on his yacht and giving her a general overhauling.

The Petrel has been launched and is receiving a coat of paint.

A new bottom is being put on the steamer Deseronto.

The Napanee fleet of yachts are all booked for Kingston on May 24th.

The Deseronto arrived in Napanee last evening, making the first trip of the season.

Linen Ballste for blouses at Lahey & McKenty's.

To Let.

A fine brick residence on Dundas Street, also a frame house on Dundas Street. Apply to, J. S. HULLETT, Photographer.

Coming.

JEBB, (formerly of New York),—Doctor of Refraction in Optics, and inventor of the famous Recherche Optometer, the latest and most improved instrument known to modern science for pointing out every defect and disease of the eye and sight. Cures granulation and inflammation of the lids, headache, and straightens cross eye, &c., without medicine or operation. A cure guaranteed in every case or money refunded. Consultation and examination free. See small bills. Treatise on the eye and sight free. Will be at Detlor's Drug Store April 16th and 17th only.

The McLeod Murder Case.

Detective Rogers was in town on Thursday quietly collecting corroborative evidence to be used at the trial of Jno. Troy, the self confessed murderer of Angus McLeod, who will be put on trial for his life at the spring assizes which open here before his Lordship, Judge Robertson, in May. Several subpoenas have been issued and the crown are weaving a chain of evidence that will no doubt lead to Troy's conviction. The authorities are very reticent on the subject, but enough was learned to lead to the conclusion that they are confident they have got hold of the right man at last. Troy is still confined in the Kingston penitentiary and will not be brought to Napanee until a few days before the trial.

Art and Madras Muslins, pretty new patterns at special low prices at Lahey & McKenty's.

Death of Thos. D. Creighton.

A respected resident of this district passed over to his reward at his late residence on the Kingston road, on Thursday morning, in the person of Mr. Thos. D. Creighton, aged 64 years. Deceased was an industrious and much esteemed farmer and his death will be greatly regretted. Some time ago he retired from farming and took up his residence a short distance from Napanee, on the Kingston road. He leaves a wife and five children. Fred, Henry and John are married and well-to-do farmers, and one son and one daughter resided with their parents. Deceased had been ailing for about a month and his death was not unexpected. The bereaved family will have the sympathy of all in their deep affliction.

Sons of Temperance.

Messrs. Bushell and Seymour, agents of the Grand Division Sons of Temperance, have been making a record in this county as organizers. Within little over a week they have organized eight divisions and initiated about 350 members in the Order. The divisions organized within the past week were as follows : At Yarker, Thursday 1st inst. with thirty five charter members. W. P., Everton Emberly ; W. A., Wm. Cambridge ; S. J. P. W., Mrs. F. L. Tooker ; R. Scribe., Mrs. Z. J. Babcock ; A. R. S., Mrs. M. N. Jayner ; F. S., Mary Montgomery ; Treas., Mabel Montgomery ; Chap., Wm. Crowe ; Con., Wm. Woodhouse ; A. C., John Wright ; I. S , Gertie Lee ; O. S., Geo. Jackson ; P. W. P., M. V. Lake ; Deputy, Mrs. J. A. Shibley. At Moscow, on the 2nd inst., with forty-two charter members. W. P., W. P. Perry ; W. A., Lizzie Harvey ; S. J. P. W., Ethel Asselstine ; R. Scribe, A. N. Benn ; A. R. S., Bertha Lake ; F. S., D. W. Lucas ; Treas., Arthur Baker ; Chap., Joseph Foster ; Con., Morley Huffman ; A. C., Effie Amey ; I. S., Manly Foster ; O. S., Charles Amey ; P. W. P., Shirley Paul ; Deputy, H. A. Baker, Esq. At Colebrook, on the 3rd with fifty-one charter members. W. P., Jesse Lee ; W. A., Ida Lake ; S. J. P. W., Ada Wartman ; R. Scribe, Philip Cornell ; A. R. S., Zelda Wartman ; F. S., Minnie Boyce ; Treas., Peter Hart ; Chap , Rev. J. W. Carmon ; Con., Mrs. Anna Sutton ; A. C., Florence Ward ; I. S., Arthur Warner ; O. S., Cecil Woodruff ; P. W. P., Nelson Walker; Deputy, Seth Lyon. At Centreville, the 5th inst., with thirty-two charter members. W. P., Mortimer Lochead ; W. A., Emma Vandewater ; S. J. P. W., Janet Lochead ; R. S., Edith McGill ; A. R. S., Wesley Kelly ; F. S., Thomas McGill ; Treas., Mabel Long ; Chap., Lizzie Hannah ; Con., Arthur Hudson ; A. C., Ethel Clancey ; I. S., Mabel McGill ; O. S., J. H. Hamilton ; P. W. P., Peter Rombough ; Deputy, Mortimer Lochead.

EXPRESS-IONS.

A prominent citizen was greatly taken with the fine appearance of the Glee Club at the hockey concert on Friday evening. "I didn't know," he said, "there was such a number of good looking boys in town." If a few of the rest of us good looking fellows had mounted the platform, words would have been inadequate to express his admiration.

There was a very large market on Saturday, and maple syrup, sugar, and eggs, to say nothing of fish, were much in evidence. Everything is cheap these days and maple syrup and sugar fell into line. Syrup sold as low as fifty cents a gallon and maple sugar was quoted at seven and ten cents a pound. With maple syrup at fifty cents a gallon, the introduction of a little Muscovado into its composition is permitable under the circumstances.

While on the market on Saturday we stood for a time admiring a twenty-six pound masco that had been rudely taken from its element in Hay Bay early that morning. By the movement of its gills we could see there still remained a little of the life that makes its kind a rare catch. Some sportsmen would be content to lay around Hay Bay all summer in order to land just such a fish. The man in charge of this rara avis was of a philisophical turn of mind. "The man who knows a thing or two about fish" informed him that it was "a corking fine pike" and he smiled a "smole" of acquiescene. Then there was the individual who accosted the owner of the masco and "the corking fine pike" and gave out the intelligence : "that's an old brute of a sturgeon," and the owner of the fish said "you bet." After these authorities on fish had taken their departure, we looked enquiringly at the man and he told us that he "always agreed with such people—it saves discussion." The presence of maskinonge in the bay at this time of the year is an indication, 'tis said, that they will be plentiful this season.

Advancing civilization has rendered life almost unbearable to the noble redman and the same factor is rapidly denuding rural life of its peculiar charms. Muscovado and the new fangled appliances have taken the romance out of the maple sugar season and the old potash kettle has degenerated into a common soft soap boiler. The old days of the scythe, the cradle, the flail and the horse-power thresher, when it took more than one hired man and a team of horses to run a farm, have gone never to return. And now a brainy individual has invented a butter-making device which will do away with churning. In the name of outraged agriculture, what next? We fear that even a corn husking machine is one of the possibilities of the near future.

It will come in the nature of a blow to its many admiring friends, the intelligence that poor "Stick" is dead. Stick died young—the good always do. Some say that is the reason they are good, who can tell. Had Stick lived it might have developed into a night prowler and disturber of the peace. As it is no charge of any grave magnitude can be registered against it. Stick occupied the enviable position of office cat in THE EXPRESS Printing Office for about six months. Of its origin and anticedents but little is known and perhaps it does not become us to enquire too minutely. It was rescued by our big hearted devil (who is a whole humane society boiled into one) from the hands of an urchin who had it firmly grasped by the tail, and with its head downward was swinging it to and fro like a pendulum. It was a small, scraggy and sorry looking kitten when it first formed the acquaintance of the EXPRESS staff, so thin and weak it had to lean against the wall to mew. But a change soon came over it, Stick grew sleek, fat and glossy and became the envy of the street. It was a very affectionate creature, inclined to be frisky and playful. It adapted itself to the situation from the start and could walk over a galley of type without pieing a line. On Monday it ventured out on the roof for a sun bath, the only kind it ever got, poor thing, and from that time forth until the hour of its death on the following morning it didn't seem the same. From the kink in its back and the wobble in its off hind leg we are forced to the conclusion that it had an interview with our next door neighbor's dog. The dog is still alive, but the EXPRESS staff is not deserving of censure they did the best they could. To the kind hearted butchers and the generous milkman who contributed towards Stick's sustenance

Church of England Notes.

S. MARY MAGDALENE—Church of S. Mary Magdalene, Napanee. Services at 11 a. m., and 7 p. m., each Sunday. Holy Communion at 11 a. m on I and III Sundays of the month, and at 8 a. m on all other Sundays. Strangers supplied with leaflets having service printed in full at evening services.

PARISH OF ADOLPHUSTOWN—Services next Sunday : St. Paul's, Sandhurst, 11 a.m.; St. Alban's, Adolphustown, 3 p.m.; St. Jude's, Gosport, 7.30 p.m.

PARISH OF CAMDEN—Services Sunday next and following week days : St. Anthony, Yarker, morning prayer and holy communion 10.30; St. Luke, Camden East, 3 o'clock ; St. John, Newburgh, 7 o'clock ; St. Jude's, Napanee Mills, 7 o'clock ; Monday in holy week, St. Luke ; Tuesday in holy week, St. Anthony, Yarker ; Tuesday in holy week, Hinch P. O. ; Wednesday in holy week, St. John, Newburgh ; Thursday in holy week, Centreville, 2.40 p. m. ; Thursday, St. Jude's, Napanee Mills. Each at 7.30 p.m Good Friday—St. Luke, Camden East, 10.30 a.m. ; St. John, Newburgh, 3 o'clock ; St. Anthony, Yarker, 7.30 p.m. ; St. Jude, Napanee Mills, 7.30 p.m.

MISSION OF ERNESTOWN—Palm Sunday, April 11th, Morning Prayer and Holy Communion at Odessa, 10.30 a.m.; Evensong at Thorpe at 3 p.m.; at Odessa at 7 p.m. Holy Week, Morning Prayer and Ante Communion Service every morning at Odessa at 10 a.m., with short address. Good Friday, Morning Prayer and Sermon at Odessa at 10 a.m.; Evensong and Sermon at Hawley at 7.30 p.m. Easter Sunday. Holy Communion at Odessa at 8 a.m ; Morning Prayer, Sermon, and Holy Communion at Odessa, at 10.30 a.m.; Evensong and Sermon at Odessa at 7 p.m.

The McRossie stock was sold by tender this week. It was bought in by the firm.

Grinding every day at Close's Mills The best ground horse feed and barley meal for sale at Close's Mills

JAS. A. CLOSE.

E. H. Sills, fishery Overseer, seized a number of nets in the Napanee river last week, which were being illegally used. Mr. Sills is holding the nets awaiting instructions from the department.

A team of horses belonging to Mrs. McFarlane, of Big Creek, became frightened at the watering cart on the market on Saturday and ran away. The wagon was overturned in front of the Parsley House and the old lady thrown out, but fortunately she was not injured. Two large cans filled with maple syrup were overturned and their sweetness wasted on the desert air.

BICYCLES—See our display Saturday. We can give you the cheapest and best $60 wheel ever offered, the only wheel at the price using weldless tubing, all other cheap wheels have brazed tubing. In stock. Triump, Perfect, Dominion, Garden City, Night Hawk. Skylark, Leader, Phoenix, and the celebrated Cleveland. Boyle & Son.

The most powerful temperance play ever written is undoubtedly known as "Ten Nights in a Bar Room," and Council 295, R. T. of T. recognizing this fact, are making extensive preparations, under the direction of Miss Adele Carlton Todd, to to produce this play on Easter Monday at Brisco's Opera House. The Delsarte Pictures, which made such a hit at the Church of England entertainment, will also be reproduced by request of many who were delighted on their former presentation. The members of the Council are progressing finely in their rehearsals, and a performance of more than ordinary merit may be expected. Specialties will also be produced between acts, and a fine orchestra has been engaged, while the admission will be only 10, 15, and 20 cents.

Cook's Cotton Root Compound

Is the only safe, reliable monthly medicine on which ladies can depend in the hour and time of need.

Is prepared in two degrees of strength.

No. 1 for ordinary cases is by far the best dollar medicine known—sold by druggists, one Dollar per box.

No. 2 for special cases—10 degrees stronger—sold by druggists. One box, Three Dollars ; two boxes, Five Dollars.

No. 1, or No. 2, sent to any address on receipt of price and two 3c. stamps.

Cheapside.

ON SATURDAY, 3rd APRIL

WE WILL HAVE OUR

MILLINERY OPENING,

and we cordially invite all the ladies and their friends to inspect the beautiful display of

London, Paris and New York Styles

IN HATS AND BONNETS.

Miss Sherin and her assistants will be on hand to take orders at the same time if you are so disposed.

All other departments will be found to be well assorted.

We do not quote prices, as it is far more satisfactory to inspect our goods, and as all goods are marked in plain figures and ONE PRICE ONLY we are confident that values can be had here that cannot be surpassed

GIVE US A TRIAL. NO TROUBLE TO SHOW GOODS.

TERMS, - CASH.

W. MOWAT.

DR WOOD'S

NORWAY

PINE SYRUP.

CURES

COUGHS, COLDS, HOARSENESS, ASTHMA, BRONCHITIS, AND ALL DISEASES OF THE THROAT AND LUNGS.

PRICE 25c. OR 5 FOR $1.00

FOR SALE BY ALL DRUGGISTS

Burdock BLOOD BITTERS

THE BEST SPRING MEDICINE

Cures all Blood Diseases, from a common Pimple to the worst Scrofulous Sore.

MILBURN'S HEART

WITHOUT A WIFE.

It's very weel, throughout the day,
When ta'en up wi' wark or play,
To think a man can live alway
Wi'oot a wifey.

It's vera weel when cla'es are new,
To think they'll always last so,
And look as well as they do noo,
Wi'oot a wifey.

But when the holes begin to show,
The stitches rip, the buttons go,
What in the warl's a man to do
Wi'oot a wifey?

It's vera weel when skies are clear,
When frein's are true and lassies dear,
To think ye'll gang through life, nae fear,
Wi'oot a wifey.

But clouds will come the skies athwart,
Lassies will marry, frien's maun part;
What, then, can cheer your saddened heart?
A dear, wee wifey.

It's vera weel when young and hale,
But when you're auld, and crazed and frail,
And your feckless spirits 'gin to fail,
You'll want a wifey.

But mayhap then the lassie dear,
Will treat your offers wi' a sneer;
Because you're cranky, grey and sere,
Ye'll get nae wifey.

Then haste ye, haste, ye silly loon;
Rise up and seek about the toon,
And get heaven's greatest earthly boon,
A wee bit wifey.

Yeast—Do you believe there is such a thing as a hypnotist?

Crimsonbeak—What's that?

Yeast—A person who can make you do something which you don't want to do.

Crimsonbeak—Oh, yes; my wife's one. She makes me bring up the coal every night.—Yonkers Statesman.

The acme of politeness was reached by a mining superintendent who posted a placard reading: "Please do not tumble down the shaft."—Melbourne Times.

Critic—Where did you get the idea for that poster picture?

Painter—Out of my head.

Critic—You must be glad it's out.—Tid-Bits.

"Talk about unreasonable people," said the real estate agent, "that man wants me to rent his farm to somebody who has had experience."

"What's unreasonable about that?"

"The idea of anybody who has had experience with a farm wanting to live on one."—Washington Star.

Millie—Dick Deolittle seems such an

HER PHOTOGRAPH.

"Watch for the bird!" the artist cries
With lifted, waiting finger;
But, heedless of the mirthful call,
Upon the camera's mystic pall
Her serious glances linger.

"Too grave!" Her mother takes the word:
"Think, darling, for one minute,
What can it be papa will say,
Opening his letter far away,
To find your picture in it?"

A look of love and rapture blent
The baby-features put on,
From parted lips to rounded cheek
Swift dimples played at hide-and-seek—
The artist touched the button.

Ah, sunbeam, knewest thou how she
Would leave the world so lonely,
Thus holding fast, in deathless grace,
The smile that on her rosebud face
Bloomed for her father only?

—MARY A. P. STANSBURY.

THE OPAL SKULL.

Of all places to oppress one with the fruitlessness of life there is none like unto the southern portion of the Colorado river. There seems always to be visible from its banks, if banks they can be called, some faint blue-gray mountain peak off in the distance, beyond the plain with its rare groups of cottonwoods and its occasional lonely adobe.

There was no color anywhere. The yellow of the sky was only a pale glimmer over the whitening blue; the green of the trees was dulled by the dust and the evening twilight. There was but one house in sight, an adobe 400 yards or less from the river.

In among the willows by the river was a small, canvas-covered wagon. Two thin bronchos were hobbled near by, and a man was gathering sticks for a fire. He wondered if it would be worth his while to make the acquaintance of the "greasers" who undoubtedly inhabited it. They might offer him hospitality for the night; but he had learned by experience that Mexican hospitality usually implies dirt, and he disliked dirt. It was a question in his mind whether a blanket under the wagon would not be preferable. And while he debated the flat board door of the adobe opened, and a woman came out. She was slender, therefore she was young—so reasoned the man, who knew Mexicans. More than that he could not see. After a time she went back into the house, and he fell to gathering sticks.

When the moon rose, and he, having finished his supper, was sitting beside the dying camp fire, peacefully smok-

Your anxiety is for your delicate child; the child that in spite of all your careful over-watching, keeps thin and pale. Exercise seems to weaken her and food fails to nourish. That child needs Scott's Emulsion with the Hypophosphites—not as a medicine, but as a food containing all the elements of growth. It means rich blood, strong bones, healthy nerves, sound digestion. No child refuses Scott's Emulsion. It is pleasant and palatable.

SCOTT & BOWNE, Belleville, Ont.

was generous and well-mannered and not ill-looking, and Senora Valera was bewitching, a type, more than locally famous for her beauty, and possessed of a charm that is peculiar to women of her race who have learned the usages of the world. They kept open house, in the grand way of the wealthy Spanish-Americans of not so long ago. Never a day passed that not more than one total stranger was entertained. Thus it came about that, upon a spring evening some years after her marriage, Senora Valera greeted with lovely ease and grace a guest whom her husband brought home with him, a Mr. Richard Lovell of Los Angeles. But as she greeted him she glanced down at his hands and saw that he wore the opal skull. She turned to her husband and said in English that was perfect now, though made dainty by a slight lisp: "Carlos, dear, will you see if I left my opal and diamond pin on my dressing stand? I think I took it out to wear, and forgot it. I don't want it to get lost like that other opal you gave me before we were married. I'm afraid they are really unlucky stones; don't you think so, Mr. Lovell? Would you mind going for it, Carlos?"

Valera left the room.

AND NERVE PILLS
FOR WEAK PEOPLE.

At all Druggists. Price 60 cents per Box, or 3 for $1.50. Sent by Mail on receipt of price. T. MILLBURN & CO., Toronto.

FARMERS ATTENTION.

Insure your property in the Lennox and Addington Mutual Fire Insurance Company.
Because it is a Home Company.
Because it is a Safe Company.
Because it is the cheapest and best.
Because it affords the most liberal policies to patrons.
Because it insures only (isolated) non-hazardous risks, as farm property, county churches halls and school houses.
Because it is the Farmer's Company managed by Farmers in the interest of farmers of the Counties of Lennox and Addington, Hastings Frontenac, Lanark and Leeds.
Officers—J. B. Aylsworth President; B. C. Lloyd, Vice-President. Directors—A. C. Parks, U. C. Sills, W. R. Gordanier, I. F. Aylesworth. Honorary Directors—Jas. Bird, M.P.P., A. V. Price, Camden; C. R. Allison, Wm. Chesters, Fredericksburgh, D. W. Allison ex-M.P. Adolphustown; F. B. Guess, Col. Geo. Hunter Kingston; Allan Pringle, Ira. B. Hudgins, Richmond. The board meets at the Secretarie's office in the first Saturday of every month at one p.m.

J. N. McKim, Napanee.
N. A. Eaton, Napanee — Agents
Thos. B. Wilson, Newburgh
M. C. BOGART Sec'y.-Treas

Willie—You wouldn't have thought so if you had seen him last night.—Pick Me-Up.

MURRAY
&
LANMAN'S
FLORIDA WATER

THE SWEETEST MOST FRAGRANT MOST REFRESHING AND ENDURING OF ALL PERFUMES FOR THE HANDKERCHIEF, TOILET OR BATH.

ALL DRUGGISTS, PERFUMERS AND GENERAL DEALERS.

Bay of Quinte Railway and Navigation Company

GENERAL PASSENGER TIME TABLE,

Eastern Standard Time. No. 13 Taking effect May 2nd, 1895

Tweed and Tamworth to Napanee and Deseronto.

	Stations	Miles	No.2 A.M.	No.4 P.M.	No.6 P.M.
Lve	Tweed		6 50	....	3 00
	Stoco	3	6 58	....	3 10
	Larkins	7	7 10	....	3 25
	Marlbank	13	7 25	....	3 40
	Erinsville	17	7 40	....	3 55
	Tamworth	20	7 55	2 00	4 10
	Wilson*	24	....	....	....
	Enterprise	26	8 10	2 20	4 30
	Mudlake Bridge*	28	....	....	....
	Moscow	31	8 22	2 35	4 43
	Galbraith*	33	....	....	....
Arr	Yarker	35	8 35	....	4 55
Lve	Yarker	35	9 00	2 50	5 10
	Camden East	39	9 13	3 02	5 23
	Thomson's Mills*	40	9 18	....	....
	Newburgh	41	9 23	3 15	5 32
	Napanee Mills	42	9 33	3 25	5 40
Arr	Napanee	49	9 50	3 40	5 55
Lve	Napanee	49	....	....	6 15
	Deseronto Junction	54	....	....	6 30
Arr	Deseronto	58	....	....	6 45

Deseronto and Napanee to Tamworth and Tweed.

	Stations.	Miles	No.1 A.M.	No.3 P.M.	No.5 P.M.
Lve	Deseronto	0	6 50	....	....
	Deseronto Junction	4	7 10	....	....
Arr	Napanee	9	7 25	....	....
Lve	Napanee	9	7 45	12 00	4 20
	Napanee Mills	15	8 00	12 15	4 35
	Newburgh	17	8 10	12 23	4 42
	Thomson's Mills*	18	8 20	....	....
	Camden East	19	8 33	12 30	4 50
Arr	Yarker	23	8 43	....	5 00
Lve	Yarker	23	9 00	12 45	5 15
	Galbraith*	25	....	....	....
	Moscow	27	9 15	1 00	5 27
	Mudlake Bridge*	30	....	....	....
	Enterprise	32	9 30	1 15	5 40
	Wilson*	34	....	....	....
	Tamworth	38	9 50	1 35	5 56
	Erinsville	41	10 09	....	6 10
	Marlbank	45	10 15	....	6 23
	Larkins	51	10 30	....	6 40
	Stoco	55	10 50	....	6 50
Arr	Tweed	58	11 00	....	7 05

Kingston and Sydenham to Napanee and Deseronto.

	Stations.	Miles	No.2 A.M.	No.4 P.M.	No.6. P.M.
Lve	Kingston	0	....	....	3 30
	G. T. R. Junction	2	....	....	3 40
	Glenvale*	10	....	....	4 00
	Murvale*		....	....	4 15
Arr	Harrowsmith	19	....	....	4 30
Lve	Sydenham	23	8 00	....	....
	Harrowsmith	19	8 20	....	4 30
	Frontenac*	22	8 32	....	4 40
Arr	Yarker	26	8 40	....	4 50
Lve	Yarker	26	9 00	2 50	5 10
	Camden East	30	9 13	3 02	5 23
	Thomson's Mills*	31	9 18	....	....
	Newburgh	32	9 23	3 15	5 30
	Napanee Mills	34	9 33	3 25	5 40
Arr	Napanee	40	9 50	3 40	5 55
Lve	Napanee, West End	40	....	....	6 15
	Deseronto Junction	45	....	....	6 30
Arr	Deseronto	49	....	....	6 45

Deseronto and Napanee to Sydenham and Kingston.

	Stations	Miles.	No.1 A.M.	No.3, P.M.	No.5 P.M.
Lve	Deseronto	0	6 50	....	....
	Deseronto Junction	4	7 10	....	....
Arr	Napanee	9	7 25	....	....
Lve	Napanee	9	7 45	12 00	4 20
	Napanee Mills	15	8 00	12 15	4 35
	Newburg	17	8 10	12 23	4 42
	Thomson's Mills*	18	8 15	....	....
	Camden East	19	8 20	12 30	4 50
Arr	Yarker	23	8 33	12 45	5 00
Lve	Yarker	23	8 50	....	5 20
	Frontenac*	27	9 00	....	5 27
Arr	Harrowsmith	30	9 05	....	5 40
	Sydenham	34	....	....	5 55
Lve	Harrowsmith	30	9 05	....	....
	Murvale*	35	9 20	....	....
	Glenvale*	39	9 30	....	....
	G. T. R. Junction	47	9 55	....	....
Arr	Kingston	49	10 10	....	....

girl of the adobe stood before him.

"Ah, I beg your pardon, senor; I knew not zat you were hier," she cried, starting back.

"It gives me much pleasure to see you. Will you not sit here with me?" He spread a blanket on the ground near the bright coals, and motioned to her with a deep bow, to be seated. She took her place, and he, stretching himself at her feet, leaning upon one elbow, offered her a cigarette.

Her name, it transpired very soon, was Anita—Anita Manare; his, he told her, was Richard Lovell. They fell a-talking, and he did what was expected of him—made desperate love instantly; while she did what he had expected her to do, respond with only enough reserve to keep up the illusion of flirtation. Here, in the half tropic southwest, with an unwise child of 16, of an amorous race, the rather lax code of honor of Richard Lovell fell from him. She told him about her life.

"I was born hier," she said, "een zat house. But w'en I twelf years am, I to San Diego go to school, an' zere I Eenglish learn. I speak note much Eenglish now, for zat I have only my muzzer an' my bruzzer, who zey speake but Spanish; an' Carlos he can Eenglish speake, but he like eet note."

"Who is Carlos, sweetheart?"

"He ees my sweetheart, w'at I to marry him am."

"Where is he?" The young man drew a little away and sat erect.

"He ees at ze mines in Concepcion. He haf one mine for him, an' he weel be some time reech. He come to see me ze Sunday. Do you note Spanish speake—talk, sare?"

"No. Just a few words. And where is your brother?"

"He ees zis night far away. He weel to-morrow weeth Carlos come back."

Lovell understood. He resumed gradually his posture of adoration. When the cigarettes were finished he held her hands, and in time he put his arm about her and kissed her, and forgot all the maxims of wisdom that had ever been taught to him.

"What is that ring?" he asked, turning and toying with the only one she wore.

"Eet ees Carlos. He geef eet me. Weel you see?" She drew it off. "Eef you weel one match light."

He struck a wax one and held it to the ring. It was an opal set in silver, and carved in the shape of a skull. Lovell knew enough of stones to understand the difficulty of cutting an opal. He knew the skill and patience it must require to shape it like this one. There was probably not another like it in the world; certainly he had never seen it, if there were. In the flickering light it gleamed and sparkled blue, and red, and yellow fires, and the jaws seemed to contort themselves into a grin.

"How wonderful," he ejaculated.

"Yes," answered Anita.

He was seized with a wild desire to obtain it, and he played boldly for it. "Do you love me, Anita, sweetheart, beautiful?" he whispered, taking her face into his hands and looking into her eyes.

She uttered a faint but sincere "Yes."

He kissed her again, not once, but many times. "If you love me, Anita, you should give me the ring to remember you by—a keepsake, as we call it."

She slipped it into his hand.

"Ah! no. Geef eet to me," she cried, of a sudden.

"Why?"

"Carlos, he tell me zat eet ees very—w'at you say?—note nice lucky."

"Then why did he give it to you?"

"He say eet ees for a man, note for a woman, zat eet ees like zat."

"I expect Carlos wanted to keep you from giving it away."

"No. He say zat one man w'at keep eet for fife years, he die sure."

"I am not afraid. I would be glad to die to have your ring for even a year."

"No. Geef eet back to me."

"Then you do not love me?" he said dejectedly. "You are like all women, you are glad to break a man's heart."

"No, no. I lofe you. You can keep eet. I weel tell Carlos I loose eet."

At the moment her mother called to her from the adobe. She threw her plump arms about the American's neck and said a clinging good-by, as if her heart were sadly wrung. And for the time being she was in desparate earnest.

At daybreak he saw two horseman, both Mexicans, ride up to the house. He guessed that they were the men Manara and Carlos; and he hitched up the team quickly and went, in a fashion that suggested flight, taking the ring with him.

Now it happened—as such things will happen in the new west—that Carlos Valera grew very rich within a few months and went to live in San Diego with his wife.

"I have never taken it off. And I'm sorry that I can't do so now."

"If Mr. Valera sees it he will be apt to kill you as not. He is very jealous."

"I fancy he has good reason."

"Kindly keep your opinions where such unpleasant ones properly belong—in your own consciousness. You will be wise to do as I say, and to be quick. Do you know that the five years is up to-night?"

"I doubt that sort of superstition. As I told you before, I'm not afraid. Perhaps you are, though? It is natural you should be. I will tell you what I will do. I'll take the ring and put it in my pocket"—he slipped it off and held it between his thumb and finger—"if you will kiss me again as you did on that night."

"I will not. You would have forgotten that silliness of mine by now, if you had been fortunate enough to be a gentleman."

"Never!—not all those caresses and protestations. Come, kiss me again, and I'll hide the ring."

"No. Mr. Valera will finish hunting for a pin that isn't there in a moment more, and if he comes back it will go ill with you—it certainly will if he sees the ring."

"Then kiss me."

"I will not. Be quick. I hear him coming. Quick"

"Kiss me. You'd better for your own sake."

"No."

"Then don't."

"Oh! hide that ring—do, for me."

"Kiss me."

"Well, kiss me, then."

He put his hands on her shoulders and bent his head. He did not see Valera step into the French window, but he knew that the woman pulled away from him with a loud "How dare you!" and a scream: "Carlos, Carlos, help me!"

And then he felt something sharp driven deep between the shoulders, and as he fell backward Senora Valera grasped at the ring and caught it from his hand. She put her own hand to her throat in the accepted fashion of the conventional faint, and as she did so, dropped the jewel into the bosom of her gown. Then she lost consciousness.

The story she told her husband was one of unprovoked impertinence on the part of an utter stranger, a man she had never seen before, and the story he told the world was much the same, but slightly embellished. It was not plausible, yet it passed. It excused the murder without any great difficulty, and it was something of a feather in the cap of the beautiful Mexican—for this was in the early days.

Senora Valera ground the opal skull to bits with a heavy stone, and kept the chips in a locket, until one day she found an excuse to drive to the cemetery and scatter them upon Lovell's grave.—Gwendolen Overton, in San Francisco Argonaut.

A Judgment.

Blifkins—That Billings never told the truth in his life. What lie was he springing on you just now?

Flipkins—He was telling me that you were a scholar and a gentleman.

Keeping His Chords in Tune.

"I saw that German tenor drink about two gallons of beer last night."

"Nothing strange about that," replied the manager. "He is determined that his voice should not lose its rich, liquid quality."—Detroit Free Press.

Heredity.

Judge—How did you come to steal this chicken?

Prisoner—Hereditary, your honor.

Judge—What do you mean, sir?

Prisoner—My ancestors landed on Plymouth Rock.—New York Tribune.

Makes Superior Wood.

Trees which grow on the northern side of a hill are much more durable when converted into furniture than those which grow on the southern side.

"D. & L." MENTHOL PLASTER

I have prescribed Menthol Plaster in a number of cases of neuralgic and rheumatic pains, and am very much pleased with the effects and pleasantness of its application.—W. H. CARPENTER, M.D., Hotel Oxford, Boston.

I have used Menthol Plasters in several cases of muscular rheumatism, and find in every case that it gave almost instant and permanent relief.—J. B. MOORE M.D., Washington, D.C.

It Cures Sciatica, Lumbago, Neuralgia, Pains in Back or Side, or any Muscular Pains.

Price (Davis & Lawrence Sole Props.)

THE HINDOO FARMER

HE FINDS NO USE FOR WESTERN AGRICULTURAL METHODS.

Why? Because He Lives Directly and Bloodily From the Bountiful Hand of "Indra"—Sir Edwin Arnold on the Causes of Present Effects.

To feed only the Northwest and Oudh takes fifteen and a half million acres; to feed Bengal, fifty-four and a half millions, and to feed Madras, thirty-two million acres of properly watered lands! The population of these—only a portion, remember, of the vast country, would mount up to at least one hundred and fifteen millions of souls, and, speaking generally, they all depend in less or greater degree upon those timely kharif and rabi rains. Americans, with huge areas of soil still happily left to conquer, may ask why the area of cultivated ground is not increased. The reply is that, enormous albeit Hindostan appears in extent upon the maps, there is not much good ground remaining to be taken up. There are rich regions where the climate is deadly, as in the Terai; there are poor tracts where population is scanty; but neither for the old-fashioned Hindoo peasant nor for modern men with new methods and machinery does there exist any considerable margin of unused soil.

Could, then, the native cultivator double his yield by manures? He certainly employs none which are artificial and imported, like the nitrates, but he knows what he is about with his own simple materials, and when high authorities mock him for using up all the cattle droppings for fuel cakes, he laughs silently because he knows that the ashes of gauri are just as precious to the soil as the natural commodity unburned. But practically the tilth is never seriously mended in India, except close to the villages and for sugar cane, opium or garden crops, unless it be by burning and scratching into the red or gray soil some jungle branches and dead leaves.

Neither have Western machinery nor scientific farming methods found any success. What can Sussex, or even Massachusetts, do with husbandman who will insist on carrying a plow or a wheelbarrow upon his head, and whose fathers for 3000 years past have stood upon a pointed stick drawn by a buffalo in order to make a two-inch furrow? The Hindoo lives directly and placidly from the bountiful hand of heaven, which he calls "Indra." Dwelling in his village he tills only so much of the culturable jungle as can be easily reached morning and evening by his slow-moving cattle. He has not the capital nor the mind for costly Western implements; and his winnowing machine is still and always the wind blowing from heaven. Jowarri and bajri are for the humble; wheat, flour and rice for Brahmans and the rich, with plenty of dal and pulses to make up for the meat which the strong Sahib and savare Mahometan devour. Such is his simple fare—millet cakes and boiled leaves of rape and gram, with Mhowa fruit, mango, plantain and cocoanut—by these the blameless existence of the Hindoo sustains its innocent span. Fowls and eggs are held by most in abhorrence; no cheese is so much as known; and about one hundred and eighty million of that wonderful people never take animal food at all, unless in the shape of milk, curds and ghi, which last is clarified butter.

Thus all hangs upon Indra and the rain. If the southwest monsoon is exceptionally late in setting in, or premature in its cessation, or scanty and irregular, or excessive during its period of duration, great mischief may be done, and any failure of the rain at this season is damaging not only to the crops then growing, but also to the winter crops, which are sewn after the monsoon stops, and to which a thoroughly moistened seed bed is essential. The early and late falls are looked for to soften the soil and admit of plowing preparatory to sowing the kharif in the one case and the rabi in the other, and the delay in putting in the seed beyond a certain period is prejudicial to the growth and maturing of the crop. The millets and pulses of the kharif crop are hardy plants, and can bear a great deal of irregularity; but any partial cessation of the rainfall exceeding a month in duration, or as it is called, "a break," in the rains of the monsoon, will do them great injury, especially if, as is sometimes the case during such a break, a hot, dry wind also sets in. Rice is more delicate, and perishes if the plants are either too deeply submerged or their roots left dry for a few days, and for this reason the winter rice

People shudder at the tales of Monte Carlo suicides, but look on with perfect equanimity while friends and loved ones commit just as certain suicide by neglecting their health. Trifling disorders of the digestion persistently neglected lead to impurity of the blood, the tissues of the body are imperfectly nourished, and emaciation and debility follow. In the case of that dread disease, consumption, imperfectly nourished tissue is built up in the lungs, forming a suitable soil for the germs of that deadly disease. One-seventh of all the deaths each year are due to consumption. This fearful death rate could be easily avoided if the proper remedy was resorted to.

A sure preventive and cure of consumption is found in Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. It cures 98 per cent. of all cases. It corrects all disorders of digestion, invigorates the liver, and makes the blood pure and plentiful. It is the great blood maker, flesh-builder, and nerve invigorator. It gets into the blood and acts directly upon the lungs, building up healthy tissue and driving out all impurities and disease germs. Thousands have testified to its wonderful merits. Druggists sell it.

"I feel that I must write you telling you of the great benefits derived from the use of your 'Golden Medical Discovery,'" writes Miss Laura Piersel, of East Bethlehem, Washington Co., Pa. "Last summer my friends thought I was surely going into consumption, and having tried doctors before with no satisfactory results and hearing your medicine so highly spoken of, I took one bottle. My cough left me altogether with all the distressing symptoms, and in fact the cure seemed almost miraculous to all who saw me. I cannot say enough in praise of the medicine, and have done much to induce others to use it."

QUEENS IN CONTRAST.

THE DIFFERENCES BETWEEN A CIVILIZED AND AN UNCIVILIZED ONE.

The Queen of the Greeks the Most Popular Woman in Europe Who Wears a Crown—The Acts Which Have Made Her So.

Queen Olga is the most popular Queen in all Europe, and after her plucky act the other day in defying the Russian throne there is not a native of Hellas who would not die for her. Queen Olga is a Russian Princess and was an honorary admiral in the Russian fleet. She has just returned her insignia to St. Petersburg with the remark that she cannot hold rank in a fleet that has fired upon the Greeks. Olga is the eldest daughter of the Grand Duke Constantine of Russia and a niece of the late Czar Alexander II. She is tall and stately and realizes the traditional idea of a Queen in her appearance and manner. She is a blonde, with brown hair, regular features, and a beautiful neck and shoulders. She goes about Athens unattended, even by a maid, and dresses in the most simple fashion. On state occasions she costumes herself royally. She is very fond of pearls and has a small fortune in these ornaments. She is most popular among the Athenian ladies and ing a man with her own hand, summoned her crier and ordered him to announce to the town that "the Queen has had a thorn removed from her foot this morning." He adds that Mokwai's reign has been stained by many a cool act of murder and bloodshed, and she avenges herself particularly on those who are the objects of her jealousy.

QUEEN OLGA OF GREECE.

In his talk with the Queen, Capt. Gibbons, who had met her daughter, the ruling princess of Sesheke, and her husband, spoke in laudatory terms of them. A full translation of her reply is: "Oh, they are merely small fry. I and Lewanika are the big wigs in this part of the world."

Mokwai and her brother, the King, have signed a treaty, placing their country under the British flag, but as yet the British have not established any semblance of authority over the land, and this savage Queen is still at liberty to kill as many husbands and other persons as she pleases.

SEA FREAKS HER PETS.

A Young Woman Who Raises Marine Monsters in Jars.

A young woman living in Worcester, Mass., has discovered a new field for her sex. It is science—science in strange form and uncouth guise. Miss Dell Ten Eyck is the feminine pioneer. She is a member of the Natural History Society of Worcester. Ever since she can remember, she has had the curiosity of the woman and the scientist combined, trending in the direction of these strange creatures we see in glass jars in the Natural History museums, that fill us with horror, and stir within us the alarm which finds vent in nightmares besides which the creatures of a welsh rabbit are as nothing at all.

She preserved and is at the present time engaged in cultivating all sorts of curious monsters which are to be found traveling about the waters of the ocean and crawling along its bottom. These are growing in jars, and form one of the oddest collections that is to be seen anywhere.

At present the particular feature of Miss Ten Eyck's work is the cultivation of those little marine puzzles known as deep sea anemones. There is, however, in addition, a very interesting collection of various sorts of fish and corals, which commands much of the young scientist's attention. One of the most curious of the fish is the sea porcupine. It has the faculty of inflating itself with air until it looks like an animated balloon. An odd characteristic of the creature is that when inflated it is as helpless as a turtle that is turned on its back. It has no control over itself whatever, and, floating upon the surface of the water, is blown about at the mercy of the wind and waves until the air is exhausted.

SHE CULTIVATES OLD SEA FISH.

Among the various specimens which Miss Ten Eyck is carefully watching are a number of young sharks. Just what she will do with these marine cannibals when they become too large for their present quarters she does not know, but she has hopes that ere that time arrives the society of which she is a member will provide an aquarium for the specimens.

In other jars Miss Ten Eyck has growing coral. These tiny polypi were after numerous failures successfully transplanted from their native home in the South Pacific Ocean to a comfortable if somewhat more restricted existence in glass jars in the rooms of the Worcester Natural History Society.

One of the rarest specimens which she has is what is commonly termed a sea horse—in appearance half animal, half fish. They are hatched from eggs, and when fully grown are about eight inches long.

Almost as interesting, but much uglier in appearance than the sea horses, are a number of young sea

Good Blood

Is essential to health. Every nook and corner of the system is reached by the blood, and on its quality the condition of every organ depends. Good blood means strong nerves, good digestion, robust health. Impure blood means scrofula, dyspepsia, rheumatism, catarrh or other diseases. The surest way to have good blood is to take Hood's Sarsaparilla. This medicine purifies, vitalizes, and enriches the blood, and sends the elements of health and strength to every nerve, organ and tissue. It creates a good appetite, gives refreshing sleep and cures that tired feeling. Remember,

Hood's Sarsaparilla

Is the best—in fact the One True Blood Purifier.

Hood's Pills cure Liver Ills; easy to take, easy to operate. 25c.

ALAS, NO BYRON NOW.

SCANDINAVIA SEEMS TO BE AT THE HEAD THESE DAYS

Dr. Nansen's Happily Ended Arctic Drama in Contrast With King George's Brave Stand For the Oppressed Cretans.

In Scandinavia to be our purveyor of sensations? It would seem so. At the present moment two sons of the Vikings are the most prominent figures in the European play—Dr. Nansen, with his happily ended Arctic drama, and King George of Greece, with his "Liberty of Crete," which may be tragedy or—as likely as not—unsatisfactory farce.

The first fine detonation of the Nansen boom has died down, the hero is one of lecturing. But George of Greece occupies the center of the stage, the lime light is full on him, and one hopes for a good old-fashioned drama before the curtain falls—Vice deposed and Virtue triumphant, in the "Grecian" manner. Looking at King George one recalls Byron's line:

> These Greeks, indeed, were proper men
> (The Curse of Minervan),

and alters the tense to the present. He is a "proper man," and all he wants is a worthy poet. There are no Byrons nowadays (Byron, by-the-bye, was, if not a Scandinavian, at least a Northman, for he was a half Scot), to write the record of a nation's struggles in a ringing line and celebrate its ancient glories in a couplet. But is there any need? Did not Byron himself leave enough to make Greece something more than a mere aesthetic memory? Why, what could be more applicable at this moment than his translation of "Sons of the Greeks, arise!"?

> Then, manfully despising
> The Turkish tyrant's yoke,
> Let your country see you rising,
> And all your chains are broke.

His poems ring from end to end with "drum taps" for the present struggle:

> The sword, the banner and the field,
> Glory and Greece-ground me see!
> The Spartan, borne upon his shield,
> Was not more free.
>
> Awake! not Greece—she is awake!
> Awake, etc.

"On this day, I complete my 36th birthday," Missolonghi, Jan. 22, 1824, not three months before his death.)

Or take these words of wisdom:

> Trust not for freedom to the Franks—
> They have a King that buys and sells;
> In native swords and native ranks,
> The only hope of courage dwells;
> But Turkish force, and Latin fraud,
> Would break your shield, however broad.
> —Don Juan, Canto III.

It is to be hoped the last couplet is not sad prophecy. That famous interpolated poem in "Don Juan" is full of quotable and splendid things. What school boy does not know:

> The Isles of Greece! the Isles of Greece!
> Where burning Sappho loved and sung,
> Where grew the arts of war and peace,
> Where Delos rose and Phoebus sprung;
> Eternal summer gilds them yet,

carious crop, dependent on the continuation of rainfall in September and October, after the monsoon has generally ceased in Upper India.

The self-respect of Hindoos is prodigious; and they "lose face" in applying to any save a kinsman for food, which, indeed, as many Americans will know, is, especially if thus obtained, uneatable for high castes when not lawfully prepared. A Hindoo servant, whom I desired to cure surreptitiously of his deadly weakness, after fever, by beef tea, told me, quite sweetly, that he would have poisoned me upon recovery, if I had carried out the idea. Again, the purhahnashin, the "curtain-dwellers," those women who must not be seen in public—a foolish fashion adopted from the Mogul and never really Aryan—cannot announce their misery nor take an alms-bowl to the relief camp. There is a vast category of these—women and children—who begin slowly and certainly to perish as soon as the famine begins and who must and will succumb at last, unreached by the great hand of the Government, or only reached when despair has brought them—haggard, whiter, and shameless—to snatched that last meal, which is desparately craved for, but the very eating of which is poison to the enfeebled and ulcerated stomach.—Sir Edwin Arnold, in The North American Review.

The Bay of Fundy's Tides.

Extraordinary stories are sometimes told of the immense tides in the Bay of Fundy. The scientific facts in regard to them have recently been published by the Dominion Geological Survey. The bay is about 145 miles long, and gradually narrows, and becomes shallower, as it divides into two main branches, and several small side bays exist. The highest tides at the mouth of the main bay reach eighteen feet. Going up the bay they increase in height. At Digby Neck they attain 22 feet, at Petitcodiac River 46 feet, and at Noel River in Cobequid Bay 53 feet, the maximum. Some branch bays are left empty at ebb tide.

The Eddystone Lighthouse.

The smallest inhabited island in the world is that on which the Eddystone Lighthouse stands. At low water it is 30 feet in diameter; at high water the lighthouse, whose diameter at the base is 28 3-4 feet, completely covers it. It is inhabited by three persons. It lies nine miles off the Cornish coast and fourteen miles southwest of Plymouth Breakwater.

And He Put It There.

Bertie—Aw, Miss Ethel, theah is one thing I like about you.

Ethel—What is that, Mr. Softleigh?

Bertie—My awm, deah,

Quite Personal.

Codling—has Mr. Standoff much personal property?

Dimling—Yes, he has more than most people.

Codling—Indeed?

Dimling—To my knowledge he has a cork leg and arm, and a set of false teeth.

The Hardships of Labor.

Pat—Ye'll have to get a new night watchman, sorr. Oi'll be lavin' yez Saturday.

Bank President—Why, what's the matter, Patrick?

Pat—Shure, this place is on a strate

ness and the sea coast is a preions them. Like all the rest of this singularly democratic royal family the Queen never deports herself in the manner assumed by royalty in general and while dignified is gentle, affable and lovable. Olga is a great scholar. She loves science and the classics, and can speak fluently in Russian, Italian, Greek, French, German and English. Lately she has mastered Albanian also. She is interested in music and art devotes much of her time to charity and public education, and has founded one of two prosperous schools in Athens. Her recent patriotic display will make her all the more loved by the Greeks.

QUEEN OF THE MAROTSE.

A Woman Who Has Killed Six Husbands and Is Now Living With the Seventh.

This is a picture of an African Queen and she is a very important person in her way. Every explorer who has entered the large country of the Marotse in the Upper Zambesi Valley within the past few years has told of Queen Mokwai. This picture of her is taken from Dr. James Johnston's capital book, "Reality vs. Romance." He met the Queen during his visit in 1891-92; and Capt. A. S. H. Gibbons of the British army, who traveled in the Marotse country last year, has given further details about this remarkable but not particularly admirable woman. In Dr. Johnston's picture of her she appears with twenty-five slave girls sitting in a half circle around her.

Queen Mokwai derives her importance from an unwritten but time-honcred law of her country. She is the eldest surviving sister of the ruling King, and, according to the unwritten constitution, without her advice and sanction her brother, King Lewanika, is debarred from giving effect to any important measure. She holds the veto power, and as she is a much more determined character than her vacillating and pusillanimous brother, she is the real power in the great Marotse country. She lives at Nalolo on the Zambesi, about twenty miles below Lialui, where the King resides, and when she visits the capital of the kingdom she goes in state. When Dr. Johnston saw her she had come to Sefula, near the capital, attended by 150 women, to be present at the marriage of the King's eldest son; and there was a great flourish of trumpetts when she and her retinue of the gentler sex came into view.

QUEEN MOKWAI.

While nothing can be done in all important affairs of state without consulting Queen Mokwai, she rules supreme in the minor, local affairs of her own district. Capt. Gibbons says that she holds the power of life or death over her subjects. She is at liberty to wed or depose a husband whenever she pleases, and she lives quite up to her opportunities in these respects. The man she had honored by making him her husband last year was No. 7. She had killed all his predecessors, and it is therefore a very precarious undertaking to become the husband of Queen Mokwai. No. 6 had earned for himself the universal respect of the people by his kind and just treatment of all. The people loved him and the Queen could not stand that, for jealousy and envy are the woman's leading passions. So she had him come to her hut to drink beer, and two young men, armed with spears, were stationed there, with instructions to kill the poor fellow when she gave the signal. She gave the sign, but the two young men, less hard-hearted than their mistress, hesitated. With a curse on their cowardice, the woman seized a Portuguese sabre and ran her victim through. As he fell she remarked contemptuously: "Thus has a thorn been removed from my flesh."

This metephor seems to be generally employed when the Queen desires to announce the violen death of another of geons and sharks.

One of her particular pets is a goose fish, which is in appearance a sort of marine nightmare entirely unlike any other member of the fish family. It is a most voracious specimen, and will eat anything and pretty much everything which comes within its reach. The specimens at present are hardly larger than a silver dollar, being almost circular in shape, with a mouth nearly as big as the body. These fish grow eventually to be five and six feet across.

For the Baby's Outfit.

When preparing and outfit for an infant provide the softest and finest materials your means will permit. One should stop to consider how soft the skin of the infant is in its early days.

Embroideries should never be selected for trimming the neck of dress's and nightgowns. Lace is much daintier, and while less expensive than embroideries, it gives a richer appearance to the little wardrobe.

For night wear flannels should have an admixture of cotton. This prevents shrinking. The day skirts may also be made of cotton and wool flannel, but silk and wool makes a much handsomer skirt and will last for years.

Do not provide rubber shields; those made of quilted cambric are much more cleanly and better for the child in every way.

The dresses should be one yard long when finished. A deep hem is the most popular finish at the present time, and is far more sensible than a ruffle of embroidery. The little dresses are far more easily laundered and the extra expense may be added to the quality of the material.

French nainsook should be first choice for the dresses; sheer dimity is also desirable. Soft finished cambric comes next on the list.

The Isle of Wight Memorial.

Princess Beatrice, as Governor of the Isle of Wight, will unveil the local memorial to Lord Tennyson next summer. It is a monument of Aberdeen granite, which will be erected on the verge of the cliffs near Farringford, so that it will be a landmark for all ships passing up or down the channel.

A Hand-Knitting Industry.

Lady Arran is managing a hand-knitting industry in County Mayo, Ireland. Although designed to give work to such of her husband's tenants as needed employment, the venture has proved profitable financially, 7000 pairs of stockings having been knitted last year and $2000 spent in wages.

Break Up a Cold in Time
BY USING
PYNY-PECTORAL
The Quick Cure for COUGHS, COLDS, CROUP, BRONCHITIS, HOARSENESS, etc.

MRS. JOSEPH NORWICK, of 68 Sorauren Ave., Toronto, writes: "Pyny-Pectoral has never failed to cure my children of croup after a few doses. It cured myself of a long-standing cough after several other remedies had failed. It has also proved an excellent cough cure for my family. I prefer it to any other medicine for coughs, croup or hoarseness."

H. O. BARBOUR, of Little Rocher, N.B., writes: "As a cure for coughs Pyny-Pectoral is the best selling medicine I have; my customers will have no other."

Large Bottle, 25 Cts.

DAVIS & LAWRENCE CO., LTD.
Proprietors, MONTREAL

Many Women
No. 4
MILES' CANADIAN VEGETABLE COMPOUND

DON'T BELIEVE

In quack medicines, YOU DO BELIEVE that you are weak and ill.

DO YOU KNOW that you can easily regain health, strength and vigor?

MILES' (Can.) VEGETABLE COMPOUND and Miles' Sanative Wash.

for sale by all Druggists at 75c. and 25c., impart vitality and energy, and make the life of the "Mother Sex" worth living.

Explanatory pamphlet, "Woman's Triumph," sent free on application.

Orders filled promptly from the laboratory.

The mountains look on Marathon,
And Marathon looks on the sea;
And musing there an hour alone,
I dreamed that Greece might yet be free.

The poet's dream came true; Greece is free, and would have her neighbor of Crete free too. She sends men and ships to that end:

A king sate on the rocky brow,
Which looks on sea-born Salamis;
And ships, by thousands, lay below,
And men in nations; all were his!
And ships, by thousands, lay below,
He counted them at break of day;

It will be said if we have to ask—
And when the sun set, where were they?

May we not have to answer—
'Tis Greece, but living Greece no more!

Nor this—
Cities of the unforgotten brave!
Whose land from plain to mountain cave
Was Freedom's home or Glory's grave!
Shrine of the mighty! can it be
That this is all remains of thee?
—The Giaour.

Before such an unfoward pass Byron would like to hear the sould of battle:

. . . an echo dread and new:
You might have heard it on that day,
O'er Salamis and Megara;
(We have heard the hearers say)
Even unto Piraeus' Bay.
—The Siege of Corinth.

And in that hour of battle he would have the Greeks display the spirit of Myrrha in "Sardanapalus":

Fear? I am a Greek, and how should I fear death?

Myrrha, who was—a Greek, and born a foe to monarchs—

A slave, and hating fetters.

Byron had that true patriotism which is of no country, the patriotism that allies itself with a "distressful" country. He loved Greece more for its existing sorrows than for its past glories. Not but he respected her olden splendor, for you may remember how he flayed Lord Elgin when that shrewd man raped Athens of her magnificent marbles—

Daughter of Jove! In Britain's injured name,
A true-born Briton may the deed disclaim,
Frown not on England; England owns him not;
Athena, no! thy plunderer was a Scot.
—Minerva's Curse.

And again—

What, shall it e'er be said by Briton's tongue
Albion was happy in Athena's tears?
Though in thy name the slaves her bosom wrung,
Tell not the deed to blushing Europe's ears,
—Childe Harold, Canto II.

But, surely, enough has been written to show how this Northman loved warlike Greece. And it may as surely go without saying that public sympathy at the present day is of the same hearty character as was Byron's love for the Greece of 70 years ago.

Five Generations.

On the farm of R. H. Ricks, in Nash County, N.C., there lives a family that cannot, in all probability, be duplicated elsewhere in the United States, says The New York Journal. It is a colored family and consists of five generations of lineal descendants in unbroken couples.

The oldest couple are Ben and Harriet Speight, aged 90 and 92 years respectively.

The next couple are their daughter Jane, and her husband, Jeff Bell, who are 71 and 72 years old. Their daughter Della, and her husband, Jonas Harrison, 47 and 51 years old, form the third couple.

This couple have been blessed with 13 children, of whom 10 are now living. One of the 10—George Harrison—and his wife, Gabrella, 29 and 24 years old, constitute the fourth couple. One of the four children of George and Gabrella, Georgianna by name, 3 years old represents the fifth generation.

Currency in Corfu.

In Corfu sheets of paper pass for money. One sheet buys one quart of rice, or twenty sheets a piece of hemp cloth.

A Remarkable Boy.

The French Academy of Sciences, in 1729, examined the case of a French lad, only 7 years old, who, in all respects, save that of intelligence, was the equal of a man of 20. His remarkable physical development began when he was 2 years old; at 4 he could do the farm work of a boy of 15 or 16, and at 7 he was a fully grown man. Although his physique was thus remarkably developed, his intelligence was no greater than that of children of the same age. He died before he was 20. As is usual in such cases of premature development, his strength faded away

THE NAPAN

Vol. XXXVI] No 19.—JNO. POLLARD, Editor and Publisher. | NAPANEE, ONT., CANA

5c. 5c.

I am still selling 3 lb. cans of Sugar Corn at the low price of 5c. The best in the market. Try it.

5c. 5c.

W. COXALL.

Spring Overcoats in the Latest Shades, from $5.00 up, a special.

Men's Shirts, any kind you want from 25c. up. Spring Underwear from 25c. up. Socks, Kid Gloves, Overalls, Neckwear, Sweaters for men and boys. We have a good assortment in these lines.

In Hats and Caps the very latest of English and American styles. Try one of our Stiff Hats, it is a beatuy.

Some new lines of Men's Boots and Shoes to hand this week. Come and see them.

A. M. VINEBERG,

The Wonderful Cheap Clothier, Dundas st., Henry Block, Napanee

TIMOTHY

—AND—

CLOVER SEED

Bran and Shorts

Flour and Feed.

TAYLOR & MORRIS,

(Blewett's Old Stand.)

NEW PLANING MILL AND LUMBER YARD.

Now in full operation. All kinds Lumber, Sash, Doors and Blinds. Custom work done on shortest notice. Get our prices before buying. Mr. Embury is prepared to draw plans for parties wanting them.

Embury, Greer & Co.

HOUSES TO LET.

MORTGAGE SALE OF VALUABLE FARM PROPERTY.

Easter Spe

Easter M

The best styles that the markets of the Millinery rooms. Miss Baker will be sure to pl prices are lower than other stores. Millinery he Easter Lace Curtains.

Three specials in Lace Curtains just in this week which are the best values you will see this season. Viz. two lines at $1.00 per pair which are well worth $1.25, and our line at $1.48 worth $2.00 per pair. We can also give you special values at 25c, 35c, 50, &c. &c.

Easter Boy's Suits.

Another large consignment of Boy's Suits which beat anything that has ever been shown in Napauee. Think of a beautiful, strong, well-made and well lined Suit to fit boys from 4 to 10 years of age good value at $2 25 and our price $1.48. Better Suits $1 78, $2.00 and $2.25. Our Boy's Suits are alwa s a perfect fit.

Easter "Flashskin."

Every house will soon be using "Flashskin." They can't do without it. "Flashskin" will polish anything be it made of wood, metal or glass. It is superior to chamois skin at one quarter the price. Size, half a yard square. Price two for 25c.

Each and every department in this st guarantee that we give everybody, viz: Your cheaper in any other store.

plenty of good water, hard and soft. For particulars apply to S. CASEY DENISON,

ACTIVE MEN WISHING PERMANENT and paying employment can secure the same by engaging with us to sell our HARDY SPECIALTIES AND SEED POTATOES. All Canadian grown. Outfit free. Salary paid weekly. Write to us for particulars, and secure exclusive territory.

PELHAM NURSERY CO.

17-1y TORONTO, ONT.

REAL ESTATE AND INSURANCE

I have several good farms of 50, 100 and 200 acres, at most moderate prices, and very easy terms of payment.

Several dwellings in the Town of Napanee.

Farm lands and city lots in Manitoba.

Insurance in Stock and Mutual Companies.

Money to loan at 5 per cent. on good Real Estate property. Apply to

M. C. BOGART,

4 tf Napanee.

T. W. SIMPSON, B.A., M.D., C.A.

Licentiate of the Royal College of Physicians Edinburgh.

Office - Dr. Grants' late residence, Bridge St

MARGARET P. SYMINGTON, M. D. C. M., Licentiate of Royal College of Physicians, Edinburgh.

Diseases of Women and Children.

Residence north side Market Square, 4th door west John street.

Consulting hours 11 a.m. to 3 p.m., and 6 to 8 p.m. Telephone 87.

R. A. LEONARD, M.D., C.P.S.

Physician, Surgeon, etc.

Late House Surgeon of the Kingston General Hospital.

Office—North side of Dundas Street, between West and Robert Streets, Napanee. 5:1y

HERRINGTON & WARNER

Barristers, etc.

MONEY TO LOAN AT LOW RATES

Office—Warner Block, East-st, Napanee. 5y

DEROCHE & MADDEN,

Barristers,

Attorneys-at-Law, Solicitors in Chancery, Conveyancers, Notaries Public, etc.

Office—Grange block

Money to Loan at "lower than the lowest" rates

H. M. DEROCHE, Q. C. 5.1y J. H. MADDEN

MORDEN & RUTTAN,

Barristers, Solicitors, etc.

Solicitors for the Merchant's Bank of Canada etc., etc.

Dundas Street, Napanee.

G. F. RUTTAN.

Private funds to loan at five per cent.

A. S. ASHLEY,

DENTIST

16 Years in Napanee.

34 Years Experience.

Rooms, · Albert Block, · Napanee

DENTISTS

C. D. WARTMAN, L.D.S.

C. H. WARTMAN, D.D.S.

Graduates of the Royal College of Dental Surgeons of Ontario, and graduate of Toronto University.

OFFICE—LEONARD BLOCK,

Visits made to Tamworth the first Monday in each month, remaining over Tuesday. Rooms at Wheeler's Hotel.

All other Mondays C. D Wartman will be in Yarker.

Napanee office open every day.

THE ROYAL HOTEL.

Dundas Street, Napanee.

H. HUNTER, Prop.

This commodious hotel is centrally situated having every convenience for the travelling and business public. Large yard and sheds for farmers.

Good table, best of wines liquors, and cigars The comfort of guests is made a first consideration.

JAS. AYLESWORTH,

General Business Agent.

POLICE MAGISTRATE for the Provincial Electoral District of Addington.

Conveyancer,

Issuer of Marriage Licenses,

Commissioner, etc., in H.C.J

Clerk, 7th Division Court, of the County of Lennox & Addington

TAMWORTH.

That tired feeling is due to impoverished blood. Enrich the blood with Hood's Sarsaparilla and be strong and vigorous.

Under and by virtue of the power of sale contained in a certain mortgage, which will be produced at the time of the sale, there will be offered for sale by public auction, at the office of Herrington & Warner, in the Town of Napanee, on Saturday, the 17th day of April, 1897.

at the hour of 2o'clock in the afternoon, the following valuable farm property :—

ALL AND SINGULAR that certain parcel or tract of land and premises situate, lying and being in the Township of Camden in the County of Lennox and Addington, Province of Ontario being the Westerley seventy-five acres of lot number eighteen in the third concession of the said Township. The property will be offered for sale subject to a reserve bid and subject to the interest in the said lands of one Mary Jane Clancy.

Terms :- 10 per cent of purchase money at the time of the sale; balance within thirty days thereafter.

Further particulars and conditions of sale will be made known at the time of sale, or may be had on application to the undersigned.

HERRINGTON & WARNER,

Vendor's Solicitors.

Dated at Napanee this 2nd day of March A. D 1897.

NOTICE.

A meeting of the Board of License Commissioners for the district of Addington will be held in the

INSPECTOR'S OFFICE,

TAMWORTH

—ON—

FRIDAY, APRIL 23rd, 1897

AT 10 O'CLOCK A.M.

for the consideration of applications for Tavern Licenses for the year 1897-8.

J. M. SMITH,

Secretary of Board.

JAMES HERCHMER,

Chairman.

The number of applications for Tavern Licenses for the year 1897 8, is 27. The number of Licenses issued for 1896 7 was 25.

The names of persons applying for Tavern Licenses for the year 1897-8, who are not licensed, are: Johnston Brown. Tichborne, and Robt. Burke, Clarendon Station, K. & P. Ry.

J. M. SMITH,

Inspector.

Tamworth. April 6th, 1897.

NOTICE.

A meeting of the Board of License Commissioners for the License District of Lennox will be held in the

TOWN HALL,

—IN THE—

TOWN OF NAPANEE,

—ON—

THURSDAY, APRIL 22nd, '97

at the hour of 10 o'clock

for the purpose of considering applications for licenses for the ensuing year.

W. A. ROSE,

License Inspector.

Dated at Napanee April 3rd 1897.

There were issued in the License District of Lennox for the year 1896-7 fourteen tavern licenses and one shop license and there has been fourteen applications for tavern licenses and one for shop license for the ensuing year.

W. A. ROSE,

18b License Inspector.

CASTORIA

For Infants and Children.

The fac-simile signature of Chas. H. Fletcher is on every wrapper

THE ROB

NOTICE TO CREDITORS.

IN THE MATTER OF JOHN CONGER, OF THE TOWN OF NAPANEE, HOTEL KEEPER AND BRICK MANUFACTURER, INSOLVENT

Notice is hereby given that the above named Insolvent, John Conger, has made an assignment of his estate to me for the benefit of his creditors, by deed dated the 14th day of April, 1897, and the creditors are notified to meet at the sheriff's office, in the court house, Napanee, on

Monday, April 26th, 1897

at one o'clock in the afternoon,

for the purpose of receiving a statement of of his affairs, appointing inspectors, fixing their remuneration, and the remuneration of the assignee, and for the ordering of the affairs of the estate generally.

All persons claiming to rank upon the estate of the said Insolvent must file their claims with me verified by affidavit on or before the Fourteenth day of May, 1897, after which date I will proceed to distribute the assets thereof, having regard to those claims only of which I shall then have received notice.

GEO. D. HAWLEY,

Sheriff, Assignee.

Napanee April 15th, 1897.

FRUIT & ORNAMENTAL TREES

700 ACRES.

SHRUBS, ROSES, VINES AND SEED POTATOES.

WE have the largest assortment and employ the very latest and most improved methods for propagating. All stock carefully packed under our personal supervision, and all new varieties tested at our trial farms before being catalogued These are the only testing orchards connected with any Nursery in the Dominion.

Agents Wanted to Represent us.

Special attention given to Park, Cemetery and Boulevard orders. Estimates furnished for supplying entire orchards.

Why buy of foreign concerns or of middlemen when you can purchase as cheaply from us and get better value.

Our stock is Canadian grown and acclimated.

Catalogue (English or French) free on application.

STONE & WELLINGTON, Toronto, Ontario.

FONTHILL NURSERYMEN,

The Leading Canadian Tree Men

French, English, Canadian and American wallpapers at Pollard's bookstore, Cheap and pretty patterns.

The government has stopped the practice of giving prisoners in the penintentiaries tobacco for good behaviour.

The Crystal Hotel stables, Belleville, were destroyed by fire on Tuesday and the pacing mare, Daisy L. was burned to death.

Julian Victor Dupont, of Kingston, while stealing a ride on a freight train, had one of his legs amputated between the knee and the ankle.

Bronchitis Cured. Miss Maggie Griffin, 37 Metcalf Street, Toronto, writes: "After having bronchitis and cold so badly that I could hardly speak, and could not find any remedy to relieve me, I decided to try Norway Pine Syrup. It made a complete cure, and I highly recommend it to all.

Fires are raging alongside the K. & P. tracks in the vicinity of Harrowsmith. In some instances fences have been burned and in others only the prompt action on the part of farmers saved the loss of fences, barns, etc.

Piles Cured in 8 to 6 Nights—Itching, Burning Skin Diseases Relieved in One day.

Dr. Agnew's Ointment will cure all cases of itching piles in from three to six nights. One application brings comfort. For blind and bleeding piles it is peerless. Also cures tetter, salt rheum, eczema, barber's itch and all eruptions of the skin. Relieves in a day. 35 cents. Sold by A. W. Grange & Bro.

PERSONALS.

Mr. Wilder Joy has been in poor health for the past few weeks.

Mrs. Nelson Root, of Napanee is spending a few days in Picton this week.

Mr. Harry Minchinton left for Toronto on Friday last where he has secured a situation.

Mrs. J. L. Boyes has recovered from a slight illness.

Miss Jennie Close has been visiting friends in Switzerville.

Mrs. A. E. Paul, and family have returned from a pleasant visit with her parents at Camden East.

Miss Winnie Templeton and Miss Dollie Harshaw, spent a few days with Miss Minnie Ferguson, Kingston, last week.

Mr. Geo. Degroff has moved into Mrs. Priests' house on John Street.

Miss Lily Baker, of Hinch, has been the guest of W. E. Wilson, Thomas St.

Mrs. James Chapman is now about recovered from an attack of pneumonia.

Miss Lucy Fingland has returned from a visit with friends in Brampton.

Miss Maud Alcombrack has returned to her home in Cataraqui.

Mr. Wm. Preston left for Denver on Wednesday.

Messrs V. Barber, Toronto, and F. G. Huffman are spending a few days in town.

Miss Ida Vine has been visiting her aunt, Mrs. J. P. Clancy, Wesley.

Ed. Kaylor, of Morven, favored us with a call on Tuesday.

Dr. Harvey Clark, of Londsdale, was a caller upon THE EXPRESS on Tuesday.

Mrs. Lewis Clark is convalescent, after a prolonged illness.

Miss Olive Fitchett, ill with diptheria, is recovering.

Miss Storms, of Wilton, has been visiting the Misses Ward, East St.

Mrs. W. F. Latimer, is visiting at Adam Henry's Belleville.

Claud Chapman is now in the employ of W. A. Fuller, tinsmith, Tamworth.

Mr. Richard Hitchins, Amherst Island, who has recently undergone several operations for the removal of a cancer is still in a precarious condition.

Mr. Bert Robinson, Kingston, is visiting friends in town.

John Timmerman, Odessa, has returned from the Kingston Hospital much improved in health.

Among the list of graduates at Queen's University are numbered V. Barber, Toronto, W. E. Carscallen, Tamworth, J. C. Dunning, and F. G. Huffman, Napanee.

W. J. McKim, Selby, has taken a position with the Rathbun Co. here.

Saturday's Whig says: Mrs. H. B. Sherwood, of Napanee, spent yesterday in town and called on numerous friends and acquaintances.

Mr. W. Mowat made a business trip to Montreal last week.

Miss Blanche and Miss Gertie Madole arrived in town this week for their Easter vacation.

Messrs E. H. Baines, W. S. Herrington, T. D. Pruyn and F. C. Jemmett are in Toronto this week representing the Quinte district at the whist congress.

Miss Stephena Harshaw, of Oshawa Ladies' College, is spending her vacation in town.

Mr. Jno. Sharpe, Bath was in town on Wednesday.

Mr. Chas. Ross has been suffering from a severe attack of grip for the past few days.

Mr. Geo. Dey, of Toronto, is spending a few days in town with his parents.

Mrs. N. Fellows, and danghter, Maria, and Mrs. E. Hayerman, of Fellows, attended the funeral of their sister, Mrs. R. Grey, at Madoc this week.

Miss VanDeBogart and Miss Hawley, Richmond, were guests at R. Burleigh's, Fellows, this week.

Mrs. W. A. Baker is expected home this week.

James Denyes, Fellows, favored us with a call on Saturday.

It is said Archbishop Cleary will return to Kingston on April 22nd, and will be welcomed by all the priests of the diocese.

Edgar Church, Colebrook, has gone to Wisconson.

Rumor says a popular young man connected with a wholesale grocery warehouse is soon to lead to the altar a charming young Napaneeite.—Kingston Whig.

Miss Nellie Swan returned to her home in Kingston on Monday after a few days visit with friends in Napanee.

Chas. Stevens, Jr. has been engaged as teacher of the Yarker band.

U. Wilson, M. P. arrived in town on Thursday for the Easter holidays.

E. R. Carsallen has been appointed head clerk and book keeper of the Powers' Hotel Rochester, N. Y. He is a son of Mr. Craig Carsallen, of Selby.

Mrs. Cheetham has been appointed caretaker of the court house.

Mr. Geo. Richardson left for Enterprise this week where he has secured work.

Mr. Jas. Stark has severed his connection with the firm of Morris & Taylor.

Mrs. G. W. Morden, of Picton, is visiting friends in town.

Mr. John Hill is, we are pleased to say, able to be around. Crutches are his mode of locomotion, but John expects soon to be able to discard them.

Mrs. Fred McGwyn and daughter returned to Napanee last evening after spending the winter with friends in Philadelphia.

EE EXPRESS.

NADA—FRIDAY, APRIL 16th 1897. $1 per Year in advance; $1.50 if not so paid.

ecials.

Millinery.

the world can produce are in evidence in our please you in our Easter Hat. As usual our here is marked at the regular Dry goods profit.

Easter Flannelettes.

We have just received another large consignment of our famous 7c. Flannellettes. There is nothing in the world to equal them at the same price.

Tweeds Cut Free.

We have some very extra values in Tweeds at 25c, 35c, 48c, 50c, and 65c. The patterns are very pretty and the prices are 25 per cent less than you can get them elsewhere. Any of them that you buy Mr. Walters will cut free of charge for you.

Men's Ready-to-wear Suits $5.00.

We have all sizes in a Man's All-wool Tweed Suit in two different colors which we will guarantee can't be beaten in Canada at the money, viz $5.00. Ask to see it.

Dress Linings.

We make a specialty of Dress Linings of every description. You will find our Lining Department one of the most complete of its kind in Canada. Every Lady will see the advantage of being able to buy the best Linings for the lowest prices where she buys her Dress Goods.

store is well up to date. We have one broad ur money back if at any time you can buy goods

Building Material of all Kinds.

FOR SALE AT REASONABLE PRICES.

Headquarters for Lumber of all kinds, Shingles, Lath, Doors, Sash, Monldings, Portland Cement, Water Lime, Plaster Paris, Apple Barrels, Land Plaster, Porus Tile, Windsor Salt, Coal, Wood and Charcoal.

Use our pressed Brick for your house and chimney, as cheap as any, and the best. Get our prices before purchasing.

THE RATHBUN CO'Y

Yard and office foot of Centre St. R. SHIPMAN, Agent.

NEWS FROM THE COUNTRY.

GLENMORE.

Mr. John Tanney has purchased the Coville property.

Mr. Arch Humble of Montreal formerly of Brockville was around renewing old acquaintances recently.

The sugar making season is not over yet, Mr. Uriah Bishop still lives in the woods.

Our cheese factory begins the season's operations next Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. Jas. Connell celebrated the 25th anniversary of their marriage on April 9th. A large number of relatives and friends were present and a very enjoyable time was spent.

We are pleased to learn that our amiable teacher, Miss M. Maxwell, is on the gain.

WILTON.

Bert Jackson is quite ill.

Robert Burns, Kingston, is visiting at Rufus Ovens.'

L. L. Gallagher's cheese factory opened on Monday with about 3000 lbs. of milk.

Mr. Walter and Miss Libbie Switzer, of Switzerville, visited at W. N. Neilson's last Saturday.

Nicholas Simmons has been laid up with a lame ankle for the past week.

Herbert Lapum and family have settled on the Stuart farm.

Alf. Babcock has a lame leg, the result of being thrown from a buggy by a runaway horse.

Any person or persons wishing to commit suicide, would do well to take a walk down our board-walk any dark night.

A collection and subscription was taken in the Methodist church last Sunday morning to meet the demands of the superannuation fund. In a short time the congregation had subscribed the required amount and a little extra. A long mark has been placed in our memorandum.

Earache Cured. DEAR SIRS,—I was troubled with earache for a long time, and could get no ease until I tried Hagyard's Yellow Oil. I can truthfully say that it has made a complete cure.

MISS MARTHA M. RECTOR,
Central Economy, N.S.

PRINCE EDWARD COUNTY.

The farmers in many parts of the county have commenced seeding, notwithstanding the cold weather.

Union Vale cheese factory opened on Monday, March 12th, rather earlier than usual.

Bicyclists are out in full force these days enjoying the fine condition of the roads.

Mr. Russell Reid has purchased W. T. Crandall's farm in Yerexville for the sum of $4000, Mr. Reid has also rented the Yerex place for three years.

Mr. and Mrs. I. E. Marsh, Picton, are visiting Mrs. Marsh's parents at Fulton N. Y.

The whole community was shocked to learn of the very sudden death of Mr. J. N. Carter, mayor of Picton. Mr. Carter was about as usual on Thursday afternoon attending the duties connected with his office. About ten o'clock at night he complained of feeling ill, a doctor was summoned but without avail. He died at 2 o'clock Friday morning April 9th. His funeral on Sunday was the largest that has been in Picton for many years. Mr. Carter besides

BATH.

Quite notable is the fact that a goodly number of our young people are seen no more on our streets having gone to their summer occupations, leaving the old folks to do the house cleaning.

The Str. Hero started her regular trips on Thursday.

The farmers are busily engaged sowing with every prospect of a good harvest, the land being in fine order.

So far the prospects for fruit is good.

The cheese factory started on Monday with a more than usual quantity of milk.

Visitors. Mr. Arthur Vanslyck, of Morven, at Mr. A. Vanslyck's, Mr. Henry D. Wemp at Mr. Edward Wemp's.

MOSCOW.

Wm. Smith arrived home from near Tamworth badly hurt. He was loading logs, the stakes broke, letting nearly a whole car load off, several of them striking him. He is improving and hopes of his recovery are entertained.

John O'Neill's baby boy died on Sunday morning last.

Messrs J. A. Amey, D. M. Lucas and Z. Vanluven are in the syrup business extensively. Mr. A heads the list with 170 gallons.

Vanluven Bros. are erecting a new office with a vault for the safety of papers.

The cheese factory will be opened on Monday next for business for the season.

H. A. Baker has purchased a new organ at the village store.

GULL CREEK.

A number have been complaining around here from la grippe but they are recruiting and getting over it at present.

The season is very favorable and some are preparing for spring's work. A few have just commenced ploughing.

Cupid has been through this part lately. Mr. Geo. Perry Pebles from near Flinton, and Miss Emma Jones, daughter of Mr. and Mrs John H. Jones, Gull Creek, were tied in the sacred ties of matrimony on Wednesday the 7th, inst. by the Rev. Mr. Lewis, Methodist minister, Tamworth, in the presence of a number of their friends. The ceremony was performed at the residence of Wm. Johnston, near Beaver Lake, Mrs. Johnston being the bride's sister. In the absence of Miss B. Jones the bride was assisted by Miss Laura Woodcock and Miss Jane Davies, and the groom by his brother, Mr. Alexander Pebles. After partaking of a sumptuous lunch the young couple followed by a number of their friends made their way towards the Tamworth station where the happy couple took the 2 p.m. train for Toronto. They have the good wishes of all their friends. May they have a prosperous life in connection with the things present, also being heirs of the things that are to come, eternal happiness, this is the prayer sincerely that follows them.

SMALL FRUIT CULTURE.

How to Secure an Ample Supply of Nice Berries for Home Use.

M. A. Thayer of Sparta, Wis., writes The Western Plowman as follows; Mature plans for the season; select your plants; order them early and let this be your first work in the

BINSON CO.

Mr. Geo. Cliffe sr. is quite ill.

Miss A. G. Clarke, who resides with Mrs. Warner, John St. has been visiting friends in Kingston for the past two weeks.

Squire Whalen, of Centreville, Peter Johnston, of Camden East, and J. C. Conley, of Yarker, were in Napanee on Saturday.

Mrs. Dr. Eakins, left for her home in Belleville on Friday evening last after spending a week with friends in Napanee.

Dr. Galbraith, of Belleville, will preach in the Eastern Methodist church on Easter Sunday, both morning and evening.

Mrs. John D. Ham and Mrs. Dr. Vrooman, of Napanee, were visiting friends in Kingston last week.

Mr. H. Warner leaves for Lindsay to-day.

Rev. Mgr. Farrelly, of Belleville, was ordained into the priesthood, and celebrated his first mass forty-six years ago Monday. He is still hale and hearty.

Mr. Neil Matheson has purchased the Smith property on East st.

Mr. Ed. Huff has given up business and will leave shortly for Rochester.

Mr. Wilson, Science Master of the Institute will spend the Easter vacation at Cobourg.

Chas. Stevens sr., is spending a few days in Brockville this week.

Mr. and Mrs. D. Asselstine have returned to their home at Verona after a few days visit with their daughter, Mrs. Job Herrington, Richmond.

Miss Nellie Herring left for Toronto on Thursday.

Rev. W. H. Jamieson, D. D., of Blenheim, is visiting his uncle Mr. Thos. Jamieson.

Jas. Somerville, Napanee Mills, who has been laid up for some time with a sore leg, is not improving very fast.

Capt. Servell succeeds Capt. Craig as commander of the Str. Passport. Capt. Dunlop will again be in charge of the Algerian.

Mr. L. A. Scott was in town for a few hours on Tuesday. His wife is progressing favorably under the treatment received at the Kingston Hospital.

F. McL. Radford, writing from Rossland, says he would not live in that much boomed town short of a salary of $25 a day. It costs you $5 to take off your hat and $10 to put it on again. Mr. Radford will go on to Vancouver.

Miss Lizzie White, of Marysville, spent Sunday in Napanee.

Mrs. Jas. Carscallen, Napanee Mills, is suffering from an attack of pluerisy.

Edward Sheppard, of Montreal, was renewing old acquaintance in town last.

Mr. Henry Cairns, of Perth, is visiting Mr. Thos. Jamelson.

Mrs. Capt. Collier is visiting friends in Picton.

Jas. Busby, of Tamworth, has been visiting friends in town.

Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Smith and family of Cobourg, are the guests of Mr. C. W. Bowen.

Miss Florence Minchinton has taken a position as stenographer in Messrs English & Perry's law office.

Mr. W. A. Beilhouse, manager of the Merchants Bank left yesterday afternoon to spend his Easter vacation sojourning in the west.

Wm. Lonsboro of the Dominion Bank, has been removed to the Market Branch, Toronto. During Wm.'s short stay in town he made a host of friends.

Mr. L. Fraser is confined to his home through illness.

Mrs. A. Allison, Mount Pleasant, is the guest of Mrs. Harrison, Bridge st.

W. H. Ponton will spend the Easter vacation at his home in Belleville.

Miss Hanis has secured a situaton as teacher in the Hamburg school.

Mrs. John Lowry and daughter, Pearl, are visiting friends at Yarker.

Mrs. John Ham is visiting friends in Hamilton.

The Kingston authorities have refused to perform an operation on Andrew, son of Levi Fish, as they claim it would prove fatal.

Messrs. T. M. Henry, A. E. Lang, F. W. French and Miss M. A. Nichol, of the staff of the Collegiate Institute, and John R. Brown, principal of the Model School, will attended the meeting of the Provincial Teacher's Association at Toronto next week.

BIRTHS

KELLY—At Napanee, on Sunday last, the wife of Andrew Kelly, of a daughter.

RUTTAN—At Morven, on April 8th, the wife of Archie Ruttan, of a son.

MARRIAGES.

MILLIGAN—SEDORE—At Newburgh, on April 7th, James Edward Milligan to Catherine Sedore, Camden East.

DEATHS.

SANFORD—At Napanee, on Wednesday, Sarah Oliver, wife of Wm. Ezra Sanford, aged 33 years, 3 months.

PERRY—At Violet, April 12th, E. W. Perry, aged 42 years.

JOHNSTON—At Napanee on Tuesday, William James, son of John Jonston, Water street, aged 6 years, 1 month, 29 days.

The Oddfellows will attend divine service in the Western Church on April 25th.

The Bachelors of Napanee purpose giving a grand ball on the evening of the 21st

See the

Francis Bond, residing near Odessa, died on Monday.

Sucker fishing is now in full blast, and some large catches have been reported.

The Gibbard Furniture Co. shipped a boatload of furniture to Picton on Monday.

Napanee Lodge, No 86, I.O.O.F., will give a smoking concert to a number of their friends in their handsome lodge rooms on the evening of April 26th.

The base ball meeting on Wednesday evening called for the purpose of organizing a town team was adjourned until next Wednesday owing to the meagre attendance.

Judge Wilkison held an investigation last week into the charges of political partizanship preferred against Hugh Creighton, post-master os Sydenham. The defendant did not deny that he had been active on behalf of the Tory party. Many witnesses were heard and the evidence was transmitted to the Postmaster-General for a decision.

Massey-Harris

The fools are not all dead. One of them borrowed a sensational newspaper, the other day, and discovered an advertisement headed: "How to Make Pants Last." He sent fifty cents for instructions and in due time received the following: "Make the coat and vest first." At last accounts the simpleton was trying to recover his money by legal process.

The annual meeting of the Cheese Board was held in the town hall here on Saturday afternoon. The meeting was a representative one and the prospects for cheese this season is looked upon as bright. The following officers were elected for 1897:— Pres., E. H. Phippen; Vice-Pres., Geo. Cleale; Sec.-Treas., W. R. Gordanier. The first meeting of the Board will be held on May 5th.

A young man unused to the ways of polite society recently received an invitation for an evening party. Having no idea as to the correct wording for a reply, he struggled with the problem for an hour, and then dispatched the following truthful but unconventional effusion:— "Mr. Robert Carhart declines with pleasure Mrs. Smith's invitation for the 4th, and thanks her extremely for having given him the opportunity of doing so."

Bicycle.

Sixty-Two Years an M.P.

To represent one constituency for sixty-two years in the House of Commons is somewhat of a record. Mr. Charles Pelham Villiers, who is called the "Father of the House of Commons," has represented Wolverhampton for that time without interruption. He recently celebrated his 95th birthday at his London residence, and received the congratulations of a large circle of friends of both political parties. The right honorable gentleman takes a great interest in public affairs and spends much time reading and attending to his correspondence.

The First Man Dressmaker.

As far back as 1730 there was in Paris a man dressmaker, and probably the first of his kind. His name was Rhomberg, and he was the son of a Bavarian peasant from the neighborhood of Munich. He owed his success to his genius for concealing and remedying defects of figure. He drove a beautiful carriage on the boulevard, and had an escutcheon in the shape of a pair of corsets and an open pair of scissors painted on the panel of each door. He left a large fortune to his heirs.

Peanuts in Europe.

Peanuts grow in large quantities on the northwest coast of Africa, but are known there as ground nuts. They are dug up by the natives and bartered with the European traders for merchandise, tobacco, etc., at many places on the Gambia River, and afterward shipped in steamer loads to European ports, principally to Marseilles. The nuts are not roasted for retail sale, as in this country, but crushed and a fine oil extracted, which is valuable

Picton for many years. Mr. Carter besides being one of the property holders in the county, was one of the most prominent official men and his loss will no doubt be keenly felt. How forcibly his sudden demise brings to our mind the warning contained in the words. "In the midst of life we are in death."

Weakness and Dyspepsia Cured—

DEAR SIRS,—I can heartily recommend Burdock Blood Bitters. For a long time I was troubled with dyspepsia and weakness. The least exertion would tire me out. I am glad to say, however, that your B. B. B. has greatly benefited me, curing the dyspepsia and making me strong and well.

JENNIE EVANS,
Hespeler, Ont.

TAMWORTH.

A very sudden death occurred about 6 miles west of this place. A Mr. Johnston was killed by a team of horses running away with him. He only lived a short time after he was found.

Mrs. E. Cowan, who has been laid up with heart disease is some easier and with quiet and care she will soon be around.

Mr. Roney Loyst lost a child on Saturday night by a pea getting lodged in its wind pipe. The funeral took place on Monday.

Mr. Samuel Turkington lost a child a few weeks ago and he has another very sick at the present time.

Mrs Pomroy's little daughter is not so well and fears are now entertained of her recovery. The child has been so long sick she is much reduced in strength.

Mr. Bruce Richardson, who has been very sick, is now on the mend and on a fair way to recovery.

Mr. Parks' son is not as well as last week.

Rumor has it we are to have a concert by the teachers of the league in the near future.

There will be a concert in the town hall, Tamworth, to aid our library, procure magazines and papers etc., on May 1st. A good programme will be given.

The sugar season is about over and farmers are getting ready for spring work.

Miss Addie Coxall is very sick. She had a severe attack of la grippe and has suffered a relapse.

The congregation of Christ church had a bee on Monday last clearing the grounds prepartory to building the sheds.

Services in Christ church Wednesday at 8 o'clock p.m. on Friday at 3 o'clock p.m. Easter Sunday 10.30 a.m. After services, sacrament will be administered.

SANDHURST AND CONWAY.

Mr. Robert Wright and sister Maggie spent Saturday and Sunday at Napanee visiting friends.

Mr. Charles Wright has a very sick cow but it is improving under the skilful treatment of Dr. J. Phippen.

Messrs. Hill and Shorey have recurned to their factory at Napanee to take the second course in cheese making under the instruction of Professor W. E. Hemstreet.

Mr. John T. Hill, of Napanee, drove out to his home at Conway on Sunday.

Miss Margaret Bartlett, of Napanee, returned home on Sunday after spending a month the guest of Miss Minnie Hill.

Miss Mary Cadman spent Saturday and Sunday visiting her sister Mrs. W. H. McDonald.

Mr. Sidney Shorey, of this place spent Sunday at Mr. W. N. Crabbe's, Chambers.

The new store is about completed and will be run by Mr. James Hill—look out for cheap groceries and dry goods as Jim says he is going to sell to suit the times.

Mr. W. McDonald intends moving to Clarksmill's corners next week where he will start a general store.

The base ball club have commenced to practise for this season and will soon be ready for challenges.

Mr. James Hill spent a couple of days this week the guest of Annie Wright.

Mr. John Phippen was in Kingston on Thursday to market.

Mr. T. Gurren is talking of purchasing a bike this summer.

Mr. W. Galt spent Sunday at Hayburn.

The Beaver correspondent from this place seems to take great delight in making out a sick list whether there is anybody sick or not—it is all the same to them.

Mr. W. E. Brown and Miss B. Wakeford have secured situations in the establishment run by Young Bros.

Mr. and Mrs. F. G. Young spent Sunday at her mother's, Mrs. Phippen, of Conway.

Miss Nellie Downey spent Sunday the guest of the Misses Wright.

Mr. D. Morrow intends erecting a new barn this spring.

Miss Frette and Miss Urquhart, of Hawley, are visiting at Sandhurst this week.

Mr. Martin Hill has returned home from Brockville to spend the summer on the let this be your first work in the spring. One-quarter acre of good land set with varieties and well cultivated, should produce from 20 to 40 bushels of nice berries every season. This would give an ordinary family fresh berries every day in the season and a liberal supply of canned, preserved or dried during the entire year. Plants for such a garden may be purchased direct from a reliable grower for $10 or $15, and should include the following varieties: 300 strawberry plants, early, medium and late; 100 blackberry plants, early and late; 50 black raspberry plants, early and late; 50 red raspberry plants, early and late; 75 currants, red and white, early and late; 25 gooseberry, early and late; 18 grapes, three varieties, early. Multiply this list by four for one acre, or by 20 for five acres, and you have the right proportion for a continuous supply of different varieties for market purposes. Good berries may be grown on any soil, sandy, clay, muck, loam, gravel, or a combination of each, provided the same be highly fertilized, well drained and thoroughly cultivated. Early fruits are usually most desirable, and light soils with southern exposure are best adapted for that purpose. Light soils, however, require heavy fertilizing, more mulch in summer, are more liable to injury by drought and produce lighter crops. Clay soil must be well drained, is more difficult to prepare, mature later crops and not so favorable for winter protection. The ideal berry ground should be (1) a rich sandy loam with clay subsoil; (2) a dark loam or gravelly loam mixed with clay, and a clay subsoil, all having a southerly or eastern slope. Any of these mixed soils will make good berry gardens by applying good barnyard manure, which contains all the essential elements required. When such manure cannot be obtained then commercial fertilizers rich in nitrogen and potash should be applied. Avoid low, flat land unless underdrained, it is usually cold, late and more subject to frosts. Avoid steep hillsides as being more subject to drought and wash of soil by severe rains.

Current Events.

The new waiting room in the New York Central Depot will be the largest in the world.

It is estimated that the cost of vessels now being built at lake shipyards is close to $3,000,000, as compared with $5,000,000 a year ago.

Antelope are abundant out in Garden City neighborhood, Kansas, and sportsmen have given the nimble jack rabbit a rest.

Recreant men cashiers of several Minneapolis establishments have been replaced by women, and the action has led to another discussion as to whether women are more trustworthy than men.

Before Mr. and Mrs. William Irving were made man and wife at Stephens, near Columbia, Mo., the groom made the bride solemnly promise at the altar that she would never wear bloomers or ride a bicycle.

Imitation Calfskin Goods.

A good deal of interest has been aroused in England by a display of photo-frames, blotting paper pads and paperteries, made up of material colored in extract imitation of the skin of a calf, as taken from the animal and before being scraped, the red patches of hair on a white ground showing up in most natural style. These goods represent the novelty of the season in fancy stationery and photo-frames.

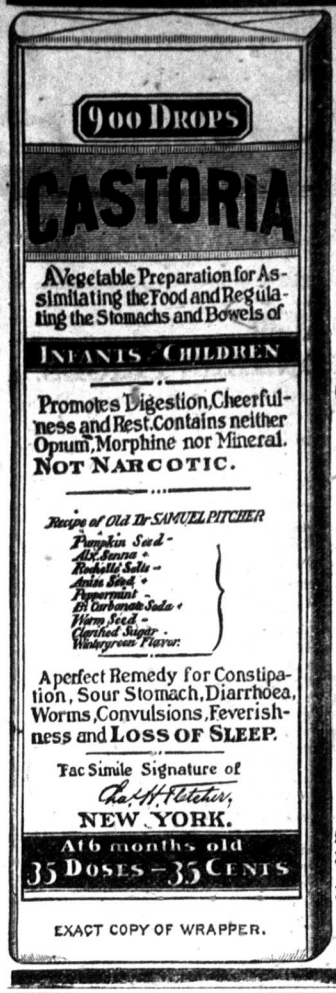
A Black Dye for Wood.

First sponge the wood with a solution of chlorhydrate of aniline in water, to which a small quantity of copper chloride is added. Allow it to dry, and go over it with a solution of potassium bichromate. Repeat the process twice or thrice, and the wood will take a fine black color, unaffected by light or chemicals.

HAND-IN-HAND.

Health an Happiness go Hand-in-Hand—With Stomach and Nerves all out of Sorts, Health and Happiness are Unknown.

Frank A. Gadbois, Cornwall, Ont.: "I was for several years a great sufferer from indigestion, dyspepsia and nervousness. I took my remedies without any relief. I saw South American Nervine advertised. I procured a bottle, and I can truthfully say it is the best medicine I ever used, and I strongly recommended it to anyone suffering as I did. A few doses wonderfully helped me, and two bottles have made a new man of me." It cures by direct action on the nerve centres. Sold by A. W. Gregory & Bro.



EXACT COPY OF WRAPPER.

SEE THAT THE FAC-SIMILE SIGNATURE —OF— Chas. H. Fletcher. IS ON THE WRAPPER OF EVERY BOTTLE OF CASTORIA

Castoria is put up in one-size bottles only. It is not sold in bulk. Don't allow anyone to sell you anything else on the plea or promise that it is "just as good" and "will answer every purpose." See that you get C-A-S-T-O-R-I-A.

The fac-simile signature of Chas. H. Fletcher. is on every wrapper.

The Dominion Bank

ESTABLISHED 1871.

CAPITAL — $1,500,000.00
RESERVE FUND — $1,450,000.00

Deposits received and interest allowed. Drafts on all parts of Great Britain and United States bought and sold.

E. H. BAINES, Agent.

THE - MERCHANTS - BANK

OF CANADA

Head Office, — Montreal

Capital paid up, $6,000 000
Surplus, $3,000,000

INTEREST AT CURRENT RATES PAID ON DEPOSITS.

A GENERAL BANKING BUSINESS TRANSACTED.

W. A. BELLHOUSE,
Manager, Napanee Branch

EPPS'S COCOA

ENGLISH BREAKFAST COCOA

Possesses the following Distinctive Merits:

DELICACY OF FLAVOR SUPERIORITY IN QUALITY.

Grateful and Comforting to the Nervous or Dyspeptic.

NUTRITIVE QUALITIES UNRIVALLED.

In Quarter-Pound Tins Only.

Prepared by JAMES EPPS & Co., Ltd., Homœopathic Chemists, London, England.

Provincial Building and Loan Association, Toronto.

Local Advisory Board at open to the suspicion that he has a number of large sized bees in his bonnet.

THE EVILS OF PROTECTION.

"A demonstrated wrong is always defended and its continuance supported on the plea that to do justice to the many would inflict a loss on the few."

One feature of the tariff enquiry should be noted by our wage earners and farmers, viz: that the manufacturers with one or two honorable exceptions, urged that the duty on their raw materials be removed or reduced, and that on their finished product increased, or the present duty maintained.

A moment's thought will convince anyone that the finished product of every producer, is the raw material of some other producer. The skill of the mechanic for instance is his finished product, which he sells to the manufacturer, to whom it is the most important raw material. On the other hand the finished product of the manufacturer is the raw material of the workmen.

These obvious facts illustrate the injustice of the manufacturer's demand for free raw material, the most important being labor, which cannot be protected, whilst they want the raw material of the wage-earners, viz: his house or all that enters into its construction, his clothes, his food, his furniture etc., highly protected, these things being the finished product of the manufacturer.

In countries where governments act on the advice of their manufacturers in this regard, (protectionist countries) we find distress amongst the wage-earners deepening, and in those countries where the raw material of the wage-earners and farmers is untaxed (free trade countries) their (or what is known as a trade depression) occur in protected countries in the absence of all known causes such as war, pestilence or a failure of crops, there is strong grounds for believing that it is the shrinkage in demand which protection involves creates the trouble. Protective duties, certainly, exalt prices which ascertainly checks demand.

Now whatever may be the cause of a trade depression there is but one way in which it can manifest itself, and that is in a partial cessation of effective demand, (people with money or goods to exchange for what they demand.) The curtailment in demand that protection entails, probably explains why it is that the trade depressions that have swept the world during the last twenty odd years have invariably developed first in, and endured longest in, the most highly protected countries. It is during these periods of depression that the combine is usually formed, which, if successful, saves the manufacturer for a time by further distressing their suffering fellow countrymen, in again exalting prices, the object of all combines. The longer the manufacturers bolster themselves up by such schemes, the higher must go the price, the smaller will be the demand, the greater the number of the unemployed, the wider and keener the distress throughout the community and consequently the more disastrous the inevitable crash.

We, in Canada, are not very deeply in the mire yet: now that we have the opportunity, let us give our vigorous young country a chance and abolish this horrible aggression which the enemies of liberty have caused to be called protection, which in a thousand ways must undermine the moral fibre of our people, and inevitably bring ruin to many of those for whose supposed benefit it is proposed to perpetuate it, viz: the manufacturers.

If this incentive is not strong enough, let us abolish it for the poverty and suffering it necessarily entails on the wage-earners and farmers, and the crime it must induce amongst those who constitute the fringe of the skirts of our civilization, who have not inaptly been called "the submerged tenth," and whose numbers by the way are increasing at a greater ratio than population in all protectionists countries, and decreasing in free trade countries.

It should always be remembered that to many of these poor people of the "submerged tenth" a slight rise in the cost of living means famine, crime or death.

It is only when we see men of wealth with cunningly laid schemes to exalt prices urging their case before the tariff commission—schemes, that if successful, must inevitably take the last cent from many of the poor people of the "submerged tenth," thus driving them to famine, crime or death, that the depth of degradation to which protection leads those who imagine themselves financially benefitted by its continuance, may be fathomed.

Ottawa, 7/4/97.

If farmers would examine the effect the duties on food stuffs would have on themselves if these duties ever become effective, they would be the first to insist on their abolition. For many years to come our principal exports will necessarily consist of food stuffs, consequently these duties can be effective only in case of a serious failure of crops.

If such a calamity befel us, the price of food stuffs would be exalted to the full extent of the duty, plus the per centage of profit dealers charge on their outlay for duty. It is estimated that for every dollar the dealer pays in duty, the consumer pays one dollar and fifty cents. The speculators, millers and the few

Much in Little

Is especially true of Hood's Pills, for no medicine ever contained so great curative power in so small space. They are a whole medicine chest, always ready, always efficient, always satisfactory; prevent a cold or fever, cure all liver ills, sick headache, jaundice, constipation, etc. 25c. The only Pills to take with Hood's Sarsaparilla.

Hood's Pills

Man and Woman Both Fickle.

"Of course there's romance in my life," assented Fromer, when it was intimated that there was nothing of sentiment in his composition.

"'I felt when I saw her, 'tis she or none on earth,' is what Schiller wrote in his 'Bride of Messina.' That is exactly what I felt when I met the woman of my romance. Nobody can describe a woman. You can rave about her classic features, her speaking eyes, her neck like a pillar of marble touched with life, the graceful psyche knot that she twists to a crown of beauty and all that kind of rant; but after it is done you can meet the woman and not know her. When I can picture a soul I'll go into the business.

"Of course I was young when I met her. Otherwise I would have shown some slight imitation of sense and surrendered by degrees. Love at first sight is not uncommon, but it is restrained by a sense of propriety, by pride or by some other modifying influence. Every force in my being was co-operative. All impelled me to fall in love. There was no check, and I fell to the very depths.

"She refused me very prettily and very promptly. I asked her if I could cherish no hope, intimating that to deprive me of hope would be immediately fatal. She gave me a very scant allowance. Then I went away to win a fortune that I might lay it at her feet as an additional inducement. In four years I returned. The woman was there, just as I had left her, but not my ideal. While I was trying for moral strength enough to recall my vows, she was mustering courage sufficient to tell me she was engaged to another man. She spoke first. Then I was so mad at the other fellow, whom I should have blessed, that I insisted she had broken my heart."

BELLEVILLE.

TRUE TO THE LAST.

One of the best known and most popular shoemakers in Belleville gives evidence in an important matter.

Mr. William Kemp, the well-known shoemaker, says: "My wife has been a great sufferer from nervous and heart troubles for the last 20 years. She was in a very bad state, had terrible pains in the region of the heart extending up over her shoulders, and she was so nervous that she couldn't sleep at night. Her appetite was almost gone, and although she had taken many kinds of medicine both from doctors and proprietary articles, she received no relief from them. Seeing an advertisment of Milburn's heart and nerve pills, I got a box with the faint hope that they would help my wife. She has taken two boxes and the results are something wonderful. The pains have all but left her. Her appetite is good. She sleeps well, which is one of the greatest blessings she has experienced, and she has improved in every way.

"I can recommend them very highly and feel that no other remedy could have achieved a result in so short a time. (Signed), William Kemp, Belleville, Ont."

Laxa liver Pills cures constipation biliousness, and sick headache; 25c.

ONIONS FROM SEED.

A Profitable Crop If Properly Planted and Cared For.

The largest and best onions are grown from seed. While they can hardly be considered a certain crop, yet when anything like a fair crop is secured they are a profitable crop to you. On account of the work and cost of keeping the crop clean it is quite an item to select a piece of clean land and for the same reason only well rotted and thoroughly fined manure should be used. To get the best results the land must be rich. It is almost a waste of seed to try to grow from whom all information can be obtained. Money received on investment at good interest, and money loaned on easy terms of repayment.

President, M. S. Madole Esq; Vice Pres., G. W. Gibbard Esq., F. W. Morris, T. D. Pruyn, J. J. Taylor, Chas. Frizzell, Dr. G. W Edwards, W. P. Deroche. Solicitors Messrs. Deroche and Madden. Valuator, W. Embury; Sect. Treasurer and Agent, Irvine Parks.

Apply to F. Parks. Agent.

Cramps, Colic, Colds,

Croup, Coughs, Tooth-ache,

DIARRHŒA, DYSENTERY, and all BOWEL COMPLAINTS.

A Sure, Safe, Quick Cure for these troubles is

Pain-Killer

(PERRY DAVIS'.)

Used Internally and Externally.

Two Sizes, 25c. and 50c. bottles.

VERY LARGE BOTTLES 50 CENTS.

The D. & L. Emulsion

Is invaluable if you are run down, as it is a food as well as a medicine.

The D. & L. Emulsion

Will build you up if your general health is impaired.

The D. & L. Emulsion

Is the best and most palatable preparation of Cod Liver Oil, agreeing with the most delicate stomachs.

The D. & L. Emulsion

Is prescribed by the leading physicians of Canada.

The D. & L. Emulsion

Is a marvellous flesh producer and will give you an appetite.

50c. & $1 per Bottle

Be sure you get the genuine | DAVIS & LAWRENCE CO., LTD. MONTREAL

The Napanee Express

NAPANEE, FRIDAY, APRIL 16 th, 1897.

THIS is not an opportune year for war. It would rob the Queen's jubilee of its flavor.

THE new tariff will be introduced on April 22nd. The Opposition will then formulate their policy.

MR. MCMULLEN is in evidence. His bill to appoint a board of three to inspect the inside and outside civil service and dispense with all unnecessary officers has been introduced in the House of Commons. Mac is an economist who believes in economy.

A MEMBER of Parliament from his seat in the House can slander and lie, at will, if he is so disposed and he cannot be brought to book for it. Mr. McInnes, the young Liberal member from Vancouver, abused this privilege last week by making charges against The Toronto Globe that he dare not give utterance to outside of Parliament. The Globe was perfectly justified in replying to the young man from the West in the vigorous, plain and unmistakable language it did. The Globe is synonymous for all that is fair, honest and courteous in Canadian journalism and the course it has pursued for the past few years has won it the esteem and admiration of both friends and opponents. Any man who refers to it as a nickle-in-the-slot machine, a trimmer, etc., lays himself takes the wage-earners after the introduction of protection in any country, arises from the fact that such a system exalts prices and lowers wages, for contrary to the popular notion wages rise as prices fall, and, conversely wages fall as prices rise. In Japan since 1866, the year she abolished protection, prices have steadily fallen and wages have as steadily risen, the same is true of Great Britain and other free trade countries where the full force of the cheapening effects of modern improvements is felt.

In Canada and the United States on the other hand under protection prices have in a measure been maintained and wages have fallen, or to put it in another form, the benefits that under natural conditions should accrue to the mass of the people, from the cheapening effect of modern improvements, have in a great measure been nullified by high protective duties and the combine protection forces into existence.

This seeming anomaly of rising wages as a result of lowering prices admits of an easy explanation. Our daily experiences teaches that a rise in the price of any article, checks consumption. This check to consumption or demand will be very marked if the rise in price is artificial, as when it is obtained through the influence of a combine, for such schemes breed antagonism amongst consumers causing them to economise to the utmost limit.

The decreased quantity demanded reduces the number of men required to produce and distribute it. This necessarily checks the demand for labourers all along the line of production, construction and distribution, from the farm, forest, mine, factory warehouse and store, to the door of the consumer. Therefore as a necessary result of a rise in prices many men are thrown out of employment, to compete with their fellow workmen or flee the country.

The last census returns show, that hundreds of thousands of our people left Canada during the first ten years of protection, and no one will deny that protection and the combines exalted prices during that period. This competition amongst the workmen reduces wages, for wages do not depend on prices, but upon the competition amongst the employers for the services of the unemployed, consequently the greater the number of the unemployed the lower will fall the wages.

Now whilst admitting that protection for a short time after its introduction gives the manufacturers who clamour for it high prices and low wages, this seeming advantage is but a boomerang which ultimately works destruction to themselves, for it is obtained only by reducing the purchasing power of their most extensive and valuable customers, namely, the farmers and the wage earners: these two classess forming as they do the vast majority of every community, the decrease in their purchasing power (that the imposition of protective duties necessarily entails) must soon involve the manufacturers in financial distress.

As these periods of financial distress have good crops would (under these conditions realize abnormal profits, for the farmers whose crops had failed would be obliged to purchase food for their families and live stock at the exalted prices from these speculators, millers and lucky farmers.

Thus we see these duties on food stuffs can only be effective when the community are suffering under the most awful visitation that can afflict the people of any country, and when in consequence thousands of our wage earners would be out of employment.

The inevitable effect of these duties on food stuffs if ever they become operative would therefore be to deepen the distress amongst the farmers and wage earners whose losses and enforced idleness and consequent poverty compel them to bear the full force of such a calamity as a failure of crops, whilst they, (the duties) would at the expense of these suffering millions enrich that portion of the community whose wealth and good crops, EVEN IN THE ABSENCE OF THESE DUTIES, would enable them to protect themselves against the consequences of such a visitation.

The imposition of such duties are at variance with the "golden rule," the key from which all our laws are supposed to take their tone, and are a disgrace to the statutes of any christian country.

Farmers should insist on their abolition, not only for the injury they must inflict on themselves if ever they become effective, but because they furnish an excuse for the perpetuation of duties on other things that are a daily loss to all who pursue that honourable calling. It should always be remembered that as long as there is a surplus for export, duties levied for protective purposes afford no protection.

H. WASHINGTON.

Ottawa, 8/4/97.

Madden's Enamel is the only stove pipe varnish that does not smell or smoke when applied to stove pipes, ranges, grates, etc. Ask your dealer for it. 45tf

A Triumph Won. Before taking Doan's Kidney Pills I felt that diabetes was fast tightening its grip upon me. Now I know that it has been stayed and defeated. I have used the pills steadily for some time, and am now in the full enjoyment of health and shall always be glad to testify to the merits of this triumphant medicine.

RICHARD LYMAN,
St. John, N. B.

Wanted—An Idea Who can think of some simple thing to patent? Protect your ideas; they may bring you wealth. Write JOHN WEDDERBURN & CO., Patent Attorneys, Washington, D. C., for their $1,800 prize offer and list of two hundred inventions wanted.

Critical Condition

Of Thousands of Canadians.

BLOOD IS FOUL AND DISEASED.

Paine's Celery Compound the Great Spring Cleanser.

Is your blood impure and poisoned? It is if you have eruptions, blotches, pimples, sores, eczema, salt rheum or erysipelas. With such troubles the blood is fast carrying poison and disease to every part of your system.

To be clean, sound, vigorous and healthy you must use Paine's Celery Compound. Its vitalizing and health-giving properties show at once upon the blood; it is unequalled as a health producer and cleanser.

No bitters, nervines, sarsaparillas or pills can possibly remove the dangers that lurk in your system at this time. For pure, red blood, rosy cheeks and good digestion you need Paine's Celery Compound that has done such a mighty and wouderful work in the past.

Beware of the substitutes that are frequently offered for Paine's Celery Compound—those worthless imitations that are pushed on the unsuspecting for the sake of the large profits they bring the retailer. Insist upon having "Paine's," the kind that makes people well.

The Value of Variety.

The farmer who grows a variety of crops can, if he chooses, select such kinds as will furnish him always something to sell at any time of the year. All the family expenses go on without ceasing, and unless income does also the debts accumulated when there is nothing that can be sold make a heavy load when the few main crops are marketed. The necessity for peddling his products in small driblets may seem a hardship, but it teaches how little sums of money accumulate if they are saved, which is a much better lesson than that of learning how fast they add up when they are carelessly spent.

or thoroughly rotted stable manure can be used as fertilizers, taking pains to work it thoroughly in with the soil. There is little danger of getting the soil too rich.

It is important that the seed be sown early. Securing the seed and manuring of the land should be done in good season, so that at the first favorable opportunity in the spring the seed can be sown. Have the soil as fine as possible when the seed is sown in order to secure a good germination of the seed and a vigorous start of the plants to grow. Be sure that the seed is of good quality. If the seeding is to be done by hand, work out the rows about eight inches apart and make the drills about one inch deep. Sow the seeds as early as possible, two or three seeds to the inch. It is quite an item to get the seed distributed evenly in the drills.

The advantage in using the drill is that the seed can be sown and covered more evenly with less work.

Some growers, in order to get the plants started earlier and to some extent at least lessen the work of keeping the crop clean at the start, sow the seed thickly in a bed or frame, and, after they are well up, transplant them into rows where they are to grow.

As when the seed is sown it is important to have the soil in a good tilth. Work out the rows and then lay the rows not over two inches apart. It is better to use plenty of plants and thin out than to have vacant places in the rows.

If the land is not so rich as it should be it will be a good plan to scatter a good dressing of wood ashes or commercial fertilizer over the surface. The onion feeds very near the surface, and the necessary cultivation will work the fertilizer sufficiently into the soil.

A fine, sharp-toothed steel rake is one of the best implements with which to begin the cultivation. Properly used it will thoroughly fine the surface and destroy the weeds. It is important to begin the cultivaion as soon as possible, for in this way the weeds will be easier kept down. It will be an exceptional case, however, when hand-weeding will not be necessary. But a careful use of the rake and cultivator in good season will greatly lessen the work of hand-weeding. With this, as with many other crops, it is best to commence in a small way, and increase the acreage after experience has been acquired.—St. Louis Republic.

TORTURED AND HELPLESS.

Rheumatism has Hordes of Victims, and is no Respector of Persons—South American Rheumatic Cure Resists his Cruel Grasp, and Heals the Wounds he Inflicts—Relief in Six Hours.

Geo. W. Platt, Manager "World's" Newspaper Agency, Toronto, says: "I am at a loss for words to express my feelings of sincere gratitude and thankfulness for what South American Rheumatic Cure has done for me. As a result of exposure I was taken with a severe attack of rheumatic fever which affected both my knees. I suffered pain almost beyond human endurance. Having heard of marvellous cures by South American Rheumatic Cures, I gave it a trial. After taking three days I left my bed. Now every trace of my rheumatism has disappeared." Sold by A. W. Grange & Bro.

Opposing Influences.

"What nonsense they do print about the nobility of the horse! I never knew a man yet who had much to do with horses who was not made coarser in his manners," said the finical boarder.

"Still," said Asbury Poppers, "you must admit that there is something elevating about a mule."—Cincinnati Enquirer.

Value of the Garden.

A garden, properly conducted, will furnish everything to sell every day in the year, and one need never go to town without taking something to barter for his groceries. This is not the result from the usual farm garden, however, for the soil is kept neither sufficiently rich, deep nor well drained.

Tobacco Heart.—Much heart and nerve weakness is caused by undue use of tea, coffee, or tobacco; palpitation, nervousness, irritability, excitability, lack of confidence, etc. are sure symptoms. Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills bring ready relief, by steadying the nerves and regulating the heart. They are a true heart and nerve food.

CASTORIA.

The fac-simile signature of Chas. H. Fletcher is on every wrapper.

BICYCLES,

We have an elegant range of Bicycles direct from the best makers.

COLUMBIA, STEARNS, HARTFORD, UTICA AND OHIO WHEELS.

A $65.00 Wheel for $50.00.

DROP IN AND LOOK AT THEM.

NO ONE CAN UNDERSELL US IN SHOES,

SEE THEM

HAINES & LOCKETT,

4 BIG SHOE STORES

NO CREDIT. ONE PRICE.

New Spring Gent's Wear

Just opened out. New Scotch English and Canadian Suitings and Pantings, in all the Latest Patterns. Black, Blue, Brown Worsteds for Overcoatings at Popular Prices.

Nice Suits Made to Order from $12.50 Upwards

Please call before purchasing and inspect our stock

R. FORD. T. G. DAVIS.

TO STUDY THE SUN.

Largest Spectroscope in the World Just Completed.

The largest spectroscope in the world has just been completed by Prof. John A. Brashear, the famous instrument maker of Allegheny, Pa. It has been made specially for Dr. Hans Hauswaldt, a wealthy scientist of Magdeburg, Germany, where it will be used in physical research, and it is expected that many important discoveries will be made with its aid. The two most powerful spectroscopes now in use are at the Royal University of Dublin, and the University of Toronto, Canada. These instruments were also made by Prof. Brashear.

The powerful concave grating instrument is 21 feet long, and will require a room about 28 feet square in which to operate it. It is to be used for physical investigations of a very high character and the design and construction were settled upon by Prof. Brashear and Dr. H. Kayser of the University of Bonn.

It is also very probable that Dr. Hauswaldt will have other powerful instruments of research made by Prof. Brashear, as correspondence is now going on in regard to great physical and astronomical instruments that are to be placed in the new laboratory now being equipped by him in Magdeburg. Dr. Hauswaldt has gained considerable fame in Germany by his experiments, and he is sparing nothing in the equipment of his laboratory, which, when complete, will be one of the finest in Europe, and will far excel any in this country.

The grating to be used on the powerful spectroscope has a six-inch aperture, and is ruled with 110,000 lines. So accurately are these lines ruled that there is no difference any greater than three-millionths of an inch between any of them. This instrument is so powerful that where an ordinary spectroscope would show from 100 to 200 lines belonging to the spectrum of iron, it will reveal more than 2000. It used to be considered that a spectroscope that could show the sodium lines double was one of great power. The great instrument to be sent to Germany not only shows each of these lines double, but with the sun low in the meridian, as many as 15 lines may be seen between the sodium lines.

The new spectroscope has its greatest power, however, in the way of photography. The spectrum of the sun has been photographed to a length of over 60 feet, literally crowded with lines from one end to the other. It is so arranged that no matter what part of the spectrum it is desired to photograph the photographic plate is always in focus for every part of the spectrum.

"This large instrument is also valuable in making comparisons of anything that may be burning in the sun. We have light that is coming from the

Let's Live Longer!

Why Die a Lingering Death of Direful Diabetes?

DODD'S KIDNEY PILLS CURE IT

Other Medicines never touch it,—But Dodd's Pills Infallibly Cure,—Expelling Poison and Pain,—Preserving Sugar and Strength,—Don't Die; Get Well.

Who would not live longer if he could?

More men shorten their lives by over-indulgence in food and drink than ever die from starvation. Health can be maintained by eating and drinking just what is good for us—no more, no less.

But most of us don't do that.

In health the body expels what it doesn't require, and retains what it needs. In disease either the body doesn't expel the poison or it does not retain what is needed to nourish it. In the disease called DIABETES the kidneys expel sugar. Its presence can be detected in the urine. The body needs sugar. In DIABETES the sufferer dies a lingering death.

Until recently DIABETES was supposed to be incurable. The science of to-day says that DIABETES may be cured. The kidneys may be restored to healthy action. Sugar may be retained in the system. Instead of filtering out the good that is in the food the kidneys may be made to filter out the poison.

With Poison goes Pain. With Sugar stays Strength.

DIABETES disappears like magic before DODD'S KIDNEY PILLS. Other medicines never touch it. That's the difference. If you have DIABETES get cured quickly. Don't bother with medicines that do not cure. Many will stand up to be counted among those who have been cured of DIABETES by taking DODD'S KIDNEY PILLS.

Mr. Fred Stokes, Barrie, Ont., says:—"I have been promptly restored to health by a few boxes of Dodd's Kidney Pills. Diabetes had reduced my weight forty-five pounds, which I have regained."

Mr. D. Roblin, Bandmaster, Allandale, Ont., says:—"Could for years get no relief for Diabetes which it seemed would end my days. Six boxes of Dodd's Kidney Pills have cured me."

Mr. Chas. Gilchrist, Port Hope, Ont., says:—"For ten years a victim of Diabetes. Suffered fearfully, especially in passing water. My cure has resulted from taking a few boxes of Dodd's Kidney Pills."

WAS SLOWLY DYING

THE RESULT OF AN ATTACK OF LA GRIPPE AND PNEUMONIA.

The Strange Case of Mr. James Owen, of Johnville—Doctors Told Him His Lungs Were Affected and He Could Not Recover—Now in Good Health.

From the Sherbrooke Gazette.

When a man faces what medical authorities tell him is certain death, and regains health and strength, he is naturally grateful to the medicine that has restored him. Such a man is Mr. James Owen, one of the best known farmers in the vicinity of Johnville, Que. Mr. Owen tells his story of shattered health and renewed strength as follows:—"On the 17th of December, 1894, I was attacked with la grippe. A week later the trouble developed into pneumonia in its worst form, and I did not leave my bed until the first of March, 1895, and then I was so weak that I was unable to walk alone. All winter my life hung in the balance. Summer came, and I was still weak and feeble, though with the warm weather I gained a little strength. I had however, but very little power in my legs, and I could not ride a mile in a buggy owing to the pain they caused me. My lungs also troubled me and I raised a great deal of matter. I then consulted the best doctor we have in this section of the province. He told me candidly that I was past medical help. He said that my left lung was in a state of collapse, and that my right lung was also affected. This was in July 1895. For the next three months, every day seemed to draw me nearer and nearer to the end. I was so pressed for breath at times that I could not walk any distance without stopping to regain it. In the month of November I began to take Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. It was certainly a forlorn hope and I admit I did not expect much benefit from them, but took them rather to please a friend who urged me to do so. I believe I was surprised when I found they were helping me, for I thought I was beyond the aid of medicine, but help me they did, and I gladly continued their use. The result is they have made a well man of me. I have not a pain about me, my breath comes as freely as it ever did, and I am strong and vigorous. My case can be briefly summed up in a few words. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills have given me a new lease of life and I am glad to let everybody know it.

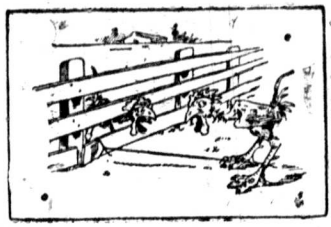
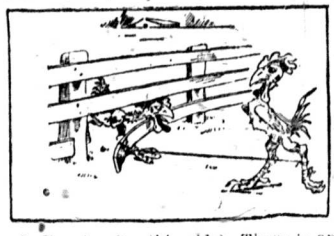
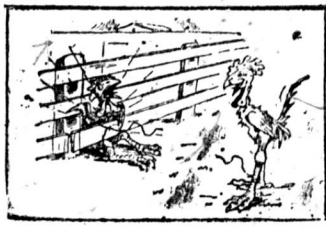
Dr. Williams' Pink Pills create new blood, build up the nerves, and thus drive disease from the system. In hundreds of cases they have cured after all other medicines had failed, thus establishing the claim that they are a marvel among the triumphs of modern medical science. The genuine Pink Pills are sold only in boxes, bearing the full trade mark, "Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People." Protect yourself from imposition by refusing any pill that does not bear the registered trade mark around the box.



1. Rooster (on the other side of the fence)—If I could get to you I'd whip you until you own motehr wouldn't know you.



2. Rooster (on this side)—There is an opening. I dare you in my yard!



3. It was a lucky thing for me that the string broke just when it did. Now I can crow.

Completely Outgeneraled.

"I've heard a good deal about coercion," said the man with a heavy mustache and a big gold watch chain, as he leaned over the desk of a Washington hotel. "But it's my opinion that the public in general don't know what coercion is. Just wait till you get women in politics; then you'll find out something about it."

"Have you ever had any experience with women in politics?" inquired the clerk.

"Not with women in politics. But I've just had experience with a woman in business, which shows how quick the sex is in recognizing an advantage and how heartless it can be in making use of it. I run a dime museum. One of my chief attractions is a bearded lady. About two weeks ago her husband came to me and said that she wanted some new costumes; that she was tired of trying to keep up appearances with her old ones. I just laughed at him; but he assured me that she was in earnest. I told him to tell his wife that we weren't paying her milliner's bills. He went away, and came back with the message that she wasn't going to be put off; that she wanted three new dresses, and that she wanted 'em made by the most expensive modiste in town. 'What'll she do if she doesn't get 'em?' I asked. 'She's awfully set in her own way,' he answered; 'I shouldn't be surprised if she resigned right off.' I laughed at him again and told him that I had a contract with her for the season, which it would cost her more to break than she could earn in six months."

"That ought to have settled it," the clerk remarked.

"It didn't, though. In less than ten minutes he came back to my office on a run. 'You've got to compromise, somehow,' he said. 'You've always been a friend of mine, and I don't want to see you get the worst of it.' 'She can't get around that contract,' I answered, beginning to feel a little apprehensive. 'She isn't going to try to. She says she'll stay her time out and appear every afternoon and night as she agreed to. But when I left she had her things on, and you'll have to run if you want to catch her; by this time she's half way to the barber shop. She's going to get shaved."—Washington Star.

A course of Hood's Sarsaparilla taken now will build up the system and prevent serious illness later on. Get only Hood's.

Oh! So Tired. Many people are tired, worn out and weary in spring time, when they could easily be strong, vigorous and healthy by using Burdock Blood Bitters, which removes all morbid effete matter from the system and scope and photograph in the center of our plate the center of the sun.

"A bar is now placed over this part of the plate which has received the impression of the solar spectrum, and now we turn on an electric light, in which we have placed a small piece of pure calcium. In a very brief time the spectrum of the calcium is photographed above and below the spectrum that came from the sun. The plate is now developed, and here we have a picture of the solar spectrum, running as a narrow strip between the photograph of the metal we have taken. We can see at once the coincidence of the lines of the metal with any lines that may be in the sun. If the lines are in obsolute coincidence we may infer from the law of probabilities, which increases as the lines increase, that the metal we have burned in our electric arc is burning in the great fire of the sun.

"Many hundreds of these photographs have been taken, and we are now almost as certain of the elements that are burning in our great luminary as those that we burn in the furnaces of the metallurgists. So it is with the gases and, indeed, all the chemical elements. Yet, strange to say, while we here on earth recognize oxygen as the great supporter of combustion, the most careful researches with the spectroscope have failed to show the existance of oxygen in the sun. I have in my library an elaborate little manual giving Prof. Draper's scientific reasons and proofs that oxygen is burning in the sun, but it has been strongly proved the opposite.

"Extraordinary care has been taken to make the instrument as absolutely perfect as is possible for human hands. The German physicists are the most exacting scientists in the world, and their tests of the great spectroscope will be most rigorous. Dr. Hauswaldt has established one of the finest laboratories of its kind in the world, and he has associated with him in his work the best German physicists of the day. He intends, I understand, to devote his fortune and the rest of his days in making advanced researches. His laboratory now far excels those in this country, and the instruments he is talking of adding to the equipment will make it even more admirable. I look for important discoveries in physical science from the famous little town. The circumstances and surroundings certainly favor it.

"It has been my great regret that I have been unable to photograph the instrument just made. I have tried, but it is so large that some part of it is always placed out of focus in an exaggerated fashion. A camera would have to be placed 50 feet away to get any results at all, and then they would be very unsatisfactory. I have always had to be satisfied with a mere recollection of the instruments made."—New York Herald.

Board Without Lodging.

Great and prominent people in all probability dislike to be ridiculed and lampooned as much at the present day as their ancestors ever did, but the penalty for the offender, provided he keep himself within bounds, can hardly be more than the disfavor of the object of his ridicule, instead of being really serious, as it too often was one or two centuries ago.

The severest wit of his time, Voltaire, was more than once imprisoned in the Bastille for having directed his satire against the powers that were. His first incarceration for such an offence was in 1717, when he levelled a biting set of verses, and later a satirical composition in Latin, against the regent, the Duke of Orleans.

The justly incensed regent ordered him to be taken to the Bastille, but forgetting his insulter almost immediately, he left the wretched Voltaire in prison for eleven months.

When the poet was remembered and released, the generous duke, unmindful of anything save the tedious imprisonment his lampooner had suffered, sent for him and granted him a pension of four hundred dollars a year, to soothe his wounded feelings.

Voltaire accepted the gift with as much witty grace as gratitude.

"Monseigneur," he said, "I must humbly thank your royal highness for continuing to charge yourself with the expense of my board, but I beg you never again to trouble yourself about my lodging."

The Anglican church, Picton, has a surpliced choir.

This Spring. Spring is at hand, winter is nearly over. Are you ready for summer? Is your blood pure? Burdock Blood Bitters purifies and enriches the blood, cures dyspepsia, bad blood, sick headache, etc. B. B. B. removes every trace of impurity from the Blood, from a common pimple to the worst scrofulous the face that I was a victim of Diabetes, I resorted to Dodd's Kidney Pills. I commenced to get well with the first box and am perfectly cured."

Handling Barrels.

The usual storage place for apples is in the cellar. The barrels then have to be carried up the roll-way by two men—a matter of no little difficulty when the roll-away is narrow as is usually the case. A plan is shown in the cut by which the barrels of apples are carried to the surface with but little lifting, and without jarring the fruit. The diagram tells its own story, except that the triangular truck that is mounted on two rollers is represented larger than need be, thus making it higher than is actually necessary. The rollers run on a wide plank that rests on the edge of the stair treads. The same arrangement will be found equally serviceable in putting apples into the cellar in the fall, and for use with vegetables, etc.

HAULING APPLES FROM CELLAR.

A Good Word for the Mole.

The mole is not such a great enemy of the gardener as many suppose. It lives largely upon worms and grubs.

This Seems to be Justified

We have a poor opinion of the man who will market all his best fruit, and leave only the worst for his family.

The Thoroughbred Potato.

Since the recent description of the thoroughbred potato appeared, with Mr. T. B. Terry's great record, we have been the recipient of some other records made last year, which put Mr. Terry's experience somewhat in the shade.

Mr. W. J. Kemish of 383 Sorauren avenue, Toronto, the noted Canadian writer for Farm and Fireside, had a most unusual experience while on his Indian road place last year. His barrel of Maule thoroughbred potato seed was frosted in coming to Canada, so much so that when it arrived the thaw made the floor run with water. He thought they were goners, but concluded to plant them. He did so, and the result was so astonishing that all the market gardeners in that neighborhood wasted some time in coming to see them. He is enthusiastic in praise of this new potato, and says he never saw in all his long experience anything to equal it.

The Co-operative Farmer reports that Mr. King of Sussex County, New Brunswick, planted one pound of early thoroughbred potatoes, cutting them up small and planting each piece three feet apart. He dug 569 pounds as the crop from this one pound.

Mr. Sword, of Beatrice, Muskoka, who takes so many potato prizes at the Toronto Industrial every year, fared equally as well. He planted last year one tuber of early thoroughbred and dug in the fall as its product one full barrel.

This potato seems to be the coming murphy.

PILL-OSOPHY.

There are pills and pills—but Dr. Agnew's Liver Pills at 20 cents a vial lead in demand. The sale borders on the phenomenal.

Sluggish liver, constipation or irregular bowels are the precursors of many physicial disorders.

These little wonders remove the cause.

They are entirely vegetable. They act on the liver and bowels without disturbance to the system, diet or occupation. They never gripe. They act pleasantly. 40 in a vial for 20 cents. Sold by A. W. Grange & Bro.

CASTORIA.

The fac-simile signature of Chas. H. Fletcher is on every

Cheapside.

The busiest Dry Goods establishment in the county

AND WHY?

Because customers find the best and largest assortment of the newest and most fashionable goods and at prices which always suit them, and are always sure that they will have the best of attention, as it is considered a pleasure to show goods.

The stock is now fully assorted in all the departments, and should you want anything in the following lines you will have a large assortment to select from.

Millinery, Dress Goods, Dress Trimmings, Silks, Blouse Silks, Blouses, Wrappers, Parasols, Gloves, Hosiery, Corsets, Prints, Cretonnes, Art Muslins, Cottonades, Shirtings, Ginghams, White and Grey Cottons, Gents Furnishings.

ORDERED CLOTHING A SPECIALTY HERE.

ONE PRICE ONLY. TERMS CASH.

W. MOWAT.

BBB FOR THE BLOOD

In Spring Time get Pure Blood by using B.B.B.

No other remedy possesses such perfect cleansing, healing and purifying properties as Burdock Blood Bitters. It not only cleanses internally, but it heals, when applied externally, all sores ulcers, abscesses, scrofulous sores, blotches, eruptions, etc., leaving the skin clean and pure as a babe's. Taken internally it removes all morbid effete or waste matter from the system, and thoroughly regulates all the organs of the body, restoring the stomach, liver, bowels and blood to healthy action.

BBB FOR THE BLOOD BBB FOR THE BLOOD BBB FOR THE BLOOD

DOAN'S KIDNEY PILLS

Price 50 cents per Box, or 6 for $2.50. At Druggists, or Mailed on Receipt of Price by T. MILBURN & CO., Toronto.

LAXA-LIVER PILLS

She Wanted to See and See She Did.

On Wednesday afternoon a large blonde lady—good-looking, too—passed by the messengers who guard the part of the senate wing which is reserved exclusively for the press. As she went by one of the messengers said:

"That is private, madam."

"Oh, I just want to look out of the window," she replied and walked along.

The messenger hurried after her and continued: "But this is private and you are not permitted to go back there."

She didn't blink an eyelash, but walked along.

"I beg your pardon," said the messenger, coming up with her.

"Oh, you can come along with me if you want to," she replied, smiling at him sweetly. "I want to see what is to be seen from this window."

And she did.—Washington Post.

Reflections of a Bachelor.

The more people agree with us the more use we generally have for their opinions.

Some women seem to think they can influence a man in about the same way they shoo chickens.

As soon as a girl gets married all the other women watch her to see how soon she will begin to age.

When a girl has been told that she has a spiritual face she begins to try to put on a dreamy, rapt expression.

A woman never feels that real joy of shopping till she has mussed another woman's hair at a bargain counter.

A girl will give a man a silver flask with a monogram on it for a Christmas present and then get mad if he uses it.—New York Press.

The Maiden's Avowal.

"It is folly for you, Micky McCloskey, to throw your offerings at my feet. Yonder goes the one who has long won my heart from you. He has all the attributes of a man. He wears long pants, and chews as well as smokes."

Made a Good Impression.

"I think," said young Mrs. Torkins, "that we will like the new servant girl better than the last one."

"Why?" asked Torkins.

"Because she has such a pleasant way of saying 'no.'"

"Indeed! How does she say it?"

"She says, 'Oh, no, mum!'"

THE HIGHWAY.

The highway lies, all bare and brown,
A naked line across the down,
Worn by a hundred hurrying feet.
The tide of life along it flows,
And busy commerce comes and goes.
Where once the grass grew green and sweet,
The world's fierce pulses beat.

Well for the highway that it lies
The passageway of great emprise!
Yet from its dust what voices cry—
Voices of soft green growing things
Trampled and torn from earth which clings
Too closely, unperceiving why
Its darling bairns must die!

My heart's a highway, trodden down
By many a traveler of renown—
Grave thought, and burden-bearing deeds.
And strong achievement's envoy fares,
With laughing joys and crowing cares,
Along the road that worldward leads—
Once rank with foolish weeds.

Glad is my heart to hear them pass:
Yet sometimes breathes a low alas!
The tender springing things that grew—
The nursing hopes their feet destroyed,
Sweet ignorant dreams that youth enjoyed—
And blossomed there the long year through—
Would I could have them too!

—LOUISE BETTS EDWARDS.

"DOC'S" STORY.

The "lush" was in the best humor when he joined the evening group at the Alfalfa European hotel. He had enough morning penitence left in him to make him grave and even dignified. At the same time he had started in upon an evening accumulation, and had already become warmed into that friendly mood which helps one to realize that all men are brothers.

"Good evening, gentlemen," said the "lush," and he said it as if it were the preliminary to an oration.

"Good evening, sir; good evening," responded "Doc" Horne, with a slight inclination of the head.

"Sit down and make yourself miserable," said the lightning dentist, who could be entertaining at times

"Come join the feast of reason and the flow of soul," added the book agent, who could be original, if not entertaining.

"Sure, that's right," added the bicycle salesman.

The "lush" seated himself, and asked: "Well, gentlemen, what is the subject under discussion?"

"We were just thinking about the cold weather, and saying that it must

Anæmia means "want of blood," a deficiency in the red corpuscles of the blood. Its cause is found in want of sufficient food, dyspepsia, lack of exercise or breathing impure air. With it is a natural repugnance to all fat roods. Scott's Emulsion is an easy food to get fat from and the easiest way of taking fat. It makes the blood rich in just those elements necessary to robust health, by supplying it with red corpuscles.

For sale at 50 cents and $1.00 by all druggists.

SCOTT & BOWNE, Belleville, Ont.

tree about 100 feet ahead of me. I stopped short, and yelled to him: 'Kerly mahoo!' That means in the Indian language, 'Come out.'"

"Can you talk Indian, too, 'Doc?'" asked the "lush."

"I knew a few words belonging to this Canadian tribe of Maxeboshas, but I never gave a thorough study to any Indian language except that of the Sioux."

"Lo, the poor Indian," observed the book agent. "What did this man behind the tree say to you?"

"Well, he waited a few minutes and then he came out," said "Doc." "I saw that he had a fresh haunch of venison strung over his shoulder, and I decided to have some of it. I went up to him, and asked him the way to the river and the camp. He pretended not to understand, but I knew better. He shook his head and started to go away and I dropped my rifle and grabbed him, but I didn't want to have any shooting. I didn't want a dead Indian. I wanted a live one, who could show me the way back to Gen. Foster's hunting lodge. First, I wrenched the gun out of his hands, and then we went at it. He was a giant in stature and very strong

CURE
BILIOUSNESS
CONSTIPATION
SICK HEADACHE
AND ALL LIVER TROUBLES

husband.

"She carries a smaller basket to and from her home."

BRISTOL'S
BRISTOL'S
BRISTOL'S
Sarsaparilla
and
SUGAR COATED PILLS

The Greatest of all Liver, Stomach and Blood Medicines.

A SPECIFIC FOR
Rheumatism, Gout and Chronic Complaints.

They Cleanse and Purify the Blood.

All Druggists and General Dealers.

FARMERS ATTENTION.

Insure your property in the Lennox and Addington Mutual Fire Insurance Company.
Because it is a Home Company.
Because it is a Safe Company.
Because it is the cheapest and best.
Because it affords the most liberal policies to patrons.
Because it insures only (isolated) non-hazardous risks, as farm property, county churches and school houses.
Because it is the Farmer's Company managed by Farmers in the interest of farmers of the Counties of Lennox and Addington, Hastings Frontenac, Lanark and Leeds.
Officers—J. B. Aylesworth President; B. C. Lloyd, Vice-President. Directors—A. C. Parks, G. Sills, W. R. Gordanier, I. F. Aylesworth. Honorary Directors—Jas. Ried, M.P.P., A. V. Price, Camden. C. R. Allison, Wm. Chesters, Fredericksburgh. D. W. Allison ex-M.P. Adolphustown; F. B. Guess, Col. Geo. Hunter Kingston; Allan Pringle, Ira. B. Hudgins, Richmond. The board meets at the Secretarie's office in the first Saturday of every month at one p.m.

J. N. McKim, Napanee.
N. A. Caton, Napanee } Agents
Thos. B. Wilson, Newburgh
M. C. BOGART Sec'y.-Treas

"There's nothing personal in this, is there?" asked the "lush."

"Certainly not," said the lightning dentist, laughing. "Doc" Horne chuckled, and the large book agent smiled in a conservative manner, as if he feared to compromise his professional dignity.

The bicycle young man was puzzled. He did not see why the laugh came in, so he settled back in his chair and tried to think it out. The task was long and difficult, for he said but a few words during the remainder of the evening.

"I don't think there is much suffering now that the weather has moderated," said the "lush."

"I hope not," said "Doc" Horne. "It's a terrible thing to be cold and hungry for days at a time. I can tell you that. If any of you gentlemen ever go through what I did you'll appreciate that, too."

"How's that, 'Doc?'" asked the "lush."

"I thought I had told you of my experience in the winters of '67 and '68, when I was moose hunting with Gen. Foster up in Canada. No? Well, we had a party of gentlemen from New York and Philadelphia with us. The weather was bitterly cold, but we were living in the General's hunting lodge and we managed to keep comfortable. One day I was out with a party, and we were up on the Sessikoochee River—"

"What's the name, 'Doc?'" asked the lightning dentist.

"The Sessikoochee—Indian name, you know. It means 'lofty pines.' I had two New York gentlemen with me, and we were tracking a moose—had been on the trail for several hours. I crossed the river on the ice to take up what seemed to be a new trail, and I got separated from my two friends. I suppose I was intent on following this trail, and that's why I paid so little attention to the weather. The first thing I knew the snow began to fall, and I discovered that the sky was overcast, with every indication of a blizzard. I started back along the trail, but in ten minutes the air was filled with blinding snow and the wind was blowing a perfect hurricane among the trees. Of course it was impossible to see far in any direction, but I kept on, and thought I was going toward the river. I knew if I struck the river I could find the house all right. Darkness came on—I had no idea it was so late—and the wind came from the northwest and cut me to the very bone. I walked and walked and walked, but I didn't come to the river, and then I realized that probably I had been walking away from it all the time. Of course my inclination was to sit down and rest, but I knew I didn't dare to do that or I'd freeze to death."

"It must have been awful," said the bicycle young man.

"Well, it wasn't any pleasure excursion. Fortunately I found a hollow tree where I could coil myself. I got in there and wrapped my fur coat around me, and managed to keep fairly warm until morning. By that time the wind had gone down and the cold was something intense. If I hadn't been so hardy and athletic I suppose I never would have lived through it. I got out, took my bearings from the sun, and started on a run to find the river. I had to run to keep from freezing. Of course I still carried my rifle, and I also had a hunting knife, but I didn't have any matches to start a fire with. About 10 o'clock that morning I shot a rabbit, but of course I couldn't cook it, so I had to content myself with drinking a little of the blood."

The bicycle young man gasped and shivered, which led "Doc" to say: "You would have been glad to get it."

"I should think it would be hard work to run in the snow," said the lightning dentist.

"Not if you had snowshoes," said "Doc," with an amused smile.

"Oh, I didn't know you had snowshoes."

"I didn't have any when I started, but I made a rough pair out of some long twigs knotted together with a kind of wiry grass that grows up there. With this pair of shoes I could make four miles an hour across the snow. I kept at it nearly all day, only stopped to rest twice, if I remember correctly, but I was off in my calculations, for I didn't find the river. It might have been a mile or it might have been fifteen miles away—I didn't know. When it began to get dark again, I'll admit that I was a little frightened. The only thing that kept me warm all day was my running, and, of course, by this time, I was more or less tired. Well, sir, it was a funny thing. I had cut through a little ravine and was starting up the other side, when I saw an Indian trapper, in a fur suit, jump behind a all that hard travel, but I got a hold on him that I had learned in wrestling, and I landed him in the snow. I got on top of him, and, drawing my knife, I pointed at his throat and said: 'Now, will you obey me?' He nodded that he would, and so I let him up. I knew that these Indians always carried matches or flints, because they were in the habit of cooking food out in the forest. I kept this fellow covered with my knife and made him build a fire and cook me some venison, which I ate with some enjoyment, you may be sure. By this time the moon was up. I emptied his gun, and gave it back to him, and then I told him to lead me to the camp. He struck off through the forest, and I followed him. Well, sir, we traveled all night and about 9 o'clock next morning reached the lodge. They had given me up for lost. Yes, sir, all the eastern papers had me dead, but that was one time I fooled 'em. I learned after I got back that the thermometer had registered 40 below."

"What became of the two men who started out with you?" asked the lightning dentist.

"Oh, they got back all right by following the river. A funny thing about that experience. The Indian remained at our lodge a couple of days and became very much attached to me. Afterward, when I went up there, he acted as guide for our party."

"Doc" ceased talking, and the "lush" gave one look at the lightning dentist, as if to indicate that he was helpless with admiration.

"The doctor appears to be a man who has had remarkable experiences," said the book agent, later in the evening when "Doc" had gone to his room.

"You don't half know him yet," said the "lush." "He's been a capitalist, a Government scout, a circus tumbler and a steamboat pilot."

"And an actor," added the lightning dentist.

"And an opera singer."

"And a stage driver."

"And an author."

"Why he's been everything. If you don't believe it, ask him about it. He'll tell you."—Chicago News.

Try, Try Again

For hiccoughs, a small piece of ice. Or, a lump of sugar wet with vinegar.

For the beginning of a felon, wrapping cotton around the finger, wet in camphor gum dissolved in alcohol.

For a burn, wetting cloths in one small teaspoonful of soda in one pint of equal parts hot water and milk.

For lime in eye, a weak solution of vinegar, followed by olive oil dropped in.

For choking, raising the right arm high.

For a abscess, a linseed poultice.

For torpid liver, eating a lemon, before breakfast, for a week.

Or drinking the juice of half a lemon in a cup of hot water before breakfast.

For insomnia, rubbing the flesh, at night, briskly with a flesh brush.

For scalds or burns, baking soda.

Money For the Siberian Railroad.

In regard to the appropriations made for carrying on the great Siberian Railway, the report of the Russian Minister of Finance says: The budget for 1897 assigns 55,000,000 rubles for the continuation of this work. Thus, since the commencement of the railway one-half of the sum requisite for this stupendous undertaking has already been assigned. From the state of progress one may expect that in 1898, or at any rate in 1899, the Siberian Railway will reach the Amoor from both ends, and, united by a service of fast steamers along this river, will form a direct line of steam communication across the whole of Siberia to the Pacific Coast.

Bay of Quinte Railway and Navigation Company

GENERAL PASSENGER TIME TABLE,

Eastern Standard Time. No. 13 Taking effect Dec. 2nd, 1895

Tweed and Tamworth to Deseronto.

	Stations	Miles	No.2 A.M.	No.4 P.M.	No.6 P.M.
Lve	Tweed		6 50	....	3 00
	Stoco	3	6 58	....	3 10
	Larkins	7	7 10	....	3 25
	Marlbank	13	7 25	....	3 40
	Erinsville	17	7 40	....	3 55
	Tamworth	20	7 50	2 00	4 10
	Wilson*	24	....	....	....
	Enterprise	26	8 10	2 20	4 30
	Mudlake Bridge*	28	....	....	....
	Moscow	31	8 22	2 35	4 43
	Galbraith*	33	....	....	....
Arr	Yarker	35	8 35	....	4 55
Lve	Yarker	35	9 00	2 50	5 10
	Camden East	39	9 13	3 02	5 23
	Thomson's Mills	40	9 18	....	....
	Newburgh	41	9 23	3 15	5 30
	Napanee Mills	42	9 33	3 25	5 40
Arr	Napanee	49	9 50	3 40	5 55
Lve	Napanee	49	....	....	6 15
	Deseronto Junction	54	....	....	6 30
Arr	Deseronto	58	....	....	6 45

Deseronto and Napanee to Tamworth and Tweed.

	Stations.	Miles	No.1 A.M.	No.3. P.M.	No.5 P.M.
Lve	Deseronto	0	6 50	....	....
	Deseronto Junction	4	7 10	....	....
Arr	Napanee	9	7 25	....	....
Lve	Napanee	9	7 45	12 00	4 20
	Napanee Mills	15	8 00	12 15	4 35
	Newburgh	17	8 10	12 23	4 42
	Thomson's Mills*	18	8 20	....	....
	Camden East	19	8 33	12 36	4 50
Arr	Yarker	23	8 43	....	5 00
Lve	Yarker	23	9 00	12 45	5 15
	Galbraith*	25	....	....	....
	Moscow	27	9 15	1 00	5 27
	Mudlake Bridge*	30	....	....	....
	Enterprise	32	9 30	1 15	5 40
	Wilson*	34	....	....	....
	Tamworth	38	9 50	1 35	5 58
	Erinsville	41	10 03	....	6 10
	Marlbank	45	10 15	....	6 23
	Larkins	51	10 30	....	6 40
	Stoco	55	10 50	....	6 50
Arr	Tweed	58	11 00	....	7 03

Kingston and Sydenham to Deseronto.

	Stations.	Miles	No.2. A.M.	No.4. P.M.	No.6. P.M.
Lve	Kingston	0	....	....	3 30
	G. T. R. Junction	2	....	....	3 40
	Glenvale*	10	....	....	4 00
	Murvale*		....	....	4 15
Arr	Harrowsmith	19	....	....	4 30
Lve	Sydenham	23	8 00	....	....
	Harrowsmith	19	8 20	....	5 31
	Frontenac*	22	8 32	....	4 40
Arr	Yarker	26	8 40	....	4 50
Lve	Yarker	26	9 00	2 50	5 10
	Camden East	30	9 13	3 02	5 23
	Thomson's Mills*	31	9 18	....	....
	Newburgh	32	9 23	3 15	5 30
	Napanee Mills	34	9 33	3 25	5 40
Arr	ance	40	9 50	3 40	5 55
Lve	panee, West End	40	....	....	6 15
	Deseronto Junction	45	....	....	6 30
Arr	Deseronto	49	....	....	6 45

Deseronto and Napanee to Sydenham and Kingston.

	Stations	Miles.	No.1 A.M.	No.3. P.M.	No. 5 P.M.
Lve	Deseronto	0	6 50	....	....
	Deseronto Junction	4	7 10	....	....
Arr	Napanee	9	7 25	....	....
Lve	Napanee	9	7 45	12 00	4 20
	Napanee Mills	15	8 00	12 15	4 35
	Newburg	17	8 10	12 23	4 42
	Thomson's Mills*	18	8 15	....	....
	Camden East	19	8 20	12 30	4 50
Arr	Yarker	23	8 33	12 45	5 00
Lve	Yarker	23	8 50	....	5 20
	Frontenac*	27	9 00	....	5 27
Arr	Harrowsmith	30	9 05	....	5 40
	Sydenham	34	....	....	5 55
Lve	Harrowsmith	30	9 05	....	....
	Murvale*	35	9 20	....	....
	Glenvale*	39	9 30	....	....
	G. T. R. Junction	47	9 55	....	....
Arr	Kingston	49	10 00	....	....

R. C. CARTER, Asst Gen. Manager — G. A. BROWNE, Gen. Pass. Agent — H. B. SHERWOOD Superintendent

Back-Ache, Face-Ache, Sciatic Pains, Neuralgic Pains, Pain in the Side, etc.
Promptly Relieved and Cured by
The "D. & L." Menthol Plaster
Having used your D. & L. Menthol Plaster for severe pain in the back and lumbago, I can unhesitatingly recommend same as a safe, sure and rapid remedy. I find in fact, they act like magic.—A. LAPOINTE, Elizabethtown, Ont.
Price 25c.
DAVIS & LAWRENCE CO., LTD. Proprietors, MONTREAL.

BEET SUGAR MAKING.

SOME CONSERVATIVE WORDS BY A CAREFUL OBSERVER.

The Essentials Requisite to Secure a Paying Crop of Sugar Beets—The Necessary Conditions For Success From the Manufacturing Side.

The profitable production of beet sugar in this country is a much discussed topic at the present time, says Samuel Johnson in The Detroit Free Press. Those who claim to see in this prospective industry a measure of relief for the general agricultural depression are earnest and active in their advocacy of state and national bounties to encourage capitalists to invest in the plant and fixtures needed in the process of manufacture. It is urged with great emphasis that such action, too, would be of most decided benefit to the farmers (who live near enough the factory so that they can deliver their beets at reasonable cost) who might engage in the growing of the crop and ease up somewhat the overproduction of the staples which has reduced prices below the line of profitable production. A factory with an equipment first class and up to CROSS SECTION OF A SUGAR BEET.

A section of cutting down through the middle showing the alternate rings or cylinders of compact portions and those more translucent, the former containing rather more sugar, and the latter more salts and albuminoids. The lower or smaller part of the beet generally has a larger percentage of sugar than the larger upper part.

date in all particulars would probably cost not much short of $400,000 to $500,000, and it is not an easy matter to interest men who have money in such enterprises and to such an amount when it is largely in the nature of an experiment. It is not to be expected that in such an emergency they will do less than to demand some bonus to insure them against possible losses. From this point of view and the chances they must take in such an investment, this is not unreasonable. The benefits growing out of the establishment of two or three beet sugar factories in our state would only be general and incidental, so far as the great masses of farmers are concerned. Those who were near enough to grow and furnish the raw product to the factory at a fair compensation would be benefited directly. It certainly would be a good thing for them. But is it not an open, at least a debatable question, whether the direct influence upon the business of farming in th estate, away from the neighborhood of the factories, would be perceptible? It is claimed that a plant cannot be run profitably with less than the product of 3000 acres, and that contracts must be signed by the farmers to furnish that amount annually for five years at a certain price per ton. Suppose that 20,000 or 25,000 acres of our improved lands now devoted to the production of the cereal crops were taken to grow beets used in four or five factories; it would not be likely to have any material effect on prices. We devote annually in this state some 3,000,000 acres to producing wheat, corn and oats, nearly 2,000,000 acres to hay and 20,000 acres to potatoes and some 300,000 acres to other crops. We certainly will have to draw on our imagination if we can find any reason for believing that the devoting of 20,000 acres of our more than 8,000,000 acres of improved land to the production of a new crop is going to revolutionize our business and bring back the prosperity of former years to our almost discouraged farmers.

The essentials to getting the best quality of beets are, according to Farm and Home: First, proper climate, Everyone knows the biblical story of the passover. The angel of death turned aside only at the doors of the chosen people. The first-born of all others were slain. There is a chosen people today, at whose doors the angel of death turns aside and whose first-born escape unscathed while the children of others perish. The chosen people are the healthy people. Nine-tenths of the deaths among children are due to the ill-health of the mothers during the period preceding motherhood. Every woman owes it to herself, her husband and her children to keep herself healthy in a womanly way. She should thoroughly understand her own physical make-up. She should realize the importance of keeping the organs of womanhood healthy and vigorous. She can only do this by taking proper care of herself and using the proper remedy for weakness or disease of those organs.

The best remedy for weakness or disease of the organs peculiar to women is Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. It is truly wonderful in its effects on the female organism. It allays inflammation, soothes pain and restores health and vigor. Get it at the druggist's and take no substitute. Your health and your children's health depend upon it.

"Since I wrote you we have had a baby girl born to us," writes W. R. Malcolm, of Knobel, Clay Co., Ark. "My wife took your 'Golden Medical Discovery' and also your 'Favorite Prescription' all during the expectant period and until confinement, and she had no trouble to mention. A stouter, healthier child was never born. Our child will be one year of age the 8th inst. and she has not been sick a day. Has not had so much as the colic."

Every woman in America should own a copy of Dr. Pierce's Common Sense Medical Adviser. In its 1,008 pages she will find plain talks about all sorts of ailments. These talks are made plainer by copious illustrations. About 90 pages are devoted to woman's diseases and weaknesses. There are suggestions for home-treatment. This book has already gone into more than a million homes. The original price was $1.50. Now an edition in paper covers is being distributed FREE. Send 21 one-cent stamps—this pays for customs and mailing only—to World's Dispensary Medical Association Buffalo, N.Y. If a copy bound in fine cloth is desired, send 50 stamps.

DRESSES OF SPRING.

WORN IN CAIRO'S SUNSHINE—HERE SHORTLY.

Light and Airy Frills Flourish in the East, Where There Is No Dampness to Interfere and the Tailor-Made Girl Is Very Rarely Seen.

(Special Correspondence.)

Cairo, Egypt (Special).—The natives are coming out in their summer clothes. The suits of smallish children are quite often coffee-colored and skin-fitting. These are thought to unite the merits of convenience and economy. More beautiful weather could not be imagined. The sun always shines, there is always a little breeze astir, and a drive or a bicycle spin to the Gulzeh gardens or to the pyramids of Heliopolis is always charming. In the evening there may be a garden party, with a snake-charmer or a conjurer to give the necessary touch of "local color" to the entertainment. At a recent function of this sort hundreds of colored lanterns of fantastic shapes furnished the illumination. The scene of the fete was a rose garden shaded by lebbek trees, olives, feathery bamboos and palms. The dusky Arab, for whose tricks the dubious light was favorable, did none of the wonderful things attributed to eastern fakirs, but his rabbits and chickens, his little wooden "debbie man" and the rest of his "business," made his sleight of hand amusing enough to people already well entertained.

Gown of Sun Plaitings.

A young English girl, who had drawn her garden chair under a pink lantern was easiest to please, a state of mind not unconnected, probably with a new gown, made with the "sun plaitings" that promise to be so plenty this spring. Sun plaitings are nothing more than fine accordion plaitings, but they are very pretty under a pink lantern when laid in cobwebby white veiling about the figure of a pretty girl.

The white skirt they composed looked narrow, almost scant, although it was really very full. The bodice of the dress was a blouse of the same veiling laid in the same folds, but woven with interstices for the running in of rows of yellow ribbon. The sleeves had triangular caps of white silk edged with yellow, the draped belt white chiffon, with a thick garland of roses starting on the left shoulder, and then coming down over the front to the waist. This dress was low cut, and was sleeveless, except for half handkerchiefs of lace falling from the wreaths of roses. The prettiest evening wraps I have seen have been long fichus of chiffon or mousseline, trimmed with lace ruffles, and arranged not to cross in front, but to be caught under the sash and fall over the skirt draperies. ELLEN OSBORN.

THE NEW SPRING WRAPS.

Accordion Plaiting Is to Figure Largely in the Make-Up of the Capes.

The new spring wraps are not displayed in all their manifold varieties as yet, but there are enough in sight to establish the fact that accordion plaiting is to figure largely in their make-up. The most dressy little capes, or pelerines, which is a more suitable name, since they shape in at the waist, are a succession of accordion-plaited frills of chiffon, edged possibly with a row of black satin or velvet baby ribbon. These form the entire portion over the arms, and the main part of the garment is of accordion-plaited green and black changeable silk, or of velvet or moire silk. There are all sorts and shapes in this little wrap, so that every figure can be suited, and it would seem from one glance at the new models that any sort of material and any combination of materials, is quite permissible here. One rather unique arrangement is a wrap of ecru linen in rather a coarse open and heavy quality, checked all over with jet embroidery and lined with black taffeta, and the sleeve portion is of black lace and pinked taffeta silk frills of petunia and black.

THE NEW SPRING WRAPS.

The length of spring wraps can be anything you desire, between the point of the shoulder and the waist line. Black and white lace combined form some of the dressiest capes, and there is usually a mixture of jet, and sometimes a touch of color. Two novel garments shown in the illustration are a combination of bolero and cape, and velvet moire, chiffon and jet are the materials employed. The jacket is a theatre wrap in brocaded gray silk with cuffs and an odd collar of black with an edging of silver cord and rhinestone embroidery.

Spring jackets are as varied as the wraps and come in three different lengths, with both high and low collars, so it is impossible to decide yet which will be the leading style. They are made of ladies' cloth, serge and melton, in both dark and light shades, and the pale tint of yellow, ecru, lined with some delicate shade of satin is considered very elegant. The Russian style of coat has a place on the list, and the French jackets display quite a little decoration besides buttons and stitching.

THE NEW SHIRT WAIST.

More Elaborate Than Ever—New and Pretty Material.

The filmy summer shirt waists are now receiving their perennial welcome. And it is a more enthusiastic welcome than ever before. The shirt waists to be worn by the summer girls of '95 are well deserving all the admiration they are receiving. They are better looking than in other years, and are made with more care. The materials used are more effective. Many odd little touches in the way of frills and groupings of tucks are introduced, and incidentally they are more expensive. The new shirt waists show the only large sleeves of the season.

Those which are demanding the high est prices are made of transparent fabrics. They are so sheer that the color beneath them shows through effectively. Linen is much in favor for these transparent shirt waists. It is always in the soft fawn color, but

Merit

Made and Merit Maintains the confidence of the people in Hood's Sarsaparilla. If a medicine cures you when sick; if it makes wonderful cures everywhere, then beyond all question that medicine possesses merit.

Made

That is just the truth about Hood's Sarsaparilla. We know it possesses merit because it cures, not once or twice or a hundred times, but in thousands and thousands of cases. We know it cures, absolutely, permanently, when all others fail to do any good whatever. We repeat

Hood's Sarsaparilla

Is the best—in fact the One True Blood Purifier.

Hood's Pills cure nausea, indigestion, biliousness. 25 cents.

WHERE HE FAILED.

He's a man of vast achievements
In a dozen various fields;
There is grandeur, there is pathos
In the facile pen he wields;

He has written noble poems
And has produced successful plays,
And his fin de siecle novel
Has commanded public praise.

He has won respect in science,
Having made a chart of Mars;
He invented a contrivance
Once for ventilating cars;

By his own unaided efforts
He has earned a pile of pelf,
But he scored a dismal failure
When he tried to shave himself.

JUST "TELL THEM I'M DEAD."

And Jenkins Trounced the Office Boy for Doing So.

"Did you hear about Jenkins and his office boy?" asked De Smith of a friend as they were going to lunch the other day.

"No, I didn't hear," replied the friend. "What about 'em?"

"Oh, Jenkins just kicked him all over the office and has been in mortal fear ever since that the boy would carry out a threat to have him arrested," explained De Smith.

"Why, what was he kicking his office boy for?" asked the friend.

"Well, the boy was one of the stupid kind, you see, and he had no sense of humor," went on De Smith. "On the day Jenkins did the kicking he had been particularly busy and had been a good deal bothered by people who came in to ask questions of him and wanted to stop and talk. Jenkins was trying to get his correspondence cleared up, and it made him kind of hot to be interrupted so many times. He stood it a long while and then gathered up his paper and sneaked away with a stenographer into a back room."

"'I'm going to get out of here, Johnnie,' he said to the office boy when the place was finally clear of callers. If any more people come, I don't want to see them.'"

"'What shall I tell 'em?' asked Johnnie.

"'Oh, tell them anything,' said Jenkins, impatiently. 'Tell them I'm dead,' he shouted, as he slammed the door.

"Well, Johnnie took him at his word," continued De Smith. "He wasn't a brilliant office boy at all. He was new in the office, and he thought Jenkins meant just what he said. Jenkins hadn't been out of the room three minutes, when in walked a lady whom Johnnie had never seen before, and asked if Mr. Jenkins was in.

"'Nope, he ain't here any more,' answered Johnnie.

"'Isn't here any more,' repeated the lady with surprise. 'Why, where is he?'

"'He's dead,' answered Johnnie carelessly.

"'Dead!' shrieked the lady piteously.

"'Yes ma'm, dead,' repeated Johnnie coolly. 'Died this morning.'

"'Oh, mercy,' sobbed the woman, as she grabbed the back of a chair, and Jenkins, who was coming back to the room to get a communication he had forgotten when he went out first, got

WHITE SILESIAN AND VILMORIN IMPROVED.

The White Silesian is the original superior sugar beet from which have been obtained all the best varieties. This variety, greatly improved by selection and "breeding up," is still much the most largely used in Europe. The Vilmorin is one of the best, if not the best, grown. It is the result of many years of selection and breeding. The usual size used for sugar making is only 1 and 2 lbs. in weight.

neither too hot or dry, nor too cold or damp. Second, the right kind of soil. Only a part of the soils in the right climatic belt will grow good sugar beets. Third, when manures are required, the proper manures, or special fertilizers for individual soils. Fourth, highly improved varieties of "bred up" beets. Fifth, thorough and right preparation of the soil in advance. Sixth, sowing at proper distances, not too far apart to allow of large "woody" roots or too close to prevent moderate development. Seventh, absolute clean cultivation. Weeds both rob the soil of elements needed by the beets, and of the sunlight indispensable to sugar development.

Tomato Culture in Europe.

Notwithstanding the fact that tomato sauce has been known and appreciated for many years as one of the great delicacies of an Englishman's table—as the readers of the writings of Dickens may well remember, in the case where mutton sauce and tomato sauce played such an important part in a breach of promise case—it is only during the last few years that this fruit has come into general use something akin to its popularity in America. It is said that large glass houses are erected expressly for their cultivation. The plants are grown in large pots, and are said to be raised very successfully in this way, the plants producing much more abundantly than when grown in benches, as with us. They are, however, abundantly supplied with manure.

Deformed Fingers in Criminals.

According to La Medicine Modern Dr. P. Penta has studied the fingers and toes of 4500 criminals, and finds a deficiency in the size or number of toes very frequent among them, although very rare among ordinary men. He also observed that prehensile toes, marked by a wide space betwen the [illegible] toe and the second toe is a congr[illegible] quite common among criminals, ditio[illegible] webbed condition of the toes, also a [illegible]ximation to the toeless feet an appr[illegible]vages. The little toes are of some s[illegible]tary in many cases, showalso rudimen[illegible] toward the four-toed ing a tendenc[illegible] the most common of animal foot; but the most common of all the abnorma[illegible]ties was the webbed condition of the toes.

Football in Great Britain.

Fo[illegible]otball is immensely popular in Great Britain, and every half holiday the game attra[illegible]s the attention of all classes of people. An international game in Glasgow, [illegible]een teams representing Scotland a[illegible]d England, attracted a crowd of 57,[illegible]0 people, the gate receipts amounting [illegible]ar London $15,000. At another game n[illegible] it is a there were 55,806 spectators. [illegible] York weekly occurrence in the large[illegible] Cor & shire and Lancashire towns [illegible]0 crowd of 20,000 to 30,000 people [illegible] watch a game, the prices of admissi[illegible] ranging from five cents to 50 cents. In some towns the stores are closed during the progress of the game.

A Vegetable Meat.

In Japan they have what may be called vegetable meat. The substance is called in the vernacular "torfu." It consists mainly of protein matter of the soya bean, and is claimed to be easily digestible and as nutritious as meat. Torfu is as white as snow, and is sold in tablets; it tastes somewhat like fresh malt.—Good Housekeeping.

Learning to Say "No."

"Learn to say no," said the teacher, "and when you grow up you will be—"

"I know," interrupted an urchin.

"Well, Johnny, tell them what they will grow up to be."

"Prohibitionists," was the bland re-models, a small, almost turban-shaped straw, with a bunch of jonquils and narcissus in front and a white bird behind.

Another pretty costume, equally springlike and illustrating some of the same principles, was worn by an American woman who has just returned from a trip up the Nile. Her skirt, of pale, delicate-hued green silk, was gathered on about the hips with a tiny heading of green ribbon. It was laid in knife plaitings to the hem, with four other circles of ribbon ruching to hold the plaits in position. The waist was a blouse of white silk with a green velvet zouave and a broad folded belt of yellow silk, into which was thrust a bunch of roses. A large green straw hat, also a new model, was worn low in front and on one side, turned up on the other. Its trimmings were lace and roses.

A GROUP OF SPRING GOWNS.

One of the Prettiest.

When the cobra and the crocodile had done their last glide and crawled about the circle and the music was striking up again there appeared in the background the prettiest frock of the evening. It was a light silver-gray silk, made with a plain skirt and a blouse that opened under a wide frill of lace on the left side. Up and down the line of the opening and heading the lace ran arabesques in gold lace and embroidery. The upper part of the blouse was tucked perpendicularly, and the tuckings ran out into the gold embroidered epaulets that headed the sleeves. There was a good-colored silk belt, and yellow roses trimmed the small capote that crowned the blonde hair.

Tailor dresses are not common in this part of the world, where there is no dampness to interfere with the freest indulgence in furbelows, but I noticed a good one this morning worn by a lady who was buying flowers of a native woman crouched by the roadside in blue cotton gown and the inevitable black yashmak of the Egyptians. The color of the cloth I have no name for. It was a light fawn tint, with a dash of old rose. The full skirt was embroidered for some distance above the hem with gold thread and black braid. The close-fitting bodice scarcely showed through the opening of the white cloth waistcoat edged with gold thread and fitting about as tight as the tailor bodice, upon which each front made a pretense of buttoning down. A bolero of brown chine silk figured with old rose outside of the waistcoat and turned back in a flat collar and revers with brown silk facings. The belt was of brown silk and the hat of brown straw, trimmed with roses and leaves.

Dress for the Bicyclette.

There are few better places than Cairo in which to study dress for the "bicyclette," as it is necessary to say on this side of the Atlantic. The bloomer does not obtain, but white flannel or serge suits with scarlet sashes are rather more startling. They are practical enough, too, when the roads are not too dusty. A better model to copy is the dress of a Russian girl who holds the women's record [illegible] Cairo to the pyramids. She wears [illegible] divided skirt of light-brown serge, a [illegible] blouse of the same material, with [illegible] back in a sailor collar over a turned [illegible]riet silk to show a deep point- tie of sc[illegible] white serge. She has a ed vest o[illegible] and a standing collar of white belt [illegible] Her hat is a cross between a turban and a sailor; it is of brown straw and trimmed with roses.

The grand stand at the khedivial races is a fine show place for such summery frocks as this one: Skirt of dark-blue chine silk figured with pink. In front comes a panel of white net with half a dozen ruffles of white lace hung across it. The silk bodice has a bolero of falling lace handkerchiefs with other handkerchiefs making epaulets above the sleeves. The big white hat covered with flowers is shaded with a huge white lace parasol.

For a young girl was a dress of Others are exquisitely embroidered with flowers. It makes a shirt waist of great beauty made up over geranium pink silk or any brilliant color.

A new material which bears the French name of neigeuse is to be much used for shirt waists this season. It comes in a number of pale shades and is carelessly flecked with white.

THE SHIRT WAIST GIRL.

The Swisses are prettier than ever and are showered with spring and summer blossoms. These flower-stamped Swisses can be bought for about 35 cents a yard.

Serpentine mull is a good new material for shirt waists. It is cool and sheer, yet strong enough to endure much hard wear. Foulard lawn is much cheaper, selling for 15 cents a yard, but it is a good material for shirt waists.

The shirt waists show two decidedly new collars. The petal collar is extremely pretty. It is of linen cut in the shape of petals. The petals fall away from the neck. They are white, lined with a colored linen, which generally corresponds with the prevailing tint of a shirt waist.

The backs of the new shirt waists are a trifle different than those of last season. The newest is the box-plaited back. This is made with a double box-plait in the middle and single box-plaits on either side. Others have merely a deep yoke. An odd design seen in many of the latest shirt waists is to have the yoke continue over the shoulders, so that it is seen from the front.

PYNY-PECTORAL

Positively Cures
COUGHS and COLDS

In a surprisingly short time. It's a scientific certainty, tried and true, soothing and healing in its effects,

W. C. McCOMBER & SON,
Bouchette, Que.,

report in a letter that Pyny-Pectoral cured Mrs. C. Garceau of chronic cold in chest and bronchial tubes, and also cured W. G. McComber of a long-standing cold.

MR. J. H. HUTTY, Chemist,
528 Yonge St., Toronto, writes:
"As a general cough and lung syrup Pyny-Pectoral is a most invaluable preparation. It has given the utmost satisfaction to all who have tried it, many having spoken to me of the benefits derived from its use in their families. It is suitable for old or young, being pleasant to the taste. Its sale with me has been wonderful, and I can always recommend it as a safe and reliable cough medicine."

Large Bottle, 25 Cts.

DAVIS & LAWRENCE CO., Ltd.
Sole Proprietors
MONTREAL

Every Woman

No. 1

MILES' CANADIAN VEGETABLE COMPOUND

Should Enjoy Life.

How many do?

Many are miserable, weak and sickly, and suffer untold miseries through ailments peculiar to their sex.

IT IS WRONG. The cause of most all these ills is easily reached, and effectively removed by the great woman's medicines,

MILES' (Can.) VEGETABLE COMPOUND
and Miles' Sanative Wash.

Prices 75c. and 25c. They impart vitality and energy, and make the life of the "Mother Sex" worth living. For sale by all Druggists. Explanatory pamphlet, "Woman's Triumph," sent free on application.

"A. M. C." MEDICINE CO.,
578 St. Paul St., Montreal

[illegible] immediately [illegible]ed her to consciousness, and, then Jenkins started in on the kicking game which he fears will land him in court. He has paid the boy's mother $50, but the kid says Jenkins will have to pay him $50, too, or go to jail. He 'ain't goin' to be kicked for doin' what he was told,' he says."

Not so Bad as It Sounds.

"Let me take you down to supper."

"Can't. Promised him."

"Oh, all right; then go to the devil!"—London Sketch.

A Toronto Episode.

They had been discussing that everlasting servant problem, which can always be depended upon to furnish a topic for conversation when three or four women are gathered together. Each had told of her experience with her "help," when one of them said:

"My new housemaid is the greenest girl you ever saw in your life. Her ignorance is a perpetual source of wonder to me. The day after I got her I went out shopping and told her if anyone called during my absence to tell them I was out and ask their names. These seemed very simple instructions, but I thought she would need them.

"When I returned I asked her if anyone had called."

"'Yes, mum, they did,' she replied.

"'Who were they?'

"'They wouldn't tell their names,' she answered.

"'Wouldn't tell their names,' I exclaimed in surprise.

"'Yes, mum; but I think one of them said "bananas," and the other "rags."'

"I demanded further particulars.

"'I tried to tell them you was out and ask their names. You hadn't been gone very long when one of them came. It was the man who called bananas. I remembered what you said, mum, and I went after him and told him you was out. He asked me if I wanted any bananas and I told him no, that you was out and asked what was his name. But he wouldn't tell me. It was the same with the other person who called. He called rags and only laughed at me when I ran after him.'"

Unexpected.

The popular young druggist joyfully wended his way home and, bounding into the house, clasped his young and beautiful bride tenderly to his breast. "Madeline," he cried, as he smoothed away the waving tresses from her fair forehead, "I have glad news. You can have that new ball dress that you wanted."

With a glad little cry of joy she buried her face in his shoulder. Then, gazing wistfully up into his happy face, she said: "How good you are to me, dear! Tell me how it has happened. When you went away this morning you were downcast."

"I know I was, dearest," he replied, "but this afternoon I got an order for an extra prescription."—Philadelphia Press.

An Ancient Precedent.

Gazzam—I'm going to have my neighbor's chickens arrested. The roosters waken me every morning at 3 or 4 o'clock and spoil my rest.

Maddox—There is no law which authorizes the arrest of chickens.

Gazzam—Well, there's a law which forbids the use of fowl language.—Detroit Free Press.

Consolation

Solo—I shall certainly sue this paper for libel. It calls me a liar, a beat, and a horse thief.

Bolus—You are sure to recover. You know that great principle in law, the greater the truth, the greater the libel.

Easter Furnishings For Men.

Every young man will be looking around for something new and nice for Easter.

Just Save Time

By dropping in here where you will find the nobbiest and best Furnishings in town.

—Also—

If you need a New Hat remember we keep the leading styles.

—o—

J. L. Boyes.

Men's Furnisher.

N. B. For Bicycle Suits, Hose and Sweaters, see us.

COAL!

The Celebrated

SCRANTON COAL

That has no Equal.

I wish to announce to the public that I have put in a thoroughly assorted stock of this celebrated Coal, and am prepared to supply my customers on as good terms as any other dealers.

I am the sole agent in Napanee for this celebrated Coal and it can not be had from any other dealers. Your Patronage Solicited.

C. E. BARTLETT.

CARLETON WOODS.
ISSUER OF MARRIAGE LICENSES,
1y Roblin, Ont.

JOHN POLLARD,
ISSUER OF MARRIAGE LICENSES.
Express Office, Napanee.
Strictly Private and Confidential.

R. J. WRIGHT,
ISSUER OF MARRIAGE LICENSES.
At Residence, Bridge Street, Napanee, Opposite West Ward School.
Entirely Private.

The Napanee Express

NAPANEE, FRIDAY, APRIL 16, 897.

All local reading notices or notices announcing entertainments at which a fee is charged for admission, will be charged 5c per line for each insertion, if in ordinary type. In black type the price will be 10c per line each insertion.

Wallpaper.

A schoolboy's rubber will take many a spot out of kid gloves.

Washable wallpaper at Pollard's bookstore 7c. and 10c. per roll. Try it.

Mrs. Bristol intends giving a ball to the members of her dancing class and their friends on the 25th inst.

Cheap agate fry pans. No. 9 agate fry

Napanee Charitable Organization.

The meeting as previously announced to be held in the town hall is postponed until Thursday evening, April 22nd, at 7.30. tf

The Wheel for the People.

The Massey-Harris Bicycle, only one grade and that the highest. Only one price and that to everybody. W. J. Normile, sole agent for the county, Miller block, sign of the Golden Wheel.

Napanee Wood Yard

Corner Mill and Robinson street, hard, soft, cut, or in cordwood, Trenton dry edgings and blocks. Reasonable rates. A call solicited. Wood delivered free to all parts of the town. S. J. HOWARD. tf

Always Fashionable.

Finger rings are always fashionable. We have an immense assortment of the newest styles. Our rings are on exhibition and we invite inspection.

19a F. W. SMITH & BRO.

Notice.

If the person who wrote me a letter dated Camden, April 6th, 1897, will give me his or her name, the matter will be looked into. I cannot give attention to unsigned letters.

J. M. SMITH, License Inspector.

Tamworth, 10th April, 1897.

Important.

Mr. C. H. Finkle wishes to thank the people along his stage routes for their patronage in the past and to advise them that the fare from Napanee and Kingston and return in future will be 75c., and from Newburgh to Kingston and return 75c. Tickets good for six days.

Dated at Newburgh, April 12th, '97.

19b

Sporting Notes.

The printers base ball team met at THE EXPRESS office on Friday evening and organized for the season, with the following officers. Hon. pres., Jno. Pollard; Vice-President, Wm. Templeton; 1st Vice President, Chas. Stevens, Sr.; 2nd Vice-President, Alex Karr; Capt., M. B. McDonald; Sec. Treas., S. T. McCoy; Custodian, C. Sheffel; Executive Committee, Jas. Caniff, F. Vanalstine and F. Stevens.

Wanted.

CANVASSERS—"Queen Victoria: Her Life and Reign," has captured the British Empire. Extraordinary testimonials from the great men; send for copy free. Marquis of Lorne says, "The best popular Life of the Queen I have seen." Her Majesty sends a kind letter of appreciation. Selling by thousands; gives enthusiastic satisfaction. Canvassers making $15 to $40 weekly. Prospectus free to agents. THE BRADLEY-GARRETSON CO., LTD, Toronto, Ont.

The Good Roads Movement.

Provincial road commissioner, Mr. A. W. Campbell, will visit Napanee on May 11th. During the day he will make himself acquainted with the condition of our streets, county roads and sidewalks, and look over the material available for construction. In the evening he will address a public meeting in the town hall. We have no doubt the meeting will result in much good. Coming just before road-making time pathmasters and road engineers, as well as members of township councils will soon have a chance to make a practical application of anything they learn about roads.

Notice to Farmers

The best MANITOBA RED FIFE seed wheat. The best WHITE ENSILAGE Seed corn that can be procured is for sale at the Big Mill at a small margin over cost. Try my flour "DAFOE'S BEST" and "NONESUCH." Prices and quality considered they can not be surpassed. The bread made from them has a rich golden color, sweet favor and retains moisture longer than any flour in the market. For pastry try "SEEK-NO-FURTHER." Ask your grocer for it and take no other, it suits them all.

15-1-y J. R. DAFOE.

Be On Your Guard.

On Tuesday morning Mr. James Richardson, while working at the G. T. R. station, made a peculiar find. It consisted of two masks, three gags, three short pieces of rope with slip knots in them, a short piece of rope, a black hard hat and a soft hat. This is evidently the outfit of a gang of professional burglars who contemplated paying their respects to the citizens

Wanted.

A good general servant. Apply to Mrs. JARVIS, The Rectory, Napanee.

Selling Out.

Attend R. A. Shorey's cheap sale of groceries and lay in your summer supply.

Dry Mill Wood.

Over 1000 cords. $1.60 per cord.

THE RATHBUN CO.,
Napanee.

Wanted.

I can employ five men and three ladies to work at and around home. A good thing, with good salary for pushers.

T. H. LINSCOTT,
Toronto, Ont.

The Western Church,

The Easter service in the Western church will be conducted by Rev. E. Roberts, chairman of Belleville district, who will preach at both services. Special Easter music by the choir will be given. An Easter offering is asked for. Rev. D. Crossley goes to Belleville for Sunday.

Go To Lawson's

For prime Easter beef, fed by our townsman W. Miller, unequalled by western markets, also choice veal, pork, mutton, spring lamb and poultry, (rose brand) smoked hams, breakfast bacon and lard, salt and pickled meats and our renowned home-made sausage, prices right. Call and be convinced.

The Best Times at Smith's.

See our new watches, the immense spring assortment has just arrived and doubled our former stock. We always have and always will control the watch trade for these counties. If times are hard the demand for good watches was never greater and our stock comprises the finest timepieces the world can produce. We defy competition. Our watches are purceased for spot cash and will be sold cheaper than the cheapest. Smith's Jewelry Store. 19a

A Full House Assured.

The sale of tickets for the performance of "Ten Nights in a Bar Room" by the R. T. of T. has progressed so favorably that a crowded house on Monday evening is an assured fact. Much interest is being taken in the affair by all the religious bodies, as well as by those connected with the temperance cause, and the cast of characters for this grand old drama is such as to insure a first-class performance. The plan is now open at Perry's drug store, where ticket holders may reserve their seats without extra charge.

Death of Edwin W. Perry.

On Monday last Mr. Edwin W. Perry, of Violet, crossed the Great Divide after a short illness of pneumonia. Deceased was a man of good parts and much esteemed by his large circle of friends and acquaintances, and his untimely death, at the age of forty-two years, is deeply regretted. He leaves a wife and two children to mourn the loss of a good husband and loving father. Deceased was a brother of Mr. J. Rudd Perry and Mrs. W. A. Rockwell, of Napanee. The funeral took place at Violet on Tuesday and was largely attended. The bereaved family and relatives will have the sympathy of all in their severe affliction.

He Can and He Will.

Make defective eyes perfect and relieve those distreaing headaches and pains in the eyes, having made a special study of the eye he thoroughly understands its wonderful mechanism. Every one should know that wrong glasses will ruin the sight and the right ones will strengthen it. H. E. Smith prescribes the right glasses. If you have an idea your eyes are not just right call at Smith's Jewelry Store and have them examined, the longer they are deprived of the aid required, the weaker they become. Thousands of people are wearing his spectacles with the greatest satisfaction. Eyes examined free.

Easter Display of Western Beef.

J. F. Smith is handling the very choicest Western Beef brought from Guelph. We have also the very finest lamb, veal, pork and Fearman's sugar cured hams, and selected English breakfast bacon. Be sure and call and see our Easter diaplay. We have made special preparation. These goods can be had at the Central Meat Market, two doors south of Post Office, J. W. Anderson, manager, or at the Grocery Store.

We have also the very finest line of

To Let.

A fine brick residence on Dundas Street, also a frame house on Dundas Street. Apply to, J. S. HULBERT, Photographer.

Miners Glasses.

Smith's have a full assortment of the finest lenses obtainable for testing minerals. Everyone is more or less interested in the mineral wealth of our country. These glasses are for pocket use and are cheap. 19a

Farmers, Gardners and Fruit Growers.

My car of fertilizers has arrived. Every one should try enough to convince themselves that it pays to fertilize. Those who have ordered will please call and get goods soon as possible. I have the best Timothy Seed in the market. The price is cheap considering the quality. See it before buying unsound and inferior seed.

17 F. E. VANLUVEN.

To be again Presented.

The Delsarte Pictures, which Miss Adele Carleton Todd so successful presented at the Church of England entertainment, will again prove a potent factor in drawing a full house next Monday evening at the opera house. They alone are well worth the price of admission, and those who have not seen them should not neglect this opportunity.

The Massey-Harris Bicycle.

When selecting your '97 mount see the Silver Ribbon wheel, made by the world famous company, the Massey-Harris. Strictly high grade and at the peoples popular prices. Positively the best equipped wheel in the world. EVERY WHEEL GUARANTEED. Sale rooms, in the Miller Block, Boyle & Son's old stand. W. J. Normile, sole agent for the county. Remember the place, Miller's block—Sign of the Golden Wheel.

Along the Docks.

The Lone Star arrived on Tuesday from Trenton with a load of lumber for Embury & Jackson.

The steamer Reindeer made her first trip on Monday, April 12th.

The Gull brought in a load of lumber for the Rathbun Co. on Wednesday.

Fred Mair's steam yacht is being extensively repaired and remodeled.

The Jessie Forward is being put in shape for the season's work.

Parisian Steam Laundry

Agency at E. Vanalstine's Barber Shop, John st. Laundry will be called for and delivered to any part of the town at usual prices, strictly C. O. D. This is one of the largest and best equipped Steam Laundries in Canada. Laundry shipped once a week, on Wednesday, 3:20 p.m. and delivered Saturday morning. No chemicals used in the Laundry. All work guaranteed first-class. Lists on application. tf.

More Sons' Organizations.

Since our last report Messrs. Bushell and Seymour have completed the organization of the following Divisions of the Sons of Temperance. That makes ten new Divisions with nearly 400 charter members reported by them within two weeks. We understand more are to come. AT ENTERPRISE—On the 7th inst., with 35 charter members. AT MARLBANK—On the 8th inst. with 40 charter members. AT ROBLIN—On the 9th inst., with 21 charter members.

Ran Into a Train.

Mr. Wm. Sexsmith, of Richmond, had an experience on Wednesday morning which he will remember for many a long day. Mr. Sexsmith hauls milk to the Rathbun Creamery, a short distance from Deseronto. While going down the hill on the boundary road, near the railway crossing, with a heavy load of milk on Wednesday morning the wagon tongue broke, the heavy rig came forward on the horses and they started to run away. About the time the accident occurred the mixed train was nearing the crossing and Mr. Sexsmith stuck to his seat in the vain hope of swerving the horses into the ditch and averting a collision. The animals were goaded into madness by the pain inflicted by the whiffletrees which struck them at almost every move, and all attempts to hold them in check or turn them from their course proving unavailing, Mr. Sexsmith, when about twenty feet from the railway track, leaped with great difficulty from the platform of the wagon and escaped certain and instant death. The blinded and infuriated team dashed madly forward and collided with the third car of the train with terrific force. The side of the car was staved in, pans for 30c, just think of it. Cheaper than iron, at Boyle & Son's.

The locomotives on the Bay of Quinte Ry. were all draped in black last week out respect to the late H. B. Rathbun.

Picton is considering the propriety of enlarging its electric light plant and making an addition to the Quinte opera house.

It makes red blood. Rosy, healthy people move the world. Madden Cereal is neither tea nor coffee but a food drink.

A team of horses belonging to Mr. Jno. McAvoy, of Napanee Mills, ran away from the Queen's Hotel on Saturday evening. No great damage was done.

and Borders

A young lady in town while in a disconsolate mood took a dose of laudanum with the object of ending her life. Fortunately she took an over dose and the object aimed at was not attained.

We are in receipt from the Rev. Rockwell Clancy, of Allahabad, India, of a photo of the M. E. Mission, showing a group of native children rescued from starvation by the Mission.

A seventy-seven-year-old citizen of Tweed claims to have had assurance from above that he is yet to be spared for 20 years. This will hardly induce insurance companies to look upon him as a good risk.

Dr. Jameson, the leader of the Transvaal raid, says the undertaking was a great mistake, for the simple reason that it failed. That appears to be the essence of British public opinion on the whole enterprise.

Hog business on the B. of Q. Ry. is picking up. Last week a car load of porkers was shipped from Tamworth to Montreal by Bicknell Bros., of Camden East, aud a car load was also shipped from Marlbank.

in great variety at

Boyle bottom milk can, best milk can in the world, not copied or stolen from any other, but original; made from best material that money can buy and by men who know how to make good cans. Sold only by Boyle & Son.

William James the five-year-old son of Mr. Jno Johnston, Water Street, passed away on Tuesday afternoon after a few days illness with appendicitis. The funeral took place on Thursday to the Western cemetery and was largely attended.

Members of the Select Knights of Canada who took out ten year endowment policies when the scheme was first introduced eight years ago, have been notified that the expectations have not been realized, and that the money paid in will be returned to the holders of such policies with interest

Pollard's Bookstore

Why patronize strangers when you have just as good an optician who is always at home to guaranteee satisfaction, while these men are here only two or three times a year. More than this you will be leaving your money at home. Consultation and testing free. A. F. Chinneck, graduate optician, F. Chinneck's Jewelry Store.

At a recent case in a neighboring county it was shown that a servant is liable for any damage he may do to his employer's animals, implements, &c., providing it is done wilfully and the value of them can be deducted from his wages. On the other hand if the damage is done as the result of an accident the servant cannot be held.

and the prices

According to the report for the past year the Independent Order of Oddfellows is steadily increasing in Canada. The total invested funds of lodges in the provinces on Dec. 31 last was $812,660, or $50.84 per member. There were 272 lodges, having a membership of 22,666, an increase of 483 during the year. The sick benefits amounted to $40,999,66, with charity and widows' relief make in all $82,430,85 paid in relief and charity.

Mrs. Geo. Marshall, nee Addie Shortts, died at Clayton last week after a short illness. Before her death she vomited up a substance known as fungus of the stomach, five inches in length, and one inch thick which bore a decided resemblance to a lizard. Deceased was born in Deseronto on June 23rd, 1880, and was married to Geo. C. Marshall on Nov. 16th, 1896. She was a daughter of the late Rev. Mr. Shortts and well-known in Napanee.

are Right

of Napanee. Mr. Richardson brought his find to the notice of the Chief-of-police but that enterprising and efficient officer refused to receive the articles enumerated above and has no time to devote to the investigation of such matters. M. E. H. Sills, High County Constable, who has taken the matter in hand, warns the public to be on their guard against a gang of disreputable tramps who are in this neighborhood at present. They are a bad lot and too much precaution cannot be taken to frustrate the designs they evidently entertain for the unlawful appropriation of other peoples' property.

Reason it Out.

Toronto Saturday Night relates the following incident: In a certain town that I could name a merchant tailor one day entered a book store and priced a certain book, "Two-fifty!" he exclaimed." "You just wait until I show you something." He crossed to his shop and came back with the same book, which he had secured on a bargain day at a Toronto departmental store for $2. Two weeks later the stationer entered the tailor shop to get a suit of clothes. He asked the price and secured a sample of cloth. A week later he entered the tailor shop in a new suit of clothes which he had secured in a Toronto departmental store and invited the tailor to become enthusiastic over the "bargain" he had secured. It requires only a very little reasoning power to argue out the results of such methods in any town in Ontario. But there are many who want to buy away from home and expect to retain the custom of their neighbors. They should be pulled up with a sharp jerk.

Wheels on The Walk.

Away back in July, 1895, the town council passed a by-law prohibiting the riding of bicycles on the sidewalk. Like a great many by-laws it has been more honored in the breach than the observance, but at the last regular meeting the council decided to rigidly enforce the by-law and the Chief was instructed to that effect. Complaints were laid against Mayor Ward, J. J. Perry, Wm. Waller and Jas. Wilson that on the 6th of April they did unlawfully and in direct contravention to the by-law made and provided ride their bicycles on the sidewalk. The cases were heard before his worship, Jas. Daly, at the town hall on Monday and quite a crowd congregated to witness the proceedings. Jas. Wilson, who was represented by U. M. Wilson, pleaded not guilty to the charge and after the evidence was submitted the action against him was dismissed. J. J. Perry, while acknowledging that he was in the habit of riding his bicycle on the sidewalk was positive he had not done so on the 6th inst. It was established, however, that Mr. Perry had pushed his wheel on the sidewalk and as the by-law states that anyone riding, pushing or propelling a bicycle on the sidewalk is guilty of an infraction of the law the case against him was allowed to stand. Mayor Ward pleaded guilty to the heinous offence of riding his bicycle from Smith's corner to his residence on East street, a distance of fifty feet at the least calculation. Wm. Waller pleaded guilty to the charge preferred against him and the magistrate reserved decision on all three cases until next Monday.

When You Buy a

MASSEY - HARRIS

Silver Ribbon.

Every dollar of the $85.00 is for Bicycle only. No duty or Custom House fees included in this amount.

Massey-Harris bearings and equipment are of the very best, and manufactured throughout in our own factory.

BEAR IN MIND that we have one of the most complete repair shops in Canada in connection with our Napanee Branch, where in addition to general repair work we carry a full stock of Massey-Harris parts.

W. J. NORMILE,

Manager Napanee Branch.

Miller Block, Dundas street. Sign of the Golden wheel.

gorceries, as cheap as the cheapest. Call and see our stock of fruit and note the prices. We guarantee our 25c. Tea to beat all others.

18b J. F. SMITH,
East End Grocery and Meat Market.

A Good Description.

We clip the following from the Children's Corner in the Toronto Saturday Globe:

AT A CARNIVAL.

Dear Pharos;

There was a children's carnival yesterday here and mama took my sister helen and me down to it there were a lot of little boys and girls there they were skating. I didn't know them because they had pieces of cloth on their faces. It was like a face only it had eyes in it to see through. One was dressed like a flower girl. one was dressed like little bo-peep and one like little boy blue. one boy had a print dress on and a little old bonnet and his face was black. one boy had a crown on his head and was a king. two boys were soldiers one boy had a top hat on with white wool for hair. some of us were to little to skate but we had great fun. my dog dixie ran around on the ice too. he can sit up in the corner and say his prayers;

LENA HERRINGTON
Piety Hill
Napanee.

(Five years old next August, we are told —Ed.)

The Quinte Union.

The Quinte Association Foot Ball Union was formed at the Royal Hotel, Napanee, on Monday evening under bright and encouraging circumstances. The Union embraces all the association foot ball clubs in the district from Kingston to Trenton and its promoters confidently expect that it will engender an interest in foot ball that will render it one of the most popular games in this district. The representatives at the conference on Tuesday evening of the five clubs interested were:—Kingston, —E. C. Dean and H. C. Mortin; Napanee, —E Vanalstine, F. Grieve and M. B. McDonald; Deseronto,—Dr. Pulkinghorn, D. Edwards and P. Edwards; Picton,—J. S. Williams, G. M. Hemiston; Sydenham, —C. W. Clement.

The utmost harmony prevailed and if the same spirit is manifested throughout the season the success of the union is assured. A constitution, rules of the union and regulations governing the competition for the silver cup were framed and adopted. In this connection much praise is due E. C. Dean, the genial sporting editor of The Whig, and H. C. Martin, of Kingston, who at at a sacrifice of much time had framed a constitution, similiar to those of the Rugby union, for the guidance and convenience of the conference. This forethought on their part lessened the labors and expedited the business of the evening very much.

It was decided that the five teams would play home and home matches for the cup, the team winning the greatest number of matches to be awarded the cup for one year. The silver cup referred to is presented to the union by Mr. C. L. Bass, of Kingston, a gentleman who has done more perhaps than any other to advance the interest of amatuer sport in this district.

Officers were elected as follows:—Honorary-president E. Vanalstine, Napanee; Hon. Vice Pres.—Dr. Pulkinghorn, Deseronto; President, C. L. Bass, Kingston; Vice President, J. S. Williams, Picton; Sec-Treas, H. C. Martin, Kingston; Executive Committee, The President, Vice President, Sec-Treas. and G. M. Hermiston, Picton; C. W. Clement, Sydenham; D. Pulkinghorn, Deseronto; M. B. McDonald, Napanee.

The arranging of a schedule was left in the hands of the sub committee, viz: the president, vice-president and sec-treas., and will be announced next week. The first match will be played in the first week in May.

The Quinte union starts out auspiciously and has every prospect of a bright future—push it along.

The Children's Enemy. Scrofula often shows itself in early life and is characterized by swellings, abscesses, hip diseases Scott's Emulsion is unquestionably the most reliable medicine.

Remember C. L. Shannon will sell all kinds of field and garden seeds, all new, and lower than any reliable competitor, timothy from $1.80 per bushel up. Alfalfa, very low this year. All the latest varieties of garden seeds just in from the most reliable growers. Bradley's celebrated lawn fertilizer, guaranteed satisfactory. Canned goods 5c. per can, and all kinds of groceries as cheap as anyone can sell them. Your choice of "surprise," "best," "comfort," or "pure" soaps, six for 25c. Flour $2.40 per hundred. Car of Southern Sweet Ensilage corn just received. Seed wheat and vetches. Cash paid for raw furs. Baled hay for ed, and the milk and milk cans were scattered around in a hundred different directions. The horses were carried by the train about ten feet until their progress was stopped by coming in contact with a stone culvert. One of the horses was killed and it is feared the other is internally injured and cannot recover. They were both valuable animals and Mr. Sexsmith's loss will be a heavy one. On Wednesday the milk cans which figured in the accident were brought to M. S. Madole's for repair, and a very dilapidated looking lot of cans they were.

Benjamin Maybee, Odessa, was thrown from his rig last week and had his thumb broken and was otherwise injured.

The Reindeer brought in 200 bags of seed peas on Tuesday from the Picton seed company for distribution among the farmers of this district.

A post mortem examination was held on the remains of the late Jimmie Johnston, who died in great agony on Tuesday. A lemon seed, which was found secreted in the appendices, was the origin of the disease which led to his death.

Robert Metzler has caused a writ to be issued against L. L. Gallagher, of Wilton, claiming damages for breach of contract as to division of milk routes to respective factories. Herrington & Warner are acting for Mr. Metzler and W. G. Wilson for Mr. Gallagher.

Brooke's Chicago Marine Band appeared before a large and fashionable audience at the opera house here on Thursday afternoon. The Band fully sustained the high reputation which preceded it, all present being more than delighted with the excellent programme presented.

The People are convinced when they read the testimonials of cures by Hood's Sarsaparilla. They are written by honest men and women, and are plain straightforward statements of fact. The people have confidence in Hood's Sarsaparilla because they know it actually and permanently cures, even when other medicines fail.

Mrs. McLeod and Messrs. H. Vankoughnet, G. M. Elliott, Roger Richardson and others have received subpoenas to appear at the assizes here on May 10th, as witnesses in the McLeod murder trial. The evidence to be produced against Troy is said to be very complete and convincing.

The new tariff of commissions on money orders, payable in Canada, came into effect in the post offices on April 1st. The rates are as follows:—$2.50 and under, 3 cts; $2.50 to $5, 4c.; $5 to $10, 6c.; $10 to $20, 10c.; $20 to $30, 12c.; $30 to $40, 15c.; $40 to $50, 20c.; $50 to $60, 24c.; $60 to $70, 28c.; $70 to $80, 32c.; $80 to $90, 36c.; $90 to $100, 40c.

Wilkison And Henry Carter Hats.

We have secured for this season along with the agency of the Wilkison Hat the sole agency of the Henry Carter Hats, two of the best English Hats in the market.

Note the style, shades and finish of these Hats before you buy, and you will find them ahead of anything shown elsewhere.

D. J. Hogan & SON

Five Dollar Suits For Men!

The greatest array of $5 Suits ever got together in a town of this size. Not the usual $5 Suit though. Five dollars is about the size of ten dollars at present. So is the value of our Five Dollar Suits. The patterns are new; the best taste will find them all right; the qualities will surprise you pleasantly. Not the kind of surprise you get when "shopping by mail.

A Chance in Boys' Suits!

Some fifty odd suits that will fit boys between five and ten years. Odd sizes and prices; but all expensive goods. Some were $4, a few $5, the great bulk of them $3 to $3.60. We make them into three lots, at three special prices, for quick clearance—

$1.50, $2.00. $2.50.

If you have a boy to clothe don't miss these. The above prices average

Slightly over Half Value,

and the goods are the kind that everyone is glad to buy.

Another One!

Boys' 3-piece Tweed Suits, coat, vest, and short pants, sizes 28 to 32 breast measure, or to fit boys of from ten to fifteen years. These are fine patterns in Tweeds, good colors, and proper weights. They ranged from $3.75 to $5 a suit. They go on sale now at

Three Dollars a Suit,

just to show that we have no rivals for clothing values.

Tailoring Snaps!

Ten Dollars for Full Suits!

Six Dollars for Bicycle Suits!

Is our price for your choice of five patterns of Tweeds, which may be seen at our door or on our counters. It is simply the greatest money-saving chance you were ever offered in the tailoring line. The Tweeds are $1 goods. Figure it out for yourself. And no one fits so perfectly as our Mr. Cathro.

Gentlemen's Spring Hats.

The hats Dineen is showing, fifty cents lower than Dineen's price. Blacks, browns, and walnut colors. We have the absolutely correct touch in shapes. For the right hat, see us.

Our Two-for-a-Quarter Ties.

Are about the only ties sold in Napanee since they arrived. Your season's ties need only cost you half if you buy now. Fancy! eight elegant ties for a dollar. That's the way they sell.

Dress Goods at Little Prices.

Some beautiful new things in shot Dresden effects, 38 inch, rich silky finish, equal in appearance to $1 goods. There are seven new color effects to choose from, and the price is Twenty-five Cents a Yard!

36-inch Costume Tweeds, broken checks, the latest mixtures and combinations of greens, browns, fawns, &c. The highest-priced goods shown are no prettier nor more stylish than these. Our price again

Twenty-Five Cents a Yard

cannot be duplicated elsewhere.

Pattern Dresses and Trimmings

Are at their very perfection here. There is more beauty of fabric and color arrangement on our pattern dress counter than you'll see in a day's travel. This week brought some very new canvas weaves, in colors and blacks, and a very choice lot of black figured goods. Our range of patterns at $4, and up to $5 a dress, is very complete. And in trimmings everything that should be here is here, and at smaller prices than you'll expect to find.

Ladies' White Underwear.

Extra good values. No trashy goods; none of the imitation kind, but good sound values in

Gowns at 50c. and upwards.
Chemises at 25c. and upwards.
Drawers at 25c. and upwards.
Skirts at 65c. and upwards.

New Shirt Waists and Blouses.

They're here. The best-fitting goods made in this country. Also some that are not made in this country. Two lines of American Dresden cambric goods are especially pretty.

A Neat Kid Glove

Is a delight to the heart of any woman. The neat ones you see are Pewny's. They cost no more than the other kind. We are the Napanee agents for them, and have all the Spring fancies in the guaranteed brands; also in low-priced kinds.

The Spring Carpets

Deserve your very best attention. They're the nicest goods that have come here; bright—tasteful—sound qualities—moderate priced. We are glad to show them, and to give every opportunity for comparison of patterns and prices—particularly prices. If you're thinking of a carpet, we're always ready and willing, and you'll find it worth while.

Lace Curtains

Deserve more space than we can give them. A stock that would do credit to any city store, and values that they can't match. Neat bedroom curtains for 23c. a pair. Beautiful curtains at $1 and $1.25.

CHENILLE Curtains, Rugs, Chenille Covers, and a big line of OIL-PAINTED WINDOW SHADES from 35c. upwards.

Lahey & McKenty.

See the

EXPRESS-IONS.

That Sir William Van Horne has learned to speak French.

That Mr. Gladstone has written a book on Homer.

That Mr. Chamberlain is a Unionist.

That Mr. Parnell is dead.

That Mr. Dalton McCarthy is a Conservative.

That Mr. Mercier is in jail.

That Mr. Laurier is a Liberal.

That Mr. Bowell is a Conservative.

That Mr. Foster is a Conservative.

That Mr. Tupper is a Conservative.

That Mr. Haggart is a Conservative.

That Mr. Ross is a Liberal.

That Mr. Hardy is a Liberal.

That Mr. Whitney is a Liberal.

That Mr. Meredith is a Conservative.

That Mr. Clarke Wallace is a Conservative.

That Mr. Wood is a Liberal.

That Mr. Bell is a Liberal.

That Mr. Ferguson is a Liberal.

That Mr. Rykert is a Conservative.

That Mr. Cockburn is a Conservative.

That Mr. Bergin is a Liberal.

That Mr. Preston is a Liberal.

That Mr. Madill is a Liberal.

That Mr. Wilson is a Liberal.

That Mr. Ellis is a Liberal.

That Mr. Deroche is a Liberal.

That Mr. Bronson is a Liberal.

That Mr. Ingram is a Liberal.

That Mr. Bain is a Liberal.

That Mr. Cargill is a Liberal.

That Mr. Sutherland is a Liberal.

That Mr. Cameron is a Liberal.

That Mr. Mills is a Liberal.

That Mr. Edgar is a Liberal.

That Mr. Gibson is a Liberal.

That Mr. Wallace is a Liberal.

That Mr. Fraser is a Liberal.

That Mr. Bole is a Liberal.

That Mr. Ferris is a Liberal.

That Mr. Dickey is a Liberal.

That Mr. Tarte is a Liberal.

That Mr. Casgrain is a Liberal.

That Mr. Desjardins is a Liberal.

That Mr. Lavergne is a Liberal.

That Mr. Choquette is a Liberal.

That Mr. Bourassa is a Liberal.

That Mr. Laurier is a Liberal.

That Mr. Fielding is a Liberal.

That Mr. Blair is a Liberal.

That Mr. Sifton is a Liberal.

That Mr. Oliver is a Liberal.

That Mr. Davis is a Liberal.

That Mr. Prefontaine is a Liberal.

That Mr. Scott is a Liberal.

That Mr. Lister is a Liberal.

That Mr. Pope is a Conservative.

That Mr. Caron is a Conservative.

That Mr. Angers is a Conservative.

That Mr. Costigan is a Conservative.

That Mr. Dobell is a Conservative.

That Mr. Kaulbach is a Conservative.

That Mr. Thompson is a Conservative.

That Mr. Foster is a Conservative.

That Mr. Tupper is a Conservative.

That Mr. Haggart is a Conservative.

That Mr. Ross is a Liberal.

That Mr. Hardy is a Liberal.

That Mr. Whitney is a Liberal.

That Mr. Meredith is a Conservative.

That Mr. Clarke Wallace is a Conservative.

That Mr. Wood is a Liberal.

That Mr. Bell is a Liberal.

That Mr. Ferguson is a Liberal.

That Mr. Rykert is a Conservative.

That Mr. Cockburn is a Conservative.

That Mr. Bergin is a Liberal.

That Mr. Preston is a Liberal.

That Mr. Madill is a Liberal.

That Mr. Wilson is a Liberal.

That Mr. Ellis is a Liberal.

That Mr. Deroche is a Liberal.

That Mr. Bronson is a Liberal.

That Mr. Ingram is a Liberal.

That Mr. Bain is a Liberal.

That Mr. Cargill is a Liberal.

That Mr. Sutherland is a Liberal.

That Mr. Cameron is a Liberal.

That Mr. Mills is a Liberal.

That Mr. Edgar is a Liberal.

That Mr. Gibson is a Liberal.

That Mr. Wallace is a Liberal.

That Mr. Fraser is a Liberal.

That Mr. Bole is a Liberal.

That Mr. Ferris is a Liberal.

That Mr. Dickey is a Liberal.

That Mr. Tarte is a Liberal.

That Mr. Casgrain is a Liberal.

That Mr. Desjardins is a Liberal.

That Mr. Lavergne is a Liberal.

That Mr. Choquette is a Liberal.

That Mr. Bourassa is a Liberal.

That Mr. Laurier is a Liberal.

That Mr. Fielding is a Liberal.

That Mr. Blair is a Liberal.

That Mr. Sifton is a Liberal.

That Mr. Oliver is a Liberal.

That Mr. Davis is a Liberal.

That Mr. Prefontaine is a Liberal.

That Mr. Scott is a Liberal.

That Mr. Lister is a Liberal.

That Mr. Pope is a Conservative.

That Mr. Caron is a Conservative.

That Mr. Angers is a Conservative.

That Mr. Costigan is a Conservative.

That Mr. Dobell is a Conservative.

That Mr. Kaulbach is a Conservative.

That Mr. Thompson is a Conservative.

BOARD OF EDUCATION.

Napanee, April 12th, 1896.

Church of England Notes.

Distemper is prevalent among the horses at Fellows.

The infant daughter of Mr. Diban, Fellows, died this week.

Tuberculosis is said to exist among cattle in this district,

A gang of men are busily engaged this week scraping the streets.

Wm. Copeland, aged 64 years, a native of Sheffield, died this week.

A new fence adds much to the appearance of Mrs. Prue's property.

Mrs. Eyvel removed this week to the James property on East street.

Geo. Hudgins, Selby, will carry the mails between Napanee and Erinsville.

R. H. Potter sold a fine black horse to Chas. Wagar, of Enterprise, last week.

Jas. Cummings, of Clarksville, and Wm. Norris exchanges houses and lots this week.

The wife of Frederick Battell, engineer of the Str. Reindeer, died at Desmond recently.

The Yarker band visited Napanee yesterday. They are an excellent musical organization.

Mr. Alex. Armstrong has secured the contract for painting Mr. Thomson's house, Newburgh.

Massey-Harris

The Kingston Whig tells of a man "who went to Tamworth a few weeks ago to work in Deseronto."

Mr. T. G. Carscallen has improved his beautiful lawn by removing the evergreens and other shrubbery.

Attempts made to develop the keneoptiscope negatives of the Corbett-Fitzsimmons fight have proved a failure.

The Deseronto Tribune is in error in saying that Thos. J. Naylor has purchased the sailing skiff "Viva."

Division Court was held at the court house here on Wednesday before His Honor Judge Wilkison. The docket was a small one.

The Bay of Quinte cheap fare rates are a big success. Crowds are coming to Napanee on Thursdays now as well as Saturdays.

The Neilson Co's. new store at Conway will be completed and opened on or about the first of May under the management of Jno. T. Hill.

Ollie Pratt, wife of E. Sanford, Napanee, passed away on Wednesday after a protracted illness. She leaves a husband and two children.

Mr. James Wilson, furniture and crockery dealer, has rented the vacant store in the Miller block and will remove there shortly.

On the 9th inst. the fly wheel on a one horse power circular saw, at work on the 2nd con. of Thurlow, near Belleville, burst, killing Samuel Clarke, aged 25 years.

John Huffman had 13 hens killed, J. E. Clarke 12, and Geo. Cliffe 8, by dogs this week. They gained an entrance to the hen houses and played sad havoc with the fowl.

The Rathbun company will operate Israel Stewart's gold mine on his farm on the north shore of Varty lake. This mine has the appearance of being a good one and the ore is rich in gold.

Bicycle.

Dressing Handsomely and Well at a Small Cost.

A lady friend, a user of Diamond Dyes, writes as follows:

"With Diamond Dyes I changed my husband's faded grey suit to a rich dark brown shade, and a blue one was made black, while the children never knew what had become of their old clothes, and wondered where all the new ones came from.

"My experience proves that any woman who can read the plain directions on the Diamond Dye envelope can not only save a large amount of money in clothing her family, but will wear just as handsome and fashionable clothes as before. Diamond Dyes are indeed the true preventives of hard times."

CASTORIA.

The fac-simile signature of Chas. H. Fletcher is on every wrapper.

Horne.

In this connection the intelligence that Gladstone had taken to riding the wheel is denied. It is not right to expect too much of the Grand Old Man.

While on the subject of wheels what do you think of the trundling of horseless carriages on the sidewalk. Stopping the too prevalent practice of riding bicycles on the sidewalk is all proper and right but when a fond mother can't take her darling out on the sidewalk in a baby carriage without infringing the law its getting past a joke.

The by-law prohibiting the riding of bicycles on the sidewalk was passed in 1893. It is a safe bet that the only persons guiltless of breaking it are those who never engaged in the pastime of riding a wheel.

There are wheels within a wheel. The Mayor was up before the P. M. on Monday, charged with breaking one of the town's by laws. Perhaps the fact that the Mayor requested that he be summoned, if any others were, had something to do with his appearing in court.

The practice of committing old and indigent people to gaol, in order that the municipilities in which they reside can shirk the responsibility of maintaining them, goes merrily on. This christian-like custom is rapidly converting the gaols, in counties where no poor house has been established, into second-class hospitals and in may instances the wards are so lumbered up with poor and heart sick old men and women that proper provisions for the safe-keepingg of criminals is rendered difficult and escapes are becoming of more frequent occurrance in consequence.

Gaolers all over the province, Governor Vanluven among the number, are complaining against the practice, and we believe the matter will be brought before Parliament at an early date. The manner in which these poor people are committed is a crime against decency and our boasted nineteenth century civilization. A poor old man, (or woman, as the case may be) finds himself, often through no great fault of his own, unable to work and with no visible means of support. He applies to the municipality for aid. An officer of the municipality goes before a magistrate and swears out an indictment against him for vagrancy and the poor old victim of a rich municipality's munificence is committed to gaol for six months. At the conclusion of his sentence he is brought forth and re-committed, and so the farce goes on until death ends his probation. After a coroner's inquest has pronounced the dissolution a final and genuine one the remains of one, who has seen better days, is placed in a cheap coffin and consigned to mother earth.

A commitment before the magistrate costs anywhere from $1 to $1.50. The municipalities in the county have to pay their share of the maintainence of the inmates of the gaol. As municipalities are all alike the only ones gaining any advantage by committing their poor to gaol are those who have a plethora of indigents. One of the objections raised against the erection of a poor house in Lennox & Addington was that a few of the larger municipalities, Napanee in particular, would reap the advantage, as they had the greatest number of indigent people. Admitting that, does not the same objection hold good under the present inhuman system.

The Ontario Government grants a certain sum towards the erection of a poor house in each county and supplements it with an annual grant towards its maintenance. Counties like Lennox & Addington which do not avail themselves of the government's liberality are not only maintaining their own poor but are contributing to the support of those in counties where poor houses are established.

The different municipalities in Lennox & Addington expend about $3,000 per year in the support of their poor, and this does not include the cost of those kept in gaol. In many counties where poor houses are established they have become almost self-sustainnig. The average cost per head of the inmates of these institutions is placed at 96 cents per week including all expenses. Don't you think it would be an economical move to establish a poor house in Lennox?

Hood's Pills are the only pills to take with Hood's Sarsaparilla. Easy and yet efficient.

present, Deroche, Cowan, Grange, Coates, Templeton, Boyes, Wright, Preston, Ashley, Herrington.

A communication from Funk & Wagnalls re purchase of standard Dictionary, was filed.

A communication from the science master re laboratory fees and care of supplies was referred to committee on high school property to report.

A communication from the Educational Department re fuller equipment of Collegiate and also one from the Board of Education of the town of Whitby on the same subject declaring the opinion that the demands of the Education Department were excessive and asking opinion of town board was read. The former was referred to the Property Committee to report, and the clerk was instructed to communicate with Whitby board the concurrence of the town board in their opinion.

An application for the position of examiner at public school leaving examinations, from Jopeph Morgan, of Bath, was received and filed.

The report of High School Inspector, Hodgson, to the effect that the collegiate was well organized and equipped and that teaching was well and efficiently done was read.

The report of Principal Brown, showing an average attendance of 462 for March, and 467 for April was presented.

Mr. Brown was heard, re purchase of a flag, the planting of trees, improvement of walks, etc. and purchase of clock for East Ward with proceeds of entertainment lately held and asked that a committee be appointed to take charge. Referred to committee on teachers to meet with Mr. Brown and take action. He also asked that the board supply foolscap for senior pupils. Granted. Mr. Brown also suggested the appointment of a substitute teacher in case of sickness etc. Referred to committee on teachers.

The question of payment of fees by non-resident pupils was brought up and received considerable attention. Mr. J. L. Boyes strongly opposing the present careless and unbusinesslike procedure now in vogue and as a result the matter was referred to a committee composed of the chairman, J. L. Boyes, and Dr. Cowan to fully investigate and report.

Mr. Coates complained of the manner in which the janitor of West Ward school discharged his duty and suggested that a change be made, charging that certain of the pupils gained entrance to the building after school hours and there indulged in the playing of cards. Referred to West Ward committee with power to act.

The purchase of a suitable flag was left in the hands of the Principal, and the matter of flag staff in that of a committee.

The account of E. Walker, jr., for $5 for extras was referred to the West Ward Property Committe with power to act and report. This account gave rise to considerable discussion, a number of the board claiming that the janitor had no right to demand extras.

The following accounts were ordered paid:

Kingston Whig	$ 2 55
Napance Star	1 00
C. E. Bartlett	12 00
W. F. Hall, postage '96	5 00

The following were referred to the building committee with power to act:

Boyle & Son	$ 46 25
T. H. Waller	119 40
Geo. Cliff	82 21

The various blacksmith shops in town present a harrowing spectacle. Spring plowing will be general next week.

An exhibition of furious driving, which ended in the horse and rig parting company, was presented to the residents of Dundas street on Monday. The identity of the driver is unknown.

A. S. Kimmerly is selling field and garden seeds cheaper than any other dealer. 4 lbs. American Wonder Peas 25c.; Choice Timothy Seed, $1.85 per bush.; Salt, $1.10 per bbl. Keewatin Flour chesper again. Four tons of that celebrated 25 cent tea in stock, nothing equal ever sold before. Can Corn 5c., new good, none better in the market.

The existence of a paper cigar factory, "somewhere" in America is again vouched for by the newspapers. The paper is steeped in the juice of the commonest tobaccos, cut to the shape, and imprinted with the veins of the tobacco leaf, and, strange to say, it thus acquires an excellent flavor, reminiscent of choice Havanas—a strong testimony to the virtues of paper. Like the sea-serpent, and a few other marvels, paper cigars crop up occasionally to relieve the tedium of everyday life.

bration at 11 a.m., children's service at 3 p.m., evensong at 7 p.m. Special music. Good Friday—Morning prayer at 11 a.m., evening prayer at 7.30. The chapel will be open from noon to 3 p. m. for meditation during the solemn "three hours."

ODESSA MISSION—Good Friday, Matins, Ante Communion and Sermon at Odessa, at 10 a.m. Evensong and Sermon at Hawley, at 7.30 p.m. Easter Day—Holy Communion, at Odessa, at 8 a.m.; Second Celebration with sermon at 10.30 a.m.; Evensong at 7 p.m. N.B.—No services at Hawley on Easter Day but on Low Sunday instead, with Holy Communion.

PARISH OF CAMDEN—Sunday next being Easter Day, services as follows: St. John, Newburgh, Holy Communion, 6 a.m., Choral Evensong (Surplice choir) 7 p.m.; St. Anthony, Yarker, Holy Communion, 8.30 a.m., evening service, 3 p.m.; St. Luke, Camden East, Morning Prayer, Holy Communion, 11 a.m.; St. Jude, Napanee Mills, Evening service, 7 p.m. All the churches will be decorated and the music in keeping with this greatest of festivals.

See the

The Gibbard Furniture Co. shut down on Friday. They will re-open on Monday.

Mr. Alex. Lafferty is improving his residence by the erection of a handsome porch.

M. S. Madole has the contract of putting a new iron roof on Madden Bros. grocery store.

The I. O. F. Executive has decided to admit ladies into the order on the same footing as men.

The Delaware will be taken to Picton this week where she will be repaired and converted into a barge.

Grinding every day at Closes Mills The best ground horse feed and barley meal for sale at Close's Mills

JAS. A. CLOSE.

Mrs. Prew, Robinson street will have a new fence built around her premises and make other improvements shortly.

BICYCLES—See our display Saturday. We can give you the cheapest and best $60 wheel ever offered, the only wheel at the price using weldless tubing, all other cheap wheels have brazed tubing. In stock, Triump, Perfect, Dominion, Garden City, Night Hawk, Skylark, Leader, Phoenix, and the celebrated Cleveland. Bowe & Son.

Massey-Harris

J. N. Carter, mayor of Picton, who died on Friday of heart failure, was one of the most prominent business men in the town, a commission business a few years ago with considerable success. He was warden of the county of Prince Edward in 1885 and mayor of Picton in 1892 and 1893 and again this year. For many years he was a member of the town and county councils. He was a prominent local politician and also a prominent member of the masonic order.

Mr. John Mandeville, of Wellington, is the owner of a very smart cow that from indications is a firm believer in keeping plenty of calves on the farm. On March 24th, she gave birth to three well formed heifer calves. They are eating out of a pail, growing fast and have every indication of living to maturity. The mother of the family is but a calf herself, being one year and nine months old. This is probably the first case of triplet calves in the memory of the oldest inhabitant, and Mr. Mandeville is receiving many visitors from far and near to see his wonderful heifer.—Picton Times.

Bicycle.

WOOD'S PHOSPHODINE.
The Great English Remedy.

Before and After

Six Packages Guaranteed to promptly, and permanently cure all forms of Nervous Weakness, Emissions, Spermatorrhœa, Impotency and all effects of Abuse or Excesses, Mental Worry, excessive use of Tobacco, Opium or Stimulants, which soon lead to Infirmity, Insanity, Consumption and an early grave. Has been prescribed over 35 years in thousands of cases; is the only Reliable and Honest Medicine known. Ask druggist for Wood's Phosphodine; if he offers some worthless medicine in place of this, inclose price in letter, and we will send by return mail. Price, one package, $1; six, $5. One will please, six will cure. Pamphlets free to any address.

The Wood Company,
Windsor, Ont., Canada.

Sold in Napanee and everywhere in Canada by all responsible druggists.

THE NAPAN

Vol. XXXVI] No. 20—JNO. POLLARD, Editor and Publisher. NAPANEE, ONT., CA

I Am offering

Dinner Setts, Tea Setts and Chamber Setts at greatly reduced prices for the next 60 days.

W. COXALL.

Spring Overcoats in the Latest Shades, from $5.00 up, a special.

Men's Shirts, any kind you want from 25c. up. Spring Underwear from 25c. up. Socks, Kid Gloves, Overalls, Neckwear, Sweaters for men and boys. We have a good assortment in these lines.

In Hats and Caps the very latest of English and American styles. Try one of our Stiff Hats, it is a beatuy.

Some new lines of Men's Boots and Shoes to hand this week. Come and see them.

A. M. VINEBERG,

The Wonderful Cheap Clothier, Dundas st., Henry Block, Napanee

TIMOTHY

—AND—

CLOVER SEED

Bran and Shorts

Flour and Feed.

TAYLOR & MORRIS,

(Blewett's Old Stand.)

NEW PLANING MILL AND LUMBER YARD.

Now in full operation. All kinds Lumber, Sash, Doors and Blinds. Custom work done on shortest notice. Get our prices before buying. Mr. Embury is prepared to draw plans for parties wanting them.

Embury, Greer & Co.

BOAR FOR SERVICE.
The thoroughbred Registered Canada Poland China Boar, "Selby" bred by Mr. J. C.

A Serious Situation.

New Attra

Every day and every week finds this
No chance for customers to get dull or lose inte same old goods. This Store is well up to date.

New Black Dress Goods.

Our values in Black Dress Goods are better than those of other stores. We sell double fold Black Cashmere at 22½c. 25c, 30c, 35c, 42½c, 48c, &c. We have a splendid Black Serge all wool, only 24c. per yd. We have splendid Black Crepon Dress Goods from 50c. per yd. up. Our values in black Brilliantines at 24c. 35c. 48c. 68c. 74c. and $1.00 are well known to be very extra. We defy competition in black Dress Goods.

"Empress" Shirt Waists.

We are sole agents in Napanee for the famous "Empress" Shirt Waists the best fitting Shirt Waist in the market. Beside the fact that they fit well you will find our prices very low. Ask to see them.

White Bed Spreads.

We have two very good bargains in large full sized white Bed Spreads viz: $1.00 and $1.25. They are selling like hot cakes.

Special Corset "New York" worth 79c. for 49c
Ladies Hem-stitched Handkerchiefs 6 f
Floor Oilcloths, special. at 25c p
Linoleum worth 75c. O
Broadcloths all sh
Men's Suit
Men's Unlaundried White Shirts worth 75c. fo
Lace Curtains from 25c. per pair up.
Men's Hats, special, at 50c. 75c.
Table Linen 60 inches wi
Table Linen 56 in Apron Gi
Shi

Bleached Towels a bargain at 20c. per pair.
Men's Blue Overalls with bibs, spe
Men's Cashmere Hose, a

NOTICE TO CREDITORS.

IN THE MATTER OF JOHN CONGER, OF THE TOWN OF NAPANEE, HOTEL KEEPER AND BRICK MANUFACTURER, INSOLVENT

Notice is hereby given that the above named Insolvent, John Conger, has made an assignment of his estate to me for the benefit of his creditors, by deed dated the 14th day of April, 1897, and the creditors are notified to meet at the sheriff's office, in the court house, Napanee, on

Monday, April 26th, 1897

at one o'clock in the afternoon,

for the purpose of receiving a statement of of his affairs, appointing inspectors, fixing their remuneration, and the remuneration of the assignee, and for the ordering of the affairs of the estate generally.

All persons claiming to rank upon the estate of the said Insolvent must file their claims with me verified by affidavit on or before the Fourteenth day of May, 1897, after which date I will proceed to distribute the assets thereof, having regard to those claims only of which I shall then have received notice.

GEO. D. HAWLEY,
Sheriff, Assignee.

Napanee April 15th, 1897.

FOR SALE.

One of the most conveniently located farms in the County of Prince Edward being composed of parts of lot 2 and 3 containing 98 acres in 1st concession Military Tract Township Hallowell located in the western part of the Village of Bloomfield. On these premises are a modern brick house, good barn, drive house, and hop house all in first-class repair. Soil clay loam, about 8 acres hardwood bush, 15 acres in hay, well watered, stream living water running across centre of the farm, young orchard bearing trees, and 5 acres in hops.

The place will be sold at a bargain and intending purchasers should investigate before buying a farm elsewhere. For further particulars apply to JAMES JACKSON, proprietor, 20d or to AMOS H. BAKER, Picton, Ont.

GOOD ROADS.

Provincial Road Commissioner

A. W. CAMPBELL,

—WILL VISIT—

Napanee, May the 11th.

He will inspect roads and sidewalks and material for road construction during the day and will address a meeting in the town hall in the evening. Representatives from the surrounding townships are cordially invited to attend.

The meetings in the town hall, Napanee, on Thursday and Friday evenings of last week, conducted by Messrs. Bushell and Seymour were not largely attended but all present were delighted with the lecture, and the entertainment provided by Billy Seymour, the inimitable comedian. A meeting will be held here shortly for the purpose of organizing a lodge of the Sons of Temperance.

Bronchitis Cured. Miss Maggie Griffin, 37 Metcalf Street, Toronto, writes: "After having bronchitis and cold so badly that I could hardly speak, and could not find any remedy to relieve me, I decided to try Norway Pine Syrup. It made a complete cure, and I highly recommend it to all.

Master Percy Shibley, son of B. B. Shibley, Wilton, has been sent home from the general hospital, having had one of his eyes removed by Dr. J. C. Connell. The eye was injured some time ago by a falling icicle, and gradually the sight of both eyes failed, until it was necessary to remove one eye in order to save the sight of the other. —Whig.

The following Methodists transfers have been made: Rev. Beer from Bay of Quinte conference to London; Rev. W. B. Tucker, from B. of Q. to Montreal; Rev. Badgley and Rev. Geo. Brown, from B. of Q. to Toronto; Rev. G. H. H. Davis, from Montreal to B. of Q; Rev. J. E. Moore, from London, to Bay of Quinte. Rev. Mr. Crothers, of Port Hope, will be the next pastor of the Eastern church here. The Rev. D. O. Crossley, who goes to Peterboro, will be replaced by the Rev. Mr. Baker, of Bowmanville.

CASTORIA

For Infants and Children.

The fac-simile signature Castoria is on every wrapper

Tillie—Lizzie, I'm in trouble. He says he'll chuck himself in the water if I don't have him. What shall I do?

Lizzie (a pessimist)—Ah! Let him chuck. He kin swim, an' he knows it; an' besides, men ain't a-killin' fer love nowadays, an' don't yer believe they are.

Not Quite Dead.

Two Irishmen were repairing a well over on Long Island, when suddenly one of them missed his footing and fell to the bottom. The other, greatly excited, leaned over the edge and exclaimed: "Denny, oh, Denny! are ye dead?"

No answer came. Then he called again:

"Denny, if ye're dead, speak!"

Presently the fellow at the bottom replied:

"Sure I'm not quite dead, man, but I'm spachless."—Harper's Round Table.

His Request.

He—Can you play "The Maiden's Prayer," Miss Wayback?

She (with alacrity)—Oh, yes!

He—Well, please don't.

Mr. Barnacle on Beans.

"Speaking about beans reminds me that all the chumps isn't moored in Boston, I take it," Bill Barnacle observed with a knowing air. "Leastwise, I've sighted some proper ones on the high seas."

"Beans or chumps?" queried the lubber in mild trepidation, after waiting for Bill to resume.

"Both, I reckon. In Boston beans is a proper tidbit, a regular out-and-out wot is it you calls it in Latin?"

"Delicacy?"

"To be sure," said Bill apologetically. "I allers sheers off at them foreign words. But, as I was saying, beans on the high seas is a solemn duty, next to standing lookout or taking a trick at the wheel."

"Why?" the lubber asked.

"Why? Because there ain't much else to eat, but these here blooming beans. That's why. Blow me, if I ain't seen trading schooners out of New England wot carried no other victiles but beans, with no pork to speak of neither. Once when I was a young squab I makes a cruise to Brazil, where we falls in with a Yankee ship wot had been condemned and ordered sold, along with her cargo. Our skipper stands by the sale and bids in two tons of white beans. We didn't need no beans, but they was cheap, so the old man puts the lot aboard and says let these here mariners revel in beans.

"On the passage home beans flowed like water on this here hooker. It was beans morning, noon and night, and for prayers, too, till the sailors cussed frightfully and tells the cook to pipe down on the mess, as they didn't figger to ruin their constitutions with no bargain counter beans. If beans isn't belayed they don't work the vessel no more, these haughty mariners says. When the skipper hears of this here mutinous languidge he posts the cook to set among the crew one night after supper. Then the old man happens forward accidental, and says:

"'Cook, wot have you been feeding the men on this passage?"

"'Beans, sir.'

"'Wot? Them beans I buys in Brazil?'

"'Them's the identical beans, sir,' says I. Mine beginning for to shiver.

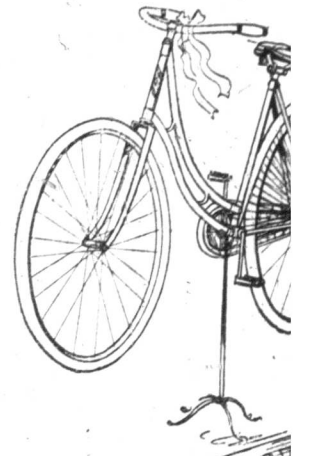
"'You blubber-faced 'pirate,' yells the skipper, wiping his fist on the cook's nose, 'them beans is for the cabin special—for my table only—and much too good for common sailors. Let me hear of any more of 'em going forward and I'll skin you.'"

"What a mean brutal captain!" ejaculated the lubber.

"The skipper goes aft, hubbling with rage in his mind," continued Bill, "and in ten minutes a committee from the forecastle overhauls him. Blow me, if this blooming committee didn't demand beans, likewise the very same beans they kicked about, and says the crew will mutiny if they don't get no beans. The skipper yields reluctant to this demand, and, tells the cook to serve out beans again. When the schooner reaches home, boil me if you could find a bean in her with a man-o'-war's searchlight. The crew actually sets up nights a-eating of them beans, such being the contrary nature of mariners."—Charles Dryden, in New York Journal.

THE ROE

IN THE FRONT RANK.



MASSEY-H

LOVE AT FIR

THE MASS

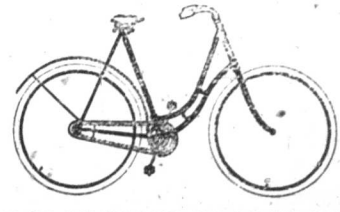
MADE IN

Why pay $20 duty on an imported Wheel when you can buy a

MASSEY-HARRIS

"SILVER RIBBON"

FOR $85



The Price to Everybody

All Cups and Cones hardened by a speci positively the easiest running bearings extant.

The Massey-H

NAPANEE AGENCY-

class bicycle repairing a specialty. Satisfaction guara line of Massey-Harris parts kept in stock.

W. J.

EE EXPRESS.

NADA—FRIDAY, APRIL 23, 1897. $1 per Year in advance; $1.50 if not so paid.

actions.

store filled with new and special attractions. erest here. No chance to say those are the

Men's Suits Made to Order,

Our cutter Mr. Jas. Walters is very busy making up Men's Clothing of every description. We take great pride in this department and turn out work in every way equal to that of any city establishment. Give us your next order and we will guarantee to satisfy you in every particular.

New Millinery.

There is no question about the success or popularity of our Millinery this season. There is such a rush of orders that our Milliners are continually working over time. We can please you in Millinery and save you money.

Boys' Suits.

We make a specialty of Boy's Suits and carry the largest assortment in Napanee. This season we have made some very special purchases and in consequence offer some very great bargains. Bring the boys along and see how well our Suits fit. Boy's Suits from $1.48 up.

c.
for 25c.
per yd.
)ur price 48c. per yd.
nades worth $1.00 for 75c. per yd.
ts, special at $3.00, $4.90 and $5.00.
r 50c.

. $1.00 $1.25.
ide worth 50c. for 37½c.
nches wide worth 35c. for 25c.
nghams, special, at 10c and 12½c.
irtings, special, at 8c. 9½c. and 10c.
Cottonades, special, at 18½c.

cial.
ll wool, special at 21c.

Building Material of all Kinds.

FOR SALE AT REASONABLE PRICES.

Headquarters for Lumber of all kinds, Shingles, Lath, Doors, Sash, Monldings, Portland Cement, Water Lime, Plaster Paris, Apple Barrels, Land Plaster, Porus Tile Windsor Salt, Coal, Wood and Charcoal.

Use our pressed Brick for your house and chimney, as cheap as any, and the best. Get our prices before purchasing.

THE RATHBUN CO'Y

Yard and office foot of Centre St. R. SHIPMAN, Agent.

NEWS FROM THE COUNTRY.

WILTON.

Messrs. Bushell and Seymour, representatives of the Sons of Temperance, held a meeting in the Methodist church Tuesday evening. About fifteen pledged themselves and another meeting will be held next Tuesday evening to organize

Miss Mabel Emerson, Mississippi, is spending her holidays with her mother.

Metzler's factory has been forced to run every day owing to the increased supply of milk.

Mrs. John Ovens and family spent a few days with friends in Hartington.

Nicholas Simmons and Harvey Timmerman are both somewhat better.

Jas. Davidson, Opinicon, is spending Easter holidays at H. Mills'.

Miss Robeson, Harrowsmith, spent Sunday with Miss Jean Lake.

Earache Cured. DEAR SIRS,—I was troubled with earache for a long time, and could get no ease until I tried Hagyard's Yellow Oil. I can truthfully say that it has made a complete cure.

MISS MARTHA M. RECTOR,
Central Economy, N.S.

BATH.

The first schooner of the season the Maggie L. called at Balls wharf on Tuesday with a load of lumber.

Mr. R. R. Finkle is rebuilding his wharf and when finished it will be first class in every particular.

Maxwell Robinson has taken an agency for the McCormick Harvesting Machines.

Mrs. Perry Vanslyck is on a two weeks visit with her parents Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Valleau, of Selby.

Miss Julia Burley has returned home after spending the winter with friends in Picton.

Miss Mary Davy is spending her holidays at home.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Covert are the guests of Mr. Hiram Covert, Main St. West.

Miss Symonds of Picton is the guest of Miss Julia Burley.

Mr Drummond Valleau of Selby, spent last Sunday visiting friends in Bath.

Weakness and Dyspepsia Cured — DEAR SIRS,—I can heartily recommend Burdock Blood Bitters. For a long time I was troubled with dyspepsia and weakness. The least exertion would tire me out. I am glad to say, however, that your B. B. B. has greatly benefited me, curing the dyspepsia and making me strong and well.

JENNIE EVANS,
Hespeler, Ont.

KINGSFORD.

Easter has come and gone and so have the eggs.

Farmers have commenced sowing their grain. This is a fine year for sowing. Fall grain looks very well in this section.

Mr. G. Clarke, school teacher, is spending his Easter holidays at his home in Picton. He is well liked.

Mrs. John McCullough, of Belleville, is spending a few days on the old homestead, Lonsdale Road.

Mrs. Wm. Provins, Salmon River, spent last Monday the guest of her aunt, Mrs. J. Doyle.

Andrew Bowen and wife spent Sunday at Sharp's Corner.

Marcel Ballance spent last week visiting

NAPANEE MILLS.

The frost and cold of the past few days has put things back very much. The ground was in a good condition for seeding when this draw back occured. We hope for better weather.

The cement works and paper mills are running full time.

The Church of England was most beautifully decorated last Sunday (Easter.) All denominations kindly contributed. A pansy geranium belonging to Mrs. Hill is worthy of mention. The service was very fine.

Easter communion will be given next Sunday at 10.30 a.m. The floral decorations will be the same as at Easter

The new station agent, Mr. Harkness has arrived and has entered upon his duties. We extend a welcome and hope for his success.

Mr. Nelson Shannon who left here for Manitoba this spring has returned. He says "the blizzards were a terror." He thinks Ontario will do him for the future.

There is considerable sickness here. Mrs. Clement is very poorly, J. Summerville does not gain his strength.

Mrs. McCoy, of Kingsford, and Mrs. D. Snider, of Odessa visited their aunt Mrs. Lott who is in poor health. Mr. Martin Kehoe has a new wheel, also Master Hugh Roney, several more are going to invest this spring.

The tramp fraternity are out in full force this spring. Two of them met at a house not far from here, got into a quarrel and were preparing to fight when the man of the house appeard and drove them out. They are saucy as only tramps know how to be. Something should be done with these gentlemen.

Mr. Charles Wild, who has been ill for some time is no better.

Geo. Thomson is working his farm.

Mr. A. Wild, of Croydon, and Mrs. Wild visited at Mr. C. Wild's on Sunday.

NEWBURGH.

The Epworth League of Wesley invited the Newburgh Epworth League to attend an "at home" in the Methodist church at Wesley on Wednesday evening. About 60 of the Newburgh league attended. A good programme was listened to, consisting of music, recitations and readings, after which refreshments were served. All returned home well pleased with their evening's entertainment.

Miss Lillian Miles who was in Toronto for the past six months completing learning the dressmaking trade returned home on Saturday evening last. It is understood that she intends opening up a dress making business in the village.

Mr. Hugh Howie, our genial milk inspector is out with a dashy new light rig. It is painted white and Hugh cuts no unimportant figure when comfortably seated in the softly cushioned seat, his nimble fingers quietly playing with the reigns and dexteriously driving his fiery steed.

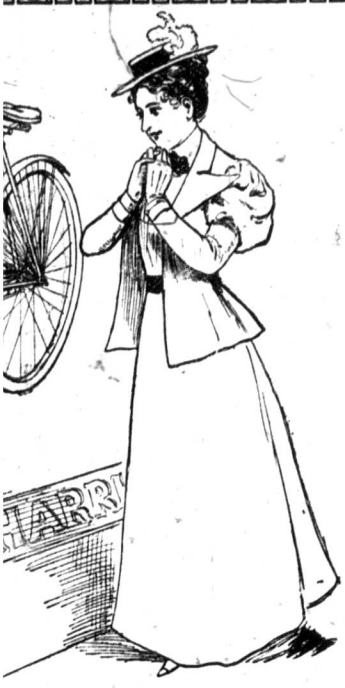
Miss L. Burdette has returned home from visiting friends at Centreville.

Miss Alice Baughan is in Napanee, summoned by the illness of her sister in-law, Mrs. Geo. Baughan.

Rumour says a wedding soon.

On Tuesday the population of our village was increased by the arrival at Mr. J. McCauley's of a bright little baby girl. A bouncing boy also arrived the same day to brighten the home of Mr. Bradshaw.

BINSON CO.



High Grade Material
And Honest Workmanship.

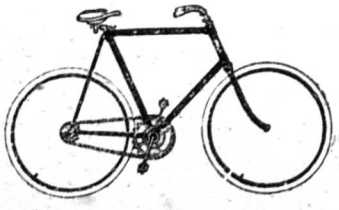
RST SIGHT"

EY-HARRIS,

CANADA

We never paid a dollar for racing teams, for road records, or for subsidies to fast riders. The "SILVER RIBBON" sells on its Merits.

FOR $85



Every Wheel Guaranteed.

cial process, which renders them, when completed,

larris Co., Ltd., Toronto.

Repair Shop, Warerooms, and Bicycle Livery Dundas street, sign of the Golden Wheel. First-anteed. Wheels for hire at Reasonable Rates. A full

NORMILE, AGENT.

her aunt Mrs. W. M. Sexsmith.

Thos. Winters and wife spent last Wednesday the guest of Mr Scott, Leinster.

Gordon Valleau has moved his family to Selby where he has rented Mr. Y. Manion's farm about a mile north of Selby.

Henry Sexsmith has gone to Kingston Rockwood Asylum.

A. Bowen, wife, and children spent Sunday in N. Fredericksburg with friends.

Mr. McClavey, of Belleville, spent Sunday with his father-in-law, Mr. William McCullough.

Mr. Jas. Doyle had a raising on Wednesday last.

Tommie Winters has gone to Selby to work for the season.

Jas. Schermerhorn spent Sunday at Chas. McNeill's.

The sound of the milk wagon is heard on the roads again.

Peter Doyle has put up a new building back of the blacksmith shop.

Quite a large congregation was present on Sunday.

There will be no service next Sunday morning at St. Jude's.

HAWLEY.

Mr. Geo. Asselstine has been very poorly for quite a while past but is improving at present.

Mrs. Howe and Miss Baker, of Brownville N. Y., have been visiting at Mr. Sicker's during the past week.

Miss Ella Marsh, of Richmond, is visiting her brother Joe.

Messrs. Parks and Marsh have rented the Blake farm for a term of years.

Mr. Hugh Hill of Conway paid a flying visit to Mr. Bristow's the other day.

Mr. Daniel Fretts is training a fine colt for the mid-summer races. It is of the wild turkey breed

Mr. Dick Fretts is making up his mind to pay another visit to Richmond.

Two of our young men believe in women's rights and are determined to defend them from the abuse of a young man from Sillsville. We understand it is to be decided by a pugilistic encounter.

Miss Eva entertained a few intimate friends last Thursday evening.

Mr. Herb Asselstine's drivehouse is progressing rapidly under Jethro, the wide awake carpenter.

We notice a young man from Sillsville passes through here every Sunday. Rumor says he intends buying land in Gretna, but Wesley says he wants only one "field" and he will have that no matter what it costs.

Mr. James McCarter and sister paid Joseph Marsh a visit on Sunday. Say Jas. the black drives well.

Making rag carpets is the order of the day. The old clothes are all gone now and and each one goes around in his Sunday best, and John Kingsberry's visits to this place will soon be a thing of the past

Our amatuer sport, Samuel S. McNeil traded horses twice last week. He traded off the "Starry Broncho" and got a pony which he again traded for a Kentucky blood.

ERINSVILLE.

Mrs. N. Phelan is still very sick and not much hopes are entertained of her recovery.

Rev. Father Cummins, of Bothwell Parish, a brother of Mrs. Phelan, paid her a visit on Wednesday the 14th and remained until Friday.

Mr. W. J. O'Brien, of Stoco, paid a visit to our thriving village on Saturday last.

Horse races on Saturday evening between Abrams and Hayes resulted in a draw. Another race is expected.

Mr. A. L. Stewart Sr., is taking to himself a wife in the person of Miss Maggie Murphy, formerly school teacher of No. 9 section, Sheffield. We wish him many days of happiness. He is a man of sterling ability.

Mr. John F. Murphy left our town to make his fortune in the state of Michigan.

Mr. Amab Thompson's body was placed in the grave on the 19th. Quite a large crowd attended his funeral He was buried at Hodge School cemetary.

The ice left Beaver Lake on the 19th, so now we expect some fine weather.

Mr John Neville went to the hospital, Kingston, on Saturday last to have an operation performed on a gathering below the ear.

Mr. Patrick Powers will soon have his cellar wall built and be ready for the carpenter.

A commercial traveller coming into our work shop the other day and seeing the number of customers' watches we had on hand said that we did as much repairing business as the other two shops together. F. Chinneck personally oversees the repair department and guarantees satisfaction. F. CHINNECK'S JEWELLERY STORE.

We understand our young taylor Mr. F. Birtch, in the employ of Mr. G. W. Rowlison intends leaving us in couple, of weeks to return to his old home at Peterboro.

A nobby new wagonette is in the course of construction at the Newburgh carriage works for Mr. C. A. Anderson's livery, Napanee.

Mr. Cobourne, of Wesley, purchased a handsome new buggy from Mr. C. H. Finkle on Tuesday.

Mr. Harvey Paul is home from Queen's.

Mrs. Henry Finkle and son Harry, of Napanee, have been the guests of Mr. E. J. Madden this week.

Miss Winnie Whelan still continues very low although somewhat improved. Hopes are still entertained of her recovery.

Mr. Thos. Kennedy is so far recovered as to be able to be up and around the hotel, although he has not yet ventured ont of doors.

The Independant Order of Foresters hold their regular meeting next Tuesday evening. A new candidate or so will be introduced into the mysteries of the order and made to ride the goat.

Mrs. J. M. Lochhead, of Centreville, is a guest at Mrs. Chas. Welbanks' this week.

Mr. Fred Hooper, of Napanee, paid a flying visit in our midst on Wednesday.

Dr. Alex. Grange, of Queen's, is home on his Easter vacation.

Miss Paul, of Wesley, is a guest at Mr. R. Paul's this week.

Miss Ethel Birrell, of Napanee, is spending the week in town visiting her friend, Miss Edna Shorts.

Miss Frankie McKim has gone to Centreville where she is spending a few days visiting at Mr. Hartins.

Mr. P. D. Shorey, of Campbellford, is home on his Easter vacation.

Mrs. Glenn has been in Tamworth this week attending the sick bed of her sister, Mrs. W. Garrett.

Mr. H. N. Chase has been under the weather for the past few days.

Mr. John Scott spent Easter in Toronto.

Mr. C. W. Thomson went west on a business trip this week.

Mr. Morris Paul left here for Lynn on Tuesday where he has secured a lucrative position for the summer.

Mr. C. W. Glenn and daughter Edna, spent Easter in Tamworth visiting friends.

Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Deroche, barrister, Deseronto, spent Easter in town.

A concert under the auspices of the Newburgh base ball club last Tuesday night was a highly successful entertainment. The boys will realize some $20 after all expenses are paid, with which to purchase new bats and balls, etc. Mr. E. J. Madden efficiently acted as chairman, and on the programme were the following favorites; P. D. Shorey, G. W Rowleson, F. L. Tooker, H. Lochhead, F. D. Moore, J. E. Strong, W. Mathison, F. Birtch, Missess Hope, Thos. Shorts, Miss Strong, Mrs. Finkle, Miss Moore, and A. Hannah. The two farces which concluded each part of the programme were exceptionally funny and elicited roars of applause.

The vault is being emptied this week and the bodies placed there during the winter interred in the cemetery.

Renoissance of the Dull Thud.

"The dull thud," said Mr. Flatdweller, "may have disappeared in a great measure in literature, but it is not lost; it may be heard now in the modern steam pipes, where often it comes down with a great jounce. But it doesn't appear to hurt itself, for often you can hear it chuckling to itself for as much as fifteen minutes afterward.

"The sickening thud we no longer hear of anywhere; it has been carried off very likely by itself."

Sang Out of Tune.

The new English primate, Dr. Temple, once entered an East End church while a mission service was being held, and standing in a back pew, joined in the singing of a Moody and Sankey hymn. Next to him stood a workingman, who was singing lustily in tune. The workingman stood the dissonance as long as he could, and then, nudging the bishop, said, in a whisper: "Here, dry up, mister, you're spoiling the show!"—San Francisco Wave.

And He Still Lives.

"Is that your maiden speech?" kindly asked the president of the Man Exterminators.

"I should say not, madam. I've been married for three years."

CASTORIA.

The fac-simile signature of Chas. H. Fletcher is on every wrapper.

900 DROPS

CASTORIA

A Vegetable Preparation for Assimilating the Food and Regulating the Stomachs and Bowels of

INFANTS CHILDREN

Promotes Digestion, Cheerfulness and Rest. Contains neither Opium, Morphine nor Mineral. NOT NARCOTIC.

Recipe of Old Dr SAMUEL PITCHER

Pumpkin Seed -
Alx. Senna +
Rochelle Salts -
Anise Seed +
Peppermint -
Bi Carbonate Soda +
Worm Seed -
Clarified Sugar -
Wintergreen Flavor.

A perfect Remedy for Constipation, Sour Stomach, Diarrhoea, Worms, Convulsions, Feverishness and LOSS OF SLEEP.

Fac Simile Signature of
Chas. H. Fletcher.
NEW YORK.

At 6 months old
35 DOSES - 35 CENTS

EXACT COPY OF WRAPPER.

SEE THAT THE FAC-SIMILE SIGNATURE —OF— Chas. H. Fletcher. IS ON THE WRAPPER OF EVERY BOTTLE OF

CASTORIA

Castoria is put up in one-size bottles only. It is not sold in bulk. Don't allow anyone to sell you anything else on the plea or promise that it is "just as good" and "will answer every purpose." See that you get C-A-S-T-O-R-I-A.

The fac-simile signature of Chas. H. Fletcher. is on every wrapper.

The Dominion Bank
ESTABLISHED 1871.

CAPITAL — $1,500,000.00
RESERVE FUND — $1,450,000.00

Deposits received and interest allowed. Drafts on all parts of Great Britain and United States bought and sold.

E. H. BAINES, Agent.

THE - MERCHANTS - BANK
OF CANADA
Head Office, — Montreal
Capital paid up, $6,000,000
Surplus, $3,000,000
INTEREST AT CURRENT RATES PAID ON DEPOSITS.
A GENERAL BANKING BUSINESS TRANSACTED.
W. A. BELLHOUSE,
Manager, Napanee Branch

EPPS'S COCOA
ENGLISH BREAKFAST COCOA
Possesses the following Distinctive Merits:
DELICACY OF FLAVOR
SUPERIORITY IN QUALITY.
Grateful and Comforting to the Nervous or Dyspeptic.
NUTRITIVE QUALITIES UNRIVALLED.
In Quarter-Pound Tins Only.
Prepared by JAMES EPPS & Co., Ltd, Homœopathic Chemists, London, England.

Provincial Building and Loan Association, Toronto.

Local Advisory Board at Napanee.

The Napanee Express

NAPANEE, FRIDAY, APRIL 23th, 1897.

GREECE has our sympathy.

THE Patron in politics has not been a distinct success.

THERE are still a few ten cent gold mining shares on the market.

BARBARITY and poverty meet—the unspeakable Turk and the impecunious Greek have gone to war.

A WRITER in the Globe refers to Algoma as the land of promise, pine, politics and pulpwood. Algoma is indeed a land of promise—promises to pay.

THE initial step in the good roads movement has been taken. A. W. Campbell will visit this district in May. We hope his visit will be fruitful of good results.

IN the Provincial election on Tuesday the Liberals swept Nova Scotia, only four Conservatives being elected in an assembly which consists of thirty-eight members.

THE proposal to place an export duty on pulpwood is meeting with much opposition among the people of Algoma. The exportation of pulpwood is bread and meat to the settlers of Algoma, and the proposed duty would be a deathblow to the business.

THE Greek and Turk are now busily engaged butchering one another. The peace of Europe hangs by such a slender thread that it is difficult to say what will be the outcome of the OTTAWA, April 17th.—The opposition press are hard pressed to make adverse political capital out of the showing which the estimates for the ensuing year reveal. Those handed down to parliament last week were the first of the new administration. Last year the estimates of the outgoing government, as prepared by them for that year, was accepted by the Liberal Government as a matter of necessity since, at the late date of their accession to office, they were for that reason precluded from investigating and revising them. But as time went on, the money voted under these estimates was not expended by them where the government saw it was not actually required, and as a result, a considerable saving in expenditure was effected.

The estimates just submitted to the House, are acknowledged by the more fair-minded of tories, as appearing very favorable when scrutinized. They admit that it is everywhere apparent that the most rigid economy has been practised in making them up. The frequent complaint has been raised by the tory press that superannuations and dismissals were a subterfuge, made simply to afford vacancies in the civil service, of both inside and outside branches, for government supporters. If that accusation bore on its face the element of truth then it would be difficult indeed for Liberals to deny the oft-repeated statement, that the spoil system was being introduced into Canadian affairs by the present government. But it so transpires, and all the facts which are brought out and those which remain to be produced, plainly testify that the offices vacated have been rendered vacant in the interests of economy—the fundamentale principl of Liberal politics. There have been forty-two superannuations and fourteen retiring gratuities made already with more to follow. The Finance Minister informed the House that this course had effected a large saving to the country. And why? Because, although in a few isolated cases vacancies made by officials, who were superannuated on account of age or infirmity, had been filled, nevertheless the great majority of the offices so vacated were abolished. In the determination to economise, without prejudicing the efficiency of the service, the government have had to turn a deaf ear to the clamours of their friends for office, and resolutely shun the seductive and well-beaten path travelled by their tory predecessors when satisfying the demands of their followers. The country ought then to be seized with a feeling of comfortable assurance of the honest intentions of the new government as indicated by the estimates just brought down to parliament. As the matter now stands the estimated cost of running the government of the country, for the next year, is one and a half millions less than what the late government required to do the work for the fiscal year now drawing to a close.

It seems somewhat singular that a covert threat is given out by the opposition that, by the aid of their friends in the Senate, they may make an attempt to defeat the endeavor of the government to repeal the Franchise Act. All the more strange when it is considered what a great advantage this same act gave them over the Liberals in days gone by, and now that it has pased into the possession of the liberal majority, why they should wish their opponents to have and use this potent machinery which would afford liberals the same partisan advantages, is a matter to be wondered at. There is an overwhelming Conservative element in the members constituting the Senate. The figures are 65 Conservatives to 16 Liberals. It is the aim of the government to establish a franchise that will be fair and just to all, and one would naturally suppose that the party to be the

Liver Ills

Like biliousness, dyspepsia, headache, constipation, sour stomach, indigestion are promptly cured by Hood's Pills. They do their work easily and thoroughly. Best after dinner pills. 25 cents. All druggists. Prepared by C. I. Hood & Co., Lowell, Mass. The only Pill to take with Hood's Sarsaparilla.

Hood's Pills

THOUGHTS ON DUTY.

The gods are just, and of our pleasant vices
Make instruments to scourge us.
—Selected.

There are few questions in this world so frequently agitated, of which the solution is more important to each puzzled mortal, than that upon which starts every sage's discovery, every novelist's plot—that which applies to man's life, from the first sleep in the cradle—"What will be done with it?"—Bulwer.

Be what nature intended you for, and you will succeed; be anything else, and you will be ten times worse than nothing.—Sydney Smith.

Many a man pays for his success with a slice of his constitution.—Selected.

No man struggles perpetually and victoriously against his own character; and one of the first principals of success in life is so to regulate our career as rather to turn our physical constitution and natural inclinations to good account than to endeavor to counteract the one or oppose the other.—Bulwer.

He that hath a trade hath an estate.—Franklin.

Nature fits all her children with something to do.—Lowell.

The measure of man's learning will be the amount of his voluntary ignorance.—Thoreau.

There is only one real failure in life possible, and that is to be true to the best one knows.—Canon Farrar.

Let men of all rank, whether they are successful or unsuccessful, whether possible, and that is not to be true to the best one knows.—Canon Farrar.

Who does the best his circumstance allows,
Does well, acts nobly; angels could do no more.
—Young.

TRENTON TALK.

Not a Rumor, But An Ascertained Fact What a Reporter Has to Say About the Case of Mrs. D. N. Ostrander.

Our reporter called at the cosy residence of Mrs. D. N. Ostrander, Trenton, and was met at the door by a bright, sprightly and energetic lady, who turned out to be no less than Mrs. Ostrander herself, and who told how she was restored from a condition of misery to one of health and strength by the use of Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills.

Said Mrs. Ostrander: 'I have been a great sufferer for many years with my heart and nerves, and was almost a complete wreck. When going around the house I would get so bad that I had to lie down on the lounge until I could recover my breath. This occurred several times during the day. At night I could hardly sleep at all, and when I would drop off to sleep would wake up with a start, followed by a suffocating feeling as if my heart had stopped beating for ever. I have had to have my feet put in hot water, and have hot cloths put across my body before I could recover, in fact this was almost a nightly occurrence. Pen cannot portray what my feelings were. I got very languid and weak, had no ambition, and thought that everything was going wrong with me. I grew morbid in mind, lost my appetite, and had to force myself to eat what little I did. I was reduced almost to a skeleton, weighing only 90 pounds at the time I commenced to use Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills, and I can tell you I would have given but little for my chances of living much longer. Several doctors attended me, and I have taken all kinds of proprietary medicines, but without avail. I got a box at last of Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills at Shurle's drug store, and thought that I would try them as a last resort. The result was simply marvelous. I began to improve from the first few doses, and noticed a big difference before I had taken one box. Now I sleep well, the suffocating feeling is completely gone. I have splendid strength, and my from whom all information can be obtained. Money received on investment at good interest, and money loaned on easy terms of repayment.

President, M. S. Madole Esq; Vice Pres., G. W. Gibbard Esq., F. W. Morris, T. D. Pruyn, J. J. Taylor, Chas. Frizzell, Dr. G. W. Edwards, W. P. Deroche. Solicitors Messrs. Deroche and Madden. Valuator, W. Embury; Sect. Treasurer and Agent, Irvine Parks.

Apply to I. Parks. Agent.

Pain-Killer.

(PERRY DAVIS')

A Sure and Safe Remedy in every case and every kind of Bowel Complaint is

Pain-Killer.

This is a true statement and it can't be made too strong or too emphatic.

It is a simple, safe and quick cure for

Cramps, Cough, Rheumatism,
Colic, Colds, Neuralgia,
Diarrhœa, Croup, Toothache.

TWO SIZES, 25c. and 50c.

VERY LARGE BOTTLES 50 CENTS.

Relief for Lung Troubles

The D. L. EMULSION

In CONSUMPTION and all LUNG DISEASES, SPITTING OF BLOOD, COUGH, LOSS OF APPETITE, DEBILITY, the benefits of this article are most manifest.

By the aid of The "D. & L." Emulsion I have got rid of a hacking cough which had troubled me for over a year, and have gained considerably in weight. I liked this Emulsion so well I was glad when the time came around to take it.

T. H. WINGHAM, C.E., Montreal

50c. and $1 per Bottle

DAVIS & LAWRENCE CO., LTD., MONTREAL

FRUIT & ORNAMENTAL TREES

700 ACRES.

SHRUBS, ROSES, VINES AND SEED POTATOES.

WE have the largest assortment and employ the very latest and most improved methods for propagating. All stock carefully packed under our personal supervision, and all new varieties tested at our trial farms before being catalogued. These are the only testing orchards connected with any Nursery in the Dominion.

Agents Wanted to Represent us.

Special attention given to Park, Cemetery and Boulevard orders. Estimates furnished for supplying entire orchards.

Why buy of foreign concerns or of middlemen when you can purchase as cheaply from us and get better value.

Our stock is Canadian grown and acclimated.

Catalogue (English or French) free on application.

STONE & WELLINGTON, Toronto, Ontario.

FONTHILL NURSERYMEN,

The Leading Canadian Tree Men

Madden's Enamel is the only stove pipe varnish that does not smell or smoke when applied to stove pipes, ranges, grates, etc. Ask your dealer for it. 45tf

"Not Exactly Right." Thousands of people are in this condition. They are not sick and yet they are by no means well. A single bottle of Hood's Sarsaparilla would do them a world of good. It would tone the stomach, create an appetite, purify and enrich the blood and give wonderful vigor and vitality. Now is the time to take it.

struggle. All Europe may be plunged in a bloody war inside of a month.

A CLERGYMAN in Western Ontario was brought up with a short turn last week for repeating some choice gossip reflecting upon the character of a lady member of his flock. To listen to the scandal monger is bad enough, but to repeat the stories is not only ungentlemanly but unwise.

MR. WHITNEY, the leader of the Conservative opposition in the Ontario Legislature, and we use the words advisedly, for the Patrons vie with the Tories as an opposition party, intends making a tour of Western Ontario this summer. Mr. Whitney has need to do a lot of missionary work to even hold his own against the economical, capable and able administration of the Hon. Mr. Hardy.

IN 1878, when the Liberals were deposed from power, the annual expenditure on account of civil service salaries was about $800,000. When they resumed the reins of Government last year they found it had swelled to $1,400,000. With commendable promptitude the Liberals have started in to reduce this excessive expenditure and already a large number of unnecessary officials have been dismissed and a number of useless offices abolished.

OUR esteemed contemporary, The Beaver, is grieviously disappointed with the government. It expected nothing in the way of reforms from the Tory administration and therefore was not disappointed. It expected great things from the Laurier Government, but they are not undoing the evil of the late administration quite rapidly enough to suit our cotem and it is in a measure disappointed. It still has hope, however, and if it will compass its soul in patience for a few years we believe the Government will come up to its "great expectations." Our cotem together with thousands of honest meaning Conservatives have now good reason to feel thankful that we have an honest, capable and business-like government in power at Ottawa, and one that will strive to promote the best interests of Canada.

THE KIND THAT CURES.

The Great Spring Health Renewer.

Paine's Celery Compound for Men, Women and Children.

Read the following testimony that comes from Miss Blake, of 303 Hughson Street, Hamilton:

"For years I suffered greatly, and was under the care of doctors who finally told me I was going into consumption. I was becoming worse through the use of medicines, and I gave up my doctors. While in a very critical condition, not able to sleep or rest, always faint and weak, appetite and digestion bad, and my system run-down and little life left in me, I commenced to use Paine's Celery Compound. After taking one bottle I felt much relieved. I have used in all seven or eight bottles, and am now a new woman, can enjoy life, and am as well as I wish to be. Many thanks for your great medicine."

A Triumph Won. Before taking Doan's Kidney Pills I felt that diabetes was fast tightening its grip upon me. Now I know that it has been met and defeated. I have used the pills steadily for some time, and am now in the full enjoyment of health, and shall always be glad to testify to the merits of this triumphant medicine.

RICHARD LYMAN,
St. John, N. B.

Wanted—An Idea Who can think of some simple thing to patent? bring you wealth. Write JOHN WEDDERBURN & CO., Patent Attorneys, Washington, D. C., for their $1,800 prize offer suppose that the party to be the most interested in the passage of such a law, ought surely to be the party that has lost control of the election machinery which so long furthered their schemes for retention of power. It seems evident that it would be a wild course to pursue in obstructing repeal, or in blocking the passage of a proper franchise bill in the Senate, yet if followed to that end the tory party are deserving of a good dose of their own medicine at the hands of Liberal officials. It may be injudicious to adopt the various provincial franchises as a basis of federal representation, but in the absence of any better method being submitted, the most feasible plan that recommends itself as a fair and economic one should be accepted.

It is understood that the plebiscite bill will soon be introcuced by the Hon. Mr. Fisher into the House. There are already certain vague rumours floating about as to the provisions contained in the measure. It is certain, however, that apart from enacting the necessary machinery for testing the sentiment of Canada upon the advisibility of adopting a prohibitory liquor law, it will be complete in all its parts and will give, if carried at the polls, the means to attain the desired end of the abolition of the liquor traffic. Looking to the future in the possibility of prohibition becoming an accomplished fact, some provision must be embodied in the bill to make up the direct loss to the Dominion exchequer of about $8,000,000 of revenue received yearly from liquor. It is no small problem to be solved. Indirect taxation has been pushed to its last limit, and some other means must be looked to for supplying the deficit that would arise by the adoption of a prohibitory liquor law. The poor man's necessaries of life will not suffer any greater exactions, and the rich man's luxuries already are burdened to an extent that smuggling is apparently on the increase. The plan of direct taxation, it is hinted, may have to be resorted to in the event of prohibition being an established fact, and in that case the direct tax would not fall far short of $1.50 per capita, or about $7.50 per family, annually, taking the average at five persons to the family. At present much of the current comment on the question is mere side speculation. Eventually the stern facts have got to be faced and thoroughly threshed out. It is to be hoped that, although the element of fanaticism will pervade the temperance ranks to a certain extent, the more level-headed, Conservative temperance advocates will not permit, in the heat of battle, sentiment to out-weigh good judgment in dealing with this politico-moral and financial problem. A. V. W.

APPARENTLY A HOPELESS CASE

A Kincardine Banker who Suffered Distressingly from Indigestion—Apparently a Hopeless Case of Stomach Trouble Until South American Nervine was Used—His Words are: "It Cured Me Absolutely."

What this wonderful remedy for all forms of stomach trouble can do, is best told in the words of John Boyer, banker, Kincardine, Ont. "About a year ago, as a result of heavy work no doubt, I became very much troubled with indigestion; associated with it were those terrible distressing feelings that can hardly be described in any language. I had tried various methods of ridding myself of the trouble, but without success, until I was influenced to use South American Nervine. The result, and I gladly say it for the benefit of others—this remedy cured me, and I never hesitate to recommend it to any person affected with any form of stomach trouble." Sold by A. W. Grrnge & Bro.

Oh! So Tired. Many people are tired, worn out and weary in spring time, when they could easily be strong, vigorous and healthy by using Burdock Blood Bitters, which removes all morbid effete matter from the system and restores robust health.

appetite is such that I have to restrain myself for fear I eat too much. I can eat anything that is set before me and am better now than I have been for years. Am increasing in weight right along, and feel that life is worth the living, thanks to Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills. I recommend them very highly to those suffering from heart and nerve troubles as I did."

Right in His Line.

MRS. Once-Young (sweetly)—I should so like to sit for you, Mr. Fledgeling-Artist.

Mr. Fledgling-Artist—I should be delighted.

Mrs. Once-Young—What are you working at now?

Mr. Fledgeling-Artist—Studying the antique.—Brooklyn Life.

Much Too Literal.

People who take all things literally are apt to tread on other people's toes. The man who walked in where he saw a sign, "Walk in," and who was ordered out, was a literal man; and so was he who went into a pawnbroker's shop and demanded 40 shillings because there was a placard in the window that read:

"Look at this watch for 40s."

"I looked at it," said he, "and now I want my £2."

The most amusing incident we have heard is that of the countryman who, while sauntering along a city street, saw a sign:

"Please ring the bell for the caretaker."

After reflecting for a few minutes he walked up and gave the bell such a pull that it nearly came out by the roots. In a few minutes an angry-faced man opened the door.

"Are you the caretaker?" asked the bell-puller.

"Yes; what do you want?"

"I saw that notice, so I rang the bell, and now I want to know why you can't ring the bell yourself!"—Tit-Bits.

Call & Tuttle.

He was a typical hayseed, with a spray of blonde bristles protruding from his Adam's apple. He read the sign over the door, "Call &, Tuttle," with a puzzled expression and then entered the office.

"What can we do for you, sir?" asked the manager blandly, washing his hands with imaginary soap, and bowing.

"I want to tuttle."

"You want to what?" asked the bewildered manager.

"I want to tuttle. I read your sign, 'Call & Tuttle.' You see, I've called, and now I want to tuttle. Where do you—"

Several of the young lady clerks giggled, and the manager gently but firmly led him out, and warned him impressively if he was seen in that neighborhood again he would be turned over to the police.—Tammany Times

A Record Breaker.

He—"They have a saying now that all the world's a wheel."

She—"To be sure it is. And it's a scorcher, too, whirling at the rate of more than 1000 miles an hour."

Tobacco Heart.—Much heart and nerve weakness is caused by undue use of tea, coffee, or tobacco; palpitation, nervousness, irritability, excitability, lack of confidence, etc, are sure symptoms. Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills bring ready relief, by steadying the nerves and regulating the heart. They are a true heart and nerve food.

CASTORIA.

The fac-simile signature of Chas. H. Fletcher is on every wrapper.

BICYCLES,

We have an elegant range of Bicycles direct from the best makers.

COLUMBIA, STEARNS, HARTFORD, UTICA AND OHIO WHEELS.

A $65.00 Wheel for $50.00.

DROP IN AND LOOK AT THEM.

NO ONE CAN UNDERSELL US IN SHOES,

SEE THEM

HAINES & LOCKETT,

4 BIG SHOE STORES

NO CREDIT. ONE PRICE.

New Spring Gent's Wear

Just opened out. New Scotch English and Canadian Suitings and Pantings, in all the Latest Patterns. Black, Blue, Brown Worsteds for Overcoatings at Popular Prices.

Nice Suits Made to Order from $12.50 Upwards

Please call before purchasing and inspect our stock

R. FORD. T. G. DAVIS.

TOWN COUNCIL.

Council Chamber,
April, 20th, 1897.

Council met in regular session, mayor Ward presiding, present, Leonard, Alexander, Dey, Ming, Madole, Carson, Perry, Aylsworth.

A communication from the town clerk of Gravenhurst re grievance against the Fire Underwriters Association was read and ordered laid on the table.

A communication from Margaret Howe re the establishment of a Poor House was read and ordered filed.

A communication re the proposed action of the town claiming $50 from the Waterworks Company for breach of contract was read and ordered filed.

A claim of Wm. McFarlane for damages occasioned by his horses taking fright at the sprinkling cart was read and no action taken.

The tenders for supplies and work were opened and read.

On motion the tender for lumber was not accepted and the clerk instructed to advertise for further tender.

The tender of J. G. Fennell for wire nails at $2.45 per keg was accepted.

The tender of Ben Johnston $7 per week for building and repairing sidewalks, he to supply a horse and rig was accepted.

The tender of Jno. Chatterson, $1.75 per day, for street sprinkling was accepted.

The special committee re the proposed grant towards the establishment of a Citizens Band were granted further time to report.

The Street Committee were reported recommending the payment of T. H. Waller's account for tile. Adopted.

The report of the Poor and Sanitary Committee from April 6th to 20th, $23 85 was read and adopted.

Dr. Leonard gave notice that next week he would move to amend the by-law relating to obstructions on the streets.

The clerk was instructed to reply to the communication from the city council of Toronto re tax exemptions informing them that a delegate from the council would attend the proposed convention to be held in that city during the Industrial Fair.

The communication from the town of Gravenhurst re grievance against the Fire Underwriters Association was fyled.

The Mayor, the Chief and the Police Magistrate were appointed a committee to devise a scheme to get rid of tramps.

$25 was placed at the disposal of the the Poor and Sanitary Committee and $30 was placed in the hands of the Chief for street purposes.

ACCOUNTS.

Ben Johnston, 10½ days, $11 95; J. G. Fennell, supplies, 86.40; Geo. E. Hinch, two weeks night watch, $15.50; Jno. C. Huffman, drawing hose to fire, 50c.

Edda McCabe, Hay Bay, is erecting new sheds.

THE ONLY ONE.

Dodd's Kidney Pills Cure where all other Remedies Fail.

BRIGHT'S DISEASE NOT INCURABLE.

But there's only One Cure in the World, and that we have Named.—Hundreds Testify to Cures.—Never a Failure Recorded.

It used to be said, "If you have Bright's Disease, it won't be long before people are walking slow behind you."

Bright's Disease affects brainy men particularly. The brainier and more active a man, the more liable he is to Bright's Disease. Bright's Disease is a disease of the Kidney. It is the name given to the fatty degeneration of those organs. It is caused by excessive use of alcholic drinks. It is caused by excessive eating of rich food. It may be caused by exposure to cold and moisture. It may be caused by improper living.

But it's not with the CAUSE we have to deal. It is with the CURE.

It used to be thought that Bright's Disease was incurable. We know better now. Restore the Kidneys to health, and you may eat what you like, drink what you like, work as hard or be as active as you like, and bid defiance to death-dealing Bright's Disease.

But woe to the man who doesn't take care of his Kidneys! When they cease to filter the blood, the blood reeks with poison. Urine actually flows in the veins. You die a lingering death. The spine and extremities first; the brain last. Dying at the bottom while living at the top?

Bright's Disease may be cured by DODD'S KIDNEY PILLS, which restore the Kidneys, making them filter the blood properly. DODD'S KIDNEY PILLS are the ONLY SPECIFIC FOR BRIGHT'S DISEASE. They were compounded just for that purpose. They have cured hundreds of cases. They will cure YOUR Kidneys. Try them. Fifty cents a box. For sale at all druggists.

WM G. WADE, 940 Queen East, Toronto, says:—"I have used thirty-six boxes of Dodd's Kidney Pills and am cured of Bright's Disease after all else had failed."

T. E. CRAIG, 769 Queen East, Toronto, says:—"Never expecting a cure of Bright's Disease, I have been agreeably disappointed by a few boxes of Dodd's Kidney Pills."

MISS MAUDE COTTERELL, Belleville, Ont., says:—"I have used two boxes of Dodd's Kidney Pills and have been cured of what the doctor said was Bright's Disease."

A Cripple for Life.

walk without crutches, and have never used them since. I was able to

SO DOCTORS SAID CONCERNING RICHARD B. COLLINS.

He Spent Months in the Toronto Hospital Without Any Benefit—Pink Pills Cure Him After All Other Treatment Failed.

From the Echo, Wiarton, Ont.

The Echo presents to its readers the following plain statement of fact, with the simple comment that a medicine that can perform so remarkable a cure is simply invaluable, and it is no wonder that the aggregate of its sales throughout the country is enormous.

I, Richard B. Collins, hereby make the following statement, which can be confirmed by any number of witnesses in this section of the country. I first began to complain about five years ago. I had then been working in a fish shanty, and was wet almost the whole time, summer and winter. I was then confined to the house for three months. This was my first attack and on getting better I commenced work again the first of the following February and continued at it until the next January when I took a much worse attack. The doctors pronounced it rheumatism and after treating me for that disease until about the first of May, they discovered that my trouble was disease of the hip joint, and advised me to go to the hospital. I went to Toronto and stayed in the hospital five weeks and then returned home. I, however, did not recover, and was compelled during the following summer to go back to the hospital where I remained three months, getting worse all the time. I was told I could not be cured and when I left was only able to walk by the aid of crutches. I then came home and was not there long before I was taken to my bed. I confined in this state until January following, when I was advised by several friends to try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. I took their advice and before I had finished the fifth box I began to improve, and by the time I had completed a dozen boxes I was able to working in the woods and have no trouble from the hip unless over-exerted During the last three years I have spent $300.00 in doctors' bills, and medicines, trying everything recommended, but without any good results until I took Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, to which I owe my restored condition, as the doctors gave up all hopes of ever seeing me out of bed alive and well. I may say that before I began taking Pink Pills during my last attack, I put in many a night so bad that I never expected to be alive in the morning."

Rheumatism, sciatica, neuralgia, partial paralysis, locomotor ataxia, nervous headache, nervous prostration and diseases depending upon humors in the blood, such as scrofula, chronic erysipelas, etc., all disappear before a fair treatment with Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. They give a healthy glow to pale and sallow complexions and build up and renew the entire system. Sold by all dealers and post paid at 50c. a box or six boxes for $2.50 by addressing the Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont. Do not be persuaded to take some substitute.

Promoted for Taking a Bath.

In the Crimea, during the winter, Gen. Canrobert was in the habit of going about among the men of his command, incognito, to see what they were about, and to learn their wants and encourage the soldiers if they needed encouragement. One morning, on one of these tours, he came upon a young conscript who had stripped himself to the waist and was bathing his body with handfuls of snow.

"That's an odd sort of soap you're using," exclaimed the General.

"Oh, it's good enough," said the soldier. "You see I'm young, and more than that I'm a Lorrainer from Nancy, and a fellow-provincial of Gen. Drouot, who shaved himself with snow on the march from Moscow, you know, with the mercury thirty degrees below freezing. The old fellows in my company, you see, bother me and make fun of me because I have no beard, and since I can't shave out of doors like Drouot, I have to do this to show those old fellows that I'm no more afraid of the cold than I am of the enemy."

"Well," said the Canrobert, "what if I should give you another way of getting even with those old fellows?"

"Why, I shouldn't mind," answered the young soldier.

"I'll make you a corporal," said the General.

The soldier laughed. "I guess that won't go," said he. "My Colonel wouldn't have it."

"I'm higher up than your Colonel; I am Gen. Canrobert."

The young soldier was in transports—especially as the same day he was made a corporal in the presence of the regiment.

Two London Italians recently had a bicycle wedding in a Leicester square church. The bride and groom rode on a "sociable" to the church followed by the guests on 12 sociables and 16 single bicycles.

Matthew Shannon, Centreville, will build a fine residence at Enterprise this summer.

Richard Lawson has been improving the appearance of his meat market by a coat of paint.

Dog poisoners have been getting in their work in town of late. Eight dogs were poisoned last week.

J. G. Loucks improved the appearance of his meat market by the erection of a new awning last week.

M. S. Madole has removed his office to the front of the shop and has made several other improvements and alterations.

The cantata, "Easter Joy," given in the Eastern Methodist church last Friday evening was well attended and proved highly enjoyable.

The collections in the various churches on Sunday last were large. The offertory in the Eastern church was in the neighborhood of $136, the Western church netted something over $70, and the English church about $50.

On Good Friday the remains of the late Mrs. Granger and her daughter, Mrs. Peter McPherson, were taken from the vault and buried side by side in the Napanee cemetery. Quite a number from Napanee Mills were present at the ceremony.

AGENTS. "The Best Popular Life of Her Majesty I have ever seen," writes Lord Lorne, about "Queen Victoria." Sales unprecedented. Easy to make five dollars daily. Big commission. Outfit free to canvassers.

THE BRADLEY GARRETSON CO., Toronto.

The Rev. E. Roberts, of Belleville, occupied the pulpit of the Western church last Sunday, both morning and evening. The reverend gentleman's discourse was marked by a vigor and earnestness that carried conviction and the services were much enjoyed by the large congregations present.

THE WORLD.

The world is well lost when the world is wrong,
No matter how men deride you,
For if you are patient and firm and strong
You will find it in time (though the time be long)
That the world wheels round beside you.

If you dare to sail first o'er a new thought track,
For a while it will scourge and score you,
Then, coming abreast with a skillful tack,
It will clasp your hand and slap your back
And vow it was there before you.

The world means well, though it wander and stray
From the straight, short cut to duty;
So go ahead in that path, I say,
For after a while it will come your way
Bringing its pleasures and beauty.

—ELLA WHEELER WILCOX.

Proverbs Remodled.

A rolling gait gathers remorse.

A bird on the plate is better than two in the kitchen.

A run in time saves the nine.

The pitcher that goes to the box too often is apt to get knocked out some day.

Coming-out events cast their invitations before.

10 YEARS A SUFFERER

From Kidney Disease—Gravel and Stricture—An Absolute Cure Found in South American Kidney Cure—A Remedy that Never Fails in the Most Distressing Cases.

The solid evidence of experience is behind South American Kidney Cure. Mr. Wilbur Goff, of Chippewa, Ont., is simply one of hundreds who have spoken in equal strong terms. He says: "After taking six bottles of South American Kidney Cure I am completely cured of stricture and gravel, having suffered from these complaints for over ten years. I found great relief after taking one bottle but continued the remedy until I was perfectly cured and I am now enjoying the best of health." Sold by A. W. Grange & Bro.

The Anglican church, Picton, has a surpliced choir.

This Spring. Spring is at hand, winter is nearly over. Are you ready for summer? Is your blood pure? Burdock Blood Bitters purifies and enriches the blood, cures dyspepsia, bad blood, sick headache, etc. B. B. B. removes every trace of impurity from the Blood, from a common pimple to the worst scrofulous sore.

six weeks ago, have taken three boxes which have cured me perfectly of Bright's Disease.

WITH ALL HER FAULTS.

I.

When I was but a lad,
Long ago,
This simple lore I had,
Don't you know,
That every maiden fair
Was an angel unaware,
And I wondered when and where
The wings would grow.

II.

But wiser now am I,
A good deal,
Tho' I've sometimes seen them fly,
Yet feel
They are something just between
Man and angel in their mien,
Since my Phillida I've seen
On her wheel.

III.

She does not show a sign
Of a wing;
But her figure is divine,
And the fling
Of her abbreviated gown,
As she flickers through the town,
Might buy the throne and crown
Of a king!

IV.

No halo of a saint
Does she wear,
Such as Lippo loved to paint;
But her hair—
As when all heaven streams
Thro' the landscape of my dreams—
In such glory floats and gleams
On the air!

V.

But not all for heaven she,
Not too good!
Yet she's good enough for me
In any mood,
And if her dashing wheel
Took her even to the dell,
Thither, too, I'd gently steal—
Yes, I would!

—CHARLES G. D. ROBERTS.

AN OLD STORY.

Why the Widow Would Succeed If She Kept Mum.

Cobble—Mrs. Crabson is going to start a boarding-house.

Stone—What! the widow I met the other day?

Cobble—Yes. You know she has been very unfortunate.

Stone—So I judge. She wouldn't be starting a boarding-house if she hadn't been.

Cobble—But, seriously, old fellow, she is a fine woman.

Stone—I have no doubt of it.

Cobble—And you know she comes of one of the best families in the country.

Stone—Does she?

Cobble—Yes, indeed. You know at one time they were very wealthy.

Stone—Were they?

Cobble—Oh, yes. She used to ride around in her carriage and have a retinue of servants.

Stone—Is that so?

Cobble—Yes, sir. There wasn't a prouder or more exclusive lady in the land than she.

Stone—What was the trouble? Husband die?

Cobble—Yes. Circumstances very sad. He was a very bright man. Exceedingly so. But he failed suddenly, and died of a broken heart. Sad case, isn't it?

Stone—Very.

Cobble—That woman ought to succeed, don't you think?

Stone—She will, old man, she will. That is, on one condition. She must keep silent.

Cobble—Why?

Stone—If she tells that story people will think she has been in the business all her life.

Stands for BLACKS, of this there's no doubt,—
The black on these faces will never wash out;
For wool, silk and cotton, Black Diamond Dyes
Are used without fear by the prudent and wise.

The above is taken from "Excelsior Rhyming A B C Book, Illustrated." Each letter of the Alphabet is 2½ inches long; no two letters of the same color. Just the Book for the little ones. Sent for 3-cent stamp to any address.

WELLS & RICHARDSON CO., Montreal.

NEVER WORRY

Take them and go about your business—they do their work while you are doing yours.

Dr. Agnew's Liver Pills are purely vegetable and act upon the liver without disturbance to the system, diet, or occupation, 20 cents a vial.

They are system renovators, blood purifiers, and builders; every gland and tissue in the whole anatomy is benefited and stimulated in the use of them.

CASTORIA.

The fac-simile signature of Chas. H. Fletcher is on every wrapper.

Cheapside.

The busiest Dry Goods establishment in the county

AND WHY?

Because customers find the best and largest assortment of the newest and most fashionable goods and at prices which always suit them, and are always sure that they will have the best of attention, as it is considered a pleasure to show goods.

The stock is now fully assorted in all the departments, and should you want anything in the following lines you will have a large assortment to select from.

Millinery, Dress Goods, Dress Trimmings, Silks, Blouse Silks, Blouses, Wrappers, Parasols, Gloves, Hosiery, Corsets, Prints, Cretonnes, Art Muslins, Cottonades, Shirtings, Ginghams, White and Grey Cottons, Gents Furnishings.

ORDERED CLOTHING A SPECIALTY HERE.

ONE PRICE ONLY. TERMS CASH.

W. MOWAT.

DR WOOD'S

NORWAY PINE SYRUP.

THE MOST PROMPT,

Pleasant and Perfect Cure for Coughs, Colds, Asthma, Bronchitis, Hoarseness, Sore Throat, Croup, Whooping Cough, Quinsy, Pain in the Chest and all Throat, Bronchial and Lung Diseases.

The healing anti-consumptive virtues of the Norway Pine are combined in this medicine with Wild Cherry and other pectoral Herbs and Balsams to make a true specific for all forms of disease originating from colds.

Price - 25c. and 50c.

DOAN'S KIDNEY PILLS

Price 50 cents per Box, or 6 for $2.50. At Druggists, or Mailed on Receipt of Price by T. MILBURN & CO., Toronto.

Burdock

Education in Russia.

A few figures, taken from official sources, and referring to the first years of the present decade, will throw considerable light on the matter of popular education in Russia. About 200,000 recruits are yearly enlisted in the army and of these only about 50,000 can read. Among the peasants proper, the percentage of illiterates rises to 95 per cent. In some parts * * * there is only one school to each 200 villages. If Russia had the same proportion as her neighbor, Sweden, for example, she would have about 250,000 schools, while she actually has only 18,000. Again, take Russia's enormous budget of 1,000,000,000 roubles. Of this only 500,000 are devoted to popular education—that is, one-eleventh part of what is devoted to the maintenance of the Imperial Court, one six-hundredth part of the cost of the army, and one two-thousandth part of the whole. At about the same time Great Britain was spending about £9,000,000 for elementary education, etc., with a population little more than a third of that of Russia. Moreover, about two-thirds of this paltry sum of 500,000 roubles goes in salaries of inspectors.—From "In the Land of Tolstoi."

Great Men Who Smoked.

Napoleon once said that tobacco smoking was a habit only fit to amuse duggards. This remark was somewhat in the nature of "sour grapes," he great man being unable to forget he effect of his first cigar. John Milton smoked a pipe of tobacco every night before retiring. Among other famous men who are mentioned as universal users of tobacco are Bismarck, Lord Brougham, Mr. Spurgeon, Emerson, Carlyle, Huxley, Victor Hugo, Bulwer Lytton, Tennyson, Gibbon, Charles Kingsley, Dickens and Thackeray. On the other hand, many great men have been opposed to the use of the weed. Some of these were Voltaire, Rosseau, Mirabeau and Swinburne, who is quoted as saying: "James I. was a knave, a tyrant, a fool, a liar and a coward: but I love him. I worship him, he arose he slit the throat of that blackguard Raleigh, who invented filthy smoking." This tirade is qualified by another writer, who says that tobacco has made more good husbands, good men, kind masters and indulgent fathers than any other blessed thing on this universal earth.

Curious.

A pearl that was afterward sold to a jeweler for $75 was found in the gizzard of a turkey in London recently.

WAITING.

Far away, by the jasper sea,
Three forms are walking, side by side,
And now and then they bend to gaze
Over the ocean wide.

And three of us but walk and pray
Beside a dark and boundless sea;
We cannot pierce the radiant glow
That folds the other three.

They watch above the rolling world,
Waiting till one, at God's command,
Shall cross the space that lies between
This and the further land.

And, Oh! I long for the years to pass;
And, Oh! I cry for the time to be
When they who are watching with eager eyes
Shall bend and beckon me.

So sang I but few weeks ago,
When, through the silence, a message came,
And one of us passed to the distant three,
Hearing with joy His name.

Four walk now by the jasper sea,
Turning earthward their radiant eyes,
Where two of us now, with yearning hearts,
Look ever to Paradise.

—ANNA B. BENSEL.

Scott's Emulsion makes the blood richer and improves the circulation. It increases the digestion and nourishes the body. It corrects diseased action and strengthens the nervous system. In a word, it places the body in the best possible condition for preventing the germs of Consumption from beginning or continuing their work. In that one sentence is the whole secret. Book covering the subject very thoroughly sent free for the asking.

SCOTT & BOWNE, Belleville, Ont.

PRIDE OF A VILLAGE.

Mrs. Silvester Dean Leveen was polishing her brass knocker. Her long, thin hands rubbed and rubbed till the little white curls on her forehead danced like street children. Yet the labor had no perceptible effect. The metal shone like light, but so it did when she began to clean it. It had shone like that yesterday and the day before, and, indeed, every day for 60 years. There was a smooth circle all around the knocker where her delicate hands had worn into the hard, black wood of the door. Nevertheless the old lady rubbed away just as she had done every morning since the spring of 1833, when she was brought a bride, into the house. She was the pride of Greenwich village then, and she meant to be still.

On this particular frosty morning Mrs. Leveen tarried longer than usual at her task. After the lion's head was satisfactory even to her sharp eyes, she worked on. But it was evident in the glances she shot across Bank street that her attention was not given wholly to the work of her hands. Neither was it diverted to her customary inspection of the neighbor's knockers. Theirs glistened like hers, and, besides, every time she looked up ly suffering from the associations you permit yourself."

Percy was frightened. The last time he had been rebuked in this temper by his aunt was when he was a boy. He meant no offense.

"I beg your pardon, Aunt Martha," he murmured.

Mrs. Leveen took her knitting from the table and worked busily at it till she was quite calm. She looked up after every few thrusts of her needle, indignantly at first, then coldly, and finally the habitual expression of kindness returned to her face.

"I dare say you are in a hurry to go to town, Percy, and I shall not detain you much longer. You may tell me something about this young—this girl. How old is she?"

"She is going on 19, Aunt Martha."

"Is she cultivated, educated? Come, Percy, tell me all about her."

"She went through the grammar school, I think, but she had to work after that. So she can't play the piano or sing, but she is a nice girl and can tend the house and cook, now that her mother is dead."

"That's right; she ought to be able

BLOOD BITTERS.

THE BEST SPRING MEDICINE

Cures all Blood Diseases, from a common Pimple to the worst Scrofulous Sore.

FARMERS ATTENTION.

Insure your property in the Lennox and Addington Mutual Fire Insurance Company.
Because it is a Home Company.
Because it is a Safe Company.
Because it is the cheapest and best.
Because it affords the most liberal policies to patrons.
Because it insures only (isolated) non-hazardous risks, as farm property, county churches hall and school houses.
Because it is the Farmer's Company managed by Farmers in the interest of farmers of the Counties of Lennox and Addington, Hastings Frontenac, Lanark and Leeds.

Officers—J. S. Ayl-worth President; B. C. Lloyd, Vice-President. Directors—A. C. Parks, T. C. Sills, W. R. Gordanier, I. F. Aylesworth. Honorary Directors—Jas. Ried, M.P.P., A. V. Price, Camden. C. R. Allison, Wm. Chesters, Fredericksburgh. D. W. Allison ex-M.P. Adolphustown; F. B. Guess, Col. Geo. Hunter Kingston; Allen Pringle, Ira. B. Hudgins, Richmond. The board meets at the Secretarie's office in the first Saturday of every month at one p.m.

J. N. McKim, Napanee.
N. A. Eaton, Napanee } Agents
Thos. B. Wilson, Newburgh }
M. C. BOGART Sec'y.-Treas

Murray & Lanman's
FLORIDA WATER

THE SWEETEST
MOST FRAGRANT, MOST REFRESHING
AND ENDURING OF ALL
PERFUMES FOR THE
HANDKERCHIEF, TOILET OR BATH.

ALL DRUGGISTS, PERFUMERS AND GENERAL DEALERS.

IN some parts of the world fire is yet produced in this difficult and arduous way. . . . . .

In Canada the people produce fire by the use of

E. B. Eddy's Matches.

Bay of Quinte Railway and Navigation Company

GENERAL PASSENGER TIME TABLE,

Eastern Standard Time. No. 13 Taking effect Dec. 2nd, 1895

Tweed and Tamworth to Napanee and Deseronto.

	Stations	Miles	No.2 A.M.	No.4 P.M.	No.6 P.M.
Lve	Tweed		6 50	....	3 00
	Stoco	3	6 58	....	3 10
	Larkins	7	7 10	....	3 25
	Marlbank	13	7 25	....	3 40
	Erinsville	17	7 40	....	3 55
	Tamworth	20	7 50	2 00	4 10
	Wilson*	24	....	....	....
	Enterprise	26	8 10	2 20	4 30
	Mudlake Bridge*	28	....	....	....
	Moscow	31	8 22	2 35	4 43
	Galbraith*	33	....	....	....
		35	8 35	....	4 55
Arr	Yarker	35	9 00	2 50	5 10
Lve	Yarker	39	9 13	3 02	5 23
	Camden East	40	9 18	....	....
	Toonson's Mills	41	9 23	3 15	5 30
	Newburgh	42	9 33	3 25	5 40
	Napanee Mills	49	9 50	3 40	5 55
Arr	Napanee	49	....	....	6 15
Lve	Napanee	54	....	....	6 30
Arr	Deseronto Junction	58	....	....	6 45

Kingston and Sydenham to Napanee and Deseronto.

	Stations.	Miles	No.2. A. M.	No.4. P.M.	No.6. P.M
Lve	Kingston	0	....	....	3 30
	G. T. R. Junction	2	....	....	3 40
	Glenvale*	10	....	....	4 00
	Murvale*		....	....	4 15
		19	....	....	4 30
Arr	Harrowsmith	23	8 00	....	....
Lve	Sydenham	19	8 20	....	4 31
	Harrowsmith	22	8 32	....	4 40
	Frontenac*	26	8 40	....	4 50
Arr	Yarker	26	9 00	2 50	5 10
Lve	Yarker	30	9 13	3 02	5 23
	Camden East	31	9 18	....	....
	Thousson's Mills	32	9 23	3 15	5 30
	Newburgh	34	9 33	3 25	5 40
	Napanee Mills	40	9 50	3 40	5 55
Arr	Napanee	40	....	....	6 15
Lve	Napanee, West End	40	....	....	6 30
	Deseronto Junction	45	....	....	6 45
Arr	Deseronto	49	....	....	6 45

B. G. CARTER, Asst. Gen. Manager

Deseronto and Napanee to Tamworth and Tweed.

	Stations.	Miles	No.1. A.M.	No.3. P.M.	No.5 P.M.
Lve	Deseronto	0	6 50	....	....
	Deseronto Junction	4	7 10	....	....
Arr	Napanee	9	7 25	....	....
Lve	Napanee	9	7 45	12 40	4 20
	Napanee Mills	15	8 00	12 15	4 35
	Newburgh	17	8 10	12 23	42
	Thomson's Mills*	18	8 20	....	....
	Camden East	19	8 33	12 30	4 50
Arr	Yarker	23	8 43	....	5 00
Lve	Yarker	23	9 00	12 45	5 15
	Galbraith*	25	....	....	....
	Moscow	27	9 15	1 00	5 27
	Mudlake Bridge*	30	....	....	....
	Enterprise	32	9 30	1 15	5 40
	Wilson*	34	....	....	....
	Tamworth	38	9 50	1 35	5 58
	Erinsville	41	10 00	....	6 10
	Marlbank	45	10 15	....	6 23
	Larkins	51	10 30	....	6 40
	Stoco	55	10 50	....	6 59
Arr	Tweed	58	11 00	....	7 05

Deseronto and Napanee to Sydenham and Kingston.

	Stations	Miles.	No.1 A.M.	No.3, P.M.	No.5 P.M
Lve	Deseronto	0	6 50	....	....
	Deseronto Junction	4	7 10	....	....
Arr	Napanee	9	7 25	....	....
Lve	Napanee	9	7 45	12 00	4 20
	Napanee Mills	15	8 00	12 15	4 35
	Newburg	17	8 10	12 23	4 42
	Thomson's Mills*	18	8 15	....	....
	Camden East	19	8 20	12 30	4 50
Arr	Yarker	23	8 33	12 45	5 00
Lve	Yarker	23	8 50	....	5 20
	Frontenac*	27	9 00	....	5 27
Arr	Harrowsmith	30	9 05	....	5 40
	Sydenham	34	....	....	5 55
Lve	Harrowsmith	30	9 05	....	....
	Murvale*	35	9 20	....	....
	Glenvale*	39	9 30	....	....
Arr	G. T. R. Junction	47	9 55	....	....
	Kingston	49	10 00	....	....

G. A. BROWNE, Gen. Pass. Agent

H. B. SHERWOOD Superintendent

Pretty soon the door opened and a young man in a carter's blouse came out. He saw the old lady across the street, though he pretended not to. He busied himself ostentatiously about the horses' heads for a moment and then turned back to the truck. Mrs. Leveen had seen him. She bent herself earnestly to the knocker and in a few strokes finished it off. Then she faced towards the street and fixed the truckman with her eyes till he had to look up.

"Good morning, Aunt Martha," he said, as he doffed his cap.

She beckoned to him to come to her.

"Good morning, Percy," she answered pleasantly, as he approached her, cap in hand. "Come in a moment. I wish to speak with you."

The interview he had dreaded for weeks was upon him now. He knew from the first it was inevitable, but day after day he had put it off, omitting his usual calls on his aunt, and avoiding her sight and summons. Now that she had caught him he was glad. As he followed the old lady into her prim, comfortable sitting-room he made a pitiful figure of humility, but in the meekness of his soul there was the cheerfulness of finality.

"Sit down, Percy," she said, in the sweet-toned voice he loved.

He took the chair she indicated, and she seated herself in her old rocker.

"Percy, dear," she began, "is it true that I hear; you mean to marry this girl?"

"Yes, Aunt Martha. I was going to tell you, but knowing as you were agin it—knowing that you would not like to have me do so—I was afraid to come to you about it."

"Don't twirl your cap, my dear; gentlemen don't do that, you know."

"I am sorry, Percy, you felt that way. It is my intention always to be kind and sympathetic. You should have been quite sure I would have heard your story through with understanding. Now, tell me everything. She is the daughter, I am told, of a German in Hudson street."

"That's right, aunt. Her father has the biggest corner grocery over there, and he has made his pile—I mean has made money since he's been there."

"How long has he been here?"

"Going on 25 years. He's almost an old Ninth-warder now. He's some in politics, and his family is right in it."

"Percy! I never knew them."

"I know, but you wouldn't. It ain't my fault. I wanted to have them all over to mother's so as you could be introduced to them."

The old lady looked as though she would answer this, but she did not. She was silent a moment before she proceeded.

"So her father is a grocer?"

"Yes; like Mr. Jamison, who you like well enough."

"Mr. Jamison is a gentleman, my dear. The misfortunes of his family can never alter that. The Jamisons are of the oldest Greenwich families on both sides. He is a grocer by necessity. This person of whom we are speaking is one by choice."

"Well, Aunt Martha, it's as good as being a truckman, and better."

Mrs. Leveen winced.

"You might have been a judge, like your father, or a senator, like your grandfather. I wanted you to enter political life."

"Politics is pretty low down these days," Percy remarked. "It ain't what it was. Besides, I tried to get an office from Mike McNamara, but he said I wouldn't do in any where the pay was as much as the trucking pays. And I guess that's about so."

The last sentence was cheerfully spoken. Mrs. Leveen looked at her nephew's ruddy cheeks and sighed.

"I do wish, Percy," she said, gently, "that you could have found some one in Greenwich. That part of Hudson street where these people live is way beyond the outskirts of the old village, out where the hog fields were till the immigrants began to settle around us."

"But what's the difference, Aunt Martha? It's all one now. There ain't no Greenwich any more. It's all just New York City, so what's the use of pretending?"

The impatience in the young man's tone amazed his aunt almost as much as the sentiment he uttered. Never before had he failed to show her respect. On the contrary, the humbleness of his demeanor had been a grievance to her; it did not become one of her own blood to manifest the same awe before her that an ordinary Ninth-warder did.

The old lady straightend in her chair, the lines about her mouth stiffened and her eyes glistened like her knocker as she answered:

"Percy Dean! You forget to whom you are speaking. You forget yourself, sir, and your good breeding is evident-she modest? Describe her to me, my dear. Is she pretty?"

Percy was encouraged by the few words of approval he had won.

"Aunt, she's a beaut', that's—"

"What do you say, a what?"

"I mean, she's a beauty. She's got blue eyes and blonde hair and the nicest, biggest, reddest cheeks. She ain't what you would call quiet; she's more lively-like. You ought to hear her laugh when we're down on the docks nights with the rest of the crowd. I'll bet you could hear her across the river in Hoboken. And jolly? If she gets a mug as is too fresh she can jolly him along to beat the band. But she's on the level, too. She does the square thing with her old man every clip. The housework has to be done before she's in for the game. And she slaves for her little sisters and brothers—just slaves for them, and yet she does it as willing. But then she's good to everybody; always ready to help out with work when neighbors are behind or sick or have company, and she sticks up for horses and cats and all like that. You wouldn't believe she was that way, though, to see her at a ball or dancing on excursion boats up the river. She's a good looker and a good dresser, and when she's out in full rig—well, say, she's a sight. The other fellows don't do nothing when we're out—"

Percy stopped short. Mrs. Leveen had risen suddenly, and she stood erect before him, tall and white and proud.

"Why, Aunt Martha!" he exclaimed.

"That's enough, Percy. Thank you. I see I have been wrong, all wrong, in this matter from the first. You shall have your way, for it is right. I consent."

"Oh, Aunt Martha," he cried, springing up and seizing her hand to kiss. "I am so glad. But I knew you would after hearing about her. And say, aunt, you ought to see her once. You couldn't help but like her and admire her. Everybody in the ward does. Why, do you know what they call her, the men down at the Grapevine? The way you looked then made me think of it. They call her the Pride of Greenwich Village."—New York Post.

Nitro, ven Free.

The subject of green manuring was discussed recently at a New York farmers' Institute. During the progress of the discussion Mr. J. H. Hale, the noted Connecticut peach grower, said:

The soil is a factory and in that old factory there may be a little raw material on hand, but to turn out a finished product in any considerable quantity we must furnish fresh raw material and an abundance of well-directed labor. Now, to get that raw material at the lowest possible cost is the question that has confronted me, and will confront any farmer who is working on a business basis. If we were going into the open markets to buy stable manure, as is talked of here, we would get the most valuable plant food there is; but it is bulky and expensive to handle compared with what we make on the farm. The greenest of all manuring I ever practiced was when I purchased stable manure here and took it up to Connecticut on barges. It cost fifteen dollars a cord to get it onto my farm. But when we come to the use of chemical fertilizers, we run upon a snag. They do not furnish the organic matter we need to lighten up our soils and improve its mechanical condition. In buying these fertilizers you must remember that the fertilizer men are shrewd, sharp fellows, as they ought to be. But when they take $10 worth each of phosphoric acid and nitrogen and potash, they say 'three times ten make forty dollars,' and the poor old farmer has to pay it. Now, if we will grow some of the leguminous crops, we can get our nitrogen for nothing. The potash costs four to five cents a pound. By turning some of these green crops under, we can get the most of our nitrogen for nothing.

"D. & L." MENTHOL PLASTER

I have prescribed Menthol Plaster in a number of cases, of neuralgic and rheumatic pains, and am very much pleased with the effects and pleasantness of its application.—W. H. CARPENTER, M.D., Hotel Oxford, Boston.

I have used Menthol Plasters in several cases of muscular rheumatism, and find in every case that it gave almost instant and permanent relief.—J. B. MOORE, M.D., Washington, D.C.

It Cures Sciatica, Lumbago, Neuralgia, Pains in Back or Side, or any Muscular Pains.

Price 25c. | Davis & Lawrence Co., Ltd, Sole Proprietors, MONTREAL.

SIGNS OF SPRING.

Premonitary symptoms of matrimonial fever are gathering wild flowers. For everything in the housekeeping line goes to Cupid & Co.

A fever for gardening comes over her.

He is seized with the fishing fever.

A purely imaginary longing for work—a delusion caused by spring fever.—

A Clever Tippler.

Polly—Yes; I really believe he was just a little bit tipsy.

Madge—What did you do?

Polly—What could I, when he told me my eyes had intoxicated him?—Philadelphia North American.

The bicycle raffle is catching on, and the number of wheels disposed of in this manner every week is astonishing. The raffle tickets are arranged in cumulative order and range in price from 1 cent to $1.50 for high grade wheels, $1 being the maximum limit on tickets for wheels of inferior make. The purchaser draws from a bunch of sealed envelopes and pays the price marked on the inclosed card. This method of selling tickets, which lends an additional element of chance to the lottery, has proved very effective. Strong, indeed, must be the will of the young

There are bandits nowadays as well as in the days of old. Business men have to meet what are known as business bandits. They may not commit violence with knife and pistol, but they resort to all manner of dishonest business methods, and the honest business man must be brave, strong and steady if he would meet and overcome them. The modern business man needs above all other qualifications—good health. Without good health, he may be naturally shrewd, bright and capable, but he will eventually fail. It takes a keen brain and steady nerves to be successful. Impure blood will befog the brightest brain and shake the steadiest nerves.

The greatest known blood-maker and purifier is Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. It corrects all disorders of the digestion, tones the liver, makes the appetite keen and assimilation perfect. Consequently the blood is plentifully supplied with the elements of nutrition and the body is properly nourished. It cures 98 per cent. of all cases of consumption. All good druggists sell it.

H. Gaddis, Esq., of No. 313 S. J. Street, Tacoma, Washington, writes: "I was taken ill in February, 1892, with headache and pain in my back. I called in a doctor and he came three times. He said I was bilious, but I kept getting worse. I took a cough so that I could only sleep when propped up in bed. My lungs hurt me and I got so poor that I was just skin and bone. I thought I was going to die. I tried a bottle of Doctor Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery and it did me so much good that I tried another one and it made me strong and well. It saved my life."

The People's Common Sense Medical Adviser. A large book of 1,008 pages over 300 illustrations. Every woman should have it. It is full of the information that women should possess. The best medical book ever published. It saves doctor's bills, worry of mind, and, more than all, days, weeks and months of sickness in every household where it finds a place. Whoever wants a copy of this book in strong paper covers may obtain it absolutely FREE by sending 31 one-cent stamps—to pay merely the cost of customs and mailing—to World's Dispensary Medical Association, Buffalo, N. Y. If a binding of cloth is preferred, send 50 stamps.

ON CARVING IN CLAY.

ART WORK THAT MAY BECOME A DELIGHT TO LADIES.

How to Proceed to Make Elegant Vases, Decorated Tiles, Etc.—All About the Clay and Its Condition—The Tools Required.

The London Queen informs its readers as to an interesting art, carving in clay. The following is reprinted. Reference is made to the illustration reproduced herewith:

The thickness of the clay forming the sides of a vase might be a trifle stouter than that desirable for perforating. A quarter inch limit should, however, be ample for all ordinary purposes. Suggesting, as it does, a comparison with carving in wood, I cannot do better than point out the cardinal points in which clay carving differs from that of his fellow in wood.

Granting our clay in suitable condition, the beginner might with profit attack the simple subject of the title at head of page (figure 18), an ivy leaf. To get an impression of this upon the clay the following simple method is available: Obtain a piece of thin tissue or tracing paper, and trace with a B or BB pencil the outline firmly on the tissue, then, reversing it, go over the outline again with the same soft black pencil. Apply this to the damp clay with a little pressure round the outline; by this means we shall obtain a tolerably distinct image of the outline ready for cutting.

In wood carving it is usual to go round such an outline with chisels of a suitable shape, and, striking downward, cutting the fibers to the extreme of an eighth or quarter of an inch. Such, now, will be our proceeding, but in place of the chisel or chisels—for the wood carver needs several even for the simple outline we have before us—we shall use a cutter, a thin blade, pointed out necessarily sharp, but thin. Holding this vertically, and its point buried in the clay to a depth of what we instinctively guess to be an eighth of an inch, we propel it along the outline, leaving a trench. Thus a limit is established of which our next proceeding takes advantage. This time not cutting, but what I cannot better side by side, as in illustration. Figure 16 is a suggestion for one side of a memento of the coming event, the celebration of the long reign of our gracious Queen. This, with the addition of end panels, containing the dates 1837-1897, will make an interesting souvenir of an occasion not likely to be repeated again for a long time to come.

MRS. KATHERINE A. TINGLEY.

The Woman Head of Theosophists Known as "The Crusaders."

"Truth, light and liberation for discouraged humanity," is the inscription in letters of gold on a purple banner which has nearly completed a circuit of the globe. It is borne by a small group of people calling themselves "Theosophical Crusaders." This party reached Toronto, on its way to New York, from which city it started around the world on June 13, 1896, on March 31. It held meetings in the Queen City on April 1 and 2, and then passed on. The leader of "The Crusaders" is Mrs. Katherine A. Tingley, and it is to her earnest efforts that the successful conduct of the crusade is chiefly due. The expedition first visited England, and has since been in France, Holland, Germany, Austria, Switzerland, Italy, Greece, Egypt, India, Australia, New Zealand, Samoa and the Hawaiian Islands. They again touched American soil at San Francisco Feb. 11, a little over a month ago. The object of the crusade being the conversion of the people of the world to theosophy, the crusaders, of course, held public and private meetings in all the countries they visited. They also gave "brotherhood suppers," to which the poor were invited, that the principles of theosophy might be explained to them and in order also to give them an opportunity to ask whatever question occurred to them concerning the faith they were asked to embrace. They claim that their mission has been to carry the gospel to all nations, proclaim to all men that new commandment "love one another." This they claim to have done and at their own expense. As no member of the society receives any pay whatever for services, there certainly can be no question of the sincerity of the motives, whatever may be the success of their efforts.

MRS. KATHERINE A. TINGLEY.

By all odds the most interesting figure in this crusade is Mrs. Tingley. The interest that attaches to her is due to the fact that the late William Q. Judge, who, at the time of his death a year ago, was president of the Theosophical Society in America, left a will in which he named Mrs. Tingley as his successor. Although but little known to members of the society before this time, she was easily identified by the executors of Mr. Judge's will by the photograph of her which he had placed among his papers.

In appearance Mrs. Tingley is rather tall and quite stout. She has a gracious manner and charming appearance.

Passing of Mrs. Beecher

A lovely life ended on March 8, 1897, when Mrs. Beecher died on the 10th anniversary of her famous husband's death. Mrs. Beecher was born in 1812, in West Sutton, Mass. She was the daughter of Dr. Bullard. She met Mr. Beecher first in 1830, when the latter was a student of Amherst College. They were married in 1837, and began housekeeping at Lawrenceville, Ind., moving afterward to Indianapolis. It was at their home in the latter city, it is said, that Harriet Beecher Stowe, the preacher's sister, got the inspiration which resulted in the production of "Uncle Tom's Cabin." In August of 1895 Mrs. Beecher went to Port Townsend, Wash., unattended, to celebrate

Merit Talks

"Merit talks" the intrinsic value of Hood's Sarsaparilla. Merit in medicine means the power to cure. Hood's Sarsaparilla possesses actual and unequalled curative power and therefore it has true merit. When you buy Hood's Sarsaparilla, and take it according to directions, to purify your blood, or cure any of the many blood diseases, you are morally certain to receive benefit. The power to cure is there. You are not trying an experiment. It will make your blood pure, rich and nourishing, and thus drive out the germs of disease, strengthen the nerves and build up the whole system.

Hood's Sarsaparilla

Is the best, in fact—the One True Blood Purifier. Prepared only by C. I. Hood & Co., Lowell, Mass.

Hood's Pills Do not purge, pain or gripe. All druggists. 25c.

HOUSES TO LET.

Two commodious dwellings on Centre St. Plenty of good water; hard and soft. For particulars apply to S. CASEY DENISON.

ACTIVE MEN WISHING PERMANENT and paying employment can secure the same by engaging with us to sell our HARDY SPECIALTIES AND SEED POTATOES. All Canadian grown. Outfit free. Salary paid weekly. Write to us for particulars, and secure exclusive territory.

PELHAM NURSERY CO.
17-1-a TORONTO, ONT.

REAL ESTATE AND INSURANCE

I have several good farms of 50, 100 and 200 acres, at most moderate prices, and very easy terms of payment.
Several dwellings in the Town of Napanee.
Farm lands and city lots in Manitoba.
Insurance in Stock and Mutual Companies.
Money to loan at 5 per cent. on good Real Estate property. Apply to
M. C. BOGART,
40tf Napanee.

T. W. SIMPSON, B.A., M.D., C.M.

Licentiate of the Royal College of Physicians Edinburgh,
Office—Dr. Grants' late residence, Bridge St

MARGARET P. SYMINGTON, M. D. C. M., Licentiate of Royal College of Physicians, Edinburgh.
Diseases of Women and Children.
Residence north side Market Square, 4th door west John street
Consulting hours 11 a.m. to 3 p.m., and 6 to 8 p.m. Telephone 87.

R. A. LEONARD, M.D., C.P.S.
Physician, Surgeon, etc.
Late House Surgeon of the Kingston General Hospital.
Office—North side of Dundas Street, between West and Robert Streets Napanee. 5:1y

HERRINGTON & WARNER
Barristers, etc.
MONEY TO LOAN AT LOW RATES
Office—Warner Block, East-st. Napanee. 5y

DEROCHE & MADDEN,
Barristers,
Attorneys-at-Law, Solicitors in Chancery, Conveyancers, Notaries Public, etc.
Office—Grange block
Money to Loan at "lower than the lowest" rates
H. M. DEROCHE, Q.C. 5.1y J. H. MADDEN

MORDEN & RUTTAN,
Barristers, Solicitors, etc.
Solicitors for the Merchant's Bank of Canada etc., etc.
Dundas Street, Napanee.
G. F. RUTTAN.
Private funds to loan at five per cent.

A. S. ASHLEY,
DENTIST
16 Years in Napanee.
34 Years Experience.
Rooms, - Albert Block, - Napanee

the fame always assure prospective victims that "nearly all the high numbers have been drawn." Thus encouraged, the young man grows reckless and draws three innocent-looking envelopes. The first ticket may read "49 cents." That is not bad, but the others may cost $1.33 and $1.46 respectively. Slowly and thoughtfully the victim pays the bill, while his friend, who holds the cards, smilingly sympathizes with him for a moment and then goes off to seek other game, leaving the speculator to reflect upon the fact that he is out $3.25 and has only three chances in 150 of winning a second hand wheel.

Adjusting the saddle properly has much to do with safe and comfortable riding. The rule should be to keep the saddle as near parallel to the bar as possible. Avoid tilting, especially backward. Breathe through the nose; if forced to breathe through the mouth, keep the tongue well pressed against the upper front teeth—to avoid inhalation of cold air, the force of which should be broken by passing through the nose and warmed for inspiration.

Jaap Eden. Michael Diakoff.

TWO EUROPEAN CHAMPIONS.

A sponge bath with tepid water and friction is beneficial immediately after a ride in the open air. Sponging with diluted alcohol relieves the muscular soreness and stiffness. Violent riding will produce heart disease. Women suffering from shortness of breath will find the exercise dangerous. Only a sponge and friction bath should be taken immediately after riding. The body is too fatigued; a full plunge is then too exhausting.

Michael Diakoff, a young Russian, is the latest bicycle racing sensation in England. Before he had been in Her Majesty's "tight little isle" two weeks he had won the twenty-five mile championship of the National Cyclists' Union. That was his first, and, so far, his only day on the English track for racing purposes. The brief despatches from London call him a "cycling phenomenon," and other names of the kind. Diakoff will go after other National Cyclists' Union championships, and it is probable that he will get some of them. English bicycle papers speak of the young Russian in terms of highest praise. Judging by his work in training they declare that he will cut an important figure in English racing this summer. London Wheeling says of him that he has a fine style, not unlike Harry Wheeler's, and that he has the material and motion of a fast flyer. Diakoff came to England with a record of having ridden more than twenty-six miles, unpaced, within the hour. Like most other European racers he goes in for long distance work rather than for sprinting. Diakoff's name is pronounced Mitchell Jaykoff.

Jaap Eden, the "flying Dutchman" of European cycling, is just now one of the most important figures in Paris. He has beaten Johnnie Johnson, Morin, whom the French papers call the "champion of the amateur world," and everybody else he has met. Eden has wonderful speed and endurance and is recognized as one of the best men on the bicycle tracks of Europe.

When a nut repeatedly forces its way off a screw, owing to the wearing of the thread, it is a good plan to cover the thread with rosin before screwing the nut tight. Before putting on the nut it should be slightly warmed.

Much of the trouble which is experienced with lamps is due to the fact that the wick is far too closely woven to burn easily. Keep the wick trimmed well and lamp clean. Be sure, too, to see that all the ventilation holes are an eighth of an inch thic, the ends of which are beaten out flat (see illustration figures 1, 2), and tempered. Wire of a square section is preferable to the round. Sometimes the ribs of an umbrella, if an old one be handy, can be utilized by the beginner with a little ingenuity, these having the advantages of toughness and straightness. Some, also, are V-shaped, and make up into capital veining or parting tools (figure 12), if rubbed down on a stone and finished with emery. But this is a digression. Having our chisel ready for use, we take it as we should a pen, but with the point directly toward us, and inserting one front of the blade a quarter of an inch from the outline, gently force the blade point foremost to the bottom of the trench we have previously cut till we think the chisel has reached the line, when we firmly draw or press the chisel forward, keeping the same angle as we started with. At the end of the stroke (which would be limited by an opposing line) we gently lift, by means of the blade, the severed clay. Should our guess as to the depth of the trench have been correct it will require but little humoring; most probably it will fall out of its own accord.

CARVING IN CLAY.

This is the principle for the carving of a clay surface. The facility of cutting the outline has a great advantage over the same process in wood, and likewise the removal of a depth of clay from around the outline is of a far simpler and quicker nature in the clay than in wood. The more subtle varieties of surface so characteristic of fine woodwork are all possible in the clay.

The tile (figure 14) will give the opportunity of acquiring more skill. Proceed to set out the outline, which, in this case, had better be done with a pair of compasses; then cut it to a depth of an eighth of an inch; follow by paring or beveling all round, and remove the bulk of clay where dotted; to accomplish which cross cut, mosaic-fashion, the surface to be removed, lifting each piece as cut with the point of the cutting tool. The broken surface left is often worth retaining, though it can be smoothed by the rakes (figure 5), and tools, slightly bent over, afterward stamped or dotted by the tracer (figure 6). The intersection of the various features will be emphasized by the carving, adding greatly to the attractiveness of the design.

The simple vase (figure 15) furnishes us with another type of design, the carving being executed in the same manner as the preceding forms. The background in this is quite removed, then stamped with the end of the tracer. This tool can be capitally made from the slate pencils usually furnished to children at schools, one end being sharpened to a point and rounded, the other, with the assistance of a file, made into a star, etc. The flowers are simple in outline, to show the use that can be made of the barrels of pens; these taking the place of gouges in the clay carver's outfit. A file and three or four barrels of pens—i.e., the part that holds the nib—will make good substitutes for gouges, and are used much in the same manner (see figures 4, 7, 8). Figure 9, a large size, must be cut from a piece of tin or zinc, and bent. Many fanciful combinations are to be made in this manner, much like pastry trimmers. The remaining tools are a tool known as the loop, for hollowing flowers—hairpins grund at the end make capital ones—and two smaller forms of loops, which are used for lines borders, etc. These are made from large-eyed needles, ground laterally to a cutting edge. When used the clay passes like a thread through the eye of the needle, leaving a clear-cut channel. Double lines are done with two needles set remaining on the Pacific coast for several weeks.

After her husband's death, Mrs. Beecher resided in a comfortable brick house at Hicks and Orange streets, Brooklyn. The widow of the noted pastor met with some severe financial disasters in 1894, and found herself unable to pay the $800 a year demanded. It was a great trial to her to leave this house, for its rooms were filled with reminiscences of the prominent life of her husband. Her table was situated in a sunny bay window, and so placed that, when at work, she could get a good view of Plymouth Church, near by.

The walls were covered with photographs of the Beecher family for generations back, and the kindly features of her husband looked down upon her from dozens of pictures taken at every period of his life. Everything about the rooms indicated the cheery nature of the venerable occupant. The children of the neighborhood were deeply devoted to her. The little ones played about the house and grounds with a freedom which is born only of love. But she cheerfully moved into a small flat in a Plymouth apartment house, on Orange street, near the church where so many years her late husband conducted services. And here she busied herself throughout the day in reading, writing and sewing. Her articles in The Ladies' Home Journal, entitled "Mr. Beecher as I Knew Him," were widely read in this country and England, as were her sketches in other periodicals.

LATE MRS. HENRY WARD BEECHER.

Break Up a Cold in Time

BY USING

PYNY-PECTORAL

The Quick Cure for COUGHS, COLDS, CROUP, BRONCHITIS, HOARSENESS, etc.

MRS. JOSEPH NORWICK, of 68 Sorauren Ave., Toronto, writes: "Pyny-Pectoral has never failed to cure my children of croup after a few doses. It cured myself of a long-standing cough after several other remedies had failed. It has also proved an excellent cough cure for my family. I prefer it to any other medicine for coughs, croup or hoarseness."

H. O. BARBOUR, of Little Rocher, N.B., writes: "As a cure for coughs Pyny-Pectoral is the best selling medicine I have; my customers will have no other."

Large Bottle, 25 Cts.

DAVIS & LAWRENCE CO., LTD. Proprietors, MONTREAL

Few Women No. 2

ENJOY LIFE AS THEY OUGHT.

Many are miserable, weak and sickly, and suffer untold miseries through ailments peculiar to their sex.

IT IS WRONG. Most all these ills result from womb trouble of some sort. No woman can remain weak or ill who uses

MILES' (Can.) VEGETABLE COMPOUND and Miles' Sanative Wash.

Prices 75c. and 25c. For sale by all Druggists. They impart vitality and energy, and make the life of the "Mother Sex" worth living. Explanatory pamphlet, "Woman's Triumph," free on application.

"A. M. C." MEDICINE CO., 378 St. Paul St., Montreal

Medicines expressed to any address on order.

Graduates of the Royal College of Dental Surgeons of Ontario, and graduate of Toronto University.

OFFICE—LEONARD BLOCK,

Visits made to Tamworth the first Monday in each month, remaining over Tuesday. Rooms at Wheeler's Hotel.

All other Mondays C. D. Wartman will be in Yarker.

Napanee office open every day.

THE ROYAL HOTEL,

Dundas Street, Napanee.

H. HUNTER, Prop.

This commodious hotel is centrally situated having every convenience for the travelling and business public. Large yard and sheds for farmers.

Good table, best of wines liquors, and cigars

The comfort of guests is made a first consideration.

JAS. AYLESWORTH,

General Business Agent.

POLICE MAGISTRATE for the Provincial Electoral District of Addington.

Conveyancer,

Issuer of Marriage Licenses,

Commissioner, etc., in H.C.J.

Clerk, 7th Division Court, of the County of Lennox & Addington

TAMWORTH.

A Handy Garden Manure Cart.

While on a recent trip through a portion of our county I saw a contrivance that struck me as a good thing. While nearing the home of a farmer I saw in the road the marks of mowing machine wheels, and as they were so far apart I could not conceive of them as belonging to a mower—especially at this time of year—so I concluded to investigate it if I could succeed in tracing the tracks to the hiding place of the object in question.

HANDY MANURE CART.

On arriving in sight of the barn, I found the object of my search. It proved to be a cart placed on an old pair of mowing machine wheels. And the farmer at that moment had it backed up to the stable door and was loading it with manure. Every few mornings when the box was full he hitched his team to the cart and drove to the field to unload.

The rough pen sketch accompanying this will show its construction. In size the box is about six feet long and five feet wide and two feet deep.—C. L. Reamer, in Ohio Farmer.

Keeping Up Hedge Fences.

Hedges are useful or detrimental according to the way they are kept. A well-trimmed hedge is ornamental and becomes better every year, but if neglected and allowed to grow without attention it is very unsightly. The first year is the most important in managing a hedge, and in three years it should be in a condition to demand but little trimming. A hedge is better than a fence when once established, and can be so managed the first three years as to be impenetrable to small animals.

WHERE RHEUMATISM IS UNKNOWN.

No Matter How Intense the Pain South American Rheumatic Cure will Remove it Quickly — A Lady of Highgate Tells What It Did for Her —Permanent Cure of a Case of Years Standing.

It has been declared by scientists that every disease has a remedy. The difficulty is to always find the remedy. In rheumatism South American Rheumatic Cure has been found a certain antidote for this painful disease. It is always effective. Mrs. N. Ferris, wife of a well known manufacturer of Highgate, Ont., says: "I was seriously affected with rheumatic pains in my ancles, and at times was almost disabled. I tried everything, as I thought, and doctored for years without much benefit. I was induced to use South American Rheumatic Cure. To my delight, the first dose gave me more relief than I had had for years, and two bottles have completely cured me." Sold by A. W. Grange & Bro.

A Sure Snap in Bicycles.

We have two Ladies' and two Gents' "Cincinatti Flyers" the best up to date $60.00 wheel in the market which we will sell for $45.00.

We have sold a number of these wheels the purchasers of which cannot say too much in their favor. A look at them will convince anyone of their extra value. Everything about them is neat and durable.

We also sell the celebrated "Comet wood frame Bicycle" the best riding wheel made.

—o—

J. L. Boyes.

Men's Furnisher.

COAL!

The Celebrated

SCRANTON COAL

That has no Equal.

I wish to announce to the public that I have put in a thoroughly assorted stock of this celebrated Coal, and am prepared to supply my customers on as good terms as any other dealers.

I am the sole agent in Napanee for this celebrated Coal and it can not be had from any other dealers. Your Patronage Solicited.

C. E. BARTLETT.

CARLETON WOODS.
ISSUER OF MARRIAGE LICENSES.
1y Roblin, Ont.

JOHN POLLARD,
ISSUER OF MARRIAGE LICENSES.
Express Office, Napanee.
Strictly Private and Confidential.

R. J. WRIGHT,
ISSUER OF MARRIAGE LICENSES.
At Residence, Bridge Street, Napanee, Opposite West Ward School.
Entirely Private.

The Napanee Express

NAPANEE, FRIDAY, APRIL 23, 897.

All local reading notices or notices announcing entertainments at which a fee is charged for admission, will be charged 5c per line for each insertion, if in ordinary type. In black type the price will be 10c per line each insertion.

Wallpaper

Stewart's mine at Varty Lake, Camden township, is said to be unusually rich with gold.

The Dominion Bank acknowledges the

Napanee Wood Yard.

Corner Mill and Robinson street, hard, soft, cut, or in cordwood, Trenton dry edgings and blocks. Reasonable rates. A call solicited. Wood delivered free to all parts of the town. S. J. HOWARD. tf

Notice to Curling Club.

A meeting of the Curling Club will be held at the office of Messrs. Herrington & Warner, opposite the post office, on Thursday, April 29th, at 7.30 p.m., by order of the president. J. D. Bissonette, Secretary.

There is Money in it! In what?

Why in wearing correctly fitted glasses. It enables you to see what you buy better, and saves doctors' bills for headaches, sore eyes, nervous prostration, etc. Come to A. F. Chinneck then and be properly fitted. The only one in town who has graduated from two schools. Testing free.

Important.

Mr. C. H. Finkle wishes to thank the people along his stage routes for their patronage in the past and to advise them that the fare from Napanee and Kingston and return in future will be 75c., and from Newburgh to Kingston and return 75c. Tickets good for six days.

Dated at Newburgh, April 12th, '97.

19b

Oddfellows Will Attend Church.

The officers and members of Napanee lodge No. 86, and Argyll lodge, No. 212, Independant Order of Oddfellows, will attend divine service in the Western Methodist church, on Sunday morning next, at 10 o'clock. The members will meet in Napanee lodge room No. 86, at 10 o'clock, and march in a body to the church. The Rev. D. O. Crossley will preach the sermon choosing as his subject "The Three Links."

Death of an Aged Resident.

Another aged an respected resident of this district passed over to her reward last week in the person of Mrs. Margaret Birrel, at the advanced age of 85 years. Deceased was the mother of James and Robert Birrell, and breathed her last at the residence of the latter, Deseronto road, on Good Friday, after an active an useful life. She was a kindly, christian lady, and much beloved for her many endearing qualities. The funeral took place on Sunday to the Napanee cemetery and was largely attended.

Notice to Farmers

The best MANITOBA RED FIFE seed wheat. The best WHITE ENSILAGE Seed corn that can be procured is for sale at the Big Mill at a small margin over cost. Try my flour "DAFOE'S BEST" and "NONESUCH." Prices and quality considered they can not be surpassed. The bread made from them has a rich golden color, sweet favor and retains moisture longer than any flour in the market. For pastry try "SEEK-NO-FURTHER." Ask your grocer for it and take no other, it suits them all.

15-1-j J. R. DAFOE.

Crossed the Great Divide.

After a lingering illness of consumption, Frederick Fitzmartin, North Fredericksburgh, passed away to his eternal reward on Thursday 15th, inst. Deceased was a devout member of the Roman Catholic church and lived an honorable and blameless life. He was but 38 years of age and his untimely death is deeply regretted. A wife and family are left to mourn the loss of a loving husband and a devoted father. The funeral took place on Saturday to the R. C. cemetery and was largely attended.

A Valuable Advertisement.

We were shown this week some handsome views of Napanee taken by J. S. Hulett and which Mayor Ward intends forwarding to Sir Donald Smith, High Commissioner, London, England. The photos comprise views from Mr. Mowat's residence, looking west, an excellent view of the falls, Centre street looking each way and many other streets which show the town off to the best advantage. Hulett has been improving the slack time by repapering, painting and renovating his studio and has now undoubtedly one of the handsomest photograph galleries in the Province. J. S. is a hustler always on the move, and has a faculty for "getting there" with the best of them.

Ben Davy in the Toils.

Acting on the informatian contained in a telephone message from Kingston Mr. Wes. Huff and chief of police Storms took a trip to Davy's Island on Tuesday and arrested Ben Davy. On Wednesday officer McCullough, of Kingston, arrived in town

PERSONALS.

Mr. Arthur McMillian, of Berlin, spent a few days in town this week renewing old acquaintances.

Mr. F. H. Jones, of Toronto, spent Sunday in town.

Mr. James Haggerty, of Oshawa, was in town on Saturday and Sunday.

Mrs. Dewdney, of Toronto, is visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Douglas.

Mr. and Mrs. Huyck, Tweed, spent Sunday in town the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Ed. Douglas, Paisley House.

Mrs. Irvine Parks is spending a few days at Hay Bay the guest of Mrs. E. Huffman.

Mr. W. D. Green, of Lindsay, replaces Mr. Londesborough as Junior in the Dominion Bank here. Mr. Londesborough has been removed to Toronto.

Miss Huffman, of Bath, spent Sunday in town the guest of Miss Emma Scott.

Mr. Harry Rooney, spent Sunday in town with his parents.

Mr. C. Weir, soliciting freight agent for B. of Q. Ry., was in town on Saturday.

Miss Ethel Scott, of Bath, is spending a few days in town the guest of her sister Miss Emma Scott.

Mr. McCreedy, of Albert College, Belleville, is spending the Easter holidays in town the guest of Rev. D. O. Crossley.

Mr. Harry Scott, of McGill College, Montreal, is spending the Easter vacation with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Scott.

Geo. Garrison, of Moscow, favored us with a call on Saturday.

Mr. J. Smith, License Inspector, Tamworth, was in town on Saturday and favored us with a call.

Mr. Peter Johnston, of Camden East, left for Shelburne on Sunday to attend the funeral of his grandchild, the youngest daughter of Mrs. Vance.

Bowen E. Alysworth, Warden of the County was in town on Saturday.

Rev. D. O. Crossley has lost none of his old time popularity with Bellevillians. Yesterday he preached in the Tabernacle at both services and large congregations were present on both occasions. In the evening he gave one of his popular song sermons. Mr. Crossley's singing was excellent and the congregation enjoyed it very much.—Ontario.

Mr. James Wallace, of the Merchants Bank, Montreal, spent Saturday and Sunday with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jno. Wallace, Bridge St. West.

Mrs. Holland, of Montreal, is visiting her parents Mr. and Mrs. T. H. Waller, Bridge St. West.

Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Baines and daughter have been visiting her mother, Mrs. Cook, Toronto.

Mr. Russel Haines, of Belleville, spent a few days in town this week the guest of his brother, Mr. W. B. Haines.

Miss Edith Hunter has returned from Michigan.

Mr. James Hosey, of Ottawa, spent Sunday in town.

Mr. Luman Sherwood, of the Miltary College, Kingston, is spending his Easter holidays under the parental roof.

Mr. W. O. Stevens, of Buffalo, is spending a few days in town the guest of his parents Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Stevens, sr. Will has a lucrative position in Buffalo as leader of an orchestra.

Mr. M. E. Murphy has removed from Enterprise to Croydon.

Mrs. D. C. McNaughton has returned to town after a pleasant visit in Montreal.

Mrs. Chas. Pollard is recovering from an attack of sciatica.

Mr. and Mrs. W. Mowat spent the Easter holidays in Toronto.

Mr. and Mrs. Jas. Butland have returned to Kingston.

The Misses Deroche are spending the Easter vacation at their home in Napanee.

Mrs. W. E. Wilson has been visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ira E. Hudgins, Selby.

Miss Nicol, of the Colleglate Institute, is spending the vacation at her home in Parkdale.

Mrs. W. D. Bell, who has been visiting her sister, Mrs. F. Chinneck, Bridge street, returned to her home in Toronto this week.

Johnson Wagar and wife, of Napanee, have taken up their residence at Hay Bay.

Mr. Wm. Durand, of the Dominion Bank, and Mr. Smith of the Merchants, have joined the throng. They both purchased bicycles from W. J. Normile last week.

David Martin, of Emrey Hill, is improving from a severe illness.

Mr. and Mrs. John Fellows removed this week from Fellows, to Storms' Corners.

Miss Libbie Ann Reid, of Reidville, had a tumor removed at the Kingston hospital recently.

Mrs. H. R. Purcell, of Enterprise, has recovered after a severe illness.

Reuben Vandewalter, of Enterprise, is in charge of the Glenburnie cheese factory this season.

Miss Tressa Keech, of Enterprise, will spend the summer at Reidville.

Mr. R. Gibson, of Morven, has gone to Kingston Mills to operate a cheese factory.

Wm. Coates, of Kingston, is visiting his parents Mr. and Mrs. Coates Roblin's Hill.

Mrs. John Dickens will sail for the Old Country in a few weeks to spend the summer with a wealthy aunt, who has extended a pressing invitation to her.

Mr. and Mrs. T. M. Henry and family have been visiting friends in Belleville.

Mr. and Mrs. R. J. Brown spent a few days in Madoc this week.

Charles Wilson is the latest addition. He purchased a Cleveland wheel from Boyle & Son the other day.

Mr. E. B. Hemstreet is now almost completely recovered from the effects of his recent severe illness.

Mr. Walter Boyes is spending the Easter vacation in town.

Mr. "Don" Taylor, of Uxbridge, is spending the Easter holidays with his parents in town.

Misses Florence and Annie Spider, of Odessa, spent a few days last week at Madoc attending the Christian Endeavor convention.

Walter Bruton, Napanee, is visiting friends at Odessa.

Inspector Burrows left this week for Kaladar where his gold mine is situated. Steps may be taken to develop the mine and place the stock on the market.

Miss West, of Yarker, has been a guest of the Misses Ward, East St., during the past week.

The following parties are using new Bicycles this week: Mrs. Dr. Wray, Miss May Bartlett, Miss Maggie Templeton, and Harry Finkle.

S. C. Warner was in Picton and Trenton on Monday and Tuesday and on Wednesday he left for Utica. His children will return with him.

George Parrot's family moved to Belleville this week.

Miss Furston, of Napanee, has been the guest of Mrs. W. S. Moore during the past week.—Miss Wilson, who has been visiting in Napanee, spent a few days in town this week.—Miss Norah Lake, of Napanee, was the guest of Miss Allie Vanderwoort during the past week.—Deseronto Tribune.

BIRTHS.

GLEN—At Stella, on Sunday, the wife of Capt. Glen of a son.

FRASER—At Napanee, on Monday, April 19th, the wife of Marshal Fraser of Fellows, nee Miss Graham, of a son.

MCCAULEY—At Newburgh on the 20th inst. the wife of Mr. J. McCauley of a daughter.

BRADSHAW—At Newburgh on Tuesday to Mr. and Mrs. Bradshaw, a son.

MARRIAGES.

ALLEN—WILLOUGHBY—At Morden, Man., April 6th, 1897, Mrs. Maggie Willoughby, (formerly of Napanee) of Morden, to Mr. Allen, of Thornhill, Manitoba.

MELLOW—DAVIS—By the Rev. D. O. Crossley on April 21st, at the residence of the brides father, Mr. Charles R. Mellow of North Fredericksburgh to Miss Carrie J. Davis, eldest daughter of Jas. Davis Esq. Centre Street, Napanee.

BOWEN—PIERSON—At Newburgh on Jan. 13th Benjamin Bowen to Miss Susannah Pierson all of Napanee.

DEATHS.

MCCABE—At Hay Bay on Saturday, Philip McCabe, aged 43 years.

BIRREL—In Richmond, on Friday, 16th inst. Margarett Birrel, aged 85 years.

FITZMARTIN—In North Fredericksburgh on the 25th inst. Fred Fitzmartin, aged 38 years.

Dry Mill Wood.

Over 1000 cords. $1.60 per cord.
THE RATHBUN CO.,
Napanee.

Wanted.

Men and Women work hard talking and writing six hours daily, for six days a week, and will be content with ten dollars weekly. Address,
NEW IDEAS CO., Brantford Ont.

Go To Lawson's

For prime Easter beef, fed by our townsman W. Miller, unequalled by western markets, also choice veal, pork, mutton, spring lamb and poultry, (rose brand) smoked hams, breakfast bacon and lard, salt and pickled meats and our renowned home-made sausage, prices right. Call and be convinced.

Temperance Meetings.

Announcements have been made for the following public meetings to be addressed by Messrs. Bushell and Seymour, agents of the Sons of Temperance: at Mill Haven, Saturday evening next at 8 o'clock; at Parrotts Bay church, Sunday morning at 10 o'clock; at Bath Methodist church, Sunday evening at 7 o'clock; at Stella, Amherst Island, on Monday evening 26th, at 8 o'clock.

Card of Thanks.

Mr. Peter McPherson, of Napanee Mills, wishes us to convey his thanks to the members of Napanee Mills Lodge, No. 124, Order of Chosen Friends, for the prompt manner in which they paid the insurance on his deceased wife's life. Mrs. McPherson passed away on March 27th and on April 16th Mr. McPherson received a check from the order for $1,000. Mr. McPherson also desires to express his gratitude for the kindness and sympathy extended to him in his deep bereavement.

He Can and He Will.

Make defective eyes perfect and relieve those distresing headaches and pains in the eyes, having made a special study of the eye he thoroughly understands its wonderful mechanism. Every one should know that wrong glasses will ruin the sight and the right ones will strengthen it. H. E. Smith prescribes the right glasses. If you have an idea your eyes are not just right call at Smith's Jewelry Store and have them examined, the longer they are deprived of the aid required, the weaker they become. Thousands of people are wearing his spectacles with the greatest satisfaction. Eyes examined free.

Death of Philip McCabe.

Fund.

R. B. Allen is delivering a large consignment of nursery stock to the farmers in this district.

Cheap agate fry pans, No. 9 agate fry pans for 30c, just think of it. Cheaper than iron, at Boyle & Son's.

The Methodist Sabbath Schools, of Odessa, Easter offering to the India Famine Fund amounted to $10.

A Hamilton man died this week as the result of swallowing a brass headed tack six years ago. Moral—don't swallow tacks.

The vestry meeting of the church of S. Mary Magdalene was held on Monday. The meeting was adjourned for a fortnight.

and Borders

Quebec is a dear old city to live in. Its citizens are sometimes awakened from their slumbers by three or four tons of rock falling on the roofs of their houses.

The Children's Enemy. Scrofula often shows itself in early life and is characterized by swellings, abscesses, hip diseases Scott's Emulsion is unquestionably the most reliable medicine.

Adam Singer, a penitentiary convict from Woodstock, took a novel way of severing his connection with that institution on Sunday. He committed suicide by cutting his arm with a piece of glass.

Boyle bottom milk can, best milk can in the world, not copied or stolen from any other, but original; made from best material that money can buy and by men who know how to make good cans. Sold only by Boyle Son.

in great variety at

About 1.45 o'clock on Tuesday afternoon fire broke out on the shingle dock of the Rathbun Co. in Deseronto, destroying about 2,000,000 pine shingles and doing considerable damage to the dock. The fire was confined to the shingle dock.

The "Gin Duke," the sobriquet applied to the Duke of Leeds by the Buchanan wing of advanced prohibitionists, will not be the next Goveror-General of Canada if petitions from Hamilton and indignation meetings held at the base of the mountain have any potency in London.

Jane Smith died at her mother's residence, Belleville Road, on Sunday morning last, aged 21 years. Deceased had been working in Kingston and there met with the misfortune which led to her untimely death. She was laid to rest in the Napanee cemetery on Monday.

Pollard's Bookstore

Rev. W. Galbraith, of Belleville, conducted the services in the Eastern church on Sunday last. Both the morning and evening services were of an unusually interesting order. At the evening service solos were rendered by Mrs. F. E. Vanluven and Mrs. C. H. Wartman.

Among the passengers on the Bay of Quinte train on Monday morning was an old lady sixty five or seventy years old, to whom riding in a railway carriage was a new experience, the run from Ernsville to Larkin's Station being the occasion of her first trip in a railway coach during her life.

A short time ago the ten-year-old son of Mr. John Teskey of the seventh concession of Tyendinaga was taken ill with diptheria and he died on Monday morning. There are five other children in the family and all are ill with the disease. The medical attendant states that the disease is of the most virulent type, and he has quarantined the family.

and the prices

BICYCLES—See our display Saturday. We can give you the cheapest and best $60 wheel ever offered, the only wheel at the price using weldless tubing, all other cheap wheels have brazed tubing. In stock. Triump, Perfect, Dominion, Garden City, Night Hawk, Skylark, Leader, Phœnix, and the celebrated Cleveland. Boyle & Son.

A Napanee correspondent of the Whig writes:—John Ellis, of Kaladar township, aged eighty-five years, father of our townsman William Ellis, had a narrow escape from a horrible death week before last. He went to Gull lake to fish and during the night his cabin took fire and the old gentlemon had barely time to escape with his life. All his clothes, gun and fishing tackle were consumed. The old gentleman has now a thrilling exp erience to relate, and will hardly go fishing again.

are Right.

tried on a charge of stealing a razor, forty cents in money and a quantity of cigars. He pleaded guilty and was sentenced to six months in central prison. Davy, who had been gathering rags in Kingston for some time past, had been guilty of a lot of petty pilfering during his stay in that city, and on the books of the second-hand dealers, to whom he sold the razor, he is registered under three different names. His home is at Davy's Island, on the Napanee river, five miles from town.

A Credit to the Town.

All credit is due to the men who at a sacrifice of much time and labor have transformed the Western cemetery from a wilderness of weeds and underbrush into a well ordered, and handsome graveyard, a fit receptacle for the honored dead which lie within its precincts. The work commenced last fall, under the superintendence of J. R. Fraser, has been vigorously pushed on this spring, and the Western cemetery now gives promise of becoming one of the prettiest burying grounds in this district. A meeting of the plot holders will be held at the cemetery on Saturday, May 1st, and it is to be hoped that all will find it convenient to attend and discuss plans for furthering the good work of beautifying the city of the dead. By that time the wind mill will have been erected and the water pipes laid and the visit will be of interest to the plotholders.

Ten Nights in a Bar Room.

A large and appreciative audience witnessed the presentation of this old and popular drama, as put on the boards by Napanee Council 295, R. T, of T., at the Brisco opera house, on Monday night last. The characters were well taken and all acquitted themselves creditably. Mr. F. Sheppard, as Joe Morgan, and little Blanche Nesbitt, as Mary Morgan, the drunkard's child, displayed talent of a high order. E. B. Blair, as Simon Slade, played the part to perfection, and Miss Ida E. Hearns, as the drunkard's unhappy wife, was particularly good. F. Stevens made an excellent Harvey Green, and Thos. Hearns, as Willie Hammond, left nothing to be desired. John Gilpin essayed the part of Romaine, and the role suited him to a T. Mrs. Todd, as Mehitable Cartwright, and Mr. Todd, as Sample Switchel, kept the audience in good humor Mrs. W. Conway, the tavern-keeper's wife, played her part well. Bertha Howes' exhibition of rushing the growler was well worth the price of admission. The Delsarte pictures, given at the conclusion of the play were very pretty and much appreciated. They were presented by the following: Florence Minchinton, Rachael Hayes, Nellie Mathieson, Dot Smith, Mabel Freeman, Laura Mitchell, Lizzie Woodcock, Bertha McCabe, Addie Freeman Leon McAffee, Stella Wagar, Florence Dredge, Mabel Richardson, Annie Woodcock, Lena Hough, Eliza Richardson, Winnie Gault, Alice Smith, Jessie Gault, Maud Robinson, Al ie Meagher, and a host of others.

Honor Rolls.

S. S. NO. 20 NORTH FREDERICKSBURGH.

IV Class—Malcolm B. Parks 97, Jessie Joyce 90, Bessie Gibson 83, Ethel Osborne 81, Roland Russell 77, Lotta Bell 74, Louvia Bell 72, John Newman 61, Alex Husband 32, Peter Fitzmartin 29, John Fitzmartin 28, Jordon Parks (missed exam) 11. III Class—Mary Fitzmartin 87, Bertie Dillenbeck 66, Willie Dillenbeck 66, Lawrence Stevenson (missed two subjects) 60, Lotta Gibson 51, Dora Fairbairn 47, Olive Hambly 46, Byard Dillenbeck 43, Sidney Parks 41, Archie Newman 33, Elmore Miller (missed two subjects) 30, II Class— Sheldon Joyce, Ralph Parks, E. Newman. Pt. II Percy Joyce, John Gibson, J. Newman. Pt. I—Bruce Parks, Charlie Babcock, Lila Gibson, Charlie Babcock Lila Gibson, Charlie Newman, John Gavin.

LUNDA A. FRETTS, Teacher.

SELBY.

Sr. IV.—Total 800, Vera Neely 651, Bert Martin 579, Edith Robinson 529, Charlotte Caughlin 444, Ida Valleau 400. —Jr. IV.—Total 750, German Valleau 555, Bertha Shaver, 432, Harry Dean 222, Charlie Cleall and Geo. Valleau absent. —Sr, III—Total 480, Gertie Dafoe 355, Zella Limbert 300, Willie Ballance 277, Cora Bradshaw 270, Olive Robinson 270.—Jr. III—Myrtle Schermehorn 265, Jessie Clancy 136, Lillie Wood absent.—II Class in order of merit, Myrtle Ballance, James Haines, Myra Valleau.—Sr. Pt. II—Elmir Bradshaw, Mackenzie Shaver.—Jr. Pt. II —Lottie Robinson, Winnie Morton.—Pt. I —James Robinson, Clarke and Valleau.

M. ALLEN, Teacher.

Mrs. A. W. Garrett, Brockville, has been the guest of her mother, Mrs. Craig, Bridge St.

Mrs. Norman Scott still remains in a low state of health.

Misses Mattie and Ida Wales, spent Good Friday in Belleville the guest of Miss Mouck.

W. J. Normile disposed off a Massey-Harris bicycle to Miss Belle Pollard this week.

Miss Rosetta Lewis has returned to her home in Woodville, N. Y. after an extended visit with friends in this vicinity.

Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Wright, of Sandhurst, were in town on Monday.

Florence and Laura Hanson, of Montreal, have been visiting Mrs. F. S. Richardson.

Mrs. J. J. Perry and Willie Perry spent Easter in Toronto.

Miss McLaurin is visiting friends in Toronto.

Miss Smith, of the Collegiate staff, is visiting at Ingersoll.

Mrs. T. A. Milne, and family have been the guests of her sister, Mrs. Wm. Daly, Napanee.

Mrs. (Dr.) Coleman has returned to her home in Belleville after a pleasant visit with her sister, Mrs. D. Hooper, Adelphi St.

Mr. Sylvester Dunning is visiting his son at Lincoln, Nebrasko.

Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Hanley are in New York.

Mr. Wm. Mitchell, of Peterboro, arrived here on Thursday to take charge of M. S. Madole's tinshop.

Mrs. Edda Brown, Selby, was in town on Tuesday.

Invitations are out for the marriage of Miss Carrie Bentley and Mr. T. S. Scott, both graduates of Queen's University, Kingston.

Mr. and Mrs. Brock Meredith, of Kingston have been visiting friends in this vicinity.

Miss Louise Daly, of Montreal, arrived in town on Tuesday.

The Misses Deroche left for Toronto on Tuesday.

Miss Edna Brisco, has returned from Whitby Ladies' College.

Mrs. Jno, Ham returned on Tuesday after a pleasant visit with friends in Hamilton.

Ed. Huff left on Wednesday last for Rochester N. Y., where he will be treated for his limb by Dr. Sullivan, one of the most skillful surgeons of the state.

Mrs. A. Lalonde is confined to her bed with an attack of pneumonia.

Miss Winnie Moore, of Deseronto, has been visiting at Mrs. Wm. Dey's.

Mr. John McKim, of Selby, is, we are pleased to learn, improving after his recent illness.

Miss Lottie Allen has returned from Tamworth and taken a position in the millinery department of The Robinson Co.

Mrs. Robert English has returned to Deseronto after a pleasant visit with her sister, Mrs. Dr. Ming, John street.

A. Mowers and C. Vanalstine left on Monday for their seasons work with G. N. W. Telegraph Co.

Mrs. J. F. Ward left on Saturday for a short visit with her daughter at Picton. Mrs. Ward is now fully recovered from her recent indisposition.

Mrs. Willie Ungar, who was visiting at her father's, Rev. Mr. Dingman, in this city during the Easter holidays, returned on Wednesday evening to her home near Narpanee.—Belleville Sun.

Miss Alice Neilson has been visiting friends at Belleville.

Mr. Geo. Thompson spent Good Friday at his home in Belleville.

Mr. A. D. McRossie, of Ingersoll, has been spending a few days in town.

Miss Gussie Scouten has been the guest of Mr. and Mrs. N. B. McKim.

Miss Nell Herring has returned from Toronto.

Miss Sherrin has returned from a visit to her home at Bowmanville.

W. H. Davis is renewing old acquaintance in town.

Thos. Sprowat is in charge of the Centreville cheese factory.

Mr. J. Martin, of Sydenham, was in town on Saturday fully recovered from his recent severe illness.

Mrs. Henry Finkle and son Harry, have been visiting at E. J. Madden's, Newburgh.

Miss Ethel Birrel is the guest of Miss Edna Shortts, Newburgh.

Mr. Redford Dorland, of Adolphustown, was in town on Tuesday.

Mrs. W. A. Steacy, who has been quite ill, is recovering.

Mrs. Duckworth has returned to her home at Belleville after a pleasant visit with her sister Mrs. Dr. Ming.

Miss Myrtle Lawrence, of Belleville, is visiting Miss Georgia Herring.

The Messrs. Taylor, of Belleville, are visiting at Mr. Leslie Shannons.

Master Warrie Eakins, of Belleville, is visiting friends in Napanee.

Miss Marian and Lillian Clark, of Kingston, are spending the Easter Holidays with friends in Napanee.

W. A. Warner, of Trenton, was in town on Monday.

Mr. A. E. Lang, has returned from Toronto, where he was attending the Provincial school.

H. Warner spent Good Friday with friends in Lindsay, and Easter Sunday with friends in Belleville.

Mr. W. W. Daly, of Peterboro, is spending a few days in town.

Nelson Shannon has returned from Manitoba to his home at Napanee Mills.

Mr. Harkness is the new station agent at Napanee Mills.

Mrs. A. Clement, Napanee Mills, is critically ill.

Chas. Wild, Napanee Mills, who has been ill for some time, is not improving very much.

Mr. Walt Exley, of Macdonald, and Charles Palmer are spending their vacation in town.

Mr. and Mrs. Britton and family Napanee Mills spent Easter in Napanee.

of Philip McCabe, who died at the residence of his sister, Mrs. William McCabe, Hay Bay. Deceased had been ill only a few hours, death being due to an inward rupture which he received on Friday. Deceased was in his forty-third year and leaves three sisters and six brothers. They are Mrs. John Reynalds, Michigan, Mrs. Warren Hunt, Selby, and Mrs. William McCabe, Hay Bay and Messrs. Ed., John and Ashton McCabe, Hay Bay; Melburne, Napanee and Goodson, Sebyne, of Michigan. The funeral took place on Monay and was largely attended by sorrowing friends and acquaintances. The funeral services were conducted by the Rev's W. W. Peck and McDonald, of Napanee.

Fled With the Money.

A case of peculiar interest to butchers and cattle buyers occurred a short distance from Napanee on Wednesday, and one that illustrates the danger of transacting business with irresponsible parties. On Monday Messrs. Norman Wesmoreland and J. G. Loucks drove over to Mr. O. Parks', North Fredericksburg, and opened negotiations with him for the purchase of a beef cow. Mr. Parks wanted $25 for the animal and this the butchers agreed to pay, stipulating, however, that Mr. Parks deliver the cow in Napanee. This he wouldn't consent to, and the buyers departed without effecting a purchase. On Wednesday Messrs. Loucks and Wesmoreland decided to accept Mr. Parks' offer and Wesmorland was dispatched for the cow. Mr. Parks was not at home when Wesmoreland called, but a young man in his employ, one Arthur Wallace, was there and informed him that Mr. Parks had left instructions that if Mr. Loucks or Wesmoreland called, to let them have the cow on receipt of the money. Mr. Wesmoreland handed over the $25 to Wallace and took the cow. When Mr. Parks returned home that evening neither Wallace, the cow, nor the $25 were anywhere in sight. Mr. Parks drove to Napanee and after interviewing the authorities he apprised Messrs. Loucks and Wesmoreland that he would hold them responsible for the cow. In fact warrants were under way for the arrest of both Loucks and Wesmoreland, but the latter stayed proceedings by coming forward and agreeing to make good the money if Wallace is not apprehended. The police are on the track of the thief and Constable Sills is in possession of information that may lead to his arrest. Wallace is about seventeen years of age. It seems a hardship that Mr. Wesmoreland, who acted in perfect good faith, should be held responsible, but viewing it in the other light the owner of property is entitled to every protection.

Wilkison And Henry Carter Hats.

We have secured for this season along with the agency of the Wilkison Hat the sole agency of the Henry Carter Hats, two of the best English Hats in the market.

Note the style, shades and finish of these Hats before you buy, and you will find them ahead of anything shown elsewhere.

D. J. Hogan & SON.

The Big Store, April 21st, 1897.

No Time to Write an "Ad."

BUSY! BUSY! BUSY!

Busy selling Carpets,

Busy selling Dresses,

Busy selling Wash Goods

Busy selling Shirt Waists.

Busy selling Linens,

Busy selling Clothing

Busy in the Tailoring,

Because we've the right goods and the prices are all on your side.

LOTS OF NEW LINES THIS LAST WEEK

See them, because the nice things go quickly now.

LAHEY & McKENTY

Flat to Rent.

Over the Central Meat Market, John street, two doors south of post office

A number of Kingston dealers are interested in the failure of Jno Conger, of the Brisco House.

In the by-election for the Commons in Colchester, on Wednesday McClure the Liberal won, by a majority of ten.

Church of England Notes.

Apply at the Central meat market. 20b

To Let.

A fine brick residence on Dundas Street, also a frame house on Dundas Street. Apply to, J. S. HULLETT, Photographer.

Western Church.

A special service of music and song will be held on Sunday evening next in the Western church. The subject will be "Children and Flowers' what shall we do with and for them"? The singing will be conducted by a choir of twenty-five young people.

Farmers, Gardners and Fruit Growers.

My car of fertilizers has arrived. Every one should try enough to convince themselves that it pays to fertilize. Those who have ordered will please call and get goods soon as possible. I have the best Timothy Seed in the market. The price is cheap considering the quality. See it before buying unsound and inferior seed.
17 F. E. VANLUVEN.

Parisian Steam Laundry

Agency at E. Vanalstine's Barber Shop, John st. Laundry will be called for and delivered to any part of the town at usual prices, strictly C. O. D. This is one of the largest and best equipped Steam Laundries in Canada. Laundry shipped once a week, on Wednesday, 3:20 p.m. and delivered Saturday morning. No chemicals used in the Laundry. All work guaranteed first-class. Lists on application. tf.

A Quiet Wedding.

A quiet wedding was solemnized at the residence of Mr. James Davis, Centre st., on Wednesdoy evening, when his eldest daughter, Miss Carrie J. was united in the holy bonds of wedlock to Mr. Chas R. Mellow, a popular young farmer residing near Gretna, North Fredericksburgh. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. D. O. Crossley in the presence of only a few intimate friends of the contracting parties. Both the groom and the bride are highly esteemed and respected and THE EXPRESS joins with their many friends in extending congratulations.

Our Whist Club.

The Napanee Whist Club sent as its representatives to the Canadian Whist Congress last week a strong team composed of T. D. Pruyn, E. H. Baines, W. S. Herrington and F. Jemmett. It was hoped that the trophy would be brought to Napanee but it turned out otherwise very greatly to the disapointment of the lovers of the game in town, and also of the management in Toronto, as it was pretty generally conceded that the Napanee team would carry away the trophy or give the winners a very hard battle for it. As it resulted the Champions of 1896 hold the trophy for 1897, beating Napanee by five points out of 260. The players when questioned as to the cause of the defeat have no special reason to assign and have no fault to find with each other and are still confident that they can hold their own with the champions or any other team at the congress.

A base ball club has been formed at Yarker.

Mrs. Philip Hambly died at her home in Thurlow on Sunday, aged 74 years.

W. R. Gordanier is delivering a large number of fruit trees in this vicinity.

The mercury took a dip down in the neighborhood of zero on Tuesday night.

There was a large market on Saturday and farm produce was disposed off rapidly.

E. W. Rathbun, of Deseronto has come out in favor of an exporting duty on timber.

Alexander Gunn, ex-M. P., has been appointed post master of the Kingston post office.

N. B. McKim is doing a land office business selling Page wire fencing this spring.

Hood's Pilis cure nauses, sick headache, indigestion, biliousness. All druggists. 25 cents.

Remember C. L. Shannon will sell all kinds of field and garden seeds, all new and lower than any reliable competitor, timothy from $1.80 per bushel up. Alfalfa, very low this year. All the latest varieties of garden seeds just in from the most reliable growers. Bradley's celebrated lawn fertilizer, guaranteed satisfactory. Crumed goods 5c. per can, and all kinds of groceries as cheap as anyone can sell them. Your choice of "surprise," "best," "comfort," or "pure" soaps, six for 25c. Flour $2.40 per hundred. Car of Southern Sweet Ensilage corn just received. Seed wheat and vetches. Cash paid for raw furs. Baled hay for

Wm. R. Crook, of Deseronto, died as Alemeda, N. W. T. on the 14th inst. aged twenty-six years.

Joseph Allison, Bethel, has a brood sow which gave birth to eighteen pigs, all of which are still alive.

The town council have purchased this year's supply of nails 85 cents a keg cheaper than last year.

Health and vigor are essential for success Therefore make yourself strong and healthy by taking Hood's Sarsaparilla.

Mr. D. S. Warner improved the appearance of his residence this week by the application of a coat of paint.

Willis Saunders Smith, Marmora, is accused of criminally assaulting a girl named Minnie Downard, aged nine years.

E. S. Lapum has a collection of over 100 pictures which he will offer for sale at his warerooms, Dundas street, on Saturday.

Mrs. Edward Gracey, Deseronto, died on April 8th at Lovering, Ont., where she was visiting. She was fifty-two years of age.

A handsome memorial window has been placed in St. Anthony's church, Yarker, in memory of the wife of Rev. A. J. O'Loughlin.

On Monday a young man named Thomas Earle, of Shannonville, had two fingers lacerated by a saw in the Big mill, Deseronto.

Mr. D. McRae, of Wolfe Island, has been selected as the standard bearer of the Liberals of Frontenac for the Local Legislature.

A little daughter of Mrs. Robert Taylor, Belleville, was badly burned on Tuesday by her dress catching fire while playing around a bon fire.

Good Friday passed off very quietly in Napanee. The principal business places were closed down for the day and a Sunday air permeated the town.

The brigade was called out on Thursday for a blaze at Charles Vanalstine's residence, Robert Street. It was extinguished before doing much damage.

The children of the mission band of the Eastern church gave a very enjoyable entertainment in the basement of the church on the evening of Good Friday.

Grinding every day at Close's Mills The best ground horse feed and barley meal for sale at Close's Mills
JAS. A. CLOSE.

A wind mill is being erected in the Western cemetery. This long neglected graveyard is rapidly blossoming out into one of the prettiest burying grounds in this district.

Commencing April 26th the Bay of Quinte train will leave Kingston at four o'clock p.m., half an hour latter than at present, and will arrive in Napanee at the usual time, 5.55 p.m.

Thomas David Finlay, a well-known horse buyer of St. Thomas died on Monday of apoplexy. He was born in Addington County in 1847. His mother and sister are residents of this county.

Reeve Dryden has purchased from Mrs. F. W. Powell her house on Centre street, Deseronto, south of Dr. Newton's residence, Mr. Dryden gave $1,900 and his lot on east Thomas street for the property.

WANTED. Industrious persons of either sex with good character and common school education, can obtain employment for two months in this community.

S. M. FRY, Toronto, Ont.

Mr. Jos. Bennett while working at M. S. Madole's on Wednesday met with a painful accident. A heavy bar of iron fell on his foot, bruising it badly and breaking the big toe. The accident will lay him up for some time.

In the Dominion estimates for the year ending June 1898, Napanee post office comes up bravely with a salary of $450 for caretaker; $162 for lighting. But the Peterboro post office with $430 for lighting leads the procession.

J. McLaughlin, a patient at Rockwood hospital for the insane, died in that institution a couple of days ago. He was brought to Rockwood for treatment from Addington county six years ago and was about thirty years of age.

THE CANADA SALT ASSOCIATION, CLINTON, ONT.
Guarantee prompt shipments.
Fine, Coarse or Land Salt.
For Table or Dairy use.
Coleman's Dairy and Table SALT

The advertising for tenders which [illegible] town council did not put a notice in the papers, trusting to a few bills to do the work. As a result they only received one tender for lumber, whereas seven were received last year.

The Harvard hockey club, which visited Canada last winter have turned out to be fakirs and had no connection with that college whatever. The members of the team borrowed a lot of money which it is needless to say, they did not repay.

The bachelors' ball in the Oddfellows Hall, Harshaw Block, last evening was a highly enjoyable and successful social function. About fifty couples were present. The crowded state of our columns will not permit of an extended notice this week.

Capt. Holmes' horse was left standing in the yard attached to a cart, on Wednesday forenoon. It took fright at a dog and ran madly down street. It was captured near Potter & Blanchard's livery stable but not before it had demolished the cart and wrecked the harness.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Frette, Hawley, were presented with a handsome bible by the Rev. T. Snowdon on a recent Sunday for being the first couple married in Hay Bay Methodist church. The pastor of the Presbyterian church makes a similiar offer. Quite an incentive to get married.

Sunday night a horse and buggy, harness and robes were stolen from the barn of Wm. Vandewaters in the second concession of Sidney. A reward of $20 has been offered for the recovery of the property. Circulars have been sent out to the surrounding towns fully describing the stolen property.

A. S. Kimmerly is selling field and garden seeds cheaper than any other dealer. 4 lbs. American Wonder Peas 25c; Choice Timothy Seed, $1.85 per bush.; Salt, $1.10 per bbl. Keewatin Flour cheaper again. Four tons of that celebrated 25 cent tea in stock, nothing equal ever sold before. Can Corn 5c., new good, none better in the market,

A meeting was held in the Deseronto club rooms last week for the purpose of reorganizing the cricket club. The officers elected are:—Hon. presipent, F. S. Rathbun; Hon. vice-president, F. W. Taylor; president, W. G. Egar; vice-president, W. D. McRae; secretary-treasurer, T. P. Culhane; captain, R. M. Hamilton.

The bazaar in the town hall on Tuesday afternoon, under the auspices of the Ladies' Aid of the Eastern church was highly successful and the funds of the church will be considerably augmented in consequence. In the evening an interesting entertainment was given which was much enjoyed by the large audience present.

Margaret Howes, the great unexpressible, is out for the establishment of a poor house. She acknowledges that she is now comfortably provided for, but would much prefer to live in a poor house, where she would not be beholden to a lot of profane and hypocritical men. She returns thanks that we now have a Grit Government and a Grit council but this delightful state of affairs may not last and Margaret wants to be prepared for any contingency.

The oil well work at Fredericksburgh is to be resumed now in a few days. A new manager, Mr. Merrill, with three skilled workmen, are daily expected. New machinery of a much heavier class is ordered and will arrive in a day or so. The present well, it is said, is to be rimmed from the top to about a thirteen inch hole in order to carry the size to a greater depth and thus case off the water and have a dry well to work. The well is now full of water and working in this very great depth of water the stroke of the drill is so lightened as to have but slight effect on the rock. For these reasons the heavier stem and large bits are necessary to overcome the difficulty. A supply of coal has also been ordered.

The question of devising a scheme for the abatement of the tramp nuisance was discused at the last meeting of the town council. Coun Miller said the town was overrun with these undesirable gentry and some means must soon be taken to get rid of them. Coun. Carson favored committing a few of them. Now that the warm weather is approaching they would not care to go to gaol. Coun. Perry advocated giving a cold bath to every hobo who struck town. Other devices for discouraging visits from tramps, such as the procuring of a wood pile and a few bucksaws, etc, were discussed, and the matter was finally referred to a committee consisting of the Mayor, the Police Magistrate and the Chief who were granted carte blanche to render it unpleasant for all weary Willies who visit our town.

day after Easter; St. John's, Selby, 10.30; Matins and celebration of Holy Communion, Rev. A. Jarvis, M. A. celebrant.

CHURCH OF S. MARY MAGDALENE—Easter day—The services were very bright and hearty, large congregations being present at all services. In the afternoon a Sunday school service was held at which the children's missionary boxes were delivered. The choir was in full force, many new and effective voices having been recently added. The vestry meeting on Monday was rather disappointing both as to attendance and the informal report of the churchwardens. The meeting adjourned for two weeks in order that the books might be audited and all arrears, if possible, collected. Sunday next the services will be as follows: celebration 8 a.m., matins and litany 11 a.m., Rev. W. G. Swayne, of Selby, preaching the sermon. At evensong, 7 p.m., the rector will deliver his annual address on the affairs of the church and congregation.

Amab Thompson died at Tamworth on Sunday.

Robert Walker, Hinch, had one of his fingers mutilated in a straw cutter.

Judge Wilkinson has sold the Henderson farm to M. Reid, near Fellows P. O., Ernestown.

Mr. T. S. Scott, Queen's fleet-footed half back, was married to Miss Carrie Bently, a fellow student, on Thursday.

James Reid, merchant, Goderich, died on Tuesday of typhoid fever. He was the brother of S. J. Reid, late of Kingston and Napanee.

There is a Dominion law which imposes a fine of $200 on any farmer failing to slaughter an animal infected with tuberculosis.

This is the season when the winds
Change fifty times a day,
And he who lays his flannels off
Likewise is laid away.

The payment of witnesses in criminal cases attending on behalf of the crown has been extended to witnesses attending before police magistrates or courts which may summarily try indictable offences.

The clause requiring both parties to the marriage to attend before the issuer of marriage licenses upon obtaining a marriage license has been repealed and the old law is restored. Issuers of marriage licenses have not yet received notice of the change.

George Parks, of Bath, states that while driving from Napanee one night last week he was fired at by some one, the ball passing through and taking off part of his ear. Mr. Parks stopped at the nearest house to have his wound dressed and preceeded on his way unmolested.

Provincial Road Commissioner Campbell will visit Napanee on May 11th and we hope that the meeting to be addressed by him will not only be a large but a representative one. We would urge on the representative men of the neighboring townships to attend Mr. Campbell's lecture He will not only make it pleasant but profitable for them so to do.

Norway's First Ironclad.

An ironclad for the Norwegian Government was launched lately from the shipbuilding yard of Sir William Armstrong & Co., England. This is the first seagoing ironclad owned by the Norsemen, who in the old days swept the seas with their Viking ships. This modern vessel was christened the "Harold Haarfager," after the first King or Norway, by Mme. Stang, who is herself a descendant in the 33rd generation from King Harold. The ironclad is heavily armored and has a conning tower and two torpedo tubes and the armor belt is from four to seven inches thick. The builders have an order for a second ironclad for the Norwegians.

Cook's Cotton Root Compound

Is the only safe, reliable monthly medicine on which ladies can depend in the hour and time of need.

Is prepared in two degrees of strength.

No. 1 for ordinary cases is by far the best dollar medicine known—sold by druggists, one Dollar per box.

No. 2 for special cases—10 degrees stronger—sold by druggists. One box Three Dollars; two boxes, Five Dollars.

No. 1, or No. 2, mailed on receipt of price and two 3-cent stamps.

The Cook Company,
Windsor, Ontario.

Sold in Napanee and everywhere in Canada by all responsible druggists.

THE NAPAN

Vol. XXXVI] No. 21—JNO. POLLARD, Editor and Publisher. NAPANEE, ONT., CA

I Am offering

Dinner Setts, Tea Setts and Chamber Setts at greatly reduced prices for the next 60 days.

W. COXALL.

Spring Overcoats in the Latest Shades, from $5.00 up, a special.

Men's Shirts, any kind you want from 25c. up. Spring Underwear from 25c. up. Socks, Kid Gloves, Overalls, Neckwear, Sweaters for men and boys. We have a good assortment in these lines.

In Hats and Caps the very latest of English and American styles. Try one of our Stiff Hats, it is a beatuy.

Some new lines of Men's Boots and Shoes to hand this week. Come and see them.

A. M. VINEBERG,

The Wonderful Cheap Clothier, Dundas st., Henry Block, Napanee

TIMOTHY

—AND—

CLOVER SEED

Bran and Shorts

Flour and Feed.

TAYLOR & MORRIS,

(Blewett's Old Stand.)

NEW PLANING MILL AND LUMBER YARD.

Now in full operation. All kinds Lumber, Sash, Doors and Blinds. Custom work done on shortest notice. Get our prices before buying. Mr. Embury is prepared to draw plans for parties wanting them.

Embury, Greer & Co.

BOAR FOR SERVICE. The thoroughbred Registered Canada Poland China Boar, "elby bred by Mr. J. C. Hanley, Read, Ont. Fee $1.00. M. H. SEX-

A false fire alarm was rung on Monday night.

Mrs. M. Sanderson is reshingling her

Special A

MESSRS AMEY

Who were engaged two weeks at Montre the largest Dry goods Stores in Brockville, Pres

Hubbard's Famous

AND SACHET

Will begin an engag

FRIDAY, MA

TO CONTINUE

Mr. E. J. Amey will sell the perfumes and sp

The perfumes will be sold at 29c. per o The Sachet Powder will be sold at 10c. a packa

Mr. Hodgins, who is an accomplished American music which will be on sale during th

EVERYBOD

LADIES BRING YOUR

SPECIAL B

"Orient Silks."

Have you seen the latest Cotton goods called "Orient Silks." They are called Orient Silks on account of their silky finish. Price only 10c per yard.

Organdie Muslins.

We have the very latest Muslins in all shades and patterns direct from the New York market. Ask to see them.

Shirtings' Special.

A new lot of Shirtings just in, the prices of which we guarantee the lowest in the trade. New Shirtings at 6c, 8cc, 8½, 9c, 9½c, 10c, 11½c, 12½c.

NOTICE OF DISSOLUTION.

Notice is hereby given that the partnership heretofore subsisting between us, the undersigned, as manufacturers of sashes, doors, etc., etc., and as contractors and builders, in the Town of Napanee, has this day been dissolved by mutual consent. All debts owing to the said partnership are to be paid to, and all claims against the said partnership will be paid by the undersigned, W. A. Embury and M. C. Jackson, who continue the said business at the premises heretofore occupied by the partnership.

Witness,
W. G. WILSON. CATHERINE X GREER. MARK.

D. H. Preston, as to signatures of W. A. Embury and M. C. Jackson.

W. A. EMBURY,
M. C. JACKSON.

FOR SALE.

Offers to purchase the desirable property situate at Napanee Mills and being composed of lots Numbers eight and nine in the first Concession of the Township of Camden, (excepting parts th reof heretofore sold) and the gore in to the Township of Ernestown adjoining thereto will be received by the undersigned, solicitors for the vendors, up to 12 o'clock noon of the 20th Day of May, A.D. 1897.

Upon the premises are erected a fine brick house, stone house, small frame house and also three large barns.

Tenders may be for the whole or in parcels to suit intending purchasers and a good part of the purchase money may remain at interest satisfactorily secured upon the property. No tender necessarily to be accepted.

For further particulars and terms, apply to
MESSRS. DEROCHE & MADDEN,
Vendor's Solicitors,
John Street, Napanee.

Dated April 28th, 1897. 21c

NOTICE TO CREDITORS.

IN THE MATTER OF THE ESTATE OF GEORGE JOHNSON, LATE OF THE TOWNSHIP OF SHEFFIELD, IN THE COUNTY OF LENNOX AND ADDINGTON, DECEASED.

Notice is hereby given in pursuance of section 36, chapter 110, R. S. O., and amending Acts, that all persons having claims against the estate of George Johnson, late of the Township of Sheffield, in the County of Lennox and Addington, Yeoman, deceased, who died on or about the 7th day of April, in the year of our Lord one thousand eight hundred and ninety-seven, are hereby required to send by post prepaid or to deliver to Messrs. Morden & Ruttan, of the town of Napanee, in the said county, solicitors for William Kendall, the administrator of the estate of the said deceased, on or before the

27th day of May, A.D., 1897

their names, addresses and descriptions, and full particulars and proof of their claims and demands against the said estate and the nature of the securities, if any, held by them.

And notice is hereby further given that after the said 27th day of May, A. D., 1897, the said administrator will proceed to administer the estate and distribute the assets of the estate of the said Geo. Johnson, deceased, among the parties entitled thereto, having regard only to the claims of which the administrator shall then have had notice, and the said administrator shall not be liable for the said assets or any part thereof to any person or persons, of whose claim, notice shall not have been received at the time of such distribution.

MORDEN & RUTTAN,
Solicitors for Administrator, Wm. Kendall,

Dated at Napanee this 26th of April, A.D., 1897.

FOR SALE.

One of the most conveniently located farms in the County of Prince Edward being composed of parts of lot 2 and 3 containing 96 acres in 1st concession Military Tract Township Hallowell located in the western part of the Village of Bloomfield. On these premises are a modern brick house, good barn, drive house, and hop house all in first-class repair. Soil clay loam, about 8 acres hardwood bush, 15 acres in hay, well watered, stream living water running across centre of the farm, young orchard bearing trees, and 5 acres in hops.

The place will be sold at a bargain and intending purchasers should investigate before buying a farm elsewhere. For further particulars apply to JAMES JACKSON, proprietor, 20d or to AMOS H. BAKER, Picton, Ont.

GOOD ROADS.

Provincial Road Commissioner

A. W. CAMPBELL,

—WILL VISIT—

Napanee, May the 11th.

He will inspect roads and sidewalks and material for road construction during the day and will address a meeting in the town hall in the evening. Representatives from the surrounding townships are cordially invited to attend.

Bronchitis Cured. Miss Maggie Griffin, 37 Metcalf Street, Toronto, writes: "After having bronchitis and cold so badly that I could hardly speak, and could not find any remedy to relieve me, I decided to try Norway Pine Syrup. It made a complete cure, and I highly recommend it to all.

A new sidewalk has been built around the West Ward school.

Robt. Shetler, Pleasant Valley, has the foundation laid for a new house.

BURDOCK PILLS, small, safe and sure, regulates the liver and cures Constipation.

Rev. R. C. Horner has been expelled from the functions of the ministry.

Over $1000 worth of fruit trees have been disposed of in this vicinity this spring.

Hood's Pills are the favorite family cathartic. Easy to take, gentle, mild. 25 cents.

The Canadian Order of Foresters will run an excursion to Picton on 24th May per Str. Merritt.

A Brockville barber has this suggestive sign in his shop. "If you can't raise ten cents, raise whiskers."

Mr. [illegible] Ribbon has been elected commissioner of the second county council district of Prince Edward county.

This has been a great season for maple syrup but a good season for maple syrup is usually destructive to fall wheat.

Miss Louise Daley, of Montreal, will sing at the song service in the Eastern Methodist Church on Sunday evening.

The annual meeting of the Napanee District will be held on the 25th inst., at 10 a. m., in the Eastern Methodist church.

Messrs. W. Boulter and A. Lighthall are candidates for the mayorality of Picton, made vacant by the death of J. N. Carter.

A plan of the house in which Angus McLeod was murdered was made by J. R. Perry last week to be used at the trial of Troy on May 11th.

Nelson Pancas and Miss Pauline Russel, of Deseronto, were married in the Roman Catholic church on Monday by the Rev. Father Hogan.

NORWAY PINE SYRUP cures Coughs.
NORWAY PINE SYRUP cures Bronchitis.
NORWAY PINE SYRUP heals the lungs.

A team of horses ran away from the G. T. R. station and dashed up the track until their progress was checked by dropping into a culvert. No great damage was done.

The tariff measure will have the support of every independent member in parliament. D'Alton McCarty is outspoken in his views favoring the new schedule. The special preference to British products is the main feature.

Mr. Robert Reid, of Reidville and Miss Mabel O'Brien, only daughter of Mr. John O'Brien, of Tamworth, were united in the holy bonds of matrimony at the Presbyterian manse, Tamworth, by the Rev. Mr. Ballantyne on Tuesday of last week. We extend congratulations.

Mrs. N. Phalen, of the Phalen House, died at Erinsville on Wednesday after a short illness. Deceased was fifty-eight years of age and was widely known and much respected throughout the county, having been mistress of the Phelan house for over thirty-two years. Deceased was a sister of the Rev. Father Cummings, of Goderich, and leaves a husband and three sons to mourn.

DEATH'S COLD SWEAT

Stood out in Great Beads upon His Face—A Victim of Heart Disease Snatched from the Grave by the Prompt Use of Dr. Agnew's Cure for the Heart—Relief in all Cases in 30 Minutes.

Dr. Agnew's Cure for the heart positively gives relief within 30 minutes after the first dose is taken. James J. Whitney, of Williamsport, Pa., says: "Cold sweat would stand out in great beads upon my face, and I indeed thought that my end had come. But relief was found in Dr. Agnew's Cure for the Heart. After using it for a short time I feel now that the trouble is altogether removed." Its effects are magical. Sold by A. W. Grange & Bro

CASTORIA

For Infants and Children.

The fac-simile signature of Chas. H. Fletcher is on every wrapper

THE ROB

IN THE FRONT RANK.

MASSEY-HA

LOVE AT FIRST

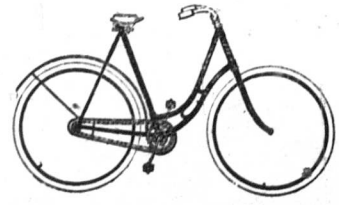
THE MASSE

MADE IN C

Why pay $20 duty on an imported Wheel when you can buy a

MASSEY-HARRIS
"SILVER RIBBON"

FOR $85



The Price to Everybody

All Cups and Cones hardened by a special process, positively the easiest running bearings extant.

The Massey-Ha

NAPANEE AGENCY---

class bicycle repairing a specialty. Satisfaction guarante line of Massey-Harris parts kept in stock.

W. J. N

NEE EXPRESS.

CANADA—FRIDAY, APRIL 30, 1897. $1 per Year in advance; $1.50 if not so paid.

ttraction!

TY and HODGINS

ntreal's greatest store, The S. Carsley Co., also at Prescott, Sherbrooke, &c., introducing

American Perfumes

ET POWDERS.

gagement at our store

AY 7th, 1897

JE TWO DAYS.

spray all desirous with their favorite Perfume.

r ounce, the regular price being 75c per ounce.
ckage, regular price 25c.

ned pianist will play selections from the latest g the two days at 5c. a copy, usually sold at 50c.

DY INVITED.

JR PERFUME BOTTLES.

BARGAINS

Brilliantine Dress Goods.

Brilliantines are selling like hot cakes for skirts and full dresses. They shine like silk and wear like iron. Your money back if you can buy them cheaper in any other stores. Prices 24c, 29c, 35c, 44c, 49c, 74c, and $1.

Pretty Parasols.

Needful to the well dressed woman, useful to all women. Whether your wish be for a plain or fancy parasol, expect the right sort here at just the right price.

Fast Black Hosiery.

Black as night, fast as the Eithopian's skin. Our cotton hose are guaranteed fast black and our prices are guaranteed lower than other stores. Try us for Hosiery.

Building Material of all Kinds.

FOR SALE AT REASONABLE PRICES.

Headquarters for Lumber of all kinds, Shingles, Lath, Doors, Sash, Monldings, Portland Cement, Water Lime, Plaster Paris, Apple Barrels, Land Plaster, Porus Tile Windsor Salt, Coal, Wood and Charcoal.

Use our pressed Brick for your house and chimney, as cheap as any, and the best. Get our prices before purchasing.

THE RATHBUN CO'Y

Yard and office foot of Centre St. R. SHIPMAN, Agent.

NEWS FROM THE COUNTRY.

MILL HAVEN.

The weather is getting fine and warm and farmers are progressing with their spring's work.

Mrs. J. O. Finigan has returned home after spending a week at her father's in Westbrook.

Miss Edith Demorest, teacher, of Hawley spent a few days last week with her sister, Mrs. C. Collins.

Mr. John Bell of Westbrooke, spent a couple of days with friends around here.

Mr. S. Henderson has been renewing old acquaintances around he after an absence of many years.

Mrs. Jeremiah Amey is visiting at Mr. Stewart Smith's.

Mr. R. Reid, of Amherst Island, spent Sunday at Mr. S Smith's.

A temperance lecture was held in the school house last Saturday night by Messrs. Bushell and Seymour.

Mr. and Mrs. T. Denyes of Fellows, were the guests of Mrs. F. Snider, one day last week.

Miss B. Henderson has returned to her duties again after spending her vacation with friends at Erinsville and Lime Lake.

Earache Cured. DEAR SIRS,—I was troubled with earache for a long time, and could get no ease until I tried Hagyard's Yellow Oil. I can truthfully say that it has made a complete cure.

MISS MARTHA M. HECTOR,
Central Economy, N.S.

PRINCE EDWARD COUNTY.

The wooden framed bicycle has made its appearance on our streets, and now we are on the lookout for Iowa's mysterious air ship.

The many friends in Napanee and vicinity of Mrs. Edgbert Sills, Sophiasburg, will doubtless be pleased to learn of her recovery from her recent severe attack of rheumatism.

Mrs. David Benson, Napanee, spent last week visiting her parents and calling on old friends in this place.

Mr. Jerome Osborne, Herkimer, N. Y., is visiting friends in Yerexville and Benson's. He is accompanied by Norman Williams of Jordanville, N. Y., who is making his second visit to our county.

Picton has a bicycle livery.

Mr. Wellington Boulter has been elected to fill the office of mayor, made vacant by the death of Mr. J. N. Carter.

We are pleased to know that Mr. J. W. McLean, of the Picton Times, is able to be around again after his recent attack of la grippe, but would like to see him the possessor of more vigorous health. Mr. McLean is the right man in the right place and we sincerely hope he may for many years to come be spared to fill the office, of what we are pleased to call, a teacher of the people.

Weakness and Dyspepsia Cured—DEAR SIRS,—I can heartily recommend Burdock Blood Bitters. For a long time I was troubled with dyspepsia and weakness. The least exertion would tire me out. I am glad to say, however, that your B. B. B. has greatly benefited me, curing the dyspepsia and making me strong and well.

JENNIE EVANS,
Hespeler, Ont.

GLENMORE.

Residents of Napanee were in a fever of excitement a couple of nights ago over a rumor that convict Troy, the self-confessed murderer of Angus McLeod, had escaped from the penitentiary. A telephone message to Kingston cooled the excitement.—Whig. According to the Whig we are a very excitable people.

AGENTS. "The Best Popular Life of Her Majesty I have ever seen," writes Lord Lorne, about "Queen Victoria." Sales unprecedented. Easy to make five dollars daily. Big commission. Outfit free to canvassers.

THE BRADLEY-GARRETSON CO., Toronto.

Dog poisoners are still continuing their nefarious work. Rev. Father Hogan had his pretty spaniel poisoned last week and a dog belonging to Mr. John Wilson, Belleville road, passed in its checks this week. Steps should be taken to discover and punish the perpetrators of these outrages.

THAT HACKING COUGH can be quickly cured by Hagyard's Pectoral Balm. Price 25c.

A meeting of those interested in the formation of a lawn tennis club was held on Monday evening. Mr. W. Durand, was appointed secretary and Messrs. W. Ponton, W. C. Smith and F. Smythe will form the executive committee. Parties wishing to join the club are directed to apply to the secretary.

A. S. Kimmerly is selling field and garden seeds cheaper than any other dealer, 4 lbs. American Wonder Peas 25c; Choice Timothy Seed, $1.85 per bush.; Salt, $1.10 per bbl. Keewatin Flour cheaper again. Four tons of that celebrated 25 cent tea in stock, nothing equal ever sold before. Can Corn 5c., new good, none better in the market.

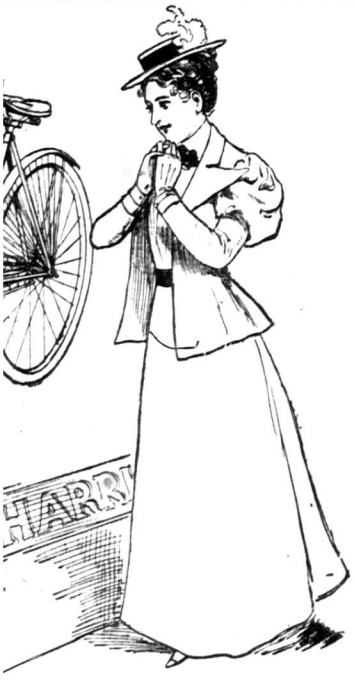
The post-office authorities are again after those who use washed stamps. A short time ago a St. Thomas man was fined $20 and costs for this offence, and now it is said others in his locality are to be prosecuted, too, for writing in newspapers mailed at newspaper rates of postage. These are petty frauds, but the lowest penalty provided by statute is $10 and costs.

The fine imported German coach horse, Kiser Willhelm, has become the property of the Lennox & Addington Horse Association of which H. A. Martin, Moscow, is president, W. H. Hunter, Napanee, Sec.; G. H. Williams, Manager; John Herrington, groom. Kiser Wilhelm is a beautiful animal and has an excellent pedigree, extending back through the record of the Arabian Sheiks and the German Government records for over a thousand years. Kiser Wilhelm will be travelled through this county this season.

J. H. Metcalfe, warden of the Kingston penitentiary, has blossomed out in a new role, that of an obituary poet. A young man from Kincardine, incarcerated in the penitentiary for incendiarism, died in that institution last week, and the festive James consoles the bereaved father with a few verses of his own composing. We can assure the versatile warden that a bottle of I X L would have had greater potency in assuaging the grief of the bereaved father, better known to the people of Kincardine as "Major Hen," than eight or nine miles of poetry.

Mrs. Ezra Clarke, the wife of a respect-

BINSON CO.



High Grade Material
And Honest Workmanship.

'IRST SIGHT"

EY-HARRIS,

N CANADA

n We never paid a dollar for racing teams, for road records, or for subsidies to fast riders. The "SILVER RIBBON" sells on its Merits.

FOR $85

Every Wheel Guarant eed.

cial process, which renders them, when completed,

Harris Co., Ltd., Toronto.

Repair Shop, Warerooms, and Bicycle Livery Dundas street, sign of the Golden Wheel. First- anteed. Wheels for hire at Reasonable Rates. A full

NORMILE, AGENT.

Mr. W. Maxwell spent Sunday at J. G. Smith's.

Mr. Samuel Halfpenny is visiting friends at Burretts Rapids.

Mr. Robt. Vont who has been travelling for A. L. Fisher seed merchant, Brockville, returned home last Thursday.

Our cheese factory commenced operations last Monday. Mr. James Connel furnishes 68 cows.

Our teacher, Miss Maxwell, has returned from spending her holidays with friends in Brockville and vicinity.

Mr. Henry McGuin after an absence of four months spent with his daughters, Mrs. R. M. Bell, Brockville, and Mrs. W. A. Wilson, of Gananoque, has returned home again.

The Hornerites are holding special services at Mr. John Kirkby's.

Tuesday April 27th, witnessed quite a fall of snow.

Those who attended the sugar social held at Algonquin by the Ladies Aid were very favorably impressed with the evening's entertainment. The programme left nothing to be desired, but special mention might be made of a solo rendered by Miss Nellie Smith of this place. Several other selections given by the Miss Smith's, were also well received.

A commercial traveller coming into our work shop the other day and seeing the number of customers' watches we had on hand said that we did as much repairing business as the other two shops together. F. Chinneck personally oversees the repair department and guarantees satisfaction. F. CHINNECK'S JEWELLERY STORE.

NEWBURGH.

Roads are in a very bad condition.

The heavy rain of Friday night puts the farmer behind with springs work.

High School opened on Monday 26th of April.

Mr. Taylor preached in the Methodist church Sunday morning. Rev. Chant preached in the evening, Rev. Whyte being away trying his examinations. Quarterly meetings next Sunday morning.

Mr. Davidson, of Belleville, made a flying visit in town on Sunday.

Herb has got his hair cut

Winnie Whalen is still very low.

Cock fights are all the go.

Mr. W. Lemmon and Miss Conway spent Sunday in Moscow.

Lorena how is Walter?

Miss Lawrence is visiting at Mr. Ansley's. Ah! Maurice.

Mr. Fred Birch leaves on Saturday for Peterboro.

We are pleased to see Miss A. Baughan's, smiling face again.

Fred, how is the tooth?

Miss Birrell left for home on Monday after a week's visit with Miss E. Shorts.

Anyone wanting painting done will do well to give F. L. Tooker a call.

Mr. John Shorts opens his ice cream saloon on Saturday.

Messrs E. Shorey, A. Murphy, and A Vanalstine went to Yarker to form a base ball league. Poor luck!

Our boys are pushers, they are open for engagements.

Mr. E. J. Shorey and W. Wood spent Monday night in town.

How are the girls, boys?

Miss Emma Burnett of Colebrooke is visiting at Mr. Wm. Bradshaw's.

Parlor social at Mr. P. Fairbairn's on Friday night.

Mission circle gives a concert in the church on Friday night.

Miss Maud Holmes returned home on Monday after a month's visit with her brother in Renfrew.

Party at Mr. Peter Kellers on Monday night last.

Miss Gandier is home from Halifax.

Mr. Kennedy is still on the sick list.

Introductions on Saturday nights are all the go.

How does your ear feel, Herb.

A meeting of the base ball club was held in G. Rowlison's tailor shop on Thursday night last for settling up business and to elect officers. The boys realized about $20 out of the concert. Officers elected were Mr. C. H. Finkle, Honorary President, Mr. E. J. Madden, president, A. B. Vanalstine. manager, T. Shorts, secretary, J. Mathison, treasurer. The boys are open for engagements.

Rumor says a wedding soon.

Lock the Door before the horse is stolen. Purify, enrich and vitalize your blood and build up your physical system before disease attacks you and serious sickness comes. Hood's Sarsaparilla will make you strong and vigorous and will expel from your blood all impurities and germs of disease. Take Hood's Sarsaparilla now.

able farmer living in the vicinity of Wilton, bowed recently at the shrine of "Free Methodism" and the excitement incidental to these meetings proved too much for her reason. Ever since her conversion to the faith some few months ago she has been an ardent worshipper and has been very zealous for the cause. Of late her zeal got the better of her judgment and it is feared that her mind is deranged. One night last week after the rest of the family had retired, she rose from her bed, proceeded to the stable hitched up the mare and departed. A couple of days afterwards her husband located her at Peterboro, at the home of a free methodist.

To-Night's Entertainment.

A new Sons of Temperance Division is being organized in town. This evening (Friday) a public entertainment will be held in the town hall, at 8 o'clock, to which all are invited. The popular "Billy" Seymour and Mr. Bushell will take part in the entertainment, after which the officers of the new division will be elected and installed. A pleasant evening is promised to all who attend. Come and bring your friends. All are welcome.

Balance for Grindstones.

One of the most satisfactory little improvements I have lately made is a balance on my grindstone. I turn with a treadle, operated by my foot, and this balance not only makes the stone turn easier, but also makes it run much steadier. To make the balance I got a piece of iron about five-eighths of an inch thick, 3 1-2 inches wide and 10 inches long. Had blacksmith punch a hole in iron 2 1-2 inches from one end, of size to fit on grindstone shaft, on end opposite treadle. It should be put on so that long end of iron would be opposite the little crank that treadle is fastened to, so that when treadle is being pressed by the foot the long end of iron will be going up, and when the treadle is going up the weight of iron will be going down and help raise treadle, thus forming a balance.

Plowing Prevents Drought.

It will be found that where the soil is kept loose by plowing and cultivation its capacity for absorbing and holding water is much greater than where it is neglected. Thus every weed and surplus growth must be scrupulously kept down, as everything that grows is constantly drawing moisture from the soil. If we can get the upper and lower moisture in the soil to meet the battle is won, for the cultivation is favorable to the capillary action of the soil in drawing moisture from below, and cultivation will prevent its evaporation from the surface. If, however, there is a dry streak of soil a foot or more below the surface, vegetation will suffer accordingly.

Why Horses Like Oats.

It is not accidental that oats, the grain which, next to whole wheat, is best for furnishing growth to the muscles, should have always been the favorite food for horses. They are better than wheat for all animals except man, and as good also for a man, if properly prepared. It is the large proportion of hull which makes oats superior for horse feed, as the hull distends the nutriment and prevents it from compacting and heating in the stomach. Oat grain not only contains a large amount of nitrogenous nutriment, but it has besides a certain stimulative substance, which is peculiar to the oat.

A Difficult Problem Satisfactorily Solved.

In the past the ladies have had thousands of dollars worth of valuable goods ruined through the use of inferior and adulterated dyes prepared for home dyeing. The greatest that we can point to is in the coloring of mixed goods—fabrics composed of cotton and wool, cotton and silk, and silk and wool.

The manufacturers of Diamond Dyes put up special dyes for the coloring of all mixed goods, giving colors that are fast to soap and sunlight. Diamond Dyes for mixed goods are the only reliable dyes in the world, and are all guaranteed to do perfect work.

Every druggist and dealer of any standing in Canada can supply you with Diamond Dyes for Mixed goods. Do not accept imitations or substitutes; compel your dealer to give you the "Diamond."

CASTORIA.

The fac-simile signature of Chas. H. Fletcher is on every wrapper.

900 DROPS

CASTORIA

A Vegetable Preparation for Assimilating the Food and Regulating the Stomachs and Bowels of

INFANTS CHILDREN

Promotes Digestion, Cheerfulness and Rest. Contains neither Opium, Morphine nor Mineral. NOT NARCOTIC.

Recipe of Old Dr SAMUEL PITCHER

Pumpkin Seed -
Alx. Senna +
Rochelle Salts -
Anise Seed +
Peppermint
Bi Carbonate Soda +
Worm Seed -
Clarified Sugar -
Wintergreen Flavor.

A perfect Remedy for Constipation, Sour Stomach, Diarrhoea, Worms, Convulsions, Feverishness and LOSS OF SLEEP.

Fac Simile Signature of
Chas. H. Fletcher,
NEW YORK.

At 6 months old
35 DOSES - 35 CENTS

EXACT COPY OF WRAPPER.

SEE THAT THE FAC-SIMILE SIGNATURE —OF— Chas. H. Fletcher. IS ON THE WRAPPER OF EVERY BOTTLE OF CASTORIA

Castoria is put up in one-size bottles only. It is not sold in bulk. Don't allow anyone to sell you anything else on the plea or promise that it is "just as good" and "will answer every purpose." See that you get C-A-S-T-O-R-I-A.

The fac-simile signature of Chas. H. Fletcher is on every wrapper.

In the new tariff it is pleasant to note that the farmer has received some consideration. For eighteen long years he has been taxed for the benefit of the combinster and the monopolist and although as a class he has done more than any other to develop the Dominion instead of being assisted in his undertaking has been hampered and retarded by hostile legislation. While we do not advocate Government favoritism we do declare that if any class is to be favored it should be the farmers, who are the backbone of the country. The Finance Minister recognizing their claim has placed corn on the free list. Binder twine and fence wire have also been placed on the free list and the duty on iron has been greatly reduced which will materially help the farmer, by reducing the price of farm implements. The reduction of $3 per ton on steel and $1.50 per ton on pig iron means more to the farmers than appears at first glance. Iron and steel are the principle articles entering into the composition of binders, mowers and ploughs, three prime essentials to the farmer. A binder when finished weighs about 1500 lbs and of this 1,400 lbs is steel and iron. A mower will weigh about 650 lbs and of this 600 lbs is steel and iron and about 100 lbs. of stell and iron enters into the manufacture of a plough, so that it can easily be perceived that the reduction, while not injuring the manufacturer, will greatly benefit the farmer.

One of the important and popular features of the new tariff is the preferential trade schedule which admits British goods into Canada at a lower duty than any other nation. The loyalty of the Liberals takes a practical form, that of the Tory variety exhausted itself in words. In the Liberal platform adopted at Ottawa in 1893 it was resolved that the tariff should be so arranged as to promote free trade with the whole world, more particularly with Great Britain and the United States. This has not been lost sight of in framing the new tariff. While a general tariff will be levied upon goods from countries giving no trade advantages to Canada, a special tariff will be adopted for countries that permit imports of Canadian goods free of duty or at minimum tariff rates. In any revenue tariff there must be incidental protection but under the new tariff if it is found that a combination or agreement of any kind exists among manufacturers or dealers to enhance the price of any article and that the combine is facilitated by the tariff on similar articles imported, the Governor in council shall place such articles on the free list or so reduce the duties as to give consumers the benefit of competition.

The falling off in the revenue caused by the reduction in the tariff is to be met by an increased duty on whiskey and tobacco. The duty on spirits is increased from $2 25 to $2.40 per gallon. In Britain the new tariff has been received with great acclaim and in consequence of the preference granted to the Mother Country a warmer feeling exists for Canada to-day in the hearts of our brethren across the sea. Premier Laurier will receive nothing short of an ovation when he visits London to attend the Queen's Jubilee.

Skin Eruptions Cured for 35 Cents — Relief in a Day.

Eczema, tetter, salt rheum, barber's itch—all itching and burning skin diseases vanish where Dr. Agnew's Ointment is used. It relieves in a day and cures quickly. No case of piles which an application will not comfort in a few minutes. If you have used high priced ointments without benefit, try Dr. Agnew's Ointment at 35 cents and be cured. Sold by A. W. Grange & Bro.

Workmen as Contractors.

Easy to Take
Easy to Operate

Are features peculiar to Hood's Pills. Small in size, tasteless, efficient, thorough. As one man said: "You never know you have taken a pill till it is all over." 25c. C. I. Hood & Co., Proprietors, Lowell, Mass.

Hood's Pills

The only pills to take with Hood's Sarsaparilla

Just About Tramps.

Ferry—If you will take a bath I'll give you a dollar. Wayworn Watson—A dollar wouldn't pay fer me funeral!—Cincinnati Enquirer.

Workhouse Willie—Make any good resrelushuns de furst of t' year, Pete? Perambulating Pete—Yep. I ain't goin' ter work no more.—Philadelphia North American.

First Hobo (bitterly)—They talk of passing a law to make everybody wash. Second Hobo (more bitterly)—They think they can compel us to git off the earth.—Detroit Journal.

Dismal Dawson—I got a good notion to make faces at de first copper comin' along and git meself in jail. Everett Wrest—Don't you do it. Break a winder. You make faces at de cop and you'll git yer head knocked in.—Indianapolis Journal.

"Ef I wuz ter go in ez a perfesshunal man," remarked Meandering Mike, thoughtfully, "I believe I'd rather be a pickpocket than a burglar." "I don't see's it makes much difference," replied Plodding Pete; "both of 'em means work." "Yes, but a burglar hez ter change aroun' in a lonesome fashion an' operate while folks is downtown seein' de sights an' enjoyin' deirselfs. A pickpocket can sorter combine business wid pleasure."—Washington Star.

"I won $200 last night playing poker, but don't say anything about it."

"Why I didn't know you cared if people knew you played."

"I don't ordinarily; but I want to keep this from my wife"—Detroit Free Press.

"Dick got even with that girl who crowded him out of his position."

"How did he do it?"

"Married her."—Chicago Record.

BRIGHTON BRIEFS.

An Interesting Story.

A well known Brighton lady tells what she thinks regarding heart trouble, and how to cure it. Mrs. Stephen P. Clapp, the estimable wife of Brighton's popular painter, tells that Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills did for her. Mrs. Clapp says: "I have been a sufferer from extreme nervousness for years, and for the last two years my heart has troubled me greatly. I could not sleep soundly, and would often awaken with a start, together with a curious feeling as if my heart had stopped beating, and it would be sometime before I could recover myself. At times I became very dizzy and a mist gathering before my eyes. I have taken many kinds of patent medicines, but could get nothing to relieve me. Finally I received a box of Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills from Messrs. L. J. Auston & Co. of this place, and am glad to say that they gave me relief in a short time. I now sleep well, my nerves are steady and strong, and I am better in every way than I have been for years.

I recommend Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills very highly to those suffering from any trouble affecting the heart and nerves, for I know that they have been a great boon to me. (Signed) Mrs. Stephen P. Clapp, Brighton, Ont."

Laxa Liver Pills cure constipation, biliousness and sick headache, 25c.

They All Do.

The Dominion Bank
ESTABLISHED 1871.

CAPITAL — $1,500,000.00
RESERVE FUND — $1,450,000.00

Deposits received and interest allowed. Drafts on all parts of Great Britain and United States bought and sold.

E. H. BAINES, Agent.

THE - MERCHANTS - BANK
OF CANADA
Head Office, — Montreal
Capital paid up, $6,000,000
Surplus, $3,000,000
INTREST AT CURRENT RATES PAID ON DEPOSITS.
A GENERAL BANKING BUSINESS TRANSACTED.

W. A. BELLHOUSE,
Manager, Napanee Branch

EPPS'S COCOA
ENGLISH
BREAKFAST COCOA

Possesses the following Distinctive Merits:

DELICACY OF FLAVOR
SUPERIORITY IN QUALITY.

Grateful and Comforting to the Nervous or Dyspeptic.

NUTRITIVE QUALITIES UNRIVALLED.

In Quarter-Pound Tins Only.

Prepared by JAMES EPPS & Co., Ltd, Homœopathic Chemists, London, England.

Provincial Building and Loan Association, Toronto.

Local Advisory Board at

The Napanee Express

NAPANEE, FRIDAY, APRIL 30th, 1897.

FOSTER had his "moment of weakness" now he has a bad attack of that tired feeling.

THE Old Flag was useful in its day but Tupper & Co. are on the lookout for a new ensign.

THE Finance Minister makes the ex-Finance Minister tired. The Hon George E has many weary days before him.

IT is said the new tariff will kill the 5 cent cigarette. The 5 cent cigerette has killed scores but retribution has at last overtaken it.

THE London Times came out in favor of the new tariff without consulting Sir. Chas. Tupper. The Times had better be careful—the baronet may stop his paper.

THE new tariff went into effect on the 22nd inst. and next day local merchants were selling a seven cent plug of chewing tobacco for nine cents. This demonstrates the rapid effect of the tariff and the tobacco man's intention to reap the full benefit of it.

UNDER the old N. P. tariff the tax on coarse clothes was much higher than on the finer and more expensive fabrics. Under the new tariff the reduction in the coarser woolen clothes is very marked and will materially reduce the price.

WHEN Mr. Fielding rose to announce the tariff on the 22nd inst it went into effect. The Dingley Bill in the United

Napanee.

President, M. S. Madole Esq; Vice Pres., G. W. Gibbard Esq., F. W. Morris, T. D. Pruyn, J. J. Taylor, Chas. Frizzell, Dr. G. W. Edwards, W. P. Deroche. Solicitors Messrs. Deroche and Madden. Valuator, W. Embury; Sect. Treasurer and Agent, Irvine Parks.

from whom all information can be obtained. Money received on investment at good interest, and money loaned on easy terms of repayment.

Apply to I. Parks. Agent.

Cramps, Colic, Colds,

Croup, Coughs, Tooth-ache,

DIARRHŒA, DYSENTERY, and all BOWEL COMPLAINTS.

A Sure, Safe, Quick Cure for these troubles is

Pain-Killer

(PERRY DAVIS'.)

Used Internally and Externally.

Two Sizes, 25c. and 50c. bottles.

VERY LARGE BOTTLES 50 CENTS.

The D. & L. Emulsion

Is invaluable if you are run down, as it is a food as well as a medicine.

The D. & L. Emulsion
Will build you up if your general health is impaired.

The D. & L. Emulsion
Is the best and most palatable preparation of Cod Liver Oil, agreeing with the most delicate stomachs.

The D. & L. Emulsion
Is prescribed by the leading physicians of Canada.

The D. & L. Emulsion
Is a marvellous flesh producer and will give you an appetite.

50c. & $1 per Bottle

Be sure you get the genuine | DAVIS & LAWRENCE CO., LTD. MONTREAL

FRUIT & ORNAMENTAL TREES

700 ACRES.

SHRUBS, ROSES, VINES AND SEED POTATOES.

WE have the largest assortment and employ the very latest and most improved methods for propagating. All stock carefully packed under our personal supervision, and all new varieties tested at our trial farms before being catalogued. These are the only testing orchards connected with any Nursery in the Dominion.

Agents Wanted to Represent us.

Special attention given to Park, Cemetery and Boulevard orders. Estimates furnished for supplying entire orchards.

Why buy of foreign concerns or of middlemen when you can purchase as cheaply from us and get better value.

Our stock is Canadian grown and acclimated.

Catalogue (English or French) free on application.

STONE & WELLINGTON, Toronto, Ontario,
FONTHILL NURSERYMEN,
The Leading Canadian Tree Men

Oh! So Tired. Many people are tired, worn out and weary in spring time, when they could easily be strong, vigorous and healthy by using Burdock Blood Bitters, which removes all morbid effete matter from the system and restores robust health.

CASTORIA.

The fac-simile signature of Chas. H. Fletcher is on every wrapper.

States is still dragging its weary way through the Senate and it is difficult to say what may happen to it before that august body gets through with it.

WHAT, ho! Foster, this is treason to the Queen. These disloyal Grits have violated the constitution by granting preferential trade to the mother country. By my beard, I, Sir Chas. Tupper, will not sumbit to it. I will warn Belguim and Germany of their danger.

THE bye-elections on Tuesday all went Liberal. In Winnipeg Jameson was elected by a majority of over 1,200; Dr. Rutherford was elected in Macdonald by a good majority. In West Prince, P. E. I. Perry, Liberal, was elected over Hackett, the unseated Conservative, by a small majority. Things are indeed coming our way.

UNDER the old N. P. tariff it was difficult to discover "where you were at." The man who wanted a screw nail over two inches long paid three cents per lb duty, while if he wished a screw nail less than an inch long he paid 8 cents per lb. The tools of the farmer and workmen were taxed 35 per cent while ordinary cutlery was taxed at but 25 per cent. The Liberal Government had a herculean task to reduce order out of the chaos of the N. P. shedule, notoriously framed for the benefit of friends of the late Government. The result of the revision will be to reduce the rate all around to something less than 20 per cent and to abolish the pernicious specific duties.

THE NEW TARIFF.

Viewing it dispassionately and in the light of existing conditions the New Tariff submitted to the House on the 22nd inst, cannot help but prove gratifying to the people of Canada. While it is not as sweeping as some would wish, or as some expected, it is a step in the right direction and in keeping with the Liberal platform as laid down in the great National Liberal Convention held at Ottawa in June, 1893. At that convention it was resolved that the customs tariff of the Dominion should be based, not upon the protective principle, but upon the requirements of the public service. In the New Tariff, wherever practicable the protective features have been eliminated and the tariff made to bear as lightly as possible upon the necessaries of life. The abolition of specific duties, which were a source of annoyance to business men, and discriminated in favor of the rich as against the poorer classes, will come in the nature of a boon and cannot help but prove popular and beneficial. The Free Breakfast Table, which was held up by Tory journals as one of the peculiar blessings incidental to the National Policy, has been retained and large additions made to the free list. The duty on sugar that goes on to the breakfast table has been reduced from $1.14 to $1 per 100 lbs. The people also receive the benefit of reductions on breadstuffs, flour, wheat and cornmeal, and coal oil has been reduced from 6 cents to 5 cents per gallon and not the least of this reduction is the removal of the burdensome restrictions respecting, the sale of coal oil which unduly enhanced the retail price of it.

A Triumph Won. Before taking Doan's Kidney Pills I felt that diabetes was fast tightening its grip upon me. Now I know that it has been met and defeated. I have used the pills steadily for some time, and am now in the full enjoyment of health, and shall always be glad to testify to the merits of this triumphant medicine.

RICHARD LYMAN,
St. John, N. B.

Wanted—An Idea Who can think of some simple thing to patent? Protect your ideas; they may bring you wealth. Write JOHN WEDDERBURN & CO., Patent Attorneys, Washington, D. C., for their $1,800 prize offer and list of two hundred inventions wanted.

A system of public work that has much to commend it is that of "Co-operative Contract," in vogue in New Zealand. Under that system a public work is divided into small sections by the engineer in charge, and an estimate is made of its cost. Each section is then let out to a group of workmen, who do the work under a foreman of their own choosing, but who receives no more than his fellows. They obtain the full profit which would otherwise go to professional contractors, and they share the payment equally.

Each worker is interested in seeing that his companions do their full amount of work, and the sooner the job is performed the greater the return for a day's work. If any tools are needed which the men do not own, the Government supplies them at a moderate rental. The adoption of this system should provide a method whereby direct employment by the Government would be consistent with a full return for the money expended, giving to the community an advantage in the economical execution of public enterprises equal to that enjoyed by private employers.—Review of Reviews.

Grow Your Own Parsley.

Plant a box of parsley and place it on a window sill. You have no idea how many pennies may be saved by having parsley growing in the house. They may also be planted for kitchen decoration.

Proof of Perfidy.

"Heinrich, you do not love me."

"How can you say such a thing when I've kissed you thirty times in ten minutes?"

"If you really loved me you had not counted the kisses."

POISONED BLOOD.

Dreadful Death-Draught Comes from Diseased Kidneys.

When Uric Acid Flows in the Veins, Life looks out of Darkened Windows, expecting soon the Close of Day.

The fashionable Italian poison of the XVI century was Aqua Torfana. It was used by the medicis and all the first families of Rome, Genoa, and Naples. In five years historians tell us, over 600 wives used it to make widows of themselves.

In these modern days a more terrible and more prevalent poison is decimating the human family, and men have asked in vain for an antidote. It is the uræmic poisoning of the blood, caused by diseased kidneys. The poison which these useful organs should filter from the blood, is allowed to remain in the circulation and courses through the body, like

"Accursed Hebenon . . . whose effect
Holds such an enmity with blood of man,
That with a sudden vigor it doth posset and curd
Like eager droppings into milk.

To-day there is a remedy. Science has discovered a sure cure. All may have and apply it. It is sold under the name of DODD'S KIDNEY PILLS.

It is a specific for all Kidney ailments. It cures by restoring the Kidneys, so that they properly peform their natural functions. It is the ONLY KNOWN CURE for Diabetes, and Bright's Disease. For sale by druggists everywhere, and the Dodd's Medicine Co., Ltd., Toronto, Ont.

MR. VERNON BROMLEY, Trenton, Ont., says:—"For a number of years I have suffered severely from Rheumatism and Sciatica. Was induced to procure a half dozen boxes of Dodd's Kidney Pills which I have used, and from being a cripple I am a well man."

MR. THOS. HARRISON, St. Mary's, N. B., says:—In spite of all other treatment I suffered for nearly a year with Stone of the Bladder. I was relieved by passing the same, after using one box of Dodd's Kidney Pills, and completely cured by a few boxes."

MR. WM. MCEVELA, 275 Friel St. Ottawa, says:—"Two boxes of Dodd's Kidney Pills have worked a wonderful cure in my case. Had been laid up with kidney trouble for months."

G. B. CONES, Orillia, Ont., says:—"I most cheerfully testify that five boxes of Dodd's Kidney Pills have cured me of Diabetes from which I suffered two years."

She—Well, how do you like cycling by this time?

He—Oh, I'm just tumbling to it.

Tribute to a Model Wife.

"I want a death certificate!" said an excited individual, rushing into the health office yesterday afternoon. He got it and was asked for the customary dollar.

"What's that?" he exclaimed, looking surprised. "I'll give you 50 cents."

"It'll never do," said Secretary Combs, nodding his head. "Couldn't take a penny less."

"Well, here's the dollar," declared the man. "I wouldn't have had her die for five. She was a model wife."—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

Seed Propagation.

The necessary requisites for successful plant raising from seed are, first of all, to buy fresh seed from a reliable dealer—then to sow the seeds properly, and to care for them properly until they germinate—to transplant at the right stage of growth, and to take the right care of them until they are ready to be set where they are expected to grow and flower. From ignorance of these general principles much good seed doubtlessly goes to waste every year. True, seeds fail sometimes, because they are so old they have lost their vitality, or possibly they have never been perfectly developed, but the practical reason of failure is in the individual not comprehending the needs of the seed before he starts out to deal with it.

In every perfect seed will be found an embryo, or germ, that upon examination will show to be a rudimentary plantlet, with a perfectly formed stem, leaves and bud. Now, before this minute plant is forced into development, certain conditions have to be fulfilled, such as the giving of moisture, air and water in proper amounts. First of all the seed has to absorb enough water to completely saturate and soften it, so it can swell This is why we sometimes soak certain seeds before planting, which expedites this first step toward germination—especially when the seeds are large with thick and strong outer coats. With this softening and swelling keep in a temperature of from fifty to ninety degrees, with a free circulation of air, and it will not be long before the tiny embryo will burst its bounds and become visible on the surface. Seeds will germinate in pure water, or between dampened brown paper or cotton, but for growth there must be soil.—Eugenia Pruden, in Home Magazine.

A Vision of the Future.

One day in October, 1883, Lady A—, living in Rue de Bel-Respiro, Paris, found that she had been robbed of a sum of 3500 francs. She notified the Commissary of Police on Rue Berryer, who instituted a search and questioned the servants, but discovered nothing. Lady A—, when enumerating her servants, begged the Commissary to exclude from his suspicions her second valet de chambre, a youth of 19, very good-looking, very respectful, and very well qualified for his duties, who had been nicknamed "le Petit," not on account of his stature, for he was rather tall, but from a feeling of delicate, protecting familiarity which his good qualities had won for him. Meanwhile, among the friends of Lady A— there had been a good deal of talk about a certain Demoiselle E—, who, they said, could see the most surprising things in a bowl of coffee grounds. M. L. d'Ervieux had the curiosity to accompany his governess to the house of this person, and was quite surprised to hear her describe exactly each piece of furniture in Lady A—'s apartment, pass in review her seven servants, and say that, though she could not name the thief, he would be guillotined within two years. Some weeks later "le Petit" left the service of his mistress without giving any reason, and two years later he mounted the scaffold. This servant, so highly esteemed, was no other than Marchandon, the assassin.—The Arena.

Tobacco Heart.—Much heart and nerve weakness is caused by undue use of tea, coffee, or tobacco; palpitation, nervousness, irritability, excitability, lack of confidence, etc. are sure symptoms. Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills bring ready relief, by steadying the nerves and regulating the heart. They are a true heart and nerve food.

CASTORIA.

The fac-simile signature of Chas. H. Fletcher is on every wrapper.

BICYCLES,

We have an elegant range of Bicycles direct from the best makers.

COLUMBIA, STEARNS, HARTFORD, UTICA AND OHIO WHEELS.

A $65.00 Wheel for $50.00.

DROP IN AND LOOK AT THEM.

NO ONE CAN UNDERSELL US IN SHOES,

SEE THEM

HAINES & LOCKETT,

4 BIG SHOE STORES

NO CREDIT. ONE PRICE.

New Spring Gent's Wear

Just opened out. New Scotch English and Canadian Suitings and Pantings, in all the Latest Patterns. Black, Blue, Brown Worsteds for Overcoatings at Popular Prices.

Nice Suits Made to Order from $12.50 Upwards

Please call before purchasing and inspect our stock

R. FORD. T. G. DAVIS.

THE CIRCUIT RIDER

mend them to any one suffering as I was."

The Latest Fashions

MATERIALS AND STYLES.

The Grenadines, the Tucks, the Embroideries and the Rosettes.

Grenadine—the beautiful old grenadine, though much improved—has come back to us. Of it some of the most exquisite of summer gowns will be fashioned.

Tucks are applied to low bodices in an entirely new style, that is, satin and silk, made full back and front, are covered with lisse, having horizontal tucks from the neck to the waist, and the sleeves are treated in the same way. The material renders them very soft and graceful and makes them exactly suitable for the little debutante.

Embroidery characterizes many of the handsome gowns now being made up for after-Easter functions. Chenille embroidery is particularly adapted to flowers and chenille is now dyed in the most beautiful colors.

Low bodices are nearly all laced in the back. For young matrons the bodices pointing back and front are considered more suitable than those round and belted.

We still retain our admiration for the turquoise—both the stone and the shade in fabrics. The turquoise plays an important part in embroidery, and it is still the fashion to mingle it with a bright, mossy green.

Moire has come back to us in a great many guises. It shows to best advantage as the ground work of the large and beautiful designs in satin brocade thrown upon it. Occasionally there are cloud effects or lace scrolls. Some of the moires are very little watered, but when brocaded the waves are very large.

Every width of lace can be called into requisition nowadays. Very deep flounces are frequently united round the centre to form a watteau, secured to the shoulders at the back and descending to the hem, while narrower pieces go down the side seams of the bodice and skirt. Sometimes they are festooned diagonally across the skirt, or in a straight line all round, headed by ruches of flowers. Loose ends of lace very frequently fall from the bust to the hem of the dress, held in place by bows of ribbon. There are plenty of ways to arrange without cutting the priceless pieces of lace one may treasure as heirlooms.

Rosettes, made in chiffon, ribbon, lace and satin, and are introduced on the fronts of the bodices in the immediate centre, on either shoulder, and at the back of the waist, while they play an important part in catching up the diaphanous materials which now veil so many skirts.

Some of the dressmakers are trimming their bodices with cascades and loops of lace specially designed [illegible]

"PAINE'S."

The Name and Reputation Imply Much.

Paine's Celery Compound Establishes Safety, Health and Strength.

Never Allow Any Dealer to Persuade You to Take Something Else.

"Paine's!" Glorious talismanic name that speaks a wealth of hope and health to the thousands of disease-burdened men and women!

"Paine's!" Marvellous healer that cures when all other medicines fail!

"Paines!" Thou bright loadstar of the despondent that bringest a world of joy and new life after the doctors have declared the case to be incurable!

Now is the time to use Paine's Celery Compound if you would be well, happy and hearty.

The heart, kidneys, liver, stomach—all these great organs with the majority of people are out of order in the spring time, and call for aid and repairing so that their work may be properly done.

If you have any of these organs out of repair your whole nervous system is out of gear and your life is in peril.

Paine's Celery Compound gives perfect action to the heart and other important organs; it makes pure blood, gives perfect digestion, sweet sleep, and puts you in a condition of vigor and strength that enables you to battle against the heat of summer and all the epidemics that may rise.

Remember that "Paine's" is the kind that cures. Refuse the something just as good that some dealers would offer you. Ask for Paine's Celery Compound and see that you are supplied with it.

PLANTING TREES.

Hints on Preparing the Ground—The Improved Nursery Pruning.

Perhaps the most important operation in planting an orchard is the preparation and planting of the trees. In digging trees in the nursery all the roots are generally cut off by the spade or digger within one foot or less of the collar, and are very much in the condition illustrated in Figs. 1 and 2. In many cases the trees have only two or three main roots and very few laterals, the former very often torn and bruised as in Fig. 3. Now when the trees come out of the package the pruning they require to fit them properly for planting is, first to cut off smoothly all injured ends of the roots with a sharp knife. Then, as a large amount of CHRISTIANITY OWES MUCH TO HIS ZEAL AND ENDURANCE.

His Life During the Early Days of Methodism in Canada Was Often One of Great Hardship—The Story of One Now Enjoying a Ripe Old Age.

From the Simcoe Reformer.

In the early days of Methodism in Canada the gospel was spread abroad in the land by the active exertions of the circuit rider. It required a man of no ordinary health and strength; an iron constitution and unflagging determination to fulfil the arduous duties incumbent on one who undertook to preach salvation to his fellowmen. It was no easy task that these men set themselves to, but they were strong in the faith and hope of ultimate reward. Many fell by the wayside, while others struggled on and prospered, and a few are to-day enjoying a ripe old age happy in the knowledge that a lasting reward will soon be theirs. Most of these old timers are not now engaged in active church work, but have been placed on the superannuated list, and are now living a quiet life in town or on a farm free from the cares of the world, they await the call to come up higher.

Rev. David Williams, who lives two miles southwest of Nixon, Ont., in the township of Windham, Norfolk County, was one of these early days circuit riders. He was a man of vigorous health and although without many advantages in the way of early education he succeeded by dint of hard and constant study in being admitted to the ministry. He was the first born in the first house built in Glen Williams near Georgetown, Mr. George Kennedy the founder of Georgetown, being a brother of his mother. To-day he is 70 years old and for the past 26 years has lived in this county. For many years he had been a sufferer from kidney and kindred diseases. He tried all kinds of remedies, and although sometimes temporarily relieved he gradually grew worse until in October 1895 he was stricken with paralysis. From this he partially recovered and recovered his powers of speech but his mind was badly wrecked and his memory was so poor that he could not remember the name of the person to whom he wished to speak without thinking intently for several minutes. One day driving to church he wished to speak of a neighbor who lived next to him for twenty years, but he could not recall the name for an hour or more. In addition to his mental trouble, he had intense bodily suffering; pain in the head, across the forehead, in the temples and behind the ears, across the lower part of the skull and in the joint of the neck. He had great weakness and pains in the back, hips and legs. In fact so much did he suffer that sleep was almost an impossibility, and he fell away in weight until he only weighed 145 pounds. By this time, Dec. 1895, he became despondent and felt that if he did not soon obtain relief, he would soon bid adieu to the things of this world. On the 20th of December he read of a cure in the Reformer by Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, and being seized with a sudden inspiration at once wrote to Brockville for a supply of that marvellous remedy. Immediate good results followed their use and he has improved wonderfully during the past year. He has recovered his bodily health and strength, is comparatively free from pain and his memory is is nearly as good as it ever was and as the improvement continues the prospects are very bright for complete recovery. He has gained 20 pounds in weight since beginning the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. Mr. Williams says: "I can heartily endorse the many good things said of these pills in the papers, and strongly recommend the blood with its life and health-giving properties, thus driving disease from the system. There are numerous pink colored imitations, against which the public is warned. The genuine Pink Pills can be had only in boxes the wrappers around which bears the full trade mark, "Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People." Refuse all others.

Rural Miscellany.

Plan to grow more grass and clover.

Study the requirements of the soil as well as of the market.

Select the crops with respect to their adaptability to the farm.

It is not only an item to increase quantity but to improve the quality of the crops.

Colts should be trained to walk fast before attempting to improve them in any other gait.

On the farm, as in any other line of business, it is an item to save labor and economize time.

Manure adds to the productiveness of land as soon as it is applied, but all of the substances will not be used up in one season.

The farm products should be put in the form in which they will bring the most money and yet leave the farm in the most productive condition.

While the farm may not always show large returns in the way of cash, yet with good management the farmer may be reasonably sure of a good living.

HER ANSWER IN THREE LETTERS.

Fulfilled Her Promise, But Her Reply Was a Negative.

He loved her with all his heart, but he was not certain that his affection was reciprocated. He determined to trap her into a promise to marry him. He made a mathematical calculation.

"Mary," he said, his voice trembling with emotion, "I love you. I am going to ask you to be my wife; will you give me your answer in a word of three letters?"

Her face was turned partly from him and her eyes were downcast. A faint blush mantled her cheeks, and her lips trembled as she softly murmured "I will."

His eyes reflected the joy in his heart at her words, and more tremulously, more tenderly than he had spoken before, he whispered:

"Mary, darling, I love you; will you be my wife?"

"Nit."

Looks Like It.

Son—Ain't you going to let me fly it, Pop?

Father—No; it's too big for you to manage.

Son—Then I guess I'll go around to Dolph's and shoot marbles.

Father—You stay just where you are. Do you suppose I want the neighbors to think I am flying a kite for my own amusement?

Jesters' Chorus.

"How are all your family?" asked the genial friend.

"Oh," replied the man who uses slang and makes puns, "we're all out of sight."

"Humph. You don't seem very cheerful about it."

"I have no reason to. The kind of sight I mean is anthracite.—Washington Star.

The New Boarder—Why does the landlady persist in burning the sausages black every morning?

The Old-Timer—Don't you know? She's in mourning for her dog.—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

face, and a crescent would constitute the centre for a lace rosette on the other side, while a long bar brooch holds a butterfly of lace in place on the shoulder. The disposal of jewels to advantage requires a great deal of thought and care, and the whole effect of a toilette is very easily spoilt by a want of attention thereto.

There is an attractive selection of new materials, especially in fancy coatings, one being in navy blue, with a misty green line in it, and another of chocolate with a black line. Venetian cloth for intermediate wear, and a cashmere cloth, with beautiful soft surface, resembling the old-fashioned double cashmere; also some soft Scotch tweeds, with an indefinite check of various shades. In thinner materials there is a new canvas in black and a soft lichen-green to be made up over colored silk, exactly resembling drawn linen work in open and closed squares. Royal blue and black and white, with touches of red, are becoming popular, as promised.

My lady has a new cravat, a stock of glace silk, fastening at one side with a bow and two ends. This is the newest cravat, and this is a bit of history about the oldest: The cravat was once the name of a great military nation, according to an authority, the Croats, or Cravats of the Balkans. It was their fashion to wrap large shawls or pieces of cloth around their necks and shoulders. About the middle of the reign of Louis XIV. he uniformed several regiments in the Croat fashion, with huge shawls about their necks. The fashion took, and the shawl diminished in size to the comparatively slight strip of cloth we now call a cravat.

White cloth Eton jackets are fashionable in London. It may be only a question of time until they are with us. The fashion chroniclers proclaim them very pretty.

Bright green chiffon, set into toque shapes, trimmed at one side with a bunch of white gardenias and a single pink rose in a model worthy of imitation for an evening bonnet.

Even the sunburnt skirts are not exempt from lavish trimming. They are usually bedecked with encircling bands of lace or ribbon.

Black silk shirt waists, with two or three side plaits of some bright color, set in on either side of the front, and a turn-over collar and suffs of kilted silk of the same shade, are very attractive as well as useful.

Bright Trimmings.

In looking at all the trimmings you cannot fail to be reminded of the effects of which the last scenes in pantomimes have made us familiar. The cup sequins, that look like jewels, very infrequently replace them, and a great deal of silver and steel is used alone and together. All these bright tones of colorings have even crept into belts, which are made of stuff that resembles the old Flemish leather, only the colors are very light, such as pink, blue, mauve, or green, intermixed with silver or gold. Another valuable collection of trimmings, with both edges alike, waved or scalloped, have a lace-like foundation, completely hidden by paillettes and embroidery, and others show no groundwork at all, but simply consist of small over-lapping sequins, those for the groundwork black, with bright red, green or mauve on the surface. Switzerland has sent a large convoy of trimmings into our market, made principally of silk, admirable as to color, especially those of pompadour designs. Then there are a good many ribbon-like trimmings brocaded and having picot edges, also gay in coloring.

Spring Blouses.

Blouses for wear under jackets and coats are made perfectly plain, or tucked horizontally in the back and in the front with side plaits turning away from a vest of white satin covered with white point or Venetian lace, finished at the neck with two falls of lace, with a knot of velvet in the centre to match. the velvet points or revers, or decorations of any sort at the back of the collar. Quite vivid contrasts of color are seen, as, for instance, a blouse of figured taffeta on a violet ground has a knot at the throat of the most vivid burnt orange, with the same colored velvet at the back of the collar. A gray blouse has accessories of primrose velvet. These knots at the throat are small and closely tied.

DR. LOW'S PLEASANT WORM SYRUP removes worms of all kinds from children or adults.

This Spring. Spring is at hand, winter is nearly over. Are you ready for summer? Is your blood pure? Burdock Blood Bitters purifies and enriches the blood, cures dyspepsia, biliousness, sick headache, etc. B. B. B. removes every trace of impurity from the blood, from a common pimple to the worst scrofulous sore.

shown by the dotted lines at a, Fig. 1. In this pruning careful attention must be given to the formation of the head, and such branches as will injure the form of the head must be cut away entirely.

In pruning, a hole must be dug sufficiently large to allow the spreading out of the roots in a natural position. Surface soil should be thrown by itself, and if not of good quality some fertilizing material like fine ground bone, well decomposed stable manure or mild phosphate should be thoroughly mixed with it. Now place the tree in a proper position in the hole about one inch deeper than it stood in the nursery, and work in this soil, around and under the roots, covering about three inches deep before treading it down. After this amount of soil has been thoroughly trodden down, throw in the remainder of the good soil loosely and the subsoil over all without treading down.

With the peach and pear trees and grapevines there is some danger of applying too much fertilizer, but with the apple, plum and quince there is little danger with the average cultivator of making the soil too rich. On ordinary soils from two to five large handfuls of fine bone, or two or three shovelfuls of fine manure well incorporated with the soil may be used with safety. Most fruit trees as received from the nursery have the main branches of the head not over four feet from the ground, and if the land is to be cultivated, in a few years they will interfere much with the use of the team among them. To form the head higher the matter must be attended to at or before planting. If the tree is in the condition shown in Fig. 1, all the lateral branches at a must be cut away, leaving a clean central leader from which new lateral branches start out as indicated from the dotted lines at b.

IMPROVED NURSERY PRUNING.

The main thing in forming a perfect head is to have the lateral branches distributed as far apart upon the axis as possible. If they all come out at nearly the same point, as illustrated at d, Fig. 2, the tree is liable to injury by splitting down when loaded with fruit. Especially is this true of the peach tree. Trees in the condition shown in Fig 2 should have some or all of the laterals cut off, as shown by the dotted lines at d, and a new head formed on the leader, as shown by dotted lines at e. The preparation given to the tree at time of planting is but a small part of that required to complete a shapely and well-proportioned head. During the summer the trees should be examined every two or three weeks and all buds starting into growth where not needed rubbed off, and any shoots tending to outgrow the others should have the end bud pinched out. With proper preparation at planting and a little care during the summers, at the end of the second or third year every tree should be perfectly formed, and this without the use of any instrument except the thumb and fore-finger nail. A well-started head is shown in Fig. 1, an improperly formed one in Fig. 2.—Farm

TAKE ONE.

Of Dr. Agnew's Liver Pills after dinner, it will promote digestion and overcome any evil effects of too hearty eating.

Entirely vegetable—Do not disturb the system.

Safe, prompt, active, painless and pleasant.

This effective little pill is supplanting all the old school nauseous purgatives. The demand is hard to keep up with since placing it on the Canadian market. Take no substitute. 40 doses 20c., at all druggists. Sold by A. W. Grange & Bro.

Cheapside.

The busiest Dry Goods establishment in the county

AND WHY?

Because customers find the best and largest assortment of the newest and most fashionable goods and at prices which always suit them, and are always sure that they will have the best of attention, as it is considered a pleasure to show goods.

The stock is now fully assorted in all the departments, and should you want anything in the following lines you will have a large assortment to select from.

Millinery, Dress Goods, Dress Trimmings, Silks, Blouse Silks, Blouses, Wrappers, Parasols, Gloves, Hosiery, Corsets, Prints, Cretonnes, Art Muslins, Cottonades, Shirtings, Ginghams, White and Grey Cottons, Gents Furnishings.

ORDERED CLOTHING A SPECIALTY HERE.

ONE PRICE ONLY. TERMS CASH.

W. MOWAT.

B BURDOCK B BLOOD B BITTERS

Strong Points
ABOUT B. B. B.

1. Its Purity.
2. Its Thousands of Cures.
3. Its Economy. 1c. a dose.

B. B. B.

Regulates the Stomach, Liver and Bowels, unlocks the Secretions, Purifies the Blood and removes all the impurities from a common Pimple to the worst Scrofulous Sore, and

CURES

DYSPEPSIA, BILIOUSNESS, CONSTIPATION, HEADACHE, SALT RHEUM, SCROFULA, HEARTBURN, SOUR STOMACH, DIZZINESS, DROPSY, RHEUMATISM, SKIN DISEASES.

B B B

MILBURN'S HEART AND NERVE PILLS

FOR WEAK PEOPLE.

At all Druggists. Price 60 cents per Box, or 3 for $1.50. Sent by Mail on receipt of price. T. MILBURN & CO., Toronto.

LAXA-LIVER

Have Everything Bright.

Many farmers, when their fences have gone down, buildings need repairing, and everything on the place looks like a wreck, become disgusted and offer their farms for sale. Of course, such a place is not attractive, and, if it finds a buyer, will be sold at a discount. A few dollars expended for paint, whitewash, lumber and nails, would add hundreds to its value, and, many times, after such a place is fixed up, courage returns to the would-be seller, and he finds his farm a pleasant enough place for him to stay.

In the British Museum.

Leaving the cases containing special letters of great men for those in which are preserved miscellaneous manuscripts, the visitor is simply dazed by the extent and value of the collection. The department contains more than 9000 volumes of manuscripts written in oriental languages, and each one is either of rare work in itself or a representative of a particular type. There are more than a hundred ancient Greek, Coptic and Latin papyri, and 40,000 other volumes of various kinds. While most of these are interesting only to the scholar, many of the oriental exhibits have a peculiar interest for the merely curious visitor. One Pali manuscript is engraved in beautiful characters on twenty-five leaves of silver. Another is written on lacquered palm leaves, with inlaid letters of mother-of-pearl. Another is on a sheet of gold, and others on ivory. The favorite material for this class of manuscripts is palm leaves, and some of the volumes consist of several hundred such leaves bound in covers of ivory.—Lippincott's.

Doubtful.

The dry goods merchant was explaining the situation to the new drummer he had just employed.

"Your predecessor," he said, "has got his business all tangled up, and if you take his place you will have a difficult task getting order out of chaos."

"I don't know who Chaos is," cheerfully replied the drummer, "but I bet I'll sell him a bill of goods if I have to hang on to him a week."—Dry Goods Chronicle.

Arnold and His Circus.

Matthew Arnold used to travel accompanied by his wife, two daughters and the agent, whom he oddly called his "impresario." They usually had railway passes given to them, and on several occasions when presenting these to the conductor, he remarked,

KUPP WAS A COOL ONE

HE WALKED OUT OF LIBBY PRISON WITHOUT A QUIVER,

Passed Himself Off as a Rebel in Butternuts Anxious to Get a Look at the Yankees—A Pennsylvania Dutchman's Clever Escape.

Lieut. Kupp of the Eighty-eighth Pennsylvania Volunteers was captured, with many of his regiment, at Gettysburg. He was known as a Pennsylvania Dutchman and he came from Berks county, in that state, where German colonists settled nearly two centuries ago and where their descendants cling to the old customs and the mother tongue even unto this day.

As it was summer at the time of Gettysburg, the men captured in that battle were in light attire, and the long march down to Richmond and the wear and tear on their thin blouses reduced them to rags, and this Pennsylvania lieutenant seemed to be the most ragged of all.

Kupp was considerably over six feet in height, lank, long limbed and inclined to be round shouldered. He was about 24 years old, and the grey eyes, dark hair and fuzz-covered face give him the appearance of a North Carolina mountaineer. His comrades jokingly called him "the tar heel," but he took it good naturedly. The resemblance was much in his favor when he made up his mind to leave Libby, and, to use his own language, "make a bee line for God's land," as the prisoners called the north.

Just before Christmas the Confederate authorities, who had refused to receive supplies for the prisoners from the United States Government, permitted friends in the North to send down a little food and clothing under flag of truce. Uniforms were contraband, so that all the clothes that came through were of the citizen style and material.

Lieut. Kupp received a huge box, full of hams, sausages, preserves, cheese and other good things from the old farm, but neither the memory of past hunger nor fear of the future prevented his inviting the men who had no boxes to help themselves. Of all the things in the big box, the one that most delighted Kupp's soul was a suit of butternut clothes, evidently of home

Scrofula is a word you don't quite understand, but if you talk with your doctor, he will tell you that it is generally believed to be due to the same cause which gives rise to Consumption. It appears mostly in those who are fat-starved and thin, usually in early life. A course of treatment of Scott's Emulsion with the Hypophosites wherever Scrofula manifests itself, will prevent the development of the disease. Let us send you a book. Free.

SCOTT & BOWNE, Belleville, Ont.

from the prison, but not daring to raise their voices in warning.

At length, to the great relief of all, the lieutenant rose, stretched himself, and yawned. Raising his slouched hat he shouted: "Good-bye Yanks; hope ter see yo agin." Then, with a long, slouching stride, he passed out of sight to the east.

The next flag of truce boat brought through a letter from Kupp. Five days after leaving Libby he fell in with Butler's troopers from Fortress Monroe, and at the time of writing was about to take passage for God's land.—New York Sun.

ENGLAND'S MILLLIONAIRES.

Thirty-Two of Them Have Died Within the Last Ten Years.

British millionaires, if we are to take the statistics of wills for our guide, die at the rate of three in a year. During the ten years, 1887 to 1896, thirty-two millionaire estates were proved for death duty. These estates involved an aggregate personalty of £51,670,000, so that they averaged in value over £1,600,000.

CURE
BILIOUSNESS
CONSTIPATION
SICK HEADACHE
AND ALL LIVER TROUBLES

FARMERS ATTENTION.

Insure your property in the Lennox and Addington Mutual Fire Insurance Company.
Because it is a Home Company.
Because it is a Safe Company.
Because it is the cheapest and best.
Because it affords the most liberal policies to patrons.
Because it insures only (isolated) non-hazardous risks, as farm property, county churches hall and school houses.
Because it is the Farmer's Company managed by Farmers in the interest of farmers of the Counties of Lennox and Addington, Hastings Frontenac, Lanark and Leeds.
Officers—J. B. Aylsworth President; B. C. Lloyd, Vice-President. Directors—A. C. Parks, C. C. Sills, W. R. Gordanier, I. F. Aylesworth. Honarary Directors—Jas. Ried, M.P.P., A. V. Price, Camden. C. R. Allison, Wm. Chesters, Fredericksburgh. D. W. Allison ex-M.P. Adolphustown; F. B. Guess, Col. Geo. Hunter Kingston; Allan Pringle, Ira. B. Hudgins, Richmond. The board meets at the Secretarie's office in the first Saturday of every month at one p.m.

J. N. McKim, Napanee.
N. A. Caton, Napanee. } Agents
Thos. B. Wilson, Newburgh
M. C. BOGART Sec'y.-Treas

To Cure
RHEUMATISM
TAKE
Bristol's
SARSAPARILLA
IT IS PROMPT
RELIABLE
AND NEVER FAILS.
IT WILL MAKE
YOU WELL
Ask your Druggist or Dealer for it
BRISTOL'S SARSAPARILLA.

IN some parts of the world fire is yet produced in this difficult and arduous way. . . . . .

In Canada the people produce fire by the use of

E. B. Eddy's Matches.

Bay of Quinte Railway and Navigation Company

GENERAL PASSENGER TIME TABLE, No. 13 Taking effect Dec. 2nd, 1895

Eastern Standard Time.

Tweed and Tamworth to Napanee and Deseronto.

	Stations	Miles	No.2 A.M.	No.4 P.M.	No.6 P.M.
Lve	Tweed		6 50	....	3 00
	Stoco	3	6 56	....	3 10
	Larkins	7	7 10	....	3 25
	Marlbank	13	7 25	....	3 40
	Erinsville	17	7 40	....	3 55
	Tamworth	20	7 50	2 00	4 10
	Wilson*	24	....	....	....
	Enterprise	26	8 10	2 20	4 30
	Mudlake Bridge*	28	....	....	....
	Moscow	31	8 22	2 35	4 43
	Galbraith*	33	....	....	....
Arr	Yarker	35	8 35	....	4 55
Lve	Yarker	35	9 00	2 50	5 15
	Camden East	39	9 13	3 02	5 25
	Thomson's Mills	40	9 18	....	....
	Newburgh	41	9 23	3 15	5 35
	Napanee Mills	42	9 33	3 25	5 45
Arr	Napanee	49	9 50	3 40	6 00
Lve	Napanee	49	....	....	6 30
	Deseronto Junction	54	....	....	6 45
Arr	Deseronto	58	....	....	....

Deseronto and Napanee to Tamworth and Tweed.

	Stations.	Miles	No.1 A.M.	No.3. P.M.	No.5 P.M.
Lve	Deseronto	0	6 50	....	....
	Deseronto Junction	4	7 10	....	....
Arr	Napanee	9	7 25	....	....
Lve	Napanee	9	7 45	12 00	4 20
	Napanee Mills	15	8 00	12 15	4 35
	Newburgh	17	8 10	12 23	4 42
	Thomson's Mills*	18	8 20	....	....
	Camden East	19	8 33	12 30	4 50
Arr	Yarker	23	8 43	....	5 00
Lve	Yarker	23	9 00	12 45	5 20
	Galbraith*	25	....	....	....
	Moscow	27	9 15	1 00	5 33
	Mudlake Bridge*	30	....	....	....
	Enterprise	32	9 30	1 15	5 42
	Wilson*	34	....	....	....
	Tamworth	38	9 50	1 35	6 00
	Erinsville	41	10 00	....	6 13
	Marlbank	45	10 15	....	6 25
	Larkins	51	10 30	....	6 43
	Stoco	55	10 50	....	6 55
Arr	Tweed	58	11 00	....	7 10

Kingston and Sydenham to Napanee and Deseronto.

	Stations.	Miles	No.2. A. M.	No.4. P.M.	No.6. P.M.
Lve	Kingston	0	....	....	4 00
	G. T. R. Junction	2	....	....	4 10
	Glenvale*	10	....	....	4 30
	Murvale*		....	....	4 40
Arr	Harrowsmith	19	....	....	4 50
Lve	Sydenham	23	8 00	....	....
	Harrowsmith	19	8 20	....	4 50
	Frontenac*	23	8 33	....	5 00
Arr	Yarker	26	8 40	....	5 10
Lve	Yarker	26	9 00	2 50	5 15
	Camden East	30	9 13	3 02	5 25
	Thomson's Mills*	31	9 18	....	....
	Newburgh	32	9 23	3 15	5 35
	Napanee Mills	34	9 33	3 25	5 45
Arr	Napanee	40	9 50	3 40	6 00
Lve	Napanee, West End	40	....	....	6 30
	Deseronto Junction	45	....	....	6 45
Arr	Deseronto	49	....	....	....

Deseronto and Napanee to Sydenham and Kington.

	Stations	Miles.	No.1 A.M.	No.3, P.M.	No.5 P.M
Lve	Deseronto	0	6 50	....	....
	Deseronto Junction	4	7 10	....	....
Arr	Napanee	9	7 25	....	....
Lve	Napanee	9	7 45	12 00	4 20
	Napanee Mills	15	8 00	12 15	4 35
	Newburgh	17	8 10	12 23	4 42
	Thomson's Mills*	18	8 15	....	....
	Camden East	19	8 20	12 30	4 50
Arr	Yarker	23	8 33	12 45	5 00
Lve	Yarker	23	8 50	....	5 20
	Frontenac*	27	9 00	....	5 27
Arr	Harrowsmith	30	9 05	....	5 40
	Sydenham	34	....	....	5 55
Lve	Harrowsmith	30	9 05	....	....
	Murvale*	35	9 20	....	....
	Glenvale*	39	9 30	....	....
	G. T. R. Junction	47	9 55	....	....
Arr	Kingston	49	10 00	....	....

B. C. CARTER, Asst Gen. Manager
G. A. BROWNE, Gen. Pass. Agent
H. B. SHERWOOD Superintendent

the "upper Potomac room," a hunk of bread in one hand and a chunk of ham in the other, while his laughing companions demanded to know when he left "North Caliny."

"Hit don't mattah we'en I left," responded Kupp, with an inimitable mountaineer drawl; "the thing that's a botherin' me is we'en an' how Ize gwine ter git back."

As old soldiers will remember, the uniforms of the Confederates were anything but uniform at about this time. The citizen clothing put aside at the beginning of the war was sent to the front from home, though a gray hat, gray trousers, or a gray coat had been retained whenever possible. Hundreds of Confederates in "butternuts" passed the prison along Carey street every day, and many of the guards about Libby, and those who came in every morning to count the prisoners were dressed in the same material.

One morning, it was early in January, '64, and about ten days after he had received the clothing from home, it was noticed that Kupp, who was usually among the first counted out, hung to the rear, and on this occasion was the very last.

When Kupp came into the upper Chickamauga room, the guard was forming to go. Seizing the hand of Capt. Maas of his own regiment, who stood near by, the lieutenant whispered:

"Good-by, Ed; I'm going to make a break for God's land."

As this was the first intimation Capt. Maas had had of his friend's purpose, he was too much astonished to make a reply. The next instant Kupp had caught step and fallen in behind the guard.

He kept safely to the rear until the sergeant of the guard had reported to the officer in charge. When the guard had passed the sentinel at the door, Kupp walked over and saluted Turner, who by this time was seated at his desk inside of a railing. Hearing the shuffling of feet on the floor, Turner looked up and demanded:

"Who the devil are you?"

"I'm from North Caliny," responded Kupp.

"How did you get in here?"

"Follered the gad, an' I've been awaitin' to talk wid yo'. Ain't yo' Mistah Turnah?"

"That's my name. Now, what do you want?" asked Turner, as he arose angrily from the desk.

"I've been in hospital, jest got out yes'day, an' thought foah I left fo' the front I'd like to see the Yankee prizners," said Kupp.

"Go to the front, confound you, and you'll see more Yankees than you'll like!" shouted Turner.

"Then thar ain't no show fo' me to see any of them Yanks I helped gobble at Gettysburg or Chickmaugy?"

"No; get out!" and Turner pointed to the door, where an armed guard stood listening and laughing.

"Waal, I didn't know you uns was so cussed particular," drawled Kupp, as obeying the direction indicated by Turner's extended hand, he made for the door.

Kupp saluted the guard, who exchanged winks with him as he passed out to freedom.

Once beyond the guard, a man of ordinary nerve would have started off with all speed, nor halted until Libby was far behind and even the steeples of Richmond out of sight; but Kupp was not an ordinary man. Standing before the entrance to the prison, the lieutenant shouted in to Turner:

"Say, mistah, hev ye any objection to a feller's standin' acrost the street an' kinder peekin' up at the buildin'?"

Of course, Turner made no response, but the guard continued down his post and laughed, as if he thought the tall man in butternuts a very funny fellow.

Meantime the news of Kupp's escape had spread among his late associates. The excitement was all the greater from the fact that it had to be suppressed. Instead of glass there were iron bars in the front windows. Prisoners were not permitted to come within two feet of these bars. Of course all knew the order, and that Capt. Forsyth of the 100th Ohio had been killed a few days before for unintentionally violating it, yet the men forgot all about this in their anxiety to see Kupp leave.

The lieutenant had evidently made up his mind to gratify his comrades behind the bars. Across Carey street from the prison there was a vacant lot. Kupp walked to the edge of the lot, sat down on a log, and, taking out his broken jackknife, began to whittle and to signal the men in his old room to come out and join him.

The situation was intensely humorous, but at the same time intensely painful to the men watching Kupp

Baron Herman de Stern, financier, 1887, £3,544,970.

Hugh McCalmont, stockbroker, 1887, £3,191,921.

Sir A. B. Walker, Bt., brewer, 1888, £2,876,781.

John Ryland, Manchester trade, 1889, £2,574,183.

Sir Robert Loder, Bt., inherited from Russia merchant, 1888, £2,500,000.

Junius S. Morgan, banker, 1890, £2,022,000.

Andrew Montague of Ingmanthorpe, landowner, 1895, £1,992,656.

Sir Charles Booth, Bt., distiller, 1896, £1,907,107.

Lord Wolverton, Glyn's Bank, 1888, £1,820,000.

Earl of Derby, Liverpool, ground landlord, 1893, £1,802,204.

W. H. Smith, news agent, 1892, £1,764,460.

G. H. Strutt, cotton spinner, 1895, £1,621,261.

Duke of Cleveland, mineral royalties, 1891, £1,440,889.

Christopher R. W. Talbot, mineral royalties, 1891, £1,399,173.

Baron Hirsch, financier, 1896, £1,372,163.

Nathaniel Clayton engines, 1891, £1,364,496.

Duke of Sutherland, mineral royalties, 1892, £1,275,088.

Roger Cunliffe, bill discounter, 1895, £1,184,069.

Samuel Fielden, cotton, 1890, £1,170,113.

Algernon Peckover, banker, 1894, £1,163,286.

S. H. Thompson, banker, 1893, £1,133,792.

Christian Allhusen, chemical manufacturer, 1889, £1,128,852.

John Bullough, machinist, 1891, £1,091,835.

Henry Page, maltster, 1894, £1,078,481.

Sir Arch. Orr Ewing, Bt., dyer, 1894, £1,077,235.

Sir William Pearce, Bt., shipbuilder, 1888, £1,069,000.

Sir Richard Wallace, Bt., landowner, 1891, £1,055,780.

H. A. Brassey, contractor, 191, £1,042,611.

Sir John Hardy, Bt., ironmaster, 1888, £1,023,000.

Sir William Miller, Bt., merchant, 1887, £1,023,000.

Sir Gilbert Greenall, Bt., brewer, 1894 £1018,375.—Contemporary Review.

Women in Gutter Journalism.

She has a police court assignment. The police court is brutal and she winces some under what she hears there; but she must not wince. She reasons it all out to herself, and she places herself in the background, because she belongs to journalism now, and every virtue and every emotion must be subservient to that one of filling her assignment and procuring the news for her editor. She must not be thin-skinned if she wishes to succeed in her chosen vocation, especially as the editor thinks she is qualified. So few women are qualified, she tells herself, and so few women have the opportunity. She must not forget to be grateful; she learned appreciation at home. So she steels herself, and mantles her womanhood with the mud-stained garment of modern gutter journalism.

Then she must do the slums; she cannot consider herself educated for a career until she has seen the filth of slum life, and investigated the opium den, Chinese vice, the brothel and every other mysterious place in a great city that always stands ready to gratify morbid curiosity. But here is a professional curiosity. She must know about everything, or she can never expect to be a successful journalist. One day she attires herself as a Salvation Army soldier and marches with the Salvation Army through sections of the city in which they are expecting rocks to be cast at them. Then she writes about it, and has pictures made illustrating the sensation, and then she signs her name to her effort. —The Arena.

Back-Ache, Face-Ache, Sciatic Pains, Neuralgic Pains, Pain in the Side, etc.
Promptly Relieved and Cured by
The "D. & L." Menthol Plaster
Having used your D. & L. Menthol Plaster for severe pain in the back and lumbago, I unhesitatingly recommend same as a safe, sure and rapid remedy; in fact, they act like magic.—A. LAPOINTE, Elizabethtown, Ont.
Price 25c.
DAVIS & LAWRENCE CO., LTD.
Proprietors, MONTREAL.

The Latest Humor

THE PUZZLED PHRENOLOGIST.

The great phrenologist was dazed,
And lost his usual suavity;
He'd found a man who couldn't be praised
Because of his depravity.
"You are a thief," said he; "I fear
You steal when not prevented."
"But William Shakespeare, he stole deer,"
Said he; "I'm complimented."

"Your temper's bad, you're full of bile,
You rave and fume intensely."
"Oh, yes," said he, "so did Carlyle;
You honor me immensely."
"But you, sir, you are very vain,
And weakly egotistic."
"Oh, yes," said he, "just like Montaigne;
You're very eulogistic."

"You are a cynic," "So was Swift,"
"A scoffer," "So was Shelley,"
"For lying you've a mighty gift,"
"Well, so had Machiavelli,"
"But you're conceited, proud and 'haut;'
A base of pride you're built on,"
"Well, so was Michael Angelo,
And Dante, and John Milton."

"Funds left with you would be misused,
Or I am much mistaken;
Men's trust in you would be abused,"
"Why, how like Francis Bacon!
Well, here's your fee; you've done me proud;
You've ransacked history's pages
To rank me with th' illustrious crowd
Of great men of all ages."
—SAM W. FOSS.

TWO MEN FROM BURLINGTON.

They Were Both Charles C. Clark, and Various Complications Resulted.

"Got any mail for Charles C. Clark?" asked one of the guests at the Lindell Hotel of Clerk Lewis last night.

"Well, I did have, but gave it to you an hour ago," was the reply.

"Gave it to me? Why, how's that?" asked the astonished man. "I haven't received any mail at all to-day."

"Isn't your name Charles C. Clark?"

"Yes, sir."

"From Burlington?"

"Yes, sir."

"Well, I'm sorry Mr. Clark, but I was under the impression I had several letters for you and delivered them. But I guess I was mistaken."

Mr. Clark went away, half grumbling, half satisfied, and Clerk Lewis turned to The Republic man, and said:

"I'm in a devil of a fix; I'm sure I gave that man's mail away, and——"

Just then another guest came up and threw down half a dozen letters on the counter. "I'm Charles C. Clark of Burlington," he said, "but these letters are not for me. Guess there is some mistake about the address."

He turned away before Mr. Lewis had time to question him, so the missives were put away for the other guest.

Then the first man returned and wanted to know where his laundry was. He had been promised faithfully, he said, to have it in his room in the morning. It wasn't there and he didn't have a clean piece of linen to his name. The clerk investigated, and was told by the laundress and messenger of the hotel that "Mr. Clark's laundry was sent up to his room and must be there yet, and please tell Mr. Clark to look again."

"Hang them," exclaimed Clark, "don't they think I can see. I searched all over the room, and it's not there."

"Oh, by the way," said Clerk Lewis, "here are your letters, Mr. Clark," and he handed over the opened epistles. "Now, maybe I can explain about your laundry," he continued, after the man had finished swearing about his correspondence being opened. "There's another Charles C. Clark here from Burlington."

"Yes, here he is," interrupted the other Clark, coming up to the desk, "and here's a bill for laundry that I don't owe," and he threw down a yellow slip before Clark No. 1 and the puzzled clerk.

Explanations followed. One man was Charles C. Clark of Burlington, Ia., who had been stopping at the hotel for the last week, and the other was Charles C. Clark of Burlington, Kan., who arrived only yesterday. They exchanged pleasantries over the matter and adjourned to the bar. Mr. Lewis followed them and insisted on paying for the drinks."—St. Louis Republic.

Trapped the Officer.

A little time ago a tradesman who carried on business in a large provincial town happened to see a man whom he knew to be an Inland Revenue officer prying into his shop window. After satisfying his curiosity, the officer

A woman's best jewels are her babes. A healthy, happy child is womanhood's most appropriate ornament. A childless woman is to be pitied, even though she be the possessor of other jewels that are priceless. A womanly woman knows this and would sacrifice all the diamonds of all the nations for the clinging, confiding touch of baby hands. Thousands of women lead childless, loveless lives because of ill-health. They do not understand the duties that they owe to themselves. They neglect the most delicate and important parts of woman's organism. They suffer untold agonies from weakness and disease of the organs that make motherhood possible, and never know the thrilling touch of baby fingers. They imagine their cases hopeless.

In this they are mistaken. Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is a sure, safe, swift cure for all weakness and disease of the organs distinctly feminine. It acts directly and only on these organs. It prepares a woman for motherhood. It allays all discomfort during the expectant period. It insures the baby's health and makes its coming easy and almost painless. More than 90,000 women have testified in writing to its value. All good druggists sell it.

Mrs. Rebecca Gardner, of Grafton, York Co. Va., writes: "I was so sick with dyspepsia that I could not eat anything for over four months. I had to starve myself, as nothing would stay on my stomach. I tried almost everything that people would tell me about, and nothing did me any good. I weighed only 80 pounds. I took two bottles of the 'Golden Medical Discovery' and thank God, and your medicine, I am as well as I ever was, and now weigh 125 pounds. I have a bottle of your 'Favorite Prescription' now, and that is a wonderful medicine for female weakness Praise God that he created such a man as you."

Business is business. No time for headaches. Constipation causes them. Doctor Pierce's Pleasant Pellets cure them by curing the cause. One little "Pellet" is a gentle laxative, and two a mild cathartic.

INDUSTRIAL WOMEN.

THE JAPANESE FIELD WIDENS FOR THEM AS PRODUCERS.

Probably One Half of the Manufactured Products of the Flowery Kingdom Come From the Hands of Women—More and More in Demand Each Year

(Special Correspondence.)

Tokyo, Japan, (Special.)—It is impossible to fully estimate the share which the women of Japan have in the industrial pursuits of the country, but there is no doubt that an enormous amount of the products, probably more than half, comes from their hands. Throughout the whole country the greater part of which is engaged in the many varied industries which characterize Japan, there are few manufactories; these are only in one or two of the large cities, and are of recent date. Most of the industrial production is therefore carried on in humble homes, where a master workman, assisted by the apprentices and his family, carries on the work, the home and the workshop having been the same for many generations. The father trained his sons in the industry to which he had been born and reared, and when he died he left them to carry on the work and make their living by it.

Although the industries of Japan are by no means fully developed. They have been carried on for nearly 2000 years. The skilled handiwork and artistic taste of the Japanese workmen are already famed over all the world, and the exquisite cloisonne, the rich lacquer, and the beautiful silks show what is made in these low thatched huts scattered over the empire of Japan, and they fully prove that the introduction of machinery will never help the rearing of the delicate worms and later in the season in the spinning and weaving of the silk. The work is mostly done with coarse, rough machiner, and yet delicate fabrics and artistic patterns are sent from such homes to the cities. The average earnings of women engaged in the work are from 20 to 50 cents a day. This in Japan is good wages.

MAKING SILK BUTTONS.

In connection with the silk culture it is interesting to note that the raising of silk worms is a favorite occupation in many wealthier families, where the ladies spend much time in tending the worms as an amusement.

Women in the interior are often seen doing the hard work of the men, there being little difference made between them. In some places they do the work of the ordinary laborer, such as pulling or pushing carts, carrying heavy burdens, cutting timber and mending roads. In the mining districts women are found among the hard-working miners. The women of the interior serve as carriers over the hard mountain roads, and nearly every pack horse in the mountainous districts has a little woman for its leader, who goes with it miles and miles over the rough passes and narrow paths, stopping only now and then at resting places for a cup of tea and luncheon or to change the straw shoes of both horse and leader—for horses as well as men wear shoes of woven straw. One often wonders at these women, where they come from and where they go, pitying them for the beggarly pittance which they get in return for the use of a horse and its owner for the whole day.

In the fishing districts much is done by the fishermen's wives. The preparation of the seaweed, which is used for food in great quantities, the making of salt and the drying and preparation of the fish is mostly done by them, as well as the making and mending of fishing nets. Extraordinary stories are told of places along the coast, where there are famous women divers, whose skill is beyond that of many of the men. These women, called ama, go out among dangerous rocks and rough waves and battle with the ocean, diving down into deep places to obtain a certain kind of seaweed which is considered to be a great delicacy. They work hard to obtain this precious seaweed, often enduring great danger, and receiving many bruises and cuts. In this way they obtain exceedingly high wages, sometimes as much as $4 or $5 a day when the time is favorable.

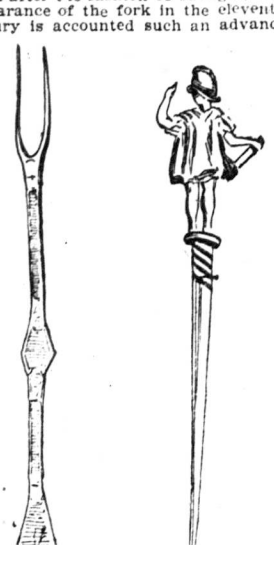
On the whole the lives of the women of the laboring classes compare favorably with those in other countries, and as regards their position in the home, and their relation to their husbands, they are better off than are their apparently more fortunate sisters in the higher ranks of life. As to the large amount of work done by them, its usefulness and its great results, there can be no doubt to anyone who has studied the question or who has traveled about in the various districts of Japan.

A.

INVENTED 900 YEARS AGO.

The Handy Fork Comparatively of Modern Origin.

Nine hundred years ago the fork made its appearance as an aid to the eating of food. Before that time our ancestors and all the fine folks, kings, queens, and everbody else of whatever degree, ate their meat with their fingers and tore their food apart very much after the fashion of savages. The appearance of the fork in the eleventh century is accounted such an advance



Cures Talk

"Cures talk" in favor of Hood's Sarsaparilla, as for no other medicine. Its great cures recorded in truthful, convincing language of grateful men and women, constitute its most effective advertising. Many of these cures are marvelous. They have won the confidence of the people; have given Hood's Sarsaparilla the largest sales in the world, and have made necessary for its manufacture the greatest laboratory on earth. Hood's Sarsaparilla is known by the cures it has made—cures of scrofula, salt rheum and eczema, cures of rheumatism, neuralgia and weak nerves, cures of dyspepsia, liver troubles, catarrh—cures which prove

Hood's Sarsaparilla

Is the best—in fact the One True Blood Purifier.

Hood's Pills cure liver ills; easy to take, easy to operate. 25c.

HOUSES TO LET.

Two commodious dwellings on Centre St. Plenty of good water, hard and soft. For particulars apply to S. CASEY DENISON.

ACTIVE MEN WISHING PERMANENT and paying employment can secure the same by engaging with us to sell our HARDY SPECIALTIES AND SEED POTATOES. All Canadian grown. Outfit free. Salary paid weekly. Write to us for particulars, and secure exclusive territory.

PELHAM NURSERY CO.
17-1a TORONTO, ONT.

REAL ESTATE AND INSURANCE

I have several good farms of 50, 100 and 200 acres, at most moderate prices, and very easy terms of payment.
Several dwellings in the Town of Napanee.
Farm lands and city lots in Manitoba.
Insurance in Stock and Mutual Companies.
Money to loan at 5 per cent. on good Real Estate property. Apply to
M. C. BOGART,
Napanee.

T. W. SIMPSON, B.A., M.D., C.A.
Licentiate of the Royal College of Physicians Edinburgh,
Office—Dr. Grants' late residence, Bridge St

MARGARET P. SYMINGTON, M. D. C. M., Licentiate of Royal College of Physicians, Edinburgh.
Diseases of Women and Children.
Residence north side Market Square, 4th door west John street.
Consultin hours 11 a.m. to 3 p.m., and 6 to 8 p.m. Telephone 87.

R. A. LEONARD, M.D., C.P.S.
Physician, Surgeon, etc.
Late House Surgeon of the Kingston General Hospital.
Office—North side of Dundas Street, between West and Robert Streets. Napanee. 5:1v

HERRINGTON & WARNER
Barristers, etc.
MONEY TO LOAN AT LOW RATES
Office—Warner Block, East-st, Napanee. 5y

DEROCHE & MADDEN,
Barristers,
Attorneys-at-Law, Solicitors in Chancery, Conveyancers, Notaries Public, etc.
Office—Grange block
Money to Loan at "lower than the lowest" rates
H. M. DEROCHE, Q. C. 5.1v J. H. MADDEN

MORDEN & RUTTAN,
Barristers, Solicitors, etc.
Solicitors for the Merchant's Bank of Canada etc., etc.
Dundas Street, Napanee.
G. F. RUTTAN.
Private funds to loan at five per cent.

A. S. ASHLEY,
DENTIST
16 Years in Napanee.
34 Years Experience.
Rooms, · Albert Block, · Napanee

prietor:

"Mr. Robins, I understand?"

"Yes, I am Mr. Robins."

"You keep a trap, I believe?"

"That is so."

"Have you a license for it?"

"I have not."

"Had you a license last year?"

"No."

"Then why didn't you take out a license?"

"Well, I didn't think it was needed."

"Oh, indeed! How many does your trap hold?"

"When it's full, five."

"And how many wheels has it?"

"None."

"None! Why, what sort of a trap is it?"

"Oh, it's a mouse trap!"

The officer beat a hasty retreat, followed by the loud laughter of the mischief-loving Mr. Robins.—Tid-Bits.

He Got Better.

It was a sad scene. The old man lay on the bed, and by him sat the faithful wife, holding his worn hand in hers and forcing back the tears to greet his wondering look with a smile. She spoke words of comfort and of hope, but he felt the cold hand falling on him, and he turned his weary eyes up to her pale, worn face.

"Jeannie, dear wife, I am going."

"Oh, no, John, not yet, not yet."

"Yes, dear wife," and he closed his eyes, "the end is near. The world—the world grows dark around me, gathering thicker and thicker, and I seem to hear sweet music."

"No, no, dear John; that's the brass band in the street."

"What?" said the dying man. "Have those scoundrels dared to come round here when they know I am dying? Give me my bootjack; I'll soon let 'em see!" and in a towering rage the old man jumped from his bed, and before his wife could think he had opened the window and had shied the bootjack at the band. "I've hit that Dutch leader, anyway," said he, and went back to bed and got better.

A Drawback.

Aunt—Well, Ethel, how do you like our new little brother?

Ethel (aged 4)—I don't like him at all. He can't even speak English.—Judge.

Too Much for the Dog.

"Chappie, how in the world do you get by that savage bulldog when you call at Miss Bullion's?"

"Blow cigawette smoke in his face."

Many Lives Shortened by the Pleasures of the Table.

In spite of the warnings and commands of family physicians, in spite of the many examples of shortened lives and lives of suffering, men will yield to the seductiveness of the pleasures of the table. The spectacle of the man who overeats, or who deliberately eats improper food, is common enough, but rarely do we see as plain evidence of the admiration for the glutton which certain people possess as that which the daily papeers lately afforded. A well-known boniface died at an age when he ought to have been enjoying robust and vigorous health. Some slight mention was made of his business ventures, of his daily life, of his reason for living. But all this part of his existence was immaterial and uninteresting. The great and praiseworthy features of his life seem to have been gastronomic feats and a general ability to eat and drink enormously. He was lauded as the prince of bon vivants, the man who could eat a huge dinner and shortly thereafter swallow a brace of broiled lobsters and a couple of Welsh rarebits, washed down with copious libations of vintages or distillages or fermentages. During his last illness, when his physicians enjoined rest in bed and a scrupulously careful diet, we read that he was game enough to dress and go out on the hotel porch to sit, winding up his imprudence (and incidentally his life) with a hearty meal, in defiance of the medical directions. This last piece of bravado was apparently considered by certain newspaper reporters as an achievement fit to rank with a victory on a battlefield, and the glutton was admiringly mentioned as though he were a brilliant and fearless hero, risking his life in a worthy cause. He was allowed more space than the Cuban patriots. He was eclipsed only by the Chinese viceroy in importance as a timely topic.

The newspapers were not creating a sentiment, but merely catering to one already formed in thus aiding gluttony. The only conclusion we can draw is that the epicurean philosophy still has its cult, and that many a man's motto is "Let us eat and drink, for tomorrow we die." The case is left to the moralist.—American Medical-Surgical Bulletin.

In these home workshops women assist to a more or less degree in almost every branch of industry and some of the productions are entirely from the hands of women. Silk, one of the chief exports, is the result of women's work, and silk culture, as well as spinning and weaving, is done in the home. In passing through the silk districts one will find every home occupied with the culture of the silk worm, and each room filled with long trays containing the young worm or the cocoons, or else with weaving or spinning implements, and women busy at work in every process of the industry. Tea, one of the greatest exports, is often picked and dried by women, while on the farms or in the rice field, the farmers' wives are seen at all seasons by the side of their husbands sowing the seed, transplanting, weeding, and sharing in the hard work as well as in the lighter toil which gives them their scanty living. The women wear dark blue cotton dresses which resemble the dresses of the men so much that it is sometimes difficult to distinguish the sex at the first glance. Over their head is placed a cotton towel folded gracefully to protect them from the sun and wind. Sometimes a baby is tied to a woman's back, while the mother goes about to do her work.

Passing through the many villages in agricultural Japan, one finds many small, cheerless and apparently comfortless homes. Yet the small pittance earned, often by husband and wife working side by side, is enough to keep body and soul together, and even to afford such pleasures as to make them light-hearted and happy. The Japanese as a nation are contented and happy, and though the lower classes are often improvident they manage in spite of their hardships to get along contentedly. Many of the artisans, low tradesmen and coolies, hard-worked as they are, easily throw aside their work and take a day of rest and pleasure, without a thought or a care what the future may bring, and lightly spend the hardly earned pittance for some amusement—an excursion under the flowering trees or a day at the theatre.

Bare and meagre as are many of the homes, they are generally neat and clean and show the pains which the wife has taken. There are often a few feet of ground for a miniature garden, with its trees and pots of flowers, and some refinement and gentleness is found in their lives. There are presents exchanged, greetings and formal salutations passed between these humble homes, where poverty does not seem to have hardened the heart or taken away gentle ways. Thus, in spite of hard taxes, low profits and heavy toil, the farmers of Japan are a contented and hard-working class.

The fact that the women share to a greater or less degree in the work of the men and help in the support of the household may account for the fact that working women are much more on terms of equality with men than are women in the higher classes, where they are entirely dependent on the men and stay in the house at all time. The laboring woman has almost equal power and authority in the home. She knows everything that goes on, helps in the business, buys, sells, and sometimes drives hard bargains. In many cases where the woman has the shrewder head the husband leaves much in her hands, and there are many shops where the women do the greater part of the business.

PICKING TEA.

In many cases, as in the culture of silk, thousands of women not only support themselves and help to take care of their families, but are sometimes the sole bread-winners, while the husbands take their pleasure and ease. The patient toil of the women, the deft fingers and careful handling cannot be imitated by the men; and the women of the silk districts must take the greater share of the work, first in in civilization that the nine hundredth anniversary, which is shortly to occur, will be appropriately celebrated at Venice, where the innovation was made.

EARLY FORK. SKEWER FORK.

It is true that the word fork occurs once in the Bible. This is in the Pentateuch, where mention is made of the "flesh forks." But antiquarians are agreed that these are not forks in the modern sense of the word.

Antiquarians have an intimate knowledge of the ways in which the Greeks and Romans lived. They know that they reclined on lounges when they ate, resting their heads on one hand and eating with the other. They know that they were accustomed to get very drunk at their big feasts, and they know the delicacies which they ate. But no mention is made of their eating with forks. The food was brought to the diners by servants, and was already prepared, being sliced ready for eating. Lucullus, or any other epicure who was dining, would then use the same forks as were used by Adam—namely, the fingers. Mention of the fork appears in Virgil, Livy and other writers of the day, but the Latin word furca meant anything with two prongs, and the nearest approach to the fork was the same utensil as that used by the ancient Jews in removing their cooked morsels from the pot.

The explorations of Herculaneum and Pompeii, which towns were destroyed in the first century, added much to the information of moderns as to the customs of the ancients. Only two instruments resembling table forks were found in Herculaneum. None were found at Pompeii.

It was in Venice in the year 997 that forks are said to have first made their appearance as aids to the eating of food. The merit of their adoption belongs to the Doge Orsola, who at the wedding of his son produced a silver fork and a gold spoon. It excited great comment at the time and added much to the already great reputation of the doge as a gourmand of great extravagance.

Three hundred years later the fork reached France, like other gastronomic ideas of the Italians. Then Orsola's innovation reached England, and in course of time they were more used, but for a long time all users of forks were ridiculed in England as practicing an effeminate piece of daintiness. A clergyman spoke against the use of forks "as being an insult to Providence not to touch one's meat with one's fingers."

PYNY-PECTORAL

Positively Cures
COUGHS and COLDS

in a surprisingly short time. It's a scientific certainty, tried and true, soothing and healing in its effects.

W. C. McCOMBER & SON, Bouchette, Que., report in a letter that Pyny-Pectoral cured Mrs. C. Garceau of chronic cold in chest and bronchial tubes, and also cured W. G. McComber of a long-standing cold.

MR. J. H. HUTTY, Chemist, 528 Yonge St., Toronto, writes: "As a general cough and lung syrup Pyny-Pectoral is a most invaluable preparation. It has given the utmost satisfaction to all who have tried it, many having spoken to me of the benefits derived from its use in their families. It is suitable for old or young, being pleasant to the taste. Its sale with me has been wonderful, and I can always recommend it as a safe and reliable cough medicine."

Large Bottle, 25 Cts.

DAVIS & LAWRENCE CO., LTD.
Sole Proprietors
MONTREAL

Any Woman No. 3

If she is content to endure her pains and weakness without attempting to get relief, can get along without MILES' (Can.) VEGETABLE COMPOUND. But if she WANTS to be well, WANTS to be strong, WANTS to walk and work with ease and comfort, she will use

MILES' (Can. VEGETABLE COMPOUND

If she can't get it at her Druggist's, she will enclose 75c. to

The "A.M.C." MEDICINE CO., Ltd.
578 St. Paul St., Montreal, and get a large bottle.

If wise she will lose no time in doing it.

Explanatory pamphlet, "Woman's Triumph," mailed free on application.

C. D. WARTMAN, L.D.S.
C. H. WARTMAN, D.D.S.

Graduates of the Royal College of Dental Surgeons of Ontario, and graduate of Toronto University.

OFFICE—LEONARD BLOCK,

☞ Visits made to Tamworth the first Monday in each month, remaining over Tuesday, dooms at Wheeler's Hotel.

All other Mondays C. D. Wartman will be in Yarker.

Napanee office open every day.

THE ROYAL HOTEL.
Dundas Street, Napanee.
H. HUNTER, Prop.

This commodious hotel is centrally situated having every convenience for the travelling and business public. Large yard and sheds for farmers.

Good table, best of wines liquors, and cigars The comfort of guests is made a first consideration.

JAS. AYLESWORTH,
General Business Agent.

POLICE MAGISTRATE for the Provincial Electoral District of Addington.

Conveyancer,
Issuer of Marriage Licenses,
Commissioner, etc., in H.C.J

Clerk, 7th Division Court. of the County of Lennox & Addington
TAMWORTH.

The Value of Salt.

Common salt ground to a fine powder will remove the stain of hard-boiled eggs from silver spoons quicker than anything else. Coarse salt, however, will scratch them. A little salt will remove the stain of tea from cups or of vinegar from table linen.

Salt and water will clean willow or rattan furniture and wil keep matting from turning yellow, as it will if wiped off with clear water. After sweeping a carpet which is somewhat faded, scatter coarse, damp table salt over it, and brush it vigorously. A fresh supply of dust may be extracted from the carpet in this way and the faded colors will be perceptibly brightened. A handful of salt added to a tubful of water, in which colored cambric and other cottons are soaked before they are washed, will prevent the colors running. Rinse the goods in salted water and dry them as rapidly as possible. Do not use too much salt, however, as it hardens the water and prevents the dirt coming out as well as the color.—New York Tribune.

Frocks for Small Girls.

"It is no longer considered necessary," writes Emma M. Hooper, in The Ladies' Home Journal, "to set aside certain fabrics for little girls' wear, as nowadays they wear everything that their mothers do, except real lace and jewels. Care is taken, however, to use only small-patterned materials for their frocks. In colors, white is always in good taste, also baby blue and pink, and this spring green is very much in vogue, as well as golden brown, red, French and navy blue, pearl gray and pale yellow. Black is used only as a trimming in velvet ribbon or mohair braid. Satin and taffeta ribbons are used as trimmings, also white, yellowish and linen-colored embroideries. Valenciennes and net top laces are used in white and butter shades with insertion to match."

Stains on Wall Paper.

Fresh stains upon wall paper where people have rested their heads can be removed by covering the spot with a mixture of pipe clay and water made into a soft paste and letting it remain over night. Then brush it off with a stiff whisk broom.

VICTORY FOR EAST SIMCOE.

Of one thing Mr. W. H. Bennett, the Conservative Standard Bearer in East Simcoe, is Sure—He Suffered from Catarrhal Trouble and Found Speedy and Fixed Relief in Dr. Agnew's Catarrhal Powder.

In the coming by-election it will not be settled until the votes are counted, whether W. H. Bennet, who has represented the constituency with ability for years, will again be the successful candidate. One thing Mr. Bennett is perfectly certain of, whatever turn the election may take; When attending to his duties in Ottawa two sessions ago he was taken down with catarrhal trouble in the head. He used Dr. Agnew's Catarrhal Powder and over his own signature says that it worked like a charm, and quickly removed the trouble and made him fitted for his parliamentary duties. Sold by A. W. Grange & Bro.

New Clothing for Boys.

We have placed in stock this week, new suits of all descriptions for boys of all sizes which are well worth inspection.

The suits were bought cheap and are very attractive in appearance as well as durable.

J. L. Boyes.

Men's Outfitter etc.

COAL!

The Celebrated

SCRANTON COAL

That has no Equal.

I wish to announce to the public that I have put in a thoroughly assorted stock of this celebrated Coal, and am prepared to supply my customers on as good terms as any other dealers.

I am the sole agent in Napanee for this celebrated Coal and it can not be had from any other dealers. Your Patronage Solicited.

C. E. BARTLETT.

CARLETON WOODS.
ISSUER OF MARRIAGE LICENSES.
1y Roblin, Ont.

JOHN POLLARD,
ISSUER OF MARRIAGE LICENSES.
Express Office, Napanee.
Strictly Private and Confidential.

R. J. WRIGHT,
ISSUER OF MARRIAGE LICENSES.
At Residence, Bridge Street, Napanee, Opposite West Ward School.
Entirely Private.

The Napanee Express

NAPANEE, FRIDAY, APRIL 30, 897.

All local reading notices or notices announcing entertainments at which a fee is charged for admission, will be charged 5c per line for each insertion, if in ordinary type. In black type the price will be 10c per line each insertion.

Wallpaper

House cleaning is the order of the day.

Spring has sprung—bull frogs are in evidence.

The new tariff is received with much favor in Napanee.

Mr. Hugh Milling has purchased a fruit farm in the Niagara District.

Mr. Laing has had a handsome verandah erected around his residence.

Corner Mill and Robinson street, hard, soft, cut, or in cordwood, Trenton dry edgings and blocks. Reasonable rates. A call solicited. Wood delivered free to all parts of the town. S. J. HOWARD. tf

There is Money in it! In what?

Why in wearing correctly fitted glasses. It enables you to see what you buy better, and saves doctors' bills for headaches, sore eyes, nervous prostration, etc. Come to A. F. Chinneck then and be properly fitted. The only one in town who has graduated from two schools. Testing free.

Notice to Farmers

The best MANITOBA RED FIFE seed wheat. The best WHITE ENSILAGE Seed corn that can be procured is for sale at the Big Mill at a small margin over cost. Try my flour "DAFOE'S BEST" and "NONESUCH." Prices and quality considered they can not be surpassed. The bread made from them has a rich golden color, sweet favor and retains moisture longer than any flour in the market. For pastry try "SEEK-NO-FURTHER." Ask your grocer for it and take no other, it suits them all.

15-1-j J. R. DAFOE.

Are You Open to Conviction.

Our advertisements have proved convincing to thousands of fair minded men and women representing every walk of life, clergymen, lawyers, doctors, teachers, business men and children have been scientifically fitted with spectacles by H. E. Smith. Have your eyes examined by the experienced and qualified optician. The best advice is what you want as eyesight is priceless. No eye in existence with an optical defect, he cannot remedy with glasses. Remember one fact outweighs a thousand claims. H. E. Smith, Graduate New York Optical College. Office Smith's Jewelry Store.

Another Sons Division.

On Thursday evening of last week another Sons of Temperance Division was organized by Messrs Bushell and Seymour, with 71 charter members. This addition is located at Odessa and in its ranks are some of the best known residents of the locality. The officers are: W. P., George Hamm; W. A., Nelson Booth; S. Y. P. W., Miss Hilda Smith; A. R. S., Florence Snider; F. S., Henry Smith; Treas., Calvin Montgomery; Chap. James Dawson; Con., Max Lee; A. C., Luella Clark; I. S., Sidney Clark; O. S., Wm. Cairns; P. W. P., Rev. W. B. Seccombe; Deputy, Dr. Meacham, M.P.P. Night of meeting, Saturdays. Eleven divisions have been organized in the county during the last month with an aggregate of 461 charter members.

A Pretty Wedding.

At 11 o'clock, Wednesday, April 21st, one of the most brilliant events of the season took place at Mt. Carmel church, Prince Edward County, when Mr. J. J. Fralick, formerly of Napanee, led to the altar, his only daughter, Edith Blanche, to be united in wedlock by the Eev. Mr. Sing to J. Solmes Watts, D. D. S., a graduate of the University of Baltimore. The bride was charmingly dressed in a suit of cream satin and veil while she wore in her hair a bouquet of the Lilly of the Valley. Miss Etta Watts, sister of the groom, acted as bridesmaid and was attired in a robe of pale delicate green, richly trimmed with white, while the groom was assisted by Mr. O. Price Fralick, brother of the bride. A large number of relatives and friends were present at the ceremony among whom was Mr. S. M. Brown, photographer, of West Lake, who photographed the bridal party before leaving the altar. After the ceremony was performed, the guests and bridal party sat down to a sumptuous repast. Among the afternoon proceedings was the photographing of the guests and residence. The high esteem in which the bride is held was shown by the large number of costly presents. The guests departed after extending congratulations and spending a pleasant afternoon with music, instrumental and vocal. The newly-wedded couple will take up their residence in New York.—Com.

A Belated Report.

Owing to the crowded state of our columns we were unable to make more than a brief reference to the Bachelors Assembly in our last issue. This brilliant social function was held in the Oddfellows' hall, Harshaw block, on Thursday evening of last week and was a very enjoyable affair. Messrs. R. P. Lahey, W. Ponton, W. Durand, W. C. Smith, J. Mrs. P. Stein, Denbigh, is very ill.

Mrs. James Roy, Cloyne, is critically ill.

The remains of Mr. S. Weese, who was killed at the fatal Collinsby crossing last fall, were brought from Morven and taken to Bath for interment recently. The deceased's wife is slowly recovering from her injuries caused by the said accident.

Mr. Frank Chalmers, of Adolphustown, was in town on Tuesday.

J. H. Clapp has removed to Toronto.

Miss Lulu Hemstreet has returned from her visit.

Miss Dora Casey spent the Easter Holidays with friends in Kingston.

Burnnell Dennison, youngest son of Jno. W. Dennison, Richmond, is recovering from a severe attack of pnuemonia.

Miss Lita Carson and Fred Carson, of Kingston have been visiting friends in Napanee.

Miss May Reid, Reidville, has secured a situation as nurse in the Haknemenn hospital, New York.

Mrs. Ed. Boyes, of Cornwall, is visiting friends in town.

Mrs. Wm. Bennett is visiting friends in Watertown.

Mr. John Weighill and family, Marlbank, have removed to Rochester.

Geo. R. Aylsworth, of Madoc, spent a few days with his father, Isaac Aylsworth, Ernestown, last week.

Mr. M. Oliver, Deseronto Road, has gone to Manitoba.

Miss Bickett, of Belleville, has been visiting in town.

Mrs. James Porte and daughter Nora, Picton, have been visiting in town, the guests of Mrs. Geo. A. Blewett.

Dr. Whiteman, Shannonville, has sold out his practice to Dr. Moore and removed to Detroit.

Mrs. W. A. Steacy is convalescent.

Robert Brown, of Adolphustown, was in town on Saturday.

Miss Lizzie Peterson, of Syracuse, has been the guest of Mrs. E. W. Scott, Bridge St.

Mrs. M. Smith, of Pleasant Valley, who was stricken with paralysis recently, is not improving.

Hammel Deroche now rides a Leader Cycle.

Mr. M. W. Mitchell, foreman of M. S. Madole's tinshop, will move his family to Napanee in a few weeks.

Mr. Geo, Parrott was in town on Monday calling on his numerous acquaintances. George is running a farm a short distance from Belleville and any of his old friends who call upon him will find him at home with the latch-string always out.

Mrs. R. J. Hannah, Reidville, is now almost recovered from her severe illness.

Mr. P. A. Hudson, of Reidville, is slowly recovering from a severe illness.

Mr. A. Vanluven, Morven, entertained the Brick church choir to a sugar party recently.

Miss Emma Garrison has accepted the position of organist of the White church, Morven.

George Reid, Enterprise, has secured a situation with Clement Bros. Deseronto.

Rev. Mr. Shorey, Sandhurst, was in town on Saturday.

Mrs. and Mrs. G. W. Morden, who have been visiting in town returned to their home in Picton on Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. Harper, of the Brethren, are spending a few days in town.

Mr. C. E. Knight is visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Knight.

A. J. McLean, of Montreal, is visiting in town

Mrs. Uriah Sills, Pleasant Valley, has completely recovered from her recent illness.

Miss Maggie McNeil, returned to her home in Marysville, last week after a few days visit with Mrs. A. McNeil, Fountain Hall.

Miss Edith Henry has returned to Toronto where she is attending the University.

The Misses Madole have returned to Whitby Ladies' College after a few days visit with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. M. S. Madole.

Mr. Thos. Symington, was in Toronto last week.

Sidney Shorey, Lindsay, has been visiting at Mr. Alfred Knight's,

Mr. Wm. Taylor, of Tweed, attended the bachelors assembly last week.

Miss Halliday of Port Hope, has been visiting in town.

Mr. Stewart Daly, has been visiting in town.

Miss Gertrude Davey, has returned to Brockville Business College after a pleasant visit at her home in Odessa.

Miss Belle McLeod, of Marysville, has been visiting in town, the guest of Miss Maud Webster.

Miss Lucy Brindley was visiting in Yarker last week.

Mrs. Uriel Tobey, Picton has been visiting Mrs. Annie Boyes.

Miss Nellie Collier has returned from Wesley, where she was visiting her cousin, Miss Lily Baker.

Mrs. R. K. Holland has returned to her home in Montreal after a pleasant visit with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. T. H. Waller.

John Fletcher, of Tamworth, has taken up his residence in Napanee.

Mrs. Thos. Burley has returned from Florida and spent the Easter holidays the guest of Miss Pauline Vandebogart.

Mr. Rufus Neville, barrister, Toronto, spent a few days in town last week with his sister, Mrs. Thos. Empey.

Miss Smith, of Kingston, has been visiting her brother, Mr. F. W. Smith.

Mrs. W. A. Baker has returned to town.

Miss Edna Brisco was at home to a number of her friends at her home in Hawley, one evening last week.

Miss Addie Chinneck has returned from Adolphustown after a pleasant visit with Miss Grace Chalmers.

Earl Williams, Toronto, is visiting at J. H. Clapp's.

Rev. F. T. Dibb is leaving Odessa for Wolfe Island. He farewells in all the stations of Ernestown Mission next Sunday May 2nd. During his

Dry Mill Wood.

Over 1000 cords. $1.60 per cord.
THE RATHBUN CO.,
Napanee.

Avoid Costs.

All debts due the firm heretofore known as Embury, Greer & Co. must be settled before the 15th of May or costs will be added. 21c. EMBURY, JACKSON & CO.

Too Busy.

Owing to pressure of business in our watch repairing department we have not had time to write our regular advertisement this week. F. W. SMITH & BRO. 21a

Wanted.

Men and Women work hard talking and writing six hours daily, for six days a week, and will be content with ten dollars weekly. Address,
NEW IDEAS CO., Brantford Ont.

Go To Lawson's

For prime Easter beef, fed by our townsman W. Miller, unequalled by western markets, also choice veal, pork, mutton, spring lamb and poultry, (rose brand) smoked hams, breakfast bacon and lard, salt and pickled meats and our renowned home-made sausage, prices right. Call and be convinced.

Organized at Bath.

On Monday evening last a new Sons of Temperance division was organized at Bath by Messrs. Bushell and Seymour, with the following officers: W. P., W. E. Topliff; W. A., E. P. Sheppard; R. Scribe, Harold Hogle; A. R. S., Mary Kellar; F. S., Mabel Mott; Treas., Frank Kellar; Chap., Geo. Davy; Con., Deborah Hawley; A. C., Hattie Chambers; I. S., Mrs. C. Cronier; O. S., C. Mills; P. W. P., D. W. P., D. W. Ball, Esq.; Deputy, E. P. Sheppard.

A Passage at Arms.

On Thursday John Carr was arrainged before Police Magistrate Daly charged with selling whiskey to Culbertson, an indian. W. G. Wilson had charge of the case for the prosecution. Mr. Wilson and the magistrate had a few words, when the latter practically ordered Mr. Wilson to leave the room. Mr. Wilson complied and at once wrote to the department asking for a general enquiry into the affairs of the police magistrate. The action against Mr. Carr was dismissed, and Culbertson was discharged.

Cheapside.

This week we opened out new carpets and hosiery which have been in bond at customs house for some time expecting that the new tariff would be reduced from former charges. We have not been disappointed, and are now prepared to give very special value in black cotton hose "Hermsdorf dye," both in women's and children's. You should see them before buying elsewhere, 400 dozen to choose from. The carpet department is now fully assorted, Millinery department in full swing. Dress goods in all the newest makes and colors and we have been told our dress goods are the prettiest and best value seen in Canada. Prints, cretonnes, art muslins, dress muslins and organdies in every variety. Parasols and umbrellas at all prices. Gents furnishings department fully assorted. Ordered clothing a specialty with us here. Our values in grey and white cotton are the talk of the country. No trouble to show goods. Terms cash. One price only.
W. MOWAT.

Anniversary Services.

The Oddfellows of Napanee celebrated the 78th anniversary of the founding of the order in America by attending Divine Service in the Western Methodist Church on Sunday morning last. Napanee Lodge, No. 86, and Argyll Lodge, No. 212, reinforced by brethren from Deseronto met at the Lodge rooms of No. 86 at 10 o'clock a.m, and marched to the church in a body, about 150 strong. The members presented a fine appearance in their handsome regalias and a fair sprinkling of silk tiles but heightened the effect. The services were conducted by the Rev. D. O. Crossley, who preached a really able, instructive and eloquent sermon, choosing as the subject "The Three Links," Friendship, Love and Truth, The pulpit was tastefully decorated with flowers and presented a beautiful appearance. The music by the choir was of a high order and was greatly appreciated. The male choruses from oratorios, during the offertory, were particularly fine. On the return to the Lodge room votes of thanks were tendered to the Rev. D. O. Crossley, for the excellent music rendered and the church committee for the courtesy erected around his residence.

Buffalo Bill's Wild West Show will exhibit at Belleville and Kingston sometime in July.

Cheap agate fry pans, No. 9 agate fry pans for 30c, just think of it. Cheaper than iron, at Boyle & Son's.

The football club has settled down to hard practice. The boys are going to make an effort to land the Bass cup.

Seventy million people know Hood's Sarsaparilla purifies the blood, strengthens the system and gives good health.

and Borders

Will Penny had a runaway last week while returning from Gerow's cheese factory. The wagon was wrecked and the horses injured.

A Morven young man ate 23 eggs on Easter Sunday and only gave up because the supply was exhausted. He appreciates the lay of the hen.

Quarterly services will be held in the Methodist church, Selby, on Sunday May 2nd, commencing at 10.30 o'clock. Official Board meeting Monday 3rd at 2 o'clock.

It is said that a hotel keeper in town will be prosecuted for supplying Culbertson, the indian who was remanded to gaol on Monday for assaulting Charles Pearson, with whiskey.

Colonel James Brown, commanding officer of the 49th battalion, Hastings rifles, died at Belleville on Saturday morning after two months illness. He was in his seventy-fourth year.

in great variety at

"Satisfactory Results." So says Dr. Curlett, an old and honored practitioner, in Belleville, Ontario, who writes: "For Wasting Diseases and Scrofula I have used Scott's Emulsion with the most satisfactory results."

There are now fourteen prisoners confined in the county jail at Kingston. All are males, a female prisoner not occupying a cell for upwards of five months. Four of the prisoners are insane, and should be removed to an asylum.

Boyle bottom milk can, best milk can in the world, not copied or stolen from any other, but original; made from best material that money can buy and by men who know how to make good cans. Sold only by Boyle Son.

Andrew Culbertson, an indian from Tyendinaga got into an altercation with Charlie Pearson last week and ended up by giving Pearson a blow on the head that made his teeth rattle. The indian was run in and brought before the magistrate who committed him to gaol for thirty days.

Pollard's Bookstore

BICYCLES—See our display Saturday. We can give you the cheapest and best $60 wheel ever offered, the only wheel at the price using weldless tubing, all other cheap wheels have brazed tubing. In stock. Triump, Perfect, Dominion, Garden City, Night Hawk, Skylark, Leader, Phœnix, and the celebrated Cleveland. Boyle & Son.

Chas. Kincade was arrested by night-watchman Perry on Sunday night on a warrant sworn out against him for disturbing the Salvation Army meeting on Saturday night. He was brought before the magistrate on Monday and pleaded guilty to the charge. The magistrate imposed a fine of $2, and $4 costs or 10 days in gaol. Kincade paid the fine.

and the prices

The collector of customs at Napanee has been instructed for the present and until further advised, that the Reciprocal Tariff applies only to Great Britain and Ireland, Articles which are the growth, produce or manufacture of Great Britain and Ireland imported direct therefrom, may be taken out of warehouse for consumption, at seven-eighths of the rate mentioned in schedule A of the tariff of 1897.

James Farewell, who escaped from a constable while enroute from the Goderich gaol to the Kingston penitentiary by a daring leap from an express train somewhere between Brighton and Napanee, turned up at St. Mary's this week. Two constables got on to his track and attempted to arrest him while on his way to a house at which his wife was stopping but he struck one of the constables on the abdomen with a heavy wrench and the other officer turned and ran away and Farewell made good his escape.

are Right

affair. Messrs. [illegible] Ponton, W. Durand, W. C. Smith, J. M. Bogart, Chas Dewey and A. T. Pruyn were the stewards, the patronesses being mesdames E. H. Baines, Wm. Miller, H. B. Wray, R. A. Leonard, W. K. Pruyn, A. F. Holmes, A. S. Bristol and J. E. Herring. The following is a brief description of the costumes worn by the ladies.

Mrs. Baines, white muslin over pink.
Mrs. Wm. Miller, black velvet cream point lace.
Mrs. (Dr.) Leonard, white silk, jet ornaments.
Mrs. (Dr.) Wray, red and black striped silk, flowers.
Mrs. W. Pruyn.
Mrs. Holmes, black cashmere, red chiffon trimmings.
Mrs. (Dr.) Bristol, black silk, red roses.
Mrs. Orlin Herring, blue striped silk.
Mrs. Harry Smith, pink silk and cream lace.
Mrs. W. G. Wilson, strawberry silk, lace trimmings.
Mrs. Allen, black silk.
Miss Davy, Belleville, yellow satin.
Mrs. Herrington.
Miss Caton, white silk.
Miss N. Herring, pink dotted muslin.
Mrs. J. W. Robinson, pink striped silk, chiffon trimmings.
Mrs. U. M. Wilson, cream silk.
Miss Moyle, strawberry silk.
Mrs. J. Wilson.
Mrs. Dollar.
Mrs E Douglas, steel gray silk.
Mrs C Fanning, pale blue silk.
Miss A Coxall, pale blue cashmere swansdown trimming.
Miss M Coxall, cream cashmere.
Miss Grange, heilotrope silk.
Miss Grange, green striped silk, roses.
Miss McLaren.
Mrs J English, black silk, white chiffon.
Mrs (Dr) Ward, dresden muslin, lace trimmings.
Miss L Ward, pink silk, white chiffon.
Miss M Ward, blue silk, white chiffon.
Miss M Miller, cream cashmere.
Miss E Scott.
Mrs Templeton, black silk.
Miss Templeton, cream silk, scarlet ribbons, flowers.
Miss S H Mills, pale blue silk, chiffon trimmings, roses.
Miss Redner, cream silk.
Miss Katie Ross, dotted muslin over yellow.
Mrs. Waller.
Miss Pollard, dresden muslin, carnations.
Miss B. Pollard, dotted muslin over silk, chiffon trimming, roses.
Mrs Shorey.
Mrs Mowat.
Mrs J L Boyes, yellow silk, black chiffon.
Mrs Bartlett, black cashmere.
Miss D Cliff, cream.
Miss Dixon, (Belleville) pink cashmere.
Miss E. Miller, cream silk.
Mrs F F Miller, black silk.
Miss Cheevers, cream cashmere, chiffon trimmings.
Mrs A Boyes, pale blue cashmere, chiffon trimmings, flowers.
Mrs Harshaw, white corded silk.
Miss Leneau, cream silk and passimenterie trimmings.
Mrs. Forward.
Mrs G D Hawley, heilotrope muslin.
Mrs Ryan, white satin, roses (Yarker)
Mrs Finkle (Newburgh)
Miss Hope (Newburgh) cream cashmere old rose velvet.
Mrs Burrett, pink silk.
Mrs J Aylsworth, black silk.
Miss C Williams, pale blue crepon.
Miss B Henry.
Miss L Daly, pale green silk.
Miss G Daly, white dotted muslin.
Miss West (Yarker) green muslin.
Mrs Dench.
Mrs Johnson (Napanee Mills)
Mrs Boyle, grey cashmere, yellow chiffon.
Miss B MacDonald, yellow satin, cream ribbons.

The following gentlemen were in attendance: H E Smith and Bert Robinson, of Kingston; Mr Ryave and H Finkle, Newburgh, Dr Ruttan, Yarker; Dr Lochart, Harrowsmith; W Dollar, W Taylor and W C Craig, Tweed; W C Smith, E H Baines, Orlin Herring, W G Wilson, W S Herrington, Dr Leonard, J E Herring, U M Wilson, John Wilson, J A Wilson, Dr Wray, W K Pruyn, J L Boyes, C E Bartlett, Geo Cliffe, John McKenty, F F Miller, John Ham, Zina Ham, T E Anderson, W Boyes, C E Boyes, J W Robertson, Dr Wagar, A Chinneck, C Fanning, John English, Dr Ward, E Hall, W Templeton, W T Waller, C Shorey, E Checkley, H R Atkins, W Mowat, W D Madden, T G Davis, C Dewey, G Bustin, H Lapum, S Lockridge, John Cheetham, F G Huffman, R P Lahey, H Ward, W Hosey, Thos Johnston, W H Boyle, Don Taylor, Geo Thompson, W Ponton, J M Bogart.

Island. He farewells in all the stations of Erinstown Mission next Sunday May 2nd. During his incumbency Mr. Dibb made a host of warm friends who will regret his departure.

Mr. Elias Hudgins has now charge of the Erinsville stage and is giving good satisfaction Mr. Hudgins likes the people of Erinsville very much and is pleased to throw in his lot amongst them.

Mr. S. J. Chamberlain, of Belleville, was in town on Tuesday.

Mr. Green, Singer Sewing Machine agent, has moved into the Cliff Terriace on Robert St. Mr. Green will remove his family from Ogdensburgh next week.

Mr. G. F. Ruttan is in Toronto this week.

Mr. R. S. Cadman, of Parma, was in town on Tuesday and favored us with a call.

Mr. Alex Henry, of Toronto, is spending a few days in town.

Messrs. F. Bicknell and Geo. E. Hinch, of Camden East, were in town on Tuesday.

Mr. Geo. W. Lampkins, of Moscow, favored us with a call on Saturday.

Mr. Thos. Shortts, of Newburgh, was in town on Saturday.

Mr. Thos. T. Bowers, mail clerk, Tweed, favored us with a call on Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry J. Allison were over Easter Sunday the guests of Mr. Allison's father, near Napanee.—Picton Times.

Arthur E. Scott has returned to his home at Cherry Valley after a short visit in town, the guest of W. C. Scott,

J. M. Osborne left for Manitoba last week.

Mrs. A. Lalond is able to be out and around after her recent illness.

The Rev. Mr. Serson, of Tamworth, was in town on Thursday.

Mr. John Balfour, of Ottawa, spent Thursday in town the guest of his brother-in-law, Mr. J. H. Madden.

Mr. Wm. Stoddart of Deseronto, and Miss Frankie Richardson spent Sunday last in Newburgh.

Mr. and Mrs. Mark Husband spent Sunday last in Colebrook the guests of Miss Minnie Boyes.

A. M. Robertson and K. P. R. Neville are class Medalists of Queen's University D. M. Gandler, Newburgh, is the winner of the Rankine prize.

Mr. Wm. Grange, of Queen's is spending a few days in town.

E. McKenty, Merchant, Bath, was in Napanee on Friday last.

James M. Lapum, of Buffalo, is spending a few days with his family, at Mrs. Allen's, Napanee.

S. C. Warner returned from Utica on Friday evening last accompanied by his three children.

H. Warner made a trip to Kingston on Friday.

Dr. David John Smith, of Chicago, who has been spending the winter in the South is visiting friends in Napanee.

Arnold Wolfe left for Kingston on Thursday morning where he has secured a situation.

Mrs. W. A. Rockwell, and Mrs. Rudd Perry were visiting friends in Violet on Wednesday.

Mr. Thomas R. Burley, of Fellows, paid Napanee his first visit on Saturday last since his return from the Southern States.

James M. Lapum who visited his family in town was in Bath on Saturday, Violet on Sunday, and Belleville on Monday.

Miss Louise Daley, of Montreal, is spending her summer holidays with friends in Napanee.

Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Morden of Picton spent the Easter holidays with Mrs. Geo. Daley, Napanee.

Warrie Eakins left for is home in Belleville on Saturday evening, after spending ten days with friends in Napanee.

Captain Holmes and Mr. Rudd Perry left on Monday last for the Kaladar Gold Mines.

W. S. Herrington attended Court in Deseronto on Thursday.

James Hayden Esq. Camden was in town on Thursday.

Squire Storms, of Odessa, was in town on Thursday calling on old friends.

Messrs. F. W. Bedjamin, B. S. O'Laughlin and J. A. Shibley, of Yarker, were in town on Saturday.

Peter Johnston, Camden East, spent Saturday in town.

Wm. Whalen, of Centreville, was in town on Saturday.

Mrs. Shortts and Miss Eddna Shortts, of Newburgh, were in town on Thursday.

Mrs. Ming is visiting her son, Dr. Ming, John St.

Miss Georgina Jamieson has returned from Queen's University where she passed a very creditable examination, being successful in all the subjects she tried.

Mr. and Mrs. Harper left on Thursday for Adolphustown after spending a week in town. He will remain for several days in Adolphustown and then go to to Murvale, where he will again hold meetings, after which they will proceed to their home near Smith's Falls. Mr. Harper has spoken every evening and twice on Sundays during the last seven months, in the interests of the Brethren.

Mrs. Leslie Shannon gave a progressive pedro party at her residence on Tuesday evening, in honor of her guests, the Misses Taylor, of Belleville. A most pleasant time was spent by all present.

The assembly given by the pupils of Mrs. Bristol's dancing class in the Oddfellows hall on Wednesday evening was a highly enjoyable and pleasant affair.

John Allen, Marlbank, was in town on Monday.

Mr. Morrison, of Kingston, was in town this week the guest of his sister, Mrs. D. J. Hogan.

Mrs. W. F. Tobey was in Montreal last week.

Mrs. Dougherty and two children left on Thursday on a visit with friends at Red Key, Indiana.

Mrs. Jno. McKim, Selby, spent Wednesday with Mrs. W. R. Gordanier.

A. T. Harshaw left on Tuesday for Orangeville.

Among the successful graduates at Queen's are K. P. R. Neville, Newburgh, R. W. Alcombrack, Cataraqui, D. A. Guy, Camden East, A., T. Hawley, Napanee.

and the church committee for the courtesy extended.

Schedule of the Quinte Union.

The following are the games and dates as arranged by the Quinte District Foot Ball League to be played for the Bass cup. Napanee goes away from home pretty often at first, but will wind up the season at home when the interest as to the winner of the cup will insure big gates. Napanee has two home games on holidays:

May 7th, Napanee and Deseronto at Deseronto.
May 8th, Sydenham and Kingston at Kingston.
May 14th, Napanee and Picton at Picton.
May 15th, Sydenham and Deseronto at Deseronto.
May 20th, Picton and Kingston at Kingston.
May 24th, Napanee and Kingston at Kingston.
May 24th, Sydenham and Picton at Kingston.
June 4th, Kingston and Deseronto at Deseronto.
June 5th, Sydenham and Napanee at Napanee.
June 11th, Kingston and Sydenham at Sydenham.
June 11th, Deseronto and Picton at Picton.
June 18th, Napanee and Sydenham at Sydenham.
June 18th, Picton and Deseronto at Deseronto.
June 22nd, Kingston and Napanee at Napanee.
June 22nd, Picton and Sydenham at Napanee.
June 26th, Deseronto and Sydenham at Sydenham.
July 1st, Kingston and Picton at Picton.
July 1st, Deseronto and Napanee at Napanee.
July 9th, Picton and Napanee at Napanee.
July 10th, Deseronto and Kingston at Kingston.

Mrs. Dingle of Lindsay (nee Miss Lizzie McLaren of Napanee) is one of the lucky Canadians who struck it rich by investing in mining stock. Some three months ago Mrs. Dingle invested $700 for stock in a British Columbia mine and she is now drawing upwards of $100 per month from profits of the mine and has been offered $7000 for her stock, which offer she refused —Tweed News.

BIRTHS.

SWITZER—On April 15th the wife of J. N. Switzer, Desmond, of a son.

PERRY—At Hay Bay on the 19th inst, the wife of A. B. Perry of a son.

MORRISON—At Asselstine on the 16th inst, the wife of Frank Morrison of a son.

DALY—At Napanee, on April 28th, the wife of W. A. Daly of a daughter.

The Power to Attract

Is one of the important points in our Spring Line of stylish

Colored Shirts.

Never have Colored Shirts given more promise of wide usage than for the coming season.

D. J. Hogan
& SON.

Sole agents for Wilkinson and Henry Carter Hats.

THE BIG STORE,

April 30th, 1897.

New Shirt Waists

Neat patterns in Prints, Stripes, and spots, laundried turn over collars and cuffs, compare them with others at 50c. 39c.

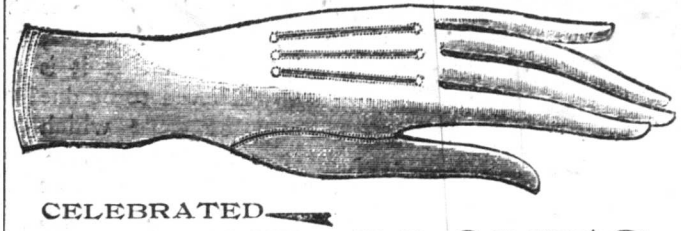
Children's Tam o'Shanters

A new line of blue cloth Tams, two styles regular price 25c. Ours 19c.

Boys' Sailor Suits

A new line in fine Navy Flannel, neatly braided blouse with cord and whistle, fit boys four to seven years $1.25

PEWNY'S



CELEBRATED

* * KID GLOVES

Are the best Gloves. We are the Napanee Agents and show the complete range of qualities. They are not the only good gloves but they are the best.

Carpet Prices

Go lower with the beginning of May. Spring goods must be sold in the spring season, only May left to clear them out in. An extra price pressure this month on the balance of our spring carpets, also remnants. Many sales make many remnants and these go very low in price. They are all kinds, qualities and lengths, you are pretty sure to find a useful piece among them. You'll find us the right carpet people.

More Shirt Waists

New ones in Madras, Organdies, and Batistes, with very newest collars and cuffs. There are no nicer goods shown in this country, but prices are not high.

Parasols and Sunshades

Also Ladies Umbrellas. We believe we have the best styles and the best values in these goods that you'll find anywhere. Prices run about the same as usual, from 25c. upwards, goods run fully 25 per cent better than usual.

Men's Tweed Pants

A new lot of strong Tweed Pants in neat patterns and well made. You pay $1 elsewhere but our price is 79c.

Lace Curtains

A word for these. We've sold our curtain stock once this season, now we begin on a new lot. We have the lowest priced ones of course, 23c, up, but our best values are in goods from 50c., to $2.00 and here our range is simply unapproachable. There is quantity enough to make this everyone's buying place, value enough to please every buyer.

Window Draperies

Hundreds of pretty things to hang up anywhere that draperies go. Madras muslins, Art muslins, Printed Scrims, Cretonnes, Art Silks, Art Sateens, any and every kind of tasteful fabric for home decoration. Ask us to show them.

LAHEY & McKENTY

Flat to Rent.

Over the Central Meat Market, John street, two doors south of post office, Apply at the Central meat market. 20b

A Landmark Gone.

In the year 1822, Gabriel Balfour, a bright, 10 year-old Irish boy landed in Canada after a tedious voyage of six weeks

Honor Rolls.

MOSCOW.

V Class—Miles McKeown (missed exams).
IV Class Sr.—Marks obtainable 800.

Church of England Notes

Mission of Ernestown. 2nd Sunday after Easter, May 2nd. Hawley, 11 a.m.

To Let.

A fine brick residence on Dundas Street, also a frame house on Dundas Street. Apply to, J. S. HULLETT, Photographer.

Removed.

The Misses Hawley have moved from their house on Centre street to the house on Robert street, formerly occupied by Mrs. Wright. 21b

Along the Docks.

The bateau Trent brought in a load of lumber for R. Light on Wednesday.

Capt. Samuel Howard brought in a load of edging for his wood yard on Saturday.

The Rover brought in a load of edgings for the Rathbun Co. on Tuesday.

Farmers, Gardners and Frult Growers.

My car of fertilizers has arrived. Every one should try enough to convince themselves that it pays to fertilize. Those who have ordered will please call and get goods soon as possible. I have the best Timothy Seed in the market. The price is cheap considering the quality. See it before buying unsound and inferior seed.

17 F. E. VANLUVEN.

Parisian Steam Laundry

Agency at E. Vanalstine's Barber Shop, John st. Laundry will be called for and delivered to any part of the town at usual prices, strictly C. O. D. This is one of the largest and best equipped Steam Laundries in Canada. Laundry shipped once a week, on Wednesday, 3:20 p.m. and delivered Saturday morning. No chemicals used in the Laundry. All work guaranteed first-class. Lists on application. tf.

The Progress of the War.

Yesterday's dispatches from the seat of war in southern Europe are not reassuring. The sudden outburst of popular indignation which threatened on Tuesday to overwhelm King George, of Greece, and exile the reigning house has to some extent calmed down, though the Ministerial crisis is by no means averted, and the Opposition in the Legislative Assembly, headed by ex-Minister Ralli, is making a strong bid for power. Should the government be overthrown the opinion prevails that the throne itself will be seriously jeopardized. The situation will not be improved by the last despatches to hand before going to press, which reports a terrific battle at Epirus, in which the Greeks at first had a decided advantage, but were finally outnumbered and suffered severe defeat. An important announcement is that from Paris to the effect that England, France, Russia and Italy are in active negotiations looking towards attempted meditation, and that German and Austria are in accord with the movement. Several of the powers in the meantime are taking steps to protect their people who are resident in Athens and other points of danger.

Wanted to go to Watertown.

On Saturday evening last a young girl who gave the name of Jessie Woodcock, of Woodstock, made her appearance at the Anglo-American hotel, and asked to be allowed to remain over Sunday. She was questioned by the proprietor, Mr. Reid, to whom she said that her home is at, or near Napanee. Her mother is dead and her father has married a second wife, who, according to the girl's story has not treated her kindly, and she ran away some days ago. She desired to make her way to Watertown, N. Y., but had not a cent of money to pay her fare. She was under the impression that she could persuade the Captain of the Cape Vincent, Kingston steamer to carry her across free. She was anxious, she said, to find work, and with that object in view was very desirous of reaching Watertown without any delay. The proprietor of the Anglo American took the girl to the police station, where she told her story and where she spent the night. Yesterday morning she was sent to the infant's home, pending the making of enquiries.—Kingston Whig.

Remember C. L. Shannon will sell all kinds of field and garden seeds, all new, and lower than any reliable competitor, timothy from $1.80 per bushel up. Alfalfa, very low this year. All the latest varieties of garden seeds just in from the most reliable growers. Bradley's celebrated lawn fertilizer, guaranteed satisfactory. Canned goods 5c. per can, and all kinds of groceries as cheap as anyone can sell them. Your choice of "surprise," "best," "comfort," or "pure" soaps, six for 25c. Flour $2.40 per hundred. Car of Southern Sweet Ensilage corn just received. Seed wheat and vetches. Cash paid for raw furs. Baled hay for sale.

duration. He was of the sturdy stock of pioneers who have left their impress upon Canadian life and to whom we of the younger generation owe a deep debt of gratitude. On reaching the age of maturity Gabriel Balfour settled in the village of Bath and embarked in the carriage business with Thomas and Henry Armstrong. The firm of Armstrong and Balfour won a wide reputation for the high character of the work turned out by them and many of their rigs are to be seen in the good old county of Lennox and Addington. Of a genial and kindly temperament Gabriel Balfour had a host of friends and he was respected and esteemed by all for his sterling honesty, industry and probity of character. During the forty years he was engaged in business at Bath he won the respect of all for his straight-forward dealing. The firm of Armstrong & Balfour carried on in addition to their carriage works a general store and were looked upon as the foremost business men of the place. About 10 years ago Mr. Balfour retired from the firm and lived quietly at his residence in Bath till the messenger of death called him to his reward on Saturday last. Mr. Balfour's death came in the nature of a surprise as on Saturayd morning he appeared to be in his usual health. Gabriel Balfour was born near Belfast, Ireland, on June 12th, 1812. He was twice married, his first wife being Ann Armstrong, sister of the late Thomas and Henry Armstrong, and by her had five children, John Balfour, of the Finance Department, Ottawa, Thos. and William deceased, and Elizabeth, wife of Mr. C. V. Priest, of Evart, Osceola Cty., Michigan, and Harriett, wife of Mr. J. H. Madden, of Napanee, who preceeded her father to the grave in April, 1893. His second wife, Ellen Richards, sister of Mrs. Robt. Boyes, Napance, survives him. Deceased was in his 85th year and led a blameless and useful life. He was a consistent member of the Methodist church and a staunch reformer. The funeral on Tuesday was conducted by the Revs. Tucker and Shorey and was one of the largest ever held at Bath, testifying to the esteem and respect in which the deceased was held by all.

A Lamentable Death.

Herbert C. Parks, only son of Irvine Parks, Esquire, treasurer of the county of Lennox and Addington, died at Acton, California, on the 27th day of April, 1897. Mr. Parks was born in the township of North Fredericksburgh, and was at the time of his decease about thirty-six years of age. He studied law in the office of Messrs. Deroche & Madden, at Napanee. He married a daughter of W. S. Williams, now of California, but who practiced law in Napanee for many years, and occupied a prominent position as a leading man in this province. Mr. Parks' health being poor he left Canada for California in the expectation that his health would be improved. After becoming a resident of the State of California he was admitted to the bar of that state and practiced law there for several years. Mr. Parks was a young man of great ability, and a genial character and was respected and esteemed by all who knew him. He was of a peculiarly kind and gentle disposition and made friends wherever he went. He was a strong Liberal and while in Canada took an active part in support of the Liberal party. His influence was strongly felt at any election and especially in the township of North Fredericksburgh where he was known and highly esteemed. Notwithstanding the fact that he left this country and became a resident of California he yet retained all his old affection and enthusiasm for the Liberal party in Canada and remained a Canadian in heart and soul, and when the great Liberal victory was won on the 23rd of June last and the Hon. Wilfred Laurier became Premier of the Dominion he wrote a letter to his father rejoicing in the victory won by the Liberal party and stating that notwithstanding his surroundings in the great Republic he still remained a true loyal British subject. The deceased lost a child only a very short time before his own death. He leaves a widow and one child surviving him. His death is very keenly felt by all his friends here. He lived a consistent life and died, we believe, a christian death.

The Canada Salt Association
CLINTON, ONT.
Guarantee prompt shipments.
Fine, Coarse or Land Salt.
For Table or Dairy use
COLEMAN'S SALT

Frank N. Amey 612; Norman H. Paul 569; Melbourne H. Lowe 559; John Evans 536, Myrtle A. Loke 503, Patrick McKeown 492, Florence VanLuven 432, Bertie M. Huffman 424, Jas. Hutchins 307, Everton Peters (missed exams.) IV Class Jr.—J. Selwyn Forrester 426, Ruth E. Lampkin 371, Lena Clement 339, Everett E. Huffman 264, Roy Lampkin 216, Maud Vanness (missed exams.) III Class Sr. —Marks obtainable 650. Charlie L. Hicks 490. Nellie B. Peters 443, Bertha Card 436, Harry Card 551, Donald Lake 396, Morley Paul 375, Susie Lucas 183, John Brown and Frank Card (missed exams.) III Class — Intermediate. Clarence VanLuven 492, Bessie McKeown 442, Ethel Card 420. John W. Bell 362, Harry VanLuven 362, Frank Storms 211 (missed exams.) Corey Card 233, Ottis Huffman 289, Annie Huffman 256, Effie Vanness 242, Howard Smith (missed exams.) III Class Jr.— Ethel Brown 538, Lola Huffman 501, Arthur Brown 367, Charlie Lake 317. II Class Sr.—Marks obtainable 360, Clara Paul 322, William Gowdy 321, Aggie Evans 283, Amey Lake 267, Bertha Curran Ruth Degroff, Arlington Switzer (missed exams.) II Class Jr.—Marks obtainable 330. Peter Timmins 211, Rufus Card 207, Josie Timmons 190, Wilbert Clement 135 (missed two exams), Frank O'Neil 131, Ruth Hicks 110, Garnet Huffman 101, Edna Peters, Charlie Reid, Harry Reid (missed exams.) Part II Class — Marks obtainable 150. Milton Card 113, Everett Rombough 98, Nellie Makin 73, Chester Vanness 62, Delta Burns, Rachael Craig, Mary Craig (missed exams) Pt. I Class Sr.—Marks obtainable 100. Edna Allen 67, Edna Dopkin 45, Stanley Smith 39, Harry O'Neil 20. Pt. I Class Jr.—Marks obtainable 50. Ernest Carr 32, Steward Clement 26, Arthur Rombough 23.

W. B. PERRY } Teachers.
LIZZIE HARVEY }

S. S. NO. 17, ERNESTOWN.

Part I, 234—Harold Rockwell 68. Part II, 343—Geo. Stevenson 239. Junior II, 592—Delia Silver 341, Nellie O'Neil 307. Senior II, 511—Teressa Boice 356. Agnes Caton 287. Junior III, 849—Ethel Boice 510, Roy Stormt 397, Joqn Stevenson 388, Charlie O'Neil 347, Helen Caton 321, Harry Scouten 252. Senior III, 839—Emma Harten 672, Annie Silver 582, Maggie Stevenson 477, Pearl Wilson 453. Cclass IV, 880—Miles Caton 556, Harold Caton 438, Jennie Wilson 427. Class V, 951—George Lemmon 861.

BERTHA NEILSON, Teacher.

Mr. White of Arnprior, who was negotiating for the purchase of the Paisley House, has withdrawn his offer.

J. L. Haycock, M.L.A., has left for Manitoba as Hobbs' agent for the disposal of binder twine, says a Kingston despatch.

Lord and Lady Aberdeen visited Kingston on Tuesday and addressed a large gathering on the projected Victorian Order of Nurses.

Grinding every day at Close's Mills The best ground horse feed and barley meal for sale at Close's Mills
JAS. A. CLOSE.

Rudyard Kipling is out with a poem in the London Times entitled "Our Lady of the Snows" in which he praises Canada for opening the doors to British good for preferential trade.

Norfolk, Va., proposes to levy a tax of from $100 to $500 on newspapers. If the influence of the press in Norfolk is not strong enough to prevent this outrage the publishers had better start in the melon path business.

Bram, the man convicted of murdering three persons on the brigantine Herbert Fuller, will not hang on the 18th of June, the date fixed for his execution by the courts. His crime was too heinous for the law to be carried out without delays.

WANTED. Industrious persons of either sex with good character and common school education, can obtain employment for two months in this community.

S. M. FRY, Toronto, Ont.

At Morris, Manitoba, there is no dry land to be seen, and the Red river is filled with pieces of property washed away. The farmers are taking desperate chances in some of the flooded districts, perching all their property on the little hillocks.

Frank Bosley was arrested at Cloyne on Saturday charged with burning the Cloyne cheese factory on the 16th of December. Wesley Huff, of Napanee, left for Cloyne on Sunday to prove to the authorities there that Bosley was in Napanee, a guest at his house on the day in question.

Thorpe, 3.30 p.m.; Odessa, 7.30 p.m.; Farewell service by Rev. F. T. Dibb.

PARISH OF CAMDEN.—Services Sunday next. St. Luke, Camden East, Morning Prayer, Holy Com., 11 o'clock; St. Anthony, Yarker, 3 o'clock; St. John, Newburgh, surplice choir, 7 o'clock; St. Jude, Napanee Mills, 7 o'clock. At the vestry meetings in each church the financial reports were satisfactory, each church shews a balance in general expense fund. St. Anthony clergyman's stipend paid in full and small balance will increase their guaranteed share by 25% for next year. St. John, St. Jude well paid up. St. Luke has a large amount of arrears, but hopes to pay up most of it in course of next few weeks. Church wardens for incoming year, St. Luke, Messrs. Thomas Hamilton, Robert Jones; St. Anthony, Messrs. J. C. Connolly, I. A. Baxter; St. Jude, Messrs. George Dunlop; Thomas Wild; St. John, Messrs. Wm. Sutton, G. M. Bowman. Delegates to Synod, Messrs. Michael O'Loughlin, Charles Ruby and James Shorey. Sidesmen, Messrs. Roy Smith, Wm. Robinson, Ed. Hamilton, T. Shane, Jr., H. F. D. Woodcock, St. Luke; Messrs. John Ewart, A. W. Benjamin, St. Anthony; Messrs. John McCaul, Roy Lott, A. Morgan, St. Jude; Messrs. R. Bowman, S. Littlewood, St. John's.

PARISH OF BATH—Owing to failure of health, only temporary, it is hoped, Rural Dean Baker is required by his physician to take a few weeks rest. He goes west for this purpose this week. During his absence his clerical duties will be discharged by kind reverned brethren and other friends. Mr. F. G. Kirkpatrick, L. R., Kingston, conducts the Services in St. John's next Sunday, May 2nd, which will be at 11 a.m. and 7.30 p.m. Due notice will be given of the services for the following Sunday by Mr. Kirkpatrick.

The News was favored with a call on Monday from Mr. F. Burrows, of Napanee, Inspector of Public Schools for the counties of Lennox and Addington, who was on his way to Flinton to look over his various mining properties. Mr. Burrows owns several good mining properties in the townships of Kaladar and Anglesea and has an interest in the well-known Guina mine. Captain Holmes, of Napanee, late immigration agent under the Conservative regime, and Mr. Rudd Perry, civil engineer of the same town, are also in Kaladar and Anglesea townships on a prospecting tour. —Tweed News.

Thomas O'Brien, a tramp, hailing from Napanee as his last previous stopping place, was before police magistrate Duff this morning on a charge of vagrancy. He was remanded for a week, in order that he will not be able to commit any depredations during the period Lord and Lady Aberdeen will be in the city. A fellow traveller, who came to the city in company with O'Brien, preferred a charge against him, of having committed a foul and unnatural crime, while the pair were in Napanee jail for shelter, but as the police authorities thought the charge should have been brought in Napanee, it will not be taken up here.—Kingston Whig.

The Tweed News says: Flinton, has a mineral sensation in the shape of a discovery of a large vein of rich mispickle ore on Lot 25 in the 5th Con. of Kaladar. Mr. Ribstock, of Buffalo, who is understood to represent American capitalists, has secured this lot and has been doing development work for some weeks. The vein has been traced across the lot and into the adjoining one on the north owned by Inspector Burrows, of Napanee. The ore around Flinton has always been regarded as free milling so that this new discovery is a great surprise, and shows that the mineral deposits here are exactly similar to those in Marmora.

WOOD'S PHOSPHODINE.
The Great English Remedy.

Before and After

Six Packages Guaranteed to promptly and permanently cure all forms of Nervous Weakness, Emissions, Spermatorrhea, Impotency and all effects of Abuse or Excesses, Mental Worry, excessive use of Tobacco, Opium or Stimulants, which soon lead to Insanity, Insanity, Consumption and an early grave. Has been prescribed over 35 years in thousands of cases; is the only Reliable and Honest Medicine known. Ask druggist for Wood's Phosphodine; if he offers some worthless medicine in place of this, inclose price in letter, and we will send by return mail. Price, one package, $1; six, $5. One will please, six will cure. Pamphlets free to any address.

The Wood Company,
Windsor, Ont., Canada.

Sold in Napanee and everywhere in Canada by all responsible druggists.

THE NAPANE

Vol. XXXVI] No. 22—JNO. POLLARD, Editor and Publisher. NAPANEE, ONT., CAN.

I Am offering

Dinner Setts, Tea Setts and Chamber Setts at greatly reduced prices for the next 60 days.

W. COXALL.

Spring Overcoats in the Latest Shades, from $5.00 up, a special.

Men's Shirts, any kind you want from 25c. up. Spring Underwear from 25c. up. Socks, Kid Gloves, Overalls, Neckwear, Sweaters for men and boys. We have a good assortment in these lines.

In Hats and Caps the very latest of English and American styles. Try one of our Stiff Hats, it is a beatuy.

Some new lines of Men's Boots and Shoes to hand this week. Come and see them.

A. M. VINEBERG,

The Wonderful Cheap Clothier, Dundas st., Henry Block, Napanee

TIMOTHY

—AND—

CLOVER SEED

Bran and Shorts

Flour and Feed.

TAYLOR & MORRIS,

(Blewett's Old Stand.)

NEW PLANING MILL AND LUMBER YARD.

Now in full operation. All kinds Lumber, Sash, Doors and Blinds. Custom work done on shortest notice. Get our prices before buying. Mr. Embury is prepared to draw plans for parties wanting them.

Embury, Greer & Co.

NOTICE OF DISSOLUTION.

Notice is hereby given that the partnership heretofore subsisting between us, the under-

TENDERS WANTED.

Sealed tenders for the building of a brick

Special At

MESSRS AMEY

Who were engaged two weeks at Montreal the largest Dry goods Stores in Brockville, Presco

Hubbard's Famous A

AND SACHET

Will begin an engagem

FRIDAY, MA

TO CONTINUE

Mr. E. J. Amey will sell the perfumes and spray

The perfumes will be sold at 29c. per ou The Sachet Powder will be sold at 10c. a package

Mr. Hodgins, who is an accomplished American music which will be on sale during the

EVERYBOD

LADIES BRING YOUR

SPECIAL B.

"Orient Silks."

Have you seen the latest Cotton goods called "Orient Silks." They are called Orient Silks on account of their silky finish. Price only 10c per yard.

Organdie Muslins.

We have the very latest Muslins in all shades and patterns direct from the New York market. Ask to see them.

Shirtings' Special.

A new lot of Shirtings just in, the prices of which we guarantee the lowest in the trade. New Shirtings at 6c, 8cc, 8½, 9c, 9½c, 10c, 11½c, 12½c.

signed, as manufacturers of sashes, doors, etc., etc., and as contractors and builders, in the Town of Napanee, has this day been dissolved by mutual consent. All debts owing to the said partnership are to be paid to, and all claims against the said partnership will be paid by the undersigned, W. A. Embury and M. C. Jackson, who continue the said business at the premises heretofore occupied by the partnership.

Witness,
W. G. WILSON.

HER
CATHERINE X GREER.
MARK.

D. H. Preston, as to signatures of W. A. Embury and M. C. Jackson.

W. A. EMBURY,
M. C. JACKSON.

FOR SALE.

Offers to purchase the desirable property situate at Napanee Mills and being composed of lots Numbers eight and nine in the first Concession of the Township of Camden, (excepting parts thereof heretofore sold) and the gore in to the Township of Ernestown adjoining thereto will be received by the undersigned, solicitors for the vendors, up to 12 o'clock noon of the 20th Day of May, A.D. 1897.

Upon the premises are erected a fine brick house, stone house, small frame house and also three large barns.

Tenders may be for the whole or in parcels to suit intending purchasers and a good part of the purchase money may remain at interest satisfactorily secured upon the property. No tender necessarily to be accepted.

For further particulars and terms, apply to
MESSRS. DEROCHE & MADDEN,
Vendor's Solicitors,
John Street, Napanee.

Dated April 28th, 1897. 21c

NOTICE TO CREDITORS.

IN THE MATTER OF THE ESTATE OF GEORGE JOHNSON, LATE OF THE TOWNSHIP OF SHEFFIELD, IN THE COUNTY OF LENNOX AND ADDINGTON, DECEASED.

Notice is hereby given in pursuance of section 36, chapter 110, R. S. O., and amending Acts, that all persons having claims against the estate of George Johnson, late of the Township of Sheffield, in the County of Lennox and Addington, Yeoman, deceased, who died on or about the 7th day of April, in the year of our Lord one thousand eight hundred and ninety-seven, are hereby required to send by post prepaid or to deliver to Messrs. Morden & Ruttan, of the town of Napanee, in the said county, solicitors for William Kendall, the administrator of the estate of the said deceased, on or before the

27th day of May, A.D., 1897

their names, addresses and descriptions, and full particulars and proof of their claims and demands against the said estate and the nature of the securities, if any, held by them.

And notice is hereby further given that after the said 27th day of May, A. D., 1897, the said administrator will proceed to administer the estate and distribute the assets of the estate of the said Geo. Johnson, deceased, among the parties entitled thereto, having regard only to the claims of which the administrator shall then have had notice, and the said administrator shall not be liable for the said assets or any part thereof to any person or persons, of whose claim, notice shall not have been received at the time of such distribution.

MORDEN & RUTTAN,
Solicitors for Administrator, Wm. Kendall,

Dated at Napanee, this 26th of April, A.D., 1897.

FOR SALE.

One of the most conveniently located farms in the County of Prince Edward being composed of parts of lot 2 and 3 containing 96 acres in 1st concession Military Tract Township Hallowell located in the western part of the Village of Bloomfield. On these premises are a modern brick house, good barn, drive house, and hop house all in first-class repair. Soil clay loam, about 8 acres hardwood bush, 15 acres in hay, well watered, stream living water running across centre of the farm, young orchard bearing trees, and 5 acres in hops.

The place will be sold at a bargain and intending purchasers should investigate before buying a farm elsewhere. For further particulars apply to JAMES JACKSON, proprietor, 20d or to AMOS H. BAKER, Picton, Ont.

GOOD ROADS.

Provincial Road Commissioner

A. W. CAMPBELL,

—WILL VISIT—

Napanee, May the 11th.

He will inspect roads and sidewalks and material for road construction during the day and will address a meeting in the town hall in the evening, Representatives from the surrounding townships are cordially invited to attend.

100% Better. Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills are curing heart and nerve troubles in every city, town and village in Canada. Mrs. F. Abbey, Toronto, says, "Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills cured my husband who had for fifteen years suffered with weak nerves caused by heart trouble. He was subject to pains in his head, dizziness, fainting spells, sleeplessness etc. He is now free from these troubles, and feels 100% better than when he began using the pills."

House No. 15 School Section No. 15, North Fredericksburgh, will be received up to 1st day of June, 1897.

The building will be similar to the Riverside school, Desoronto Road. Particulars may be obtained from C. HAMBLY,
A. CUMMINGS,
W. B. EDGAR,
Trustees.

22c

Thousands of farm houses have piazzas upon the sunny side that might be utilized for both pleasure and profit in the winter. Such utilization, moreover, would entail no great expense outside of the small amount of home carpentering that would be required. There are two or three points to be considered when making a plant room of a piazza. First, as to floors. The ordinary piazza has no tight underpinning to keep out the cold. Usually it has only lattice work, while the floor, also, is usually more or less open. It would be no great trouble to lay a new matched floor over the few feet of space to be occupied by the plant room. Then cover the lattice work around the base of the piazza with heavy, resin-sized or tarred building paper, tacking it tightly and bank with evergreen brush. Now, as to the outer walls. The greater part must of course, be of glass, but it is not advisable to have the sash extend to the floor. From the piazza rail down let the wall be of matched boarding. Along the front this should be screwed to the inside of the rail. Sash to fit any opening can now be bought very cheap. It is desirable that communication with this plant room be from a living room rather than by a hall door, so it may be found desirable to cut down a window and make a door of it. This will obviate the necessity of having a door in the outside temporary petitions.

The heating of such a plant room can be done in a number of ways, but the simplest and most satisfactory for the average farmhouse will probably be by the use of an oil stove. These little sitting-room oil heaters have been so greatly improved and made so reasonable in price that they will be found wonderfully convenient for just such use as this. Care should be taken, however, to get a make in which the flame will not "crawl up" and smoke, if left by itself. The accompanying illustration gives a suggestion as to the making of a plant room upon a piazza. Of course, piazzas differ in shape, but the same principle of treatment will apply to nearly all cases. Make all as tight as possible, then an oil stove will give sufficient heat to keep the plants in health.—American

A PIAZZA GREENHOUSE.

"FELL DEAD."

What More Every-day Heading do you Read in this Paper than that? —They are Legion.

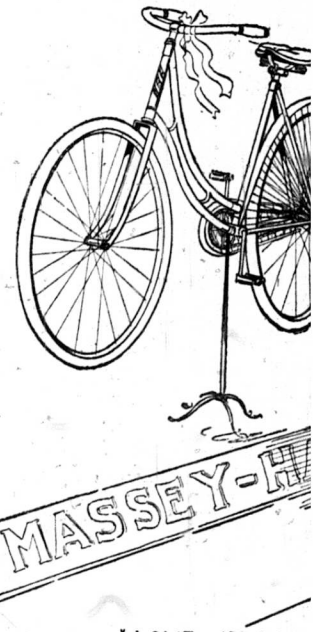
Don't dally with heart disorders. There is but one cure. "I had been for a number of years sorely afflicted with heart disease. At times my life was despaired of. Doctors had prescribed, and I had taken every known heart remedy made, I had supposed, and did not get any benefit. I read of the wonderful cures wrought by Dr. Agnew's Cure for the Heart. I procured a bottle, and in less time almost than it takes to tell it, the distress was relieved. I followed the directions closely and to-day I am a well woman again, and I shall do all in my power to make known to every one suffering as I did the wonderful cure it worked for me. Mrs. Wm. Burton, Dartmow, Ont." Sold by A. W. Grange & Bro.

CASTORIA

For Infants and Children.

The fac-simile signature of Chas. H. Fletcher is on every wrapper

THE ROB



"LOVE AT FIRST

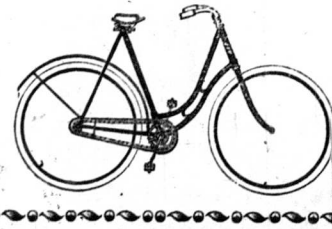
THE MASSE

MADE IN

Why pay $20 duty on an imported Wheel when you can buy a

MASSEY-HARRIS
"SILVER RIBBON"

FOR $85



The Price to Everybody

All Cups and Cones hardened by a special positively the easiest running bearings extant.

The Massey-Ha

NAPANEE AGENCY---

class bicycle repairing a specialty. Satisfaction guarante line of Massey-Harris parts kept in stock.

W. J. N

NEE EXPRESS.

CANADA—FRIDAY, MAY 7, 1897. $1 per Year in advance; $1.50 if not so paid.

ttraction!

EY and HODGINS

ntreal's greatest store, The S. Carsley Co., also at Prescott, Sherbrooke, &c., introducing

American Perfumes

ET POWDERS.

gagement at our store

AY 7th, 1897

UE TWO DAYS.

spray all desirous with their favorite Perfumes.

r ounce, the regular price being 75c per ounce. ckage, regular price 25c.

ned pianist will play selections from the latest g the two days at 5c. a copy, usually sold at 50c.

DY INVITED.

UR PERFUME BOTTLES.

BARGAINS

Brilliantine Dress Goods.

Brilliantines are selling like hot cakes for skirts and full dresses. They shine like silk and wear like iron. Your money back if you can buy them cheaper in any other stores. Prices 24c, 29c, 35c, 44c, 49c, 74c, and $1.

Pretty Parasols.

Needful to the well dressed woman, useful to all women. Whether your wish be for a plain or fancy parasol, expect the right sort here at just the right price.

Fast Black Hosiery.

Black as night, fast as the Eithopian's skin. Our cotton hose are guaranteed fast black and our prices are guaranteed lower than other stores. Try us for Hosiery.

Building Material of all Kinds.

FOR SALE AT REASONABLE PRICES.

Headquarters for Lumber of all kinds, Shingles, Lath, Doors, Sash, Monldings, Portland Cement, Water Lime, Plaster Paris, Apple Barrels, Land Plaster, Porus Tile Windsor Salt, Coal, Wood and Charcoal.

Use our pressed Brick for your house and chimney, as cheap as any, and the best. Get our prices before purchasing.

THE RATHBUN CO'Y

Yard and office foot of Centre St. R. SHIPMAN, Agent.

NEWS FROM THE COUNTRY.

THE PINES.

WEDDING BELLS. A brilliant event particularily interesting to the people of the Pines. The marriage of Miss Minnie Magee and R. James Dickson was impressively solemnized at 8.30 p.m. on the evening of May 5th, at the residence of the bride. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. E. S. Shorey before an assembled company of relatives and friends. The bride's gown was a triumph of the modistes art. The bridesmaid, Miss Allie Dickson, of Utica, N. Y., looked most charming. The groom was ably supported by Mr. Joseph Magee. The presents were numerous and costly. After the ceremony a sumptuous repast was served in the spacious dining hall. Mr. and Mrs. Dickson will take up their residence at Hayburn. The sincere congratulations of the whole community are extended to the happy pair. We wish the happy bride and the generous hearted bridegroom a long, blissful and prosperous career.

The Wonder of the Age. DEAR SIRS, —I must honestly say that I have tried your valuable medicine B. B. B. for the disease called prairie itch, and have found this remedy to be the wonder of the age. I took only three bottles and to my great satisfaction was completely cured, I can highly recommend it to all who suffer from any skin disease or impurity of the blood.

HAROLD DIX,
Rat Portage, Ont.

BATH.

There has been lots of rain in this section of the country lately, last Sunday was particularly wet.

Strs. North King, Thistle and Alexander called at Finkle's wharf on Sunday and Monday last, it being their first trip of the season.

Our enterprising high school teacher, Mr Joseph Morgan, has started a public library at his home on Church st. Anyone desiring useful literature should not forget to give him a call.

Miss Dollie Cunningham and Mrs Geo. Griffith of Kingston were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Luke Cunningham on Sunday last.

Mr. Drum Valleau was the guest of Miss May Collins on Sunday last.

Mr. Robt. Marshall of the Grand Union clothing store, Kingston, registered at the Bay View House on Sunday.

Miss Harvey, of Picton, is the guest of Julia Burley.

A commercial traveller coming into our work shop the other day and seeing the number of customers' watches we had on hand said that we did as much repairing business as the other two shops together. F. Chinneck personally oversees the repair department and guarantees satisfaction. F. CHINNECK'S JEWELLERY STORE.

CENTREVILLE.

The recent rains and warm weather have given the grass a fine start but has greatly retarded farming operations on any kind of low land. It will be some time before work can be resumed.

Milk waggons are going in all directions this season.

Some of our most enthusiastic farmers have joined the Lennox and Addington horse association. What next.

J. McGrath and S. Evans have purchased

NEWBURGH.

The farmers are busy with spring work.

If things don't differ we will have a news-carrier down the avenue.

A number of our young people went to Wesley, but reports say they didn't behave.

A number of the young people have joined the temperance lodge.

Report says their was a wedding in town Sunday night. Success Will.

THAT HACKING COUGH can be quickly cured by Hagyard's Pectoral Balm. Price 25c.

SILLSVILLE.

Farmers around her have about completed their sowing although the rains of the past few days have kept them back some time.

Our school is progressing favorably under the able management of Charles Elliot.

The debate at the Epworth League on Friday last was a very interesting one; subject, resolved that moral suasion without legal enactment cannot secure abolition of the liquor traffic. Mr. Frank Mellow and Fred Asselstine for the negative, W. B. Hough and Arthur Mellow for the affirmative. Although a long and fierce struggle ensued for the mastery, the judges gave the decision in favor of the affirmative side by one point. Mr. Charles Elliot, John R. Sills and Professor R. Kennedy of Bath, acted as judges.

The officers of Sillsville Sunday School were elected last Sunday. Mr. S. H. Mellow as superintendent, Mr. Martin Hough as assistant, Mr. Fred Asselstine as secretary and treasurer. Mr. S. H. Mellow will take charge of the senior bible class, Mr. Frank Mellow the junior, Miss Lulu Charters the testament class and Mrs. B. Robertson the infant class. Quarterly meeting will be held at Sillsville next Sunday.

AGENTS. "The Best Popular Life of Her Majesty I have ever seen," writes Lord Lorne, about "Queen Victoria." Sales unprecedented. Easy to make five dollars daily. Big commission. Outfit free to canvassers.

THE BRADLEY-GARRETSON CO., Toronto.

HAY BAY.

This place is still alive although news is scarce. Spring work is the order of the day.

Ed. Moore has moved into his new residence on No. 1 road.

J. F. Parks, Esq., has hired Peter Luffman for the coming season. He is a hustler.

Some of our young men are going into the gardening rather stout. We have our doubts whether the hoe handle is good exercise or not.

It is strongly rumored about here that a certain young lady of Gretna is soon to be married to a young man of Sillsville.

Sam Hambly jr. has been on the sick list for the past month but we are glad to say he is improving.

The erection of Edda McCabe's new shed is soon to take place. Geo. is a tip top carpenter.

The young men from Hayburn are not seen in this vicinity as often this summer as they were last.

Well Mr. Editor I would like to tell you this, that you never heard such mourning and groaning as some of our very ablest and richest farmers are doing over the recent rain. To think we had such an early spring

BINSON CO.

High Grade Material
And Honest Workmanship.

FIRST SIGHT"

EY-HARRIS,

N CANADA

en We never paid a dollar for racing teams, for road records, or for subsidies to fast riders. The "SILVER RIBBON" sells on its Merits.

FOR $85

Every Wheel Guarant eed.

ecial process, which renders them, when completed,

Harris Co., Ltd., Toronto.

Repair Shop, Warerooms, and Bicycle Livery Dundas street, sign of the Golden Wheel. First-ranteed. Wheels for hire at Reasonable Rates. A full have joined the Lennox and Addington horse association. What next.

NORMILE, AGENT.

J. McGrath and P. Evans have purchased a large number of cattle to stock their pasture farms. Wm. McGill will go west next week to get his supply.

A number of our young men have gone to drive the river.

T. Vandewater is kept hustling looking after the machinery business in the interest of the Noxon Bros.

Mr. S. Hall, of Napance, was visiting friends here for a week or more.

Miss R. Gibson, of Emerald, after spending a few days with friends here, left for home on Tuesday.

A Voice from Virden. GENTLEMEN,—I have used Hagyard's Yellow Oil for the past ten years, and find it a splend d remedy for colic, neuralgia, bronchitis, croup, pains in the back, ulcerated and sore throat, sprains, chilblains, etc., in fact we use it for almost every pain, and it always relieves quickly. I can safely say I know of no other remedy of the sort that can equal it. We always keep a good stock in the house.

MRS. J. I. MADGE,
Virden, Man.

TAMWORTH.

We have had a week of broken weather which has put seeding back a good deal and which will be hard on the early spring grain, but the grass will be helped very much by it.

Mr. Jacob Hicks left this locality early last week for the front. He intends to make his abode near Hay Bay.

John Floyd and son are improving their shop by enlarging it. We are glad to see improvements these hard times.

The two saw mills are very busy just now sawing up logs for customers.

The concert in aid of the Sheffield public library has been postponed. It will take place now on May 15th. A good programme may be looked for as they have engaged some good talent for the occasion and as it is gotten up for a good purpose it should be well patronized.

Our sick are improving, nearly all are convalescent.

Miss Addie Coxall, who has been dangerously ill for the last few weeks is at this writing a trifle better and there is now a slight hope of her recovery if nothing more serious sets in.

Mr. H. Richardson has just commenced to build a residence for himself. He has the stone, lumber, and brick for the structure. We hope more will build this season.

Queen's hotel has placed in position a fire escape in compliance with the license act now in force.

ERINSVILLE.

We feel deeply the loss, by death, of our highly esteemed and beloved friend, Mrs. Nicholas Phelan, of the Phelan House, Erinsville, who died on Wednesday, April 28th, aged 60 years 8 months and 15 days. Although ailing partly all winter she was confined to her bed only about three weeks. She died from cancer on the liver. Deceased suffered very little pain, and appeared resigned to her fate. She was a devout member of the Holy Roman Catholic church. She was comforted in her dying hour by her three brothers, who arrived at midnight, before she died, from West Huron, and her sister and two of her sons, also her brother, Rev. Father Cummins from Bothwell, who arrived on the day of her funeral. The latter visited her two weeks before her death. Her funeral took place on Friday the remains being followed to the grave by a large concourse of people. May her soul rest in peace.

Mr. John Neville is yet on the sick list, but is slowly recovering.

Mr. Martin Cummins, of Little Falls, N. Y., attended the funeral of his cousin, Mrs. Nicholas Phelan, accompanied by his son Martin and daughter, Daisy. He returned home on the 4th inst.

Rev. Father Cummins returned home on the 6th, to Bothwell, accompanied by his sister, Bridget. The Phelan House occupants will be very lonesome after all the friends take their departure to their respective homes.

The farmers around here are busy seeding. The recent rains are forcing the fields to become green.

Mr. Charles Stewart left for Langdon, North Dakota, last week.

Mr. A. T. Stewart, jr. left for Kingston where he is attending college.

Mr. A. T. Stewart, sr. and wife are spending their honeymoon on the homestead, they both look hearty, especially Mr. Stewart, for a man of seventy summers.

Mr. Editor I had almost given up hopes of ever getting a better half until lately, so now I think while there is life there is hope. It is an old "maxim."

We have a man here from Watertown in the village who is purchasing cows to take over with him, he has already bought 50 and richest farmes are doing over the recent rain. To think we had such an early spring and they are not done sowing yet.

MORVEN.

Well Mr. Editor I think our correspondent has forgotten us entirely as I have not noticed anything from here in some time. Our little village is considered quite an important place and we consider the EXPRESS a very important paper, therefore I will endeavor to give you a little of the news if you will grant me space in your valuable columns.

Most of our farmers are through their spring's work.

Quarterly service was held in the Lutheran church last Sunday morning. A large crowd from here attended.

Our Epworth League is doing nicely under the able management of Miss Ada Davey, pres.

Mr. Sam Brown, of West Lake, took several pictures of our prominent places this week.

Mr. J. L. P. Gordanier set seven hundred apple trees last week.

Mr. Watts and bride of New York paid a flying visit to Morven before leaving for their home. We extend congratulations and wish them a very prosperous future.

Miss Howard, of Belleville, A. C., is the guest of Miss Emma Garrison.

We were favored on Sunday night at the White church by a very fine duet given by Misses Fannie Funnel and Ada Davey which was beautifully rendered. Both the young ladies have excellent voices and under fine control..

Mr. Drum Valleau spent Sunday at Bath.

Callers. Misses Aggie Miller and G. Mills of Fair View, Mr. H. Fralick of Napance.

PICTON.

The soil was in excellent shape at the beginniug of spring for farmers to begin spring's work. Much seeding was done before the late rains. Fall wheat and rye gives promise of an abundant crop and the meadows indicate that the hay crop will greatly excel that of last year.

The election for mayor caused by the death of Mayor Carter resulted in the election of Mr. Boulter by a majority of 47.

There is much discussion now with regard to a new Town Hall, electric light plant, and improved water works to cost in the neighborhood of $30.000.

Several fine new residences have lately been erected in Hallowell and Quinte Wards, The main st. Methodist church was reopened on Sunday last after having been closed for the past few weeks for repairs and presents a much improved appearance.

All the boats are now running, the North King, Alexandria to Hamilton bringing in large quantities of freight.

The atheletes of the town and school are practicing football and expect to play some matches in the near future.

There are a few cases of diptheria in the town, consequently the attendance at the public school is about half its usual number.

Miss Wycott, of Greenbush, died last Friday and was buried in Glenwood Cemetery last Sunday. There was a very large funeral.

We have had abundant rains this week and the lawns present a beautiful appearance.

Workmen as Contractors.

A system of public work that has much to commend it is that of "Co-operative Contract," in vogue in New Zealand. Under that system a public work is divided into small sections by the engineer in charge, and an estimate is made of its cost. Each section is then let out to a group of workmen, who do the work under a foreman of their own choosing, but who receives no more than his fellows. They obtain the full profit which would otherwise go to professional contractors, and they share the payment equally.

Each worker is interested in seeing that his companions do their full amount of work, and the sooner the job is performed the greater the return for a day's work. If any tools are needed which the men do not own, the Government supplies them at a moderate rental. The adoption of this system should provide a method whereby direct employment by the Government would be consistent with a full return for the money expended, giving to the community an advantage in the economical execution of public enterprises equal to that enjoyed by private employers.—Review of Reviews.

CASTORIA.

The fac-simile signature  is on every wrapper.

900 DROPS

CASTORIA

A Vegetable Preparation for Assimilating the Food and Regulating the Stomachs and Bowels of

INFANTS CHILDREN

Promotes Digestion, Cheerfulness and Rest. Contains neither Opium, Morphine nor Mineral. NOT NARCOTIC.

Recipe of Old Dr SAMUEL PITCHER
Pumpkin Seed -
Alx. Senna +
Rochelle Salts -
Anise Seed -
Peppermint -
Bi Carbonate Soda +
Worm Seed -
Clarified Sugar -
Wintergreen Flavor.

A perfect Remedy for Constipation, Sour Stomach, Diarrhoea, Worms, Convulsions, Feverishness and LOSS OF SLEEP.

Fac Simile Signature of
Chas. H. Fletcher.
NEW YORK.

At 6 months old
35 DOSES - 35 CENTS

EXACT COPY OF WRAPPER.

SEE THAT THE FAC-SIMILE SIGNATURE —OF— Chas. H. Fletcher. IS ON THE WRAPPER OF EVERY BOTTLE OF CASTORIA

Castoria is put up in one-size bottles only. It is not sold in bulk. Don't allow anyone to sell you anything else on the plea or promise that it is "just as good" and "will answer every purpose." See that you get C-A-S-T-O-R-I-A.

The fac-simile signature of Chas. H. Fletcher is on every wrapper.

The Dominion Bank
ESTABLISHED 1871.

CAPITAL — $1,500,000.00
RESERVE FUND — $1,450,000.00

Deposits received and interest allowed. Drafts on all parts of Great Britain and United States bought and sold.

E. H. BAINES, Agent.

THE - MERCHANTS - BANK
OF CANADA
Head Office, — Montreal
Capital paid up, $6,000,000
Surplus, $3,000,000
INTEREST AT CURRENT RATES PAID ON DEPOSITS.
A GENERAL BANKING BUSINESS TRANSACTED.

W. A. BELLHOUSE,
Manager, Napanee Branch

EPPS'S COCOA
ENGLISH BREAKFAST COCOA
Possesses the following Distinctive Merits:
DELICACY OF FLAVOR
SUPERIORITY IN QUALITY.
Grateful and Comforting to the Nervous or Dyspeptic.
NUTRITIVE QUALITIES UNRIVALLED.
In Quarter-Pound Tins Only.
Prepared by JAMES EPPS & Co., Ltd., Homœopathic Chemists, London, England.

Provincial Building and Loan Association, Toronto.

Local Advisory Board at Napanee.

The Napanee Express

NAPANEE, FRIDAY, MAY 7th, 1897.

THE sick man of Turkey is only slightly indisposed.

GREAT BRITAIN seems to have a monopoly in the matter of budget surpluses.

KING GEORGE, of Greece, the modern David, is not faring as well as his illustrious prototype.

THE band boys have the sympathy of the town council. Sympathy won't buy wind instruments, however.

THE Conservatives did not risk a division on the Budget debate. That would have but accentuated their weakness.

ENCOURAGE the Good Roads Movement by attending the meeting to be addressed by A. W. Campbell on the evening of the 11th inst.

A LONDON, Ont., editor has gone out of the business while he was young to avoid being discharged when he grew old. A far seeing chap, that.

BY the extraordinary desire of Her Majesty's subjects to found hospitals and orders of nurses one would imagine the Queen's Jubilee was to be followed by an epidemic.

A BILL has been presented in the New York Legislature to prevent bargain day advertising. The Ontario House at its last session discussed the advisability of introducing legislation to regulate the running of departmental stores. It would seem that merchants do not know how to run

OUR OTTAWA LETTER.

OTTAWA March, 3rd, 1897.—It goes without saying that the all-absorbing topic at the Capital, just now is the new Liberal tariff. It is safe to assume that the tariff resolutions, as a whole, have been received with unbounded satisfaction by Liberals everywhere, as well also have they proved pleasing to multitudes of Conservatives throughout the Dominion. In some particular feature or item, of course, there doubtless will be experienced more or less disappointment in proportion as certain sections of the country may be affected by the bearing which such feature or item may exert upon them. Take, for instance, the tax upon bituminous coal and the possibility of its increase. In Nova Scotia and British Columbia, the relation of the duty upon this article brings to these particular sections the most profound satisfaction, while in Ontario the fact cannot fail to excite a considerable degree of dissatisfaction until the motive and wisdom of the retention of the coal duty at its present high scale becomes apparent. It has been retained principally because of the evident determination of the tariff makers of the United States to prevent Canada from doing any profitable trade there in the line of bituminous coals. By the operation of the Dingley Bill, as reported up to the United States Senate by the House of Representatives, Nova Scotia coal is threatened with total exclusion from the American market. A few years ago, a wealthy syndicate of Boston, Mass., at whose head is the multi-millionaire, H. M. Whitney, acquired the principal coal mines of Nova Scotia, in Cape Breton county. Through Mr. Whitney's energy and executive ability, and by the expenditure of some three millions in mining improvements and transportation facilities his Company was able to raise coal and place it upon the New England markets at a figure which could successfully compete with that of the American article. This condition of things naturally excited the jealousy of the American coal-owner, and resulted in the Dingley bill embodying a provision for increasing the duty on bituminous coals from 40 cents to 75 cents per ton. As a matter of self-defence then it becomes necessary for Canada to repel the attack of the American and with what better weapon than that of his own fashioning. To this end the government has declared its policy in respect to the coal duties. The whole situation is caused by the ill-disguised hostility of the United States towards Canada as well as the natural outcome of high protection, which is the avowed policy of the dominant political party of the day in the neighboring republic. To "see" the Yank, his 75 cents per ton on the bituminous might be as much, under the circumstances as the middle sections of the country would care to put up, but to go him 50 cents better by placing an impost to that extent on the anthracite will be rather an effort, to say the least. It is an alternative, however, which the government would take with great reluctance. It is to be hoped that the necessity will not arise to force the government to carry out the threats to re-impose the duty on anthracite coal. There is no anthracite in Nova Scotia, or anywhere else in the older provinces, neither is there any in the great North-West or British Columbia. To tax this article then would simply increase the cost of fuel in a cold country without benefitting any natural industry.

In the new tariff will be found a national defence. Its acceptance and adoption ring out a death knell to protection on this continent. It has been frequently pointed out in the American press, before this time, that unshackled trade between England and Canada would produce such an excess of smuggling across the border

Constipation
Causes fully half the sickness in the world. It retains the digested food too long in the bowels and produces biliousness, torpid liver, indigestion, bad taste, coated tongue, sick headache, insomnia, etc. Hood's Pills cure constipation and all its results, easily and thoroughly. 25c. All druggists. Prepared by C. I. Hood & Co., Lowell, Mass. The only Pills to take with Hood's Sarsaparilla.

Hood's Pills

election, did not hesitate to proclaim his distrust and contempt of Tupperism but refused to follow the Tupper combination which was so surely and rapidly hastening his party to inevitable disaster. I refer to Mr. Taylor McVeity, one of Ottawa's ablest politicians and a lawyer of high standing, who a few days ago in an open letter concerning the amalgamation of the two opposing Tory clubs of this city, closed the communication with these words:—"In conclusion, Sir, I have this further to say, that the amalgamation of these two associations will not of itself produce the unification of the party. Much more I think will need to be done. In one way, and in one way only, can the Conservative party here OR ELSEWHERE be united and restored to public confidence. That end can only be attained in the same way that one achieves salvation. The party must be born again. IT MUST ALTER ITS POLICY AND CHANGE ITS LEADERS."

A. V. W.

TOWN COUNCIL.

Council Chamber,
May 3rd, 1897.

Council met in regular session, Coun. Aylsworth presiding, present, Carson, Miller, Perry, Lowry, Alexander, Boyle, Dey, Ming.

The minutes of last regular session were read and confirmed.

A communication from the clerk of the city council of Toronto asking the council to co-operate with that council in petitioning the Government not to grant the Bell Telephone Co. power to raise their rates was read. On motion the communication was laid on the table for further consideration.

A communication from John Hacknell re road machinery was referred to the Street Committee to report.

A communication from the Fire Underwriters Association re deficiencies in the town's fire appliance was read and referred to the Fire Water & Light Committee.

Tenders were received and read from The Rathbun Co., Robt. Light & Son., W. J. Wiseman, Havelock, C. H. Spencer, Roblin, for lumber and sidewalk supplies and from C. E. Duncan for rubble and stone. The tenders were referred to the Street Committee to investigate and report at the next meeting of council.

A communication from R. J. Wright and others was read asking the council to take some action in regard to the water that comes from the West Ward Academy and grounds and depositing on surface of grounds on Richard St., in front of R. J. Wright's residence and flowing down on surface to Dundas St. to the inconvenience of residents on said street. The matter was referred to the Street Committee to investigate and report.

The committee to whom was referred the petition from the members of the 47th Batt. Band suggested that the citizens of the town be asked to contribute to a fund for the procuring of instruments as set forth in the petition and after having done this that the council take the matter into their consideration and if the funds and appropriations will permit they will do whatever is possible to encourage the enterprise. At present they could not make any grant towards the scheme as no appropriation had been provided for it.—The report was adopted.

The Treasurer's monthly report was read and adopted.

The communication from the council of Toronto was laid over until next regular meeting.

On motion $5 was ordered to be placed in the hands of the Chief of Police for scraping the market.

—continued.

Napanee.

President, M. S. Madole Esq; Vice Pres., G. W. Gibbard Esq., F. W. Morris, T. D. Pruyn, J. J. Taylor, Chas. Frizzell, Dr. G. W. Edwards, W. P. Deroche. Solicitors Messrs. Deroche and Madden. Valuator, W. Embury; Sect. Treasurer and Agent, Irvine Parks.

from whom all information can be obtained. Money received on investment at good interest, and money loaned on easy terms of repayment.

Apply to I. Parks. Agent.

Pain-Killer.

(PERRY DAVIS'.)

A Sure and Safe Remedy in every case and every kind of Bowel Complaint is

Pain-Killer.

This is a true statement and it can't be made too strong or too emphatic.

It is a simple, safe and quick cure for

Cramps, Cough, Rheumatism, Colic, Colds, Neuralgia, Diarrhœa, Croup, Toothache.

TWO SIZES, 25c. and 50c.

VERY LARGE BOTTLES 50 CENTS.

Relief for Lung Troubles

The D. & L. EMULSION

In CONSUMPTION and all LUNG DISEASES, SPITTING OF BLOOD, COUGH, LOSS OF APPETITE, DEBILITY, the benefits of this article are most manifest.

By the aid of The "D. & L." Emulsion, I have got rid of a hacking cough which had troubled me for over a year, and have gained considerably in weight. I liked this Emulsion so well I was glad when the time came around to take it.

T. H. WINGHAM, C.E., Montreal.

50c. and $1 per Bottle

DAVIS & LAWRENCE CO., LTD., MONTREAL

FRUIT & ORNAMENTAL TREES

700 ACRES.

SHRUBS, ROSES, VINES AND SEED POTATOES.

WE have the largest assortment and employ the very latest and most improved methods for propagating. All stock carefully packed under our personal supervision, and all new varieties tested at our trial farms before being catalogued. These are the only testing orchards connected with any Nursery in the Dominion.

Agents Wanted to Represent us.

Special attention given to Park, Cemetery and Boulevard orders. Estimates furnished for supplying entire orchards.

Why buy of foreign concerns or of middlemen when you can purchase as cheaply from us and get better value.

Our stock is Canadian grown and acclimated.

Catalogue (English or French) free on application.

STONE & WELLINGTON, Toronto, Ontario.

FONTHILL NURSERYMEN,

The Leading Canadian Tree Men

Cancer can be Cured. For six years I suffered from cancer, and got no relief until I used Burdock Blood Bitters. I used seven bottles faithfully, when the cancer gradually dried up and finally disappeared. I am now entirely well and rejoice that by using B. B. B. I have escaped death either from the surgeon's knife or from the cancer itself.

Signed. MRS. ELIZA J. TUFFORD,
Paris, Ont.

CASTORIA.

The fac-simile signature of Chas. H. Fletcher is on every wrapper.

merchants do not know how to run their own business.

DAVIN and the Mail and Empire are out after the Post Master General with a blunderbuss for dismissing the Widow McManus, the genial postmistress of Northfield, B.C. The widow, when interrupted in the congenial task of mastering the contents of the post cards consigned to her for distribution was wont to secure quiet by brandishing a six shooter at the wicket. There is no doubt the Widow McManus is a charming lady but the people of Northfield didn't like her ways so despite the deep regret of the Mail and Empire, Davin, Foster and Sir Chas. Tupper, it was found necessary to dismisss her from the service.

GET WHAT YOU ASK FOR.

At the present time, when there is so much substituting and deception practiced by some dealers whose life object is large profits, it is absolutely necessary to say to the ladies, "Get what you ask for."

Unscrupulous dealers are using every effort to sell inferior and adulterated dyes whenever the Diamond Dyes are asked for.

To avoid fraud and deception, the ladies will please see that the name "Diamond Dyes" is on every packet they buy.

Bear in mind that inferior dyes ruin your goods; therefore they are a source of loss, trouble and annoyance.

Diamond Dyes are all warranted, are more than twice the strength of the common dyes, and sold for the same price—ten cents.

He Wanted Paregoric.

It is a good thing to remember the right word at the right time, but it is not everyone who does it by such a curious succession of ideas as the man who dashed into a Western drug store and accosted the clerk with:

"Say; I want some medicine, and I want it quick, too! But for the life of me I can't tell what the name is!"

"Well, how on earth do you expect to get it then?" demanded the disgusted clerk. "I can't help you!"

"Yes, you can, too!" said the would-be customer, promptly. "What's the name of that bay on the lower part of this lake—eh?"

"Do you mean Put-In Bay?"

"That's it! That's it! And what's the name of the old fellow who put in there once, you know? Celebrated character, you know?"

"Are you thinking about Commodore Perry?"

"Good! I've got it! I've got it!" shouted the customer. "That's what I want! Gimme 10 cents worth of paregoric!"—Harper's Round Table.

The New Telephone Girl

She was a new girl at the central telephone exchange.

Her previous experience in this big world had been behind the counter at Chintz & Chally's.

Nevertheless, she was a pleasant-spoken young lady, and amiability was written all over her nature.

She had adopted as her motto the touching sentence, "We strive to please," and she honestly tried to live up to it.

There was a ring at the bell.

She applied her ear to the instrument, and asked sweetly:

"What number, please?"

"Let me have No. 474."

"I am sorry that No. 474 is busy now," she replied. "You can have No. 473 or No. 475 if you wish."

The individual at the other end of the wire hung up his receiver, and used language which plainly showed that all efforts to please do not necessarily succeed.—Harper's Bazar.

FURTHER PROOF.

"My daughter has taken Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills, which I procured for her at Mr. H. W. Love's drug store, corner Broadview and Danforth-avenues, and they have done her a great deal of good. She has been wonderfuly benefited in her general health since taking them, and I find that they are a magnificent tonic for the system, and a wonderful remedy for all nervous complaints. (Signed) Mrs. H. Davey, Don Mills Road, Todmorden, Ont.

Wanted—An Idea Who can think of some simple thing to patent? Protect your ideas; they may bring you wealth. Write JOHN WEDDERBURN & CO., Patent Attorneys, Washington, D. C., for their $1,800 prize offer.

excess of smuggling across the border from Canada to the United States that that country would be unable to successfully cope with it. Under such conditions for the United States to continue in its refusal to accept reciprocity would simply be maintaining a policy in every sense inimical to the country's interests. The establishing of reciprocity between the two countries seems now to be brought within the range of a not far distant probability.

In England the preferential feature of the Liberal tariff has excited from all quarters the liveliest expressions of approbation and pleasure. The genuine and hearty outburst of unanimous approval in the mother land is a glowing tribute not only to the loyalty displayed by the Liberal party, but also to the wisdom and sagacity of the Administration which has displaced the Tupper incapables of yesterday. England announces her pride in her Canadian offspring as she greets the Liberal differential tariff with such emphatic expressions of affection through the columns of her press all over the kingdom. Kipling heralds it in appropriate verse, and Sir Charles E. H. Vincent hails it on the floor of the British Parliament by notice of a resolution expresssing Great Britain's grateful and fraternal recognition to the Government and people of Canada. As the days pass by bringing other mead of praise of the new Liberal tariff and its loyal sentiment embodied in its declaration of preferential trade with the Mother Country, is it to be wondered at that Tories great and Tories small are dumb with amaze. Like a bolt from the clear blue has come the condemnation of their past policy and methods, — their falsity unmasked, and with one sweep of Liberal patriotism the disloyal barrier for eighteen years maintained against Great Britain by them, is levelled, and the nation rejoices.

Another commendable feature in the tariff is the adoption of the ad valorem rate in place of the bad principle of specific duties. The taxing of imports in proportion to their value, or ad valorem, is a principle which falls proportionately on the rich. The specific principle, that of taxing goods in proportion to their weight, falls out of all proportion on the poor consumer, who has to purchase as many clothes and as much food as the rich man. The correct thing is to tax the luxury and the burden then falls upon that class of consumer who can best afford to bear it.

As to the tariff itself, it is like all other tariffs -- a matter of detail, requiring investigation of all its parts to be rightly understood and appreciated. The salient features of it might with some profit be referred to in my letters during the progress of the debate in Parliament. It is the plan now, I believe, of the Opposition not to offer an amendment to the tariff as a whole measure, but to combat it, as best they may, in detail when in committee of the House. As usual the Opposition was not a unit on the question. The unhappy family still labors under its internal dissensions, and if one may be permitted to judge from the results of the last Tory caucus, there is a campaign of internecine warfare still being carried on in the ranks of the visibly lessening Opposition in Parliament. Recent events in Nova Scotia, and elsewhere, make the fact most convincingly apparent that Tupperism is a thing of the past, and a very hateful memory. The arrogance of the Tupper dynasty has worked his own downfall, and completely wrecked the once great Conservative party of Canada. That party must now build upon a new foundation, and on stepping stones of its dead past it may perhaps rise to higher and better things. This is not a fanciful picture, for it is painted by one of the most prominent Conservatives in this city, and one who, at the last general

On motion $25 was ordered to be placed in the hands of the Poor and Sanitary Committee.

The matter of granting assistance to Jos. Nelson who has been ill was left in the hands of the Poor and Sanitary Committee with power to act.

On motion the 26th day of May was appointed as the date for holding the Court of Revision.

ACCOUNTS.

B. Johnston	$ 4 64
T. Fox	1 50
J. Pierson	1 50
J. Chatterson	13 12
Gas Co'y	9 80
Geo. S. Hinch	15 50
J. Rendell, Assessor	100 00
Caledonia Insurance Co	17 00
Water Works Co'y. (ref F. W. & L.)	782 50
Sam Kelley, hauling hose carts	50

The Treasurer was granted a voucher for $822.

Reeve Leonard and deputy-reeve Madole entered.

Mr. J. M. Parrott was heard in reference to a building on John St. It was a rough cast house and he wished to repair it by raising it one storey and covering it on the outside with wood. He wished the council to take some action in the matter in regard to the fire limit by-law so that he could repair the house without being liable under the fire limit by-law. He would make it a different appearing building and it would be much better for the town. The matter was referred to the Fire, Water and Light Committee to investigate and report at the next meeting of the council.

S. C. Warner, town solicitor, was present and gave his opinion re the difference between the town and the Water Works Co'y. He was of the opinion that the council could recover $50 from the Water Works Co'y for each breach of the agreement. In regard to the particular instance on which the breach occurred he would not advise the council to go into litigation as it was not clear that a chimney burning out would be considered a fire.

Council adjourned.

My Neighbor Told Me about Hood's Sarsaparilla and advised me to try it—This is the kind of advertising which gives Hood's Sarsaparilla the largest sales in the world. Friend tells friend that Hood's Sarsaparilla cures; that it gives strength, health, vitality and vigor, and whole neighborhoods use it as a family medicine.

Honor Rolls.

YARKER.

Pt. 1.—Regina Noll 99, Sadie Shultze 98, John Gilbo 98, Luella Freeman 95, George Woodhouse 95, Grace Sager 89, Harry Gilligan 89, Bruce Banyard 88, Elda Atkins 88, Gordon Shultze 75, John Warner 70, Alma Lock 35. Pt. II.—May Warner 99, Alice Irish 99, Gertie Lloyd 98, Frankie Snare 98, Herman Shultze 85, Lillie Freeman 84, Willie Skinner 83, Clayton Juniac 69, Arthur Emberly 68, Clarke Sager 68. Sr. II.—Lena Benjamin 89, Lillie Hill 75, Carleton West 75, Hazel Sagor 69, Clarence Ewart 69, Clarence Emberly 53, Ada Gordon 49. Jr. II—Lillie Montgomery 86, Myrtle Freeman 73, Elcho Tooker 65, Jennie Montgomery 64, Addie Irish 58, Luella Carroll 39, Nellie Shultze 35. Leroy West 80, Earl Freeman 75, Joie O'Mara 68, Stuart Connolly 55, Clark Hill 46, Maggie Montgomery 42, John Winter 38, Eve Sylver 34, Marvin Irish 16. Class I — Gertrude Connolly 90, Jessie Winter 90, Mabel Montgomery 79. Sr. IV—Helen McDonald 70, Lizzie Manion 69, Edna Dupuis 60, Mark Tooker 56, Grace Hill 54, Harry Montgomery 31. Class III.—Edna O'Mara 88, Monica McDonald 85, Violet Ewart 76, Ethel Barton 69, Carrol McDonald 67, Stella Lloyd 64, Alta Sager 59, Eva Gordon 51. Leslie Tooker, 51, Hanlon Carrol, 39, Bernice Emberly 34, John Woodhouse 16, Agatha Babcock 12, Amos Hartman 10.

Teachers { MRS. TOBEY. / MISS SIMMONS.

Proof from the People. Mr. Geo. Buskin, missionary for the International Mission in Algoma and North-West. He writes:—"I wish to say that Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry has been to me a wonderful, soothing, speedy and effectual remedy. It has been my companion for several years during the labors and exposures of my missionary work in Algoma. Well it is for old and young to have it in store against the time of need, which so often comes without warning.

GEO. BUSKIN, Missionary,
Toronto, Ont.

CASTORIA.

The fac-simile signature of Chas. H. Fletcher is on every wrapper.

BICYCLES,

We have an elegant range of Bicycles direct from the best makers.

COLUMBIA, STEARNS, HARTFORD, UTICA AND OHIO WHEELS.

A $65.00 Wheel for $50.00.

DROP IN AND LOOK AT THEM.

NO ONE CAN UNDERSELL US IN SHOES,

SEE THEM

HAINES & LOCKETT,

4 BIG SH E STORES

NO CREDIT. ONE PRICE.

CONFOUND IT!
I'VE FORGOTTEN TO GET A PACKAGE OF OLD CHUM
SMOKING TOBACO 10¢ PKG

New Spring Gent's Wear

Just opened out. New Scotch English and Canadian Suitings and Pantings, in all the Latest Patterns. Black, Blue, Brown Worsteds for Overcoatings at Popular Prices.

Nice Suits Made to Order from $12.50 Upw ards

Please call before purchasing and inspect our stock

R. FORD. T. G. DAVIS.

A CONNECTING LINK.

been afforded. A more gorgeous mass of flowers we have never seen; the trellis was a mass of bloom from top to bottom, and had been from the first

SPRING NOVELTIES.

NEW COSTUMES AND COATS THAT ARE BRIGHT IN COLOR.

French Styles in Hats, Wraps and Dresses for the Promenade—Some Very Smart Bicycling Gowns—Late Designs For Various Functions.

(Special Correspondence.)

Paris, (Special.)—The loose sacque coat is as much in favor as any of the spring wraps that have appeared so far upon the promenades. It is made quite short and with tight sleeves, often of a light color and finished with gold and silver braid. It is an extremely simple garment, but capable of looking smarter than almost anything else worn. A coat of a very pale silvery blue smooth cloth that I noticed this morning was cut perfectly straight in front and behind. It was lined throughout with dark blue silk and turned back at the throat in a flat collar and odd truncated revers. It had small square pockets and plain sleeves and was edged with four or five rows of narrow silver galon. White coats, cream-colored coats, green coats and bright red coats are only a few of the tints that give the city streets the look of spring.

Many of the more dressy wraps for married women are made loose also. One of the most successful models is built upon a deep yoke of passementerie, square in front and behind, from which hang straight lengths of silk or satin, laid in deep box or side plaits and richly embroidered at the bottom. One of the famous houses of Paris finished a garment of this order last week for the Empress of Russia. It was made of gray silk with wavering light of brown and blue, such as one sees on the breast of a pigeon. The yoke was an exquisite lace pattern sewn with jet. The standing collar was laid in box plaits, quite low in front, but rising to a considerable height at the back of the neck, and was lined with the point de Venice lace, heavy ruches of which finished the sleeves. The wrap was quite short and was ornamented at the bottom with a rich embroidery in black silk, following a wonderfully delicate and intricate lace pattern and costing weeks of labor. The sleeves were pointed at the wrists and embroidered. The wrap was lined with red silk shot with black, and was accompanied by a bonnet of black lace with trimmings of pink almond blossoms.

Spring bonnets have strings to tie under the chin. I think I wrote a month or more ago that the earliest models prepared for the Riviera showed this innovation. The fashion promises to persist, at least for this season. This is saying nothing more than that a larger proportion than usual of elegant bonnets will be real bonnets in

AN AUNT'S ADVICE.

BROUGHT A YOUNG LADY OUT OF THE SHADOW OF DEATH.

A Remarkable Case That Vividly Shows the Wonderful Health-Restoring Power of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills.

From the Orangeville Banner.

There is no doubt at all that many people are prejudiced against proprietary medicines, and equally no doubt many look upon the testimonials published as much in the nature of an exaggerated puff. If the Banner has been tinctured with this feeling it has, so far as one medicine is concerned, had its doubts removed. We refer to Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, concerning the curative qualities of which strong claims have been made, and proofs advanced in their support which seemed equally strong. But it is when one comes across in their own locality a case almost rivaling any that have been made public, that doubt disappears and conviction follows. Such a case the Banner came across and investigated and now gives the facts. The case is that of Miss Sarah Langford, an estimable young lady who resides in the neighborhood of Camilla. We were told she had been brought near to death's door and had been restored to health through the agency of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. We decided, however, to cast hearsay aside and investigate for ourselves.

We found Miss Langford the picture of health and good spirits, at her pleasant home in Camilla. In response to our inquiries as to her illness and the cause of her recovery, she expressed her willingness to satisfy our curiosity, and as she added, relate her experience for the good of others afflicted as she was. Her story very briefly, was as follows:—

"I had la grippe in the spring of 1894, I did not seem to get over the effects of the attack, and as the summer progressed became weak and listless. Any kind of work became a burden to me. After pumping a pail of water from the well, I would have to stand and hold my hands over my heart for a moment or so, it would flutter so violently. I could not go upstairs without difficulty, and towards the last would have to rest on the steps, and when I got to the top, lie down until I could recover my breath. I became a mere skeleton, my cheeks

THE NASTURTIUM JOINS THE VEGETABLE AND FLOWER GARDENS.

A Showy Garden Flower That Is Likewise of Great Usefulness—Something of Its Habits—The Soil It Prefers—Method of Culture.

Nasturtium is the popular name of the genus Tropaeolum, and is one of the many exceedingly useful yet sadly neglected old garden favorites, says The Orange Judd Farmer. We cannot see why it should not be more generally cultivated, unless it is that so much real beauty can be obtained at so little cost, the general impression being that anything to be valuable must be expensive. Within a few years a new impulse has been given to the cultivation of this flower by the production of new varieties, the result of cross-fertilization, and by making it fashionable. There are two distinct classes admirably adapted to garden cultivation, viz., the tall or climbing, and the dwarf. The tall growing sort, or T majus, is among our most useful garden plants, forming a connecting link between the vegetable and the flower garden, making the former beautiful and the latter useful. We scarcely know whether to value them more highly for their young fruits, so valuable for picking, or for their flowers, which give to the garden a wealth of bloom, with the most gorgeous colors and spicy perfume.

VASE OF NASTURTIUMS.

While they are among the most showy of garden flowers, they are not fastidious in their habits, succeeding well everywhere almost, and under all circumstances; besides, there is no place where they do not appear well, and in which they will not thrive. As a rule, they do best in a poor soil, at least they are credited with that peculiarity, but from our observation of their habits we are inclined to think they enjoy good treatment quite as much as any other flower, and will as amply repay all the attention given them. We have noticed nasturtiums trained on a arbor more than six feet high, with wire netting for support. The plants completely covered the surface and would, seemingly, grow much higher if a suitable support had of July until killed by frost. These plants were in a very rich and moist soil.

But the usefulness of this plant does not end here; cuttings or branches in full flower placed in a vase of water will take root freely, after which they can be potted in five-inch pots, or in fruit cans filled with rich soil, and if given plenty of sunlight, will flower all winter. For all purposes we prefer the tall rather than the dwarf sorts; they flower more freely, are richer in foliage and produce more fruit or seeds. These can be trained anywhere, and kept in place as border plants by pinning the branches down.

TEN YEARS SINCE.

History of a Long Standing Malady Given in Lucid Words by Mrs. Albert Armstrong, Hawthorn Row, Don Mills Rd. Todmorden, Ont.

Than Mr. and Mrs. A. Armstrong there are probably no better known or more generally respected inhabitants of Todmorden. Mr. Armstrong until lately was engaged in farming on the York town line between Yorkand Scarboro, where he was born and brought up.

Mrs Armstrong gives the following account of her heart and nerve troubles, their origin and results. We give in her own words the interesting account as she gave it to our representative. I was taken seriously ill with measles complicated with inflammation of the lungs. Since that time my heart has been affected, and I have never felt strong. I was troubled with palpitation so badly that I could hardly draw a long breath. My heart fluttered very much, and I was often attacked by spells of weakness and dizzness, so that I was sometimes unable to walk. My eyes seemed to be covered as if with a mist, and I was subject to terrible pains in the back of my head and through my forehead. Cold perspiration would break out on my hands and feet, and I lost my appetite.

Mentally I become very despondent, having a constant dread unforeseen about to happen. My sleep was poor and disturbed with frightful dreams. In fact my nerves were completely unstrung. I could not bear even the slightest noise. It was while in this condition that I got a box of Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills, through the kindness of Mrs. Vanhorn of this place at Mr. H. W. Love's drug store, corner Broadview and Danforth-aveunes. Since taking them I have steadily and rapidly improved. The improvement is marked, indeed, for I feel daily getting stronger and better. My appetite is becoming quite healthy, my nerves stronger and steadier, and the heart trouble gives me scarcely any annoyance at present. More than that, I am thankful to feel cheerful in mind, and more confident in the future. In fact I am stronger and better in every way. I cannot too highely express my happiness at the marvelous change which Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills have effected in my case. They have truly helped me, and I am thankful to be able to give this testimony that others suffering similarly may receive benefit. (Signed) Mrs. Albert Armstrong Todmorden, Ont."

the older sense of the word. A pretty model shown by a milliner whose word is law to thousands of women has a half-wreath of large pink and purple anemones framing the face. Behind this, on either side, is a butterfly arrangement of black quills radiating from the flowers, and behind these again more anemones. The strings are of narrow pink velvet ribbon. Another bonnet from the same house has a garland of pink and white almond flowers about the face set in knots of pink ribbon. Behind rises a mass of iridescent cocks' plumes, drooping on either side.

A GROUP OF PARIS GOWNS.

A dainty hat that nodded yesterday afternoon from a carriage in the Bois de Boulogne had a flat brim, broad in front, but diminishing to nothing behind. It was of black straw, with a close wreath of small yellow primroses set on the edge of the brim, and ending in a thick rosette on either side at the back. The full crown somewhat of the Tam o' Shanter order, had a high fan arrangement of black ribbons in front, from the folds of which and behind which rose stalks of the yellow and white narcissus mingled with primroses.

Walking dresses tremble on the giddy verge of the double skirt. Sometimes they fall over, oftener they refrain. The best models—that are, the newest—have sleeves that are almost skintight, with little epaulets or jockeys, or, may be, round, almost detached puffs at the shoulders. Waists show comparatively few changes. Some of the new bolero jacets open on one side, and fit almost as closely as a tailor bodice. The blouse is as popular as it was last summer, and is made in an even greater variety of materials. A pretty model much in favor is shirred over the shoulders and then left full to the waist line.

The bicycle suits of French women are the freshest and nattiest in the world. Bloomers are not so nearly universal as they were a year or two ago, but they are still in a great majority. Bicycle stockings are used instead of the long gaiters common in England and America, and very trim slippers or low bicycle shoes. Small, flat hats, like sailors, are the usual headgear. Two suits that I saw on the driveway at Cannes a few days ago struck me as particularly good. They were worn by two young girls who have been making a bicycle trip through the Riviera quite by themselves. One was of a pretty shade of green cloth, cut with quite full bloomers, laid in knife plaits and gathered with an elastic at the knees. The waist, of heavy white pique, turned over at the throat, in a round standing collar, with a black cravat tie, and was worn under a jacket of the same material as the bloomers and cut almost after the Eton pattern short and square cornered at the waist. It had a flat collar and revers edged with black braid and tight sleeves, braid trimmed and puffed at the shoulders. It had a broad sash of black ribbon. Its wearer had long black stockings and a small black straw hat, with green ribbons and black and white quills.

The other suit was not of the bloomer order. It was of brownish-red cloth, with a short kilted skirt and double-breasted jacket with smoked-pearl buttons and big revers. It was worn with black stockings and a little black hat and a great bunch of spring violets.

There is nothing newer than the princess dress for dinner or reception wear. A costume finished yesterday is of primrose-yellow silk, with square neck, marred across in front with old lace, and with standing collar behind of yellow velvet lined with white. The close-fitting waist is embroidered with gold along the side darts.

ELLEN OSBORN.

DR. LOW'S PLEASANT WORM SYRUP removes worms of all kinds from children or adults.

Nature's Medicine. Nature's Medicine for constipation, liver complaint, sick headache, billiousness, jaundice and sallow complexion is Laxa Liver Pills. They are a perfect laxative, never griping or giving pain. One pill each night for 30 days will cure constipation.

Held Up On The Street

By Cramps, Giddiness and Weakness Resulting From Dyspepsia.

Paine's Celery Compound Delivers Mr. Rose From Every Trouble.

The story of Mr. William V. Rose, of Montreal, is the experience of thousands of men and women who are living a miserable life owing to the agonies of dyspepsia.

Mr. Rose's experience with suffering was a long one. From his youth indigestion and stomach troubles subjected him to daily tortures, and continued up to his sixty-fourth year, always increasing in intensity and danger.

After a lifetime of failures with medicines and doctors, a friend who had used Paine's Celery Compound with grert success induced Mr. Rose to give it a trial. The medicine was used, and now Mr. Rose joyfully boasts of health and a new lease of life.

Mr. Rose with a view of benefitting all dyspeptic sufferers, writes as follows;

"For a long time I was a great sufferer from dyspepsia, and was often compelled to stop on the street until I could recover from cramps, pains and attacks of giddiness that were brought on by the terrible disease. I had little strength, could not sleep much, and was so run down that I thought I would never get better.

"I used many kinds of medicine, but they did me very little good. At last I was recommended to use Paine's Celery Compound. I tried a bottle, and it did me more good than anything I had taken before. I have used four bottles and have completely banished the distressing pains in my stomach, and I feel well.

"After having had dyspepsia for almost a lifetime, I think the cure is a wonderful one.

were like wax and my lips colorless. I lost all appetite and my meals often went untasted. Medicine seemed to have no effect upon me. I was getting weaker all the time, and at last began to give up hope of recovery. My parents were of course in great distress, and I knew by the looks and actions of friends who called to see me that they thought I was doomed to an early death. Then a dear lady friend died and I managed out of love for her to drag myself to her funeral. The sensation of seeing her laid away, believing that I would soon follow her, was a strange one. Shortly after this, an aunt of mine, Mrs. Wm. Henderson, of Toronto, came to visit at our place. My condition troubled her very much and she insisted on my trying Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. To please her I consented but with little hope of any good result. The effect, however, was wonderful and a pleasing surprise to me. I soon began to feel more cheerful and seemed to feel stronger. Then my appetite began to improve and the color return to my cheeks and lips. From that hour I steadily gained strength, and was soon enjoying my former excellent health, and I am sincere in expressing my belief that to Dr. Williams' Pink Pills do I owe my recovery."

Enquiry among neighbors corroborated Miss Langford's story as to her illness and remarkable recovery. In her case at least Dr. Williams' Pink Pills have given a striking proof that they possess wonderful merits.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills cure by going to the root of the disease. They renew and build up the blood, and strengthen then the nerves, thus driving disease from the system. Avoid imitations by insisting that every box you purchase is enclosed in a wrapping bearing the full trade mark, Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People.

BEHIND THE TIMES.

He rode along the thoroughfare,
So neatly garbed, so debonair;
His chin was at an angle high,
A merry sparkle filled his eye,
His easy manner seemed to say:
"I'm feeling mighty fine to-day."

And yet despite his stylish air,
His face and form so debonair,
He knew that something wasn't right,
He felt a sort of crushing blight—
The friends he singled from the crowd
Just looked him o'er and coldly bowed.

Despite his grace so debonair
The sweetest girls did rudely stare—
But what the cause he could not tell
Until he heard a youngster yell:
"Get on the bloomin' chappie, Mike,
A-ridin' on a last year's bike!"

Unreasonable.

Grocer—Say, you haint paid for them things yet!

Colored Purchaser—Golly! how yo' specks a man to git his hans in his pockets now, hey?

"BEST AND CHEAPEST"

Never was a greater truth than when said of Dr. Agnew's Liver Pills, 20c. a vial.

Little priced, little doses, but little terrors to drive out impurities and leave you a clear brain and a bright eye.

Do you suffer from Constipation or other disorders arising from this cause? Dr. Agnew's Liver Pills are a safe and pleasant cure. At all druggists. 40 doses in vial.

Cheapside.

This week we opened out new Carpets and Hosiery which have been in bond at custom house for some time, expecting that the new tariff would be reduced from former charges. We have not been disappointed, and are now prepared to give very special value in

Black Cotton Hose

"Hermsdorf Dye" both in Women's and Children's. You should see them before buying elsewhere 400 dozen to choose from.

The Carpet Department is now fully assorted.
Millinery Department in full swing.
Dress Goods in all the newest shades and colors.

and we have been told our Dress Goods are the prettiest and best value seen in Canada.

Prints, Cretonnes, Art Muslins, Dress Muslins and Organdies, in every variety.
Parasols and Umbrellas at all prices.
Gent's Furnishings Department fully assorted.
Ordered Clothing a specialty with us here.
Our values in Grey and White Cottons are the talk of the county.

☞ No trouble to show goods. One price only. Terms Cash.

W. MOWAT.

DR WOOD'S
NORWAY
PINE SYRUP.

CURES
COUGHS, COLDS, HOARSENESS, ASTHMA, BRONCHITIS, AND ALL DISEASES OF THE THROAT AND LUNGS.
PRICE 25c. OR 5 FOR $1.00
FOR SALE BY ALL DRUGGISTS

Burdock
Blood Bitters.

THE BEST SPRING MEDICINE
Cures all Blood Diseases, from a common Pimple to the worst Scrofulous Sore.

MILBURN'S HEART

A SPLENDID EXAMPLE.

French Law Which Should Be Introduced in This Country.

In an article on the necessity of sound sires for horse breeding, a contemporary says: "Every stallion in France standing for public service must have a Government veterinary certificate." Here is an excellent suggestion for rendering such service to horse breeders just now, when they are awakening to the fact that sound, well-bred animals will fetch higher prices in the near future than they have in the past; although those who ought to know, contend that at no time, even during the depression through which we have passed or are now passing, have horses possessing real merit been a drug on the market, or fetched any but fair prices. These dealers, whose opinions are entitled to full credit, are unanimous in stating that there is a dearth of good horses in the country, and should the demand at all equal their expectations, there will be a general desire on the part of those who have dams suitable for the purpose, to breed to suit the anticipated demand. With no particular leaning for parental government, it seems that just here is where a little paternalism would come in to public advantage. It is entirely possible in every state where horse-raising can be conducted profitably, and where a board of agriculture is established with a veterinary department affiliated with it, for such a board to issue a certificate of soundness to every stallion owner seeking public patronage for his horse's service. This certificate would be an immense safeguard for the breeder, for not one in twenty horsemen are competent to pass confidently upon a horse's constitution. The possession of the certificate would entitle the owner to offer the services of the horse at a reasonable fee, inasmuch as he would be in greater demand for his certified soundness; at the same time the want of warranty would drive unsound animals out of the market and out of competition. But even if farmers were asked to pay higher fees than they have been accustomed to pay, the guarantee that the sire was sound would be worth the money. The idea

WONDERFUL PROGRESS.

How the Inventor Has Changed the Working Conditions.

It is difficult for the rising generation to realize the important influence of invention in the changed conditions of the present as compared with those of half a cetury ago. True, they can read of them all, but the picture presented by the record is not as vividly impressed upon the memory as is that upon the mind of the denizen who has passed the fifty-year mark in actual observation of the world's progress.

A correspondent of New Ideas whose whole life has been devoted to agriculture, writes very entertainingly on the subject in that branch of labor. He says: "My first recollections of farm labor were in raking long windrows of hay with the hand-rake. My brother and myself decided that there could be an improvement—that we could make a horse do the work. The result of our 'inventive' faculties was a long scantling, with wooden teeth about two feet in length inserted in holes bored in one side of it, and two old plow handles fastened near the center and at right angles, for grasping to steer the 'machine,' when a horse was hitched to the front, and we were thus enabled to rake a swath ten feet wide as fast as the horse could walk. True, when the rake was full we had to stop and 'back up' the horse, draw the rake from under the windrow, and lift it over to commence another raking; but it was a great improvement over the slow and laborious hand-rake. Then came the wooden-framed, 'revolving' horse-rake, which 'emptied' itself by the follower merely raising the handle so that the points of the teeth in front caught the ground, and we thought that 'farming made easy' had arrived, sure enough.

"But the ubiquitous inventor was still at work. There were other fields to conquer, and before the advent of many more 'haying seasons' he entered the field with the steel-toothed sulky-rake, with a spring seat for the driver, which automatically unloaded itself by operation of a clutch in the wheel hub by merely touching

No other oil and no other medicine has ever been discovered which can take the place of Cod-liver Oil in all conditions of wasting. New remedies come, live their little day and die, but Cod-liver Oil remains the rock on which all hope for recovery must rest. When it is scientifically prepared, as in Scott's Emulsion, it checks the progress of the disease, the congestion and inflammation subside and the process of healing begins. There is the whole truth. Book about it free.

SCOTT & BOWNE, Belleville, Ont.

SWEET PEA CULTURE.

RADICAL CHANGE OF METHOD SUGGESTED BY A SPECIALIST.

Something of the Astounding Evolution of the Sweet Pea Flower—What Observation and Experiment Have Led Rev. Mr, Hutchins to Declare.

If there is any class of flowers in which there has been made greater and more astonishing progress within recent years than in sweet peas, it has escaped our notice, says The American Agriculturist The small, insignificant, modest sweet pea of former years, which had nothing to recommend it but its fragrance, has, as if by magic, evolved into entirely new forms and shapes of its flowers, greatly enlarged the size and developed variety and richness of shades and colors almost incredible.

The list of named and well defined varieties runs already up into the hundreds and the novelties of each suc-

AND

NERVE PILLS

FOR WEAK PEOPLE.

At all Druggists. Price 60 cents per Box, or 3 for $1.50. Sent by Mail on receipt of price. T. MILBURN & CO., Toronto.

FARMERS ATTENTION.

Insure your property in the Lennox and Addington Mutual Fire Insurance Company.

Because it is a Home Company.

Because it is a Safe Company.

Because it is the cheapest and best.

Because it affords the most liberal policies to patrons.

Because it insures only (isolated) non-hazardous risks, as farm property, county churches halls and school houses.

Because it is the Farmer's Company managed by Farmers in the interest of farmers of the Counties of Lennox and Addington, Hastings Frontenac, Lanark and Leeds

Officers—J. B. Aylesworth President; B. C. Lloyd, Vice-President. Directors—A. C. Parks, H. C. Sills, W. R. Gordanier, I. F. Aylesworth. Honarary Directors—Jas. Ried, M.P.P., A. V. Price, Camden. C. R. Allison, Wm. Chesters, Fredericksburgh, D. W. Allison ex-M.P. Adolphustown; F. B. Guess, Col. Geo. Hunter Kingston; Allan Pringle, Ira. B. Hudgins, Richmond. The board meets at the Secretarie's office in the first Saturday of every month at one p.m.

J. N. McKin, Napanee.
N. A. Caton, Napanee, } Agents
Thos. B. Wilson, Newburgh
M. C. BOGART Sec'y.-Treas

or association to take up what is no doubt any an important subject.—Journal of Agriculture.

MURRAY & LANMAN'S

FLORIDA WATER

THE SWEETEST MOST FRAGRANT MOST REFRESHING AND ENDURING OF ALL PERFUMES FOR THE HANDKERCHIEF, TOILET OR BATH.

ALL DRUGGISTS, PERFUMERS AND GENERAL DEALERS.

IN some parts of the world fire is yet produced in this difficult and arduous way. . . . . .

In Canada the people produce fire by the use of

E. B. Eddy's Matches.

Bay of Quinte Railway and Navigation Company

GENERAL PASSENGER TIME TABLE,

Eastern Standard Time. No. 13 Taking effect Dec. 2nd, 1895

Tweed and Tamworth to Napanee and Deseronto.

	Stations	Miles	No.2 A.M.	No.4 P.M.	No.6 P.M.
Lve	Tweed		6 50	....	3 00
	Stoco	3	6 58	....	3 10
	Larkins	7	7 10	....	3 25
	Marlbank	13	7 25	....	3 40
	Erinsville	17	7 40	....	3 55
	Tamworth	20	7 50	2 00	4 10
	Wilson*	24	....	....	....
	Enterprise	26	8 10	2 20	4 30
	Mudlake Bridge*	28	....	....	....
	Moscow	31	8 22	2 35	4 43
	Galbraith*	33	....	....	....
Arr	Yarker	35	8 35	....	4 55
Lve	Yarker	35	9 00	2 50	5 15
	Camden East	39	9 13	3 02	5 25
	Thomson's Mills	40	9 18	....	....
	Newburgh	41	9 23	3 15	5 35
	Napanee Mills	43	9 33	3 25	5 45
Arr	Napanee	49	9 50	3 40	6 00
Lve	Napanee	49	....	....	....
	Deseronto Junction	54	....	....	6 30
Arr	Deseronto	58	....	....	6 45

Kingston and Sydenham to Napanee and Deseronto.

	Stations.	Miles	No.2. A. M.	No.4. P.M.	No.6. P.M.
Lve	Kingston	0	....	....	4 00
	G. T. R. Junction	2	....	....	4 10
	Glenvale*	10	....	....	4 30
	Murvale*		....	....	4 40
Arr	Harrowsmith	19	....	....	4 50
Lve	Sydenham	23	8 00	....	....
	Harrowsmith	19	8 20	....	4 50
	Frontenac*	23	8 32	....	5 00
Arr	Yarker	26	8 40	....	5 10
Lve	Yarker	26	9 00	2 50	5 15
	Camden East	30	9 13	3 02	5 25
	Thomson's Mills*	31	9 18	....	....
	Newburgh	32	9 23	3 15	5 35
	Napanee Mills	34	9 33	3 25	5 45
Arr	Napanee	40	9 50	3 40	6 00
Lve	Napanee, West End	40	....	....	6 30
	Deseronto Junction	45	....	....	6 45
Arr	Deseronto	49	....	....	....

B. C. CARTER, Asst. Gen. Manager

G. A. BROWNE, Gen. Pass. Agent

Deseronto and Napanee to Tamworth and Tweed.

	Stations.	Miles	No.1. A.M.	No.3. P.M.	No.5 P.M.
Lve	Deseronto	0	6 50	....	....
	Deseronto Junction	4	7 10	....	....
Arr	Napanee	9	7 25	....	....
Lve	Napanee	9	7 45	12 00	4 20
	Napanee Mills	15	8 00	12 15	4 35
	Newburgh	17	8 10	12 23	4 42
	Thomson's Mills*	18	8 20	....	....
	Camden East	19	8 33	12 30	4 50
Arr	Yarker	23	8 43	....	5 00
Lve	Yarker	23	9 00	12 45	5 20
	Galbraith*	25	....	....	....
	Moscow	27	9 15	1 00	5 32
	Mudlake Bridge*	30	....	....	....
	Enterprise	31	9 30	1 15	5 42
	Wilson*	34	....	....	....
	Tamworth	38	9 50	1 35	6 00
	Erinsville	41	10 00	....	6 13
	Marlbank	45	10 15	....	6 25
	Larkins	51	10 30	....	6 43
	Stoco	55	10 50	....	6 55
Arr	Tweed	58	11 00	....	7 10

Deseronto and Napanee to Sydenham and Kingston.

	Stations	Miles.	No.1 A.M.	No.3. P.M.	No.5 P.M
Lve	Deseronto	0	6 50	....	....
	Deseronto Junction	4	7 10	....	....
Arr	Napanee	9	7 25	....	....
Lve	Napanee	9	7 45	12 00	4 20
	Napanee Mills	15	8 00	12 15	4 35
	Newburg	17	8 10	12 23	4 43
	Thomson's Mills*	18	8 15	....	....
	Camden East	19	8 20	12 30	4 50
Arr	Yarker	23	8 33	12 45	5 00
Lve	Yarker	23	8 50	....	5 20
	Frontenac*	27	9 00	....	5 27
Arr	Harrowsmith	30	9 05	....	5 40
	Sydenham	34	....	....	5 55
Lve	Harrowsmith	30	9 05	....	....
	Murvale*	35	9 20	....	....
	Glenvale*	39	9 30	....	....
	G. T. R. Junction	47	9 55	....	....
Arr	Kingston	49	10 00	....	....

H. B. SHERWOOD Superintendent

Simplicity in Fumigation.

Wood-alcohol lamps constitute a new invention for disinfection which has been adopted by the Boston Board of Health, and which not only do the work without causing all the inconvenience of sulphur, but also much quicker and better. The active agent is formaldehyde gas which is manufactured in a very simple stove or lamp. These wood-alcohol lamps, now in use in Boston, which is one of the first to adopt them, look like very simple contrivances. Each consists of three sections. The base looks like a large milk pan, and is made of tin. The second section is of sheet iron, about two feet long and twelve inches in diameter. This fits over the first section in much the same manner as a chimney is fitted to a stove. A few inches from one end of this second section is a fine wire screen to check the flame of the burning alcohol. About ten inches above this screen is a second screen, coarser than the first, and made of asgestos soaked in platinum. The action of the alcohol on this platinized asbestos produces the gas.

Under this new arrangement the officer arrives with his stoves or lamps as they are called, places them in position, touches a match to the alcohol, a quart of which does the work of six pounds of sulphur, and in about three hours the work is done in a quicker, safer, more economical and more thorough manner than was possible under the old system. The formaldehyde gas will penetrate the woodwork and the walls to an extent impossible with sulphur. It does no damage, however. It will not injure anything in the house except the germs which it is intended to kill. It has a slight effect on iron and steel, and on fabrics which are dyed a certain shade of violet or red. About thirty of these lamps are now in use by the Health Department. They have passed the experimental stage. They are pronounced entirely successful.

The Human Voice.

There are only nine different tones in the human voice; but there are, it is said, 17,592,186,044,415 different sounds.

even a ten-year-old girl could do the work of ten men using the old hand-rake. This indeed, seemed 'perfection perfected,' and we only wondered that there was not a fan attachmnt to keep the flies off.

"Now, even that paragon of progression has been relegated to the rear by a raker and loader, which is attached to the rear of the hay wagon, which rakes the ground clean and deposits the hay on the wagon all ready for the horse-fork, which, with two or three 'grabs,' deposits the whole load in the barn or rick. The crack farm laborer of my day, who prided himself on being able to take the last rakeful off the 'cradle' as it was swung around with a rythmic 'swish' by the man who was cutting the grain, and thus 'keep up' with him in binding the sheaves, now stands aghast at the self-binding reaper, which throws the perfectly-bound sheaves away from its path, and greedily reaches for more with a nonchalance that is wonderful.

"The inventor, too, has taken a wonderful load off from the 'women folks.' Churning day used to be looked forward to with a sort of dread, especially in hot weather, as it was often so difficult to make the butter 'come' just right—probably from an imperfect knowledge of the temperature required, etc. Now my son takes all the milk to the creamery, where it is put into a centrifugal 'separator,' and the butter literally 'whipped' out of it in a few minutes; and instead of waiting for the butter-buyer to come along in the fall and run his steel tryer down to the bottom of the tubs and firkins before making an offer, we receive a regular monthly dividend from the creamery, which amounts to a little more than formerly, and all the work taken away from the house."

Our friend well illustrates a portion of what the inventor has done in his line of labor, and it is but the reflex of the steady advancement in methods in all lines of industry. While the subject is practically inexhaustible, the thought occurs that with so many mechanical aids brought to bear in the performance of what has heretofore been considered the most irksome classes of labor, that it leaves the young man or woman of to-days so much more time for recreation and improvement, which, if properly utilized, can but result in enlarged comprehension and better realization of the responsibilities which, properly met, will fit them to perform justly, wisely and magnanimously all the offices of life, both public and private.

ceding. One firm alone introduces this season seven new and ...ing varities, most of which are catalogued by seedsmen generally. One of the most remarkable of these novelties is Aurora, a life-size illustration of which is presented herewith. A first-class certificate was awarded to it by the Massachusetts Horticultural Society last year. Its flowers are of gigantic size, of rich, salmon pink stripe on a rich ground. The vines are vigorous in growth, and bloom profusely.

THE NEW SWEET PEA AURORA.

But great and astounding as has been the evolution of the sweet pea flower, from the specialist florist's standpoint of view, this is not of nearly the importance to the amateur gardener as are the new methods of cultivation. "Plant deep"—certainly not less than six inches—was the inexorable law laid down by all authorities of high and low degree; and those of us who followed the advice and yet failed to secure success attributed our failures to every imaginable cause except the real one—too deep planting. But now hope springs up in the heart of many a disappointed and discouraged flower lover, when so skillful and experienced a specialist as the Rev. W. T. Hutchins boldly announces: "We must abandon the trench method of planting sweet peas. The trench method was used to secure deep planting, and the substitute for deep planting is firming the soil. Since the trench method apparently causes the blight, we must stop it. Sweet peas do best in a heavy soil, and you can get very nearly the same effect, if your soil is light, by firming it. Plant if possible, in your vegetable garden, where the soil has been deepened and enriched in past seasons. And if where your row comes it has been newly spaded, tread it down considerably before planting. This treading will hollow out the place for your row about right—and it will thus collect moisture, and by its compactness will hold it. In this hollow, scratch the lines for your seed. When the seeds come up, do not fill in any earth about them, at least for six weeks. Every time you hoe, firm the ground compactly about them, and don't let mosses loosen it up. Vines that come up in the well-trod path do not have the blight. This method applies in light soil, in which the blight is troublesome. In the case of heavy soil it settles soon of itself, and the surface of it must be kept of course from baking. In either case, after the buds begin to appear, put on a light mulching to shade the ground."

Such a radical reversion of all previous practices, as recommended by Rev. Hutchins, has rarely been attempted in any line of horticulture, yet when we recall to mind some of our own experiences with sweet peas, we feel convinced that the method recommended is the only true and rational one.

"D. & L." MENTHOL PLASTER

I have prescribed Menthol Plaster in a number of cases of neuralgic and rheumatic pains, and am very much pleased with the effects and pleasantness of its application.—W. H. CARTER, M.D., Hotel Oxford, Boston.

I have used Menthol Plasters in several cases of muscular rheumatism, and find in every case that it gave almost instant and permanent relief.—J. B. MOORE M.D., Washington, D.C.

It Cures Sciatica, Lumbago, Neuralgia, Pains in Back or Side, or any Muscular Pains.

Price 25c. | Davis & Lawrence Co., Ltd., Sole Proprietors, MONTREAL.

A BUSINESS REVIVAL.

An Illustrated Series of Verses on the Situation.

1—"How's business?" I asked of the printer man,
And he said without looking up
From the case of type he was "setting" from:
"With me it is picking up."

2—To a sewing girl next was my query put:
"How's business with you dear friend?"
She stitched a patch as she sweetly said:
"With me it is on the mend."

3—The cobbler's shop I next stepped in,
And asked: "How's business to-day?"
He trimmed a sole as he slow replied:
"I'm always pegging away."

Health is the best inheritance. It leaves its influence even to the third and fourth generation. What greater happiness has life in store for any man than to live to a green old age surrounded by his children and his children's children, and see them all robust, happy and successful. Happy the man who lives to carve at the wedding suppers of his grandchildren. Picture yourself a gray-haired but hearty old man at the head of the table at your grandson's wedding, thanking your Maker for the blessing of long life, and asking the blessing of good health for generations yet unborn. It lies in almost every man's power to be thus blessed if he will. If he will only obey Nature's laws and be watchful of his health, he will have long life and happiness.

The best preserver of health is Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. It keeps the digestion perfect, the liver active, and the blood pure. It is the best flesh-builder and nerve invigorator. The man who resorts to it whenever he feels any symptoms of approaching ill-health will live to a hearty old age. Druggists sell it. Nothing else is "just as good."

J. B. Holt, of Whittens Stand, Wayne Co., Tenn., writes: "In October, 1890, I was taken with a hurting in the back of my neck which steadily grew worse. I consulted a doctor. He gave me a course of treatment but I gradually grew worse under it. At last my trouble ran into what was called 'spinal affection.' I could hardly walk about at all. Finally I became as helpless as a child. I wrote you at Buffalo, N. Y., in regard to my condition and you answered me promptly and prescribed Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. I took the 'Discovery' and soon got well. My health continues good."

Druggists sell Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets. They cure constipation. They cure quickly and permanently and never gripe. One is a gentle laxative; two a mild cathartic.

AN IDEA FROM INDIA.

SEATS FOR ARTISTIC INTERIORS MADE TO SWING.

The New Hanging Divans and Simla Hammocks That Have Found Their Way Into the Houses of the Luxury-Loving People in This Country.

(Special Correspondence.)

New York, (Special.)—A novel and effective piece of furniture that is finding its way into all smart houses is what in India is called a hanging divan, and is as expensive as it is luxurious.

These seats are not manufactured and cannot be bought outside Bombay, Calcutta or Delhi, and the most gorgeous of those so far brought to this country have cost their owners, when hung in order for use, all of $200. The seat itself is about four and one-half feet square. The wood platform is nearly five inches thick, most richly varnished or lacquered and inlaid with mother of pearl. Four quaint and ponderous chains fixed in the ceiling, wrought entirely of brass, and the links representing apes and elephants, hooked together by trunks and tails, suspend the seat about twenty-six inches twelve feet long. Some are made of camels' hair in splendid colors and Persian arabesques with a heavy fringe along the edges and cost at least $150. These are not suspended between walls, but are attached to two carved uprights, fastened to the floor and are held out by stretchers in the form of light brass bows, to which are attached rows of quaint little bells. As many as three persons can lie easily at full length straight across such a hammock, their heads buried in downy linen covered pillows and the bells faintly tinkling out a sort of elfland music.

THE HANGING DIVAN.

Less expensive hammocks are woven of flax, but not in the wide mesh of those we get from Mexico and the great width of these simla cradles goes to make of them a bed that fairly defies wakefulness. One of these hammocks, brought over for a country house in the Berkshires, is to be hung in the cool, dusky corner of a wide hallway, and over it in true East India fashion a great fan of silk, stretched on a bamboo frame, hung. Then, on the hottest of days and when prone among the pillows, a weary individual, by grasping the silk cord hanging from the fan, will be able to keep the hammock gently swaying, the bells tinkling, the air above stirring and all with a minimum of effort.

MILLICENT ARROWPOINT.

COMING TO CANADA.

Mrs. Annie Besant, the Great Theosophical Leader, and Her Life.

Great thoughts set forth with unsurpassed eloquence are attracting universal attention to the cult championed by Mrs. Annie Besant these days in the beginning of her tour throughout the United States and Canada in the interest of the Theosophical Society. Mrs. Besant's wonderful talents have, since the death of Madame Blavatsky in 1891, been exclusively devoted to the propaganda of theosophy, until her eloquent tongue has been heard by all nations delivering her message concerning the eternal. Many books, too, concerning this philosophy, "The Seven Principles of Man," "Karma," "Reincarnation," "The Sheaths of the Soul," etc., besides her editorial work on Lucifer, attest to her devoted labors to the cause of mankind in spreading truths concerning brotherhood and a right life. While theosophists may believe anything with regard to religion the vast mass of them agree on one point, and that is that the great religious teachers were men who had reached perfection through having lived many lives on earth, and that they constitute a secret brotherhood, from which members are sent at intervals to teach humanity.

MRS. ANNIE BESANT.

Mrs. Besant has already lectured in New York, and is now on a tour through the United States. She expects to reach Toronto at the beginning of August.

Viewed from any aspect, Mrs. Annie Besant is a strangely strong woman. Born in England, of Irish parents, her childhood was spent in an atmosphere of pure religion, and, upon attaining the age of young womanhood, she was of an exceedingly devotional nature. With a strong inclination for the cloister, she was diverted from the purpose of seeking seclusion in a nunnery by the belief that she would accomplish more for religion by marrying a clergyman, and at twenty she became the wife of Rev. Frank Besant, brother of the novelist, Sir Walter Besant. She soon discovered that her husband's life did not conform to the lofty ideas of perfect religion which she had formed, and resented the disappointment by not only refusing to go to church, but by resisting his authority as a husband, and finally becoming a heretic. The result was a separation.

Sales Talk

With Hood's Sarsaparilla, "Sales Talk," and show that this medicine has enjoyed public confidence and patronage to a greater extent than accorded any other proprietary medicine. This is simply because it possesses greater merit and produces greater cures than any other. It is not what we say, but what Hood's Sarsaparilla does, that tells the story. All advertisements of Hood's Sarsaparilla, like Hood's Sarsaparilla itself, are honest. We have never deceived the public, and this with its superlative medicinal merit, is why the people have abiding confidence in it, and buy

Hood's Sarsaparilla

Almost to the exclusion of all others. Try it. Prepared only by C. I. Hood & Co., Lowell, Mass.

Hood's Pills are the only pills to take with Hood's Sarsaparilla.

HOUSES TO LET.

Two commodious dwellings on Centre St. Plenty of good water, hard and soft. For particulars apply to S. CASEY DENISON,

ACTIVE MEN WISHING PERMANENT and paying employment can secure the same by engaging with us to sell our HARDY SPECIALTIES AND SEED POTATOES. All Canadian grown. Outfit free. Salary paid weekly. Write to us for particulars, and secure exclusive territory.

PELHAM NURSERY CO.
TORONTO, ONT.
17-1-a

REAL ESTATE AND INSURANCE

I have several good farms of 50, 100 and 200 acres, at most moderate prices, and very easy terms of payment.
Several dwellings in the Town of Napanee.
Farm lands and city lots in Manitoba.
Insurance in Stock and Mutual Companies.
Money to loan at 5 per cent. on good Real Estate property. Apply to
M. C. BOGART,
40tf Napanee.

T. W. SIMPSON, B.A., M.D., C.A.

Licentiate of the Royal College of Physicians Edinburgh,
Office—Dr. Grants' late residence, Bridge St

MARGARET P. SYMINGTON, M. D. C. M., Licentiate of Royal College of Physicians, Edinburgh.
Diseases of Women and Children.
Residence north side Market Square, 4th door west John street.
Consulting hours 11 a.m. to 3 p.m., and 6 to 8 p.m. Telephone 87.

R. A. LEONARD, M.D., C.P.S.
Physician, Surgeon, etc.
Late House Surgeon of the Kingston General Hospital.
Office—North side of Dundas Street, between West and Robert Streets, Napanee. 5:1y

HERRINGTON & WARNER
Barristers, etc.
MONEY TO LOAN AT LOW RATES
Office—Warner Block, East-st, Napanee. 5y

DEROCHE & MADIEN,
Barristers,
Attorneys-at-Law, Solicitors in Chancery, Conveyancers, Notaries Public, etc.
Office—Grange block
Money to Loan at "lower than the lowest" rates
H. M. DEROCHE, Q. C. 5:1y J. H. MADDEN

MORDEN & RUTTAN,
Barristers, Solicitors, etc.
Solicitors for the Merchant's Bank of Canada etc., etc.
Dundas Street, Napanee.
G. F. RUTTAN.
Private funds to loan at five per cent.

A. S. ASHLEY,
DENTIST
16 Years in Napanee.
34 Years Experience.
Rooms, Albert Block, Napanee

4—And times are good if we take the word
Of orchestral leader Burke,
He says that in playing the violin
He's up to his chin in work.

Took the Conceit Out of Him.

"I'm going to have a little fun this afternoon," remarked Joseph Goodfellow as he worked his way into his overcoat, preparatory to leaving his office Saturday. "That boy of mine has been reading about the Corbett-Fitzsimmons fight,and boxing in barns all over town, till he imagines that he is a pugilist. I'm going to take him out in the back yard and take some of the conceit out of him. He is a pretty husky boy, but you know I used to be very clever with the mittens myself."

This morning the following appeared under the head of personal mention:

"The friends of Mr. Joseph Goodfellow will regret to hear that he is seriously ill at his home in the Western Addition."

In the sporting column of the same journal was the following:

"I hereby challenge any 16-year-old boy on the Pacific coast, who don't weigh over 135 pounds, to fight to a finish for money or marbles.—Kid Goodfellow."—San Francisco Post.

The Independent Man

A printer doesn't rush to the doctor when he is out of "sorts." Nor to the baker when he is out of "pi." Nor to hell when he wants the devil. Nor to the Bible when he want's a good "rule." Nor to the gunshop when he wants a "shooting stick." Nor to a cabinet shop when he wants "furniture." Nor to a bank when he wants "quoins." Nor to a girl when he wants a "press," or to a lawyer when he has a "dirty case." Nor to a butcher when he wants "phat." Nor to a pump when he's dry—and has ten cents in his pocket.

Information.

Upguardson—What does this word sinecure mean?

Atom—Well, sine means without, and you now what cure means. The word signifies incurable.

"That doesn't seem right. I'm reading here about a man who holds an office which seems to be a sinecure."

"That's all right. When a man has once had an office of that kind he's incurable."—Chicago Tribune.

Among the Poultry.

Have troughs in which to feed all soft feed.

If your hens lay soft-shelled eggs they need more lime.

The sitting hen now has the floor. Take care of her.

Is there not room for a flock of geese on your farm? Study the situation.

A warm feed for breakfast goes a long way in inducing hens to lay just now.

Keep the direct rays of the sun from shining through glass on the incubator. They are growing stronger every day now, and may suddenly run the temperature up and spoil a hatch.

Hibernian Wit.

Pat—Th' cuid mare is perfict, but f'r wan ixception, Mike—What's that? Pat—Ef yez lick 'er f'r balkin' er bitin' she'll kick loike a soon-av-a goon.—Texas Siftings.

"Hear about Casey givin' th' Dootchman th' black eye?" "Oi did not, wy was it?" "Th' Dootchman thried to call Casey a peach, but tould him he was an orange."—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

O'Malley—Oi seed a bottle sittin' an th' sideboard, an', begorra, Oi tuk tin dhrinks av ut. An' the sthup was absinthe! Gilhooligan—An' how di yez find out? O'Malley—Wan av th' pink illyphants tould me.—New York Press.

The office at the police station. Inspector (in desk)—What's your name? Prisoner—Patrick Sweeney. "What countryman are you?" "An Oirishman.' "What's you business?" "An Italian organ grinder."—Spare Moments.

"Well?" said the assistant in a chemist's shop to an Irishman, who pointed to a pile of soap. "I want a lump of that," answered the Irishman. "Thank you. Will you have it scented or unscented?" "I'll take it wid me."—Tit-Bits.

An Irish settler sat enjoying his connubial bliss upon the banks of a southern creek. Suddenly he espied a turtle emerging from the crystal stream. "Och, love!" he exclaimed solemnly, "That iver I should come to America to see a snuff-box walk!" "Whist!" said his wife; "don't be after making fun of the birds!"—Answers.

from the floor. The massive glittering chains are at the ceiling fixed in, through big engraved plates of brass, that have bolts, to the cross-beams, and then to this great, broad, gently swaying divan is first laid a thick soft mattress. Its covering is a rich cloth of crimson silk and gold, and banked at either end are pillows of every size, upholstered in oriental silks. Usually, at one side of the divan, sits a stand and equipage for oriental coffee, at the other a smoking outfit from India. Strung on and twisted about the chains are pieces of gold-striped gauze, bangles for ankles and arms. Tossed among the pillows are scented feather fans, and from the ceiling, at a point between the four chains, hangs a lantern that sheds electricity through its stained glass and beaten brass windows, while still below it hangs a spice burner.

The remainder of the room has been decorated in accurate accord with one piece of furniture, even to the ceiling, fretted in gilt and white, to the carved wood and stained glass screens, where the glazed sashes were, and here the happy owner presides at her tea, over her note writing, etc. A few women have fallen so deeply in love with the Indian swinging divans that they have had their sturdy carved four posters or Vernis Martin bedsteads taken from their rooms and substituted these big oriental hanging couches. But this is an exaggeration of the craze. In Mrs. George Gould's home a truly enormous divan is to hang in her studio. Six wrought bronze chains, representing the heads of idols, will hold it in place, and over the scarlet silk mattress is to be spread a wonderful cloth of gold counterpane, edged with bullion fringe to sweep the floor.

This is to find a place between two windows, so that the weary lounger among the pillows can catch in summer every bit of breeze passing through the close latticed window. At Mrs. Astor's home on the Hudson river a swinging divan, quite as splendid but not so large as either of those above described, is hung in a circular portico that opens out of her bedroom, and commands a magnificent water view. The portico itself is nearly inclosed in the most delicate lattice work, the stone floor is strewn with Indian rugs, lemon and rose created cockatoos occupy tall bamboo perches in sunny corners, and here the mistress spends her summer mornings, reading, writing with her secretary and otherwise putting her lovely open air studio to practical use.

SIMLA HAMMOCK.

Now, any woman of smaller means and yet with as vaunting ambitions as one of the ladies above mentioned, can, of course, by careful study of the requirements for a hanging divan, have one built for her own studio or summer balcony if she has a mind to. And that is just what many a woman is now ordering her cabinetmaker to do, satisfying herself with iron chains heavily gilded, a platform of plain pine, stained and varnished, and upholstering her matress and pillows in art linens. Such swinging seats are being ordered for the tea balconies of Newport cottages.

Those who do not take kindly to a hanging divan can fall into the ranks of those equally beautiful and comfort-loving sisters who are importing or having made for their summer homes, yet greater novelties in the form of simla hammocks. Everybody who reads Kipling knows where Simla is and there in even the least pretentious homes, a hammock is synonymous with ease. It usually occupies a place between two windows in the general sitting room, or decorates the tea end of the wide veranda—when drawn out to its greatest width a simla hammock measures heretic. The result was a separation, then a divorce, and, after that, all sorts of trials and troubles for the woman, which culminated in making her a leader among the socialists of London, a co-laborer with Charles Bradlaugh, in promulgating the doctrines of infidelity, and subsequently the disciple of and then earnest worker with Mme. Blavatsky as the leader and teacher of theosophy.

Mrs. Besant's life has not been barren of good results. She became the champion of the poor in London, and by her tongue and pen did much toward ameliorating their condition in life. She procured for the overworked and underpaid match girls such reforms in their work and wages as materially improved their condition. It was due mainly to her agitation that John Burns was given a seat in Parliament, and under her guidance the working people of London were organized, with the result that many improvements in their social condition followed. During this period of her labor she stood one night at the head of an army of workingmen in Trafalgar square and when a regiment of soldiers charged upon her force with fixed bayonets, she stood her ground, remarking they had a right to be there. Her bravery won for her the admiration of all England.

After this Mrs. Besant became the pupil of Huxley, and under his tutorship studied science and philosophy. She first visited this country in March, 1891, and delivered several lectures. In 1893 she made her second visit as a delegate of the theosophists in the congress of religions at the World's Fair. Her present visit is for the purpose of delivering a series of lectures in the leading cities of the country.

Want a Royal Widow?

It is announced that the harem of the late Shah of Persia has been dispersed. He had an extremely fine collection of wives and lodged them sumptuously. His successor did not care to support this part of his father's belongings, especially as he had a similar institution of his own to look after. Only a few women, having strong family influence, were allowed to retain lodgings in the royal palaces.

The others are free to marry, but they have been warned that they must not do this with Persian civil or military officials. If any one with a passion for curiosities would like to acquire a royal widow he has now an excellent opportunity to do so. The American Consul at Teheran will no doubt receive many inquiries.

Break Up a Cold in Time
BY USING
PYNY-PECTORAL
The Quick Cure for COUGHS, COLDS, CROUP, BRONCHITIS, HOARSENESS, etc.

MRS. JOSEPH NORWICK, of 68 Sorauren Ave., Toronto, writes: "Pyny-Pectoral has never failed to cure my children of croup after a few doses. It cured myself of a long-standing cough after several other remedies had failed. It has also proved an excellent cough cure for my family. I prefer it to any other medicine for coughs, croup or hoarseness."

H. O. BABBITT, of Little Rocher, N.B., writes: "As a cure for coughs Pyny-Pectoral is the best selling medicine I have; my customers will have no other."

Large Bottle, 25 Cts.

DAVIS & LAWRENCE CO., LTD.
Proprietors, MONTREAL

Many Women
No. 4
MILES' CANADIAN VEGETABLE COMPOUND
DON'T BELIEVE
In quack medicines. YOU DO BELIEVE that you are weak and ill.
DO YOU KNOW that you can easily regain health, strength and vigor?
MILES' (Can.) VEGETABLE COMPOUND and Miles' Sanative Wash, for sale by all Druggists at 75c. and $2.50, impart vitality and energy, and make the life of the "Mother Sex" worth living.
Explanatory pamphlet, "Woman's Triumph," sent free on application.
Orders filled promptly from the laboratory
"A.M.C." MEDICINE CO., Ltd.

DENTISTS
C. D. WARTMAN, L.D.S.
C. H. WARTMAN, D.D.S.
Graduates of the Royal College of Dental Surgeons of Ontario, and graduate of Toronto University.
OFFICE—LEONARD BLOCK,
Visits made to Tamworth the first Monday in each month, remaining over Tuesday. Rooms at Wheeler's Hotel.
All other Mondays C. D Wartman will be in Yarker.
Napanee office open every day.

THE ROYAL HOTEL.
Dundas Street, Napanee.
H. HUNTER, Prop.
This commodious hotel is centrally situated having every convenience for the travelling and business public. Large yard and sheds for farmers.
Good table, best of wines liquors, and cigars
The comfort of guests is made a first consideration.

JAS. AYLESWORTH,
General Business Agent.
POLICE MAGISTRATE for the Provincial Electoral District of Addington.
Conveyancer,
Issuer of Marriage Licenses,
Commissioner, etc., in H.C.J
Clerk, 7th Division Court, of the County of Lennox & Addington
TAMWORTH.

"Dis man ain' much fo' drinkin', but it looks powful like he'll hab to g t along to-night wif nothin' but er cocktail."

BUTCHERED OR BURNED?

We read with horror of the cruelty and butcheries of Gen. Weyler in the fair Isle of Cuba, but little reck we of the ravages of that more direful King of Grave-Fillers, KIDNEY DISEASE, here in our midst.

People of high and low degree drop into graves on all sides of us daily from Kidney Trouble. We incur it ourselves. We encourage it. We do everything but cure it.

Yet there is a cure, pleasant as a May morning. Sure as fate. Infallible as heredity. Before this wonderful remedy, the agonizing tortures of Kidney Ills vanish like a snowflake in a fiery furnace.

This cure, of which we sound the praises is DODD'S KIDNEY PILLS. Yet not alone we, but every one who has tried them. One hundred per cent of cures we record. Here are examples:—

W. F. Smith, 16 Carrol St., Toronto, says—"I have taken eight boxes of Dodd's Kidney Pills which have cured me of Heart Trouble, Pain in the Back and Dizziness, after other treatments had failed."

D. J. Kenney, Queen's Hotel, Mount Forest, says:—Have suffered greatly from Nervousness, but information as to the effects of Dodd's Kidney Pills in such cases led me to use them, with the result that I am cured."

Louis H. Bounsall, 573 King East, Toronto, says:—"Had been troubled for several months with pain in my back and Kidneys which prevented my entering in bicycle evens, but am in the ring once more after using three boxes of Dodd's Kidney Pills.

Mr. James Stokes, Deseronto, Ont., says:—From the first box taken of Dodd's Kidney Pills I found relief, and hundreds here, knowing me for the past fifteen years, can vouch for my cure of long standing Kidney Trouble.

Our Idea

Is not to buy the cheapest goods in the market because they are made and sold cheap. "But best values only" sell them as cheap as is consistent to do business and do the square thing with every one. This plan will win favor and make lasting customers which is what we want to cultivate as we are in the clothing business to stay.

We keep the largest assortment of up-to-date Suitings in Napanee and a first-class cutter and competent hands to make them up.

J. L. Boyes.

Men's Outfitter etc.

COAL!

The Celebrated

SCRANTON COAL

That has no Equal.

I wish to announce to the public that I have put in a thoroughly assorted stock of this celebrated Coal, and am prepared to supply my customers on as good terms as any other dealers.

I am the sole agent in Napanee for this celebrated Coal and it can not be had from any other dealers. Your Patronage Solicited.

C. E. BARTLETT.

CARLETON WOODS.
ISSUER OF MARRIAGE LICENSES.
1y Roblin, Ont.

JOHN POLLARD,
ISSUER OF MARRIAGE LICENSES.
Express Office, Napanee.
Strictly Private and Confidential.

R. J. WRIGHT,
ISSUER OF MARRIAGE LICENSES.
At Residence, Bridge Street, Napanee, Opposite West Ward School.
Entirely Private.

The Napanee Express

NAPANEE, FRIDAY, MAY 7, 1897.

All local reading notices or notices announcing entertainments at which a fee is charged for admission, will be charged 5c per line for each insertion, if in ordinary type. In black type the price will be 10c per line each insertion.

Wallpaper

A man with a history—the book agent.

Napanee has $7.000 of uncollected taxes out yet.

Contemplating matrimony—the guest at the wedding.

And now the angler can catch speckled trout unrestricted.

John Donaldson, an aged resident, died

...od Yard.

Corner Mill and Robinson streets, have soft, cut, or in cordwood, Tamarac dry edgings and blocks. Reasonable rates. A call solicited. Wood delivered free to all parts of the town. S. J. HOWARD.

Lost.

On Wednesday of last week, a gold stick pin with letter "M" attached. Finder will kindly leave the same at this office. 22bp.

Slept in the old Tannery.

On Friday evening last the little six-year-old adopted daughter of Isaac Sproule, Robinson street, wandered away from home and all efforts to locate her during the night proved unavailing. On Saturday morning she was found peacefully asleep in the old tannery, next to the soap works. The little miss did not appear any the worse for her night's outing.

Another Sudden Death.

Marion Cannon passed away on Monday at the residence of Thos. Johnston, after a three days' illness. She was taken suddenly ill on Saturday evening with some affection of the brain and all attempts to save her life proved futile. Deceased was but eighteen years of age and much esteemed and respected by her friends and associates. Her parents, who reside in South Napanee, will have the sympathy of all in their deep bereavement. The funeral took place un Wednesday to the Napanee cemetery, the Rev. Arthur Jarvis conducting the service.

Curling.

A meeting of the Curling Club was held on Thursday evening of last week in Herrington & Warner's law office, to wind up the season and to arrange for the future. An executive committee was formed to draw up rules and arrange with the proprietors of the rink if possible for exclusive use of covered rink next season. The officers for the ensuing year are:—Patron, U. Wilson, M.P.; Patroness, Mrs. U. Wilson; Pres., S. C. Warner; Vice-Pres., W. A. Bellhouse; Chaplains, Revs. McDonald and Peck; Sec., Dr. Bissonnette; Treas, A. E. Lang; Executive Committee, Messrs. Symington, Baines, Livesley, Mowat and Anderson.

Notice to Farmers

The best MANITOBA RED FIFE seed wheat. The best WHITE ENSILAGE Seed corn that can be procured is for sale at the Big Mill at a small margin over cost. Try my flour "DAFOE'S BEST" and "NONESUCH." Prices and quality considered they can not be surpassed. The bread made from them has a rich golden color, sweet favor and retains moisture longer than any flour in the market. For pastry try "SEEK-NO-FURTHER." Ask your grocer for it and take no other, it suits them all.

15-1-j J. R. DAFOE.

Are You Open to Conviction.

Our advertisements have proved convincing to thousands of fair minded men and women representing every walk of life, clergymen, lawyers, doctors, teachers, business men and children have been scientifically fitted with spectacles by H. E. Smith. Have your eyes examined by the experienced and qualified optician. The best advice is what you want as eyesight is priceless. No eye in existence with an optical defect, he cannot remedy with glasses. Remember one fact outweighs a thousand claims. H. E. Smith, Graduate New York Optical College. Office Smith's Jewelry Store.

A Very Sudden Death.

Benjamin Meiklenburgh passed away on Sunday morning about 2 o'clock, with uræmic coma. He had been afflicted with Bright's disease of the kidney but was able to attend to his duties up to about 8 o'clock on Saturday evening, when he took to his bed and never arose from it again. He did not complain of being ill, but when his brother-in-law, Mr. A. M. Vineberg, called in a doctor on Saturday evening about ten o'clock he found deceased in an unconscious condition and all efforts to revive him proved abortive. Deceased was a quiet, unassuming and industrious young man, and had a host of friends in town who will regret his untimely death. He was thirty one years of age. His remains were taken to Kingston on Monday where they were deposited in the Cataraqui cemetery.

Kentucky Justice.

Last November constable Wiskin, of Bath, received a telegram from the chief ...ONALS.

...has been visiting in Kingston.

...Clarworth was the guest of Miss ...Morven, last week.

Mr. and Miss Greenes, of Napanee, were visiting at Mr. Wither's, Morven, last week.

Miss Helen Vanluven was visiting at Violet last week.

Mr. G. Spring, of Violet, was severely injured by a kick from a horse last week.

Miss Helen Clark, of Kingston, will spend the summer months at Sillsville.

Miss M. A. Blewett is almost recovered from her recent illness.

Miss Mill has returned to town.

Mrs. J. H. Clapp spent a few days in Kingston last week attending a sick relative.

Miss Grange, Miss Bertie Grange, and Mrs. Burritt have been visiting in Toronto.

Mrs. W. H. Bellhouse and daughter, Helena, are visiting her parents in Montreal.

Miss Pearl Taylor has returned from a visit with her aunt, Mrs. Sheriff Gillespie, Picton.

Miss Nora West has returned to her home at Yarker after a pleasant visit with the Misses Ward Napanee.

Mr. S. Rose, Tamworth, has removed to Toronto.

Miss Miller, Toronto, Miss Poitras, Deseronto and Miss Butler of Belleville: have been visiting Mrs. John McKenty.

Mr. Richardson retires from the principalship of the Tamworth public school, owing to ill health, A. H. Potter, of Trenton, succeds him.

Supt. Perry, a brother of J. Rudd Perry of Napanee, and Mrs. W. A. Rockwell, will have command of the Mounted Police which will be sent to England to take part in the Queen's Jubilee.

Mr. and Mrs. Benj. Brickman and their two sons F. M. and J. L. Brickman, of Moira, have been visiting in town.

Miss Aylesworth, Tamworth, was elected a member of the executive committee of the Christian Endeavoreas at the convention held at Madoc recently.

On Thursday evening Mr. John Goode was pleasantly surprised by his children and grand children and a number of friends dropping in upon him at his residence, Rideau Hall, South Napanee, and making him the recipient of a suitable present. It was the occasion of his fifty-ninth birthday.

Mrs. Kittison, of Morven, leaves for Syracuse this week.

Mr. John Lowry has returned from his trip to Manitoba looking much improved in health. Mr. Lowry occupied his desk at the town council on Monday evening and it seemed quite natural to hear his old time interjection.

Mr. Chas. Ross left town somewhat suddenly on Saturday.

Mrs. Chas. Ross left town on Monday to join her husband.

Mr. C. W. Ramsay, of Toronto succeeds Chas. Ross as cutter at J. L. Boyes. Mr. Ramsay comes highly recommended.

Mr. Jno. J. Haines, of the firm of Haines & Lockett, Belleville, was in town on Tuesday.

Mrs. Wm. Dafoe, of Belleville, who has been the guest of Miss M. Smith for the past few weeks, is seriously ill.

Mr. Chas. Fanning left for Olean, N. Y., on Sunday evening, where he has secured a situation. We wish him success.

Mr. F. J. Tilley has returned to town after spending the winter in Toronto.

Capt. Holmes and Mr. J. Rudd Perry returned from their prospecting tour in Kaladar on Saturday.

Mr. W. G. Wilson was in Toronto this week.

Mr. Lewis Deshane, of Marlbank, was in town on Tuesday. He lost one of his legs last January by a tree falling upon him.

Mrs. D. McLiver returned on Saturday from Trenton where she was attending her sister Mrs. Coleman, who was seriously ill.

Mr. and Mrs. Egerton Vanluven, of Moscow, were in town on Wednesday.

E. J. Madden, of Newburgh, was in town on Tuesday.

Mr. Vincent Kouber is absent this week taking a look over the Sherbrook marble quarry.

Dr. Everton Vanluven, of Moscow, was in town on Wednesday.

Miss Light presided at the organ in the English church on Sunday last.

Mr. Andrew Lalonde is in town this week packing up his furniture prepartaory to moving his family to St. Catherines on Monday.

Mr. Wm. Grange is home from Queen's University, where he passed a very creditable examination, passing in all supjects except Latin.

Mrs. Wm. Dey is confined to the house with a sprained ankle She slipped and fell on Monday injuring her ankle severely.

Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Graham spent Sunday in Murvale, the guest of Mrs. Graham's brother.

Mr. Wesley Collier, of Queen's, is spending his vacation at his home in Napanee. He passed a very creditable examination.

Rev. Father Cummins, accompanied by his sister is returning to Bothwell, from whence he came to attend his sister's funeral at Erinsville.

Mr. Wm. Phelan, Erinsville, is in town.

Mr. M. Donahoe, J. P. is in town.

Mr. Wm. H. Perry and Mrs. Perry, of Violet moved to Napanee on Wednesday, and will live with their son, Mr. Rudd Perry.

H. A. Tobey, Picton, has been visiting in town.

Major A. B. Perry, who will have charge of the company of Northwest mounted police at the queen's jubilee next month, is a son of Wm. H. Perry, Violet, Ont. Major Perry was the first graduate of the Royal military college at Kingston to receive the governor-general's sword, having been the leader all through of the first graduating class. He was granted a commission in the imperial army, but had the misfortune to break his leg shortly after his arrival in England. He returned to Canada and afterwards took a position in the mounted police, which he has since held. The major is a massive man and will command his company with credit.

Mr. G. W. Dawson, ex-M. P. for Addington, with his family, removed from Plevna to Ottawa, this week his duties as Liberal organizer for ...Wood.

Over 1000 cords. $1.60 per cord.
THE RATHBUN CO.,
Napanee.

Avoid Costs.

All debts due the firm heretofore known as Embury, Greer & Co. must be settled before the 15th of May or costs will be added. 21c. EMBURY, JACKSON & CO.

Wanted.

Men and Women work hard talking and writing six hours daily, for six days a week, and will be content with ten dollars weekly. Address,
NEW IDEAS CO., Brantford Ont.

Teachers' Association.

The annual convention of the teachers of Lennox and Addington will be held in the assembly hall of the Collegiate institute, Napanee, May 21st, 22nd, 1897. A lecture by will be given in the evening (Friday) by Prof. W. Alexander, Ph. D., Toronto University. Subject, "The Function of Poetry." The public are cordially invited to attend.

Cricket Meeting.

The annual meeting of the Napanee Cricket Club will take place at the Campbell House on Monday evening next at 8 o'clock. All those who are interested in the game are cordially invited to attend. The election of officers for the year will take place and other important business will engage the attention of those present.

Lecture in Newburgh.

A lecture will be delivered in the Presbyterian church, Newburgh, on the evening of May 14th, by the Rev. Alfred Gandier, of Halifax. Subject, "The Band of William Tell." Mr. Gandier is known throughout the Dominion as one of the leading pulpit and platform speakers of the day, and as he has lately visited the country which is the subject of the lecture he will be able to describe its beauty as well as recount the deeds of heroism which form so prominent a part of its thrilling history. Admission, 20c.; children, half price.

Will Meet in Napanee.

Drs. Leonard and Bissonnette were at Belleville on Wednesday attending the annual meeting of the Quinte District Medical Association. Dr. Leonard gave a paper on a surgical subject which was well received. A grand banquet was given the association by the Belleville physicians at the Quinte hotel. Our doctors extended an invitation to the association to hold its next meeting here, and their invitation was accepted. The association will meet here on the 27th October next, and no doubt our physicians will spare no pains to make the meeting a grand success.

Organized at Napanee.

A Sons of Temperance Division was organized at Napanee on Friday evening last, 30th ult. The following officers were elected: W. P., Alex Karr; W. A., Myron B. Mills; S. Y. P. W., Mrs. Mary Goode; R. Scribe, T. C. Unger; A. R. S. Charles Eyvel; F. S., J. N. Osborne; Treas., Charles Stevens, sr.; Chap., Mrs. Rickley; Con., J. L. Loucks; A. C., Mrs. C. W. Conway; I. S., Mary Mills; O. S., Allen Gerow; P. W. P., Thomas W. Casey; Deputy, Alex Karr. Night of meeting, Tuesdays.

A Narrow Escape.

Mr. D. A. Nesbitt, the genial principal of the Newburgh High School, had rather a close call on Sunday evening last. He had occupied the pulpit of the Methodist church, Selby, on Sunday evening, and while returning from the meeting, accompanied by Vera, the little daughter of Mr. G. Neely, he made a miscalculation, owing to the darkness, and drove off the end of a culvert. Mr. Nesbitt was thrown from the rig with considerable force, while the frightened horse ran to the residence of Mr. Neely, where it came to a full stop Miss Vera pluckily clung to the carriage and escaped uninjured. Mr. Nesbitt was somewhat bruised and shaken up but fortunately escaped without any serious injuries.

Vestry Meeting.

The adjourned vestry meeting of S. Mary Magdalene took place on Monday evening last. The wardens' report for the year showed a deficit of $80. After some discussion on ways and means Mr. Zina Ham volunteered a donation of $10. Mr. E. H. Baines, Judge Wilkison and G. F. Ruttan followed with $10 each, and the remaining $40 was made up by donations of varying amounts. Mr. Fennell was elected as rector's warden and Mr. Arthur John Donaldson, an aged resident, died at Reidsville last week.

P. M. McCabe is carrying his left arm in a sling, the result of a fall.

McGravey says that many a young fellow would be smarter if he knew less.

Carriages for the boys at Pollard's bookstore, Napanee, Gendron make, good cheap.

A gentleman has been in town this week introducing a new light designed to replace gas.

and Borders

Those who marry very young do so because they are not old enough to know better.

We are having more than our fair share of rain in this district. We have soft water to give away.

After May 10th our local drug stores will close at 7 o'clock p.m. during the summer months.

A Western exchange runs the marriages, births and deaths under the headings of "Bills," "Yells," "Knells."

Some large catches of mudcats are reported. Albert Root caught forty-four in one hour on Tuesday.

Cheap agate fry pans, No. 9 agate fry pans for 30c, just think of it. Cheaper than iron, at Boyle & Son's.

Try the Esterbrook Falcon pen, the Waverly pen, the Judge's quill pen, 1c. each, at Pollard's bookstore.

in great variety at

Mr. Donald McLiver ran a rusty nail in the palm of his left hand this week and that member is quite sore in consequence.

He had a limp. He was courting a young lady in a conservatory when her father came in and gave him a rare old plant.

Stewart Lockridge stepped on a rusty nail at the scene of the G. T. R. wreck on Saturday and will have to favor his right foot for a few days.

The lodge rooms of Argyll Lodge, No. 212, are being kalsomined and renovated this week and will present a handsome appearance when completed.

The present year 1897 began on Friday, and has fifty-three Fridays in it. Superstitious people believe that this is ominous, and are looking for all sorts of terrible things to occur.

"Satisfactory Results." So says Dr. Curlett, an old and honored practitioner, in Belleville, Ontario, who writes: "For Wasting Diseases and Scrofula I have used Scott's Emulsion with the most satisfactory results."

and the prices

Green is the color adopted by the Tweed Lacrosse club. A Lacrosse stick makes a good Shillalah and the Tweed wearers of the green are no dubt competant to vindicate the reputation of the color should occasion demand it.

Boyle bottom milk can, best milk can in the world, not copied or stolen from any other, but original; made from best material that money can buy and by men who know how to make good cans. Sold only by Boyle Son.

Robert Emmons, an Odessa butcher, loaned his cart to Wm. Smith on Saturday to go to Kingston, Smith never turned up on Monday so Emmons started out on a still hunt for the cart. He found it at a Williamsville blacksmith shop, Smith having sold it. A law suit may ensue.

are Right.

Go to R. Lawson's meat market for prime fresh beef, pork, veal, lamb and all kinds of salted meat. Home-made sausage and all kinds of poultry in season, fine sugar cured hams and English breakfast bacon, always on hand. Prices to suit the times. 22tf

A neighboring merchant received the follollowing note from an out of town customer last week:—Send me a sack of flour, five lbs. of coffee and one lb. of tea. My wife gave birth to a baby boy last night, also five lbs. of corn starch, a claw hammer and a fly trap. It weighed ten lbs and a straw hat.

The town council has practically shelved the petition presented on behalf of the band. The council is not in a position to make a grant towards the project at present. A subscription list will be started and it is hoped our citizens will contribute liberally towards the establishment of a Citizens Band.

Pollard's Bookstore

Bath, received a telegram from the chief of police of Louisville, Kentucky, instructing him to arrest one, James Stone, as he was wanted in Louisville for murder. Mr. Wiskin arrested Burnett, who was working in the evaporating factory there, and brought him to Napanee where he was lodged in gaol. Burnett waived extradition proceedings and quietly accompanied officer Brown, who was sent after him, to Louisville to stand his trial. On April 17th Burnett was given his trial and was acquitted by the jury after short consideration. The evidence brought out that on August 17th, 1895, one Theodore Gillum and a party of friends were holding a dance in a park owned by Burnett's aunt. All who attended were given badges, and Gillum, noticing that Burnett was not in possession of a badge, ordered him to leave the park. He refused, and Gillum instructed a policeman to put him out. The policeman struck Burnett, who swore roundly and refused to leave the place. Gillum then attempted to put Burnett out. He knocked him down several times. Just outside the gate Burnett drew a knife and stabbed Gillum in the neck, severing an artery, and inflicting a wound from which he died.

A Smashup on the G. T. R.

An error of judgment, or a moments carelessness on Saturday forenoon entailed a loss of many thousands of dollars to the Grand Trunk Railway, tied up both tracks for two hours, and delayed and disorganized freight traffic throughout the day. It all came about by the driver of a west bound freight train neglecting to get his engine well under control before starting down the grade leading to the Napanee station. The accident occurred about 11.30 a.m. A wayfreight had run out on the main line to shunt. The semaphore was up and no damage was apprehended from approaching trains. A west bound through locomotive came lumbering along dragging its train of thirty-six freight cars. The grade was reached apparently before the engineer noticed that the semaphore was up against him. All too late the order for brakes was given, as their application failed to check the impetus of the heavy train and it sped past the semaphore and dashed against the engine of the way-freight with great force. The light engine of the way-freight was badly damaged, the caboose telescoped over the boiler and the tender sadly demoralized. The freight cars attached to it broke from the couplings and rebounded fully one hundred feet. They were all more or less damaged. When the driver on the west bound train became cognisant of the fact that he could not check his train he whistled wildly to the way freight to clear the track. Either the driver of the engine failed to comprehend the significance of the signals or was of the opinion that he could not clear in time to save himself. He brought his engine to a standstill and with the fireman stepped from the caboose before the collision occurred, the driver, the fireman and the brakesman on the west bound also leaped from their train before the smash. The antics of the heavy cars, thus abruptly brought to a standstill were funny in the extreme. The principal damage took place about the centre of the train. Three empty oil cars, a car loaded with empty beer kegs, and a fat fellow loaded with old rags, went cavorting heavenward. The oil tanks descended on one side of the bank, the two box cars turned a complete somersault and landed on their backs, so to speak, on the other side, while the trucks took a flying leap into the ditch. About an hour after the accident the wrecking train arrived from Belleville and soon had one track clear. The mail train was only delayed two hours and the express one hour by the collision. By 2 p.m. on Sunday both tracks were clear and very few vestiges of the wreck left in sight. The damages are estimated at from eight to ten thousand dollars and are looked upon as extremely light considering the nature of the accident.

NOTES.

The west bound freight train, No. 103, was in charge of Conductor McCullum, of Brockville, and driver Geo. Teale, of Belleville. The way-freight was in charge of Conductor Corrigan and Engineer McEwan, of Brockville. It is said that driver Teale has assumed all responsibility for the wreck.

J. S. Hulett, Rev. A. Jarvis, Fred Miller and Mrs. F. Scott were on the scene early and secured several photographs of the wreck.

If Saturday hadn't been a school holiday we fear the teachers would have been minus their pupils.

The three hoboes who were put off at Fredericksburgh have reason to bless their lucky stars. They had reserved seats on the oil cars.

this week his duties as Liberal organizer for eastern Ontario making it necessary for him to reside at the Capital. Before leaving Plevna Mr. Dawson was waited on by a number of friends and admirers, who presented him with a valuable gift and an address as a token of esteem.

Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Wright, of Conway, were in town on Wednesday.

Mr. Dyer, of Trenton, district Deputy Grand Master of Canadian Order of Oddfellows, visited Rose Lodge, Napanee, in an official capacity on Wednesday evening. He assisted in initiation and was well pleased to find the lodge in such a flourishing condition.

Miss Armstrong has gone to Chicago to visit her Nephew, Charles Mair.

A. Granger left for his home in Minnesota this week. He came to attend the funeral of his sister, the late Mrs. McPherson, Napanee Mills.

Mr. James Alysworth, Tamworth, favored us with a call on Thursday.

Mr. Levi Gould, of Londsdale, was a caller on THE EXPRESS on Thursday.

Miss Leah Barnhart has taken a position as stenographer with Mr. T. B. German.

Mr. and Mrs. Isaac Fraser, of Ernestown Station, were visiting friends in Napanee on Wednesday.

Mr. Balfour, of Ottawa, is visiting friends in Napanee this week.

Mr. Metzler, of the Victoria Cheese Factory, Ernestown, was in Napanee on Tuesday.

W. S. Herrington Esq., attended Division Court in Newburgh on Monday last. Judge Price presided.

Arnie Wolfe, of our town has secured a position on the electric railway, in Kingston.

J. M. Lapum, Esq. is buying fish in Central Ontario, for the Buffalo Fish Company. He left for Trenton and Consecon on Monday morning.

Mr. D. Warner with Miss Gladys O'Bierne returned on Tuesday from visiting friends in Stratford.

C. N. Stevens leaves for England to day.

Mrs. D. Trotter, Kingston, is visiting her brother here, who is seriously ill.

Captain Holmes and J. Rudd Perry, Esq., of Napanee, have been prospecting in the rocks of Kalladar and have struck some gold veins. But the Lilly mine is the Daisy.

Mr. J. Fred Tilley returned on Saturday last from Toronto, where he has been attending the College of Music during the past winter. He was a pupil of Signor Tesse. Man. Mr Tilley will remain until August. He is open for concert or church engagements. Terms on application.

Mr. W. Smith, of Watertown, N. Y., (formerly barber with A. Lalonde, Napanee) spent a couple of days in town this week renewing old acquaintance. Mr. Smith while in conversation with one of our leading boot and shoe dealers, expressed his admiration at the neatness and splendor of our magnificent buildings and said that a stranger, like himself, would imagine by looking at our main street that the population of our thriving little town had increased to nine or ten thousand.

Mr. Daniel Henwood returned to town on Thursday from Toronto, where he was attending the Toronto College of Music. Mr. Henwood has graduated from the college and will remain in town for a time. He is open to receive a limited number of pupils for instructions on the piano and organ.

Mr. and Mrs. Lester Scott returned from the Kingston hospital last week, where Mrs. Scott underwent an operation for the removal of a tumor. Mrs. Scott is progressing nicely towards recovery. They both speak in high terms of the courtesy and kindness shown them by the hospital staff and the Kingston Oddfellows.

BIRTHS.

MCCAULY—At Newburgh, on April 20th, the wife of J. McCauly of a daughter.

BALLANCE—At Napanee on Saturday the wife of W. M. Ballance of a son.

VANALSTINE—At Napanee, on Wednesday evening the wife of Mr. George Vanalstine, Mill st. of a daughter.

KARR—At Napanee, on the 30th ult, the wife of Mr. Alex Karr of a son.

DEATHS.

MCCRACKEN—At Richmond, on May 6th, Francis Davis, wife of Archie McCracken, of consumption, at the age of 26 years.

MEKLENBURGH—At Napanee, on Sunday, Benjamin Meklenburgh, aged 31 years.

CANNAN—At Napanee, on Monday, Marion Cannan aged 18 years.

A. S. Kimmerly is selling field and garden seeds cheaper than any other dealer. 4 lbs. American Wonder Peas 25c.; Choice Timothy Seed, $1.85 per bush.; Salt, $1.10 per bbl. Keewatin Flour cheaper again. Four tons of that celebrated 25 cent tea in stock, nothing equal ever sold before. Can Corn 5c., new good, none better in the market.

Mr. Fred Bicknell shipped about 50 hogs, 8 horses and 7 head of cattle by the Grand Trunk on Tuesday.

The first regular meeting of the cheese board was held in the town hall on Wednesday. 85 boxes of white cheese were boarded. R. Thompson purchased the lot at 9⅜c.

Our friend, Alex Carr, became the proud father of another fat boy on Friday morning of last week. Alex stopped the press to make the announcement and thereby scooped his contemporaries.

Turkish or Grecian it matters not, we can fit any nose with glasses. Come where you can have satisfaction guaranteed. No eyes too difficult for us to fit. Some more difficult cases last week. Let us test you whether you buy or not. Testing free. The only full graduate in this county. a. f. chinneck at f. chinneck's jewellery store ed as rector's warden and Mr. Arthur Chinneck as people's warden for the ensuing year. The following were elected sidesmen: J. S. Ham, H. E. Smith, Judge Wilkison, F. W. French, W. S. Herrington, H. B. Sherwood, John Pollard, Hearty votes of thanks were tendered the wardens and the choir. At the vestry meeting two weeks previous Judge Wilkison was elected lay delegate to the Diocesan Synod.

A Fine Organization.

What the Chatham Planet says: "The Clara Schumann Ladies' Orchestra is beyond doubt the finest musical aggregation that has ever appeared in the Grand Opera House. Owing to the storm the audience was small, but that it was highly appreciative was abundantly evidenced by the rounds of applause which greeted every number. The ladies graciously responded to repeated encores, drawing out the eleven selections upon the programme to nearly twenty, double encores being in some instances insisted upon and acquiesced in. Their visit to the Maple City was an event which Chatham's lovers of music will long remember, and one that will assure them a bumper house should they ever come again. Napanee Opera House, afternoon and evening, May 8th.

More Temperance Organizations.

On Tuesday evening 27th ult. a new Sons of Temperance Division was organized at Wilton with twenty-one charter members. The regular meetings will be held on Tuesday evenings. The following officers were elected: W. P., Rev. W. Coombs; W. A., Mrs. James Davey, S. Y. P. W., Mrs. James Thompson; R. Scribe, L. L. Gallagher; A. R. S., Mrs. N. B. Switzer; F. S., Mrs. A. E. Gallagher; Treas., Fred Brown; Chap., Hattie Wallace; Con., Alfred Babcock; A. C., Lillian Parrott; I. S, Maggie Storms; O. S., Wilton Davey; P. W. P., Mrs. W. Coombs; Deputy, Mrs. T. M. Caton. On Wednesday 28th ult. Bay View Division at Parrotts Bay way organized with twenty charter members. Meetings will be held on Wednesday evenings. The officers are: W. P., J. D. Smith; W. A, Ida Clement; S. Y. P. W., Auguste Smith; R. Scribe, Manson Smith; A. R. S., Ettie Sterling; F. S., Maude Smith; Treas., Chester Nicholson; Chap., Ethel Van Winckle; Con., D. Barrett; A. C., Carrie Smith; I. S., Schuyler Smith; O. S., Frank VanWinkle; P. W. P., Myrtle Smith; Deputy, James D. Smith.

Hood's Pills act easily and promptly on the liver and bowels. Cure sick headache.

WANTED. Industrious persons of either sex with good character and common school education, can obtain employment for two months in this community.

S. M. FRY, Toronto, Ont.

The Power to Attract

Is one of the important points in our Spring Line of stylish

Colored Shirts.

Never have Colored Shirts given more promise of wide usage than for the coming season.

D. J. Hogan & SON.

Sole agents for Wilkinson and Henry Carter Hats.

THE BIG STORE,

April 30th, 1897.

New Shirt Waists

Neat patterns in Prints, Stripes, and spots, laundried turn over collars and cuffs, compare them with others at 50c. 39c.

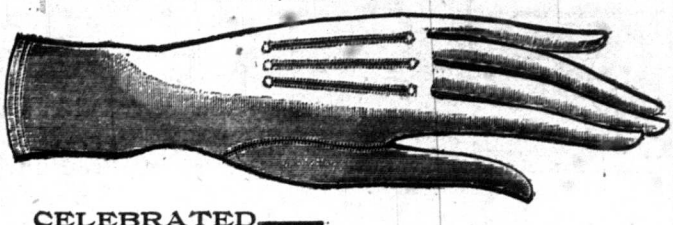
Children's Tam o'Shanters

A new line of blue cloth Tams, two styles regular price 25c. Ours 19c.

Boys' Sailor Suits

A new line in fine Navy Flannel, neatly braided blouse with cord and whistle, fit boys four to seven years $1.25

PEWNY'S



CELEBRATED

* * KID GLOVES

Are the best Gloves. We are the Napanee Agents and show the complete range of qualities. They are not the only good gloves but they are the best.

Carpet Prices

Go lower with the beginning of May. Spring goods must be sold in the spring season, only May left to clear them out in. An extra price pressure this month on the balance of our spring carpets, also remnants. Many sales make many remnants and these go very low in price. They are all kinds, qualities and lengths, you are pretty sure to find a useful piece among them. You'll find us the right carpet people.

More Shirt Waists

New ones in Madras, Organdies, and Batistes, with very newest collars and cuffs. There are no nicer goods shown in this country, but prices are not high.

Parasols and Sunshades

Also Ladies Umbrellas. We believe we have the best styles and the best values in these goods that you'll find anywhere. Prices run about the same as usual, from 25c. upwards, goods run fully 25 per cent better than usual.

Men's Tweed Pants

A new lot of strong Tweed Pants in neat patterns and well made. You pay $1 elsewhere but our price is 79c.

Lace Curtains

A word for these. We've sold our curtain stock once this season, now we begin on a new lot. We have the lowest priced ones of course, 23c, up, but our best values are in goods from 50c., to $2.00 and here our range is simply unapproachable. There is quantity enough to make this everyone's buying place, value enough to please every buyer.

Window Draperies

Hundreds of pretty things to hang up anywhere that draperies go. Madras muslins, Art muslins, Printed Scrims, Cretonnes, Art Silks, Art Sateens, any and every kind of tasteful fabric for home decoration. Ask us to show them.

LAHEY & McKENTY

Removed.

The Misses Hawley have moved from their house on Centre street to the house on Robert street, formerly occupied by Orange Blossoms.

As presented by Kingston [illegible] really pretty little play and it will be put on the boards at the Napanee opera

Experience proves the merits of Hood's Sarsaparilla. It cures all forms of blood diseases, tones the stomach, builds up the nerves.

Church of England Notes.

[illegible] until [illegible]

Services next on Robert street, formerly occupied by Mrs. Wright. 21b

Napanee Loses the Festival.

The annual meeting of the Central Ontario Musical Association was held at the Campbell House here on Monday. Delegates were present from Kingston, Deseronto, Picton, Yarker and Napanee. The first combined musical festival will be held at Kingston on June 22nd, and the Labor Day festival goes to Deseronto. Next year the festival will be held at Napanee.

Farmers, Gardners and Fruit Growers.

My car of fertilizers has arrived. Every one should try enough to convince themselves that it pays to fertilize. Those who have ordered will please call and get goods soon as possible. I have the best Timothy Seed in the market. The price is cheap considering the quality. See it before buying unsound and inferior seed.

17 F. E. VANLUVEN.

Parisian Steam Laundry

Agency at E. Vanalstine's Barber Shop, John st. Laundry will be called for and delivered to any part of the town at usual prices, strictly C. O. D. This is one of the largest and best equipped Steam Laundries in Canada. Laundry shipped once a week, on Wednesday, 3:20 p.m. and delivered Saturday morning. No chemicals used in the Laundry. All work guaranteed first-class. Lists on application. tf.

To Open up a Mine.

Mr. F. Burrows, concerning whose mission in the north mention was made in our last issue, passed through Tweed on Saturday on his return and had with him some very fine specimens of mispickle which he took from his properties in Kaladar and Angleseа. Some developement work is going on around Flinton Mr. Burrows has given a contract to the Guina Bros., to open up a mine on lot 25, in the fifth concession of Kaladar, one mile north of Flinton.—Tweed News.

Curling Records 1896-7.

From the secretary of the Curling Club we get the following tabulated statement of the interrink matches played last season in the completed schedule of matches. The rinks are designated by the names of the skips and the different tables show the comparative standing as to points, ends and games won and lost.

Games	Livesley	Bellhouse	Mowat	Bissonnette	Chinneck	Bustin	Won	Percent
Livesley ..		10	20	15	11	25	81	64.2
Bellhouse..	13		12	8	18	17	68	58.6
Mowat	11	9		15	9	13	57	49.5
Bissonnette	5	14	12		13	9	56	47.1
Chinneck ..	12	8	8	10		14	52	45.6
Bustin	4	7	6	11	11		39	33.3
Lost.....	45	58	58	59	62	78	350

Ends	Livesley	Bellhouse	Bissonnette	Chinneck	Mowat	Bustin	Won	Per Cent
Livesley ..		6	9	8	10	12	45	60.0
Bellhouse .	8	9	8	10	9	10	42	56.0
Bissonnette	4	9		9	8	6	36	54.5
Chinneck..	8	6	5		8	7	34	47.8
Mowat	6	7	7	5		8	33	45.2
Bustin	4	5	7	6	5		26	37.6
Lost	30	33	33	37	40	43	216

Games	Bellhouse	Livesley	Mowat	Bissonnette	Chinneck	Bustin	Won	Per Cent
Bellhouse..		1	1	0	1	1	4	80
Livesley ..	0		1	1	0	1	2	60
Mowat	0	0		1	1	1	3	60
Bissonnette	1	0	0		1	0	2	40
Chinneck ..	0	1	0	0		1	2	40
Bustin....	0	0	0	1	0		1	20
Lost	1	2	2	3	3	4	15

Remember C. L. Shannon will sell all kinds of field and garden seeds, all new, and lower than any reliable competitor, timothy from $1.80 per bushel up. Alfalfa, very low this year. All the latest varieties of garden seeds just in from the most reliable growers. Bradley's celebrated lawn fertilizer, guaranteed satisfactory. Canned goods 5c. per can, and all kinds of groceries as cheap as anyone can sell them. Your choice of "surprise," "best," "comfort," or "pure" soaps, six for 25c. Flour $2.25 per hundred. Car of Southern Sweet Ensilage corn just received. Seed wheat and vetches. Cash paid for raw furs. Baled hay for sale.

on the boards at the Napanee opera house shortly. Reserve the date when it is announced. Orange Blossoms proved a great hit at Kingston.

The Docket.

The following is a list of the cases entered for the assizes which open at the Court House here on Monday, May 10th, before His Lordship Chief Justice Robertson :

JURY CASES.

McCLOSKEY vs STEWART—An action for damages for assault committed at the village of Deseronto, J. S. Whiting for plaintiff, E. G. Porter for deft.

LUFFMAN vs LUFFMAN—An action to set aside a bill of sale of the Sloop Gull. English & Perry for plaintiff, Deroche & Madden for deft.

PARKS vs. BAKER—An action for malicious prosecution. English & Perry for plaintiff, G. F. Ruttan for deft..

ROMBOUGH vs KELLAR—This case is settled G. F. Ruttan for plaintiff and D. H. Preston Q. C. for deft.

CASSIDY vs MORROW—An action for illegal distress, G. F. Ruttan for plaintiff and D. H. Preston Q. C. for deft.

PERRY vs PENNELL—An action to set aside a deed, W. G. Wilson for plaintiff, Herrington & Warner for deft.

SCANLAN vs SIMMONS—An action for slander, Deroche & Madden for plaintiff, Herrington & Warner for deft.

METZLER vs GALLAGHER—An action for the specific performance of an agreement and damages, Herrington & Warner for plaintiff, W. G. Wilson for deft.

BARTLETT vs WHELAN—for the specific performance of an agreement, J. L. Whiting for plaintiff, Herrington & Warner for deft.

DOLLER vs DOLLER—An action to set aside the wills of the late Louis F. Doller. T. B. Germanfor plaintiff. English & Perry, Clute, Williams & Morden and Deroche & Madden for deft.

A number of cases of a criminal nature will also be disposed of, and altogether it will be a pretty busy week. Considerable interest centres about the McLeod murder case, and all arrangements are about completed for the trial of John Troy, the self-confessed murderer. Everett Williams of Tamworth, will also be put on trial for manslaughter. The Miller conspircay case will be disposed of also.

Oscar Wilde has been liberated.

M. Reid shipped 200 hogs from Napanee on Tuesday.

Peter Fox's general store, Northport, was burglarized last week.

Spring lamb, veal, pork and western beef brought from Guelph at central meat market or Smith's grocery.

Capt. Paul Clark, of Picton, has purchased all the shares of the Str. Merritt and assumed full control.

Fresh Rhubarb, Onions, Asparagus, etc. also all kinds of fresh fruits, and choice groceries at Smith's grocery.

Jno. J. Hooper, Newburgh, lost his youngest child on Friday last. The little one was about one year old.

BURDOCK PILLS, small, safe and sure, regulates the liver and cures Constipation.

The warm weather has thawed out the usual crop of loafers who hang on a street corner, or lounge in a doorway.

The first game of foot ball in the Quinte Union series will take place at Deseronto this evening between Napanee and Deseronto.

W. Boulter was elected Mayor of Picton to fill the vacancy caused by the death of J. N. Carter. His majority over Lighthall was 47.

The N. C. I. Tennis Club held a meeting on Monday and decided to run an excursion about the latter part of May or the 1st of June.

Itching, Burning Skin Diseases

Relieved in a day. Eczema, salt rheum, barbers' itch, and all eruptions of the skin quickly relieved and speedily cured by Dr. Agnew's Ointment. It will give instant comfort in cases of itching, bleeding or blind piles, and will cure in from three to six nights. 35 cents. Sold by A. W. Grange & Bro.

Coleman's SALT

Best for Table use

Best for Dairy use

UNEQUALLED FOR QUALITY

Canada Salt Association

CLINTON, ONT. 8

Over 200 lives were lost in a fire at a bazaar in Paris on Monday evening. A number of the French nobility were among the victims.

It is rumored that the St. Mary Magdalene S. S. children are preparing for an entertainment that will even excel their success of last winter.

Only a one horse stage now runs between Belleville and Tweed, trade having fallen off between those points, being diverted to Napanee and Kingston.

The Granger homestead at Napanee Mills, was sold on April 29th for $2,275. J. C. Granger forbade the sale and the affair may end in a lawsuit.

Grinding every day at Close's Mills The best ground horse feed and barley meal for sale at Close's Mills. Feed on credit. JAS. A. CLOSE.

The Tichborne House, the Jennings House, and the Queen's will not have their licenses renewed this year. The License Commissioners refused to grant them a license.

The fishing season's now at hand,
The finny tribe abounds,
The same old lies we heard last year
Will once more go the rounds.

There is more joy in a printing office over one sinner who pays in advance and curses the editor on every occasion, than over ninety and nine who borrow the paper and sing its praises without contributing one cent to keep the editor out of the poor house.—Ex.

Frank Bosley and his son Edward were put on trial at Northbrooke last week charged with burning the Cloyne cheese factory on the night of the 18th of December last. After reviewing the evidence the magistrate dismissed the case. Detective Rae, of Toronto, had charge of the case for the prosecution.

NORWAY PINE SYRUP cures Coughs.

NORWAY PINE SYRUP cures Bronchitis.

NORWAY PINE SYRUP heals the lungs.

BICYCLES—See our display Saturday. We can give you the cheapest and best $60 wheel ever offered, the only wheel at the price using weldless tubing, all other cheap wheels have brazed tubing. In stock. Triump, Perfect, Dominion, Garden City, Night Hawk, Skylark, Leader, Phœnix, and the celebrated Cleveland. Boyle & Son.

The Pembroke Standard tells of a party of men who paid a visit to the residence of August Drager, in the township of Alice, for the purpose of paying his daughter, who was to be married on the following day, a visit according to an old German custom. They were armed with guns, which they fired off at a great rate, one of the inmates of the house being wounded by the fusilade. The sooner this "Old German custom" becomes obsolete the better.

A story is related of a little boy in a neighboring town who was about to be punished by his father for some infraction of the household rules. Just as the father was about to commence operations the little fellow asked if he could go into the bedroom for a minute. The request was granted. Tiptoeing to the door the man with the switch in his hand saw the child kneeling at the bedside and heard him say. "Oh Lord, if you ever did want to help a little boy, now's your time." The whipping was postponed.

No Wonder He Was Sad.

Weary Watkins—What you lookin' so sore about?

Dismal Dawson—I met a guy to-day 'at tole me I was really workin' harder bummin' around de country than if I was actually holdin' a job. It may be true, too, for all I know.—Indianapolis Journal.

A GRAND TRUNK BRAKEMAN

Tells the Story of His Exposure—The Fate that Befel Him, and how he was Relieved of his Sufferings.

W. Lavelle, G. T. R. brakeman, Allandale, Ont., says: Through exposure I contracted that dread disease—catarrh. My case became chronic. Was recommended to try Dr. Agnew's Catarrhal Powder. In ten minutes after the first application I had relief, and in an almost incredibly short time all symptoms had disappeared. I feel I can not speak too strongly in recommending this remedy. It is a pleasant, safe and quick cure." Sold by A. W. Grange & Bro.

became OF ADOLPHUSTOWN—Services next Sunday as follows: St. Paul's, Sandhurst, at 11 o'clock; St. John's, Adolphustown, at 3 o'clock; St. Jude's, Gosport, at 7.30 o'clock.

PARISH OF BATH—Service Sunday next. Morning prayer, holy communion, sermon at the usual hour. The Rev. F. D. Woodcock, of Camden, will be the preacher at this service.

PARISH OF CAMDEN—Services Sunday next: St. Anthony, Yarker, morning prayer sermon, 10 30; St. Luke, Camden East, 3 o'clock; St. John, Newburgh, Evensong (surplice choir) 7 o'clock; St. Jude, Napanee Mills, evening service, 7 o'clock.

Bronchitis Cured. Miss Maggie Griffin, 37 Metcalf Street, Toronto, writes: "After having bronchitis and cold so badly that I could hardly speak, and could not find any remedy to relieve me, I decided to try Norway Pine Syrup. It made a complete cure, and I highly recommend it to all.

Cooking Small Fish.

In The Ladies Home Journal Mrs. S. T. Rorer, in telling how to fry the small fish, quotes the old saying: "Small fish should swim twice—once in water and once in oil." "Smelts, trout, whitebait, perch and catfish," she says, "are, perhaps, more palatable fried than broiled. Small fish may be stripped—that is, the intestines may be pushed out under the gills, so that the fish may retain their shape. Wash and dry, then dust with salt and pepper, dip in egg and roll in breadcrumbs, or they may be rolled in cornmeal. Have ready a good-sized pan with sufficient oil to cover. Put the fish in a frying basket, then into the oil at a temperature of 360 degrees Fahrenheit, and cook for about five minutes. Drain on brown paper and serve. Where a small quantity of fat is used, and the fish cooked on one side and then turned and cooked on the other, the method is really not frying—it is sautering; the result is much more indigestible than real frying. Catfish are frequently fried in this way without being dipped in crumbs. Sunfish may be rolled in flour or cornmeal and carefully fried in dripping, oil or lard. A mixture of dripping and lard makes a better frying material than lard alone. A pure vegetable oil is freer from danger of disease germs than either. Never use butter for frying fish; it boils at a low temperature, consequently burns quickly; the butyric acid softens the fiber of the fish, destroys the flavor, and causes it to become soft as soon as taken from the pan."

A Plain Tale From the Hills.

It was at a table d'hote dinner at a hill station in India that a very young officer just up from the plains found himself seated next to a lady whom he took for one of the grass widows common in those parts. He made himself agreeable, but his neighbor seemed a good deal out of spirits; so he said, sympathetically:

"I suppose you can't help thinking of your poor husband grilling down below?"

But the lady was a real widow, and when he learned that he changed his seat.—London Vanity Fair.

Our Best Advertisement is the thousands of pleased customers in all parts of Canada. The customer who comes back again and continues coming is a satisfied customer. The kind we've been making for a decade and more. R. PARKER & CO., Dyers and Cleaners, Toronto. Napanee Agency at Pollard's Bookstore

Cook's Cotton Root Compound

Is the only safe, reliable monthly medicine on which ladies can depend in the hour and time of need.

Is prepared in two degrees of strength.

No. 1 for ordinary cases is by far the best dollar medicine known—sold by druggists, one Dollar per box.

No. 2 for special cases—10 degrees stronger—sold by druggists. One box, Three Dollars; two boxes, Five Dollars.

No. 1, or No. 2, mailed on receipt of price and two 3-cent stamps.

The Cook Company,
Windsor, Ontario.

Sold in Napanee and everywhere in Canada by all responsible druggists.

THE NAPAN

Vol. XXXVI] No. 23—JNO. POLLARD, Editor and Publisher. NAPANEE, ONT., CA

I am offering

Dinner Setts, Tea Setts and Chamber Setts at greatly reduced prices for the next 60 days.

W. COXALL.

Spring Overcoats in the Latest Shades, from $5.00 up, a special.

Men's Shirts, any kind you want from 25c. up. Spring Underwear from 25c. up. Socks, Kid Gloves, Overalls, Neckwear, Sweaters for men and boys. We have a good assortment in these lines.

In Hats and Caps the very latest of English and American styles. Try one of our Stiff Hats, it is a beatuy.

Some new lines of Men's Boots and Shoes to hand this week. Come and see them.

A. M. VINEBERG,

The Wonderful Cheap Clothier, Dundas st., Henry Block, Napanee

TIMOTHY

—AND—

CLOVER SEED

Bran and Shorts

Flour and Feed.

TAYLOR & MORRIS,

(Blewett's Old Stand.)

NEW PLANING MILL AND LUMBER YARD.

Now in full operation. All kinds Lumber, Sash, Doors and Blinds. Custom work done on shortest notice. Get our prices before buying. Mr. Embury is prepared to draw plans for parties wanting them.

Embury, Greer & Co.

NOTICE.

People's Trade P

There's an every day onward march in th to stimulate us to further effort. Every week we goods. New prices.

It Will Pay You to Watch Our Ads.

You are Safe when You buy Dress G

You are sure to have the latest styles to trimmings to match. You are sure to get the be leading Dress Goods house in Napanee.

Special Black Crepon Dress Goods worth
Special double-fold Dress Goods worth 1
Special all wool serges, all shades, worth
Special Black Brilliantine worth 75c. C

Wash Goods.—Specials.

What a dull uninteresting season sum Organdies, Challies, Ginghams, Lappets, Dimiti properly priced.

Organdie Muslins at 10c. per yd. special.
Challies, at 5c. per yd.
Special fine Ginghams at 12½c. worth 15

"Fast-Black" Cotton Hose.

Black as night, fast as the Ethiopian's S be fast colors

All sizes in Cotton Hose, 5c. per pair, sp
Children's Ribbed Cotton Hose, special,
Ladies' Cotton Hose worth 25c. Our pr

How to et a Corset that will Fit Yo

Drop in the store when you need a Corse Tell them about your Corset troubles, where the leave it to us the next Corset will fit you perfect

If you Can't Come, Write a Letter o

And we will glad to fill your orders for a any left. If you are not satisfied your money returned.

New Patterns in American Prin
New Linen Effects, spe
Grain Bags $2 per dozen.
Ladies' Handkerchief
Umbrellas, steel rod,
Men's Gaits, extra sp

Having purchased the Book Accounts, Notes and Stock of the estate of Miles S. Plumley from the Assignee, the same must be closed out without delay. Persons indebted by book accounts and overdue notes must pay up at once to save costs.

The Goods consist of Wagons, Buggies, Harrows, Plows, Cultivators, Churns, Washers, Wringers and Straw Cutters. All kinds of Plow Repairs, Section Guards, Hay Cars, Forks, etc. In all of which goods, bargains will be given for cash.

JAS. BIRRELL

at M. S. Plumley sale rooms.

P. S.—Repairs for the above machines, plows, &c. will be kept on hand.

NOTICE OF DISSOLUTION.

Notice is hereby given that the partnership heretofore subsisting between us, the undersigned, as manufacturers of sashes, doors, etc., etc., and as contractors and builders, in the Town of Napanee, has this day been dissolved by mutual consent. All debts owing to the said partnership are to be paid to, and all claims against the said partnership will be paid by the undersigned, W. A. Embury and M. C. Jackson, who continue the said business at the premises heretofore occupied by the partnership.

Witness,
W. G. WILSON.

CATHERINE X GREER.
HER MARK.

D. H. Preston, as to signatures of W. A. Embury and M. C. Jackson.

W. A. EMBURY,
M. C. JACKSON.

FOR SALE.

Offers to purchase the desirable property situate at Napanee Mills and being composed of lots Numbers eight and nine in the first Concession of the Township of Camden, (excepting parts thereof heretofore sold) and the gore in to the Township of Ernestown adjoining thereto will be received by the undersigned, solicitors for the vendors, up to 12 o'clock noon of the 20th Day of May, A.D. 1897.

Upon the premises are erected a fine brick house, stone house, small frame house and also three large barns.

Tenders may be for the whole or in parcels to suit intending purchasers and a good part of the purchase money may remain at interest satisfactorily secured upon the property. No tender necessarily to be accepted.

For further particulars and terms, apply to

MESSRS. DEROCHE & MADDEN,
Vendor's Solicitors,
John Street, Napanee.

Dated April 28th, 1897. 21c

NOTICE TO CREDITORS.

IN THE MATTER OF THE ESTATE OF GEORGE JOHNSON, LATE OF THE TOWNSHIP OF SHEFFIELD, IN THE COUNTY OF LENNOX AND ADDINGTON, DECEASED.

Notice is hereby given in pursuance of section 36, chapter 110, R. S. O., and amending Acts, that all persons having claims against the estate of George Johnson, late of the Township of Sheffield, in the County of Lennox and Addington, Yeoman, deceased, who died on or about the 7th day of April, in the year of our Lord one thousand eight hundred and ninety-seven, are hereby required to send by post prepaid or to deliver to Messrs. Morden & Ruttan, of the town of Napanee, in the said county, solicitors for William Kendall, the administrator of the estate of the said deceased, on or before the

27th day of May, A.D., 1897

their names, addresses and descriptions, and full particulars and proof of their claims and demands against the said estate and the nature of the securities, if any, held by them.

And notice is hereby further given that after the said 27th day of May, A. D., 1897, the said administrator will proceed to administer the estate and distribute the assets of the estate of the said Geo, Johnson, deceased, among the parties entitled thereto, having regard only to the claims of which the administrator shall then have had notice, and the said administrator shall not be liable for the said assets or any part thereof to any person or persons, of whose claim, notice shall not have been received at the time of such distribution.

MORDEN & RUTTAN,
Solicitors for Administrator, Wm. Kendall,

Dated at Napanee, this 26th of April, A.D., 1897.

FOR SALE.

One of the most conveniently located farms in the County of Prince Edward being composed of parts of lot 2 and 3 containing 96 acres in 1st concession Military Tract Township Hallowell located in the western part of the Village of Bloomfield. On these premises are a modern brick house, good barn, drive house, and hop house all in first-class repair. Soil clay loam, about 8 acres hardwood bush, 15 acres in hay, well watered, stream living water running across centre of the farm, young orchard bearing trees, and 5 acres in hops.

The place will be sold at a bargain and intending purchasers should investigate before buying a farm elsewhere. For further particulars apply to JAMES JACKSON, proprietor,
AMOS H. BAKER, Picton, Ont.

TENDERS WANTED.

Sealed tenders for the building of a brick house in School Section No. 15, North Fredericksburgh, will be received up to 1st day of June, 1897.

The building will be similar to the Riverside school, Deseronto Road. Particulars may be obtained from C. HAMBLY,
A. CUMMINGS,
W. B. EDGAR,
Trustees.

22c

DENBIGH, ABINGER AND ASHBY

Court of Revision.

Notice is hereby given that the Court of Revision for the Municipality of Denbigh, Abinger and Ashby, will be held on Saturday, May 29th, 1897

at 10 o'clock in the forenoon at the house of Mr. John Gilmour, Venachar.

PAUL STEIN,
Township Clerk.

Denbigh, May 10th, 1897.

AMHERST ISLAND.

Court of Revision.

The Court of Revision for the Township of Amherst Island will be held in the Town Hall at Stella, on Thursday, May 27th, 1897,

at the hour of 10 o'clock in the forenoon.

Parties interested will please take notice and govern themselves accordingly.

WILLIAM H. MOUTRAY,
Clerk of the Court.

Dated at Stella. May 10th, 1897.

TOWN OF NAPANEE.

Court of Revision

Notice is hereby given that a Court for the hearing of appeals against the assessment of the Town of Napanee for the year 1897, will be held in the Council Chamber, Napanee on

Wednesday, May 26th, 1897

at 10 o'clock a.m.

J. E. HERRING,
Town Clerk.

Napanee, May 13th, 1897.

Miss Mary Trickey died at Colebrook last week.

Hood's Pills are the best family cathartic and liver medicine. Gentle, reliable sure.

CRUEL SCIATICA.

Incessant Pain — Tormented—Racked —Life Despaired of.

John Marshall, Varney, P.O., Co. of Grey, writes these strong words: for two years I was completely laid up with sciatica. I doctored without any permanent relief. I had given up hope. A friend saw the notice of a cure of what seemed a parallel case to mine, by South American Rheumatic Cure, and knowing my little faith in the efficacy of any remedy, he procured a bottle himself and brought it to me. I took it, and, to make a long story short it saved my life. In a day or so I was out of bed, and in three days I was able to walk to Durham, a distance of four miles, to purchase another bottle. I am now entirely cured." Sold by A. W. Grange & Bro.

CASTORIA

For Infants and Children.

The fac-simile signature of Chas. H. Fletcher is on every wrapper

---

Men's Suits, worth $6, for $4.90.

THE ROB

LOVE AT FIRST

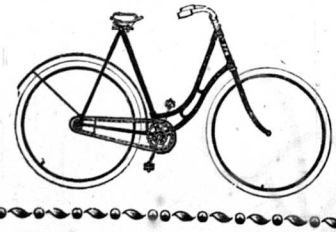
THE MASSE

MADE IN C

Why pay $20 duty on an imported Wheel when you can buy a

MASSEY-HARRIS
"SILVER RIBBON"

FOR $85



The Price to Everybody

All Cups and Cones hardened by a special positively the easiest running bearings extant.

The Massey-Ha

NAPANEE AGENCY—

class bicycle repairing a specialty. Satisfaction guarant line of Massey-Harris parts kept in stock.

W. J. N

NEE EXPRESS.

ANADA—FRIDAY, MAY 14, 1897. $1 per Year in advance; $1.50 if not so paid.

Palace

this store's business. One success serves simply we have news of vital interest to you. New

It Will Pay You Better to Come to This Store.

s Goods here.

to choose from. You are sure to get the nicest best values. We are acknowledged to be the rth 75c. Our price 50c.

13c. and 15c. Our price 10c.
th 35c. Our price 24c.
Our price 48c.

summer would be without these beauty spots. nities, Mulls and Swisses. They are all here and ial.

15c.

s Skin. We guarantee our Cotton Hosiery to special.

al, 15c. per pair.
price 15c.

You.

orset and consult with our Corset Sale's people. he faults lie and we will guarantee that if you fectly and wear well.

or Post Card.

r any of the special values provided there are ey back if goods are in good condition when ints, worth 12½c., our price 9½c.

pecial, at 10c. per yard.
Boys' Suits at $1.48, worth $2.25.
lefs, special, 6 for 25c.
l; special, 75c. and $1.
pecial, at $9, all wool.
Men's Ties, special 2 for 25c.

Building Material of all Kinds.

FOR SALE AT REASONABLE PRICES.

Headquarters for Lumber of all kinds, Shingles, Lath, Doors, Sash, Monldings, Portland Ceme Water Lime, Plaster Paris, Apple Barrels, Land Plaster, Porus T Windsor Salt, Coal, Wood and Charcoal.

Use our pressed Brick for your house and chimney, as cheap as any, and the best. Get our prices before purchasing.

THE RATHBUN CO'Y

Yard and office foot of Centre St. R. SHIPMAN, Agent.

NEWS FROM THE COUNTRY.

SELBY.

Farmers all complain of the late spring, some of them are just starting seeding.

Miss Laura Dean was visiting at Mr. John Hudgins on Sunday, Thos. Winters was also a guest.

Miss Gertie Miller was visiting at Mr. Anson Rose's on Sunday.

The Concert Club has decided to give its concert Saturday night, May 22nd it will be for the benefit of the Indian Famine Relief fund, this is a good object, and as the boys are well and favorably known there will no doubt be a good attendance.

Miss Ida Dafoe has returned to Watertown for the summer.

The Wonder of the Age. DEAR SIRS, —I must honestly say that I have tried your valuable medicine B. B. B. for the disease called prairie itch, and have found this remedy to be the wonder of the age. I took only three bottles and to my great satisfaction was completely cured, I can highly recommend it to all who suffer from any skin disease or impurity of the blood.

HAROLD DIX,
Rat Portage, Ont.

BELL ROCK.

Farmers have just commenced sowing as the spring has not been as favorable as they at first anticipated.

Fred Carr's house was burned but most of the contents were saved.

The cheese factory is running full blast with Will Stewart of Toledo, Ont. as maker and his brother Claude as assistant.

R. J. Brooks is working at Hartington cheese factory for the season.

Herbert Glover late of Ardoch is teaching here in the place of his brother Will till the summer holidays.

The Rathbun Co's drive of logs are at first lake and one of their gangs of men will camp here this week.

A commercial traveller coming into our work shop the other day and seeing the number of customers' watches we had on hand said that we did as much repairing business as the other two shops together. F. Chinneck personally oversees the repair department and guarantees satisfaction. F. CHINNECK'S JEWELLERY STORE.

HAY BAY.

Seeding is not progressing very rapidly.

Miss Allie Williams is very ill. Dr. Ward is in attendance.

We have now and then a horse trade to brighten up our ideas. What is the cause of it I wonder? Trade boys, and you will soon find out.

Ed. McCabe has purchased the White horse from Thomas Huffman. Its a dandy.

Prayor meetings are held in the Union Church every Thursday evening. Come ealy and secure a seat.

Parry Brown travels west every morning bound for Bartletts factory, while at the same time Almon Williams also travels east for the same purpose. Milk drawing seems to be a nice thing for young men as their darling's residence lies between the starting places and the factories.

Wm. Hambly of Bethany, spent Sunday last at J. T. Parks, Esq., of this place.

Fred Sherman left last week for British Columbia. Dr. Ward of Napanee, purchased his farm.

DENBIGH.

The weather has been rather wet and cold lately and the spring seeding has been rather retarded thereby. Our farmers intend to sow a larger amount of spring grain than usual and to plant a great deal more ensilage corn than heretofore.

The Denbigh cheese factory started operations on the third inst. Jas. Duncan has been engaged as cheesemaker for this season.

F. Burrows P. S. I. made one of his official visits to our school, and was again well pleased with the general condition of our schools.

Mrs. Paul Stein died after a long and paintul illness, which she bore with great patience and christian fortitude on the 30th ult, at the age of 49 yeas, 2 months and 11 days. The funeral took place at the Lutheran cemetery on the afternoon of Sunday 3rd inst. The Rev. F. W. Shneider preached a very impressive Sermon in German, and also one in Englisn on Rev. XVI 13.

Wm. Warlich has sold his farm to Erdman Bernatt and has gone to Wisconsin to make his fortune Hugh Shoeneich has leased his farm to Frank Rodgers for a term of two years.

Richard Mieske has gone to look for suitable and remunerative employment to Rochester N. Y., and his brother Eugene Miesks has accepted a situation in New York city.

Visitors at the Parsonage: Miss Christian Labrader of Alleghany city, Pa., sister of Mrs. F. W. Schneider.

THAT HACKING COUGH can be quickly cured by Hagyard's Pectoral Balm. Price 25c.

MILL HAVEN.

As we have had so much rain this spring the farmers are not through sowing yet.

Miss A. Partridge, of Ottawa, spent a few days with her aunt Mrs. Jas. Franklin.

Our pastor, Rev. Mr. Currie, was calling around one day last week. He intends starting Sunday School here next Sunday. Service in the school house afternoon and evening here next Sunday.

Mr. John Bell, of Westbrook, spent Sunday here with friends.

Mr. T. Rainworth, of Belleville, was visiting at Mr. George Miller's last week.

Mr, and Mrs. W. J. Lee and daughter Ethel, spent a couple of days at Mrs. J. Flemings'.

Mr. James Fleming has purchased a new buggy and Mr. Chas. Forward has had his renovated.

Miss Ethel Fleming and Miss B. Henderson were visiting friends in Collinsby Saturday.

Mr. B. Amey is visiting friends in Napanee.

Mrs. C. Collier left on Tuesday for Empey Hill to attend the funeral of her father, Mr. Geo. Demorest.

Quite a number of bicyclists from Kingston passed through here on Sunday.

Miss Mary Urquart, of Kingston, is the guest of her sister Mrs. W. Miller.

Bronchitis Cured. Miss Maggie Griffin, 37 Metcalf Street, Toronto, writes; "After having bronchitis and cold so badly that I could hardly speak, and could not find any remedy to relieve me, I decided to try Norway Pine Syrup. It made a complete cure, and I highly recommend it to all.

PERSONALS.

Mrs. T. Walmsley and son, Earl, have returned

0. Men's Ties. special, 2 for 25c.

BINSON CO.

High Grade Material
And Honest Workmanship.

FIRST SIGHT"

SEY-HARRIS,

IN CANADA

ıen | We never paid a dollar for racing teams, for road records, or for subsidies to fast riders. The "SILVER RIBBON" sells on its Merits.

J"

FOR $85

Every Wheel Guaranteed.

ıpecial process, which renders them, when completed,

-Harris Co., Ltd., Toronto.

Y--- Repair Shop, Warerooms, and Bicycle Livery Dundas street, sign of the Golden Wheel. First-uaranteed. Wheels for hire at Reasonable Rates. A full

. NORMILE, AGENT.

KINGSFORD.

Seeing that the old correspondent has taken a rest I will endeavor to send you a few items to let you know Kingsford is a place of importance. It contains many great buildings, viz: general store and post office owned by J. B. Gordon, a saw mill owned by T. A. Gordon, two blacksmith shops owned by Peter Doyle and James McHenry, a church and half a dozen houses. Friday was Arbor Day. The teacher and pupils deserve praise for the good work which was taken in cleaning up their school yard.

Misses Maudy and Maysel Gordon, of Lonsdale, spent Saturday with Mr. and Mrs. Gordon.

W. J. Matchell and wife, of Kennebec, spent Friday in this vicinity.

On Friday Mrs. Abbott had a stroke, on the following day seemed no better and on Sunday passed peacefully away to realms of delight where pain cannot annoy. The funeral took place on Tuesday and was largely attended.

Mr. Geo. Demorest departed this life on Tuesday last. His remains were put in the vault on Wednesday.

NEWBURGH,

Mr. Editor, the sun is just coming over the hill tops. What do I behold written on its face? The events of another week which I must make known.

The farmers in this section of the country are almost through with spring work.

Lecture to be given in the Presbyterian church Friday evening, by Rev. Alfred Gandier. Subject—Land of William Tell. All that have heard Rev. Gandier will no doubt be pleased with his lecture.

Miss Mabel Keller has gone to Croydon.

Mr. Elton York returned home last Friday evening after an extended visit of one month.

Miss Sophia Gandier was married on Wednesday evening to Prof. Falconer. They start Friday morning for Europe on their wedding trip.

Our painters work 13 hours a day.

Mr. Finkle is rushing business.

Mr. Editor what would you think if two young men, and two young ladies standing on the walk talking. And two other young ladies get behind a house and listen to what was going on among the company.

Mr. Finkle has two new wood workers. Anyone wanting clothes made, go to G. Rowilson's, he has a new cost maker.

Prospects this year for a good Tennis Club look good,

Mr. Huffman and Mr. York spent Sunday night in Camden East.

"Numberless as the Sands of Thomas Mills."

Quite an excitement was caused over last weeks correspondent. Mr. Editor I think you can say I am clear of last weeks items.

Mr. Editor, I think we will organize a Ladies' Base Ball team. Playing every night down by grandma's.

One of our old residents passed peacefully away on Friday night, in the person of Mr. M. Ryan Sr. Funeral held at Centreville Sunday.

Quarterly service of the Presbyterian circuit to be held in Camden East Sunday at 2 p.m.

Who got left on Sunday night?

The boys have a good base ball team.

Sons of Temperance meet next Tuesday evening.

Mr. G. Janes has gone to work again.

E. W. Stickney has purchaced a new wheel from G. Caton.

Mr. D. Hooper spent Sunday last in Napanee.

Mr. Finkle has purchased Mr. Russell's handsome grey team.

Mr. E J. Madden sold one of his horses to F. Bicknell.

Winnie Whalen remains very low.

Miss Mary Whalen came home on Wednesday.

Mr. G. Shane leaves for Syracuse.

Mr. S. Files has returned to our town.

Rumor says a wedding soon.

BICYCLES—See our display Saturday. We can give you the cheapest and best $60 wheel ever offered, the only wheel at the price using weldless tubing, all other cheap wheels have brazed tubing. In stock. Triump, Perfect, Dominion, Garden City, Night Hawk, Skylark, Leader, Phoenix, and the celebrated Cleveland. Boyle & Son.

A Voice from Virden. GENTLEMEN,—I have used Hagyard's Yellow Oil for the past ten years, and find it a splendid remedy for colic, neuralgia, bronchitis, croup, pains in the back, ulcerated and sore throat, sprains, chilblains, etc., in fact we use it for almost every pain, and it always relieves quickly. I can safely say I know of no other remedy of the sort that can equal it. We always keep a good stock in the house.

MRS. J. I. MADGE,
Virden, Man.

PERSONALS.

Mrs. T. Walmsley and son, Earl, have returned to Gretna after visiting friends in the States.

Fred Adous, Reidville, is seriously ill.

Willet Amey, of Moscow, is about recovered from his recent illness.

Mr. and Mrs. A. Smith, of Moscow, are about recovered from their recent illness.

Mr. Sidney Huffman, Enterprise, is confined to the house through illness.

Mrs. Benj. Files and Mrs. Simmons, of Watertown, are visiting friends in this vicinity.

Martin Switzer, sr., Enterprise, is critically ill.

Mrs. Alex Stewart has returned to her home at Wellington after an extended visit with her daughter, Mrs. Thos. Brown, Centre St.

James Smith, South Napanee, is at the Kingston Hospital receiving treatment for cancer.

Miss Carrie Lee has returned to her home at Cherry Valley.

Miss Marjorie Vance left last week for Watertown.

Mrs. D. S. Houck and niece, Miss Ethel, of Picton, have been visiting in town.

Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Hanley have returned from New York.

Miss Annie Rankin has been visiting her uncle, Mr. Chas. Emery, Robt. St.

Mr. Canniff Ham has returned after spending the winter at Howard, N. Y.

Mr. Frank Empey is spending a few days in town.

Mr. F. K. Baker, of Bath, has assumed the managership of the Walker House, Toronto.

D. W. Allison, Esq., ex-M.P., Adolphustown, is almost recovered from his recent indisposition.

Dr. Gandier, of Newburgh, has located at at Sherbrooke, where he has dicided to practice his profession.

Mrs. Detlor, of London, is visiting in town.

Mr. James Weese, of Croydon, was in town on Saturday.

Mrs. Fred Wilson, of Glenora, has been visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Rose.

D. J. Woodcock has returned to his home at Philadelphia.

The Rev. D. O. Crossley was granted a two weeks leave of absence by the congregation and left for Clifford Spring on Friday of last week where he will be treated for rheumatism. His daughter, Ethel, accompanied him.

Major Perry, of the Northwest Mounted Police, was in town on Wednesday visiting his parents. The major will have command of the mounted police choosen to attend the Queen's jubilee at London.

Mr. E. M. Baker, manager of the Walker House, Toronto, was in town this week.

Miss Grace Huffman is at the Kingston Hospital where she is being treated for rheumatism.

Dr. Kennedy, of Bath, was in town on Wednesday.

Judge Wilkison held division Court at Kingston on Wednesday.

J. P. Hanley arrived from New York on Saturday much improved in health.

W. H. Markle is visiting in town.

Master Walter Root, of Napanee, is spending a couple of weeks in Picton.

Mrs. Williams, of Toronto, is visiting her mother, Mrs. Allen, of Napanee.

J. S. Hayden Esq., of Camden East, and B. S. O'Laughlin, of Yarker, were in Napanee on Friday.

James M. Lapum left for Syracuse on Monday last.

Miss Myers, of Cornwall, is visiting Miss Bay Macdonald, Napanee.

Mr. and Mrs. Thos. Caton, of Thorpe, and S. D. Clarke, Esq., of Odessa, were visiting Mr. Warner, John St., on Thursday.

B. B. Shibley and wife, Sperry Shibley and wife, Mr. H. Neilson, Robt. Miller, Ezra H. Clark, Wellington Babcock, L. L. Gallagher, Wesley Parrot, Ruggles Storms and Isaac McElver were attending court in Napanee on Thursday.

We notice by Tuesday's Globe that at a piano recital at the Conservatory of music, Toronto, on Monday evening Miss Sarah A. C. P. Deroche, rendered a selection, "Rubenstein's Romance," E flat, which reflected credit on the skill and musical ability of the performer.

BIRTHS.

ATKINS—At Yarker, the wife of Mr. F. Atkins of a daughter.

REID—At Reidville, the wife of Mr. John W. Reid of a son.

JACKSON—At Enterprise, the wife of Mr. O. C. Jackson of a son.

DEATHS.

STEIN—At Denbigh, April 30th, Anna Helena Marquardt, beloved wife of Paul Stein, aged 49 years 2 months and 11 days.

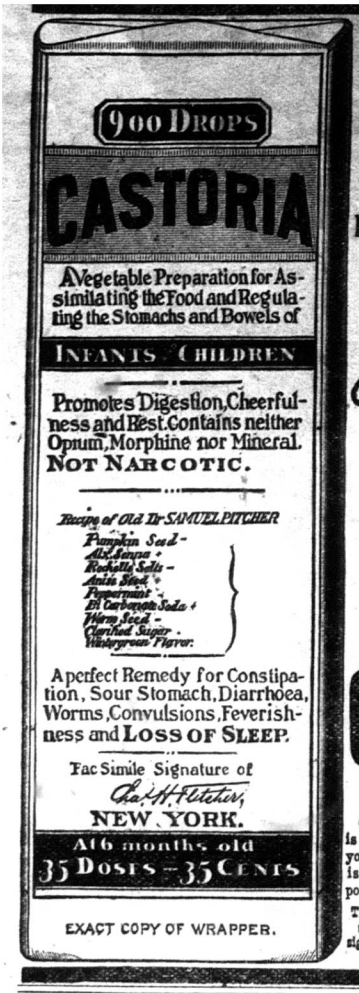
AGENTS. "The Best Popular Life of Her Majesty I have ever seen," writes Lord Lorne, about "Queen Victoria." Sales unprecedented. Easy to make five dollars daily. Big commission. Outfit free to canvassers.

THE BRADLEY-GARRETSON CO., Toronto.

100% Better. Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills are curing heart and nerve troubles in every city, town and village in Canada. Mrs. F. Abbey, Toronto, says, "Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills cured my husband who had for fifteen years suffered with weak nerves caused by heart trouble. He was subject to pains in his head, dizziness, fainting spells, sleeplessness etc. He is now free from these troubles, and feels 100% better than when he began using the pills."

CASTORIA.

The fac-simile signature of Chas. H. Fletcher is on every wrapper.



EXACT COPY OF WRAPPER.

SEE THAT THE FAC-SIMILE SIGNATURE —OF— Chas. H. Fletcher IS ON THE WRAPPER OF EVERY BOTTLE OF

CASTORIA

Castoria is put up in one-size bottles only. It is not sold in bulk. Don't allow anyone to sell you anything else on the plea or promise that it is "just as good" and "will answer every purpose." See that you get C-A-S-T-O-R-I-A.

The fac-simile signature of Chas. H. Fletcher is on every wrapper.

The Dominion Bank
ESTABLISHED 1871.

CAPITAL — $1,500,000.00
RESERVE FUND — $1,450,000.00

Deposits received and interest allowed. Drafts on all parts of Great Britain and United States bought and sold.

E. H. BAINES, Agent.

THE - MERCHANTS - BANK
OF CANADA
Head Office, — Montreal
Capital paid up, $6,000,000
Surplus, $3,000,000
INTFREST AT CURRENT RATES PAID ON DEPOSITS.
A GENERAL BANKING BUSINESS TRANSACTED.

W. A. BELLHOUSE,
Manager, Napanee Branch

EPPS'S COCOA
ENGLISH BREAKFAST COCOA
Possesses the following Distinctive Merits:
DELICACY OF FLAVOR
SUPERIORITY IN QUALITY.
Grateful and Comforting to the Nervous or Dyspeptic.
NUTRITIVE QUALITIES UNRIVALLED.
In Quarter-Pound Tins Only.
Prepared by JAMES EPPS & Co., Ltd, Homœopathic Chemists, London, England.

Provincial Building and Loan Association, Toronto.

Local Advisory Board at Napanee

The Napanee Express

NAPANEE, FRIDAY, MAY 14th, 1897.

THE American nation wants peace, but the Senate favors war.

THE tory party will soon have to adjourn for want of a quorum!—Globe.

THE Toronto World naively asks—"Is there anything left for Liberals to take?"

YOUR modern Greek, like our Canadian M. P., may be able to hold a railway pass.

MR. WILSON says that "free corn strikes my riding." He neglected to add "in the right spot."

THE Dingley bill does not benefit the American, but it injures the Canadian farmer. The Canadian farmer can stand it, however.

THE Ex-president of the Red Parlor thinks the new tariff has gone to a most dangerous length in the direction of free trade. The manufacturers didnt prepare the brief this time.

THE red rose was much in evidence in the House of Commons on the evening of May 11th, Mr. Tarte presented a flower to all the members of the Liberal side and to the Liberal members of the press gallery.

PARLIAMENT will be requested to enact that the age for the protection of girls and women be raised to 21 years. The suggestion comes from the Methodists of Amherstburg and will in all probability be acted upon.

MR. WILSON'S SPEECH.

After carefully perusing the member for Lennox's speech on the budget debate we have arrived at the conclusion that if the government would reimpose the duty of 7½c a bushel on corn Mr. Wilson would be content to "make it unanimous." While Mr. Wilson went out of his way to pay his tribute to the departed greatness of the N. P. he also had a measure of praise for the policy of the Reform Government. In a word Mr. Wilson praised the policy but censured the Government for the alleged non-fulfillment of their promises. The member for Lennox quoted numerous extracts from the campaign speeches of Reformers where they had put themselves on record as favoring a free trade policy for Canada. He contended that the Government had broken faith with the people and gone back on their promises in not inaugurating a free trade policy. In support of this he quoted the following from a speech delivered by Mr. Laurier at Newmarket in 1893:

I will not be satisfied until the last vestige of protection has been removed from the soil of Canada. This is the aim toward which we are progressing, the aim which we have in view, and we will not rest until we have achieved that object. When that will be, I do not profess to know, but, at all events, I say that the Reformers of Canada have reforms to carry out, but that our great reform is to put away from the soil of Canada the last vestige of protection.

We believe that this is the aim of the Reform party. It is retarded by the maladminstration and the legacy of debt and obligations left behind by the late government, but, as Sir Richard Cartwright pointed out, the ship's head is now pointed towards the open sea, the new tariff has rung the death knell of protection and rung in the chance of federating the empire on a solid and secure basis.

The goal toward which the Liberals are travelling is that of free trade. They have broken no promises nor do we believe they will. The platform adopted by the National Liberal Convention at Ottawa in June 1893 has been honestly adhered to. The new tariff, if studied carefully, is substantially a revenue tariff. The protective features of the N. P. tariff have been in many cases eliminated and the pernicious specific duties abolished. So long as a revenue is raised by duties the duties cannot help but prove to some extent protective. We are pleased to see that Mr. Wilson favors the preferential clause and is willing to give every reasonable preference to the mother country. He dosen't believe it should apply to the United States, however. Of course Mr. Wilson is entitled to his own opinion, but apart from sentiment it cannot but be admitted that ingress to the markets of the United States would be of immense advantage to the farmers of Canada and especially so to the farmers of the Bay of Quinte district.

It was not to be expected that a member of the opposition would practically endorse the Government's policy. Although it may meet with his approval it is customary to single out some particular feature for condemnation. Mr. Wilson was singularly unfortunate in his choice when he selected "free corn" as a target on which to score the Government. There is perhaps no item in the new tariff which meets with more approval among the farmers of his constituency. Mr. Wilson's plea that it will reduce the price of coarse grain is not well taken and shows at once that his knowledge of the needs of the farmer is limited. Intelligent and wide awake agriculturalists do not, as a rule, grow coarse grain for sale, having long ago recognized that it is in keeping and feeding it on the farm that the profit lies. Corn will not be imported into Canada unless the farmer finds it to his interest so to do, and the plea that it should be restricted by a heavy duty is on a par with the N. P. which was framed on the

Biliousness
Is caused by torpid liver, which prevents digestion and permits food to ferment and putrify in the stomach. Then follow dizziness, headache,

Hood's Pills
insomina, nervousness, and, if not relieved, bilious fever or blood poisoning. Hood's Pills stimulate the stomach, rouse the liver, cure headache, dizziness, constipation, etc. 25 cents. Sold by all druggists. The only Pills to take with Hood's Sarsaparilla.

WILLIAMS ACQUITTED.

THE END OF THE TYNER MANSLAUGHTER CASE.

QUEEN VS. WILLIAMS.—Everett Williams who was charged with unlawfully slaying Frank Tyner, of the township of Sheffield on or about the 20th day of December pleaded not guilty. Mr. Riddell, crown prosecutor said this case was what was commonly called manslaughter. He explained the difference between manslaughter and murder. Anyone guilty of causing the death of another by negligence, although not intending to kill, was guilty of manslaughter. The facts of the case as explained by Mr. Riddell are as follows:

A young boy named Frank Tyner, a waif and stray was adopted by John Tyner, of Sheffield. Everet Williams on Xmas, 1895, made up his mind to have some fun with the boy. He purchased a bottle of whiskey in Tamworth and told a young boy in his employ to put a drug, which he called jalap, in the whiskey and give it to Tyner. The boy did as his employer directed him, Tyner drank the decoction and never was a well boy again. Tyner was poisoned by the overdose and despite medical aid died from the effects. It turned out that the drug administered was condition powders and contained antimony, which was fattening to animals but caused death to human beings. It was shown that Tyner's kidneys were diseased but it was admitted by the medical men that the drug hastened the boy's death. At the coroner's inquest held shortly after the death of Tyner, Coughlin, who administered the drug, was spirited away, and Williams went before the inquest and swore he did not know where the boy was, and that he did not know of any whiskey or drug being administered to Tyner. The crown prosecutor explained Coughlin's movements, and asked the jury to find in accordance with the evidence.

James Coughlin on being sworn said he was 14 years of age and lived with Everett Williams. He was at Williams on the Xmas of 1895. He was also at John Tyner's and knew Frank Tyner, but he was no relative of Tyner and didn't know what his right name was. He had some talk with Williams about Frank Tyner the day before Xmas. He was telling me what fun we could have with Frank Tyner. We could give him some jalap and it would physic him. Williams said he would give it to me to give Frank Tyner. It was to be done Xmas night. Williams hadn't the whiskey then but said he would buy it at Dowling's hotel on his way down to Tyner's. Williams got the jalap on Xmas eve and showed it to me. It was in a small paper. He bought the jalap at Mr. Rose's, a druggist in Tamworth. On Xmas morning Williams said he was going to church in Tamworth and when I got through with the chores I was to bring along the jalap and take it to Tyner's. I went to Tamworth after doing my chores and met Williams in Dowling's hotel there, after he had come from church. I went with him to the hotel shed and he gave me a pint bottle of whiskey and told me te take it to Tyner's, and put the jalap into it, and put it somewhere where Frank Tyner could get hold of it. The reason Williams gave for giving the jalap to Tyner was that he was always coaxing him for whiskey. Tyner was a little given to drink. I went to John Tyner's about 2 p.m. They were having a party there. Williams was there. Frank Tyner was at the party. Before Frank got the whiskey, I had some talk with Williams. Williams told me to put the jalap in

Napanee [redacted]

President, M. S. Madole Esq; Vice Pres., G. W. Gibbard Esq., F. W. Morris, T. D. Pruyn, J. J. Taylor, Chas. Frizzell, Dr. G. W. Edwards, W. P. Deroche. Solicitors Messrs. Deroche and Madden. Valuator, W. Embury; Sect. Treasurer and Agent, Irvine Parks.

from whom all information can be obtained. Money received on investment at good interest, and money loaned on easy terms of repayment.

Apply to I. Parks. Agent.

Cramps, Colic, Colds, Croup, Coughs, Tooth-ache,

DIARRHŒA, DYSENTERY, and all BOWEL COMPLAINTS.

A Sure, Safe, Quick Cure for these troubles is

Pain-Killer

(PERRY DAVIS'.)

Used Internally and Externally.

Two Sizes, 25c. and 50c. bottles.

VERY LARGE BOTTLES 50 CENTS.

The D. & L. Emulsion

Is invaluable, if you are run down, as it is a food as well as a medicine.

The D. & L. Emulsion
Will build you up if your general health is impaired.

The D. & L. Emulsion
Is the best and most palatable preparation of Cod Liver Oil, agreeing with the most delicate stomachs.

The D. & L. Emulsion
Is prescribed by the leading physicians of Canada.

The D. & L. Emulsion
Is a marvellous flesh producer and will give you an appetite.

50c. & $1 per Bottle

Be sure you get the genuine | DAVIS & LAWRENCE CO., LTD. MONTREAL

FRUIT & ORNAMENTAL TREES

700 ACRES.

SHRUBS, ROSES, VINES AND SEED POTATOES.

WE have the largest assortment and employ the very latest and most improved methods for propagating. All stock carefully packed under our personal supervision, and all new varieties tested at our trial farms before being catalogued. These are the only testing orchards connected with any Nursery in the Dominion.

Agents Wanted to Represent us.

Special attention given to Park, Cemetery and Boulevard orders. Estimates furnished for supplying entire orchards.

Why buy of foreign concerns or of middlemen when you can purchase as cheaply from us and get better value.

Our stock is Canadian grown and acclimated.

Catalogue (English or French) free on application.

STONE & WELLINGTON, Toronto, Ontario.

FONTHILL NURSERYMEN,

The Leading Canadian Tree Men

Cancer can be Cured. For six years I suffered from cancer, and got no relief until I used Burdock Blood Bitters. I used seven bottles faithfully, when the cancer gradually dried up and finally disappeared. I am now entirely well and rejoice that by using B. B. B. I have escaped death either from the surgeon's knife or from the cancer itself.

Signed. MRS. ELIZA J. TUFFORD,
Paris, Ont.

CASTORIA.

The fac-simile signature Castoria is on every wrapper.

THE treaty providing for the settlement by arbitration of disputes with Great Britian has been rejected by the Senate of the United States. Twisting the lion's tail has too great a fasination for Yankee Senators to admit of their ratifying such a treaty.

ANOTHER evidence of the deadly effect of tobacco is reported from Houghton township, Norfolk county. Mrs. Stephens, who had used tobacco all her life, died there recently, aged 112 years.

AN era of P's was ushered in on the 23rd of June—peace, progress and prosperity—and the Toronto World has supplemented it by putting in a new press. The World in its new form is neater, better printed, and as newsy as ever. The World is among our most welcome exchanges and we are pleased at the evident progress and prosperity attending it.

THE elections in Quebec on May 11th were simply an eye-opener. Mr. Flynn went to the electors with a majority of 20, and has been left in a minorty of of 36! The questions before the people were—financial reform—educational improvements—the Manitoba school settlement—and the freedom of the elector to vote grit or tory—just as he liked—without clerical interference. Mr. Flynn was himself defeated in Gaspe, which he has represented for 20 years, his last majority being no less than 702. A young journalist of Montreal, Mr. Charles Marcil undertook to run against Flynn and by last reports is elected by a majority of 6. The whole Dominion is apparently sick of Toryism.

TRUE TO THE LAST.

The History of Five Years and Its Happy Outcome.

"Five years ago I was very sick, and have remained in a feeble condition ever since. During the time I had one hemorrhage of the stomach, which left me in the poorest health possible. My heart and nerves were weak, consequently I suffered from extreme nervousness, violent fluttering of the heart; weak sinking feeling, shortness of breath, numbness of the hands, etc.

A short time ago I was advised to try Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills, and went to John A. Barr's drug store to get a box. On obtaining them I started their use, and derived so much benefit that I continued using them. I have now taken a little over three boxes, and am pleased to say they have improved my general health, strengthened the entire nervous system, and removed my heart troubles. I do not now have the fluttering of the heart, weak, sinking feeling or shortness of breath. They have restored healthy circulation of the blood and removed the numbness in my hands. I am far better than I have been since I first took sick, and it is with pleasure I recommend the use of these pills to anyone suffering as I did with heart or nerve troubles. (Signed) James Kelly, shoemaker, 75 York-street, Hamilton, Ont.

Mr. Kelly is one of the most respected and popular business men in Hamilton, having been 24 years engaged in his present occupation in that city.

Hamilton, Ont.

Messrs. T. Milburn & Co., Toronto, Ont.:

Gentlemen,—I have taken Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills for nervous debility and insomnia of long standing, and consider them by far the best remedy I know of. They have done me a great deal of good, restoring my nerves to their normal condition, thereby enabling me to get restful sleep. (Signed) Mrs. Susan C. Woodhouse, 84 Smith-avenue, Hamilton, Ont.

Laxa Liver Pills cure constipation, billiousness and sick headache. 25c.

Wanted—An Idea Who can think of some simple thing to patent? Protect your ideas; they may bring you wealth. Write JOHN WEDDERBURN & CO., Patent Attorneys, Washington, D. C., for their $1,800 prize offer the N. P. which was framed on the assumption that people didn't understand their own business. Free corn will place our farmers on an even footing with cattle raisers of the United States and will do much to stimulate the stock feeding industry here, as in a dry or off season farmers will not be apprehensive about securing supplies, as heretofore. Last year the farmers of our back townships, particularly Denbigh, were forced to let their cattle die for lack of feed owing to the ravages of the grasshoppers. Free corn would have proved a boon to those townships last winter and would not have affected the price of coarse grains a particle.

In conclusion we might add that the new tariff is particularly a farmer's tariff, it reduces the duty on everything he needs, protects him from trusts and combines, discriminates in favor of Great Britain, reduces the duty on axes, sythes, forks, spades, places binder twine and barbed wire on the free list, and practically reduces coal oil three cents a gallon. The more it is studied the better it will commend itself to the farmers.

Some Answers by London Schoolboys.

The Turkeys are killing hundreds of the Europeans.

Carlyle was a man that Mr. John Morley made a speech about.

The Pyramids is a night light. It is wax. It burns so many hours a night.

The title of the head of the Roman Catholic Church is known as Lord Rosebery, the Archbishop of Canterbury.

Soap is made up of iron, paper and lime.

Sir Henry Ponsomby was one of the Scottish chiefs.

The Armenians were discovered by the English.

Lord Rosebery's a great man on betting on horses.

Henry Irving is a great singer on theatres.

Henry Irving is a man who writes poems.

Henry Irving is a poem.

Henry Irving is the Queen's son.

Henry Irving is an Archbishop

Henry Irving is a coal merchant.

Henry Irving is a Dutchman.

Henry Irving is the greatest laughable actor.

Henry Irving keeps a sweet shop in New street.

Ear-shot means when anybody says anything very shocking.

A Yankee is a black man.

A Yankee is an animal born in Scotland.—London Daily News.

How He Did It.

Mrs Rockingham—Well, Thomas, I suppose young Mr. Uffington called upon you to-day to ask for our Laura?

Mr. Rockingham—Yes, he called.

Mrs. Rockingham—And you, of course, told him that it couldn't be.

Mr. Rockingham—No, I didn't tell him anything of the kind.

Mrs. Rockingham—What? You don't want to give our darling to such a person as that, do you?

Mr. Rockingham—Oh, no. I just told him that everything I had was mortgaged. A refusal wasn't necessary.—Cleveland Leader.

A Couple of Hints.

"You don't call on Miss Cutting any more, I hear, Blobber?"

"No."

"Did she reject you?"

"Not exactly; but when I first began calling there was a mat at the door with the word, 'Welcome' woven in it, and a motto on the wall that read, 'Let Us Love One Another.' Later I noticed that the doormat was changed for one that said, 'Wipe Your Feet,' and a motto declaring that 'Early to bed and early to rise make you healthy, wealthy and wise,' had the place of the other one."—Tit-Bits.

Proof from the People. Mr. Geo. Buskin, missionary for the International Mission in Algoma and North-West. He writes:—"I wish to say that Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry has been to me a wonderful, soothing, speedy and effectual remedy. It has been my companion for several years during the labors and exposures of my missionary work in Algoma. Well it is for old and young to have it in store against the time of need, which so often comes without warning.

GEO. BUSKIN, Missionary,
Toronto, Ont.

CASTORIA.

The fac-simile signature Castoria is on every Williams told me to put the jalap in the whiskey and hide it where Frank Tyner and Samuel Kirke would get it. The jalap and whiskey was then in my pocket. I put the drug in the whiskey about 9 o'clock at night. The bottle was not full of whiskey when I put the jalap in it. Some of the boys had had a sup out of it, and it was down within a few inches of the bottom before I put the drug in it. I put the drug in the bottle in the presence of Sam Kirke. We then called in Frank Tyner. I took a small swallow of it, handed it to Kirke who didn't take any, and he handed it to Tyner who drank all that was left, Tyner said it tasted bitter. Kirke and I went to the house and and Tyner took a horse to water. I told Williams previous to putting the jalap in the drug that my father would not let me go out of the house. Williams told me to wait until my father got up in the dance and then to go out. I did so. I saw Tyner about an hour after he took the drink. He was sitting down on a couch beside the stove. When I came up from the barn I told Willioms what I did. He laughed a little bit. I heard on New Years that Frank had been taken sick. Mrs. Tyner came over to our house to see what I had given him. I told her it was condition powders. Williams told me not to let on anything about it and I told Mrs. Tyner the first thing that came into my head. Everett Williams sent me into the back country with a horse and cutter. He sent Jimmie Younge with me. I went to Ardoch, forty or fifty miles back. I can't remember what Williams told me. When I went back Frank Tyner was not expected to live I went back to Ardoch because Jane Kirke told me at Williams' "if they didn't get me there would be nothing about it." Williams was in the room and heard what was said. Williams then sent after the horse and cutter and sent me away with Jimmie Younge. I was to stay away, Williams told me, until the trouble was over. I never denied to Williams that I gave Tyner the drug. I don't remember whether Tyner was dead or not when I left. I went to Mr. Smith's at Ardoch. Williams knew I was going to Smith's. I stopped there over a month, when a man came after me. The horse and cutter which took me to Ardoch was brought back by Jimmie Younge. Tom Kellar came after me, bnt I was at Mr. Smith's daughter's and he didn't get me. Jimmie Younges and Tom Kellar brought me back eventually with Williams' rig. They brought me to my father's house and kept me safe until the high court. I was brought up at the last court and tried for manslaughter and acquitted. His Lordship, Chief Justice Armour, then directed that Williams be arrested for the offence. Part of the time I was in Prince Edward county under the care of my father. I think the drug was wrapped in two papers.

To Mr. Deroche—Williams first spoke to me about the matter the day before Xmas. Had heard of a similar joke being played on Cavanah but did not suggest it to Williams. I and Sam Kirke thought it would be a good joke to play this trick on Frank Tyner. I have told that I got the whiskey at Sam Shields for ten cents. I told Tom Murphy that it was seven-year old rye, no common rot gut.

When Williams got the drug at Rose's the druggist told him that what would go on a five cent piece was a dose.

He didn't remember that Williams' child was sick at the time of the party. The child had been sick some time before that.

Williams was the prompter of the joke throughout.

To Mr. Riddell--I threw the papers on the barn floor and did not se them afterwards.

Samuel Kirke on being sworn said he was fourteen years of age and was related to Williams by marriage. He was at John Tyner's on Xmas night and saw the drug administered to Frank Tyner by Caughlin. He saw Caughlin put the drug in the bottle and give it to Tyner, who drank it. Tyner, after he had drank it, said it tasted bitter. Tyner asked Caughlin what he had put in it and he replied "nothing." Tyner went to the house after he got the drug. I saw him afterwards and he complained of being sick. After Caughlin got through with the papers in which the drug was wrapped he threw them down on the barn floor. The drug was of a brown color and was given to Tyner to physic him. I told Williams after the drug had been administered that Tyner was sick.

To Mr. Deroche—I saw Caughlin put the drug in the whiskey, but he didn't say where he got the jalap. Tyner was fond of whiskey.

Philip Murphy on being sworn said he

BICYCLES,

We have an elegant range of Bicycles direct from the best makers.

COLUMBIA, STEARNS, HARTFORD, UTICA AND OHIO WHEELS.

A $65.00 Wheel for $50.00.

DROP IN AND LOOK AT THEM.

NO ONE CAN UNDERSELL US IN SHOES,

SEE THEM

HAINES & LOCKETT,

4 BIG SHOE STORES

NO CREDIT. ONE PRICE.

New Spring Gent's Wear

Just opened out. New Scotch English and Canadian Suitings and Pantings, in all the Latest Patterns. Black, Blue, Brown Worsteds for Overcoatings at Popular Prices.

Nice Suits Made to Order from $12.50 Upwards

Please call before purchasing and inspect our stock

R. FORD. T. G. DAVIS.

borhood of Tyner's place. He was at Tyner's party on Xmas night. I didn't see Frank Tyner take the drink, but saw him on the barn floor trying to vomit. [illegible] the day after Xmas. He never was the same boy afterwards until he died.

[illegible] behalf as follows: I am the accused, know

JUPITER, GIANT OF PLANETS.

How It Compares With the Tiny Globe Inhabited by the Human Race.

In point of brilliancy Jupiter has only one competitor and superior among the starry hosts and that is Venus. It reached its points of opposition to the sun February 23, and now rises in the early evening, and will continue to be an evening star until the middle of August. On September 13 it will reach its point of superior conjunction. At that date it will be 575,000,000 miles from us. Its present distance is about 400,000,000 miles.

Jupiter requires about twelve years to make its journey around the sun. Therefore, if an old acquaintance of 72 here on earth had lived in Jupiter he would be a youth of 6 summers. It is a law governing the planets in their annual journey that the longer the journey the more deliberate their gait. Thus Mercury has the shortest journey, but it is a rustler, averaging about twenty-five miles a second. Our earth, with a longer trip, slackens her speed to about nineteen miles a second. Jupiter, with his long voyage before him, takes a gait of eight miles a second; Neptune, with an annual journey of more than 8,000,000,000 miles before him, as if realizing the necessity of husbanding his strength, gets down to a gait of three and a half miles a second.

Very appropriately Jupiter is known as the giant planet. It is larger than all the other planets combined. Its equatorial diameter is a little more than 88,000 miles. It is far more flattened at the poles than our earth. The equatorial and polar diameter of the latter varies only twenty-six miles, while the variation of Jupiter is 5000 miles. As its diameter is eleven times that of our earth its relative size is found by cubing eleven times, which gives up 1331.

While Jupiter is so sluggish and so much slower than the earth in its motion on its yearly journey, yet in a contest of speed in daily motion on its axis it makes the earth hide its head. It makes a complete rotation in ten hours. A point on its equator will travel a mile while a point on our equator will go about eighty yards. If a point on our equator should move with such a velocity there would be only about thirty minutes from sunrise to sunset. But there would be no one on the region of our equator to see the sun rise or set. Everything moveable in that region would be hurled off into space by centrifugal force.

Although in size Jupiter is 400 times larger, yet in relative density it is only one-fourth that of our earth. In volume it would make 1400 earths; but to make them as dense as our earth we should have a little more than 300. This lack of density on the part of Jupiter is what we might expect from the nebular hypothesis. As a rule the density of planets increases as their distance from [illegible] decreases. Though the relative density of Jupiter is so much less than that of the earth

Bishop B. W. Arnett.

SWAYS AUDIENCES WITH HIS MASTERLY ELOQUENCE.

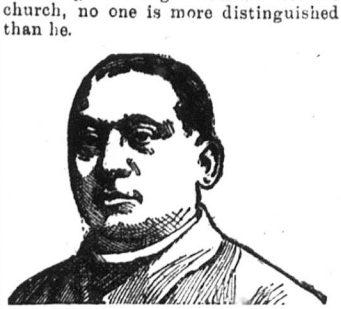
He Writes a Letter of More Than Usual Interest to Suffering Humanity.

At Wilberforce, Ohio, three miles north of Xenia and near Dayton and Springfield, is located Wilberforce University and Payne Theological Seminary.

These two institutions of learning have educated many ministers and teachers.

In this somewhat noted educational centre, resides Bishop Benjamin W. Arnett, D. D., a divine who is of especial prominence because of his thrilling eloquence with which he has swayed many audiences.

Among the high officials of the church, no one is more distinguished than he.



BISHOP B. W. ARNETT.

Before being elected bishop he was a leading minister in his church and also a very prominent Republican. He represented his county in the Ohio Legislature for several years.

Having giving this sketch of the bishop, the following testimonial from him will be found very interesting reading and fully explains itself.

To whom it may concern:

"In April, 1894, while on my way home from Philadelphia I caught a very severe cold, which soon developed into rheumatism. It was impossible for me to rest by day or sleep by night. About the first of June I was compelled to take to my bed, where I remained for some time. When I was able to get up, I could only get about by the use of crutches.

"The fall came on and the rheumatism grew worse, lasting all the shortly afterwards Tyner and I looked for the things and found two papers and a bottle. There was no liquor in the bottle but there was something in the bottle which he thought was condition powders. The papers found contained the same stuff as was in the bottle. The color was brown, and thought from the color they were condition powders. Frank Tyner took the stuff and showed it to several in the house. There was about a tablespoonful of it left in the paper. After this Tyner vomited again.

John Morrison testified that he saw the papers in the possession of Frank Tyner but doesn't remember whether there was any powder in it. He came to the conclusion from the smell that the papers had contained condition powders.

Mrs. Eleonora Tyner swore she was the wife of John Tyner, and it was at her house the boy, Frank Tyner lived. He was no relation of the family. He was a gypsy and got the name Tyner from having lived at their place. His name was Frank Golden. On the Xmas night Frank took ill. He was not very sick the next morning. After that Xmas night he didn't look as well but did not complain much. He grew gradually worse until it was found necessary to call in Dr. Clark. Frank died some time in January. He was not a strong boy. The boy had told her that his stomach had never felt right since he took the dose. His appetite failed him and he had a bad taste in his mouth after he took the dose. He grew weaker and weaker until he died.

To Mr. Deroche—Coughlin told me it was a little parcel Everett Williams gave him he had given to Tyner. He said it was condition powders or whatever Williams was feeding his horses. Tyner was about 20 years of age and had lived with them 14 years.

Dr. Clarke on being sworn said: I am a medical man practicing in Tamworth and attended the late Frank Tyner. I was consulted on the 9th of Jan. and saw him on the 10th. He was in a state of collapse and died within a few hours after I saw him. I made up my mind then but it was largely from the history of the case. His death was largely due from some irritant matter taken into the stomach and bowels.

Antimony and jalap are such an irritant. Antimony is never used for human purposes but is used for veterinary purposes. Jalap is used in small doses in human practices. An overdose of jalap would bring on inflammation. When I saw him he was almost pulseless, his color was bad and his perspiration was labored and slow. I knew he was going to die and the boy gave me the impression that he knew he was going to die. The boy said before he died that he hoped Everett Williams would suffer as much before he died as he did, as it was him who had given him the condition powders. The boy was suffering great pain over the stomach. He was not of the brightest intellectually. He assisted at the post mortem with Dr. Wilson. The autopsy was then read, which showed that the deceased had a chronic disease of the kidney. The death was accelerated by some irritant taken into the stomach.

To Mr. Deroche.—Something might have been done for the boy had he been called in at an earlier stage.

Williams' child was ill in the fall of 1895 and I attended the child.

Dr. Wilson, of Tamworth, was called and toook part with Dr. Clarke in the post mortem on the body of Frank Tyner. He substantiated Dr. Clarke's evidence.

To Mr. Deroche.—The doctor said he attended Williams' little girl in the fall of 1895, and treated her for dysentery.

Dr. Northmore, of Bath, saw the post mortem and agreed with Drs. Clarke and Wilson as to the cause of death. The irritant administered was the immediate cause of death.

Daniel P. Rose testified that he was a druggist in Tamworth. He sold condition powders and they contained 16 per cent of antimony. They also contained sulphite of iron, 12 per cent. Don't remember having sold jalap to Williams.

Mr. Riddell tendered the evidence given by Williams at the coroner's inquest. Williams having being cautioned that any evidence he might give might be used against him in any subsequent trial. The judge refused to receive the evidence.

This closed the case for the crown. The case for the defence was opened by John Tyner who testified that Frank Tyner lived with him. He remembered the night of the party. Frank worked the next day and for four or five days afterwards, he didn't seem as well as usual but did not complain to him of being ill. He complained of being ill the day before New Year's.

To Mr. Riddell—Knew the boy was sick the winter of 1895. Caughlin suggested to me that it would be a great joke to take some jalap up to Tyner's and give Frank Tyner a dose similar to what the boys at Evansville had given a boy named Cavanah. I never said much about it. My child was quite sick and it was found necessary to give her a purgative and as she could not take oil my wife and mother suggested that I get some jalap for the child. Xmas eve I bought some jalap at Rose's drug store. I left it in my coat and told my wife when I got home that she would find it there. She gave some of it to the child on Xmas morning. We left for Tamworth in the morning and Caughlin was to follow after he had done the chores. The prisoner wore that he did not give Caughlin any jalap. He might have given him some whiskey but if so he didn't remember about it. Williams said the way the boy happened to go to Ardoch was because the people had got around his wife that Caughlin had told such stories that if they didn't send the boy he would make a widow woman of her. He was opposed to the boy going away.

To Mr. Riddell.—He was 38 years of age and knew the nature of an oath. He gave evidence before the coroner's inquest. The crown prosecutor read the evidence given by Williams at the inquest. It contradicted the story told by Williams in some essential particulars.

Mary Ann Coughlin was at Tyners on the night of the party and saw her step son James Coughlin then. She testified that Williams had told Coughlin to go out and see to the horses. Her evidence did not throw any new light on the subject.

Mrs. Everett Williams an intelligent and pretty woman testified she was the wife of the prisoner. Remembered the little girl being ill and in consequence her husband got some jalap for the child. Gave the child a dose of it Xmas morning. She and her husband and Caughlin went to the party at Tyner's on Xmas and heard her husband tell the boy to go out and attend the horses. Mrs. Williams related the circumstances attending the sending of Caughlin to Ardoch. Her husband had nothing to do with sending the boy to Ardoch.

Mr. Deroche made an eloquent plea for the acquittal of his client.

Mr. Riddell followed in an able address and his honor charged the jury to find in accordance with the evidence. The jury brought in a verdict of not guilty.

The judge in discharging the prisoner gave an impressive warning against playing practical jokes.

Little Sister—What's the diff'rence 'tween 'lectric'try an' lightnin'?

Little Brother—You don't have to pay nuthin' fur lightnin'.—Detroit Free Press.

"Please, ma'am, won't you read the letter?"

The voice was that of a little boy, by whose side stood a smaller child carrying a basket upon his arm. The lady addressed took the note and read: "Good person, please give these starving little ones—fatherless and motherless—a penny."

The reader regarded the beggars with tearful eyes as she inquired, in a voice choked with emotion: "Who wrote this note for you, children?"

With a smile of expectancy the elder answered, suavely, "Me muvver, ma'am!"—London Tit-Bits.

SHOW THEM UP TO THE PUBLIC

As the public—particularly the ladies—are so often swindled by profit-loving merchants and dealers, it is well that people should have an example of what is done in the sale of certain package dyes for home dyeing.

The makers of common and adulterated package dyes sell their crude colors to the retail merchants at a cost of four cents per packet, and the public who buy these deception dyes are made to pay ten cents for them. A handsome profit indeed for Mr. Storekeeper! No wonder he uses every endeavor to sell and substitute his poor dyes for the famous and reliable Diamond Dyes.

The Diamond Dyes, that all live and honorable dealers in Canada handle and sell, cost a good deal more money, yet the public get them for ten cents, which only allows the dealer a fair profit.

But mark the difference, ladies! The cheap dyes are really worthless, and are made for the profit of the manufacturer and the dealer, while Diamond Dyes are made for the profit, pleasure and blessing of every home dyer.

yet because of its greater mass the attractive force for bodies on its surface is far greater than on our earth. Thus, if a girl of 16 should weigh 100 pounds here, if transferred to Jupiter she would draw the scales at 260 pounds. Unless we were differently constituted dancing on Jupiter would prove a wearisome sport.

It may interest some young readers to know how we ascertain the comparative weight of a body on the surface of Jupiter. Gravity, or weight, is directly according to the mass and inversely as the square of the distance. The distance in such a calculation is the distance from the surface to the center of the planet. The mass of Jupiter is 316 times that of the earth. From this point alone a body would weigh 316 times as much on the surface of Jupiter as on the earth. But the matter of distance changes this very materially. From surface to center Jupiter is eleven times greater than our earth. The square of this gives us 121. Here, you see, the earth has the decided advantage. If distance alone be considered, an object on our earth would weigh 121 times more than on Jupiter. We obtain the relative surface gravity by dividing, which gives us about two and two-thirds in favor of Jupiter.—Chicago Chronicle.

Walking the Best Exercise.

Although English girls ride, drive, "go in" for tennis and even cricket, they with one accord acknowledge that they owe more to their long tramps across country than to all else combined. There are but two requisites to make a two-mile tramp, even for a novice, the most desirable, healthful exercise in the world; comfortable, low-heeled shoes and a short skirt. Surely these two essentials are possible for every girl in either the city or country. If so, then every girl who does not promptly brighten up her complexion and strengthen her muscles, even if it involves the sacrifice of a half-hour's morning sleep, has only herself to blame.

One young woman who has both horses and bicycle at her command, but who suffered constantly from insomnia, was ordered by her physician to walk at least one mile every day. So loath was she to begin what she considered "such an undertaking" that her fond parents finally bribed her by offering the financial consideration of 50 cents a mile. After six months of daily tramps the pedestrian ceased taking the bribe and had begun to feel that the walk was, on the contrary, worth paying for, so great was the benefit received.

For girls who have plenty of leisure it is a most charming pastime to get up pedestrian parties and visit places of interest during the summer, tramping for half a day, then resting and recuperating for the morrow. This method of spending a vacation possesses the double merit of improving the health and leaving the pocketbook in robust condition.—Philadelphia Record.

Remarkable Snake Story.

The latest snake story comes from South Africa. It is recorded in The Transvaal, published in Cape Town, as cold fact, that in Sekukiniland a native ran across a boa constrictor measuring about 47 feet, which had just swallowed a young koodoo buck all except the horns, says The London Times. The horns stuck out on each side of the reptile's mouth. The native recognized the horns as those of a buck he owned, and he ran and got sticks and pinned the serpent, which was dormant, to the ground. Then he got hold of the horns and pulled and twisted. He got the buck out inch by inch until half his body showed, and then it came with a jerk, and the boy fell over on his back. Before he had time to think, the snake, relieved of its load of mutton, was upon him, and it seized his head in its mouth and in three minutes the native had taken the place of the buck, only he was all inside; there was nothing left to pull out even if a rescuer had come along. Having swallowed the boy, the boa deliberately swung its head around and grabbing its tail swallowed eight feet of it, then closing the mouth and throat down which the native had disappeared, and making escape absolutely possible. The Transvaal vouches for the truth of the story.

DR. LOW'S PLEASANT WORM SYRUP removes worms of all kinds from children or adults.

Nature's Medicine. Nature's Medicine for constipation, liver complaint, sick headache, billiousness, jaundice and sallow complexion is Laxa Liver Pills. They are a perfect laxative, never griping or giving pain. One pill each night for 30 days will cure constipation.

the winter of '94 and '95. I suffered as I never suffered before. I thought that the spring would bring me relief, but it did not, consequently I was forced to cancel a number of engagements to speak.

"One day in June, 1895, my wife said, 'Bishop, I read so much about Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, suppose you try them and see if they will not help you?'

"I said, 'No, there is no use of getting them for we have tried almost everything that has been recommended to us, and none of the remedies suggested seem to help my case.

"She said no more, but went to Xenia, Ohio, and bought a box of the pillls. On her return she gave me a dose at noon and another at night. She was only called one time to attend to me during the night.

"For months previous she had been called three or four times during the night. The next day I took three doses of the pills, and the second night I was not disturbed. My wife, for the first time in more than ten months, had a good night's sleep.

"I have not lost a night's sleep since that time on account of the rheumatism. I carry a box of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills in my pocket wherever I go.

"I cheerfully bear testimony and hope that others may find relief as I did. I have recommended Dr. Williams' Pink Pills to several people.

"Yours for God and Man.

BENJAMIN W. ARNETT."

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills cure by going to the root of the disease. They renew and build up the blood, and strengthen the nerves, thus driving disease from the system. Avoid imitations by insisting that every box you purchase is enclosed in a wrapper bearing the full trade mark, Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People.

Cause and Effect.

"'Ave yer 'eard Bill's landed for three years 'ard?"

"What for?"

"Sneezin'."

"Wot yer givin' us? Sneezin'!"

"Well, 'e was crackin' a crib, an' 'e snoze an' woke the bloke up."—Pick-Me-Up.

PILL POINTS.

Dr. Agnew's Liver Pills are a Purely Vegetable Compound—A Scientific Studied Formula—The After Effects of the of Medicine have Given as Much Consideration as the Immediate Results.

Not so with Many of the Ancient Formulas—Painful Purgers and no Healing Powers. Think of These Points.

If you must use medicine, look for the most pleasant, safest and surest to take. Dr. Agnew's Liver Pills are supreme in cases of Sick Headache, Billiousness, Sallow Skin, Constipation, etc.

Cheapside.

This week we opened out new Carpets and Hosiery which have been in bond at custom house for some time expecting that the new tariff would be reduced from former charges. We have not been disappointed, and are now prepared to give very special value in

Black Cotton Hose

"Hermsdorf Dye" both in Women's and Children's. You should see them before buying elsewhere 400 dozen to choose from.

The Carpet Department is now fully assorted.
Millinery Department in full swing.
Dress Goods in all the newest shades and colors.

and we have been told our Dress Goods are the prettiest and best value seen in Canada.

Prints, Cretonnes, Art Muslins, Dress Muslins and Organdies, in every variety.
Parasols and Umbrellas at all prices.
Gent's Furnishings Department fully assorted.
Ordered Clothing a specialty with us here.
Our values in Grey and White Cottons are the talk of the county.

☞ No trouble to show goods. One price only. Terms Cash.

W. MOWAT.

B B B FOR THE BLOOD

In Spring Time get Pure Blood by using B.B.B.

No other remedy possesses such perfect cleansing, healing and purifying properties as Burdock Blood Bitters. It not only cleanses internally, but it heals, when applied externally, all sores ulcers, abscesses, scrofulous sores, blotches, eruptions, etc., leaving the skin clean and pure as a babe's. Taken internally it removes all morbid effete or waste matter from the system, and thoroughly regulates all the organs of the body, restoring the stomach, liver, bowels and blood to healthy action.

B B B FOR THE BLOOD — B B B FOR THE BLOOD — B B B FOR THE BLOOD

DOAN'S KIDNEY PILLS

Price 50 cents per box, or 6 for $2.50. At Druggists, or Mailed on Receipt of Price by T. MILBURN & CO., Toronto.

LAXA-LIVER PILLS.

James Was Reading.

"James, dear, will yo ubring me up a scuttle of coal from the cellar?" said a busy wife.

"That's just the way with you," said James, with a frown, as he put down his book and rose from the arm chair.

"Just the way with me?"

"Yes," he snapped. "As soon as you see me enjoying myself, you have something or other for me to do. Didn't you see I was absorbed in my reading?"

"Well, dear, I will do it myself."

"Yes, and tell everybody—your mother especially—that you have to carry your own coal up from the cellar. No. I'll do it. Let me mark my place."

So he marked the place in the book at which he had ceased reading, and when he went down the cellar grumbling all the way, she picked up the volume and found it was a love story and that the passage he had been absorbed in was as follows:

"My darling, when you are my wife, I will shield and protect you from every care. The winds of heaven shall not visit your face too roughly; those pretty hands shall never be soiled by menial tasks; your wish shall be my law; your happiness—"

Just then he appeared and dropping the scuttle upon the floor said:

"There's your coal. Give me my book."—Tit-Bits.

A Parental Trait.

Husband—That boy of ours is always filling his clothes with trash. To-day he had the pockets of his new coat stuffed with marbles, tops, wire nails, and other junk. Who in the world does he take after?

Wife, dear, I've just been going through the pockets of one of your old coats and found eleven handkerchiefs, three pieces of chewing tobacco, three poker chips, a betting memorandum

THE McLEOD MURDER!

TROY'S EXTRAORDINARY CONFESSION.

TWO OF TROY'S CHUMS IMPLICATED!!

Hughes and Penn Equally Guilty—Troy's Remarkable Story—The Horrors of Isolation—A Verdict of Guilty—The Judge will make a Special Report to the Minister of Justice.

A case unique in the annals of crime terminated here on Tuesday by the conviction of John F. Troy, on his own evidence, of the murder of Angus McLeod on the morning of the 12th of September, 1893.

On Monday forenoon the grand jury brought in a true bill for murder against Troy and on Tuesday morning he was brought from the Kingston penitentiary, where he was undergoing a twenty years imprisonment for attempted murder, and arraigned for the murder of Augus McLeod.

The prisoner on being arraigned said he desired to plead guilty, but this his lordship, under the circumstances, would not consent to. In answer to the judge the prisoner said he was friendless and had no one to defend him. He wanted to make an explanation of some statements he had made. He had desired to plead guilty.

The judge selected W. H. Perry, of Napanee, to defend Troy, and he consented.

The charge was then read that John F. Troy murdered Angus McLeod, on the 12th of September, 1893, and his counsel entered a plea of not guilty. Twenty five petit jurors were then called and of that number the following good men and true were chosen to well and truly try the prisoner and give a verdict in accordance

Mr. Riddell read the confession as follows:

TROY'S CONFESSION TO ROGERS.

I, John F. Troy make the following statement voluntarily to Inspector J. E. Rogers at the Kingston penitentiary, this 11th day of Feb. 1897, in the presence of W. J. McLeod, secretary and John Hughes, a prisoner who is undergoing sentence, and was brought in at the request of John F. Troy.

Some days previous to the murder of Angus McLeod, at Napanee, on the 13th Sept., 1893, we were in Port Hope, Hughes, Penn and myself. Penn and I met Hughes in Port Hope. We were drinking considerable there. Penn and myself intended going east. Hughes was going west. I met Hughes in a barn east of depot. Hughes gave me about $7 in silver. I knew Hughes before this time. We all met in the barn that night. Next morning I went up town. I met them afterwards. I bought some groceries and some whiskey and took them to the grove. We cooked a meal. I induced the two boys who were with Hughes to go home. I gave them some money to go with. Hughes, Penn and myself and several citizens remained at the grove drinking all day. About dark we had a quarrel with Port Hope parties. I struck one over the head with a revolver and fired a shot at him as he was going away. Hughes, Penn and myself then went to Cobourg. Penn and I had revolvers. Hughes had none. Chief Rankin came down and searched us, our revolvers were hidden at the time. Rankin told us to get away from Coburg. Hughes jumped on a train. Penn and I stayed behind to get the revolvers. We went to Trenton and met Hughes there, we all took the train at Trenton to go to Brockville and cross over into New York State. When we got to Belleville we got off. I was drunk and sleepy. They, Penn and Hughes, intended to go to Brockville so. I

CURE
BILIOUSNESS
CONSTIPATION
SICK HEADACHE
AND ALL LIVER TROUBLES

FARMERS ATTENTION.

Insure your property in the Lennox and Addington Mutual Fire Insurance Company.

Because it is a Home Company.

Because it is a Safe Company.

Because it is the cheapest and best.

Because it affords the most liberal policies to patrons.

Because it insures only (isolated) non-hazardous risks, as farm property, county churches halls and school houses.

Because it is the Farmer's Company managed by Farmers in the interest of farmers of the Counties of Lennox and Addington, Hastings Frontenac, Lanark and Leeds.

Officers—J. B. Aylesworth President; B. C. Lloyd, Vice-President. Directors—A. C. Parks, C. C. Sills, W. R. Gordanier, I. F. Aylesworth. Honorary Directors—Jas. Ried, M.P.P., A. V. Price, Camden. C. R. Allison, Wm. Chesters, Frederickburgh, D. W. Allison ex-M.P. Adolphustown; F. B. Guess, Col. Geo. Hunter Kingston; Allan Pringle, Ira. B. Hudgins, Richmond. The board meets at the Secretarie's office in the first Saturday of every month at one p.m.

J. N. McKim, Napanee.
N. A. Caton, Napanee,
Thos. B. Wilson, Newburgh
} Agents
M. C. BOGART Sec'y.-Treas

forgot to mail.—New York Tribune.

BRISTOL'S
BRISTOL'S
BRISTOL'S
Sarsaparilla
and
SUGAR COATED PILLS

The Greatest of all Liver, Stomach and Blood Medicines.

A SPECIFIC FOR
Rheumatism, Gout and Chronic Complaints.

They Cleanse and Purify the Blood.

All Druggists and General Dealers.

IN some parts of the world fire is yet produced in this difficult and arduous way. . . . . .

In Canada the people produce fire by the use of

E. B. Eddy's Matches.

Bay of Quinte Railway and Navigation Company

GENERAL PASSENGER TIME TABLE,

Eastern Standard Time. No. 13 Taking effect Dec. 2nd, 1895

Tweed and Tamworth to Napanee and Deseronto.

	Stations	Miles	No.2 A.M.	No.4 P.M.	No.6 P.M.
Lve	Tweed		6 50	....	3 00
	Stoco	3	6 58	....	3 10
	Larkins	7	7 10	....	3 25
	Marlbank	13	7 25	....	3 40
	Erinsville	17	7 40	....	3 55
	Tamworth	20	7 50	2 00	4 10
	Wilson*	24	....	....	....
	Enterprise	26	8 10	2 20	4 30
	Mudlake Bridge*	28	....	....	....
	Moscow	33	....	....	....
	Galbraith*	35	8 35	....	4 55
Arr	Yarker	35	9 00	2 50	5 15
Lve	Yarker	39	9 13	3 02	5 25
	Camden East	40	9 18	....	....
	Thomson's Mills	41	9 23	3 15	5 35
	Newburgh	42	9 33	3 25	5 45
	Napanee Mills	49	9 50	3 40	6 00
Arr	Napanee	49	....	....	....
Lve	Napanee	49	....	....	....
	Deseronto Junction	54	....	....	6 30
Arr	Deseronto	58	....	....	6 45

Deseronto and Napanee to Tamworth and Tweed.

	Stations.	Miles	No.1. A.M.	No.3. P.M.	No.5 P.M.
Lve	Deseronto	0	6 50	....	....
	Deseronto Junction	4	7 10	....	....
Arr	Napanee	9	7 25	....	....
Lve	Napanee	9	7 45	12 40	4 20
	Napanee Mills	15	8 00	12 15	4 35
	Newburgh	17	8 10	12 23	4 42
	Thomson's Mills*	18	8 20	....	....
	Camden East	19	8 33	12 30	4 50
Arr	Yarker	23	8 43	....	5 00
Lve	Yarker	23	9 00	12 45	5 20
	Galbraith*	25	....	....	....
	Moscow	27	9 15	1 00	5 32
	Mudlake Bridge*	30	....	....	....
	Enterprise	32	9 30	1 15	5 42
	Wilson*	34	....	....	....
	Tamworth	38	9 50	1 35	6 00
	Erinsville	41	10 00	....	6 13
	Marlbank	45	10 15	....	6 25
	Larkins	51	10 30	....	6 43
	Stoco	55	10 50	....	6 55
Arr	Tweed	58	11 00	....	7 10

Kingston and Sydenham to Napanee and Deseronto.

	Stations.	Miles	No.2. A.M.	No.4. P.M.	No.6. P.M.
Lve	Kingston	0	....	....	4 00
	G. T. R. Junction	2	....	....	4 10
	Glenvale*	10	....	....	4 30
	Murvale*		....	....	4 40
Arr	Harrowsmith	19	....	....	4 50
Lve	Sydenham	23	8 00	....	....
	Harrowsmith	19	8 20	....	4 50
	Frontenac*	22	8 32	....	5 00
		26	8 40	....	5 10
Arr	Yarker	26	9 00	2 50	5 15
Lve	Yarker	30	9 13	3 02	5 25
	Camden East	31	9 18	....	....
	Thomson's Mills*	32	9 23	3 15	5 35
	Newburgh	34	9 33	3 25	5 45
	Napanee Mills	40	9 50	3 40	6 00
Arr	Napanee	40	....	....	....
Lve	Napanee, West End	40	....	....	6 30
	Deseronto Junction	45	....	....	6 45
Arr	Deseronto	49	....	....	....

Deseronto and Napanee to Sydenham and Kingston.

	Stations	Miles	No.1 A.M.	No.3. P.M.	No.5 P.M.
Lve	Deseronto	0	6 50	....	....
	Deseronto Junction	4	7 10	....	....
Arr	Napanee	9	7 25	....	....
Lve	Napanee	9	7 45	12 00	4 20
	Napanee Mills	15	8 00	12 15	4 35
	Newburg	17	8 10	12 23	4 43
	Thomson's Mills*	18	8 15	....	....
	Camden East	19	8 20	12 30	4 50
Arr	Yarker	23	8 33	12 45	5 00
Lve	Yarker	23	8 50	....	5 20
	Frontenac*	27	9 00	....	5 27
Arr	Harrowsmith	30	9 05	....	5 40
	Sydenham	34	....	....	5 55
Lve	Harrowsmith	30	9 05	....	....
	Murvale*	35	9 20	....	....
	Glenvale*	39	9 30	....	....
	G. T. R. Junction	47	9 55	....	....
Arr	Kingston	49	10 00	....	....

G. A. BROWNE, H. B. SHERWOOD
G. P. A. Superintendent

Jones, Richmond; Thos. Chalmers, Adolphustown; Alfred Sexsmith, North Fredericksburgh; Thos. N. Trumpour, Adolphustown; David Weese, Richmond; Geo. Peters, Ernestown, Jos. Yeomans, Ernesttown; Chas. H. Garrison, North Fredericksburgh; M. C. Wagar, Camden.

W. R. Riddell, crown prosecutor, in his opening remarks to the jury said: Away back four years ago, in September, 1893, the town of Napanee, and indeed the whole province, was shocked by the news that a prominent citizen of Napanee, Angus McLeod, a man not known to have an enemy and who bore no malice against any one, had been shot down in cold blood upon his own hearthstone. Suspicion rested upon several and on one occasion a man had been brought before a magistrate charged with the crime and acquitted. Years passed by and the mystery of the McLeod murder was no nearer a solution, and it was thought it would be added to the large number of those mysterious murders which would not out.

Some months ago a convict, induced whether by conscience or other reasons confessed to the Warden of the Kingston penitentiary that he it was who murdered Angus McLeod. Mr. Riddell here explained how the Attorney General was notified of the statemeet made by this man Troy to the Warden and how Dectective Rogers, to whom he paid a high tribute, was sent by the department to inquire into the matter. How Rogers went to the penitentiary, and after cautioning the prisoner that any statement he made might be used against him, received a confession from the prisoner, who said his story was true and insisted on making a confession. Mr. Riddell showed how Troy in that confession had described certain things, not even known to the officers of the law and that could only be known by a man who had been in the house on that fatal September night. He showed how the hat left behind at the house by the murderer had been marked by the detective and Mr. Morden, the late County Crown Attorney, and how Troy had recognized the hat as the one left behind. The able counsel told of the evidence the crown would bring to corroborate the prisoner's story. He said it was a strange story — not the fact that murder had been committed, for that was the usual end of a burglar—he naturally graduated into murder—but the fact that after these years the prisoner voluntarily made this confession. The counsel referred to the cash box which Troy spoke of and said that no one, not even Mrs. McLeod had known, until informed by Troy, that it had been disturbed that eventful evening. Mr Riddell was glad the prisoner had re-considered his decision and now pleaded not guilty. The fact that he had once pleaded guilty should not be considered by the jury in determining on a verdict. They should try the case as if such a plea had not been entered. Mr. Riddell in conclusion told the jury that they must remember that he who sheds man's blood by man shall his blood be shed. It was for them to determine whether it was by the hand of the prisoner that poor Angus McLeod's blood was shed.

Detective Rogers was the first witness called and on being sworn said he was a special officer and had fifteen years experience in criminal matters. Remembered the McLeod murder. Was instructed to investigate the matter a few days after the occurrence. It was in Sept. 1893. A diagram of the house was produced and pronounced a good one. I visited the house and found a bullet in the partition wall in the chamber. He produced the bullet. He found no other bullets in the house Saw the bullet which was said to have been taken from the body of the dead man. Had compared it with the other and they were both 38 calibre centre fire bullets. At that time there was no person indicted. There were two or three arrests after my departure but nothing to show guilt. I used my utmost endeavors to trace the matter. On the 9th or 10th of Feb. I received a statement from the deputy Attorney General re Troy and I went to Kingston to the penitentiary and saw the prisoner. There were present besides myself and Troy a Mr. McLeod, the warden's secretary. I read the statement over to Troy that I had received from the department. At Troy's request Hughes was sent for. Troy wanted to know from me if he was going to have a trial. I told him possibly he might. The department would have to answer that question. I told him I didn't care whether he made a statement, but if he did it might be used against him in case of a trial. Hughes was brought in and Troy told him that he had done him a wrong, and he was going to make it right. Troy told me to take a pen and take down what he said. I wrote Troy's words down. There is a barn at left of track going east. I went over to that barn and met Hughes and Penn there. I proposed to Penn that we go down and prowl some of the houses in Napanee. He said he wanted one night's sleep in the year. I remained in the barn some time. They dropped off to sleep again and I went down town in Napanee. I entered McLeod's house, I drank some whiskey and eat some cake. I proceeded to pillage the house. I gained admittance by a window. I also opened the front door after I got in. There was a side door that entered in a passage way. I also opened that. I opened a drawer in a bureau or something like that in a bed room upstairs and got some one dollar bills which I tossed over to Penn. I had other money with me at the time and I put it together. There was a satchel or grip containing silver. I took some of the larger coins out of it. I left the small money in satchel, dimes, nickles and coppers. I found a box like a cash box I lifted it and found something moved on the inside. I left this room to come and get something to pry the box open. I had a lamp with me, I lit it down stairs and took it up stairs When I reached the head of the stairs I heard some voices in the house like a discussion. I heard a voice like a woman's say something to Charlie. Previous to this I had heard the sound of a vehicle driving on the street. When I reached the landing where I had heard the voices I thought then that the people of the house had been aroused and was trying to prevent my escape from the house. I said keep back or I will shoot you or something to that effect. At the same time I fired a shot. I could see no one but I fired in the direction from which voices came. Something was thrown or fired at me in return. I then fired another shot and escaped from the house. When I went to undo fastenings on front door I saw a hat rack. I am pretty positive it had a mirror in it. I took off my own hat which was a brown fedora no lining or no sweat band. I took my hat to mask my face before going up stairs. I picked a kind of tam o'shanter off the rack and put it on before going up stairs. I done this in order to disguise myself. I left my own old hat in the house when I went out. I forgot I had changed it. When I got out I reached the G. T. track and had the revolver. I then went over to the barn where I had left Penn and Hughes asleep and awakened them. I told them I had been up prowling in the town, and that I had a shooting match. We then intended to go east on the passanger but Penn changed his mind and left on foot. Hughes and I remained until a passenger pulled in and got on top of the passenger train. There we met two men riding between the baggage cars and it then occurred to me I had left my own hat behind. I reached down and tried to get hold of one of the other fellow's hat. I did not get it. We rode to Brockville. We remained around the yard while she was changing engines. When the train pulled out the other two man jumped aboard again. Hughes and I jumped on the platform of the last coach. I purchased a hat in Brockville. I left my tam in the barn at Brockville Hughes and I drank considerable at the hotel across the street from the depot west. When the west bound passenger reached Brockville there were two men on the baggage car that I knew. Accompained by the two men and Hughes we proceeded up town where we drank in a saloon on main street. I bought a newspaper from a boy who came into the saloon. I passed it to one of the three and we all left. We agreed to meet east of the depot. When I reached the place of meeting they had read the paper and I learned from them that McLeod was killed. We then all escaped on train to Montreal. I had breakfast with a priest at St. Henri. We then crossed over the Victoria bridge to St. Lambert and Longuiel. Remained there until some time in the forenoon and we then proceed to St. Hyacinthe. Remained there a couple of days, then went to Sherbrooke and then to Lennoxville Jct. We crossed into Vermont and wound up in White River Jct., remained one day in Lebanon, N. H. across the river. Next day came back to White River Jct. and intended to take a train to Windsor, Vt. When we boarded this train the crew tried to put us off but we swung under and when I got to Windsor, Hughes was not there. I waited two days for him and never seen him again until I met him in Kingston penitentiary. The revolver I had and used was a 38 calibre. I used a handkerchief when I was in McLeod's house to cover my face. When I went back to the barn where Penn and Hughes were I wrapped the gun or revolver up in the handkerchief I used at McLeod's and hid it. The reason I shot was to cover my retreat from the house and not be captured. The reason I opened the door before doing any work in the house was to make my escape easy. I drank the whiskey and eat some cake and some cold meat. I got them out of a cupboard or sideboard. That part of my statement made to Warden Metcalfe at the penitentiary on the 3rd Feb, 1897, in which I stated Hughes was present with me at McLeod's house is not correct. Hughes was not and knew nothing about the shooting until I told him.

The statements is absolutely true and correct and made by me of my own free will and accord.

Signed, J. F. TROY, Wit. W. J. MCLEOD.

Continuing Detective Rogers said: In the afternoon I went back to the prison and took the brown fedora hat with me, which I had received from Mr. Warner, crown attorney. I marked the hat two years before this confession was made, by cutting a slit in it. This is the hat (produced.) I took the hat and set it down on the warden's desk. Troy came in and picked up the hat and said it was the one he had on in McLeod's house on the night of the murder. He said there was several holes in the hat which were not in it when he had it. Troy described the revolver as a pin fire one which he had purchased in Sarnia, and the dealer would remember the fact of selling the revolver from the fact that a sailor had come in while he was purchasing it and wanted to sell a clasp knife, but the dealer wouldn't buy it, and Troy did. Troy said he was sure there was a mirror in the hat rack at McLeod's as he had looked at his mug in passing.

Had never heard of the cash box until the prisoner spoke of it. Troy said the tam was a felt tam.

To Mr. Perry—I was not anxious that the prisoner should make a confession. I was told that Troy had been in solitary confinement. He seemed to be in his

W. J. McLeod testified that he was the secretary of the warden of the penitentiary and was present when Troy made his confession, and heard Rogers tell Troy that anything he might say might be used against him.

Mrs. McLeod, the widow of the murdered man, testified that she was in the house on the night of the murder. It was on the 12th of September, 1893. She didn't hear Mr. McLeod getting up, but he came back to her in a very excited state. She was on the second floor in a bed room. There is a stairs leading to the hall which leads to the bedroom. Mr. McLeod told her to keep quiet. She got up out of bed, went to the bay window in the room, attempted to raise it and it fell from her hands making a noise. She then heard a man say, "if you take another step I will shoot you." She heard a shot and her husband fell dead at her feet. Before her husband fell she heard a noise. The pitcher was found upon the floor, having fallen down from the table in the hall. I heard two shots fired. She saw the man from the bay window go out of the front door. Where she was standing she thought he went east.

She missed a felt tam o'shanter a few days after the occurrence. The fedora hat was produced and identified as the one left behind by the murderer. Mrs. McLeod had a cash box in the house containing some nick nacks belonging to her father. Did not know it had been disturbed that night until she learned it from Rogers. There was some money taken from a satchel. Had a hat rack with a mirror in it. Mrs. McLeod gave further testimony as to the things in the house.

Dr. Leonard testified that he assisted at the post mortem on Angus McLeod and found his death had been caused by a bullet. Had compared the bullet shown him by the detective and it was identical with the one taken from the body of McLeod.

Mr. Glynn, of Sarnia, swore that he recognized Troy and sold him a pin fire, 38 calibre revolver in 1893. Bullet in evidence was similar to the box of cartridges he sold Troy. He also sold Troy a razor and strop and Troy tendered him a $10 bill, his purchase having amounted to that. Mr. Glynn also told of the sailor coming in and wanting to dispose of a clasp knife.

Mr. Riddell said the crown had several other witnesses, among them Chief Rankin, of Cobourg, but would not call them unless his lordship thought it was necessary. This closed the case for the crown.

TROY'S CONFESSION.

John F. Troy then entered the witness box, and after being sworn gave evidence of a most remarkable nature. He said that in the main the statement made to Rogers and read by the crown prosecutor was false. In his confession made verbally to Warden Metcalfe he implicated Hughes and Penn. On the strength of that statement detective Rogers came down to see him. Hughes wouldn't admit that he had anything to do with the crime, so when he was brought in he said "yacab," a slang expression equivalent to all right. Hughes was brought in from the corridor. I told him "Paddy, I've lied about you, but its all right." I did not intend to implicate anyone but myself then but had since got so much blame, blame that he didn't deserve, that he was going to tell the true account of what happened and shield no one. When Rogers came to see me he showed me a photograph of Tom Penn, who he said was in Jackson prison. Penn was not in Jackson prison. Hughes and Penn were both with me in McLeod's house on the night of the murder. I don't deny my guilt, but your Lordship and gentlemen of the Jury, so help me God, Hughes and Penn were both with me. In my confession to Warden Metcalfe I told him that I fired the first shot, Penn the second and I fired the third. There were three shots fired. I was in the hallway when I fired the first shot. I believe, so help me God, that it was the second shot that killed McLeod. There were no shots fired on the street. I fired the last shot after coming downstairs. Penn made his escape from the house first. The man who Mrs. McLeod says she seen must have been Penn. When I made my confession to Detective Rogers he promised to intercede for me and told me that he would see that I would be used better. When I entered McLeod's house I had no intention of committing murder. Had I thought murder was to be committed I would never have entered the house. When I told Rogers I went to the house alone, it was not so, Penn and Hughes were both with me. I am standing here condemning myself and have no object to lie to you. When we entered the house we had no intention of committing anyone an injury, and I didn't know that we had killed anyone. We fired at random to

A woman's greatest mission in this world is to help baby. Teaching baby to eat, and to walk and to talk. A rightly constituted woman finds in these her happiest employment. Too many women miss this happiness because of their own ignorance or neglect. No woman should be ignorant of her own physical make-up. No woman has the right to neglect the health of those delicate organs of her body upon which depends the life and health and happiness of her children. The Mosaic command to "increase and multiply" was no idle, thoughtless edict. It was the command of Jehovah. The woman who annuls it by neglect of her womanly health commits a crime.

The best medicine for women is Doctor Pierce's Favorite Prescription. It makes a woman capable of performing her duty to herself, her husband, her children and mankind. It acts directly upon the organs distinctly feminine and makes them strong and vigorous. It does away with the discomforts of the period preceding motherhood. It makes baby's advent easy and almost painless. It cures all weakness and disease of the distinctly feminine organism.

In a family of parents and children there is much care, many worries, numerous perplexities. But, if sickness comes, everything else is small beside it. How valuable then is a doctor in the same block, or an experienced neighbor next door. How much more comfortable for all concerned is a standard medical book on the table or the bookshelf. It is less expensive than the doctor, probably more reliable than the experienced neighbor. Dr. Pierce's Common Sense Medical Adviser is the best thing of this sort ever published. It contains 1,008 pages of plain talk, and careful illustrations. Many of the pictures are colored and true to nature. Nearly 100 pages are devoted to the diseases of women. There are prescriptions for their cure at home. Send 31 one-cent stamps, to cover the cost of customs and mailing only, and get this book FREE in strong manilla cover. Send 50 stamps and get it in substantial, cloth binding. Address, World's Dispensary Medical Association, Buffalo, N. Y.

station Hughes fell and cut his hand. On the way up he hid the revolver in a culvert. Penn went on foot in another direction, Hughes and himself lay up against the fence while a freight pulled in. He saw two men on the back of the car and thought at first they were citizens and thought of going back after the revolver but remembered it would be useless as before hiding it he had emptied the cartridges out of the revolver and tramped them in the dust. He saw that the two men were stealing a ride. He and Hughes got on the train—the baggage car. He went over the top of the cars and tried to steal a hat from one of the two men but was not successful. Hughes also had a brown fedora. The rest of their movements are set out in the confession to detective Rogers. The prisoner detailed circumstances that had taken place when Chief Rankin searched them at Cobourg. He told of having a piece of wire and was showing Hughes and Penn how to catch fish with a noose. Mr. Rankin was called and remembered the circumstances. He said he procured no hat in Brockville. Referring to the evidence given by Mr. Glynn of Sarnia, he was surprised that a man would come all that distance to commit perjury against a man who had gone into the box and admitted his guilt. Perhaps he shouldn't call it perjury, but lapse of memory. He purchased no razor or strap from Glynn. There was a short man with him when he bought the revolver, which he paid $8.50 for. The short man purchased a 22 calibre revolver while there. It was a wonder Glenn could not remember that as well as the other circumstances. He believed detective Rogers had gone to Sarnia and told Glynn the story and Glynn came up here and gave his evidence in accordance with what the detective had told him. It was all rot about him separating from Hughes and Penn at Cobourg. They all reached Napanee together and they were all at McLeod's house together on the night of the murder.

Neither counsel for the prosecution or defence addressed the jury. Mr. Perry stated however, that the prisoner had only allowed him to enter a plea of not guilty in regard to the statement made to Rodgers. Troy was very particular upon insisting on a true account of the case being presented to the court. He wanted no misrepresentation, but the facts as they actually occurred.

THE JUDGE'S CHARGE.

His Lordship in his charge to the jury

A ROMANTIC CAREER.

CHRISTIAN-BORN MAHOMETAN WHO COMMANDED FOR TURKEY.

Edhem Pasha's Very Striking Career—Sold a Slave, His Master Freed Him—Then He Received a Parisian Education—His Manhood's Career.

Edhem Pasha, the commander of the Turkish army in the present war with Greece, who has just been recalled and loaded with Sultan's honors, says The New York Journal, has had a most romantic and interesting history. He is not only of Greek origin, but also of Christian parentage. However, strange to say, he is an enthusiastic and fanatic Mohammedan and loyal subject of the present Sultan. His change of religion was caused by a number of strange circumstances which occurred in his youth. He was born on the beautiful island of Chio, in the Aegean Sea. This island was famous in ancient history, and is said to have been the birthplace of Homer. It is seven miles from the coast of Asia Minor and is situated on the Gulf of Smyrna. It is known for its great productivity, mild climate and natural beauty.

For centuries Chio has been under Turkish rule, although the largest part of its population is of Greek descent. In the many wars and insurrections for Grecian liberty, the people of this lovely island have always borne the brunt of Turkish cruelty and tyranny. This was especially true in 1822, when the Greeks began a long struggle for freedom. Edhem Pasha was then a small child. The inhabitants of Chio did not participate in the insurrections which occurred in that year, but were following their usual occupations. However, a body of revolutionists came from the island of Samos and landed in Chio. They endeavored to excite the inhabitants to revolution, but met with no success. The Chiotes answered that it would be foolish for them to revolt, because the absence of a Greek fleet rendered them almost certain prey to the Sultan's troops on the mainland. The Samians, however, refused to obey, and laid siege to the citadel, then occupied by a Turkish garrison. The Turkish soldiers were driven out, and the fortress reduced to ashes. Soon after an army of seven thousand Turks, with a host of fanatical volunteers, landed on the island. For weeks after the soldiers and the roving hordes of Ottomans slew, pillaged and tortured the inhabitants. In parts of the island the people took refuge in the monastries, but were pursued and killed by thousands. Even the sick in the hospitals were not spared. Over twenty-three thousand men, women and children were killed, five thousand escaped and forty-seven thousand were sold into slavery, and glutted the slave markets of Egypt, Constantinople and of Tunis.

Edhem Pasha's parents were among the killed. He was sold to a Turkish General named Khossco Pasha, who took him to Constantinople. His master, however, gave him his liberty, and with a number of boys he was sent to Paris to be educated. He entered the Institute Barbet, where he remained four years. He evinced great industry and scholarship, and all his teachers predicted for him a great future and brilliant career. After graduating from this school with great honor, he entered a school of mines, and four more years were spent in close application and study. After traveling through France, Germany and Switzerland he returned to Constantinople and was appointed a captain on the general staff of the Turkish army. In 1849 the Sultan made him his Adjutant, and he also became the French instructor of the late Sultan Murad and of the present ruler, Abdul Hamid. Later on he was intrusted with a number of important political missions. In 1856 he became a member of the Council of State and was then appointed Minister of the Interior, but resigned his portfolio after a year. In 1867 he became Minister of Foreign Affairs, and subsequently represented his country at Berlin. In 1877, upon the banishment of Midhat Pasha, he became Grand Vizier, which position he filled with great ability. In 1879 he was Ambassador to Vienna, and from 1883 to 1885 he was again Minister of the Interior.

Edhem Pasha has always shown great hatred toward foreigners and against Christians. At the peace conference at the end of the Russian-Turkish war in 1877 he was the last of the Turkish Ministers to give his consent to the final settlement of the hostilities. He had always been an enthusiastic Turkish chauvinist. He is a zealous member of the Young Turk

Sales Talk

With Hood's Sarsaparilla, "Sales Talk," and show that this medicine has enjoyed public confidence and patronage to a greater extent than accorded any other proprietary medicine. This is simply because it possesses greater merit and produces greater cures than any other. It is not what we say, but what Hood's Sarsaparilla does, that tells the story. All advertisements of Hood's Sarsaparilla, like Hood's Sarsaparilla itself, are honest. We have never deceived the public, and this with its superlative medicinal merit, is why the people have abiding confidence in it, and buy

Hood's Sarsaparilla

Almost to the exclusion of all others. Try it. Prepared only by C. I. Hood & Co., Lowell, Mass.

Hood's Pills are the only pills to take with Hood's Sarsaparilla.

HOUSES TO LET.

Two commodious dwellings on Centre St. Plenty of good water, hard and soft. For particulars apply to S. CASEY DENISON.

ACTIVE MEN WISHING PERMANENT and paying employment can secure the same by engaging with us to sell our HARDY SPECIALTIES AND SEED POTATOES. All Canadian grown. Outfit free. Salary paid weekly. Write to us for particulars, and secure exclusive territory.

PELHAM NURSERY CO.
17-1-a TORONTO, ONT.

REAL ESTATE AND INSURANCE

I have several good farms of 50, 100 and 200 acres, at most moderate prices, and very easy terms of payment.
Several dwellings in the Town of Napanee.
Farm lands and city lots in Manitoba.
Insurance in Stock and Mutual Companies.
Money to loan at 5 per cent. on good Real Estate property. Apply to
M. C. BOGART,
4tf Napanee.

T. W. SIMPSON, B.A., M.D., C.A.

Licentiate of the Royal College of Physicians Edinburgh,
Office—Dr. Grants' late residence, Bridge St

MARGARET P. SYMINGTON, M. D. C. M., Licentiate of Royal College of Physicians, Edinburgh.
Diseases of Women and Children.
Residence north side Market Square, 4th door west John street.
Consulting hours 11 a.m. to 3 p.m., and 6 to 8 p.m. Telephone 87.

R. A. LEONARD, M.D., C.P.S.
Physician, Surgeon, etc.
Late House Surgeon of the Kingston General Hospital.
Office—North side of Dundas Street, between West and Robert Streets, Napanee. 5:1y

HERRINGTON & WARNER
Barristers, etc.
MONEY TO LOAN AT LOW RATES
Office—Warner Block, East-st, Napanee. 5y

DEROCHE & MADDEN,
Barristers,
Attorneys-at-Law, Solicitors in Chancery, Conveyancers, Notaries Public, etc.
Office—Grange block
Money to Loan at "lower than the lowest" rates
H. M. DEROCHE, Q. C. 5-1y J. H. MADDEN

MORDEN & RUTTAN,
Barristers, Solicitors, etc.
Solicitors for the Merchant's Bank of Canada etc., etc.
Dundas Street, Napanee.
G. F. RUTTAN.
Private funds to loan at five per cent.

A. S. ASHLEY,
DENTIST
16 Years in Napanee.
34 Years Experience.
Rooms, Albert Block, Napanee

keep back pursuit.

His Lordship asked the prisoner what induced him to make a confession in the first place.

The state of my health induced me to make my confession. I was in solitary confinement, I was harassed by doubts and fears, my mind became weak and I was afraid I would lose my reason. I was in darkness, night and day was the same to me. I had no work to employ my mind, my very existence became distasteful to me.

His Lordship asked him if he had any hope of reward in making the confession and if he knew the consequence of it.

What hope of reward had I, your Lordship, he replied, I do not know the consequence. Trifles distract me. My mind is not strong now. Coming out of the isolation prison, to attend this trial, and seeing the sunshine has brought on a desire to live, and that was the reason I consented to my counsel entering a plea of not guilty. I only wished to correct the statements made to Rodgers. I wish to tell the whole truth, so help me God. Hughes didn't do any shooting. He did not have a revolver. Only Penn and I were armed, still I believe it was Hughes' act in extinguishing the lamp that made shooting necessary. I had opened a cupboard and found a gin bottle containing some whiskey there was also some cake in the cupboard. I took a drink of the whiskey. Hughes took a drink also, but it made him retch. I made a gesture and said don't make so much noise, do you think you're in a barn. In stepping back Hughes extinguished the lamp, and had it not been for that there would have been no confusion and we could have seen that shooting was unnecessary. After this we proceeded out in the hallway. We went upstairs. I opened a drawer and found a bill in it. I don't know what denomination it was. I tossed it over to Penn. The satchel we found did not contain any bills. There was some silver in it. I don't know how much. I took the largest coins and left the nickles and coppers. Before going upstairs I exchanged my hat for a felt Tam I found on the hat rack. I also disguised myself by tieing my handkerchief around my face. The prisoner told of locating the cash box upstairs, and described many other things in the house which could only be known to one conversant with the interior. He had no money when he reached Napanee and don't know how much he secured at McLeod's. Penn made the first escape.

Hughes went out by the side door and Troy by the hall door. In rushing to the said this was one of the most extraordinary cases that had come before his attention since he ascended the Bench in 1849. It was altogether different from the usual cases where a man was arrested on suspicion. He was at a loss to know the prisoner's motive in making this confession but that had been explained by Troy. He preferred death to solitary confinement. The judge referred to the other statements made by the prisoner, but pointed out that the story he had told to day was the only one given under oath. The statements made to Warden Metcalfe and detective Rogers were not made under oath. The prisoner had been in solitary confinement and His Lordship was not sure as to his sanity. No matter who fired the fatal shot at McLeod, the three men, Hughes, Penn and Troy were all equally guilty of murder.

The jury retired and in a short time returned with a verdict of guilty.

His Lordship said he would reserve sentence and make a special report of the case to the Minister of Justice and the Attorney General.

TROY IS A STUDY.

Troy is an enigma. He is evidently a man of some culture and one of whom one might expect better things. He is a boyish looking fellow, of medium height. His features are regular and he is not at all bad looking. In giving his evidence he spoke in a low, hurried voice and at times it was extremely difficult to follow him. He used good language and told his story in a cool, collected way which carried conviction as to its truthfulness. The eloquent manner in which the prisoner depicted his sufferings while in solitary confinement recalled at once the trials of Dumas' hero, the Count of Monte Cristo.

During the progress of the trial the court room was packed to suffocation, and while the prisoner was telling his story the large audience hung upon his every word, and a profound stillness pervaded the court room. The spectacle was a pitiful one. A young man in the prime of life, possessed of more than ordinary intelligence, and one who, had he directed his energies in the right line might have become an ornament to society, was standing there before a jury of his peers, voluntarily swearing his life away. Not one detail in his self crimination would he allow to escape him. His eagerness to tell the whole story and true version of the facts as they occurred was apparent. Remorse was written in large letters upon his forehead. He had sown to the wind and was reaping the whirlwind. His reply to the judge: "I am friendless, my Lord," was sad indeed. He was not always friendless. The prisoner was well brought up. Two of his sisters, we are informed, have consecrated their lives and are nuns in a convent. Troy emigrated to America from the old country. He drifted into crime and has a notorious record for one so young.

Troy's memory is something remarkable. Without a moments faltering he detailed things which happened four years ago, even recalling trifling defects in his companions' apparel. The manner in which he caught up Mr. Glenn, of Sarnia, shows his ready wit.

We believe the McLeod murder case is without a parallel in history. The history of noted criminals shows, however, that they are all egotistical. They glory in notoriety. No doubt the fascination of a trial appealed strongly to Troy in his isolation. Whether the prisoner pays the penalty of the crime on the gallows or not, it is satisfaceory to know that the mystery has been cleared up and that suspicion can no longer be directed against the innocent.

A 23-Inch Man.

Peter Adamson, so far as known, the smallest human being on earth, has just made his debut in Madison Square Garden, according to The New York Journal. This prince of the land of Lilliput, though a midget, is far from being a baby. He first saw the light of day 17 years ago, near Riga, in Russia, and since that happy event he has had as good a time as falls to the lot of the average young gentleman of his years and a great deal more experience. He has traveled over a considerable portion of Europe, and before he gets through will have seen every place of any size in this country. Peter, as the prince is known to his intimates, weighs a little short of seven pounds when in full uniform on the exhibition stand. Minus his regimentals he tips the beam at six and one-half. He stands 23 inches in his patent leathers, of which, by the way, he is very proud. Seated, he is 19 1-4 inches high. Tom Thumb, who gathered more wealth and fame than any other midget that ever lived, was a veritable giant beside this little Russian. General Thumb weighed 30 pounds, and could easily have tucked Peter under his right arm.

Obliterating a Town.

Preparations for the unusual proceeding of obliterating an entire town are now nearly completed by the Massachusetts authorities. The town of West Boylston, which is to be destroyed, is the location of factories employing several hundred men and lies in the centre of a tract of land which is to be used in the construction of the mammoth Nashua River basin, which is to supply the city of Boston and its suburbs with water. Hence it must be removed in order that the work may proceed.

Socialistic

"I took the dough," said the gentleman who had been caught "going through the clothes" of a drunken man, "because I don't believe in no man a-havin' more money than he needs."

"But how did you know he did not need his money?"

"Uv course he didn't need it. He was plumb paralyzed."—Indianapolis Journal.

Quackery is always discovering remedies which will act upon the germs of disease directly and kill them. But no discovery has ever yet been approved by doctors which will cure consumption that way. Germs can only be killed by making the body strong enough to overcome them, and the early use of such a remedy as Scott's Emulsion is one of the helps. In the daily warfare man keeps up, he wins best, who is provided with the needed strength, such as Scott's Emulsion supplies.

Back-Ache, Face-Ache, Sciatic Pains, Neuralgic Pains, Pain in the Side, etc.

Promptly Relieved and Cured by

The "D. & L." Menthol Plaster

Having used your D. & L. Menthol Plaster for severe pain in the back and lumbago, I unhesitatingly recommend same as a safe, sure and rapid remedy; in fact, they act like magic.—A. LAPOINTE, Elizabethtown, Ont.

Price 25c,

DAVIS & LAWRENCE CO., LTD, Proprietors, MONTREAL.

HEALTHY STOMACH!

Happy Man!— Nothing Experimental About Using the Great South American Nervine—What it has done for Thousands it will do for you.

Here are Strong Words from a Reliable Business Man—Read Them.

I have been a great sufferer from indigestion and dyspepsia. I tried many remedies, but obtained very little relief. I saw South American Nervine advertised, and concluded to give it a trial, and I must say I consider it the very best medicine I have ever used. I obtained great relief from the first few doses. I have only used two bottles, and am happy to say it has made a new man of me. I strongly recommend it to fellow-sufferers." C. PEARCE, Dry Goods Merchant, Forest, Ont. Sold by A. W. Grange & Bro.

PYNY-PECTORAL

Positively Cures

COUGHS and COLDS

in a surprisingly short time. It's a scientific certainty, tried and true, soothing and healing in its effects.

W. C. McCOMBER & SON, Bouchette, Que., report in a letter that Pyny-Pectoral cured Mrs. C. Garceau of chronic cold in chest and bronchial tubes, and also cured W. G. McComber of a long-standing cold.

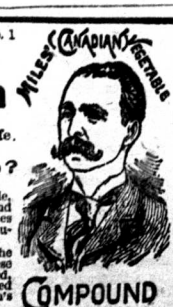
MR. J. H. HUTTY, Chemist, 528 Yonge St., Toronto, writes: "As a general cough and lung syrup Pyny-Pectoral is a most invaluable preparation. It has given the utmost satisfaction to all who have tried it, many having spoken to me of the benefit received from its use in their families. It is suitable for old or young, being pleasant to the taste. Its sale with me has been wonderful, and I can always recommend it as a safe and reliable cough medicine."

Large Bottle, 25 Cts.

DAVIS & LAWRENCE CO., LTD. Sole Proprietors MONTREAL

Every Woman Should Enjoy Life.

No. 1



How many do?

Many are miserable, weak and sickly, and suffer untold miseries through ailments peculiar to their sex.

IT IS WRONG. The cause of most all these ills is easily reached, and effectively removed by the great woman's medicines,

MILES' (Can.) VEGETABLE COMPOUND and Miles' Sanative Wash.

Prices 75c. and 25c. They impart vitality and energy, and make the life of the "Mother Sex" worth living. For sale by all Druggists.

Explanatory pamphlet, "Woman's Triumph," sent free on application.

"A. M. C." MEDICINE CO., 378 St. Paul St., Montreal

DENTISTS

C. D. WARTMAN, L.D.S.
C. H. WARTMAN, D.D.S.

Graduates of the Royal College of Dental Surgeons of Ontario, and graduate of Toronto University.

OFFICE—LEONARD BLOCK,

Visits made to Tamworth the first Monday in each month, remaining over Tuesday. Rooms at Wheeler's Hotel.

All other Mondays C. D. Wartman will be in Yarker.

Napanee office open every day.

THE ROYAL HOTEL.
Dundas Street, Napanee.
H. HUNTER, Prop.

This commodious hotel is centrally situated having every convenience for the travelling and business public. Large yard and sheds for farmers.

Good table, best of wines liquors, and cigars The comfort of guests is made a first consideration.

JAS. AYLESWORTH,
General Business Agent.

POLICE MAGISTRATE for the Provincial Electoral District of Addington.

Conveyancer,
Issuer of Marriage Licenses,
Commissioner, etc., in H.C.J

Clerk, 7th Division Court. of the County of Lennox & Addington
TAMWORTH.

He Fined Himself.

There was an interesting spectacle at Bowling Green, O., recently. Mayor Campbell has for some years, ever since he stopped drinking, been a strong temperance man, but of late he has fallen into his old habits. The city marshall, who knew of his backsliding, warned him to keep off the streets while intoxicated, or he would be arrested by the police, whom he had censured a number of times for not enforcing the liquor laws. Campbell did not heed this advice, and was arrested and locked in the city jail with a prisoner whom he had the day before soundly lectured for being drunk. After staying in jail over night he was taken to the City Hall in the morning, and as Mayor he imposed upon himself a fine of $5 and costs for being drunk and disorderly. He paid the fine and then formally released himself.—Detroit Free Press.

Life Was a Burden.

Four Years of Agony and Misery.

A Marvellous Cure by Paine's Celery Compound.

Three Bottles Suffice To Make Mr. Finter Well and Strong.

The hopeless, despairing, and all who imagine they are lost, because the doctors have failed, should rejoice to know that Paine's Celery Compound fully meets the worst cases, and never fails to restore lost health.

It is no vain or idle boast when the declaration is made that Paine's Celery Compound cures when all other means fail. To-day a grand army of men and women in our own Canada can vouch for the truth of the statement made.

As a proof that Paine's Celery Compound cures in the darkest times of disease and misery we give the testimony of Mr. F. Finter, of Ottawa, Ont., who was saved at almost the eleventh hour. He says:

"I consider it a duty to acknowledge the great good that I derived from your valuable remedy, Paine's Celery Compound. For four years I endured terrible agony and misery owing to pains in my head and chest. Life was a burden to me, and no living mortal could describe my sufferings. I was treated by doctors, and used many patent medicines, but nothing gave me relief until I used Paine's Celery Compound. I thank God for the day it was brought to my notice in the Ottawa papers. I have taken three bottles of the medicine, and to-day I can truly say that I feel like a new man. I feel certain that if the suffering people of Canada would only try Paine's Celery Compound they would be cured. I will recommend the remedy when ever I have the opportunity, as it is the best ever given to sufferers."

A Revolution

In high closs tailoring. High prices no longer holds sway.

We believe in low prices and qualities that can't be beaten.

Only a few days betore the =24th=

But time enough to get a new Suit if you come right along "at away down low price" and a large assortment to select from.

J. L. Boyes.

Men's Outfitter etc.

P. S, See us for Sweaters and Bicycle Suits.

COAL!

The Celebrated

SCRANTON COAL

That has no Equal.

I wish to announce to the public that I have put in a thoroughly assorted stock of this celebrated Coal, and am prepared to supply my customers on as good terms as any other dealers.

I am the sole agent in Napanee for this celebrated Coal and it can not be had from any other dealers. Your Patronage Solicited.

C. E. BARTLETT.

CARLETON WOODS.
ISSUER OF MARRIAGE LICENSES.
1y Roblin, Ont.

JOHN POLLARD,
ISSUER OF MARRIAGE LICENSES.
Express Office, Napanee.
Strictly Private and Confidential.

R. J. WRIGHT,
ISSUER OF MARRIAGE LICENSES.
At Residence, Bridge Street, Napanee, Opposite West Ward School.
Entirely Private.

The Napanee Express

NAPANEE, FRIDAY, MAY 14, 1897

All local reading notices or notices announcing entertainments at which a fee is charged for admission, will be charged 5c per line for each insertion, if in ordinary type. In black type the price will be 10c per line each insertion.

Don't forget the

A Baseball club has been organized at Moscow.

Sequin belts and fancy clasps very cheap at Pollard's bookstore.

Pasture is picking up wonderfully well owing to the recent rains.

Isaac Williams, of Scotland, is in this

Napanee Wood Yard.

Corner Mill and Robinson street, hard, soft, cut, or in cordwood, Trenton dry edgings and blocks. Reasonable rates. A call solicited. Wood delivered free to all parts of the town. S. J. HOWARD. tf Telephone 81.

Lost.

On Wednesday of last week, a gold stick pin with letter "M" attached. Finder will kindly leave the same at this office. 22bp.

I. O. O. F. No. 86.

All the members of Napannee Lodge No. 86, I. O. O. F. are requested to be in attendance at their lodge rooms on Tuesday evening next at 8 p. m. Important business must be transacted. G. A. Cliff, N. G.

Truth in a Nutshell.

Impure blood is the natural result of close confinement in house, school room or shop.

Blood is purified by Hood's Sarsaparilla, and all the disagreeable results of impure blood disappear with the use of this medicine.

If you wish to feel well, keep your blood pure with Hood's Sarsaparilla.

Notice to Farmers

The best MANITOBA RED FIFE seed wheat. The best WHITE ENSILAGE Seed corn that can be procured is for sale at the Big Mill at a small margin over cost. Try my flour "DAFOE'S BEST" and "NONESUCH." Prices and quality considered they can not be surpassed. The bread made from them has a rich golden color, sweet favor and retains moisture longer than any flour in the market. For pastry try "SEEK-NO-FURTHER." Ask your grocer for it and take no other, it suits them all.

15-1-j J. R. DAFOE.

Are You Open to Conviction.

Our advertisements have proved convincing to thousands of fair minded men and women representing every walk of life, clergymen, lawyers, doctors, teachers, business men and children have been scientifically fitted with spectacles by H. E. Smith. Have your eyes examined by the experienced and qualified optician. The best advice is what you want as eyesight is priceless. No eye in existence with an optical defect, he cannot remedy with glasses. Remember one fact outweighs a thousand claims. H. E. Smith, Graduate New York Optical College. Office Smith's Jewelry Store.

A Treat in Store.

Next Monday evening the prettey comedy Orange Blossoms, will be presented at the Opera House by the Kingston Dramatic Club, its wonderful success lately in Kingston, where it was repeated by request three nights running, ought to secure it a good house here without the addition of Mr. R Harvey, organist of St. George's Cathedral and well known pianist, who has before delighted Napanee audiences. Mr. A. Flower March, the popular baritone of Kingston, Mrs. Burrett, our well known favorite, Mr. Mowat in one of his amusing Scotch readings and the ever favorably known Mr. F. Tilley.

Diamond Jubilee.

It is the intention of the rector and church wardens of S. Mary Magdalene's Church to hold a Solemn Te Deum Service and Thanksgiving on Sunday afternoon of June 20th, the 60th anniversary of Her Majesty's ascension. Invitations will shortly be issued to the Mayor and council the civic and other officials, the members of the various loyal and fraternal, societies, etc., to take part officially in the proceedings. It is proposed that all should assemble in their regalia at the market square and go in procession to the church. The latter will be decorated for the occasion. The musical part of the service will be led by an orchestra which is now being formed to re inforce the organ.

What We Inherit.

We are not to blame for. We cannot be held responsible for the dispositions and tendencies which we derive from our ancestors, nor are we responsible for the germs of disease which may manifest themselves in our blood as a heritage from former generations. But we are responsible if we allow these germs to develop into serious diseases which will impair our usefulness and destroy our happiness. We are responsible if we transmit to our descendants the disease germs which it is possible for us to eradicate by the use of Hood's Sarsaparilla, the one true blood purifier. This medicine has power to make rich, red blood

HUGHES ARRAIGNED.

HE PLEADED NOT GUILTY OF MURDERING McLEOD.

A True Bill Against Penn—Hughes said He Was Ready for His Trial.

At the conclusion of the Troy murder trial his lordship directed that the grand jury, which had been discharged on Wednesday morning, be recalled and that they assemble at the court house on Thursday morning, at 10 a.m. On the grand jury assembling on Thursday morning his Lordship informed them that another extraordinary thing had happened since they were discharged. He should have told them in dismissing them that they might be called back. During the evening of the day on which the grand jury were discharged the convict Troy had entered the witness box and made a statement under oath saying that one Penn and Hughes were in McLeod's house with him on the night of the murder and that the statement Troy gave Rogers in which he exculpated Hughes was not true. If Hughes and Penn were with Troy in McLeod's house that night with Troy burglarizing they were equally guilty even if they did not fire the shot. They were all responsible in law for what the other did. The crown was not able to lay hands on Penn but they had Hughes and they would be asked to consider two charges against him, one for murder and the other for burglary. They would be asked to find a true bill against Hughes. It would be necessary to call Mrs. McLeod as the convict, Troy, did not know for a fact McLeod was killed. Troy would be also asked to give evidence, and if he told the same story it would certainly implicate Hughes. His Lordship said he would not think of pressing on a trial but would like to have a true bill as it would have some bearing on Troy's case. He hadn't passed the sentence on Troy yet in consequence. Not that it will affect Troy's sentence, but it may affect the time when the sentence will go into effect. The grand jury after being out over an hour brought in a true bill for murder and burglary against John Hughes, and a true bill for murder and burglary against Frank Hayes, alias Penn. The judge ordered that a bench warrant be issued for the arrest of Penn.

John Hughes was then brought into the dock. He is a young man, coarse featured, and heavy of stature. He is about twenty-three years of age. On being arraigned Hughes pleaded not guilty to both indictments. He said he was ready for trial. Mr. U. M. Wilson consented to act as counsel for the prisoner. He desired to have a conference with the prisoner before going on with the case. This was granted, Mr. Wilson saying he would bring the trial on at this assize, if possible.

Hughes is of a lower type than Troy. The convict Troy showed marked intelligence and was evidently the brains of the trio.

Hughes' counsel will ask to have the case laid over to the next assizes, as he will endeavor to prove an alibi. It is doubtful if his Lordship will consent to have the case laid over.

THE SECRET DIED WITH HIM.

While the people of Ontario are falling over one another in their eagerness to invest their surplus wealth in the gold mines of British Columbia we have, literally at our very doors, a district in which the precious yellow metal exists to as great, if not greater, an extent as it does in the distant fields of British Columbia. Unlike British Columbia the discoveries in Kaladar and Hastings county have not been heralded with any great blowing of trumpets, but development work is progressing quietly and this district is on the verge of a gold mining boom the far reaching results of which is hard to foresee.

Gold mining in Kaladar was greatly retarded by the imperfect and unreliable nature of the geological survey. According to the Government survey the rocks of Kaladar are of Laurentian formation. That the rocks of this township are of a Huronian formation is now so well established that it is unnecessary to bring forward evidence to substantiate it. As gold does not exist in Laurentian formation the geological surveyor did Kaladar and our back country a grave injustice.

Back in 1870, W. H. Palmer, a famous prospector, devoted considerable time in exploring the Kaladar and Anglesea mining regions. Mr. Palmer was a highly educated eccentric Englishman and a great

THE SPRING ASSIZES.

A HEAVY DOCKET.

The Judges Address—The Grand Jury's Presentment—Did Stewart Strike McCluskey in the Back.—The Other Cases.

The Spring Assizes opened before His Lordship, Mr. Justice Robertson at the court house here on Monday. The docket was an unusually heavy one, and on account of the interesting criminal cases, full reports of which appear in another column, a large crowd was in attendance and great interest evinced in the proceedings. His Lordship in his address to the Grand Jury said this was his first visit to this beautifully situated town. He referred to the unique murder trial that would come before them, and said it was the most remarkable case he had ever heard of. He referred to the reduction in the nmber of Grand Jurors and told of other important changes which had taken place in the law. He told them it was their duty to visit the public buildings and see they were in good repair and in a sanitary condition. He laid particular stress on the need of good sanitation in gaols and court rooms. He referred to the coming Diamond Jubilee and paid a glowing tribute to our gracious Majesty Queen Victoria. The following compose the Grand and Petit Jurys:—

GRAND JURY.

Jno. C. Carscallen,	James Fraser,
W. F. Hall,	Alex. Hewitt,
W. G. McGuinness,	C. R. Raymond,
Matthew Ryan,	Luthern Sharpe,
Elias M. Smith,	J. F. Smith,
L. H. Stover,	Jno. Wagar,
Thomas Winters,

W. F. Hall, Foreman.

PETIT JURY.

Wm. Geo. Bell,	Chas. H. Garrison,
Jno. Black,	Ezra Hambly,
Jno. Blackadar,	Lewis Hartman,
Jas. S. Brandon,	R. Herrington,
Roswell Bristol,	Oliver E. Howe,
Jno. Burns,	Theo. Jones,
Jno. Bush,	John McGuin,
Thos. Chalmers,	Albert Miller,
Wm. H. Chalmers,	Jos. Milligan,
Jacob Clancy,	Geo. Peters,
Jos. Clements,	Harper Reid,
Daniel Clifford,	Alf. Rendell,
Richard Dinner,	Alf. Sexsmith,
Matthew Donahue,	James H. Shane,
Samuel Dorland,	Robert Shannon,
Robert Dowling,	A. H. Shaw,
Hugh Duncan,	Robert Shetler,
Sylvester Dupree,	John South,
John Evans,	Jno. M. Spafford,
Chas. Stoyer,	Henry Switzer,
Thos. N. Trumpour,	W. C. Wagar,
G. A. Wartman,	David Weese,
Alman Williams,	James Wilson,
Jos. Yeomans,	Chas. W. York,

GRAND JURY PRESENTMENT.

To His Lordship, Mr. Justice Robertson:

We the Grand Jurors of our Sovereign Lady the Queen, at this Court of Assize, for the County of Lennox and Addington, beg to report as follows:

First—We thank your Lordship for the pains taken in your address to explain the changes which have been made in the laws relating to the Grand and Petit juries, and while we realize that the trend of public opinion and legislation is towards complete recognition of the principle that majorities must rule, we note with satisfaction that progress in this direction is being made cautiously. The educative value of such official reference to the laws of the land which you have been pleased to make can scarcely be overestimated.

Second—We have visited the county jail and found everything in good order, evidencing the painstaking care with which the governor discharges the duties of his position. We think some improvements tending to a better sanitary condition of the water closets in the jail yard are very desirable, and trust it may only be necessary to draw the attention of the County Council to the matter in order to have the defect remedied. We found three prisoners confined in the jail in addition to those whose cases come up for hearing at this assize; one prisoner serving a sentence for assault, one a vagrant, and one an idiot. We think it a matter of regret that the latter is not removed to some more suitable place for the confinement of such unfortunates.

Third—We note with regret the large number of crimes committed throughout the country by tramps, and we regret that this class of criminals appear to be on the increase, and all attempts to stamp out the nuisance which has become so prevalent and dangerous appear to have no effect. We would recommend that some more stringent measure be provided for this class of criminals. We believe that if the lash be freely applied to all tramps found carrying firearms or dangerous weapons, evidencing their readiness to commit crime, that the evil that threatens the safety of so many communities would be materially lessened.

Fourth,—Your Lordship's interesting reminiscences of sixty years ago, when in your hearing the proclamation of the ascension of Her Royal Highness, Princess Victoria, to the throne of her ancestors was publicly read, calls for devout thankfulness that in the British Empire during the larger part of the nineteenth century, has exhibited to the world the beneficence of sovereign power, the growth of publicfreedom, and the district purchasing horses for the British market.

Owing to the press of court news we are obliged to hold over a lot of local and district matter.

BURDOCK PILLS, small, safe and sure, regulates the liver and cures Constipation.

Mr. E. P. Amey, G. T. R. operator at Ernestown, has retired from the employ of the Company.

Try the washable wall paper on your kitchen or pantry, to be had cheap at Pollard's bookstore.

Frank O'Neil had his hand badly lacerated on a saw at Gibbard's furniture factory on Monday

Canadian Foresters

Vanblaricom's grocery received a visit from a burglar last week but nothing of any great value was taken.

Cheap agate fry pans, No. 9 agate fry pans for 30c, just think of it. Cheaper than iron, at Boyle & Son's.

Miss Laura Burgess, a former resident of Napanee, was married to the Rev. Robt. Knapp at Poughkeepsie recently.

Spaldings base balls and bats, a new lot just arrived at Pollard's bookstore.

The Western church has every dollar of its floating debt wiped off and a surplus in the treasury.

Tuberculosis is said to exist among the cattle around Kingston and milk from the cattle is being sold in that city.

A cow belonging to Mr. Birrell fell down the bank at the sand pit on the bank of the Napanee river last week and was killed.

Leave you orders for the jubilee number of The Globe at this office. Single number 15c.; Medallion picture of the Queen 15c.

Excursion on

The man who told the fake story here on Saturday about a woman being murdered on the York Road was an ex-convict named Coon.

It is said the recent cold weather will nip '97 consignment of grasshopners in the bud. This is the season when they are most easily killed.

Work at the Fredericksburgh oil wells is progressing finely. New and heavier machinery has arrived and has been placed in position.

A new lot of up-to-date Mouth Organs at Pollard's bookstore.

Close's Mills will grind every day throughout this month. The best ground feed and barley meal for sale at Close's Mills. Responsible parties can have three months on ton lots. JAS A. CLOSE.

"Satisfactory Results." So says Dr. Curlett, an old and honored practitioner, in Belleville, Ontario, who writes: "For Wasting Diseases and Scrofula I have used Scott's Emulsion with the most satisfactory results."

Queen's Birthday.

Boyle bottom milk can, best milk can in the world, not copied or stolen from any other, but original; made from best material that money can buy and by men who know how to make good cans. Sold only by Boyle & Son.

A base ball club was formed on Saturday evening with the following officers: President, Dr. Edwards; Vice-Pres., Wm. Smith; Manager, Wm. Ponton; Com. of management, J. S. Livesley, Alex Armstrong, W. Smith, A. Root and W. Ponton.

WANTED. Industrious persons of either sex with good character and common school education, can obtain employment for two months in this community.

S. M. FRY, Toronto, Ont.

Go to R. Lawson's meat market for prime fresh beef, pork, veal, lamb and all kinds of salted meat. Home-made sausage and all kinds of poultry in season, fine sugar cured hams and English breakfast bacon, always on hand. Prices to suit the times. 22tf

IT'S THE HOME-COMING

that disappoints in much of the dyeing of the day. The goods come back to you dyed after a fashion—but say no more. Dyeing and cleaning is a science here, not an experiment. We know the business through and through. R. PARKER & CO. Napanee Agency at Pollard's Book and establish perfect health in place of disease.

A Fake Story.

Saturday evening a man answering to the name of Johnston drove into town and inquired for the police. He was directed to them and told a disconnected story about a lady named Higeboom having been murdered that afternoon by a couple of tramps. The fellow's story was so limp and lame that it was discredited from the first. He said the murder occurred on the York Road, about three miles from Napanee. He had not been on the scene of the tragedy but had met a man who informed him of the murder and then told him to drive to Napanee and notify the police. Inquiries elicited that the story was a fake pure and simple. The man is supposed to be a little deranged. He stole a horse and rig near Kingston on Friday and on the way to Napanee traded horses with some one on the road. He left his horse at the Campbell House when he skipped out of town on Saturday night.

Good Roads.

We suppose every municipality in the province wants good roads. We suppose also that every township in this county would like to have good roads, but if this is so there was very little evidence of it on Tuesday evening when Mr. Campbell delivered an address in the town hall here on how to make good roads. There were but very few people present but those present listened to a very plain, practical address. To have a road the first essential is drainage, and the better your drainage the better your road. Build your road with a crown of one inch raise in every foot, and don't use anything but good material. It is of no use throwing mud or sand into the middle of your road. When the rains come it will surely rut, and rot your road bed. To make really good roads modern machinery is needed. A stone crusher and six-ton roller being essential. With them at work under careful superintendence roads may be had in a few years that will last a lifetime. But don't waste any time or material on a road until you have secured thorough drainage. Get the water off the roads and keep it off and half your work is done. Mr. Campbell will be in this town again sometime soon when every pathmaster within reasonable distance should endeavor to get a few pointers about making roads.

A Bad Beginning Makes a Good Ending.

The first game of the Quinte Union series for the Bass Cup tood place at Deseronto on Friday afternoon and resulted in a victory for the Deseronto team by 3 goals to 0. The ground was in a bad shape the recent rains having inundated it and the players had not only to dodge their opponents but pools of water as well. In the first rush a bad accident occurred. A Deseronto player came in contact with Mr. Fred Scott's leg, fracturing the bone below the knee and badly injuring the knee. It was purely accidental, but it will lay Fred up for a long time and deprive the team of one of its most reliable backs. The game was not a particularly brilliant one, both teams being plainly in need of practice. For Deseronto Pulkinghorn and Nicholson put up a great game and practically won the match for the home team. The Deseronto boys are much heavier than the Napanee team and our footballists will have to practice hard and get back to their old time combination play if they desire to be up among the cup probabilities. The following composed the Napanee team: Grieve, Chown, Rockwell, Grange, Preston, Bradshaw, G. Exley, Wagar, Smith, W. Exley and Lamey. F. Anderson replaced Fred Scott in the first half and was replaced by W. Exley in the second, as his knee was injured by a kick. Mr. Wm. Smeaton, of Picton, refereed the game and his decisions, or rather lack of decisions, was very unsatisfactory to the Napanee team.

NOTES.

The Secretary of the Napanee club is in receipt of a letter from J. P. Pulkinghorn, of Deseronto, expressing the deep regret of the Deseronto team at the accident which occured to Mr. Fred Scott. Pulkinghorn concludes: "We regret very much that such a thing did occur and I myself would much rather Deseronto had lost by all odds than that such a thing should occur to one of the boys."

Napanee and Picton will play at Picton on the 14th inst.

Kingston defeated Sydenham on Saturday by 3 goals to 0.

Hood's Sarsaparilla is known to be an honest medicine, and it actually cures when all others fail. Take it now.

portion of his declining years were spent in that region, which was to him an open book. About fifteen years ago he discovered the Guina mine and in a letter to a gentleman in town predicted that it would eventually become one of the greatest in the county. The old gentleman made several discoveries which he failed to impart to his associates, owing to differences that existed between them. Among the rest Palmer discovered a large vein of free milling ore, 30 feet wide, somewhere near the Guina mine, the secret of which he carried with him to the grave. We predict that this vein will be re-discovered by some of the energetic prospectors now perambulating that part of the country.

Mr. F. Burrows, Public School Inspector, has just returned from a visit to his mine in Kaladar and has brought back several fine specimens of mispickle ore taken from his claim. Development work has commenced on his property and from all accounts our genial Inspector has a rich claim, as the ore assays very high. The formation is the same as that around Delora, and as the new process of treating mispickle ore has proved highly successful Mr. Burrows is the happy possessor of a bonanza. His claim covers 250 acres. Mr. Burrows presented us with several fine specimens of ore from his mine.

Prospectors are numerous in Kaladar these days but they are not advertising their movements by any means. A great many instead of putting up at the hotels bunk in with farmers and thus escape the fool questions of the curious. A number of options have been purchased, and in most cases the owners or "squatters" as the case may be, of the land have been liberally dealt with.

J. Rudd Perry and Capt. Holmes, of Napanee, have been in Kaladar prospecting. They have purchased a number of options and believe there is a bright future ahead for the back townships.

Messrs. E. H. Baines, Thos. E. Anderson, J. M. Bogart, and Ed. Francisco took a trip back into Kaladar on Saturday. They are much enamoured with the place.

Troy is Talkative.

Troy is quite a chatty fellow and is not at all adverse to telling stories of his past life, which are quite interesting. Troy came to this country about fourteen years ago from Dublin, Ireland. He is thirty-two years of age and is utterly demoralized. He is one of those plausible villains who think nothing of human life. Penn, it appears, was the coward of the party. When Penn learned that McLeod was dead Troy says that "he took to his heels and is going yet," so it will be difficult to locate him. Penn, according to Troy, got the bulk of the money, as Hughes and he only got a little silver. Penn, in his hurry to escape from McLeod's house, almost threw Troy down stairs, and the latter was very angry with him, and that is one of the reasons why Penn separated from them. Troy was placed in solitary confinement in the Kingston penitentiary for striking a fellow convict over the head with a hammer. Columns might be written about this fellow and his biography would be a valuable addition to othe history f crime. Troy tells a story of how he revenged himself on a man who did him an injury. He procured a pair of the man's boots, started out from his residence, taking care to make his tracks plain, went to a neighbors house and burglarized it. He then returned to the man's house and left the boots there. The man was convicted by the boot marks and sent to the penitentiary for three years,

Bessie, the six-year old adopted daughter of Mrs. Jane Jennings, who resides on the Moscow road about three miles from Yarker, met death in a peculiar manner on Wednesday of last week. The little girl tied her apron strings around her neck, and climbing on a box, attached the apron to the limb of a tree. It is presumed that she fell asleep, rolled off the box, and was strangled to death.

Orange Blossoms, Kingston Dramatic Club, Opera House, Monday evening, 17. See programme.

Miss Lineau, Mrs. Burritt, Messrs. W. Mowat, A. F. March, Robert Harvey and J. F. Tilley at the Opera House, Monday, 17th inst. See programmes.

Remember C. L. Shannon will sell all kinds of field and garden seeds, all new, and lower than any reliable competitor. Sole agent for high mixed Ensilage Corn, the same amount of feed to the acre as Southern Sweet. Also has a large ear on that matures strengthening of legal authority, developing side by side with ever increasing natural regard and esteem. We applaud your Lordship's expression of deep and abiding loyality to the person, throne and dignity of our gracious sovereign the Queen. We join in the prayer that the Supreme Ruler may spare her yet many years to wield the sceptre of public dominion, whilst ennobling domestic virtues by example and precept.

We congratulate your Lordship upon your physical and mental strength, and trust that for many years you may continue to sit in a judicial capacity on the Ontario High Court Bench.

Signed on behalf of the Grand Jury.

W. F. HALL, Foreman.

Dated, Grand Jury Room, Napanee, 11th May, 1897.

His Lordship in reply thanked the Grand Jury for their kind references to himself, and said that the county council should take steps towards putting the gaol in a sanitary condition. He made an eloquent reference to, and condemned in strong language the inhuman practice of committing poor people to gaol. It was a disgrace to our 19th century civilization and his Lordship condemned it in no unmistakeable terms.

The criminal cases will be found in another column. The case against Miller and McCarney was traversed to the next assizes. The following is a list of the civil cases and the judgments:

MCCLUSKY VS. STEWART—This was an action for assault growing out of the trouble over the ownership of the trotting horse. St. John. Last year Mr. McCluskey, who resides in New Brunswick, entrusted his horse, St. John, to the keeping of one J. R. Hagar, of Plattsville, N. Y. Hagar took the horse to Canada and entered it in the Bay of Quinte circuit races. When McCluskey went to Plattsville after his horse he found out that Hagar had taken it across the border into Canada. He immediately set out to secure it. Arriving at Kingston he learned the horse was at Stewart's hotel, in the town of Deseronto. He went to Deseronto, found his horse in Stewart's stable, and took it out and started for Kingston. When about two miles out of Deseronto Messrs. Stewart, Hagar, and Chief of Police Gunyo overtook him and forcibly took possession of the horse. McClusky then went to Kingston and had a writ of replevy issued, took it to A. S. Valleau, the then Bailiff, and together they went to Stewart's stable to secure the horse. While there Stewart told McClusky to leave the yard, and he not going quick enough to suit Stewart, the defendant caught him by the arm and forcibly ejected him, and admitted striking him in the mouth in doing so. McClusky swore that Stewart struck him in the back, causing injury to his kidneys which had since incapacitated him from work. Dr. Bell, a veterinary surgeon, Dr. Herald and Dr. McCammon, reputable medical practitioners of Kingston, testified to the condition of McCluskey's back, which was bruised, and the kidneys injured. The doctors said the injuries sustained by McCluskey were more serious than a broken

The Power to Attract

Is one of the important points in our Spring Line of stylish

Colored Shirts.

Never have Colored Shirts given more promise of wide usage than for the coming season.

D. J. Hogan & SON.

Sole agents for Wilkinson and Henry Carter Hats

Our Special Price List.

BEGINNING THIS MONTH OF MAY we shall offer particularly low prices for the balance of the Spring season. This list gives a few sample prices from each department, but it is not possible to make it complete. We ask you to bring it with you when you visit our store and enquire for the following lines of goods. You will find them in every instance exactly as advertised—you will not find them just sold out if you come in any reasonable time, and you will be pleased as you have never been pleased before with the values we show. We want your trade. We hope to get it by deserving it. These are from our Dress Department.

Fancy Japanese Silks, 18 inches wide, full range of colorings 25c
Fancy Broche and Taffeta Silks for waists and dresses, 35c, 43, 58c ..... 65c, 72c, 75c.
New Broche Shot Effects in Dress Goods 38 inch, all the new colors very special 22½c
Light Fancy Dress Tweeds in new patterns, 36 inch, very stylish goods 25c
All-Wool Dress Serges in black and full range of colors, 36 and 38 inch 21c
All-Wool Dress Serges 46 inch, a very special value at 38c
40 inch Shepherd Checks, new, worth 40c 29c
42 inch Colored Armures, a 60c line 43c
English Dress Tweeds, 42 inch, very stylish color effects, goods that don't wrinkle or crease ..... 50c and 60c
Plain Black Lustres 22½c, 32c, 39c, 49c
(These are very special value)
Black Broche Lustres, new patterns 40c, 65c, 85c

Pattern Dresses.

We have simply the finest assortment of elegant single dresses you'll see anywhere. Scores to choose from and no two alike, exclusive styles and prices like these :

Beautiful Tweed Patterns ..... $4.00 and $3.00
Lovely Dresden Effects in Wool ..... $4.90 and $5.00
Silk and Wool Dresden Broches, most elegant Fabrics, $6.00, $7.00, $8.00

Trimmings.

Every new kind of Trimming for every new kind and color of dress. The newest things of the season at most moderate prices.

Shirt Waists.

Neat Print Waists, laundried collar and cuffs 39c
New Dresden effects, laundried collar and cuffs 75c
Narrow stripes in good prints, laundried, $1.00 goods 79c
Dresden Cambric with white collar and cuffs $1.00
New fancy Cambrics, one extra collar 98c
Linen batiste, box plait, button trimmed, with white collar and cuffs $1.50
Organdie Muslins, very beautiful goods, white collar and cuffs ..... $1.98 and $1.89

Ladies' Whitewear

Corset Covers, linen lace trimming ..... 25c.
" " embroidery and finishing braid trimming ..... 35c.
" " embroidery and insertion trimming, 50, 65, 75, and $1.
Chemise, lace trimming ..... 25c.
" insertion yoke, cambric frillings ..... 50c.
" insertion and embroidery trimmings, 75, $1, $1.25, and $1.50.
Drawers, tucked, and lace trimmings ..... 25c.
" cambric frillings and tucks ..... 35c. and 45c.
" tucks and embroidery ..... 50c. and 75c.
" trimmings, torchon lace and tucks ..... 75c.
" embroidery trimmings and tucks ..... 75c. $1, and $1.25.
Skirts, cambric frills and tucks ..... 60c. and 75c.
" lace and embroidery frills ..... 75c. $1, and $1.25.
Nightgowns, lace and tucks ..... 50c.
" tuck and embroidery and frills ..... 75c.
" tucks, insertion and embroidery ..... $1 and $1.50.

Ladies' Furnishing Goods.

KID GLOVES—We are Napanee Agents for Pewny's gloves, which means the best gloves imported. We sell these kinds at these prices :

HELENE, black and colors, 4 buttons 50c
NORMA—black and colors, laced 75c
ALBERTINE—black and colors laced, guaranteed .. $1.00
ALBANI—black and colors, laced, guaranteed $1.25
MINERVA—large colored pearl buttons with fancy stitching to match, a very stylish glove, 2 styles, $1.25 and $1.35
ESTELLE—Tan Mousquetaire, pearl buttons, ... $1.25

Ladies' Black Cotton Hose 5c
Ladies' Fast Black Seamless Cotton Hose 12½c

Staple Department.

Grey Cottons, 34 inches wide 3c
Grey Cottons, 35 inches wide 4c
Grey Cottons, 36 inches wide, heavy 5c
72 inch Twill Sheeting, Unbleached 13c
72 inch Plain Sheeting, Unbleached 14c
72 inch Plain Sheeting, Bleached 18c
White Cottons, 26 inch 4c
White Cottons, extra value, 36 inch 5c
White Cottons, very heavy weight 7c
White Cottons, 40 inch, special 8c
White Cottons, 36 inch, finest 10c
Cotton Crash Towelling, 16 inch 3½c
Cotton Crash Towellings, 18 inch, heavy 5c
Check Glass Linen, 17 inch 6c
Cotton Towels, 13 x 26 inch, per pair 5c
Linen Huck Towels, 14 x 27 inches, per pair 20c
Linen Huck Towels, 17 x 35, inches, per pair 25c
Unbleached Table Linen, 48 inch 18c
Unbleached Table Linen, 52 inch 20c
Unbleached Table Linen, very special value 25c
27 inch Indigo Dye Shirtings 5c
27 inch Oxford Shirtings 8c
28 inch heavy check Shirtings 7c
36 inch Apron Ginghams, bordered 9c
27 inch Plaid Ginghams 5c
Heavy Cottonades, good patterns ..... 12½c and 10c
26 inch Flannelettes 4c
30 inch Flannelettes, very special, ... 5c
27 inch Art Muslins, pretty patterns 5c
Bordered Art Muslins, very pretty ..... 6c and 7c
New Twill Cretonnes 7c
40 inch Reversible Cretonnes, bordered 25c
Madras Muslins, new pattern 20c
Printed Scrims, extremely pretty 12½c

The Tailoring Department

Is overcrowded with work. Good reason for it. Have you seen the suits we make to order for TEN DOLLARS? If you haven't, you have something to learn about values. They make competitors gasp. Bicycle suits of same cloths, $6. Ready-made ones cost that. And we are making up any cloth we have just as cheaply. For instance, a full suit of fine black English worsted costs you $15, and WE GUARANTEE OUR WORK THE BEST IN NAPANEE.

Men's Ties, new Spring styles, two for ..... 25c.
Boys' Sweaters ..... 25c.
Blue cloth Tam o' Shanters, for children ..... 19c.
Men's Flannelette Shirts, all sizes ..... 19c.
Men's Coloured Dress Shirts, laundried ..... 50c.
Men's Tweed Cycling Caps, new styles ..... 25c.
Men's Cotton Socks, heavy ..... 5c.
Men's Braces, light weights ..... 12½c.
Men's Braces, heavy ..... 15c.
Men's Blue Denim Overalls, with bibs ..... 50c.
Men's Blue Denim Smocks, to match ..... 50c.
Men's Linen Collars, new Spring styles ..... 12½c.

MEN'S DEPARTMENT

One store for supplying Men's Goods exclusively. The largest trade in Men's Goods in Napanee is proof that we do it well. We are now selling

Men's Blue Serge Suits, size 36 to 42, at $2.90

Men's Tweed Suits at $5.00.

This month we take some thirty odd Men's Tweed Suits, broken sizes, that sold at from $6.50 to $8. We want to clear them quick at $5. And make no mistake, these are not suits that other folks sell for that price.

Men's Tweed Suits, Special, $6.40.

This is a new line of very neat Scotch patterns. We think it the best

Ladies' Black Cotton Hose.....10c, 15c, 20c, 25c
Ladies' Black Cashmere Hose.....25c, 35c, 40c, 50c
Ladies' Dresden Silk Ties to match waists.....12½c
Ladies' Dresden Silk Bows, same pattern.....12½c
Chiffon Laces in all new shades.....30c and 40c
Ladies' Pearl Setts for waists, white.....25c
Ladies' Pearl Setts in colors.....35c
Ladies' Linen Collars and Cuffs, very newest.....
Ladies' Black Leather Belts, nice buckle.....10c
Ladies' and Children's Tan Cashmere Hose in all sizes, extra value.

Corset Specials.

A new jean corset, French cut with band form.....25c
The P. C. Corset "Dora," an article of standard quality at its usual price which is 75c, sizes 18 to 24 only.....50c.

Carpet Department.

Cut prices for May. Special Discounts all this month to Cash Buyers of Carpets
60c. Union Carpets.....45c.
90c. Wool Carpets.....67½c.
85c. Wool Carpets.....67½c.
Splendid patterns in Brussels carpets.....67½c.
Very heavy quality Brussels carpets.....90c.
Best nine-wire Tapestry carpets.....67½c.
65c. Tapestry carpets.....54c.
Tapestry carpets from.....22½c.

Lace Curtains.

Most unusual curtain value. Nice curtains for bedrooms or small windows, 23c. But best values are in curtains at 50c. 75c. $1, $1.25, up to $2. We can show more quality and more elegance than you ever saw for such prices. Ask to see our lines at $1, $1.25, and $2—they're worth seeing even if you don't want to buy curtains. And we like to show them.

suit we ever saw for the money. Drop in and see it.

Men's Tweed Pants, half wool, 79c

This is a new line, good patterns, decently made, and with lots of wear in them.

Men's Tweed Pants, pure wool & fine $1.00

Quality and patterns as good as you'd buy at twice the price two years ago.

Men's Tweed Pants, Pure Wool, $1.25.

These are the fine, hair line stripes, so popular.

Boy's Sailor Suits, $1.25.

Neat, stylish suit of blue flannel, braided in white or gold, with cord and whistle. Fit boys of 4 to 8 years.

Boy's 2-Piece-Suits, Tweed, $1.50

A regular line of new goods which will surprise you.

A chance in Boy's Suits, 2-Pieces.

This is another lot of odd sizes, but a big lot—nearly fifty suits. Some were $4, a few $5, the great bulk of them $3 to $3.60. We make them into three lots for quick clearance at—

$1.50 $2.00 $2.50

If you've a boy, don't miss these. They are good goods, and the prices are SLIGHTLY OVER HALF VALUE.

Another One.

Boy's 3-piece suits, coat, vest, and short pants, fit boys of ten to fifteen. All Tweeds, of good patterns, were $3.75 to $5 a suit. They go on sale now at—

Three Dollars a Suit,

just to show that we have no rivals for clothing values.

LAHEY & McKENTY

arm or leg, as they incapacitated him from work for at least twelve months. The defence brought forward the following witnesses: Geo. Stewart, Murney Luffman, Jas. Howard, Jno. Harvey, H. Howard, Edward Lavique, Chas. Clarke, Irvine Hudson, J. A. Hagar, and Dr. Leslie, who testified that they saw the assault, but that Stewart did not strike McClusky in the back. Geo. Stewart is a hotel-keeper and proprietor of the Deseronto House. The learned judge said that Stewart had no right to order McCluskey off the premises, as he had a perfect right to be there. The judge charged strongly against Stewart. The jury retired and at 11 o'clock p.m. brought in a veredict of $275 for McClusky. J. L. Whiting for plaintiff, E. Gus Porter for defendant.

PARKS VS. BAKER—An action for malicious prosecution. This action grew out of a charge laid against Parks, who resides at Bath, for incest. Parks was tried for the offense and acquitted. Parks accused a number of the most influential citizens of Bath of laying the information that led to the investigation before the magistrate and brought this action. The whole case hinged on whether the then acting crown attorney, Mr. G. F. Ruttan, was obliged to divulge the names of the parties who laid the information against Parks. The judge held he had not, and dismissed the case. English and Perry for plaintiff, G. F. Ruttan for deft.

ROMBOUGH VS KELLAR was settled out of court. G. F. Ruttan for plaintiff, D. H. Preston for deft.

CASSIDY VS MORROW—An action for illegal distress. G. F. Ruttrn and W. R. Riddell for plaintiff and D. H. Preston and Mr. Clute, Q. C. for deft.

This case occupied the attention of the court for over 15 hours. Shortly after 10 o'clock the learned counsels concluded their addresses to the jury and his Lordship will charge them at 10 o'clock this morning. A great many witnesses were examined in this case and much interest was evinced in it.

Grinding every day at Close's Mills The best ground horse feed and barley meal for sale at Close's Mills. Feed on credit. Jas. A. Crow.

Dry Mill Wood.

Over 1000 cords. $1.60 per cord.
THE RATHBUN CO.,
Napanee.

Avoid Costs.

All debts due the firm heretofore known as Embury, Greer & Co. must be settled before the 15th of May or costs will be added. 21c. EMBURY, JACKSON & Co.

Wanted.

Men and Women work hard talking and writing six hours daily, for six days a week, and will be content with ten dollars weekly. Address,
NEW IDEAS CO., Brantford Ont.

Farmers, Gardners and Fruit Growers.

My car of fertilizers has arrived. Every one should try enough to convince themselves that it pays to fertilize. Those who have ordered will please call and get goods soon as possible. I have the best Timothy Seed in the market. The price is cheap considering the quality. See it before buying unsound and inferior seed.
17 F. E. VANLUVEN.

KIDNEY WAR.

How Insidiously in Wages, but how Quick the Surrender, and how the Flag of Truce is Hurriedly Hoisted when that Great General, South American Kidney Cure, Turns his Guns on the Disease.

This is what James Sullivan, of Chatham, Ont., writes: "For years I was a great sufferer from Kidney trouble. The disease became so acute that I was confined to the house, and was greatly inflicted with insomnia. I was persuaded after using many other remedies without relief almost from the first dose. I have persisted in its use, and after using six bottles I am well and strong again. I can work four ten hours out of twenty-four and feel very little, if any fatigue. It is the best medicine I have ever used." Sold by A. W. Grange & Bro.

Miss Rube Griffith delivered a lecture in the Oddfellows Hall to women on Thursday afternoon.

Experience proves the merits of Hood's Sarsaparilla. It cures all forms of blood diseases, tones the stomach, builds up the nerves.

A. S. Kimmerly is selling field and garden seeds cheaper than any other dealer. 4 lbs. American Wonder Peas 25c; Choice Timothy Seed, $1.85 per bush.; Salt, $1.10 per bbl. Keewatin Flour cheaper again. Four tons of that celebrated 25 cent tea in stock, nothing equal ever sold before. Can Corn 5c., new good, none better in the market.

Turkish or Grecian it matters not, we can fit any nose with glasses. Come where you can have satisfaction guaranteed. No eyes too difficult for us to fit. Some more difficult cases last week. Let us test you whether you buy or not. Testing free. The only full graduate in this county. a. f. chinneck at f. chinneck's jewellery store

NORWAY PINE SYRUP cures Coughs.
NORWAY PINE SYRUP cures Bronchitis.
NORWAY PINE SYRUP heals the lungs.

The parents of many of the little children who are to take part in the Jubilee Festival have been in the past, and are now distinguished for their mental endowment, and the popular superintendent of St. Mary Magdalene Sunday School, Mr. Orlin Herring, seems to be aware of that fact, as evidenced by his selections for the difficult parts.

John McIndoe, a young man who attends Robert Thompson's horses, had a narrow escape from instant death yesterday morning. He was attending to the horses as usual in the morning, when one of them kicked viciously at him and struck him on the side of the head just above the ear, cutting a gash in which there had to be put three stitches.

Coleman's SALT Best for Table use. Best for Dairy use
UNEQUALLED FOR QUALITY
Canada Salt Association
OLINTON, ONT. 8

Church of England Notes.

PARISH OF CAMDEN — Services Sunday next. St. Luke, Camden East, Morning Prayer, Holy Communion 11 o'clock; St. Anthony, Yarker, 3 o'clock; St. John, Newburgh, 7 o'clock; St. Jude, Napanee Mills, 7 o'clock.

PARISH OF BATH—St. John's Church. The Rev. Wm. Lewin, of Kingston, will conduct the services in St. John's church next Sunday 16th inst. at 11 a m. and 7.30 p.m.

Parisian Steam Laundry

Agency at E. Vanalstine's Barber Shop, John st. Laundry will be called for and delivered to any part of the town at usual prices, strictly C. O. D. This is one of the largest and best equipped Steam Laundries in Canada. Laundry shipped once a week, on Wednesday, 3:20 p.m. and delivered Saturday morning. No chemicals used in the Laundry. All work guaranteed first class. Lists on application. tf.

CASTORIA.

The fac-simile signature of Chas. H. Fletcher is on every wrapper.

WOOD'S PHOSPHODINE.
The Great English Remedy.

Before and After

Six Packages Guaranteed to promptly, and permanently cure all forms of Nervous Weakness, Emissions, Spermatorrhea, Impotency and all effects of Abuse or Excesses, Mental Worry, excessive use of Tobacco, Opium or Stimulants, which soon lead to Infirmity, Insanity, Consumption and an early grave. Has been prescribed over 35 years in thousands of cases; is the only Reliable and Honest Medicine known. Ask druggist for Wood's Phosphodine; if he offers some worthless medicine in place of this, inclose price in letter, and we will send by return mail. Price, one package, $1; six, $5. One will please, six will cure. Pamphlets free to any address.
The Wood Company,
Windsor, Ont., Canada.
Sold in Napanee and everywhere in Canada by all responsible druggists.

THE NAPAN

Vol. XXXVI] No. 31—JNO. POLLARD, Editor and Publisher. NAPANEE, ONT., CA

W. COXALL

having recently gone through his stock of Crockery and found it much larger in many lines than it should be at this season of the year, has decided to place it on the market at reduced prices in order to reduce it.

Give him a call before buying and save money.

17th June, 1897.

High Quality and Low Prices.

We are buying and passing on bargains in bright fresh, stylish, high grade Men's and Boy's Clothing, Boots and Shoes, Hats, Caps, and all kinds of Men's Furnishings.

The completeness of our stock guarantees everybody perfect satisfaction, come to see this choice selection of honest qualities and learn why sensible economical people prefer to spend their money with us. Our fine qualities will clear away your last doubt. You will trade with us simply because you can't duplicate the goods at prices so low.

A. M. VINEBERG,

The Wonderful Cheap Clothier, Dundas st., Henry Block, Napanee

Jubilee Flour

Is a grade of flour which we are offering at $1.80 per bag. We have other brands which we are offering at $2.10, $2.25, $2.35, $2.40 and $2.50.

We have now in stock the finest lot of Shorts ever offered in Napanee.

WINDSOR SALT.

A full line of groceries at lowest price for best goods. Armour's Potted Meats at 7c. a tin. Blue Plums at 10c, a tin.

TAYLOR & MORRIS,

(Blewett's Old Stand.)

NEW PLANING MILL AND LUMBER YARD.

Now in full operation. All kinds Lumber, Sash, Doors and Blinds. Custom work done on shortest notice. Get our prices before buying. Mr. Embury is prepared to draw plans for parties wanting them.

Embury, Jackson & Co.

People Talk abo
ful Business Thi is Doing

After all there is no trick about it. T the best service. It's all very simple. every customer. We represent goods represent it or not satisfactory we chee lower prices than other stores. The si another of the factors that has made t

Parasol Bargains.

Ladies' Parasols, Black, worth 50c, 60c, and 70c, our price 35c.
Ladies' Parasols. White only, worth $1.50, our price 50c.
Ladies' Parasols, Black. worth 90c and $1, our price 60c.
Ladies' Parasols, silk, worth $2.00, our price $1.25.

Ladies' Underwear. Silk Mixture worth 50c, our price 25c.

This is a very special bargain. Just think of buy- Underwear, part Silk, at 25c. We have only 15 dozen left, so don't wait until they are all sold.

Black Silk Bargains.

Black gross grain silk just in, bought away down, worth $1.25, and our price 98c. Black Surah Silk cheap at 75c and our price 48c.

Men's White Shirts, Special.

We have two very special values in Men's White Laundried Shirts, viz: 75c and $1.00 Your money back if you can get better values.

It will pay you to visit this you of one half of our bargains. Co

"LOVE AT FIRST SIGHT"

We never paid a Dollar for racing teams, for road records or for subsidies to fast riders.

A Racing Record does not

Improve the quality of a Bicycle.

We started out to build a wheel—giving the purchaser full value for his money in High Grade Material and Honest Workmanship. That our efforts have been crowned with success is proved by the proud position which . . . .

MASSEY = HARRIS

BICYCLES

now occupy

IN THE FRONT RANK!

MASSEY-HARRIS CO., LTD.

W. J. NORMILE,

AGENT, NAPANEE.

First class repair Shop in Connection and New Wheels Kept for Livery.

MILLER BLOCK. DUNDAS STREET.

SIGN OF THE GOLDEN WHEEL.

TWO BIG STORES TO LET.

The Harshaw store, on North side of Dundas street, formerly occupied by the Rathbun Co., as a Flour and Feed Store, now occupied by E. S. Lapum. Immediate possession. Also the corner store in the Leonard Block, now occupied by John Paisley as a Grocery. Possession, Dec. 1st next. App'y to

ALFRED KNIGHT,
26tf At the office of the Cartwright Estate.

TENDERS FOR A NEW CHURCH IN VILLAGE OF CAMDEN EAST.

The undersigned will receive tenders for each department of the work necessary in the erection of a new church in the Village of Camden East, viz: Stone and brick work, carpentering, plastering and painting. All material found by the committee. Plans and specifications to be seen at my residence. The lowest or any tender not necessarily accepted.

CHAS. RILEY,
Sec. Treasurer, of Building Committee.
Camden East, May 31st. 26tf

HOUSES TO LET.

Two commodious dwellings on Centre St. Plenty of good water, hard and soft. For particulars apply to S. CASEY DENISON.

FREDERICKSBURGH FARM FOR SALE—The well-known Alcombrack Farm—being the west half of lot number nineteen, second concession South Fredericksburgh, containing 104 acres (more or less.) This is a valuable farm, seven miles from Napanee, nicely located, buildings in good repair. For particulars apply to RUDD PERRY, Napanee, owner; or HARVEY WARNER, Agent, Napanee P. O.
Napanee, June 10th, 1897. 27d

ERNESTOWN FARM FOR SALE—The Snook Farm—being the west half lot Number 36, 7th concession Ernestown, County Lennox, containing 114 acres, situated 1½ miles from Wilton P. O., where there is three churches two stores, school house, and cheese factory. For particulars apply to JOHN A. SNOOK, Owner, Trenton P. O Ont., or HARVEY WARNER, Agent, Box 15, Napanee, Ont.
Napanee, June 10th, 1897. 27d

THE ROB

FARM FOR SALE.

THREE HUNDRED ACRES.

A desirable farm, situated on the 5th Con. of Camden, Lot No. 6, nine miles from Napanee. On the farm is erected a good frame house, good frame barn and drive house. The farm is in a good state of cultivation and well watered with never failing spring. It is well adapted for stock raising. For terms and particulars apply to JOHN JENNINGS, 30tf Market Hotel, Napanee.

SEALED TENDERS addressed to the undersigned, and endorsed "Tender for supplying coal for the Dominion Buildings" will be received at this office until Thursday, 15th July.

Specifications can be seen and forms of tender obtained on and after Thursday, 24th of June inst., at this office, where all necessary information can be had on application.

Tenders will not be considered unless made on the form supplied and signed with the actual signature of tenderers.

Each tender must be accompanied by an accepted bank cheque to five per cent of the amount of the tender made payable to the order of the Honourable the Minister of Public Works, which will be forfeited if the party declins to enter into a contract when called upon to do so, or if he fail to complete the work contracted for. If the tender be not accepted the cheque will be returned.

The Department will not be bound to accept the lowest or any tender.

By order,
E. F. E. ROY,
Secretary.

Department of Public Works,
Ottawa, 23rd June, 1897.

Newspapers inserting this advertisement without authority from the Department will not be paid for it.

He Stopped the Procession.

A clergyman, who is also a wit, once preached rather a long sermon from the text:

"Thou art weighed in the balance and art found wanting."

After his congregation had listened for about an hour, some began to get weary and went out; others soon followed, greatly to the annoyance of the minister.

Another person started, whereupon the parson stopped in his sermon, and said:

"That's right, gentlemen; as fast as you are weighed pass out."

All the others waited until the sermon was ended.—Spare Moments.

Quaint Epitaph.

An epitaph as curious in its way as any of the quaint gravestone inscriptions that have been recorded is on a tombstone in the cemetery of a suburb of Paris.

The husband died first, and beneath the record of his name was placed, at his request, the line:

"I am anxiously awaiting you. July 30, 1827."

When his widow died, forty years after, the following line completed her inscription:

"Here I am. Sept. 9, 1867."—Elgin Courant.

1999 A.D.

"Mr. Tupper," said the twentieth century business woman to her handsome typewriter. "I am sorry to say that after this week I must get along without you."

The young man burst into tears.

"You cannot mean it!" he sobbed.

"Alas, yes. Last night my husband found one of your hairs on my coat."

A Long-Felt Want.

"But what," asked the fair prospective purchaser in the bicycle shop, "what is that tiny little pill box just under the handle bar for?"

"That, miss," replied the suave dealer, "is for the safe keeping of the piece of chewing gum."

Whereupon the deal was immediately consummated.

What Love Is Worth.

Mr. Ardor—So highly do I value your love that I will settle $25,000 on you at our marriage.

Mrs. Harlem—Value my love indeed! Why, my first husband got a judgment of $50,000 for the alienation of my affections, and I never liked him half as much as I do you.—New York Journal.

CASTORIA.

The fac-simile signature of Chas. H. Fletcher is on every wrapper.

ST. LOUIS DE FRANCE.

A DEPARTURE FROM PREVIOUS RELIGIOUS CONSTRUCTION.

One of the Largest and Finest Church Edifices in the Province of Quebec—A Beautiful Model—The Plans and Measurements.

The Province of Quebec is dotted with fine churches, but the new St. Louis de France, in that part of Montreal above Sherbrooke street and east of St. Lawrence street, is one of the finest and largest parochial churches to be found within its confines. In its architecture it differs materially from previous religious construction. The facade of cut stone consists of three arches, which form a peristyle. The central arch is crowned by a bronze statue of the church's patron saint, Louis of France. On the right hand corner, at Avenue de l'Hotel de Ville and Roy street, rises a tower 70 feet in height, in which are inclosed the baptismal founts. On the other side the main tower, 30 x 30 feet, rises gracefully and majestically to a height of 208 feet. The corner pillars are of cut stone of different shades.

The niche for the bells, in the upper part of the tower, is also of cut stone, of octagonal form, 24 x 24 feet. The cross which crowns the tower is of gilt iron, of wonderful workmanship.

The greatest width of the front is 104 feet and its greatest height is 116 feet. The body of the church is 82 feet in width and 240 feet in length over all.

ST. LOUIS DE FRANCE—MONTREAL'S NEW CHURCH.

In the interior decoration of the church the Roman style of architecture has been strictly followed, even in matters of detail. The finishing of the walls and ceiling is in wood of various colors, with carved panels, and graceful ornaments in gold. The arches o fthe nave are very elegant. The central panel of the ceiling in wood of various colors, with carved panels, and graceful ornaments in gold. The arches of the nave are very elegenat. The central panel of the ceiling is adorned with excellent copies in oil of the works of various masters, the subjects reproduced being the Rosary of Sassa-Ferrato, surrounded with a chain of Angels imitated from Raphael; the Immaculate Conception of Murillo; the Annunciation, by Guido Reni; the Assumption of Titian; the Crowning of the Holy Vigin of Raphael, while in the sanctuary is a reproduction of St. Louis praying by Le Brun.

The railing of the sanctuary is of carved white oak, with marble top, and the stalls of the sanctuary are of the same wood. The altars, the principal of which is of imposing proportion, are also of wood with marble panels and columns, of the finest colors.

The church is well lighted by twenty-five large windows, of colored glass, the gift of the various sodalities of the parish and of some of the members of the congregation. The designs on these windows include makes of various saints, copied from the works of Le Sueur, Le Baron and Cabonel; while the surrounding panels are imitated from the celebrated windows of the Cathedral of Rheims. This part of the work has been done in Rheims, under the direction of Messrs. Fritel and Vermonet,

EE EXPRESS.

ANADA—FRIDAY, JULY 9, 1897. $1 per Year in advance; $1.50 if not so paid.

oleb rook
ston Geo 11 Feb 98

ut the Wonder-is Store

The people are bound to go where they get e. We try to be truthful and honest with ls just as they are. If everything is not as we heerfully make it right. Of course we sell at size of our business warrants this and it is this business grow.

Men's Black Fedora Hats.

We have just received a special value in Men's Black Fedora Hats, all sizes, worth from $1.25 to $1.50, and our price $1.00. Ask to see them.

White Spot Muslins.

Just to hand in White Spot Muslins, the very newest things in the trade, at 15c, 19c, 22c, and 25c per yard, which are cheaper and better value than any other store can give you.

Men's Suits ready-made at $5.00.

We are having a great sale for our special Men's All-Wool Suits at $5.00. Don't buy until you see them.

Apron Ginghams 36 in. Wide.

We have just purchased a bargain lot of Apron Ginghams, 36 inches wide, fast colors, usually sold at 10c and 12½c, per yard, and our price 8½c per yd.

store. We haven't space to tell ome and see for yourself.

Building Material of all Kinds.

FOR SALE AT REASONABLE PRICES.

Headquarters for Lumber of all kinds, Shingles, Lath, Doors, Sash, Monldings, Portland Cement, Water Lime, Plaster Paris, Apple Barrels, Land Plaster, Porus Tile, Windsor Salt, Coal, Wood and Charcoal.

Use our pressed Brick for your house and chimney, as cheap as any, and the best. Get our prices before purchasing.

THE RATHBUN CO'Y

Yard and office foot of Centre St R. SHIPMAN, Agent.

NEWS FROM THE COUNTRY.

MILL HAVEN.

The lawn social announced in last issue has been fixed for the evening of Wednesday 14th inst. A first class programme of musical and literary selections has been arranged for, and a good time is promised. All the delicacies of the season will be for sale on the grounds at a merely nominal rate. Come one and all and enjoy the pleasures of the evening. Admission 10 cents. Should the weather prove unfavorable the entertainment will be given in the schoolhouse.

Mr. R. Finigan is on the sick list.

Mr. A. and Miss M. Miller spent Sunday at Deseronto. Miss G. Stover accompanied them home.

Miss Ethel Fleming spent a few days with her sister at Stella.

Miss E. Demorest, teacher at Hawley is spending the holidays with her sister Mrs. C. Collins.

DENBIGH.

The weather has been all that could be desired lately, and grain is growing fast. Most of the meadows however are poor and less than an average crop of hay is expected.

Although everybody is yet complaining of hard times a few local improvements are again being made at our village and vicinity.

The drive shed at the Methodist church has at last been finished.

A frame kitchen has been added to the Lutheran parsonage.

Jas. Johnson has built a stone house to the rear of his store, and a nice veranda in front of it.

Chas. Both has built a new picket fence in front of his house and a piece of sidewalk and is now plastering the inside of his house.

Paul Stein is going to do some repairs to his grist mill, and may put up a new frame barn.

Theodore Thompson is building a new house and E. Berndt has added a kitchen to his house.

E. Wagar is also building a new house, and A. John has built a new stable.

Albert L. Stein got his right hand badly cut while cutting lath in his father's mill and will not be able to use it for some time.

Prompt, Pleasant, Perfect. Norway Pine Syrup is a prompt, pleasant and perfect cure for coughs, colds, asthma, bronchitis, hoarseness, sore throat, pain in the chest, croup, whooping cough, quinsy, influenza and all throat and lung troubles. 25c. nd 50c. at all drug stores.

WILTON.

The many friends of Norman Storms, Violet, were greatly shocked to hear of his death last Saturday. The funeral services were conducted by Rev. Coombe, of Wilton, assisted by Revs. Crookshanks of the Bay Circuit and Flemming of Harrowsmith. The bereaved family have the sympathy of all.

Miss Hicks and Erwell Miller are on the sick list. Mrs. W. H. Neilson is better.

Miss M. Emerson, Mississippi, is home for her holidays.

H. Mills and Mrs. Ovens have returned from a week's visit with friends in St. Catharines and Thorold. They were accompanied by Miss Beulah Mills, of Demill Ladies' College, who will spend her holidays at home.

Sunday was a big day for the Free

DENBIGH.

Our popular school teacher, H. E. Gage, left for his home in Bath on Thursday. He was accompanied by A. H. Lane to the Masanaw where they spent the day exploring the well-known Big Rock, Mr. Gage also photographed the lake and rock. Al. returned home in the evening well pleased with the day's sport.

Miss Adda W. Lane returned home Saturday evening on the 7 o'clock train from an extended visit with her sister, Mrs W. J. Yeomans, at Cache Bay. Welcome back to Denbigh, Adda.

Miss Loyst, of Mountain Grove, spent last week visiting her brother, Fred, of the Denbigh House.

The Ladies' Aid, of Vennachar, will hold a picnic on the 8th of July in J. Gregg's grove. I wonder if the new buggy will go?

Mr. C. Woodcock, Belleville, will spend the summer at Gilbert Denikes.

Mining is the order of the day. Everybody is looking up mines of more or less value. Generally less.

Visitors: Misses Martha and Annie Connors, Vennachar and W. Skitch, Flinton, at Wm. Lane's.

The very finest Valencia oranges bananas ripe tomatoes. Pine apples 5c to 15c each, lemons 10c per dozen, strawberries 12½c per box, 15 bars soap 25c. All kinds of fresh vegetables, also the very finest groceries, cheap as the cheapest. Western beef from Guelph, spring lamb, pork, Fearmen's sugar cured ham, best English breakfast bacon, fresh fish, etc., at the Central Meat Market, J. W. Anderson, Manager; or at J. F. Smith's grocery.

REMARKABLE ESCALADING.

By a Pyramid U. S. Soldiers Send a Man Over a 31-Foot Wall.

A remarkable feat has just been accomplished by United States soldiers stationed at Fort Sheridan, Ill. An improvised parapet thirty-one feet high was scaled by means of a pyramid of soldiers. Eighteen of the heaviest and strongest of the men formed the base of the pyramid. Upon the shoulders of these stood ten men. Up climbed six men and stood on the shoulders of the ten, then four on the shoulders of the six, then three on the shoulders of the four. The huge pyramid swayed and rocked unsteadily, but it hung bravely together. Could it have stood perfectly upright the upper man could have reach two noted French artists.

BINSON CO.

The images of the Way of the Cross are in copper, and imitated from Fulrich. It is the only work of the kind on the continent.

The recent inauguration ceremonies were of the most imposing character. Mgr. Paul Larocque, of Sherbrooke, blessed the new temple and afterwards celebrated pontifical high mass. The sermon was delivered by Mgr. E. Gravel of Nicolet. The choir, which has a great reputation, and which was supported by a full orchestra, rendered Beethoven's Mass en ut, which was heard in Canada for the first time.

A Bicycle Dash to the Pole.

Hugh Lee of Meriden, Conn., who accompanied Lieutenant Peary on his famous trip across the bleak ice fields of Greenland, believes the North Pole can be best reached by the use of the bicycle.

Mr. Lee is not joking when he makes this statement. Mr. Lee said, in discussing the idea of an Arctic exploring expedition composed of wheelmen:

"The idea is not at all impracticable—not half so impracticable as some of the scientific world is interested in just now. The immense fields of ice in the Arctic region, although broken in many places by leads in summer and by icebergs all the year round, present an excellent opportunity for the practical use of bicycles. The water freezes as smoothly in the Arctic regions as it does here. The salt crystals make the surface like a gravel path, and the wheel would not slip on the ice, as one might think.

"The snow that covers the ice in winter is pounded down by the wind until it is hard enough to bear a man. The surface is like marble, and I think a wheelman would find no trouble riding over it.

"When I was with Lieutenant Peary on that long trip across Greenland there were miles upon miles of ice and snow, level and smooth enough for wheeling. I frequently wished for my wheel. If I ever go north again I shall take one with me.

"If a man could place a station of supplies upon the most northern of the islands north of Greenland, as Mr. Peary now proposes doing, he would be within three hundred and fifty miles of the pole, and if the ice stretched out in one continuous mass from that land to the pole he could ride there and back in a week. He would be able to carry his provisions with him, because he would not have more than twenty pounds in all.

"The only danger would be from accidents, for if his wheel broke down he would not have provisions enough to last him until he could make his return to camp. It would be dangerous to go alone. Half a dozen men ought to be able to make the trip successfully."

Lost Its Force.

"Ultimatum is a Latin word, isn't it?"

"Yes; it used to mean business, but it doesn't now."—Puck.

Care for Your Shoes.

Never try to wear a shoe too small or that does not fit when you first put it on. There is no misery more distracting than a shoe that hurts the foot. Never let your shoes get hard and dry. Don't let them pinch the toes. Don't let the heels run down. Don't dry a wet shoe till you have rubbed it well with a flannel cloth and then with vaseline. Never put them near the fire. Half a peck of oats in a small box will be the very cheapest and best "boot tree" for a wet shoe. Fill the shoe and shake the oats down, after having rubbed and oiled it, and set in a dry place to dry gradually. When dry pour the oats back for further use. Do not "black upon blacking" more than a week at a time. Take a wet rag and wash the shoe at least once a week and oil over night to keep in good condition. Never handle patent leather until you have warmed it. Never wear rubber goloshes with good shoes. Put on old shoes in wet weather. There is no part of the apparel of a lady or a gentleman which should be more scrupulously neat, or that is so often scandalously neglected.

A New Neuralgia Reliever.

It is said that if horseradish is applied to the temples when one is suffering with a neuralgia headache it will give relief.

COURT COSTUME.

A Bud's Dress for Her First Courtesy Before Her Majesty.

The dress shown here, says The London Mail, is one designed for a girl who will make her first courtesy at court at this function. It is one in which white tulle billows and froths over white satin. Each pretty frill is edged with a silver thread just sufficiently wide to glisten with an express intention. The skirt is trimmed with pearl embroidery, and has clusters of lilies of the valley tied with silver tissue ribbon. There is a white satin train, and the corsage is decorated with a tiny zouave of pearl embroidery, brightened with silver. The last drawing room made clear the fact that diamante embroidery, which was the novelty this time last year, will be a feature, and a favorite one, of this day's gowns. Also that the sleeve is growing smaller and smaller. Now it is sought for in vain, or is discovered merely as a series of tiny frills, a festoon of flowers, or simply a pouf like that on an infant's frock.

ARRAYED FOR A BOW BEFORE HER SOVEREIGN.

The Leading Waist.

Every sort of bodice is worn this season; yet the round waist rather has the lead. You can have a two-inch basque effect below the belt or a bolero bodice ending two inches above, and wide or narrow belts as they best suit the figure. In addition to the variety of round bodices there are basques three and six inches deep extending all around or just across the back and sides.

Plaid Silk Belts.

Belts of plaid silk fastened with a metal buckle are popular with English women, and belts of every sort are a particular feature of dress. Leather of various tints forms a background for all sorts of metal work and fancy jewel designs. A green one dotted over with turquoise is especially good style.

Victorian Gloves.

The craze for Victorian souvenirs extends to the gloves and purses in London. Gloves have buttons with the Queen's portrait on their surface, and pocketbooks are ornamented with the rose, shamrock and thistle.

Select Red With Care.

Red, which is such a popular color this season, needs great care in making a selection, as it is either very becoming or very vulgar, as it harmonizes or is a discordant element in its effect on the woman who wears it.

How Could She?

Flasherly—Such a joke! Kit talked to a wax figure for half an hour thinking it was Cholly Saphead.

Dasherly—How on earth did she discover her mistake?

Flasherly—Bless you! she didn't.

Her Preference.

Pater (to 12-year-old daughter)—"Nina, when you get married I'll have a bishop perform the ceremony."

"No, papa. I'd rather have a cheap little clergyman, and plenty of ice cream."—Life.

at home.

Sunday was a big day for the Free Methodists, seven of their converts being immersed.

The Hornerite's are holding forth now in William Walker's grove.

Mr. Clark, of Arden, visiting W. Scott, conducted services in the Methodist church Sunday morning.

Bronchitis Cured.

MESSRS. T MILBURN & Co., Toronto Ont.

DEAR SIRS,—I have used Hagyard's Yellow Oil for my children when they had bronchitis and always with great success. I used it also for sore throat, and can say there is nothing to equal it as a sure cure.

MRS. JAMES O'BRIEN,
Huntsville, Ont.

BATH.

The Annual picnic of the Bath Methodist Sunday School was held at Nicholson's grove on Tuesday last and was a decided success. The day was very warm and ice water very dear at the booth, owned by the proprietor of the grounds. The ground would never do for Buffalo Bills Wild west Show.

A grand reception was given the Rev. Dr. Williams on his arrival at Bath circuit consisting of a sumptuous repast provided by the ladies of the circuit. A large representation of the officials of the church were present to enjoy the first social relationship with the new pastor and his family, a fitting acknowledgement of which was delivered from the pulpit on Sunday evening last. It is safe to say the right man is in the right place.

It was feared a few days ago that the commercial attractions of Bath centre would go to the western end of the village when Mr. Gardner erected a fifty foot building on Rogers corner, but Mr. D. McPharland conceived a plan that settled the difficulty. Having imported a mammoth cake of soap he set the people guessing its weight for a prize. The cake was drawn from the station by Mr. Mills' ponies and four stout men mounted it on the counter at McKenty's store for exhibition.

We are glad to see Mr. Herbert Gage in our midst once more.

Misses Minerva and Almeda Howard and Miss Mary Davy are home for the holidays.

Miss Northmore, of Cataraqui, is the guest of Mrs. Max Robinson.

SIGNS OF WORMS are variable appetite, itching at the nose, etc. Dr. Low's Worm Syrup is the worm expeller.

PRINCE EDWARD COUNTY.

Farmers throughout the county are busily engaged with their haying.

The heat for the last few days has been almost intolerable and the berry crop will, in consequence, be much smaller than was at first anticipated.

Mr and Mrs. Henry Blakely, Yerexville, spent Saturday and Sunday with Mrs. Blakely's sister, Mr. John Lochheed, near Napanee.

The yard in the front of the Barker residence, Picton, has been converted into a charming little park. It it just what the town has needed for many years, and adds one more pleasant feature to its many attractions. That the park is greatly appreciated is a self-evident fact, judging from the number who were enjoying the cool shade on Saturday afternoon last, nor will the citizens themselves be the only ones benefitted. Excursionists to our town will find it much pleasanter than the band stand or hotel balconies where they used formerly to rest when tired of sight-seeing.

The steamer "Empire State" has been chartered to carry the Orangemen's excursion to Watertown.

John C. Benson, Sophiasburgh, was the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Benson Moore, Napanee, one day last week.

Miss R. Smith, Picton, has returned home from the Whitby Ladies' College.

Mr. and Mrs. John P. German, High Shore, and Mr. and Mrs. D. W. VanBlaricome, of Elm Book, visited friends in Belleville last week.

Mr. Elias Slater, Yerexville, has a field of rye which is over eight feet in height in many places. It is a beautiful sight to see.

Two Bottles Cure Pimples.

GENTLEMEN,—For a long time I had pimples breaking out all over my face. I was told about B.B.B., and started its use. After taking one bottle I was much better, and the second bottle made a complete cure. I have recommended it to others of my friends, and they have found it uniformly satisfactory.

A. F. BEST,
Whitebread, Ont.

Ladies silk bicycle belts, silver blouse sets from 20c upwards. The latest styles in souvenir Napanee yachting and Collegiate Institute stick pins at F. Chinneck's Jewellery Store, where you can also get all watch repairing guaranteed to give satisfaction. Try us.

Cheap Crochet Sets at Pollard's.

REMARKABLE ESCALADING.

ed the edge of the parapet. But this was of course impossible.

To cap the pyramid and scale the wall was assigned to Corporal Leary, a lithe, athletic infantryman. Getting a swift running start he climbed like a cat up over the backs and shoulders of his fellows and finally, standing upon the shoulders of the three upper men, he sprang upward and catching the edge of the parapet with his fingers in a few seconds drew himself up over the edge and into the stronghold of the imaginary enemy. The whole effort required just four minutes, and it must be recorded as a truly remarkable feat, breaking, as it did, the world's previous best record for escalading by three feet. Corporal Leary has been recommended for promotion.

Escalading has long been recognized as of great importance. The soldiers of the different armies of Europe have been for many years drilled in this particular branch of the service, and some squads have become remarkably proficient. This feat of the soldiers of Fort Sheridan is certain to be followed by attempts elsewhere all over the world to excel the record of thirty-one feet.

Almighty Voice.

Almighty Voice, the Northwest Indian who killed four men, made a mighty attempt to escape; but the deadly shrapnel shell from the cannons of the Northwest Mounted Police made him bite the dust. His skull was shattered and his brains protruded. Only one shell of the thirty-eight fired against him went astray, and prior to the death shot Almighty Voice had received two wounds, one in the ankle and one in the knee. It seems certain he made at least one attempt to escape, as an improvised crutch, found seventy-five yards away from the bluff, as well as a track made by him when creeping back, indicates.

ALMIGHTY VOICE.

The Indians had no food reserve, and no water; they were living on any birds they could shoot, and drinking the sap of trees; they had very little ammunition, and, in fact, were completely at bay.

There were signs all around that Almighty Voice and the deluded lad with him were driven to the last extremity. The digging of the pit with the piece of old iron, marks on the trees whence sap had been drunk, the cutting of leaves with knives, all speak of patience bred of despair. The end of the affair has given a feeling of relief to all this neighborhood, and security to life and property is felt to be assured.

Their work finished, the detachments have returned to their respective quarters, and it was deemed quite safe to permit the Mounted Police detachment to depart for the jubilee celebration.

Dr. Agnew's Ointment Cures

Salt Rheum, Eczema, Tetter, Barber's Itch, and all like skin diseases and eruptions. It gives relief in a day. Its cures are legion; its failures are few. Years of testing, and grows daily in favor of suffering humanity. Good for Baby's Skin, good for young, middle-aged or old folks. 35 cents.

CASTORIA

For Infants and Children.

The fac-simile signature of Chas. H. Fletcher is on every wrapper

900 DROPS

CASTORIA

A Vegetable Preparation for Assimilating the Food and Regulating the Stomachs and Bowels of

INFANTS CHILDREN

Promotes Digestion, Cheerfulness and Rest. Contains neither Opium, Morphine nor Mineral. NOT NARCOTIC.

Recipe of Old Dr SAMUEL PITCHER

A perfect Remedy for Constipation, Sour Stomach, Diarrhoea, Worms, Convulsions, Feverishness and LOSS OF SLEEP.

Fac Simile Signature of
Chas. H. Fletcher.
NEW YORK.

At 6 months old
35 DOSES – 35 CENTS

EXACT COPY OF WRAPPER.

SEE THAT THE FAC-SIMILE SIGNATURE —OF— Chas. H. Fletcher. IS ON THE WRAPPER OF EVERY BOTTLE OF CASTORIA

Castoria is put up in one-size bottles only. It is not sold in bulk. Don't allow anyone to sell you anything else on the plea or promise that it is "just as good" and "will answer every purpose." See that you get C-A-S-T-O-R-I-A.

The fac-simile signature of Chas. H. Fletcher. is on every wrapper.

Is Your Heart Strong?

Or have you palpitation, throbbing or irregular beating, dizziness, short breath, smothering or choking sensation, pain in the breast or heart. If so, your heart is affected and will in turn affect your nerves, causing nervousness, sleeplessness, morbid anxious feeling, debility.

Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills

Cure all these complaints by regulating the heart's action and building up the nervous and muscular system to perfect health and strength. Price 60c. per box or 6 boxes for $2.50. At all druggists.

The Dominion Bank
ESTABLISHED 1871.

CAPITAL — $1,500,000.00
RESERVE FUND — $1,450,000.00

Deposits received and interest allowed. Drafts on all parts of Great Britain and United States bought and sold.

E. H. BAINES, Agent.

THE - MERCHANTS - BANK
OF CANADA
Head Office, — Montreal
Capital paid up, $6,000,000
Surplus, $3,000,000
INTREST AT CURRENT RATES PAID ON DEPOSITS.
A GENERAL BANKING BUSINESS TRANSACTED.

WHEN the Liberals were returned to power Conservative Journals gave them a lease of about six months. They have now generously extended it to five years, and this will no doubt be added to from time to time as circumstances warrant.

THE poor house question will not down. This county's inhumanity to the unfortunate and destitute among us rises up to condemn us. Our county commissioners should consider this question in a broad and generous spirit. The lack of a House of Refuge is a blot upon the name of the good old County of Lennox and Addington. A project is now on foot to found a poor house in Napanee. The County Council should join issue with the town and make it a county institution.

A CANADIAN WOMAN.

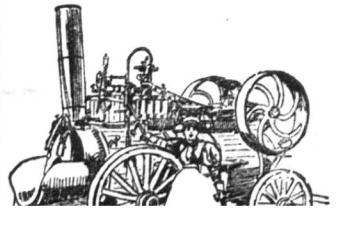
The Only Woman Engineer in the United States of America.

MRS. Annie Shanivan, of Tulare, Cal. claims to be the only woman engineer in the United States, and is proud of the distinction.

She has been running the engine for the planing mill at Mountain Home, in Tulare County for over a year, and she likes the work, although a great deal of it is of the roughest kind.

Mountain Home is a hamlet that exists more on account of the planing mill than anything else, and the people there are of the rough, sturdy sort.

"We never had no man here that runs that engine like she does," said one of the men. "It never stops a minute dur-



A TRIP DOWN THE ST. LAWRENCE.

To the Editor of THE NAPANEE EXPRESS.

Dear Editor—For the benefit of those who have not had the pleasure of a trip down the St. Lawrence to Montreal I will give you a few lines in reference, as I have just returned from the round trip, per Str. Alexandria. It is is said that the scenery is superior to even the Hudson of New York. We started from Picton at two o'clock p.m. on Monday 21st. Among our company were Rev. Mr. Young formerly of Napanee, Rev. Mr. Tucker of Bath, Methodist minister, who is transferred to Brome County, Quebec, Mr. Cooper, Mr. Sheriff, and Mr. Williams, of Picton. Mr. Young kept us well posted about the points of interest along the route. The officers and crew are a jolly lot of fellows and used us like gentlemen. Our board and state rooms were first class, the only difficulty we had was to understand the French language and unfortunately we were not in it. We had on board about $15,000 worth of cheese and an immense lot of other freight. We arrived at Kingston at 9 o'clock and at daylight we were at Brockville. The sailing here is delightful—here is the termination of the thousand islands. Next is Prescott. Here we saw the International car ferry boat which sank a few days previous. Ogdensburg is opposite and just a little below are the extensive buildings of the state insane asylum. Some of these cost over $100,000. They have 1000 acres of land connected. Their supplies are received from underground railway cars from one central distributing place.

We next enter the first rapids called the Gallops, our next stop is at Morrisburg. Here we met with a misfortune which might have been disastrous. The current at this point is very swift and in trying to land the boat struck the wharf at full speed—6 cheese overboard, 60 doz. eggs smashed, and $50 damage to the wharf was the consequence, besides a good shaking up we all realized.

The next rapids is the Long Sault. These are the most formidable. We go through at the rate of about 30 miles an hour. Cornwall is at the foot of this. We then enter lake St. Charles, 40 miles long, then comes the Coteau, Cedars, and Cascade rapids in succession. This is the most beautiful part of the river. There the Canadian Atlantic crosses the river to Valleyfield where Shortis committed that terrible murder so familiar to everyone. The Ottawa river enters below this into Lachine Canal at the town of Lachine as our boat is too heavily loaded to enter these rapids. The sail along this canal is very beautiful. The land is extra, mostly all gardens along here. We enter Montreal about 9 o'clock, Tuesday night, in time to see the illumination and fire-works. It would be impossible to describe the beauty of the city when illuminated as this display was in honor of our beloved queen. Rev. Mr. Tucker and I took in the city by electric cars.

Many of the principal buildings were outlined by thousands of electric jets and drapery.

Next morning I visited the ocean vessels Ormidale and Carthagenian of the Allen Line, and the Labrador of Liverpool and Straits of Menai of Glascow.

The Labrador is 420 ft. long, draws 25 ft. 8 in. of water, capacity 5000 tons, 6 decks, but the Man-of-War is the attraction, manned by 460 men. I was shown about her by one of the marines. On the top deck are five one one hundred pound cannon, 7 maxim guns, and several twelve pounders. On the lower decks are the hospital, prison, magazine, small arms and many other things. On one day 12,000 visitors had been shown about her. This is the best equipped vessel that has ever visited Montreal, and the

Much in Little

Is especially true of Hood's Pills, for no medicine ever contained so great curative power in so small space. They are a whole medicine chest, always ready, always efficient, always satisfactory; prevent a cold or fever, cure all liver ills, sick headache, jaundice, constipation, etc. 25c. The only Pills to take with Hood's Sarsaparilla.

Hood's Pills

ANDREE'S DEATH SURE.

A Kansas Professor Says All the Elements Are Against Him.

Andree's daring in attempting to reach the pole in a balloon is almost certain to cost him his life. This is the opinion of Professor Lewis L. Dyche of the Kansas State University, and there are few men whose opinions on polar expeditions are of greater value.

"I am afraid Andree will never be seen again if he makes a successful start from Spitzbergen for the north pole in his balloon," said Professor Dyche. "His expedition, as an example of daring, has never been equaled; it is a piece of stupendous courage, but nature in its most terrible aspect is against him, and it is very unlikely he will come back.

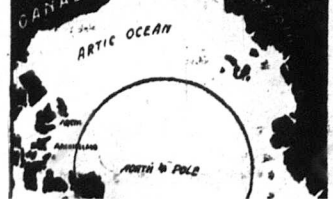
"The theory that the north pole may be crossed in a balloon is extremely fascinating, but the difficulties in the way are almost, if not quite, insurmountable. Nansen's drift in his boat through the polar currents was completely practicable beside it. Ice and land are tangible things to travel over, but who knows of the currents of the air?

"Andree has already started from Stockholm, Sweden, for the islands of Spitzbergen, half way between Norway and the north pole. The balloon will be filled about June 20, and if the winds are favorable, that is, from the south or southwest, it will be cut loose, and Andree and his party will have started on their perilous, and, I believe, hopeless journey.

"Andree argues that Nansen having failed to reach the north pole by trusting himself to the currents of the ocean, there is more certainty in currents of air. He relies on the prevailing winds from the south or southeast carrying him near or across the pole, and probably wafting the balloon clear across the arctic circle to Alaska or Siberia. For a year circulars from the Russian Government have been distributed over Siberia commanding the people to watch for the balloon and to care for its passengers. Similar circulars have been distributed over Alaska and Greenland.

"A glance at this map will show the difficulties of the expedition. It is said that all winds in that country are from the south, because at the north pole it is south in every direction. Winds coming from every direction will produce cross currents that will blow him everywhere and nowhere. Winds usually follow land inclosed waterways. When I was at Holstenborg, Greenland, I observed the winds for seven weeks. From June 9 to June 20 the winds blew hard from the south and brought fog and rain. In August and September the winds were from the north. Peary told me that in the north of Greenland the winds were from the dome of the continent toward the sea in every direction. Greeley reported from Cape Sabine and beyond high winds from various directions. It is therefore likely that the balloon will be blown across the arctic circle in a criss-cross way, now north, now south, east or west, and in all the variations of the points of the compass. There will probably be times when there will be no winds at all, on account of the low temperature, or the winds, taking him to a point he does not desire, may abandon him, only to take him up again and bear him out of his course. He may steer a few points in the wind, but he cannot prevail against contrary winds.

"The greatest danger he may fear is



W. A. BELLHOUSE,
Manager, Napanee Branch

Provincial Building and Loan Associatlon, Toronto.

Local Advisory Board at Napanee.

President, M. S. Madole Esq; Vice Pres., G. W. Gibbard Esq., F. W. Morris, T. D. Pruyn, J. J. Taylor, Chas. Frizzell, Dr. G. W. Edwards, W. P. Dereche. Solicitors Messrs. Deroche and Madden. Valuator, W. Embury; Sect. Treasurer and Agent, Irvine Parks.

from whom all information can be obtained. Money received on investment at good interest, and money loaned on easy terms of repayment.

Apply to I. Parks. Agent.

FRUIT & ORNAMENTAL TREES

700 ACRES.

SHRUBS, ROSES, VINES AND SEED POTATOES.

WE have the largest assortment and employ the very latest and most improved methods for propagating. All stock carefully packed under our personal supervision, and all new varieties tested at our trial farms before being catalogued. These are the only testing orchards connected with any Nursery in the Dominion.

Agents Wanted to Represent us.

Special attention given to Park, Cemetery and Boulevard orders. Estimates furnished for supplying entire orchards.

Why buy of foreign concerns or of middle men when you can purchase as cheaply from us and get better value.

Our stock is Canadian grown and acclimated.

Catalogue (English or French) free on application.

STONE & WELLINGTON, Toronto, Ontario.

FONTHILL NURSERYMEN,

The Leading Canadian Tree Men

The Napanee Express

NAPANEE, FRIDAY, JULY 9th, 1897.

THIS is the season when the young man's fancy lightly turns to thoughts of a straw hat.

THE unity of the Tory leaders is evidenced by the fact that Foster and Bowell do not speak as they pass by.

THE old boys have taken their departure from Ottawa, Sir Mackenzie Bowell has gone home, and the Grit Government is still in power.

THE BEAVER has gone its 11 cent corn one better. It now points out that the Government has voted this session $98,009,487. What next will it spring on an unsuspecting public.

THERE is this to be said in favor of the inane young man who rocks the boat—he is usually the victim of his own folly. "The didn't know it was loaded" variety generally kills somebody else.

THE new Post-master General is deserving of great praise for the saving effected in the administration of his department. There is every prospect that under his managment this branch of the public service will soon be self sustaining.

MRS. ANNIE SHANIVAN,
A Canadian who is the only woman engineer in the United States.

ing the day, and always runs as smooth and steady as one of them eight-day clocks."

It is over three years since Mrs. Shanivan and her husband arrived at Mountain Home. They came from the East, where her husband had charge of the motive power of a big flour mill, and got big pay. But his health broke down, and so they came to Mountain Home, where he took charge of the engine in the planing mill. For a time he improved in health, but finally had to give up, and his wife took charge of his work. There was nothing else to do, as money was scarce and sickness was expensive. And the woman has done the work satisfactorily ever since. She does everything about the engine, from shovelling the fuel under the boiler to making the repairs, and keeps everything in the best of order.

"Do I like my work?" she replied in answer to a question. "Of course I do. If I didn't like it I couldn't do it well, and then I would be discharged." She was standing with one hand resting, almost affectionately, on the throttle valve, and made a pretty picture, for she is a good-looking woman and of evident refinement.

Mrs. Shanivan wears no greasy jumper, nor is her face black and grimy with soot. Instead she is always attired in neat fitting clothes of pretty colors and her face and hands are kept as clean as they would be if she were engaged in ordinary household duties. The engine room is as neat as any kitchen in the land.

"The clothes problem," she said, "was a difficult one to me at first. Everything gets dirty, and, of course, skirts are likely to catch in some of the gear, as I have found out. Bloomers? No, I wouldn't wear bloomers. It is all right to do a man's work when one has to, but wearing his clothes is another matter.

"The way I solved the problem was to make my skirt and waist of thin wash goods so that I could change them every day. I have plenty of time to do the washing here and can iron them at night. At first I made the skirt long, like those I had always worn, but last summer it caught in the crank right there and I had my hand and knee badly hurt. If the goods had not been thin and torn I would have been killed.

"The planing mill is owned by my husband, and we manufacture fruit trays, orange boxes, shingles and stakes.

"I was born at St. George, Canada, in 1864, and there I was married. I have five children, and my home and family are my chief comforts."

Dead Easy.

"Are you going to the seashore or mountains this summer?"

"Oh, the seashore. It's too exclusive in the mountains, but at the seashore anyone can get in the swim."

The New Man's Revenge.

Hewitt—How do you like this new woman business?

Jewett—Well, it has its advantages. I went through my wife's bloomers last night and got $1.95.

Too Patient.

"You protest that you love me, Emily, but I am still waiting for the first kiss."

"Well, why do you wait?"—Fliegende Blaetter.

An Ontario Lady Had Her Hands Poisoned.

Ladies should remember that the Diamond Dyes are the only pure, true and unadulterated dyes in the world. The imitation dyes sold under various names have bulk enough, but three-fourths of the contents is composed of cheap and worthless ingredients most dangerous to use and handle.

Diamond Dyes, prepared according to scientific principles, are always the same in color and strength; these great advantages the women of Canada fully appreciate.

An Ontario lady writing about Diamond Dyes says:

"Your Diamond Dyes are the best I have ever used; they are quite harmless to work with and never irritate the skin. I had occasion to use a package of common, cheap dye that was sold me as being equal to the 'Diamond,' but it proved a source of great trouble. After using it a severe rash appeased on my hands, showing it contained poisonous matter."

largest. I was through many of the most important places, such as Notre Dame cathedral, St. Peters, Y.M.C.A., Dominion Square, Bank of Montreal, Windsor Hotel, which is the largest in Canada, but one of the chief features is Mount Royal, the pride of Montreal. It lies 700 feet above the river and can be reached by cable cars, which I had the pleasure to enjoy. The view from here is not surpassed anywhere. The cemeteries are situated here, and from one of them may be seen Mount Calvary and the crucifixion. I could refer to many other scenes but time and space will not allow.

H. E. SILLS.

Picton June 27th, 1897.

NON-SECTARIAN.

Divines All Meet on a Common Level and are of One Accord in Proclaiming the Healing Powers of Dr. Agnew's Catarrhal Powder—It Relieves in Thirty Minutes.

"When I know anything is worthy of a recommendation I consider it my duty to tell it." Rev. Jas. Murdock, of Harrisburgh, Pa., says this of Dr. Agnew's Catarrhal Powder after having been cured of a very malignant form of catarrh. He is not the only great divine on this continent who could and who has preached little sermonettes on the wonderful cures effected by this famed remedy. What names are more familiar to Canadians than the Rt. Rev. A. Sweetman, Lord Bishop of Toronto, and Dr. Langtry, of the church of England; the Rev Mungo Fraser, of Knox Prebyterian church, Hamilton or the noted Methodist preacher-traveller, Dr. W. H. Withrow, of Toronto. All these men have proven what is claimed for Dr. Agnew's Catarrhal Powder, and have given their written testimony to it.

Daring Feat of Horsemanship.

One of the most daring feats ever performed on horseback was to be seen nightly last month in a Berlin circus, where Signora Pepina di Mountebello, a young Italian girl, mounted on her dark-brown mare, "La Folie," undertook to jump across an open victoria, with four men seated in the carriage. Signora di Mountebello was born at Trieste, of wealthy parents, and at an early age showed great liking for riding on horseback. Her wishes in that direction being granted she was soon the best horsewoman in town, and finally her passion for the sport caused her to enter upon a professional career in the Circus Vidoli at Trieste. Her daring exhibitions soon made a name for her, and she commands to-day the highest salary paid any high-school equestrienne in Europe. Another of her unique feats is the jumping of high hurdles, and over four full-grown horses standing closely together, side by side. The jump across a carriage driven into the arena with four people seated within, has never before been shown in a circus or riding school.

DARING EQUESTRIAN FEAT.

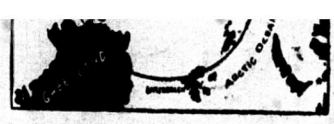
Wanted—An Idea Who can think of some simple thing to patent? Protect your ideas; they may bring you wealth. Write JOHN WEDDERBURN & CO., Patent Attorneys, Washington, D. C., for their $1,800 prize offer and list of two hundred inventions wanted.

They Are Good. Mr. Jas. Hagan, the well-known ex-alderman of Kemptville, Ont., says:—"For some years I have been greatly troubled with pain across my back. Urinary troubles caused me much loss of sleep, and I suffered from a tired worn out feeling. Doan's Kidney Pills gave me relief in a short time. The pain in my back has disappeared, and I feel that I would be doing wrong not to recommend them to others suffering as I did. They are the best medicine I ever used."



REGION ANDREE WILL ATTEMPT TO TRAVERSE IN HIS BALLOON.

from the ice fogs, so dreadful and penetrating that no clothing is proof against them. They are caused by the south and north winds meeting over the great ice masses. How will he make observations in these impenetrable fogs? When I was at Cape Sabine I noted strong winds for four or five hours, then no wind and a great deal of bewildering fog.

"If Andree, on the other hand, should cast loose in a fine wind blowing from south-southeast he would probably go over the pole, for with the wind from thirty to sixty miles an hour it would only take three or four days to reach the pole and it will be daylight all the time. With eight or nine days of steady wind he could cross the pole to Siberia. But when he has got to the pole how will he know he has reached it? The mariner takes his bearings by observations of the sun and moon at midday. There is no midday at the pole. The sun circles around the heavens in gradually narrowing circles until, on June 21, the highest northern point is reached. The circles widen then until after the September equinox, when the sun disappears and a night of six months begins. But should he be able to make observations with the sun low, or by a fixed star, the difference of a minute in his measurements would be the difference of a mile on the earth and the pole could probably not be determined within a dozen miles or so. Looking out from his balloon and knowing that he was in its vicinity he could not determine just where he was. If he could land and stay awhile he might make such observations as would be valuable. But while he was away from the balloon contrary winds might seize it and bear it away and leave him to die with his discovery. Even should everything be favorable to leaving the balloon and making trips on sledges, neither he nor his companions would be in physical condition to stand the work. It takes the work of weeks in the cold atmosphere to accustom one to its hardships.

"As I said before, Andree's expedition is most fascinating in its bare possibilities of success, and eclipses that of Nansen in its reckless daring. But I cannot believe it practicable. I believe the pole will be reached some day overland—or rather by ice—but it will be by a steady, well-planned expedition that will go forward prepared to retrace its steps safely. A dash to or over the pole through the air sounds fine, but I do not believe it is practicable, and I am afraid that Andree's attempt will be disastrous, although I sincerely hope he will get through all right and land in Canada.

"The fascination for polar exploration is marvelous. It is a challenge that nature throws down to man. 'Win the pole,' she says, 'and great will be your prize.' She has awarded prizes for these attempts and the nearer the explorer reaches the pole the greater the prize. Nansen's prize has been world-wide fame and an ample fortune. Should Andree succeed in reaching the pole and returning his name will never die and the world will be at his feet."

Dying Man Grasps at a Straw.

Dr. Agnew's Cure for the Heart has done so much for me that I feel I owe it to suffering humanity to give testimon. For years I had smothering spells, pains in my left side, and swelled ankles. When I took the first dose of Dr. Agnew's Heart Cure, my friends thought I was dying, it gave me almost instant relief, and six bottles entirely cured me."—Mrs. F. L. Lumsden, Scranton, Pa.

The people have changed their tune. A few weeks ago it was, w-w-w-w-w gh but isn't it cold. Now it is wh-h h-hew but isn't it hot.

There are no less than eleven papers published in the county of Renfrew. The the people in that county must pay up their subscriptions well.

A local clergyman said to his congregation on a recent Sunday that if they wished to go to sleep in church to do so. He said if he could not preach to keep them awake it was his fault.

Cancer can be Cured. For six years I suffered from cancer, and got no relief until I used Burdock Blood Bitters. I used seven bottles faithfully, when the cancer gradually dried up and finally disappeared. I am now entirely well and rejoice that by using B. B. B. I have escaped death either from the surgeon's knife or from the cancer itself.

Signed. MRS. ELIZA J. TUFFORD,
Paris, Ont.

When You See Our Window

Take notice of the many new lines which people call most reasonable in

PRICE AND UP-TO-DATE

in every way.

HAINES & LOCKETT,

THE SHOE MEN,

4 BIG SHOE STORES.

SWEET CAPORAL AND ATHLETE

10 cts. Per Package

Cigarettes

DERBY AND OLD GOLD

5 cts. Per Package

Cigarettes

RETAIL EVERYWHERE

New Spring Gent's Wear

Just opened out. New Scotch, English and Canadian Suitings and Pantings, in all the Latest Patterns. Black, Blue, Brown Worsteds for Overcoatings at Popular Prices.

Nice Suits Made to Order from $12.50 Upwards

Please call before purchasing and inspect our stock

R. FORD. T. G. DAVIS.

WHITELAW REID.

Sketch of the Special U.S. Ambassador to the Queen's Jubilee.

Whitelaw Reid's commission as special ambassador from the President of the United States to the Queen's jubilee has been signed by President McKinley. The appointment is regarded at Washing-

A Matter of Justice

IS THE WAY A YOUNG LADY OF NEW BRUNSWICK VIEWS IT.

WAYS OF WOMEN FAIR

AN INTERESTING CHAPTER OF THEIR SAYINGS AND DOINGS.

What Some Royal Women Are Engaged In—Marriage of Royalties—The Business Woman's Home-Coming—All Is Not Gold That Glitters.

"One of the things that has hurt me more than anything else in going away from home," says the girl who started out in the world to make her own way, "was when I went back after some time and found that I was no longer a necessity there. Every one was as glad to see me as possible and affectionate in every way, but I found that I had gradually drifted out of the family life—I was an outsider. They made their plans and lived their lives without me. They did not need me in any way. My outside life has been pleasant; I have done what I intended to do, and my relations with my family are pleasant in every way, but I shall never forget entirely, I think, that little hurt feeling, that feeling of lonesomeness, when I first found that I was an outsider."

A Jacobite Wedding.

British Jacobites celebrated the marriage of the Princess Maria Theresa of Bavaria and Prince Ferdinand Pius de Bourbon by a banquet on White Rose Day, June 10. The Princess is, after her elder sister, the direct representative of the Stuart line, and the Prince of Calabria is the son of the former King of Naples, whose portrait was drawn by M. Alphonse Daudet as the King of Illyria in his "Roi en Exile." The royal wedding took place on June 8, and, besides the banquet already mentioned, another was given in honor of the occasion on the day of the ceremony by the Order of St. Germain, founded by the Old Pretender.

Princess Maria Theresa.

Prince Ferdinand is a very young man, having been born at Rome on July 25, 1869. He bears the title of Duke of Calabria. Princess Maria Theresa of Bavaria, second daughter of Prince Louis, and granddaughter of the Regent Luitpold, was born in 1872. Prince Ferdinand of Bourbon is a nephew of the late King of the Two Sicilies, the famous "Bomba." His father is the Comte de Caserta, but he bears the title provisionally and without abandoning his claims to the kingdoms of the Two Sicilies and Jerusalem, one of which his elder brother enjoyed, while the other has long been only a pious aspiration.

This Hot Weather

YOU ARE PHYSICALLY AND MENTALLY EXHAUSTED.

Paine's Celery Compound is the Great Builder and Recuperator.

As a rule there is no pain following physical and mental exhaustion and debility. You know you are weak, faint, languid, have loss of memory, depression of spirits, with a wasting of flesh. Your troubles proceed simply from nervous exhaustion, and though you are not suffering pain and agony, be assured your condition is extremely perilous, and demands immediate attention.

That wonderful stream (the blood) that runs to every part of the body, supplying the most minute nerves and tissues, is foul and poisoned. In your present condition your blood is not a life stream; it is a stagnant pool of disease and death.

The healthy, hale and strong, that bear up during the hottest weather, and that are blessed with clean, pure blood and steady nerves, are the people who make use of Paine's Celery Compound, the only medicine that revitalizes the blood, that fortifies the nervous system, that gives perfect digestive power, sound sleep, and a new lease of life to those advanced in years.

Paine's Celery Compound is truly the great modern elixir of life, and no wonder that doctors approve of it and strongly recommend it.

Why go on in wretchedness and misery when such a medicine promises health, vigor and new life? We recommend you no untried remedy. Every bottle of Paine's Celery Compound is warranted to do the work it promises. There is health and life in every drop.

A Mutilated Tandem Pair.

A tandem pair of cyclers with only one pair of arms and legs between them was the unusual sight which greeted Broad street promenaders yesterday, says The Philadelphia Record. The two men rode a fine tandem wheel of the latest model, and they whizzed along Broad

The appointment is regarded at Washington as being a wise one. Mr. Reid is a man of affairs, with a wide experience of the world, well traveled, accustomed to deal with eminent people and familiar with the ways and the words of diplomats. The mission which he has accepted is a most honorable one, and one, too, requiring much grace, tact and experience of men. In 1889 Mr. Reid accepted the mission to France and filled its functions with much credit to himself and the country. He might have been minister to Germany, but he saw fit to decline that post on two occasions. His newspaper, The New York Tribune, claims most of his attention, and he preferred the activity that he found in the very current of events as the head of a metropolitan newspaper to the work of a diplomat even of so high and dignified station as that of minister to Germany. The honor of special ambassador from the President of the United States to the Queen of England on the occasion of her jubilee is quite another matter, however, and Mr. Reid felt in all respects gratified with the work and the honor. It is now thirty years since Mr. Reid became connected with The New York Tribune and has been in the public eye almost all of that time. He is 59 years old and thoroughly United Statesan in feeling.

WHITELAW REID.

JOHN E. REDMOND.

The Irish Parliamentarian Who Has Been Suspended the House.

John E. Redmond, the Irish leader, has won the applause of the nationalists in Canada and the United States by getting himself suspended from Parliament. His fierce protest against the overtaxation of Ireland which caused his suspension by an overwhelming vote is the sole topic in Irish circles. Mr. Redmond is the successor of Mr. Parnell in the British Parliament. He is only 36 years old, but he has sat in the House of Commons fifteen years—or since attaining his majority. He was born in Wexford, and from his childhood was accustomed to hear familiar talk of Parliament, for his father, Captain James Redmond, had long been a member of the Commons. Young John was educated in the Jesuit College near Dublin, and distinguished himself by winning many prizes in scholarship. After the Parnellite split in the Irish party, Mr. Redmond met defeat in his contests for the house, but after he changed the base of his political operations to Waterford he was successful, and has ever since that time been a member of Parliament. Mr. Redmond recently paid a visit to the United States and lectured in many of the large cities on excessive taxation of Ireland for English institutions. It was this very matter and his persistence in disobeying the rules in urging it that caused his suspension from the House of Commons.

JOHN E. REDMOND.

Suffered From Headaches. Pain in the Side and Heart Palpitation—She Thinks Similar Sufferers Should Know How She Found a Cure.

From the Fredericton Gleaner.

Miss Alma Millar, of Upper Southampton, N. B., is a daughter of Mr. Ezra Millar, a wealthy and influential farmer, and the young lady is a general favorite among a wide circle of acquaintance, who have had occasion to congratulate her upon her complete restoration to health, after a severe and trying illness. When a correspondent of the Gleaner called upon her, and requested that the facts might be given for publication, the young lady, though not at all anxious for publicity, nevertheless gave her consent in the hope that her experience might prove beneficial to some of the many young girls whose condition of health is very similar to what her's was previous to her cure. Miss Millar stated that when her illness began her mother was unable to look after the affairs of the household and the duties largely devolved upon her. She felt herself growing weak and easily tired, but felt that she must keep up. She says: "Notwithstanding my efforts I found myself growing worse and worse. My appetite failed, my complexion became sallow and my eyes sunken in my head. I was troubled with dizziness, shortness of breath and palpitation of the heart until at times I felt as though I would suffocate. I was almost constantly troubled with a pain in the side, and severe headaches. When I went up stairs I was obliged to rest. Life had become almost a burden and at last I was forced to give up and keep my bed. My friends feared I was going into consumption and one remedy after another was tried with no beneficial results until I was induced to give Dr. Williams' Pink Pills a trial. In less than three weeks I was able to leave my bed and go about the house, and the use of the Pink Pills a few weeks longer completely restored my health and strength and drove away all symptoms and pains which had made my life so miserable. I feel that in bringing this matter before the public I am but doing simple justice to suffering humanity, and I hope that those afflicted as I was will give Dr. Williams' Pink Pills a fair trial. I might also add that other members of our family have used Pink Pills with equally good results."

What Dr. Williams' Pink Pills have done for Miss Millar, they will do for thousands of other young girls throughout the country whose condition is similar. They restore the glow of health to pale and sallow cheeks, correct functional derangements, and create a feeling of new life and energy. The genuine Pink Pills are sold only in boxes, the wrapper around which bears the full trade mark, "Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People." Refuse all pink colored imitations and other medicines said to be "just as good."

Cause for Lament.

Varick—I'm as sick as a dog.

Hudson—What's the trouble?

"My wife made me a present of a box of cigars for my birthday."

"And you smoked them like a fool?"

"No; gave them to a rival, and I've just found that her brother sent them to her from Cuba."

How It Happened.

Aunt Derby Dunk (who is slightly deaf)—What was it that broke up the singing at church this morning? I knew something was the matter, but couldn't tell what.

Nephew Ezra—Why, old Deacon Hookernose followed the tune till he finally caught up with it and killed it.

The Result.

"I rather plume myself on my appearance," said the girl in the first row.

But the usher made the feathers fly when he said she would either have to take off that theatre hat or leave the auditorium.—Pittsburg News.

Triumphs of Domestic Science

One thing that is almost as important as a knowledge of cooking, and fully as important when there are good servants to do the cooking, is a delicate taste. It takes a well-bred taste to know if the viands are cooked to the proper turn, the eggs absolutely fresh, the cream what it should be, and the salad dressing properly mixed. This is a less common possession than people think. A woman who has made a great success as a cook attributes it largely to her knowledge of how things should taste. The woman who takes up domestic science for a profession takes up a business which not only gives her plenty of scope for brain work, but is very hard on her physically. Where she does the practical work, the cooking, she is apt to break down, even while she is studying, if she is not strong. The effect of the heat and standing constantly on the feet is more than most women can stand.

Food and Beauty.

The woman who intends to have a good complexion must make a careful study of the food question. It goes without saying that sugary substances must be banished from the bill of fare. Candies are, of course, excluded. Cakes follow in their wake. As for pies and all other compounds of flour and grease, they are fatal to clear skins. Bread that is doughy or starchy ranks almost as low as pastry in the estimation of the seeker after good looks.

Alcoholic drinks are banished almost entirely; their effect, even in small quantities, being a mild form of congestion of blood in the face, which eventually coarsens the texture as well as ruins the color of the skin. For somewhat similar reasons all sorts of narcotics and stimulants are to be avoided. Whatever excites the nerves or overheats the blood tends toward the final destruction of the smooth, peachy texture which is the chief of every woman's ambition to attain.

Whatever has the effect of producing a healthy action of the digestive organs is good for the complexion. Acid and laxative fruits especially, if taken at breakfast, are good. Graham bread and toast rank high among the bread beautifiers. Red and juicy meats, green vegetables, milk and eggs, are all conducive to the attaining of a brilliant complexion.

The Princess Helene.

Helene, Princess of Naples, has been photographed by one of her new subjects in Italy, and the fresh picture shows her to be a very beautiful young woman. Almost everyone has read of her adventures as the Princess of Montenegro and her remarkable out-of-door life in the Black Mountains. Helene will not soon grow adapted to the cabined environment she will be compelled to live in as the wife of the Crown Prince of Italy. Her girlhood was spent in the mountains, out in the open air, in the saddle, climbing peaks for better views and even in hunting. She is an excellent horsewoman, a rare shot, and the exuberance of her spirits and brilliancy of eye are entirely due to the hygiene of her life up to date. The Princess does not speak Italian, but she is hard at work learning the language. Her family name is Petrovitsch-Njegusch, and her great ancestor, Danilo, was made "Lord of the Black Mountains" in 1696. Hers is a family of fighters.

Wife of the Crown Prince of Italy.

What Would He Do?

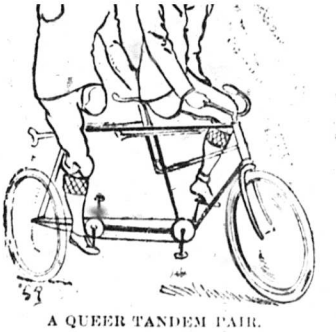
There is a young Southern woman in New York, who, when she speaks of her early girlhood in the South, says The New York Times, smiles a little at what is evidently an amusing reminiscence.

"I will tell you what it is," she said to a friend, who asked the cause of her smile. "It was when I was very young that I had a very persistent lover, a man quite a little older than I. Well, finally, after much persistence on his part and persistent snubbing on mine, he asked me to marry him—by letter. It was a warm epistle, and at the close of

CASTORIA.

The fac-simile signature of Chas. H. Fletcher is on every wrapper.

Nature's Medicine. Nature's Medicine for constipation, liver complaint, sick headache, biliousness, jaundice and sallow complexion is Laxa Liver Pills. They are a perfect laxative, never griping or giving pain. One pill each night for 30 days will cure constipation.



A QUEER TANDEM PAIR.

street as gracefully as you please. The fellow in front had but one hand to steer with, but that was a good right one, and his left leg seemed to bring plenty of power to bear upon the pedal. The other man's right arm and left leg were missing, but the remainding limbs supplied his needs.

Telepathy With a Dog.

W. E. Davis of Boston possesses a dog that does things which his master thinks are the result of telepathy. He gave an exhibition of the dog recently before the Boston Scientific Society that aroused an immense amount of interest.

Among the score or so of performances by the animal was one that necessitated the exercise of something that approached very closely to human intelligence. Mr. Davis first spread out red, blue, salmon and yellow handkerchiefs in the order prescribed by the spectators. The dog picked them out as suggested by those who witnessed the test at the mental commands of Mr. Davis. The dog apparently paid no attention to the commands of the spectators and Mr. Davis never repeated the order, but simply said: "You heard what the gentleman said. Bring it." The dog brought it in each case.

Similar experiments were made with four numbers on blocks, five silver pieces, and number on a slate. Several times the number was not spoken, but simply written on the slate or indicated with the fingers. Mr. Davis was blindfolded several times during the test, but it did not seem to make any difference, as Dodgerfield, the dog, had some way of understanding his master's wishes.

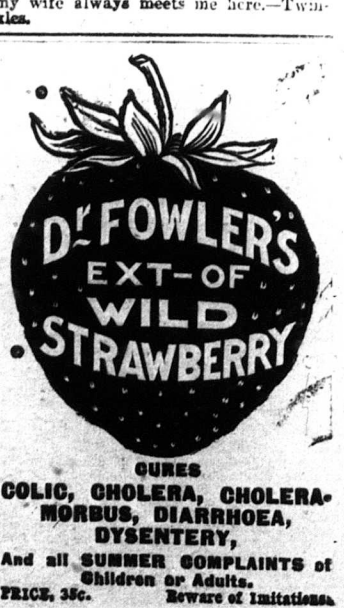
Building an Arch in Turkey.

As Bassora, where they have no timber but the wood of the date tree, which is like a cabbage stalk, they make arches without any frame. The mason with a nail and a bit of string, describes a semicircle on the ground, lays his bricks fastened together with a gypsum cement, on the lines thus traced, and, having thus formed his arch except the crown brick, it is carefully raised and in two parts placed upon the walls. They proceed thus till the whole arch is finished. This part is only half a brick thick, but it serves them to turn a stronger arch over it.

His Storm Door.

Hewitt—I don't see why you call this front door a "storm door"; it isn't a storm door.

Jewett—Just wait a minute, old man; my wife always meets me here.—Twinkles.



CURES
COLIC, CHOLERA, CHOLERA-MORBUS, DIARRHOEA, DYSENTERY,
And all SUMMER COMPLAINTS of Children or Adults.
PRICE, 35c. Beware of Imitations.

B BURDOCK B BLOOD B BITTERS

Strong Points
ABOUT B. B. B.

1. Its Purity.
2. Its Thousands of Cures.
3. Its Economy. 1c. a dose.

B. B. B.

Regulates the Stomach, Liver and Bowels, unlocks the Secretions, Purifies the Blood and removes all the impurities from a common Pimple to the worst Scrofulous Sore, and

CURES

DYSPEPSIA, BILIOUSNESS, CONSTIPATION, HEADACHE, SALT RHEUM, SCROFULA, HEARTBURN, SOUR STOMACH, DIZZINESS, DROPSY, RHEUMATISM, SKIN DISEASES.

B B B

The Wilted Dandelion.

"Don't you think dandelions are lovely?" exclaimed the art student, dashing into the club with a big bunch of yellow blossoms. The rising musician sniffed.

"No! I don't," she returned shortly, and the other girls insisted on hearing the story behind her emphatic negative.

"Well, I'll tell you," said the music girl. "Those 'perfectly lovely' yellow flowers gave me the worst humiliation I ever had in my life, only last week. Listen to what happened to me, and if any girl here dares to smile I'll never speak to her again.

"You knew that my new hat was spoiled in that rainstorm last week, didn't you? Well, papa wouldn't give me money for a new one, and I'd spent all my allowance, so when Charlie Bloomfield insisted on taking me to the theatre I was in a perfect stew for a hat. Well, who should come along but Alice Ailing. She just laughed at my trouble; I never saw such a girl for expedients. 'Take the ribbon of your new hat and make a little opera bonnet of it,' she suggested, and so I did. But it seemed to want a knot of flowers in front, and I hadn't a penny. I was ready to cry when something occurred to me. I thought it an inspiration then; now, I firmly believe it was a communication from satan. It was to use natural flowers, and those flowers dandelions. You see, they stared right up at me from the lawn, and my ribbon had yellow stripes in it, anyway. So just before I started out I pinned them on, and they looked lovely. But, oh, girls, when I got down town, they had wilted, and I never knew it until I went to powder my nose between the acts. There they were, looking a perfect sight, and every woman near just dying with laughter."

It was too much for the girls who heard the story, and in spite of the threat that the musician would never speak to them again if they even smiled they all laughed immoderately.

Explaining It.

"I see," remarked the first man, "that Snyder has reduced the prices of his bicycles to $20 to 'meet a popular demand.'"

"Yes," replied the second man, "the popular demand is his wife's weekly request for more spending money."—Cincinnati Commercial Tribune.

Mrs. De Weary—And so you have been married five years, and are as much in love with your husband as ever?

Mrs. Cheery—Yes, indeed.

"Hum! What business is your husband in?"

"He's captain of a whaler."—New York Weekly.

Mudge—This watch has been stopped for two or three days.

Jeweler—Lemme see it. There is nothing the matter with it except that it has not been wound.

"I thought maybe that was it. I remember you told me to wind it up just before I went to bed, and I haven't been to bed for three nights.—Indianapolis Journal.

"A baby," remarked the observer of men and things, "may not have as much sense as a man, but I don't imagine a baby believes every woman who comes along and tells him she loves him."—Detroit Journal.

RINGS OF SATURN.

ONE OF THE BEST OBJECTS OF TELESCOPIC STUDY.

A Unique Member of the Solar System—An Enquiry Into the Question: "What Are These Rings?"—The Theories Advanced by Various Scientists.

The most beautiful telescopic object for the occasional star gazer, with the single exception of the moon, unquestionably is the planet Saturn. The view of the planet given here is from a sketch made a few evenings since, and will save those who have not access to a telescope a fairly good idea of how this ringed world looks at the present time. It will be observed that the picture shows the under side of the rings. This means that we now see their northern face, the planet being shown inverted by the telescope.

These wondrous rings, which render Saturn a unique member of the solar system, have from the time of their first discovery by Galileo—or rather by Huyghens, for Galileo merely saw that there was something protruding from each side of the planet, which he likened to the handles of a jug, without recognizing the true cause of the appearance—been the subject of a deal of speculation among astronomers. In fact, there is little else of interest to be seen about the planet. It is too far away—about 800,000,000 miles when at its nearest—for even in the most powerful telescope to make much of its surface markings. It appears simply to be surrounded by a series of faint, dark bands, which perpetually maintain the same general appearance, and are probably due to cloud strata in its atmosphere. But the rings, the characteristic feature, can be seen through even a small telescope, though through such an instrument they appear as a single object. Indeed, the innermost of the three, known as the "crape" ring, is so faint as to have escaped notice down to the year 1850, when it was discovered independently by the Bonds, at Cambridge, and by the Rev. Mr. Dawes, in England. They lie in a plane with the planet's equator, and since this is inclined to the plane of the orbit, just as is the earth's equator, the rings are therefore tilted with respect to us in such a way that their aspect varies with the change of the planet's position in its orbit. Sometimes we see their under, or southern side; sometimes their upper, or northern side, as now, while at intervals of fifteen years—one half of the period of the planet's revolution in its orbit—they are presented to us edgewise, as was the case in 1892, and then they become invisible, save through a large telescope.

THE RINGS OF SATURN JUST NOW.

What are these rings? They have the appearance of being solid, and they were regarded as solid by Laplace, who accounted for their stability by assuming that they were heavier on one side than on the other, so that they swung practically as a single satellite; but it has now been demonstrated, both mathematically, by Professor Clerk Maxwell, and spectroscopically, by Professor Keeler, of the Allegheny Observatory, that they are made up of countless millions of minute bodies—"meteorities"—each of which circles independently of the rest, as a tiny satellite. They are simply ring-shaped clouds of "cosmic dust." The proof of this fact by the spectroscope is, indeed, one of the neatest performances of this wonderful little instrument. It depends upon the ability of the instrument to detect motion "in line of sight," that is, toward us or from us. As the triple ring circles round the planet one edge approaches us, while the other edge is receding. Were the ring solid the outer margin should move faster than the inner margin, just as a point on the rim of a wheel moves faster than a point near the hub. But the spectroscope, in the hands of Professor Keeler, and more recently of Professor Keeler, of Pulkowa, has shown that it is the inner margin which moves the faster, and this is precisely what ought to happen on the meteoritic theory, since a satellite moves faster the nearer it is to the body around which it circles. The difference in the rates of movement is about three miles

CHEAPSIDE.

Special Line
And at Very

PARASOLS,
HOSIERY, GLOVES,
CO

C
GENTS LUSTRE COAT
GENTS BLUE SERGE COATS AN

TERMS, CASH.

W. MO

A TOAST.

Here's to the man who loses—
If his loss be another's gain;
For bad luck sharpens ambition,
And success, after striving, heals pain.

Here's to the balm that's a blessing,
To the lover whose love has grown cool,
To the maid who regrets her decision,
To the other man—he was a fool.

Here's to the whirl of life's wheel,
Which spun out the fates of all three,
To the fool who won, the lover who lost—
To him, and to you, and to me.

—Gypsie, in Life.

MAKING OF A MAN.

By GWENDOLINE OVERTON.

If a stupid woman is unoccupied, nothing serious will come of it. But a clever woman should be given something to do. Another good rule is that if a woman is not ignorant of life, she had better have learned it from life and not from books.

Olive Torrey was clever and had nothing to do. She lived at a frontier post, and could go in neither for charity nor clubs nor fads. She had a husband who studied, and no children, so there was nothing for her in her home. She had come straight from a southern California town—and there is less of life to be seen there in a given period of years than in any other spot on earth. But she read—largely Balzac and Thackeray and Crawford and Bourget; which taught her a great deal that she had no need to know. She dreamed dreams of love at first, while she was a bride; but they were not very realistic dreams. She had to idealize her husband vigorously to make them endure even a year, and no one can idealize a husband successfully. He is too much on hand; more especially in a four-company post.

She was a good woman—therefore, when she failed on the husband it did not even occur to her to try on some one else, though there were two promising bachelors. Instead, she went at the novels of manners again, and with new novels, and dwelt on the parts that dealt with intrigue and ambition and success in the world, and skimmed over the love parts. She did not believe in them much now. So her mind became filled with this sort of thing, and there was no vent for it. She wanted to be a brilliant, disillusioned young matron, courted by diplomats, a power in salons—which ambitions were just a bit difficult of realization where she was.

had to be said over with his tongue, but both of them laid that down to Mrs. Torrey's stupidity. After all, Gordon was improved. It took 18 months to get him into shape, and then he said he was in love with Mrs. Torrey. The way she had brought him up made him hard to Even baby understands that it is not right that mother should be always sickly, nervous, fretful and cross. Baby wonders what is the matter. Baby would willingly help if he could. It lies with the woman herself to help herself. No one else can do it. She can help herself if she will. If a woman will take proper care of her womanly self; if she will use the right remedy for weakness and disease of the organs that bear the burdens of maternity, she will soon be healthy, vigorous and amiable. She will be able to help baby, instead of leaving baby to try and help her.

A wonderful remedy for weakness and disease of the organs that make wifehood and motherhood possible is found in Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. It acts directly on these organs. It makes them strong and healthy. It has transformed thousands of suffering, pain-racked women into healthy, happy wives and mothers. It allays inflammation, soothes pain, and steadies and invigorates the nerves. It prepares for wifehood and motherhood. It insures inherently healthy children. All good druggists sell it. There is nothing "just the same" or "just as good." The druggist who tells you there is, is either mistaken or dishonest.

Mrs. Joseph Simmons, of Hazelgreen, Grant County, Wis., writes: "Inclosed find postage stamps, for which please send me the 'People's Common Sense Medical Adviser.' I have used your Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription, and his 'Golden Medical Discovery' and 'Pellets' and have received a great deal of benefit from them."

When a story writer puts in a doctor he is always said to "Look wise." Over one million people have looked wise and acted wisely. They have bought Dr. Pierce's Common Sense Medical Adviser. Of these wise folks, 680,000 of them paid $1.50 a copy for the book. It was cheap at that. It is a book of 1008 pages, with 300 illustrations. Think of that. A medical book too. Everybody knows how expensive a medical education is. Now there is a great edition of this book, that is being given away. You pay the cost of customs and mailing, that's all. You send 31 one-cent stamps for the book in strong manilla covers. If you desire a fine embossed cloth cover, send 50 one-cent stamps. Address, World's Dispensary Medical Association, Buffalo, N. Y.

"By the way," the beast exclaimed, as by a sudden inspiration, 'why couldn't we double up and save cab hire?"

This fable teaches that even in the animal kingdom there is a strong inclination to retrench operating expenses.

"I would raise a rhapsody," he exclaimed, with all the fervor of a poetic nature, "to thy lips!"

The rich, warm color suffused her countenance.

"Strawberry sody, if you please," she faltered, looking shyly down.

FARMERS ATTENTION.

Insure your property in the Lennox and Addington Mutual Fire Insurance Company.

Because it is a Home Company.
Because it is a Safe Company.
Because it is the cheapest and best.
Because it affords the most liberal policies to patrons.
Because it insures only (isolated) non-hazardous risks, as farm property, county churches halls and school houses.
Because it is the Farmer's Company managed by Farmers in the interest of farmers of the Counties of Lennox and Addington, Hastings Frontenac, Lanark and Leeds.

Officers—J. B. Aylsworth President; B. C. Lloyd, Vice-President. Directors—A. C. Parks, T. C. Stills, W. R. Gordanier, I. F. Aylesworth, Honarary Directors—Jas. Ried, M.P.P., A. Y. Price, Camden; C. R. Allison, Wm. Chesters, Fredericksburgh, D. W. Allison ex-M.P. Adolphustown; F. B. Guess, Col. Geo. Hunter Kingston; Alf. n Pringle, Ira. B. Hudgins, Richmond. The board meets at the Secretarie's office in the first Saturday of every month at one p.m.

J. N. McKim, Napanee. }
N. A. Caton, Napanee. } Agents
Thos. B. Wilson, Newburgh }
M. C. BOGART Sec'y.-Treas

Saturn now crosses the meridian at about 11 p. m. It appears as a star of the first magnitude of an orange yellow color. Ten or twelve degrees to the east of it is the ruddy Antares, the "Heart of the Scorpion."

Noblesse Oblige.

The African monarch remained obdurate.

"In three days," he repeated, "you will be in the soup."

The wretched captive groaned. Suddenly a happy thought occurred to him.

"Sire," he cried with dignity, "I claim the treatment which is due my rank."

"Indeed!" said His Duskiness, in a more gracious tone. "And what may your rank be?"

"In my country," returned the captive haughtily, "I am a prince—the first in the land."

"Ten thousand pardons, Your Highness," exclaimed the cannibal king, bowing low. "Pray forgive our discourtesy. You must indeed have thought us barbarians. But fortunately, it is not too late to make amends. Bring hither my Minister of the Interior."

"Trilby," he remarked, as the Minister waddled throneward, "we have narrowly escaped a serious breach of courtly etiquette. This gentleman is of royal blood. Therefore he must take precedence over all others. You will accordingly place the missionary in the ice box and serve His Highness for dinner to-night. We may be far from the world of civilization, but at least we are not lacking in the respect which is due to rank."

Household Necessities

THE E. B. EDDY CO.'S

Telegraph Telephone Tiger .... Parlor ... MATCHES

They have never been known to fail

Bay of Quinte Railway and Navigation Company

GENERAL PASSENGER TIME TABLE,

Eastern Standard Time. No. 13 Taking effect Dec. 2nd, 1895

Tweed and Tamworth to Napanee and Deseronto.

	Stations	Miles	No.2 A.M.	No.4 P.M.	No.6 P.M.
Lve	Tweed		6 50	....	3 00
	Stoco	3	6 58	....	3 10
	Larkins	7	7 10	....	3 25
	Marlbank	13	7 25	....	3 40
	Erinsville	17	7 40	....	3 55
	Tamworth	20	7 50	2 00	4 10
	Wilson*	24	....	....	....
	Enterprise	26	8 10	2 20	4 30
	Mudlake Bridge*	28	....	....	....
	Moscow	31	8 22	2 33	4 43
	Galbraith*	33	....	....	....
Arr	Yarker	35	8 35	....	4 55
Lve	Yarker	35	9 00	2 50	5 15
	Camden East	39	9 13	3 02	5 25
	Thomson's Mills	40	9 18	....	....
	Newburgh	41	9 23	3 15	5 35
	Napanee Mills	42	9 33	3 25	5 45
Arr	Napanee	49	9 50	3 40	6 00
Lve	Napanee	49	....	....	....
	Deseronto Junction	54	....	....	6 30
Arr	Deseronto	58	....	....	6 45

Deseronto and Napanee to Tamworth and Tweed.

	Stations.	Miles	No.1 A.M.	No.3. P.M.	No.5 P.M.
Lve	Deseronto	0	6 50	....	....
	Deseronto Junction	4	7 10	....	....
Arr	Napanee	9	7 25	....	....
Lve	Napanee	9	7 45	12 00	4 20
	Napanee Mills	15	8 00	12 15	4 35
	Newburgh	17	8 10	12 23	4 42
	Thomson's Mills*	18	8 20	....	....
	Camden East	19	8 33	12 30	4 50
Arr	Yarker	23	8 43	....	5 00
Lve	Yarker	23	9 00	12 45	5 20
	Galbraith*	25	....	....	....
	Moscow	27	9 15	1 00	5 35
	Mudlake Bridge*	30	....	....	....
	Enterprise	32	9 30	1 15	5 42
	Wilson*	34	....	....	....
	Tamworth	38	9 50	1 35	6 00
	Erinsville	41	10 03	....	6 12
	Marlbank	45	10 15	....	6 25
	Larkins	51	10 30	....	6 43
	Stoco	55	10 50	....	6 55
Arr	Tweed	58	11 00	....	7 10

Kingston and Sydenham to Napanee and Deseronto.

	Stations.	Miles	No.2. A. M.	No.4. P.M.	No.6. P.M.
Lve	Kingston	0	....	....	4 00
	G. T. R. Junction	6	....	....	4 10
	Glenvale*	10	....	....	4 30
	Murvale*	..	....	....	4 40
	Harrowsmith	19	....	....	4 50
Arr	Harrowsmith	19	....	....	....
Lve	Sydenham	23	8 00	....	....
	Harrowsmith	19	8 20	....	4 50
	Frontenac*	23	8 32	....	5 00
		26	8 40	....	5 10
Arr	Yarker	26	9 00	2 50	5 15
Lve	Yarker	30	9 13	3 02	5 25
	Camden East	31	9 18	....	....
	Thomson's Mills*	32	9 23	3 15	5 35
	Newburgh	34	9 33	3 25	5 45
	Napanee Mills	40	9 50	3 40	6 00
Arr	Napanee	40	....	....	....
Lve	Napanee, West End	45	....	....	6 20
	Deseronto Junction	49	....	....	6 45
Arr	Deseronto

Deseronto and Napanee to Sydenham and Kingston.

	Stations.	Miles.	No.1 A.M.	No.3, P.M.	No.5 P.M
Lve	Deseronto	0	6 50	....	....
	Deseronto Junction	4	7 10	....	....
Arr	Napanee	9	7 25	....	....
Lve	Napanee	9	7 45	12 00	4 20
	Napanee Mills	15	8 00	12 15	4 35
	Newburg	17	8 10	12 23	4 42
	Thomson's Mills*	18	8 15	....	....
	Camden East	19	8 20	12 30	4 50
Arr	Yarker	23	8 33	12 45	5 00
Lve	Yarker	22	8 50	....	5 20
	Frontenac*	27	9 00	....	5 27
Arr	Harrowsmith	30	9 05	....	5 40
	Sydenham	34	....	....	5 55
Lve	Harrowsmith	30	9 05	....	....
	Murvale*	35	9 20	....	....
	Glenvale*	39	9 30	....	....
	G. T. R. Junction	47	9 55	....	....
Arr	Kingston	49	10 00	....	....

G. A. BROWNE, Gen. Pass. Agent

H. B. SHERWOOD Superintendent

up to her pitch. He read war records and interior department reports, and thought great thoughts about Indians, and would have made himself a nuisance to the people at Washington, if they had not become used to that sort of thing and thick-skinned long ago. He was an unpleasant kind of man, and a soldier neither in appearance nor by instinct, nor in actions. He was to the service what the man who signs his letters "A Citizen" is to a local newspaper. He was always making petty objections to and complaints against what is. And what is should be bowed down to and silently worshipped by a good officer. In short, he was not at all the sort of a man for his wife, and she did not need to be as clever as she naturally was to find this out.

At four-and-twenty she thought she was old and experienced, and quite capable of handling any sort of sharp-edged tools. Although she never posed as unhappy, or thought herself particularly so, the idea came to her that she would like to have the making of a man, to be the Egeria to some Numa. Just what she would make him she had not determined. She would have to have the man first. She got him. He came straight out from West Point, and he was hopeless—impossible.

"Joe, don't you think young Gordon is promising?" she asked her husband. Gordon had come the day before.

"Promising to be about like all the others." There was infinite contempt in that "all the others"—men with no ideas.

"I don't know. It seems to me he has a clever face, the face of a man—that is, a man of the world, in embryo."

She was trying to see him in the light of her own imaginings. It is quite human and very feminine to persist in trying to idealize those about one, and only a great many dismal failures succeed in curing one of the habit.

"It struck me that he had the face of a boy from West Point."

His wife's good nature was unflagging. "Now—yes. But he could be made something of."

"A major, if he lives."

Mrs. Torrey was silenced, but not daunted.

Mrs. Torrey continued to think that Thorne Gordon was good material to work with. She liked his name. It smacked of the statesman. She called his face impassionable, when it was just weak. She saw secrecy in his eyes—which were shifting. She discovered evasion in his speech—which was trivial. Physically, he did fairly well. He was tall and slender in a distinguished sort of way. There was no cause for the distinction; it was neither in himself nor inherited. If there had been any girls at the post, he would have fallen in love and married, and then Mrs. Torrey couldn't have done anything with him. As it was, he came to her naturally. Nobody else wanted him. She set to work by giving him her books to read. He knew enough West Point French to glean all the barm there was in Blazac and Bourget. When Mrs. Torrey talked like as therein portrayed, he talked love as they showed it forth.

"It seems to me that the greatest delight in living that a man could have would be to wind other men around his finger."

"It seems to me that it would be to wind women around his finger," her ward would say.

"Only as a means to an end," she suggested.

"That goes without saying," he answered, with the wrong sort of a look. The books had taught him that. Mrs. Torrey recoiled. She didn't mind kneading dough into shape, but she was afraid of pitch. However, she reassured herself and tried it again the next day.

"It is a pity for a promising young fellow to be thrown like an empty beer bottle from an official ambulance away out here on the prairie." The simile struck her as being good, but he found it unflattering. She continued mixing up her comparisons: "You ought to be on the theatre of the world, watching the play of men's passions and minds."

"Why not in the orchestra row, watching the danseuses?"

"That was clever enough to be preserved as a sample of repartee," she told him; for she insisted upon seeing him through very rosy spectacles, and when she found the rosiness fading or wearing away in spots, she laboriously tinted them up again. She talked diplomacy, the world, life, ambition, to him constantly. She lost sight of the fact that an officer has very little use for that sort of thing. She brought him to correct tastes in the matters of art, and literature, and music, and, above all, personal appearance.

He absorbed how to cut his finger nails, probably, for she never actually told him, and he stopped chipping them on the bias. He tried at saying things with his eyes; pretty generally the things do in books and salons and French, but are bad, in fact, in the army and in England. It began with the eye talk, and Mrs. Torrey understood that. But she pretended she did not; so he put it in words. He was very fiery about it—as in the books. They were on the porch together after dark. This was rare, for she was careful of appearances, usually.

"Do you know that you have become life itself to me?" he asked.

"I have tried to show you life."

"Don't talk to me in that cold, instructive way, as though you were years older than I—and homely. You are only half a year older, and what is that?"—wherein the Balzac showed—"and you are beautiful."

"Oh, no. I am not."

"At least you have the face of a Madonna."

"To you it should be the face of a brother officer's wife."

"Can't you see that I love you passionately?"

"I can see that you think you love me romantically, but you don't."

He did, however. He was in earnest, and he had had the decency to keep it to himself for a long while. Then it had burst out, and after that he made her life a burden. She saw that it was her fault, she ought to have seen that the kindest thing to do in the long run would be to drop him relentlessly then and there. Instead of that she tried to reason with him, and to comfort him, which, of course, did not work. He said that if she shook him altogether, he would kill himself, and he might have done so, because his brain was a romantic muddle. Mrs. Torrey was in a very bad predicament when Uncle Sam came to her aid. He ordered Lieut. Torrey to Baltimore on recruiting service.

Torrey lived in Washington, and went over to Baltimore to the office every day. In two months Gordon had a sick leave and was in Washington. Mrs. Torrey was frightened. She flew into a rage, and told Gordon what she thought of his actions. He retorted by calling her heartless. It ended in a parting with tears and curses; and Gordon married an heiress before he went back.

Mrs. Torrey felt sorry for him. She knew she had broken his heart, wrecked his life. She would do what she could for him. At least she would further his ambitions. He should owe his worldly success to her. She had learned a good deal by real experience now, and she was young, brilliant, very pretty and marvelously attractive. She became quite a feature in Washington society, a woman of the world who never lost her head whatever she might make others do. All this in less than two years. She knew there was no use in trying to advance her husband, and she did not particularly care to, because she had found out now that she was unhappy, horribly unhappy, and that her life was a flat thing. She cared for the Gordon she had made more than she guessed. The real interest of her life lay in him. Her influence was great because of her social powers and her beauty and attractiveness and by dint of trying in those thousands of untold ways that there are of doing such things she got Gordon an attacheship at the court of St. James. He had a rich wife and he could accept it.

It was improbable that he did not know whom to thank, but, however that might have been, he gave no sign and neither did she, except to turn horribly pale when she met him on Connecticut avenue one afternoon. She smiled waveringly and pitifully, and he only looked deep into her soul with hurt eyes. He had mastered that much of eye-language. He was rather pleased at the obvious success of it, but she believed his heart was broken, and was as miserable as a naturally good and honest woman is when such a thing is on her conscience.

A year later she was in another frontier garrison, and her husband came in with the mail.

"I say, Olive—you remember Gordon? Well, he's recalled from England."

"Why?"

"It's all in this letter that came to Harcourt. Do you want to read it? He followed the example of the classic parrot, it seems, and talked too blamed much. As a diplomat he's not a success."

And in six short weeks he brought her further news.

"I say, Olive, what do you think young Gordon's been and gone and done now?"

"What?" she asked, desperately.

"Got himself into a scrape in Washington, and has had to resign. Here's some of it in the paper; the rest's in the letter from Walker. He lost his head. He'd better have stayed with his regiment and done his duty, and left foreign courts for men that were born for them."

"Perhaps you are right," she answered.—San Francisco Argonaut.

ne for Hot Weather
ry Low Prices.

ORSETS,
BLOUSES,
MUSLINS,
DRESS GOODS,
ORDERED CLOTHING,
TS AND VESTS,
ND VESTS.

ONE PRICE ONLY.

OWAT.

GREAT STEEL TOWER.

CAPITALISTS PROPOSE TO ERECT ONE ON MOUNT ROYAL.

It Is to Surpass Anything of the Kind in the World in Many Respects—Dimensions of This Canadian View-Point of a Continent.

Canadian and American capitalists are joining hands and funds in an endeavor to erect on Mount Royal, Montreal, a steel tower, which will in many respects surpass anything of the kind on the continent, or even in the world. An application has already been made to the Montreal City Council by Mr. Francois Lapointe, architect of Chicago, as follows:

"Canadian and American capitalists are willing to aid in organizing a company with a capital of $400,000, the amount necessary to construct in Mount Royal Park a steel tower six hundred feet in height and two hundred and fifty-eight feet at its base. For this enterprise ground 350 feet by 350 feet is necessary. The tower will be built according to my plans, which accompany

LULU HURST'S FEATS.

SHE EXPOSES THE SECRET OF HER MAGNETIC POWER.

They Were Done in Consonance With the Simple Mechanical Principle Known as "Deflection of Force"—Scientists Fooled by This Girl.

Lulu Hurst, who hurled umbrellas and men and women and tables over nearly all the stages on this continent, who nearly put out Charles Frohman's eye and caused Mrs. Langtry to turn a violent somersault in public and nearly dash her brains out, has had a fit of conscience and told all she knows about herself. That it is genuine conscience and no hoax this time is proved by the fact that the lady threw away prospective mints of money to study up her own phenomena, and that she now presents herself in the unenviable light of fooler of the great public. For, with the exception of a few half-hearted assurances that she really did think herself possessed of a "great power," the lady frankly admits that her so-called manifestations were partly pranks and most unconscious physics, and makes the statement, humiliating to large aggregations of the befooled, that it was their own hysteria and superstition that caused the antics of the victims and the inanimate objects they were trying to hold. If there is money in the book the conscience scheme may not go altogether unchallengeable.

Never having seen Miss Hurst and not being able to disprove the "undiscovered or unrecognized principle of leverage applied in the deflection of forces" (which is the simple proposition the lady now advances as her sole basis of operations), and not having yet found, as she avers, that any one person can electrify six strong men and a chair so that they bang themselves about in their vain efforts to curb the cavorting object, one is not in a position to controvert Miss Hurst's confessions and scientific statements. That her first remarkable developments were the result of accident can quite be believed, but subsequent events cast blacker shadows behind than can be dissipated by a mere "explanation." Thrusting a hairpin through a feather pillow and finding the noise it made startling, the embryo performer continued the sound, varying it by scrunchings of her feet against the footboard of the bed.

The family being fully roused and excited by these occult symptoms, Lulu not allowed to touch the floor. A third man mounted the shoulders of the second. An aggregate weight of 600 pounds thus presented itself for a young and unmuscular girl to life. The young and unmuscular girl, knowing no science, then "placed her open palms against the posts of the chair—and behind them on each side, at a point named C—and made the lift without grasping the chair in the least. The first man and the chair constitute, the now learned lady explains, a compound lever, with two fulcrums, one at A B, where the man's feet are, the other at G, H, where the back legs of the chair stand, tilted. "I place my palms against the chair post at C, and instead of lifting the chair the least bit, I press the posts forward and lo! the entire chair, with its weight, comes up, leaving nothing touching the floor, but the man's feet. This little movement of pushing the posts forward at C, shifted all the weight from the fulcrum at G H (place of the rear legs) and threw it forward upon the fulcrum at A B, the real point of the lever."

The other men may then add their weights to that of the first, and their weight will be distributed at the two fulcrums as the first man's was, but most of it will be thrown at A B (first man's foothold), and lessens the weight at G H (chair legs' position), thus helping the lifter, instead of adding to her task. She simply manipulates the compound lever composed of the chair back, rear posts and the man's legs, "while the man in the chair does most of the lifting." The principle of resultant test comes into play, for when I push forward one lever at C he is pushing backward at A B, and these two forces coming together create a resultant force, operating in a perpendicular direction and carrying the chair and its weight upward.'"

The thing is easily proved or disproved. Miss Hurst had a perfect and legitimate right to exhibit a simple and unconscious gift, to make money by it, to decline to explain it, especially as it is a matter of fact that she did not pretend to any of the names of medium, occultist, phenomenon thrust upon her. The question may arise as to whether it was "quite kind" to knock people about as roughly as the influence she exerted seemed to do; but there is no question at all as to her right to enjoy the follies of the superstitious and the gulled.

The editor of The Medical Record discovered that all Miss Hurst's exhibitions of her force were made in opposing voluntary muscular effort in others. "It is the experimenters, not the subject, who knock themselves, the chairs, canes, umbrellas, etc., about." And Miss Hurst goes on to say that once she herself was "mystified beyond expression, by standing to one side without touching the chair, after the struggle began, and seeing six, excited, struggling men tear a chair to pieces without ever forcing it to the floor." From this she adds a corollary, thus: "The excited state of the subjects themselves, their superstition and their imagination taking such complete possession of them produces a state of partial self-hypnotism."

How the sane and sensible men whose names appeared in connection with Miss Hurst's performances will like this it is not hard to guess. They will probably deny its truth, to begin with. It is, at any rate, one of the most significant of Miss Hurst's statements.

It is open to every person to try the deflection of force with an open palm against the whole muscular force of half a dozen heavy men. As after Miss Hurst's unveiling of the mystery, however, the superstition and imagination will have nothing to feed upon, the experiment will probably always be unsuccessful. And the truth will never be known. The first part of the book relates an unbroken series of successful experiments. Tales of a huge athlete "prancing around like a Shetland pony," in his wild effort to hold a billiard cue; two or three men grasping it, and "seeing it snap in their fingers like a reed"; a major "dancing a war dance" on the stage, and another one going to his rescue, the two becoming entangled in their girations on the stage; "big men tossed about like jackstraws"; people shrieking, scrambling, chawing—all these, and a hundred more incidents are related. It reads like an Arabian Night's entertainment. And so it is. For most people like to be deluded, and aid and abet the deluder by making themselves as pliant as possible, and doing half the tricks themselves.—Mary Abbott, in Chicago Times-Herald.

OBJECTS OF WORSHIP.

It Is in This Way That Savages Usually Regard Meteorites.

Savages, whenever they come across meteorites of large size, are apt to regard them as objects of worship. Such, however, was not the dignified fate of a very remarkable specimen that is now in the United States National Museum,

Good Blood

Is essential to health. Every nook and corner of the system is reached by the blood, and on its quality the condition of every organ depends. Good blood means strong nerves, good digestion, robust health. Impure blood means scrofula, dyspepsia, rheumatism, catarrh or other diseases. The surest way to have good blood is to take Hood's Sarsaparilla. This medicine purifies, vitalizes, and enriches the blood, and sends the elements of health and strength to every nerve, organ and tissue. It creates a good appetite, gives refreshing sleep and cures that tired feeling. Remember,

Hood's Sarsaparilla

Is the best—in fact the One True Blood Purifier.

Hood's Pills cure Liver Ills; easy to take, easy to operate. 25c.

Cassidy's Cabot Group.

John Cassidy's beautiful group in marble of John Cabot and his son, now causing much favorable criticism in the London New Gallery, is exhibited in most timely fashion, because of the quadricentennial celebrations in honor of Cabot in preparation at Bristol, in Newfoundland and in Canada. Mr. Cassidy's group is noble, animated, full of courage and purpose and compares well with the best of English sculpture. Mr. Cassidy is Irish. He was born within sight of the famous Tara's Hall, and his family had been farmers for many generations. When Mr. Cassidy was 17 he went to Manchester and entered the art school there. He studied from the antique and progressed most rapidly. He won four national medals, an Owen Jones medal, the Plasterers' Company's prize twice in succession, and several Queen's and other prizes. His figure, "The Digger," was purchased by the corporation of Manchester for its collection. His bust of the late Sir Charles Halle, now in the Academy, is the best sculptured portrait of the veteran musician. Mr. Cassidy is now at work upon a full-length statue of the Queen. The figure alone is to be eight feet high, and Mr. Cassidy is chiseling it out of Portland stone. The monument is to be erected in and by the city of Belfast. Mr. Cassidy is only 30 years old.

CASSIDY'S CABOT GROUP IN MARBLE.

The Modern Child.

"I sometimes feel," said the old gentleman, "like taking that 4-year-old grandson of mine and slamming him against the wall."

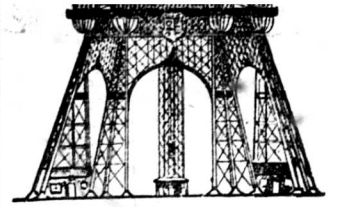
"What has he done?" asked the man who was penned in the corner.

"I told him that beautiful 'sleeping beauty' story—about how, as soon as the Princess was kissed, all the clocks began to go and the servants began to work and all that kind of thing, and then he said: 'Did some one press an electric button?'"—Cincinnati Enquirer.

A Considerable Admission.

"Of course, all my aunts say that the baby looks like me," said the blushing young man.

"What does your wife say to that?"



PROPOSED STEEL TOWER, 600 FEET HIGH, FOR MOUNT ROYAL.

this request, and which it is hoped will meet the approval of the City Inspector, I pray the council to grant me the necessary location, embodying the following attractions: For electric displays, an observatory, mercantile booths, fire-works, operating air-ships, restaurants, theatres, and all things pertaining to and connected with the operation of such a tower; all according to the restrictions and general rules of the city of Montreal. To do this the said ground must be granted for a period of 30 years from the completion of the tower, without any indemnity from the company to the city of Montreal. The city will receive large returns from the noted attraction. After the expiration of 30 years the tower will be the property of the city of Montreal. Work on the tower will begin within six months following the granting of the franchise."

The tower, with the height of the mountain added, 1000 feet above the river almost at its base, will bring the total height above the city up to about 1600 feet. If carried into effect, therefore, the Canadian flag will float higher above Montreal than any flag floats above any other city on the globe. At the top of the tower there will be an observatory 25 feet in diameter, and on the first floor, to be reached by 20 elevators, will be the theatres, with a seating capacity of six thousand. On the second floor there will be booths and a museum. There will be a total accommodation on the several floors and landings for twenty thousand persons.

The total cost of the proposed structure is placed by the promoters at $400,000. Mr. Lapointe, the architect of the design, is a native Montrealer, who has lived for some years in Chicago.

Leavings.

Farmer Hoen—Th' cashier of our grange robbed us.

Farmer Mowin—An' left th' county, I suppose?

Farmer Hoen—Thet seems ter be about all he did leave.

You think of Scott's Emulsion as only for those who have consumption or who have inherited a tendency to it. Almost its greatest use is for those whose condition is so impaired as not to be able to get the good they should out of their ordinary food. In nearly every case with these, Scott's Emulsion of Cod-liver Oil brings back appetite, stimulates digestion, restores color and plumpness, and controls the diseases of thinness. Book about it, free.

50 cts. and $1.00, at all druggists.

SCOTT & BOWNE, Belleville, Ont.

The family being duly terrified and elected by these occult symptoms, Lulu used to amuse herself and paralyze them by hurling hickory nuts about a room with closed windows, to fling clothing about on picture frames and otherwise manifest great "spiritual" powers. It is a sad homily on our frail nature that it took only a few of these singularly transparent dodges to fix Miss Lulu's fame as a strange wielder of a supernatural power, and soon she was tipping tables and making chairs dance, telling the past and the future with great success. All these games she owns now to have been the mere fruits of the gullibility and eagerness to be duped which seems to spring anew, with the faintest encouragement, in the mortal breast.

But the "power"—that great unseen, hypnotic, psychic, electric, odic and variously christened force, was to come. At the age of 14 Lulu Hurst held large audiences spellbound, startled, crazed, full to bursting with admiration and awe—first in the country, then in large cities. The newspapers of Chicago, New York, Boston and all the great metropolitan dailies were full of her marvelous exhibitions, and none ventured on scientific explanations of so paralyzing a phenomenon. Chairs and umbrellas continued to be hurled through the air as the power pervaded the lady, and everything fled dancing and spinning before it. Her "explanation" is that there was absolutely no "power" in her; that, actually ignorant herself of the simple force she employed, she yet knew how to adjust it at will to every case and seldom or never failed in a test.

As Miss Hurst studied more and more deeply into the thing her "wonder increased that some of the learned physicians had not discovered the simple principle of deflection of force" while experimenting with her. "I demonstrated it all the time without knowing it, and they did not detect it," she writes. "It was necessary for the force opposing me to exert itself by and through inanimate objects held in certain specified positions." And "I had no power over inanimate objects unless in connection with opposing muscular force of another person. The amount of force opposed to me did not make much difference, except to increase the wonder of the performance."

